Electric Bitters

Made a New Man of Him
"I was suffering from pain in my stomach and bowels, and was unable to eat or sleep. I was very weak and nervous, and my head ached. I had tried many other remedies, but nothing had done me any good. I had heard of Electric Bitters, and I bought a bottle.
I took it for a few days, and I was a new man."

DEATH'S HARVEST.

HOFMAN.
Sassana E. Frye was born in Washington county, Pa., Feb. 22, 1835. In 1860 she came with her parents to Ohio, locating near New Haven. On April 8, 1858, was united in marriage to Geo. W. Hofman, Plymouth, Ohio, where she resided until called home to her Father's House, May 25, 1912, her husband having departed this life Jan. 8, 1904.

At the age of 17, when attending college at Mt. Union, Ohio, she united with the Methodist church of that place. At Plymouth she identified herself with the Congregational, and later, in 1879, under the pastorate of Rev. E. E. Barnes, transferred her membership to the Presbyterian church, where she remained a faithful member until her death.

Two daughters, five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren comprise the inner family circle left to cherish the dear memory. She has bequeathed to them of loving service and devotion, as mother and grandmother.

As friend and neighbor her helpfulness and kindly ministrations will ever be held in loving remembrance by those with whom she came in life came in touch. With calm unflinching faith and trustfully commending her dear ones to earth to Rev. Howard M. Webb, pastor of the Presbyterian church, she gave her last "good-bye" with the words,
"Do not weep, all is well, all is well."

Funeral services were conducted at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
W. F. Reed, who with Mrs. McDonough, were privileged to render their tribute of ministry to a mother's faithful life.

Funeral services were conducted
at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
W. F. Reed, on Tuesday, May 28, by Rev. Howard M. Webb, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The body was laid to rest in Greenlawn cemetery.

Of the five grandchildren, George McDonough of Los Angeles, Calif., Donald Reed of Augusta, Ga., and S. E. Reed of Toledo, Ohio, were unable to attend. Those present were Charles McDonough of Cleveland and Floyd H. Reed of Elyria.

We desire to extend our thanks to the many friends and neighbors who kindly expressed their sympathy in our loss, and who brought cheer and comfort to our mother during her illness. Also for the many beautiful flowers which were sent. The sympathy shown us at this time will never be forgotten.

Mrs. Robert McDonough,
Mrs. William Reed,
WILSON.

Mary Adora Wilson was born near Plymouth, Ohio, 7, 1879, and departed this life May 26, 1912, aged 32 years, 7 months and 19 days.

She was a member of the Methodist church, and was one of the Lord's sheaves, one young in years but ripe in christian experience, and one who filled to the full measure of love upon earth.

Her life was spent with others of her age in attendance on the public school, where she was punctual in her attendance and diligent in her studies. Always obedient and she gave her parents no trouble.
Her death could be grieved, but that spirit that marked her as one of the Shepherd's fold.

In February, 1894, under the pastorate of Rev. F. B. Heibert, she was united in marriage with the Lutheran church and as long as her health and circumstances permitted, she was a regular attendant at all the church services. After removing to the country she frequently expressed regret that she could not attend the prayer meetings.

Although quiet and reserved, she was not one of those who hid her light under a bushel. Her self-sacrificing devotion to the interests of others, is well known in the community, and will make a place for her in the kingdom of her Heavenly Father.

and many other relatives and friends.
Funeral services were held from his late home Thursday, morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. B.
Heibert, pastor of the Lutheran church, interment being made in Greenlawn cemetery.

COLE.
Nancy Elizabeth Cole, relict of Daniel Cole, and who for nearly all her life has made her home in Plymouth, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ella Howard, corner High and Mulberry streets, at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, at the time of her death in the 61st year of her age, her last illness being of less than three weeks' duration, the direct cause of which was an internal tumor. Funeral services were held from the Methodist Episcopal church Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. R. H.
Balmer. A more extended obituary next week.

