STAYING TASK CONFRONTS COX

FORM CENTER OF EXERCISES FOR OTHER LEGISLATION BEFORE ASSEMBLY.

SESSION IS HARD TO STOP

Concluding Days Being Grimed With Business Week-When Clerks Have Finished Labor, Selves Will Return to Pass Budget Bill and Perform Final Parliamentary Duties.

(By Deputy Editor.)

Columbus, O., Gov. Cox is wrestling with a cruel quandary. It was an easy matter to get the assembly together, but it is not so easy to get it out of existence. It is a very difficult proposition. The task is taxing tact, resourcefulness, resolution and endurance. It is the stern center of affairs to have this measure and that brought to the assembly's attention. In an effort to do better before the last of the week the assembly is crowded with work into the remaining hour. When the clerks have put on final touches the session can come back, however final parliamentary duties are performed.

Effect of Lowry Bill.

The Lowry bill, which measures the effect of school reorganization, will be a board of education of five members in each township district, elected by the people, for four-year terms. This board will select a township superintendent who must be recommended by the county superintendent. The board will also have the power to select a superintendent who will be practically without the jurisdiction of the county superintendent. There will be a board of education of five members in each township district, elected by the people, for four-year terms. This board will select a township superintendent who must be recommended by the county superintendent.

Prayers Against War Bill.

Prayer prayers in telegrams have been sent to Gov. Cox against the passage of the War Bill, which makes it possible for the state to raise money by charging or acquiring public utilities in lieu of general city credit, but not outside of Longworth's debt limit. The bill is said to have been passed by a vote of 10-9.

Caring for State's Wards.

It requires the services of 2,121 employees to care for the 20,282 wards of the state who are confined in different state institutions under the management of the Ohio board of administration. The cost to the state is estimated for these 2,121 employees at $1,424,937.37, and the total cost of food for both the wards of the state and the employees is $1,424,937.37 annually. These are the figures for the year ending June 30, 1914, as taken from the annual report of the Ohio board of administration which is being prepared by H. P. Brown, fiscal supervisor of the board.

No More Dual Jobs.

Charles Kramer, of the Probate Court, and the controller, Auditor of State A. V. Denaher, upon the subject of the proposed bill which will make it impossible for a member of the legislature to hold two offices. It is the view of the state auditor that it should be so wide that no legislator can be employed in any way in the public service not authorized in any transaction with the state involving a profit.

Referendum Safekeeping.

The senate made laws of the Clark and Snyder bills, relating to the safekeeping of the initiative and referendum, which have not yet been passed. They apply to the secretary of state to persons who make false affidavits in filing petitions, the secretary of state to refuse to file petitions and the malfeasance of the secretary of state to refuse to file petitions.

Ohio Exhibits at Exposition.

The senate passed bills standardizing schools and admitting graduates of foreign universities to Ohio colleges and universities on diploma from those high schools, requiring the graduation of university, normal and technical schools to be certified to the Ohio board of education. The bills also provide for the Ohio board of education to have the right to suspend or expel any student who is guilty of a crime.

Frank's Death Reported.

During the past few weeks the cruel and cold winds of winter have made the roads here and there in the state very difficult to travel. The roads are very muddy and the weather is very cold.

Thrown in Sea as Ship Sinks.

With a chorus of shrieks the unfortunate left on the sinking vessel, and clinging over the rigging, through port holes, windows and companionways, made their way until they rested just out of reach of the waves on the side of the half-capsized vessel. But even this slippery security was not long available. With a rumbling sound the vessel rolled over on its side and plunged to the bottom, carrying with her the half-drowned passengers and members of the crew who had failed to get clear of the wreck.

Revised Lists Prepared by Capt. Johnson.

Lost—Passengers, 19; crew, 24; total, 43.
Saved—Passengers, 28; crew, 55; total, 83.

Crash in Night and Fog.

Under the thick night of fog that hid the heavily rumbling sea both barges were making their way slowly and with difficulty in the early morning. The Monroe with Capt. Johnson on the bridge, and a double load of lumber, was being towed by the tug. The Monroe was struck by the tug, and the two vessels were thrown into the air, and the tug was edging under half speed to the northward, having left Norfolk for New York with a heavy cargo of lumber.

Officers Saved.

