Highways and By-Ways of Mexico City.

The city is rich in monuments, a number being placed in the circles of its most beautiful drive, "The Paseo de las Reformas." whose originator was Maximilian. Beginning at the Alameda on the right hand side we pass a building built in Moorish style which is used for the national lottery; driving on over asphalt we see a boulevard whose borders are lined by double rows of trees and dotted by bronze statues, commemorating poets, statesmen and warriors. This drive takes you past the house of the elite, which represent all styles of architecture from the villa to the palace. It is the 5th Avenue of Mexico, and boasts of a fine statue of Columbus, also one of Cuauhtemoc, the last Aztec prince, being captured by Cortez, who rsted his fate to compel him to tell of hidden treasure. Refusing to comply with this demand, a week later he was ordered hanged. This is all represented and considered one of the finest in the world. This drive claims the largest single casting in the world, it being a bronze horse and stands near the Alameda. Our drive is from four out of six. After the sixtieth have been taken then the eighty six are left. The Paseo, while on Thursdays and Sundays affords the governor furnishes music. As we pass on we see many beautiful homes are built around patios or open courts, yards which are filled with flowers, while the glimpse of many a fountain is caught as the doors are swung open, perchance to allow a fine team drawing a carriage filled with fair owners out for a spin, to pass, giving an opportunity to see all types. Some bear chronic lassitude, others are wrapped in self esteem or voluptuous ease. All are out to see and be seen, whether from a carriage or one of the promenaders who sometimes sit to rest on one of the stone benches which are placed near the band stands, where one hears such music as seldom greets the ear in the North. At the south-western end of the Paseo we get a glimpse of the Palace of the White House of Mexico, which our drive soon shows us is built upon a hill of volcanic origin, but which is so clothed in flowers throughout the year that the impression is given of a huge bouquet, with the castle as a center piece, white and beautiful and covering acres is one of the most beautiful parks ever made by nature and man, filled with trees of oak, sycamore and cypress of mammoth size, while the springs of pure water giving abundant supply for the canals and the piping into the city, adds to the charm of the spot.

Your eyes are attracted to a large monument at the foot of the castle, which the guide tells you marks the resting place of those who fell in trying to defend the castle when General Scott took the capital in 1847. You can take an elevator to the base of the cliff, or the more interesting winding path which brings gradually views of striking contrast from Popocatepetl, 17,852 feet, whose hoary head is crowned by an ascending dignity on his companion, the woman in white. On through the zone of pines, through forests where the ground is covered with creeping plants, down into the valley of palms and blossoms where the trees bear Spanish moss and orchids. As you near the castle a glimpse of a cadet now and then is caught whose curiosity is causing him to forget his training, while at the entrance of the castle yard you are met by a gentleman, who, if you show the proper papers, will pass you on to visit the summer home of the President, who spends his winter months in a very modest house in the city.

The national museum will fascinate those interested in the pre-historic. The Spaniards were not the first to carry the cross into Mexico, while some of the emblems left by the Toltecs are still in evidence. The objects are being added, as they are finding fine specimens belonging to an ancient date in digging for the city's drainage, at which one stands in wonder and leaves wrapt in it. Then to the art gallery, where we will find work from the old masters as well as the talent of the country, that will cause surprise at the merit, and give a desire to sit and dream in the shadows of the pictured past. Mexico is making rapid strides in education, although the Indian has not much appetite for books. In the present form of government continues to exist he will shortly but surely be awakened to a higher life. The city is a city of churches; it is also a city of pawn shops, whose greedy jaws swallow everything old and new that they can get within their walls. A weekly washing has been pawned for months and a well kept article while every article in the shop must be out of the reach of temptation to the customers or they would consider a fair exchange was no robbery. The smoothing irons are polished to the counters, for one who patronizes the pawn shop frequently a rat, a rat, (thief) and nothing is too bulky or trivial to escape him; for he is the prince of liars and the greatest of thieves. You are warned against this part of the city, as the police are more thinly scattered. But there are no barriers to a spirit of adventure, all ways are highways to find that dare."

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Of an Old Resident of Plymouth, O. March 10th, 1902, was an enjoyable day at the home of Mrs. M. A. Smith, for the purpose of celebrating the 60th birthday of her mother, Mrs. L. M. Paine. A few of her old friends came in to participate in the joy of living to such a good old age. They were, Mr. Porter, Mrs. R. H. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. S. Silliman and Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Rhodes, in company with her sons, Leonard Paine and family, her grandchildren, Groves Gates and wife, Walter Paine and wife and Herbert Paine. Her son Leander was detained on account of sickness.

While sitting around the table enjoying the bountiful repast, Mrs. Smith received a letter from her granddaughter in Colorado, regretting much that she could not be present together with a touching remembrance. After dinner a musical program was given in the evening. Mrs. Smith then made a few remarks, stating what the gathering was for, and in all probability it would be the last time we would ever meet on such an occasion as this. A very appropriate piece was then read, as follows: Eighty today and well preserved. So many blessings undesired. The telegraph and cable too. Inventors making something new. The spinning wheel is of the past. The cobbler with his faithful last. The sewing done on the machine. The knitting, too, this way, I ween. When we were young things were not so. If to a neighbor's we did go. Our work was taken with us, too. All trying how much each could do. But changes come as time rolls on. We must keep pace and go along. Time pass, we cannot it recall. And the present time must answer all.

