

ADMIRAL FLETCHER AND HIS FLAGSHIP

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, commanding the first division of the Atlantic fleet, has been stationed at Vera Cruz. The battleship Florida is his flagship.

MARINES CAPTURE CITY OF VERACRUZ

United States Forces Land and Seize Custom House Following Battle.

FOUR AMERICANS DIE, 20 HURT

More Than 200 Mexicans Are Killed—Huertistas Fight Mainly From Houseposts.

Vera Cruz, Mexico—American marines from the battleship Florida seized the custom house by order of Admiral Fletcher. The landing force was then attacked by the Huertistas with rifle and artillery fire.

In the skirmish four American sailors were killed and 20 wounded. More than 200 Mexicans were killed. The Huertistas fought mainly from houseposts. Parts of Vera Cruz beyond the custom house were shelled by the United States transport fleet.

The Americans killed were: Cozswain John F. Schumaker of Brooklyn, battleship Florida; Seaman George Polonskie of Philadelphia, battleship Florida; Corporal Haggerty, battleship Florida; Marine whose name has not been learned.

The wounded include C. L. Lesly, U. S. Schwartz, C. D. Cameron, J. F. Pines, seamen of the Florida; Electrician Glaburne of the Florida and D. McMillan, private, Second marine regiment, from the transport Prairie. The occupation began in the face of an approaching "norther." Marines and sailors began leaving the side of the Prairie at 11 a. m. The fighting was from the transport and the battleship Florida and Utah.

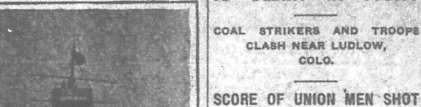

Two hours prior to their landing Admiral Fletcher demanded the surrender of the city through American Consul Canada. The consul allied Gen. Gustavo Maas, commander of Vera Cruz, by telephone and presented his demands. Maas was told that United States forces were about to occupy and hold the town. Consul Canada called upon him to surrender in the name of humanity and assist the Americans in preserving order.

"It is impossible to comply with the demand," replied Gen. Maas. He then called the consul, Antonio Villavicencio, the jefe politico and the customs collector by telephone and notified them of the prospective landing. He asked for their cooperation in the maintenance of peace. The customs collector requested time in order to attend to important duties, and neither would promise any assistance.

Steps Landing of Arms. Because of the expected arrival of the German steamer Ypiranga, Admiral Fletcher decided to prompt the landing of arms.

On the 20th of April, Rear Admiral Fletcher, U. S. Navy, New York City—Michael J. Auletta, news reporter, who came to this country from Italy 51 years ago, with 18 cents in his pocket and kept a "cuber shop" for nearly half a century, died leaving a fortune of nearly $100,000. He was one of the best-known barbers on the East Side. Among his patrons had been Theodore Roosevelt, ex-Police Chief Devery, Detective Petrosino, who was assassinated in Italy; Patrick J. Moran and "Little Blue" Sullivan. Mr. Auletta was one of the founders of an Italian hospital.

SCORE OF UNION MEN SHOT

One Soldier, Eleven Strikers and One Non-Combatant Among the Dead—Colony of Tents Used by Miners Burned.

Trinidad, Colo., April 22.—Thirteen men have been killed and two score wounded in a battle between striking coal miners and state militia, which started in a canyon near Ludlow, 15 miles from Trinidad, raged all day Monday and continued all night. Firing ceased at ten o'clock, except for desultory shooting. At that hour the militia had surrounded a great body of miners in an arroyo near Savanna canyon.

Strikers are rushing from Trinidad, Walsenburg and other neighboring camps to aid their fellows, and it is predicted that the fiercest local battle in the history of the state will be fought. Additional militiamen also are being hurried to the scene. The dead include one soldier, 11 strikers and one non-combatant.

The big tent colony was destroyed completely by fire. The hundreds of women and children are being cared for by frantic citizens. Gen. Louis Tikas, strike leader, is among the dead.

Private A. Martin of Company A, First regiment, Denver, was killed and Private Louis Purcell of Company A, Second regiment of Colorado Springs, was shot through the breast and will die. Another soldier was wounded.

All telephone wires are down and telegraphic service is limited to one railroad wire. A report from the military camp at Ludlow says that 40 strikers are wounded.

At union headquarters it was declared that no reports of casualties among the strikers had been received. The military force consists of 1000 men and fully four hundred armed strikers are in the hills. An effort to send recruits from Trinidad was delayed by the return of the train crew to take out the train. Master Mechanic Reoch and Dr. J. W. Williams finally manned the hospital.

Provisional President Huerta has been doing everything to safeguard the confinement. A special train was waiting here to rush the munitions to the capital. Shortly before 11 a. m. Admiral Fletcher received a wireless dispatch from Admiral Gadsby, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, who was speeding here with five warships. The landing force was then ordered into the harbor and effected a landing on Porfirio Diaz wharf within half an hour.