Annual Commencement.
Graduates Stage a Shakespearian Play, "A Mid Summer Night's Dream."

Presented in the Opera House, May 23, 1912.

The thirty-third annual commenement of the Plymouth High School attracted a large assemblage of relatives and friends of the gifted students who took part. The class motto was "Victory through Diligence."

The invocation was by Rev. Howard M. Webb, who most earnestly invoked the Divine blessing upon the occasion, followed by a selection "Orion Overture" by the Chicago Junction Orchestra. Two choirs, "The Arab's Ride" and "The Country Fair Walks," by the High School, under the direction of Prof. A. E.
Willett, are worthy of great praise.

Prof. C. M. Carrick announced that the class had departed from old customs and the direction of Prof. A. E.
Willett, a Shakespearian play,
"A Mid-Summer Night's

The cast of characters were:
Lysander - Sidney Judson.
Demetrius - Chauncey Horr.
Oberon - Carl Ehret.
Puck - Arthur Shepherd.
Hermia - Vera Trapp.
Helena - Oleta Young.
Titania - Ruth Andrews.
Fairies - Laura Whittier, Edith Davis,
Alma Clark.

Miss Young, Mr. Horr, and the fairies were not members of the graduating class, but members of a high school, and kindly lent their assistance.

The lights were then turned off and the lights upon the stage threw the picturesque woodland setting into bold relief, when the scene began with Puck and a fairy meeting in the woods. Puck telling the fairy, that "King Oberon doth keep his revels here tonight, take heed, Queen Titania come not within his sight, when King Oberon with his train and Titania with hers entered. King Oberon beseeched Queen Titania to give to him a little changeling boy, to be his henchman, to which she replied, "set your heart at rest, the child of my hand is not the child of mine."

Then King Oberon directed Puck to bring to him a flower, the juice of which, when mixed with the juice of the daisy, would make the person madly love on awaking the first live creature that he gazed upon, and Oberon would that Titania should be so animal, and before he broke the charm with another herb, she would give to him the boy.

The father of Hermia commands his daughter to marry Demetrius, but she loves Lysander, and they decide to elope, and so she goes with her lover, Lysander, to a wood near Athens, where weary with wandering they fall asleep. Helena, who loves Demetrius, tells him Hermia's plans in order to have his company, and takes him to the residence of the governor, where he formed a great dislike to Helena and demanded her to leave him, but Helena, burning with passion, weeping and complaining, in charge of her love, still pursued Demetrius, he leaving from her in anger. King Oberon, hearing Helena plead with Demetrius, and being scorned he love, counsels Puck to place the love potion on Demetrius' eyes, so that on awaking, he will first love Helena and love her. King Oberon tells Puck, that he will know the man by the Athenian garment that he wears.

Puck, who was roaming the forest in quest of the Athenian came upon Lysander and Hermia sleeping and placed the love potion on Lysander's eyes, when Helens out of breath in her fond chase through the grove after Demetrius, found Lysander, whom she calls "Lysander, are you live, good sir, awake," and he on awaking, looks into Helens' eyes, and loves her. She rejects his love, considering it a mockery. Helena on awaking finds Lysander gone, and calls for him in wild distress.

King Oberon reverts Puck's intakes and anoints the eyes of Demetrius, saying to Puck by some illusion bring Helena here. Helena and Ly-sander, passing in the woods, he woving her, comes to love her. Puck, the protesting, Demetrius awakes, and seeing her, exclaims, "O! Helens, goodness, my divine, to what, my love's name, compare mine eyes?" Demetrius and Lysander are now rivals for the love of Helens. Hermia comes and demands of Lysander why he has forsaken her, and entreats him to love her, when Demetrius and Lysander depart to fight a duel.
Puck leads them a merry chase through the woods when they become weary and lie down to rest, as also, Helena and Hermia, weary of night, lie down to rest till morning light, and then will back to Athens go. Puck then applies on Lysander's eyes, the love potion, and said, "When you wakest, thou takest, True I am, in the light of this country proven, And thy country shouldst thou know, In your waking shall be known, Jack shall have Jill, I thought shall go ill."