We spent the balance of the day in prayer and religious conversation, which was truly an enjoyable day to each one present, and long to be remembered, because Jesus, our blessed Savior, was with us. Before parting we sang, "God be with you till we meet again."

Information Wanted.
The following chain circular letter was handed us by one who received it recently: Erastus, Ill., Feb. 13, 1902. Dear Friend: Will you kindly help a heart broken father and two mothers in an effort to find their loved ones, by writing three copies of this letter and sending them, over your signature, to three friends, making the same request of them, and conforming an endless chain. If you will give this letter to the newspapers in your town, you will aid greatly in giving it world wide circulation.

FORGOTTEN

never will forget. Their wretchedness is supreme, for no one can be happy if he carries perpetually in mind the mean things that have been done him. On the other hand, you can find here and there a man or woman for there are not many of them whose disposition is genial and sunny. Why? Have they always been treated well? Oh, no. Hard things have been said against them. They have been charged with officiousness, and their personalities have been set down to a desire for display, and they have many a time been the subject of title tattle, and they have had enough small assaults like snats and enough great attacks like lions to have made them perpetually miserable if they would have consented to miscible. But they have had enough divine philosophy to cast off the affronts, and they have kept themselves in the sunlight of God's favor and have realized that these oppositions and hindrances are a part of a mighty discipline by which they are to be prepared for usefulness and heaven. The secret of it all they have, by the help of the Eternal God, learned long ago.

Canceling Your Debts.
Another practical thought: When our faults are repeated or let them go out of mind. If God forgets them, we have no right to forget them. We are repented of our infidelities and misdemeanors, there is no need of our remembering them. Some I owe you a large sum of money, and you are so persuaded I am incapacitated to pay and you give me acquittal from that obligation. I say to you, "All right, all right, you are right now. Start again." And the next day I come in and say: "You know about that big debt I owe you. I have come to get you to forget it so I can pay about it I cannot rest." Do let me off." You reply with a little impatience: "I don't forget you off. Don't bother yourself and bother me with an more of that discussion." The following day I come in and say: "My dear sir, about that debt I owe you, I am sorry for the fact that I owe you that money. It is something that weighs on my mind like a millstone. Forgive me that debt." This time you clear your patience and say: "You are a nuisance. What do you mean by this reiteration of that affair? I am tired of it. I forget you that debt. Do you doubt my veracity or do you not understand the plain language in which I told you that debt was canceled? Well, I don't care. I am a merciful Christian, guilty of worse folly than that. While it is right that they repent of new sins and of recent sins, what is the use of bothering yourself and troubling God by asking him to forgive sins that long ago were forgiven? God has forgotten them. Do you not forget them? No, you drag the load on with you, and 365 times a year, if you pray every day, you ask God to recall offenses which he has not only forgiven but forgotten." Quit this folly. I do not ask you to realize the turpitude of sin, but I ask you to a higher faith in the promise of forgiveness and the full assurance of his grace. He does not give a receipt for payment or so much received on account. His receipts are his love, his grace, his Christ's sake declared your sins, your iniquities will I remember no more." As far as possible let the disgracefulness of sin be forgotten. As long as you are in the present, and there will be enough in the future, to disturb us without running a special train into the great Goney to get such us as special freight trains left behind.

Allow Others to Forget.
Not only forget your pardoned transgressions, but allow others to forget them. The chief stock on hand of some people is to recount in prayer meetings and pulpits what big sinners they were and how they were forgiven. They get their forgive debts, but they seem to be determined that the church and the world will never forget them. If you want to declare that you have been a chief of sinners and etched the grace that could save such a wretch as you were, do so, but do not go into particulars. Do not tell how many times you got drunk or to what bad places you went or how many free rides you had in the prison van before you were converted. Lump it, brother, give it to us in bulk. If you have any scars got in honorable warfare, but if you have any scars got in ignoble warfare do not display them. If you know you will quote the Bible reference to the horrible pit from which you were saved, and thank God for his mercy, but do not make displays of the mud of that horrible pit or splash it over other people. Sometimes I have felt in Christ's love and affection and felt for Christian service because I had done some of those things which seemed to be of no account and yet necessary for Christian usefulness, for I never swore a word or ever got drunk or went to compromising places or was guilty of anything that would hurt or offend anybody. I have never uttered any slanderous word or ever did any one a hurt, although I knew my heart was sinful enough, and I said to myself, "There is no use of my trying to do any good for I never went through those depraved experiences. But afterward I saw consolation in the thought that no gain any ordination by the laying on of the hands of dissoluteness and infamy." And though an ordinary moral life, ending in a Christian life may not be as dramatic a story to tell, but let us be grateful to God rather than worry about it. If we have never engaged in outward abominations, it may be drunkards or reformed debauchees to quote for their sins, but if we have been depraved and nasty you once were, but do not drive a leavenage's cart into assemblies of people the most of whom have always been decent and respectable. But I have been sometimes in great evangelistic meetings where people went into particulars about the sins that they once committed, so much so that I felt like putting my hand on my pocketbook or calling for the police for these reformers and might fall from grace and go at their old business of theft or drunkenness or euthyrotary. If, your sins have been forgiven and your life purified, forget the waywardness of the past, and allow others to forget it.