There was no resistance at the water front. Curious spectators in the streets laughed as one Mexican peon ran to cover, having shouted, "Viva Mexico." But the hull was not indicative of compliance.

The custom house and sections of the city in the vicinity of the wharves and the cable office and the American Consulate were seized with the firing of only a few shots. It was short after 11:30 a. m.

Excitement is intense. After a brief interval the Mexicans opened with rifles and artillery. The excitement was intense. Crowds ran to the water front to learn what was happening. A steady rumble of gunfire was heard throughout the city. Outpost parties on the roofs of houses in the vicinity of the custom house were particularly dangerous.

The transport Prairie came in close to shore when the Huertistas' artillery fire opened. Shells were sent over the custom house and dropped into quarters where the Mexicans were concentrated. This prevented them from leaving the custom house and drove them back into the center of the city.

The marines gradually drove the Mexican sharpshooters off the roofs of the buildings and captured the advantage in the vicinity of the wharves. Hour after hour the Mexicans kept up a desultory fire. Their attacks were infrequent but formidable.

The crowds in the streets grew larger. The desultory fire lessened toward evening. The Huertistas withdrew westward, and it is believed they will be withdrawn.

All the rolling stock of the railroad is safe and is being specially guarded. The United States force in Vera Cruz and vicinity consists of the battleship Florida, Utah, Connecticut, Minnesota and the cruisers San Francisco and Chester, the gunboat Dolphin, the transports Prairie and Hancock, the hospital ship Solace and the collier Cyclops, as well as the chartered steamers Esperanza and Mexico.

NOMINATED FOR U. S. SENATE JOHN PURROY MITCHEL ESCAPES ASSASSIN'S BULLET.

Roosevelt's Boom is Launched—Columbia Treaty, Providing Payment of $25,000,000, Opposed.

Indianapolis, April 21.—The Indiana Progressive convention nominated Albert J. Beveridge here Saturday as the candidate of the party for United States senator. The nomination was unanimous and Mr. Beveridge has accepted. He was Republican senator from Indiana from 1889 to 1911.

The platform of the party, unanimously adopted, pledges the party to work for the elimination of all breweries and saloons in the state and to endorse the Hobson resolution now before congress. The platform attacks the Democratic administration and criticizes its Mexican policy.

Another plank opposes the approval of any treaty with Colombia which provides for the payment of $25,000,000 to that country. Senator Niles, of Washington launched a boom for the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt as the presidential candidate of the Progressive party. In a speech before the convention.

GEORGETOWN

COURT REFUSES TO GRANT PRAYER FOR CONSERVANCY DISTRICT.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Dayton, O.—The appellate court, comprising over the lowlander in the Conservancy Court, which has been hearing the petition of the Flood Prevention Committee of this city for the formation of a conservancy district, has denied the prayer of the petitioners.

The court adjourned, and its respective members left this city for their homes. The individual members refused to comment upon the findings of the court, stating that an announcement of the conclusions of the court would be made later.

It is understood, however, that the petition was dismissed largely upon the ground of the unavailability of a number of phases of the constitution of Ohio.

It was held that legislative power was not delegable to a judicial body, and that therefore the Conservancy Court was not empowered to authorize the erection of a conservancy district. It is believed that the court is exercising legislative power.

Conflicts With Law. Further conflict with the constitution of Ohio was found in the fact that the petitioners had not come into court on the same ground of equality, in the case of the former a denial of the petition still pending in the appellate court, but with no such right in the hands of the objectors.

CORN BOYS CHANCE

Free Scholarship at Ohio State University to Go To Victors.

Columbus, O.—The prize pot placed with the reach of changing corn growers was sweetened as the result of an arrangement entered into by the State Agricultural Commission and the board of trustees of the Ohio State University.

Heretofore county fair boards have had the right to designate one boy in each county to receive a two-year scholarship in the College of Agriculture of Ohio State University. Some dissatisfaction grew out of this system, and the board of trustees of Ohio State University decided to turn the matter over to the agricultural commission.

It extended the scholarships from two to three years. They have a cash value of $67 each. It will go to the boy over 17 years of age in each county who raises the largest amount of corn in Logan county. The prize is in addition to the free Washington trip.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S PROGRAM.