Capt. Johnson of the Monroe and all his officers got away from the sinking vessel and were taken to the shore by the tug. The Monroe was struck by the tug, and the two vessels were thrown into the air, and the tug was edging under half speed to the northward, having left Norfolk for New York with a heavy cargo of lumber.

Escape in Night Clothes.

When the crash came those aboard the Monroe were in bed and asleep. Capt. Johnson was in the cabin on deck were up and about. But the shivering of the stricken vessel and her being motion, as the water struck through the deck, awakened the sleeping passengers and sent them clambering toward the deck. Warned by the officers, they fled in the direction of the lifeboats.

Gives Life to Save Girl.

There were notable deeds of heroism by Assistant Engineer Omer Perkins and first Wireless Operator Ferdinand J. Kuehn. Perkins when the launch of water put out the main dynamo and left the Monroe in complete darkness, rushed below and put to work an emergency dynamo. He is among the rescued.

Half-Year Old Boy.

A half-year old boy, who was with the crew, was rescued. The boy was found in the cabin of the Monroe, and was taken to the shore by the tug. The boy was found in the cabin of the Monroe, and was taken to the shore by the tug.

Immortal Hero with a Razor.

Immortal hero with a razor and a hairbrush. The hero was found in the cabin of the Monroe, and was taken to the shore by the tug. The hero was found in the cabin of the Monroe, and was taken to the shore by the tug.

The supreme court Tuesday decided in favor of the state plan for the 1913 blind pension law which provides that county treasury's shall pay certain amounts into a state fund for distribution among the needy blind.

Geo. Lepper, a well known ditch contractor of Marion who on Jan. 14 was barred by the county liquor commission, Richard Horn, and G. A. Denton from buying drinks in the city, began a suit in the court of common pleas against the commissioners for damages in the sum of $10.00.

The senate committee on agriculture reported favorably on the Pomeroy resolution appropriating $500,000 to be used by the federal government in co-operating with states to stamp out hog cholera. The resolution was amended to authorize federal inspectors to supervise the manufacture of hog cholera in laboratories.

The Hungarian partridge is the latest addition to the list of Ohio's game birds. This bird from foreign climes won't be ready for hunting purposes until 1915, according to an announcement by General John C. Speaks, chief game warden. By February 15 about 6,000 will have been distributed throughout the state. Some counties have received supplies.

Several "double holidays" will occur this year. Two of the most important ones are July 4 and Memorial day. Both these holidays will be on Saturday, allowing celebrators or persons making trips a convenient additional day of leisure. St. Valentine's day will occur on Saturday and the next night on the birthday of Washington's birthday, February 22, which falls upon Sunday.

Appointment of a receiver for all the Ohio property of the Central Union Telephone Company a $10,000,000 corporation which operates the Bell telephone system in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and a $1,000,000 judgment for the protection of stockholders was entered in a petition filed in the Lucas county common pleas court Monday by Christopher Hearn, a stockholder of the Central Union Company.

Fire destroyed one of the ware houses of the Aukley and Dayton machinery Company, one of Mansfield's largest industries, Sunday afternoon, and for a time threatened the plant of the Ohio Brass Company. Extensive wiring is believed to have been the cause. The loss is estimated at $25,000. The warehouse was at the intersection of all the main Erie, Erie and railroad and for a time stopped traffic on both.

The county commissioners have sent out notices to all township trustees, road supervisors and representatives of all agricultural societies in Richland county, to meet at the office of the commissioners Feb. 14. The meeting has been called to cover the subject of public highways and dragging of roads. Prosecutor Farber will address the meeting on the legal phase of the question and several others will speak.

Convinced that the public has been innocently purchasing great quantities of chickens fattened with rock and sand in food mixtures by unscrupulous shippers, the department of agriculture has ordered an investigation into this phase of the poultry business. The people of New York city alone, the department estimates, buy every week from 150,000 to 200,000 pounds of rock and sand mixtures, paying the prevailing poultry market price.

Saturday was the last day you could catch skunks. It may be a dear old catch for you if you forget to remember this warning. It is a state law. The fine is from $200 to $250 if you disobey. Fur buyers have agreed to co-operate and promise to buy no skins after that date. So if you have a pelt or two hanging about a shanty it would be a wise move to hide it. Even selling skunk hides after this date, although the fur may have been caught previous, is laying yourself liable to suspicion and probable arrest.