A Sin-Forgotten God.
But what I most want in the light of this text to impress is that we have a sin forgetting God. Suppose that on the last day—called the last day because the sun will never again rise upon our earth, the earth itself being flung into fiery demolation—supposing that on that last day a group of infernal spirits should somehow get near enough the gate of heaven and challenge our entrance and say: "We can't challenge, the just Lord, let those souls into the city, they were good and ladies." They said a great many things they never ought to have said, and they did a great many things that was not true, but I have done sinners are they—sinners all."

And suppose God should decide to answer the question of conscience that duty led my only son die for their ransom? Do we not pay the price? Not one drop of blood was retained in his arteries; not one nerve of his that was not wrung in torture. He took in his own body and soul all the suffering that those sinners deserved. He took that sacrifice; they took the full pardon that I promised to all who, through my Son, earnestly applied for it, and it passed out of my mind. I don't care if I forget all about it. Yes, I forgot all about it. Their sins and their iniquities do I remember no more. A sin forgetting God. This is clear beyond and far above all sin pardoning God. How often we hear it said, "I can forgive, but I cannot forget." That is equal to saying, "I can only admit it is right, but I will keep the old grudge good." There is something in the demeanor that seems to say: "I don't forget you, but I don't wish you well, but that unfortunate affair can never pass out of my mind." There may no hard words pass between them, but still death in the heart and coolness remains. But God lets our pardon offenses go into oblivion. He pardons them up to us though. He feels as kind toward us as though he had been shrewd and positively angelic all.

A Lost Sheep Found.
Many a man a family consisting of the husband and wife and little girl of two years lived far out in a cabin on a western prairie. The husband and wife had a little child. Before he started his little child asked him to buy for her a doll, and he promised. He could afford to buy a doll, but he had to purchase household necessities and certainly would not forget the doll he had promised. In the village to which he had to go, he saw a little girl and she was crying for her household and the doll for his little daughter. He started home along the dismal road at nightfall. As he went along and horse and thunderstorm broke, and in the heaviest part of the storm he heard a child cry as he would and he knew to do some bad work along that road, and it was known that this herdman had money with him, the price of the cattle sold at the market, and he had a strategy to have him halt and be despoiled of his treasures, but the child's cry became more keen and ringing, and he was disoriented and felt around in the darkness and all in vain until he thought of a hollow that he remembered near the place where he had to go. He went to that place and there, sure enough, found a little one fagged out and drenched of the storm and almost dead. He wrapped it up as he could and mounted his horse and resumed his journey home. Coming in sight of his cabin, he saw it all lighted up and supposed his wife had kindled all these lights so as to guide her husband through the darkness. But no. The house was full of excitement, and the neighbors were gathered and stood around the wife of the house, who was insensible as from some great calamity. In an inquiry the returned husband found that the little child of the cabin was gone. She had wandered out to meet her father and get the present he had promised, and the child was lost. Then the father unrolled from his blanket the child he had found in the fields, and lo, it was his own child, and the last one of the prairie home, and the cabin quaked with the shout over the lost one found! How suggestive of the fact that once we were lost in the open fields or smothered under the feet of the devouring children, and he found us, dying in the tempest and wrapped up in the mantle of his love and found us home, gladness and congratulation bidding us welcome.

The commander of all the hosts of heaven turned and said to the angels and victorious march through the centuries of heaven and said, "I will go and recover that lost world and that race of whom I was the negotiator, and let all who will accompany me." And through the night they came, but I do not know how many. They were gathered further than the clouds, but their most illustrious leader came all the way down, and by the time his errand is done our little world was the negotiator and lost world, our world fleecy with the light, will be found in the bosom of the Great Shepherd, and then all heaven will take up the shout and sing, "The world is found!" Their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON FOR MARCH 16.
The Ethiopian Converted.
Acts 8:26-39. Memory verses, 34, 35.
Golden Text.—With the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.—Rom. 10:10.

After Philip had preached for a time in Samaria, arousing great interest and winning many converts, Peter and John came from Jerusalem to confer upon them the Holy Spirit. Men expected divine grace in those days. They looked for it, and waited for it, and recognized it when it came. It did not occur to them that there was anything unreasonable in the belief that if God had work for them to do he would show them what it was and when he willed it, done. While we do not find that the early Christians often had to go to Jerusalem for a command, we do find that they generally got the directions that they needed from our high God. Sometimes the message bore the form of an angelic communication, sometimes it came in a dream; far more often it came in the simple conviction of conscience that duty led in some certain direction. It is a question whether we do not neglect the phase of our high God's government in those. Theoretically, of course, Christians believe in the leading of God, and after things have happened they perceive that there has been leading, and are grateful; but there is too little of a quiring before the event, just what it that ought to be done for God's glory rather than that we want to do so our friends want us to do.

Philip got his message clearly enough. He was to go southward along the road that led through Bethsura, across the hills and through the valleys toward the old Philistine country. "And he arose and went on his way, and he came to a certain town, and he was sitting there. That was what he was living for—to find out what God wanted of him, and to do it promptly. It was not his business to sit there and wait for the details, but simply to obey. So the evangelist set forth on the dusty road, ready for some sharp looking out for possible work in the future."