It afforded the audience great pleasure to see Miss Verda Trauer and Mr. Sidney Judson in the role of Hermia and Lysander, as well as Miss Oleta Young and Mr. Chauncey Horr, as Helens and Demetrius They charmed the audience both by their personality and by their sympathetic interpretation of the characters in the play. Arthur Shepherd, as Puck, the jester of Fairyland, stands apart from the rest, the recognizable "lob of spirits" or "roglish sprite" among the winged and dainty fairies around him. Mr.
Carl Ehret as Oberon the fairy King, and Miss Ruth Andrews, as Titania, the fairy Queen, proved themselves to be excellent. They all most perfectly represented their parts, in the gaiety, fancifulness, depth thought, passion or emotion, which the play brought forth, and which one might expect in artists.
It was the most entertaining commencement program that has ever been given.

After a selection by the Orchestra and a splendid song, entitled, "Blue are the Heavens," and "Sing On, Sing On," by the Junior girls, Prof. C. M. Carrick presented the diplomas. The address was one of the best ever given by him, full of high and ennobling thoughts, and was much appreciated by all those who heard him, followed by the benediction, by Rev. H. M. Welsh.

TAFT MESSAGE

WARSHIPS AND TROOPS BEING SENT SOUTH AS PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE.

GOMEZ ORDERS SOLDIERS OUT

President of Cuban Republic is Making Frantic Efforts to Stamp Out the Negro Uprising on the Island.

Washington, D. C.—The United States government will not intervene in Cuba unless American lives are menaced or American interests suffer more heavily than they have up to date, in the negro uprising.

President Taft has just sent a cablegram to President Gomez, warning him that this government has no objection to intervening in Cuban affairs and that warships and troops are being sent merely as a precautionary measure.

President Taft telegraphed the message from Jersey city to Washington and it was officially cabled through the regular state department channel, from this city to Havana.

The message was an answer to President Gomez's cable to President Taft, assuring him that the Cuban government is able to cope with the situation there and that there is no call for interference at present.

The President's Message.

The following is the text of the President's message:

"I am sincerely gratified to learn of your government's measures to put down the disturbance and to know that you are confident of being successful."

"As was fully explained to the Cuban chargé d'affaires here, this government is not sending troops to Key West, just as sending the Frigate to Guantanamo naval station, was never able to act promptly in this case it should unfortunately become necessary to protect American life and property by rendering moral support or assistance to the Cuban government."

"As was made quite clear at the time, these ordinary measures of precaution are not intended to interfere in any question of intervention."

"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

No Quarter Showed Rebels.

Havana, May 25.—In the endeavor to save the Cuban republic from intervention by the United States, President Gomez is making frantic efforts to put down the negro uprising before United States military forces are landed in what every Cuban believes would be the final occupation of the island by the great republic of the north.

Five thousand troops are in the field and orders to give deadly battle to the rebellious negroes at the earliest possible moment and to give no quarter.

Troops will be treated with the greatest severity; prisoners of war will be shot as traitors.

Depredations Continue.

Continued depredations are reported. The greatest depredations are in Santiago and Oriente provinces, where the rebels are most active.

The rebels are empowered to take up arms against the marauders and no act of violence against the negroes will be questioned by the government.

From Holguin to Santiago province, it is reported that negroes attacked the city of Sagua, "north of there burning numerous houses and carrying off a number of women."

ATTORNEY GENERAL AT LOS ANGELES OUTLINES CASE AGAINST CLARENCE DARROW.

ALTERNATE JUROR IS CHOSEN

Completion of Jury Brings Out Statement by Prosecutor of Conspiracy to Corrupt McNamara Witnesses as Well as Talsman.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 25.—Following the selection on Friday of A. B. Bakesley, a hotel keeper, as the twelfth or alternate juror to try Clarence Darrow on the charge of bribing Jurymen in the McNamara case, John D. Fredericks, the district attorney, outlined the charges that the prosecution would attempt to prove.