Under a new ruling of the post-office department, government pensioners cannot get their pension vouchers from lock boxes in the post-office but all vouchers must be delivered through the general delivery window. This action is taken to insure the voucher being delivered only to the pensioner himself or to some one who is accustomed to call and get his mail and is authorized to get it. There is always a chance that mail will be taken from lock boxes occasionally left uncollected, which means that one would think, however often that one would think, to insure the possibility of getting one

Seas Uncle Sam.

A little girl eight years old has used Uncle Sam in three courts for $100,000 as recompense for the act of her grandfather in sinking his ship during the civil war in order to save a cargo of arms from the confederate army. Captain Samuel Houston, a relative of General Sam Houston of Texas fame, owned a river boat. He was seized by a confederate force and his boat, loaded with rifles, sent south on the Mississippi. His fidelity to the federal cause led him to sink the boat. The little girl is his only surviving relative.

May Run Cars Independently.

The interurban cars on the Mansfield and Shelby line and the Sandusky, Norwalk & Mansfield line have been operated through Mansfield to Norwalk for several months, and it appears that the arrangement has not been entirely satisfactory to the people interested in the two roads. It is understood that a change is to be made in the operating of the cars in the near future. Under a new time table, which is said to be under consideration, the lines will again operate independently. Cars will run from Mansfield to Shelby and from Shelby to Norwalk. It is said that practically the old schedule will be resumed in the operation of the two roads.

Consumption Takes 350 People Every Day

In the United States and the surprising truth is that most cases are preventable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn us that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medical nourishment assimilated quickly to build healthy tissue; aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles; strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction.

Scott's Emulsion is used in tuberculous camps because of its rare body-building, blood-making properties and because it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drug. Be sure to insist on Scott's.

Thirty citizens of Chicago Junction and vicinity met in the above city last week Friday evening and organized what is to be known as the Huron County Agricultural Society, striving for its object the holding of a fair and race meet.
Plymouth High School will be in the field this year with a ball team, and too, stronger than ever. The team for the season is already made up and some good games can be expected, which will be between the high school teams of our neighboring towns.
The members of the Unity Class of the Lutheran Church met at the home of Mrs. H. N. Miller, Wednesday evening, the time being spent in social, games and reading. A hearty lunch was served and all enjoyed a good time, voting Mrs. Miller a delightful hostess.

When there are growing children in the house and the grocery bill gets bigger every week, mother is glad to see the child who saves the way they do, although she will have to go without the new hat she wanted. But her claims that if the grocer didn't get it, the doctor would, or what's the difference?
The Rev. Albert Hamilton Baker, of India, will spend next Sunday with Rev. R. H. Balmer, speaking morning and evening in the M. E. church, at 10 o'clock, and on Monday afternoon. He will also hold a Men's Meeting in Plymouth at 3:30 p. m. under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class. The class invited all men to be present.

Jacobs have taken over the management and are now catering to the wants of the patrons of the old established place, and are proving themselves very congenial mine hosts.

Seventeen cars were demolished in a pile-up which occurred early Monday morning near the Huron river bridge on the Akron division of the B. & N. O. R. R. Two trains were passing on the double track when a car in one of the trains left the track and bounded into the other train, causing the pile-up. No one was hurt and traffic was only tied up for a short time.
Death again entered our midst early Thursday morning and called from among those of our oldest and widely known citizens, our business man. At the hour of 4:30 on the above morning the spirit of Aaron Kasper, in point of years in business the oldest in Plymouth, winged its flight into the valley beyond the shadow of death and suffered a peaceful death. He was 82 years of age and had been in business for many years. He was a well known citizen and was highly respected in the community. He was a member of the church and was a very successful and tireless worker. His widow and family are now in the city and are being cared for by the church.

For Sale—Ton of good timothy hay. For further particulars call on Jake Myers.
Lost—On the streets near Wonderland Theatre, a diamond ring. A reward of $5.00 will be given if the finder will return same to Mrs. Ben Wootlett.