What he saw when he got near enough was a common enough sight; merely a man sitting there in the shade of his own country, attended by his servants. We learn rather from contemporary history than from the New Testament that the Jews were not proselytes to Judaism in many parts of the empire. At the annual fests, such as the Passover, Pentecost, and Tabernacles, Jerusalem had made the pilgrims from distant lands. The Haj, a journey undertaken as a religious duty or privilege, is so common in Islam, and has always been popular in the Orient. Among us westerners such words as "pilgrimage," "pilgrims," "the way," "life," are little more than terms of phrase, and the "Pilgrim's Progress" requires a constant stretch of the Augg's imagination. But that stretch is a form of service of God comes naturally to the Oriental. So many proselytes were accustomed to visit the holy city that it was often as often as circumstances permitted.

This man whom Philip saw sitting in his chariot had a black skin, but a high forehead and a noble bearing. It was clear that this was the man to whom he had been sent. And already before he had got within conversational distance, he recognized the man as being a Greek—Greek—reading in a good loud voice, as Orientals are apt to do. It happened—that is to say, God made it happen—that the Ethiopian had just read a chapter of all chapters which no Jew without the Christian light ever interpreted correctly—Isaiah fifth third. What did the words mean? The suffering servant of Jehovah, who bears pain without complaining, who gives up his life without a murmur, who has the prophet writing about himself, or about the ideal Israelite, or about the suffering nation in captivity?

The Ethiopian was not the first nor the last of those who have been given to us. The promises have been given to us. That sort of scholarship which seeks to minimize the Messianic meaning of the prophecies will not admit that the suffering servant of this wonderful chapter is revealed by the prophet as the coming Messiah. He explains the chapter rather as a personification of the best men of the nation undergoing severe discipline for the sake of the new and better nation that is to be. However, it will take a great deal of argument to convince most people that the inspired prophet Isaiah has this in mind that the suffering servant of Israel, who is the Messiah, should bring peace to the people.

Philip had no hesitation in answering the Ethiopian's question. He opened the same scripture, and preached unto him Jesus. The promises and mysterious hints of the obscure chapter had all been realized in the person of Jesus. He had recently received of whom the Ethiopian had probably heard reports. He had seen the man, the man who had taken steps in Philip's argument between Isaiah and Jesus—the Messianic psalms and other scriptures bearing upon the subject. He had seen the man who was seriously pondering the defects of his previously held Judaism, for it does not seem to have taken long to convince him that the new faith was the true one. As they traveled, things grew clearer to him, a great light shone in the midst of the darkness, and he was all prepared in his desire to embrace the new teaching.

The Cincinnati Enquirer of the 12th inst. says: "Representative Skiles has recommended W. S. Cappeller for the office of postmaster at Mansfield, O. Messrs. Keating and Brown of Mansfield are in Washington to protest against the appointment on the ground that Cappeller's appointment will consummate a trade between Representative Skiles and himself entered into prior to Skiles' election to Congress."

The time for the annual meeting of the Richland County Historical Society has been changed from Thursday, June 12, to Wednesday, June 11, and the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at Mansfield has been engaged for the occasion. There will be both forenoon and afternoon sessions, and in the evening Supt. Leonard, of the Ohio reformatory, will give his lecture on "The Old Dwellers of Aristos," illustrated with stereoscopic views.

The Newark Reflector of Wednesday contained an article headed "A Big Wood Shipment." It states that a local firm had accumulated within the past two years 300,000 pounds of wood, which was now being packed ready for shipment. The dealers here have just completed a shipment of over 1,000,000 pounds, all of one season's purchase, and had they known of it no doubt they would have gone over to Newark and bought their little dab.

All the open ditch where the water mains were laid last fall, cold water coming on and preventing the filling, was closed this week, much to the gratification of the people who were obliged to travel the thoroughfares where they remained open. If the weather should remain as it is for the next few days, it is expected that Contractor Brooks with a force of men will be here within a short time to resume the work of laying the remainder of the water works main.

About the biggest thing that ever happened in the entertainment line in Plymouth is "A Merry White," which will be presented to the public at the opera house, Wednesday evening, Mar. 19. The entertainment has a swing and go to it that is very refreshing, and it promises to be the cleverest performance ever put on the local stage. Mr. Ned L. Crawford has been here for some weeks directing the rehearsals and is very much pleased with the manner in which each one takes their part.

Real estate has commenced to move again and we predict that before the summer is half advanced many properties will have changed hands, and the building boom of last summer will be eclipsed by the building to be done this season. The following sales have been made through the W. A. Clark real estate agency within the past ten days: The Scott Bistline property on High street to Frank Parsel, consideration, $1,000. The Mrs. D. W. Gipson property on West Broadway, to Scott Bistline, for a consideration of $1,900. The Michael Donovan farm of forty acres, located one half mile north of Shiloh, to Madison Flour, consideration, $3,600.

A bill is to be presented to the legislature that proposes some radical changes in the present jury system. The proposed bill is to place a property qualification on all persons subject to jury duty. No one is to sit on a jury unless he pays taxes to the amount of $10 or over annually, and is not eligible to jury duty more than once in five years. The purpose is to do away with the practice of a certain class who are always on hand for jury duty. Another feature of the bill that pertains to civil cases alone is interesting. It provides that if at any time a jury can not agree on a verdict the judge is to poll the jury and if the vote stands 9 to 3 or better, the judge is to order the foreman to cast the united vote of the jury in favor of the majority. This change in the system if made would no doubt prevent any such a thing as a disagreement.

Celebrated Their Fifty-Ninth Wedding Anniversary.

