WE ARE GROWING OLD.

When a glance is backward east,
On some long remembered spot that Her
In the silence of the past;
It may be the shrine of our early rows,
Or the tomb of our early tears;
But it seems like a far off list to us,
In the stormy sea of years. bered spot that lies

O : Wide and wild are the waves that part Our steps from its greenness now.

And we miss the joy of many a heart,
And the light of many a brow;
For deep o'er many a bark

Have the whelming billows rolled— Have the whelming billows rolled-hat steered with us from that early Oh! Mends! we are growing old

Old in the dimness of the dust Old in the dimness of the dust Of our daily toils and cares— Old in the wrecks of love and trust Which our burthened memory be Which our burthened memory bears, Each form may wear to the passing gaze The bloom of life's freshness yes nd beams may brighten our latter days Which the morning never met.

But, O' the changes we have seen,
In the far and vinding way—
The graves on our piths that have grown green,
And the beds that have grown gre?
The winter on our own may spars
The sable or the gold,
But we see it smore supon brighter hair,
And friends, we are growing old.