Slipper work bags, waists, infants' wear, pin cushions, etc. Richardson silks at 3c a yard.
The evangelistic services in the M. E. church are reported as having started with good promise of success in both attendance and interest. Evangelist Palmer is giving a clear cut, well delivered and thoroughly gospel addresses. His first sermon on "The Lost Christ," was an excellent opening address, and each of his successors has been equally impressive. The meetings continue all of next week. You are cordially welcome at 7 p. m. each evening.
Harvey Ramsey, who recently disposed of the Park Hotel at Chicago Junction, and a brother of our townsman, W. G. Gannaway, has leased the Schreiner building next door to Kapfenberg's meat market and is having it fitted up for a restaurant and milk depot, and will see it opened up as soon as the work is completed. With three hotels, four restaurants, besides the numerous boarding houses there will be no more of one going hungry in Plymouth—if they have the price.

The Crowell Family Concert Co., of Ashland, gave a high class entertainment at a capacity house at the Methodist Episcopal church last week Wednesday evening, which netted the High School, under whose auspices it was held a good sum to the treasury. Their program consisted of violin, vocal solos and readings, and every number was highly enjoyed, showing the family, six in number, to be talented musicians, and a warm welcome awaits them here at any time they may wish to come.
At a meeting of the council held Tuesday evening a resolution was adopted to secure the services of an architect for the purpose of making necessary alterations for utilizing the water of the Quarry Fishing Lake as a public water supply for the village. G. C. Gannaway, Becker and Sykes were appointed as a committee to engage an engineer, and with Mayor Sauer, have already engaged the services of Wm. G. Clark, a sanitary engineer of Toledo to make the test, and who was in Plymouth Thursday looking over the situation.
One of the prettiest girls in Plymouth says she is getting married. Her mother's wish makes her arms clasp and hanging out the clothes has enlarged her bust measurement several inches, while the exercise of stooping and lifting clothes makes her waist line smaller. She says having from stove to table while helping her mother get the meals gives her good control of her lower limbs, and does not so many men admire. This girl can have her choice of three desirable young men right now.

The new express rate which went into effect February first, and which was expected to greatly reduce the carriage is only a myth, only in so far as small packages are concerned. For example, our ready print of which we receive weekly by express from Cleveland, under the old rate charges are now 50c, or twelve cents higher than the old rate. On small packages of only a few pounds the rate has been made lower, but this is more than made up in the rate on larger packages. The reduction on smaller packages was made to meet the parcel post but the express companies were careful to see the larger shipper made up for this shortage.
On Tuesday evening the ladies of the Lutheran church delightfully entertained the members and friends of the congregation to welcome Rev. Mansfield, their new pastor, and his family. After a musical program which was ably rendered by Mr. A. Root, Mrs. B. L. Moore, Mr. E. B. Carter, Mrs. Miss Ruby Clark, the Duquesne Quartette and the Sunday School Orchestra, Mr. E. K. Krueger, in the name of the congregation, warmly welcomed the pastor and his family to the church. Rev. Mansfield responded in a few minutes, and observing by his remarks that he is a very earnest and tireless worker. His fervor and sincerity only won the cordial approval of the congregation. His wife and family were seated in the church during the service.

SYNOPSIS

Gloria Kerr, a motherly girl, who has been married to her father's home in Belmont, Ohio... Her father's home in Belmont, Ohio... Her father's home in Belmont, Ohio...

"One minute, sir," Wright was not willing for him to proceed without his knowing that his daughter was in the room with them... "Oh! Gloria's disgust was unexpressed. Mere rage was useless to express her feelings..."

"You! Nothing but your looks at hand, would you? My girl's away, so, I don't own you, I don't own you..." "The girl did not quail beneath his bitter words... "You! Nothing but your looks at hand, would you? My girl's away, so, I don't own you, I don't own you..."

LINCOLN'S LIFE MASK

Work of Late Leonard W. Volk, Famous Chicago Sculptor.

Made Early in April, 1860, and is Now in the Possession of the Chicago Art Institute—Bronze Hand Also Preserved.

"In the south gallery of the Chicago Art Institute, shrouded from dust beneath its glass case, reposes the bronze life mask of Abraham Lincoln from which have been taken thousands of busts and statues for libraries, galleries, and public buildings..."

clung pretty hard, as the cheek bones were higher than the jaws at the base of the ear. He had his head low and took hold of the mold and gradually worked it off without breaking or injury; it hurt a little, as a few hairs of the tender temples pulled out with the plaster and made his eyes water.