On Sunday, March 9 Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Tucker, of this place, celebrated the 59th anniversary of their marriage. The venerable couple are enjoying good health, although Mrs. Tucker is compelled to spend most of her time in an invalid's chair on account of a broken hip which she sustained several years ago. Both the doctor and his wife were born in 1819, the former in Portage county, O., the latter in Stamford, Conn. They were married in Amherst, Lorain county, this state, March 9, 1843. To them have been born five children, one dying in infancy. The four living are Theodore and W. H. of Toledo, (the latter being postmaster of that city), and Mrs. A. T. Hillis of Cleveland, and Mrs. Albert Kirkpatrick, of this place. Only two of the above were privileged to be present with them last Sunday. Dr. Tucker is well known in this vicinity as an upright christian man, a lover of pure government and proud of his home town, in which he was a leading and public spirited light for many years. He practiced his profession successfully between the years of 1852 and 1885, since which time he has been enjoying in company with his most estimable wife, the remainder of the afternoon of life in quiet retirement at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Kirkpatrick. We offer our congratulations to the venerable couple and trust they may be spared to celebrate their 80th anniversary, one year hence.

A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, respect the public opinion of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as author of the world-famed Dr. Chase's Recipe Book and family physician, and whose fame is now doubly increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, for Nerve and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials A. W. Chase.
They imitate, but dare not counterfeit the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which alone makes his pills now recognized as reliable for building up pale, thin, blooded, nerve exhausted, nervous, and brain-weary. Who are easily exhausted. Who are weak—cannot sleep. Who have nervous headache. They remove the cause of blood impurities, securing refreshing sleep and impart strength.
They build up people who find their strength and vigor waning. They soothe irritated nerves, replace languor and lassitude with energy and animation. Cure Nervous Dyspepsia.
CAUTION—This protection to the public in securing the genuine and original Dr. A. W. Chase preparation is in seeing the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., is on each box. These and these only are the genuine. Do not be satisfied with anything bearing the name "Chase" without the initials A. W. 50c per box. Druggists, W. A. W. Chase, Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The ladies of the W. H. & F. M. Society of the Lutheran church will give an Easter Missionary Tea at the parsonage, Saturday evening, March 20th. Colored Easter eggs will be on sale, so don't color any for the children, but buy them from the ladies.

It will be remembered that several months ago John Culp fell from a telephone pole in California and sustained what was supposed to be a broken back, besides other injuries. His many friends here will be pleased to learn that his back was not broken, nor was he being able to sit up and is doing nicely. However, his lower limbs are paralyzed, and whether he will ever regain their use still remains a problem.

For Rent—Room for a small family, in New Haven. Possession given April 1, 1902. Mrs. A. Brown, New Haven, O.

Ex-Governor John P. Altgeld of Illinois, and who in his youth was a Richland county boy, died at Joliet, Ill., at 7:09 o'clock Wednesday morning, having fell in a faint the evening before as he was leaving the stage after an impassioned appeal in behalf of the Boers.

Chicago is to build the largest office building in the world. The building will stand at Dearborn and Monroe streets, and will cost $3,000,000. It is projected by the First National Bank officers and will house, when completed, 9,000 people. Work will be begun in the spring.

The fence in the rear of the Public School building is to be set in some ten or twelve feet in order to widen the street in front of the new houses in the Irwin addition to its proper width. This will necessitate the removal of two or three telephone poles, on one of which there are fourteen cross arms.

The famous "Toll Me Pretty Maiden" song, from "Ereofora," will be sung at the Opera House Wednesday evening, Mar. 19, by the following young people: Miss Monnet, Miss Portner, Mrs. E. Mittenbuhler, Miss Stewart, Miss Nimmone, Messrs. Simon, McDonough, Esenole, Chase Mitchell of G. Bellvue, and Ned L. Crawford.

For the past few days it looked as though Plymouth was about to have an electric railway, but from where to where nobody seemed to know. Six car loads of ties and four of trolley poles were set on the siding of the B. & O., billed to Plymouth, last week, but a "tracer" has sent our hopes glimmering, as their right destination is Plymouth, Ashabula county.

Probably the oldest woodman in the state is the patriarchal figure of "Uncle Jerry" Gleason, of Monroe township, Richland county. A few days ago "Uncle Jerry" celebrated his 108th birthday in a hearty manner. He still works in the woods and this winter spent twenty-seven days in the forest felling trees. Many a sturdy oak bowed beneath the stroke of his ax.

If voters and tax payers fail or refuse to take proper interest in the selection of candidates, their election should thereafter bridle their critical tongues. The opportunity to choose candidates for another year is now at hand and the result is in the hands of the people themselves. If they select good candidates and elect them they may expect the best kind of government.

A. A. Carpenter, residing one and one-half miles east of New Haven, will have public sale at 10 o'clock a. m. on Saturday, March 22, 1902, at which time he will sell 3 head of horses, 6 head of cattle, 15 head of sheep, 21 head of hogs and 80 chickens; say by the ton, several sets of harness, and a complete set of farming implements. Terms 9 months on approved security. C. E. Conover will occupy the block.

We are now going through our books sending out statements to all those in arrears on subscription, of whom we have a great number. We trust that all those receiving statements will give the matter their prompt attention, as we need the money. If we did not the statements would not have been mailed. Do not lay them aside, thinking you will attend to the matter later, but remit on the receipt of them and thus confer a great favor. It's a small amount to you, but means considerable to us, as on such as this we depend for money to meet our bills.