It was declared that the prosecution expected to prove that among the detectives employed by Darrow, who was chief counsel in the McNamara case, were Bert Franklin, Bert Hamnerstrom and John R. Harrington; that the defense knew of Lockwood's name being in the jury box; that Franklin went to Lockwood, whom he knew, and offered him a certain sum of money if "he" would be called a juror and succeed in passing the examination, he would vote guilty.

"We will show that this was done at the instance and request of the directors of the defendant, Clarence Darrow," said the district attorney.

SHIPBUILDS GO SOUTH

BIG UNITED STATES DREADNAUGHTS RUSHING TO CUBAN WATERS.

More Battleships to Follow—Five Thousand Troops Are Ready to Be Moved to Island—Army Transport in Commission.

New York, May 25.—Five dreadnaughts of the United States navy, prepared for the greatest naval demonstration since the Spanish-American war, are rushing to Cuba under full steam.

Three other battleships and a cruiser, with their full complement of crews and munitions of war at Hampton roads with feverish haste, will still another battleship is hurrying across the gulf of Mexico to join the fleet at Key West. At the Norfolk navy yard are assembled hundreds of marines waiting for transports, were the battleships being ready for a quick embarkation.

To add to the excitement in naval circles, the well founded rumor passed abroad that the United States is rushing the nucleus of her sea fighting power to southern waters not only to support by sea the United States army in Cuba, but also to put a final quietus on the situation in Mexico.

Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commanding the battleship fleet arrived at Tompkinsville on board his flagship, the armored cruiser Washington, but before anchor could be dropped he received a telegram from the navy department at Washington to proceed at once to Cuba without waiting for a complement of marines and other troops, which was the vessel's mission to this port.

An hour later the battleships Ancon, Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio, with the fleet of transports at full speed, rushed marines and munitions on board and turned south again a few hours later.

The battleships Georgia, New Jersey and Rhode Island and the cruiser Montgomery took supplies and munitions on board at Hampton Roads. The Georgia was reported by wireless as proceeding to Guantanamo. The battleship Nebraska reported that she was en route for the coast of Mexico. The supply ship Calgosa is at Hampton Roads taking up supplies from the south.

Over 2,000 troops, which have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to embark at once can be moved as soon as the transports are ready. It is expected that the army transports at Newport News in commission, naval men said, indicated that more than a naval demonstration was intended, and that negroes in Cuba was contemplated in Washington.

The battleships which passed here a few hours before proceeding south were at Provincetown when they received orders to take marines and crew aboard and rendezvous at Key West.

The sudden arrival and sight of the Washington caused a sensation here. The vessel had been in the harbor, but the heavy pipes had hardly dripped ashore against the wharf when her crew began to turn seaward. A motor launch which was plowing down the channel.

The Delaware and the Minnesota were the next to arrive. The Delaware and the Minnesota, which had been in the harbor at Key West, Minnesota anchored in the channel with steam up. At Tompkinsville the naval tug Pawnee and two other tugs were in the harbor with marines. As they put off toward the Minnesota, the Mississippi, the Missouri and the Ohio were in the channel. They dropped anchor at the dredged yards apart in the channel, in single column. The Pawnee ran along the side of the Minnesota and transhipped her marines.

The men carried their full field equipment. The tug made several trips back to Tompkinsville until the entire detachment of marines had been placed aboard the battleships.

As soon as the last marine was aboard the tug began to discharge the battleship, a signal that explosives were being taken aboard. Lighters crowded the docks and began to send small arm cartridges and munition for the big guns aboard.

This work was completed in an hour and the battleships started on their way at the last hour they drew away the warships were standing out to sea, watched by thousands along the shore, inland and south Brooklyn shores.