"The sittings were continued daily (on the Thursday following, and during their continuance, he would talk almost incessantly, telling some of the funniest and most laughable stories, but he talked little of politics or religion..."

Patty, tired of listening to a conversation she could not understand, remembering the visitor, asked: "What shall I tell him?"

"What a nuisance, Father," Wright muttered the child to the door. Then he turned to Gloria. "You can leave by this side entrance. No one will be in the way for this visit..."

"Gloria, this is distressingly painful. Please don't," he begged. Then he turned to her father. "Why have you come here?"

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY FROM VARIOUS STANDPOINTS

IF all the holidays on the calendar, St. Valentine's day is, of course, the least conspicuous. Unlike Christmas, Easter, the Fourth of July or Memorial day, it makes no direct appeal for our serious consideration.

By the day when Cupid reigns supreme and every form of celebration necessarily harks back in one way or another, to the little cherub with the bow and arrow.

fling it wide open and rushing wild but not detect if possible, the festal dance of the white mistle lying on the floor of the vestibule.

tonal—and his hands and face are unresponsive testimony to the fact that the rising generation occasionally gets back to Mother Earth even in the private city streets.

It might have been all right for her ancestors—simple folk at best—but not for her! Nothing of that sort in her family!

Watch papa when he gets his on St. Valentine's day. He is just grinning and makes some remark to the effect that the manufacturer of the valentine is certainly up-to-date in placing his caricatured figure in an aeroplane.

And grandpa and grandpa. They sit quietly by in their big armchairs and smile complacently at the enthusiasm of the youngsters.

Cure Your Horse Yourself. The minute your horse is ailing, know what the trouble is, and just how to remedy it. It would be pleasant, indeed, to picture a certain Miss St. Valentine of the present all in a flutter over what the patron saint of the day will bring her. It appeals to the mental appetite to picture all the fair sex as the same gentle, shy, retiring creatures of former days.

"Papa and mamma are called in" to see what a gorgeous valentine Lu has received. Pa makes some remark about being willing to venture a guess as to the identity of the sender, with the added intimation that the $2 the violets cost might help some, at least, in furnishing an apartment.

Which you newspaper on St. Valentine's day for one particular purpose—namely, to see who has written the most beautiful valentines.

COOKE GIBBER LOVER

A Little Comedy with the Usual Happy Result.

Paul, Richard never knew a father's of a mother's love, but his parents
invited him when he was an infant.
The grandfather, who had quarreled with his daughter the moment of her marriage, Richard, had never seen the child, but had said liberally for his support and education. She had been called Paul, was in college and had left him in a college
when he graduated he was to go to an aunt, who was to take the place of her mother.

When Paul appeared at his Aunt Caroline's house a singular looking little boy with a pair of cork-soles, who received him in a room shaded from the light that he did not see her till she advanced to meet him.
"You are Paul Richard, my sister's son," she said, "and I am your Aunt Caroline. You are to stay here till you are twenty-three years old, at which time I am to pay over to you your inheritance. Unfortunately I was called away for a few weeks and must leave you under the same roof
with Claudia Chase, a young girl whom I have adopted and whose home is here. My housekeeper will be chaperon. You will meet Claudia at dinner. I wish to admonish you not on any account to fall in love with her since I shall not consent to her marriage with any one. I must have her to myself in my old age."

After this address which she gave in a cracked voice, she hurried out of the room and left the young man to himself. He was bitterly disappointed.
"This, the only mother he had ever seen, seemed to be not an especially lovable person."
"This came a surprise to Diane."
A young girl who tried to meet him, certainly welcoming him. From the moment he saw her and listened to her honey words he knew he had met one with whom he would be content.
"I am Claudia," she said. "I have heard a great deal about you from my other mother by adoption and I assure you for years have felt an interest in one who has had no one to take the place of father, mother, sister or brother. I hope you will now have one in your aunt to fill something of the gap. As for me, we must consider ourselves at least cousins."

"But Aunt Caroline showed no interest in the white." "She will. Believe me, you can tell nothing about her from what you have seen. She has the truest heart in the world and is very unselfish."
Paul wondered if the girl would call the old woman mother and she soon declared that she intended keeping her from a husband to administer to her own wants. However, his aunt and all the world were forgotten in the delightful evening he spent with Claudia Chase. Occasionally she would refer to the aunt, and in one instance as a very romantic woman. In this Paul burst into a laugh, at which a Miss Claudia seemed a trifle offended.