Muscular Soreness.
As the result of over-exertion and exposure to heat and cold, or from whatever cause, may be treated successfully by the timely application of St. Jacobs Oil. A thorough rubbing is necessary. The Oil should be applied liberally, for at least twenty minutes, two or three times daily, when all pains, soreness, stiffness will be removed, and will also strengthen and harden the muscles. Football players, gymnasts and all athletes will find St. Jacobs Oil superior to any other remedy for outward application, for the reason that its action is more rapid and its effect permanent. Thousands of people all over the world use and recommend St. Jacobs Oil for muscular soreness. A twenty-five-cent bottle is quite sufficient to prove its efficacy. In cases where muscular soreness is complicated with any disease which requires an alternative, Vogel's Curative Compound should be taken. Prepared by the St. Jacobs Oil Co., Baltimore, Md., who will send a sample free.

FEARFORTYARE DEAD

DISASTROUS WRECK ON SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Effort to Make Up Lost Time Results in a Heavy Loss of Life and Property—A Broken Rail Causes a Crowded Train to Leave the Track.

Racing at a terrific pace over tonight grades to make two and a half hours' lost time, the Southern Pacific passenger train which left San Antonio, Texas, at noon Thursday struck a broken rail near Maxton, twenty-five miles west of San Antonio, at 3 o'clock Friday morning and was derailed.

It is feared that the list of dead may reach forty. That is the number of passengers and crew not accounted for, and survivors say when they left the wreck they were burning frantically for a hope of getting out alive any of the injured still in the debris. Fifteen are known to be dead.

New Escape Injures.
In addition to last night's forty others received injuries. The road at the point where the wreck occurred is in a rough cutting, the surface being sharp and of a grade heavy. It was when rounding a curve that the train left the track. All the passengers were asleep and the shock that followed was the first intimation they had of the danger.

The train was going at such a rate of speed that the tender and engine landed twenty-five feet from the wrecked cars. A private car owned by Thomas Ryan of New York, with his family aboard, was attached to the rear of the train, but it was pulled away before the fire reached it, and no one in it was injured.

All the injured in the coaches just behind the express and baggage cars were cremated. The people in the sleepers were saved with the assistance of the uninjured passengers.

The smother and dry coaches were crowded with wounded when the flames burst out, and very few of those inside escaped. Those who did escape say they saw several persons drenched in the cars, slowly burning to death.

Loaded with Tourists.
The wrecked train was the Galveston-Harrisburg and San Antonio west-bound passenger No. 9, and consisted of an engine, mail car, baggage car, one coach, one chair car, three tourist sleepers, one Pullman sleeper and one private car.

The mail car, the baggage car and coaches were piled together against the engine and were ablaze in a few seconds. It was impossible to move any of the coaches or the tourist cars, as they were all off the rails and they were soon cremated.

As soon as it was possible to get in communication with the division headquarters relief trains with surgeons and bandages were started from El Paso, Del Rio and San Antonio, picking up along the line all the surgeons that could be found. All of the injured who were in a condition to be moved were sent to El Paso.

THREATENS NEW ORLEANS.

Boer Officer Seizes the City Harbors a British Camp.

A ripple of excitement was caused in official circles at Washington recently by the letter sent to President Roosevelt by Gen. Samuel Pearson, a prominent officer of the Boer army now in this country. In his letter, Gen. Pearson threatens to lead an armed force against British horse shippers in the New Orleans, who he alleges, are violating the neutrality laws. The general states that he is acting alone in the matter and Boer sympathizers throughout the southland disclaim any responsibility in the affair. Gen. Pearson claims the rendezvous established at San Orleans by British agents is a military camp, but the United States government has not found any violation of neutrality, and will not give the Boer general the recognition he seeks by talking peace terms against him.

Gen. Pearson is an assistant commissary general of the Boer army. He fled from Bartolton, in the Transvaal, when that place was occupied by British, and came to the United States. He abandoned $30,000 worth of property in Bartolton and was compelled to leave his wife and children behind. Soon after his arrival in this country he sought to stop the shipment of horses by a suit in the United States court.

OHIO LEGISLATURE.

Senator Harst of Tuscarawas County will continue to represent the Eighteenth District in the General Assembly. The Committee on Privileges and Elections reported Friday, and the Senate agreed.

Bills Passed. The Senate passed the following: Submitting a vote of the people of Harrison County to proposition to construct a monument commemorating the services of soldiers and sailors, to cost $30,000 and to levy a tax for same; for the relief of Louis B. Dodds, a girl industrial school at Toledo, in the sum of $945.22, being the amount of salary unpaid and due him as Judge of the Court.

The House passed a bill providing for the incorporation of a trust to carry out the bequest of the late W. C. Andrews, who with his wife perished in the Park Avenue Hotel fire in New York, for the establishment of a girls' industrial school at Willoughby, Lake County. The bequest amounts to about $1,000,000. The trust is to be administered by a board to consist of the Governor, the Congressman from the Lake County District, the Treasurer of Lake County, the Mayor of Willoughby, and the judges of the county. As the existing laws make no provision for the incorporation of such a trust an enabling act was necessary.

These bills were passed by the Senate, Monday, and are effective in law. The bill in Springfield and Sycamore Townships, Hamilton County, and Union Township, Butler County; Making the county of a trust to carry out the bequest of the late W. C. Indifferent.
Pat had secured lodgings in the town and gone to bed early. The wind was blowing a terrific gale and as the house did not stand very secure, the landlord was rather anxious about its safety. He sent a servant to arouse Pat, who was sleeping soundly. When at last the sleeper was awakened he sat up in bed and rubbed his eyes.
"What's the matter?" he asked.
"Don't you hear the wind?" inquired the servant. "We're afraid the house will be blown down."
"Turning over and drawing the clothes more tightly round him, Pat replied: "Go and tell your master the house doesn't belong to me."

For Her Sisters' Sake.
Stendal, Ind., March 10.—Mrs. Sarah A. Shrode of this place says: "I suffered much as many other women do with Kidney and Bladder Troubles. I tried many medicines, but got no relief till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"Nine boxes of this remedy cured me completely and I feel it my duty to my fellow women to make this statement. "I can heartily recommend them to any woman suffering with Kidney and Bladder ailments."
The words of Mrs. Shrode will be good news to many of her suffering sisters. Dodd's Kidney Pills have proven themselves to be sick women's best friend, for they are as effective in all cases of Female Weakness as in Bladder and Kidney Disease.

True popularity takes deep root and spreads itself wide, but the false falls away like blossoms; for nothing that is false can be lasting.—Cleere.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

New York. Although the shortest month of the year was further curtailed by two holidays and handicapped by the most severe storms of the winter, industrial and trade results were most satisfactory. The closing week brought a general resumption of activity in lines that suffered from the weather, and preparation for an exceptionally heavy spring business was reported at many points, eastern cities alone being backward. — R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review thus sums up trade conditions and continues:

Inefficient motive power and bad weather combined to restrict the movement of coke from Connellsville, and pig iron production suffers at a time when a maximum output would not be excessive. This difficulty extends all along the line. Pressure for structural material is already severe, and will probably be still more so as the regular building season draws nearer. Further hardening of the market is reported, and inquiries for delivery in 1903 are not exceptional. More foreign steel has been engaged, and domestic concerns are still holding in the German market.

Footwear buyers are leaving New England without doing much more than a fair sample business outside special lines. Makers of cotton goods are very cautious about undertaking future deliveries owing to the uncertainty as to labor and material. Exports orders are still available, but at prices slightly below the views of holders. As a rule woolen goods are well maintained and in brisk demand, but new lines of heavy weights are not sought.

Chicago. Last week witnessed heavy general liquidation in the market for all grains that carried wheat down nearly 2 cents, corn and oats over a cent in the first two days. Prices were forced lower on wheat and corn during the January break, but May oats did not get so low. In the latter trading the losses were regained, but top prices did not hold, and wheat closed at a set loss of 1 cent, but corn gained 5c and May oats 15c and July 5c. The recovery in wheat was due to a crop scare, and in corn and oats to covering by shorts, induced by lighter western offerings.

Wheat traders are now watching the market for all grains that carry the influential factors in the West. With the price below 80 cents there is not the incentive for the bear to get short as this season, and the bull has not explicit confidence in his ability to carry the market upward. There has not been growing crop enough to make it possible for any one to tell definitely about the crop. The government weather crop report, made in the afternoon of January 15, indicates a more favorable outlook over the northern portions of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri, and less favorable in Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas. In Nebraska and Kansas the crop as a whole is in fine condition.

In view of the experience of an increased movement from farmers, so pronounced at the opening of the week, had largely disappeared at the close. A good part of the offering was made by the rice case and distilling interests. The cash demand from abroad and from the East was disappointing. Every effort in the trade is now looking for a breaking up of the country roads to curtail the movement, and light receipts are predicted.

SISTERS OF CHARITY

RELY ON PER-UNA TO FIGHT CATARRH WHEREVER LOCATED IN THE SYSTEM.

In every country of the civilized world the Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

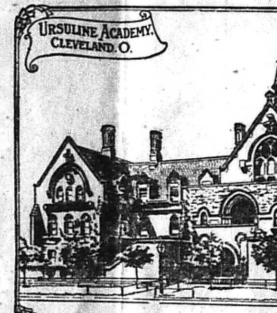

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent sisters are ever-vigilant safeguard.

A letter recently received by Dr. Hartman from the Ursuline Sisters of Cleveland, Ohio, reads as follows:

"We have lately given Peruna a trial, for though the medicine was not new to us, we had not tried it sufficiently to testify to its worth as we are now ready to do.

"We find Peruna an excellent tonic, and a valuable remedy for catarrhal affections of the throat. We have recommended it to our friends and have good reports from them as to its merits." Yours respectfully,
URSULINE SISTERS.

Four Interesting Letters From Catholic Institutions.

Ursuline Academy, Cleveland, O.

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters all over the United States. A recommendation recently received from a Catholic institution in the South reads as follows:

A Prominent Mother Superior Says:

"I can testify from experience to the efficiency of Peruna as one of the very best medicines, and it gives me pleasure to add the 'trials' of that of thousands who have used it. For years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, all remedies proving valueless for relief. Last spring I went to Colorado, hoping to be benefited by a change of climate and while there a friend advised me to try Peruna. After using two bottles I found myself very much improved. The remains of my ailment being now so slight, I consider myself cured, yet for a while I intend to continue the use of Peruna, as my 'new' brother-patient with your medicine. She has been sick with malaria and troubled with hemorrhoids. I have not a doubt that a cure will be speedily effected."

A remedy that would relieve the congested condition of the throat, and consequently cure Catarrh is catarrh. Peruna is a remedy that will cure it in all cases.