"Paul lost his heart. The return of the old lady and a declaration of love came about near the same time. Paul proposed one evening and his aunt was to return the next morning. "Are you sure?" "Are you sure?" "Are you serious?" "That in doing this you are setting honorably?" "Paul started. "I had forgotten," he said, "that before my aunt's departure
she gave me warning."
"What was it?" "Why, the fact that," said Paul, "the old woman told me she would never consent to your marriage unless she intended to keep you single for herself!"

"That being the case, I must decline your proposal. I owe her too much and love her too well to marry without her permission."
"But?" "But what?" "I will bear her no ill-will to give you to me. We will both take care of her—be her companions."
"What? Could you live with a cur maddening?" "For you I could live with a wolf."
The girl burst into a laugh. "Very well," she said. "You may see her,
and we shall see if she is as selfish as you think."

The next morning Paul was informed that the old lady had returned and wished to see him in the library. He entered the same dimly lighted room
as before.
"Well, young man," said the spouse,
"you've been here for three weeks with my daughter. I dare say you've been trying to rob me of her."
"My dear aunt, I would not rob you of her for the world. But I beg of you not to separate me from one I love
together with you."
"There was a reason behind it, you said, a beautiful looking girl, or so said. At the same time, I said she of still and "make up" for the aunt, receiving the face and figure of Claudia."

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Star Lighter.

Come, quickly, for the star light. The star
you bring light.
The back door shows the star light in the night. The star light is shining. Oh, just come and see.
How delightful is the pretty star for
the little boy and girl.
For he's the fairy of the skies and wears
a robe of blue.
He's old for all the years that are and yet
as young as you.
He has a magic torch to hold. It reaches
to the far.
That, standing on the lightning, he can light
the farthest star.
And on by one they twinkle out, so very glad and bright.
We're sure he must have touched them
with his magic torch of light.
Look up there, little sister, just beyond the hill and sea.
The big new one that's glowing now, the first you see.
Oh, he's the Nuthorn god to us to light the stars of night?
He shows us every evening just the present of the stars of the skies. He wears and old as all the years he is, yet just as young as you.

—Youth's Companion.
New Authors Game.
You all know the old fashioned game of "anagrams" to be played with cards. Here is a new game of "anagrams" to be played with pencil and paper.

When your friends assemble, after giving out pencils and paper, set yourself facing the company and tell them that each of your sentences
must be answered by an author's name. Here are some sentences with their answers:
What Philadelphia is noted for—
Holmes.
An exclamation—Shaw.
What babies make when they cry—
Smiles.
A narrow stream—Ford.
Value of words—Wordsworth.
Clang, the Chinese giant—Longfellow.

What an oxter heap is—Shelley.
To be found in a monastery—Abbot.
Growth of a good natural person—
Smiles.
What a baby does when in pain—
Howells.
A vital part of the body—Harte.
A plant found in the marshes—
Bread.
A slang word—Dickens.
What Oliver Twist asked for—
Moore.
Foundation of Carnegie's fortune—
Steels.
What you must never say—Kant.
Connects Great Britain—Cable.
Caused by fire—Burns.
A worker in precious metals—Goldsmith.

A male lion or serpent—Butler.
A maker of barrels—Cooper.
A portion of a farmyard animal—
Baron.
A woolly quadruped—Lamb.
A headress—Hood.
Walks always—Crabbe.
Which vegetables grow—Field.
What a hare is—Swift.
A term in baseball—Filding.
What a turkey becomes in the oven—
Browning.
Small talk and heavy weight—Chat-terton.

An Old Crocodile.
One of the most interesting specimens
in the British museum is a crocodile more than 2,500 years old. It is a fine, well preserved specimen, and at its head there is a whole family of little crocodiles.
Years before the Christian era the Egyptians worshipped crocodiles among their animal deities, and many specimens were kept at great expense in their parks and royal gardens, where they were attended by priests and given
all sorts of daily morsels for food.
When these crocodile gods died they were embalmed and placed in the tombs along with the mummies of other sacred animals. This particular crocodile was preserved by dipping it in wax and pitch, which rendered it hard and shiny, and it lay in one of the pyramids of the fifth century,
until the Egyptian government dug it out and preserved it to the museum.

The Chinese Tea Table.
This is a game to amuse small children. The players sit in a circle and each one takes the name of some article used at the tea table, such as tea,
sugar, cream, cake, etc.
Then, when the tea is served and turns round and round in her place, saying,
"I turn Tea," she turns Sugar? Then Sugar gets up and leans to turn, saying, "I turn Sugar, who turns Milk?"
Milk leans to turn, saying, "I turn Milk, who turns Cream?" Cream turns, saying, "I turn Cream, who turns Hot Water?" And so on with Hollis, Muffins, Hot Cake or anything that can be thought of, from even to milk and dishes if there are any playing—
all all are treated.
They must continue all the leader
calls her name and calls out, "Clear the table," when all sit down in their chairs again.

Origin of a Common Word.
Some names have passed into language as a result of the associations
which one particular letter of them has conferred upon them. In 1882
there was an Irish landlord named Domina Bennett, who dealt harshly with his tenants. A movement was started for the removal of his designation from the roll of the landlords.
The name of the movement was the "No-Bennetts' League." The name of this league has since become a common word.

Feel Miserable.
Out of sorts, depressed, pain in the back—Electric Bitters, restores your health and strength. A guaranteed Liver and Kidney remedy.
Money back if not satisfied. It completely cured Robert Martin, of West Burlington, Iowa, who suffered from violent liver trouble for eight months. After four doctors gave him up, he took Electric Bitters and is now a well man. Get a bottle today; it will do the same for you.
Keep in the house for all liver and kidney complaints. Perfectly safe and dependable. Its results will surprise you. 50c and $1.00.

or St. Louis.

Grumblers of the Future.
If you want to know who are to be the grumblers, 'growlers' and malcontents and discontented of the future you won't have to look far.
You can find them now, boys, sitting idly day and evening doing nothing and wishing to do nothing. In ten or twenty years from now they will be doing the same thing and declaring that the world has been made all wrong. Never having made an effort to do anything, they themselves they look upon every man who has gained property or high professional reputation by increasing toll and economy of time, and as having wronged them in some way,
and as an enemy to be denounced in season and out of season.

Raisin Puffs.
One-half cupful of sugar, a heaping
tablespoonful of butter, two eggs,
a cupful of milk, two cupfuls of flour,
a cupful of raisins chopped and soured,
three teaspoonfuls of baking powder
Put in buttered cups one-half hour.
This makes two cupfuls. Recipe for Stumps—two cupfuls of brown sugar,
two cupfuls of hot water, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of vanilla.
Cook until thick. Serve hot.

To Keep Rice Grains Whole.
Have plenty of water boiling rapidly in a large saucepan, add to it the strained juice of a lemon, put in the rice, stir with a cooking fork (never stir rice with a spoon, but hand for fifteen minutes uncovered. Now add the salt, stir well, but ten minutes longer, pour it into a colander, shake well, put into a warm oven for five minutes to dry, serve in a hot uncovered vegetable dish. The lemon juice
does not flavor the rice.

Rendering Lard.
Cut leaf lard into small pieces and run through the meat chopper before rendering and you will have almost all lard and very few cracklings when through cooking. A teaspoonful of Santonin baking soda in the water in which you start your lard to rendering makes it white and sweet. Sprinkle
a thin layer of salt in the bottom
of pans before pouring in your newly
rendered lard and it will not get rancid.

MRS. W. W. LAKE
Tells Others How to Get Strong
and Well.
Mrs. W. W. Lake of Aberdeen,
Miss. says: "The grippe had left me in a weak, run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol from which I received great benefit. My stomach is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer from it."
Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from the Vinol—
combined with the blood-making and strength creating properties of toxic iron, which are contained in
"Vinol" and her cords disintegrated
as a natural result.
"We guarantee that Vinol will do all things if that does not seem to you then you will have almost all lard and very few cracklings when through cooking. A teaspoonful of Santonin baking soda in the water in
which you start your lard to rendering makes it white and sweet. Sprinkle
a thin layer of salt in the bottom
of pans before pouring in your newly
rendered lard and it will not get rancid."