Dr. Hartman knows that, when catarrhal diseases make their appearance the first thing to do is to get the system restored to its normal condition. This is the remedy. Dyspepsia and female weakness are considered by many to be entirely different diseases—that dyspepsia is catarrh of the stomach and female weakness is due to catarrh of the pelvic organs. The Sisters are fully aware of this, consequently Peruna in their remedy in both these very common and annoying diseases.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

One-half of the diseases which afflict mankind are due to some catarrhal derangement of the mucous membrane lining some organ or passage of the body.

These are samples of letters received by Dr. Hartman from the various orders of Catholic Sisters throughout the United States.

The names and addresses of these letters have been withheld from respect to the Sisters, but will be furnished upon request.

Violation of Cigarette Law.

D. W. Foley and A. P. Kally have filed an affidavit with County Auditor Frit to the effect that Charles Fix of Shelby, David C. Shelby, J. F. Koerber of Shiloh, Irvin Newhouse of Shiloh, and Gos Holstine of Mansfield, are engaged in selling or giving away cigarettes or cigarette papers without license. It is alleged in the affidavit that Charles Fix of Shelby, has been selling without a license since the fourth Monday in May, 1901, and there is due Richard county $15 as taxes. That David Schaaf of Shelby, owes the county $60 license. That J. F. Koerber of Shiloh, owes $60. That Irvin Newhouse of Shiloh, owes $60. That Gos Holstine of Mansfield, owes $60 license.

The auditor states that the cigarette license is $15 per year. The law where it is shown to have been evaded and the license not paid as prescribed by statute contemplates that the offender shall have four times the amount due charged to him on the tax duplicate; also that a fine may be imposed of from $100 to $300.

Auditor Frit has placed the above amounts named on the tax duplicate, and certified the same to the county treasurer for collection. The law allows the person who files the information one-half of the tax and penalty attached to such violations of law. —Mansfield News.

M. E. Church Notes.

The second Quarterly Meeting of the Plymouth and McKendree churches for the present Conference year will be held at McKendree M. E. church, this (Saturday) Mar. 15, at 10 a. m., and on Sabbath at 2:30 p. m. The Presiding Elder will preach at both services. Quarterly Conference will follow the preaching on Saturday and the communion service will follow the preaching on the Sabbath. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services. The Quarterly meeting will be interspersed with the Sabbath services in the M. E. church here in Plymouth. All services will be held at the usual hours. The special revival meetings are continuing with a deep and growing interest. The Rev. H. A. Shook of New Washington has been assuming the pastor during the present week. The visible results of the meeting have not been as great as the church desires, but a genial feeling of hopefulness pervades the church, and many who have been in attendance have been greatly benefited and strengthened in their religious life. Several members of the Sabbath School have started in the christian life and will unite with the church. Whether the meeting will continue at present any longer than this week will depend upon the interest manifested. The public is cordially invited to attend all of the services.

B. J. MILLS, Pastor.

STRIKING THE RIGHT SPOT.

That's the Great Secret of Ota Prase Given to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

There comes times to every life when a lack of strength—failing appetite—poor circulation—weak heart action and many other symptoms may break in. They are not diseases, the person may not be laid up until they have existed a long time. The influence of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills is to create nerve force and immediately people find themselves getting well because nerve force controls every vital organ of the body.

Mrs. Chas. Single, of No. 820 Barry street, Canton, Ohio, says: "From a personal use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills in an extreme nervousness coupled with irregular, weak heart action, I can heartily recommend them to people in a like condition as a medicine that can and will give one nerve strength and regulate and make strong the heart action. I base this opinion on the use of the Nerve Pills and the effects I obtained."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package. For sale by Webber & Co.

is all right, if you are too fat, and all wrong, if you are too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however, you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample. It is a greasy taste will surprise you.

Legal Notice.

William E. Moore, guardian of James Moore, a minor over fourteen years of age, and James Moore, a minor over fourteen years of age, defendants, residing in Brighton, Monroe county, New York, will take notice that on the 8th day of October, 1901, William E. Moore et al. plaintiffs, filed their petition in the court of common pleas in Huron County, Ohio, against the above named defendants, et al. setting forth that they and defendant, Sarah Jeanette Wick, are all of the heirs at law of James A. Moore, who died on or about the 12th day of March, 1900; and that the above named defendants are legatees of the last will and testament of said decedent; that on or about the 30th day of March, 1900, a certain paper writing purporting to be the last will and testament of said decedent, bearing date of March 4th, 1899, was presented to, and admitted to probate by the Probate Judge of Huron county, Ohio, and is recorded in Volume 9, page 114, of the records of wills in said Huron county. Letters testamentary thereon were issued by said court to defendant, W. E. Cuykendall, who thereupon qualified. Said petition further sets forth that said paper writing is not the last will and testament of decedent, and that said decedent, at the date thereof, was not of sound mind and memory; but by reason of hereditary and protracted sickness was mentally incapacitated for making a will or properly distributing his property and was coerced into signing the same by undue influence of said legatees named in said will, and by false and fraudulent representations was induced to execute said pretended will. And plaintiffs pray that an issue may be made as to whether said paper writing is the last will and testament of said decedent, and that the same may be set aside, and for such other relief as is proper. Said William E. Moore, guardian, and Jay Moore, a minor et al., parties defendants are required to answer on or before the 15th day of April, 1902, or judgment and decree will be taken against them.