Washington.—President Wilson's Mexican program includes what are known in international law as "measures short of war," which, while not being a declaration of war on the part of the United States, might be so construed by Huerta. According to best informed officials these would consist of the following:

- Seizure of the ports of Tampico, and Vera Cruz.
- Seizure of the Mexican gunboats in these waters.
- Seizure of the railroad from Vera Cruz to the Mexican capital to a point including a stretch 20 miles west of Vera Cruz to prevent the route to the Mexican capital being blocked.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson in person delivered his Mexican message to congress. He asked that body to aid him in sustaining the honor of the nation and to keep its flag unsoiled. Of the senate and house assembled in joint session he asked authority to use the armed forces of the United States in Mexico for any purpose and to any extent he may deem necessary. War with Mexico was declared by the president "in the event of any aggression or of self-defense against the United States. He did not speak of a Mexican blockade or intervention. He stated that this country's quarrel was with Huerta alone—not with the Mexican people. The president's message follows:

It is my duty to call your attention to a situation which has arisen in our dealings with the United States of Mexico. Mexico City which calls for action, and to ask whether the congress will support me upon it. On the 8th of April a paymaster of the U. S. S. Dolphin landed at the harbor of Tampico. He had with him a whaleboat and boat's crew to take of certain supplies. Whether the crew was engaged in loading the boat was arrested by an officer and squad of men from the Mexican coast guard. The paymaster nor any one of the boat's crew was harmed.

Two or the men were in the boat when the boat was seized. The other two were left to leave it and submit to be taken into custody, notwithstanding the fact that the boat was not theirs. Neither the paymaster nor any one of the boat's crew was harmed.

Arrest Regarded as Unjust.
The officer who made the arrest was proceeding up one of the streets of the town of Tampico. He was accompanied by other higher authority, who ordered him to return to the landing and await the arrival of a mail boat. The officer refused to do so, and the arrest was regarded as unjust.

The release was followed by protests from the commander and later by an expedition to Tampico. The expedition was led by General Huerta. He ordered that martial law be proclaimed in the territory of the United States. He also ordered that the local authorities should be removed and that our soldiers had no right to land there. Our naval commanders at Tampico were ordered to leave the harbor, and even if they had not done so they would have been ordered to do so.

A series of incidents have recently occurred in Tampico. The incidents are of such a nature as to show that the dignity and rights of this government and its personnel are being treated with contempt. It is my duty to call your attention to these incidents.

Five Killed in Battle.
A battle was fought at Tampico on the 10th of April. Five men were killed in the battle. The battle was fought between the forces of the United States and the forces of Huerta.

Private A. Marvin of Company A, 1st Cavalry, was killed in the battle. He was killed by a bullet in the head. He was a brave and gallant soldier.

UNCLE SAM'S FORCE SENT TO AWE MEXICO

Washington.—Never before in the history of the nation has the strength of the navy been shown as it is in Mexican waters today. A greater percentage of fighting machines were assembled than in the war with Spain, but the navy of 1898 had not the fighting strength of the navy today, either in number of vessels, in tonnage or in gun caliber.

The United States fleet which the United States now has or will have in Mexican waters within a few days with which to compel compliance with the demands of this government may be summarized as follows:

- On East Coast: Battleships—1, Transport—1, Cruisers—4, Mine depts.—1, Gunboats—2, Fuel ship—1, Destroyers—15, Hospital ship—1, Tender—1, Marine transport—1.
- On West Coast: Battleships—1, Transport—1, Cruisers—2, Supply ship—1, Destroyers—1, Fuel ship—1, Gunboat—1.

Men Available for Landing Purposes.
On East Coast: 2,500 Marines.
On West Coast: 2,000 Marines.

Additional marines have received orders to prepare for departure to Mexico. The number available are on the east coast, 3,000; on the west coast, 2,000.

This strength, if used for landing purposes, can be reinforced by troops, 15,000 of whom are along the coast.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ISSUED

Following is the official statement issued as representing the views of President Wilson and the administration:

Washington, April 10, 1914. The following is the official statement issued as representing the views of President Wilson and the administration: The government of the United States is in a delicate situation in Mexico, the unpleasant incident at Tampico must not be thought of alone. For some time past the de facto government of Mexico has seemed to think mere apologies sufficient when the rights of American citizens or the dignity of the government of the United States were involved and has apparently made no attempt at either reparation or the effective correction of the serious violations of its civil and military officers.

Orderly Placed in Jail.
Immediately after the incident at Tampico an orderly from one of the ships of the United States fleet at the harbor of Vera Cruz, who had been sent ashore to the post office for the ship's mail, was in uniform and was back when the orderly changed his back, was arrested and put into jail by the local authorities. He was subsequently released and a nominal punishment was given to the orderly who arrested him, but it was significant that an orderly from the fleet of the United States was picked out from among the many other who were ashore on various errands, from the various ships in the harbor, representing several nations.

Most serious of all, the officials in charge of the telegraph office at Mexico City presumed to withhold an official message from the government of the United States, until it should have been sent to the censor and his permission obtained to deliver it, and gave the dispatch into his hands to call attention to the affairs of the United States only upon his personal and emphatic demand, he having in the meantime learned through other channels that a dispatch had been sent him which he had not received.

United States Singled Out.
It is not at all surprising that who has watched the course of events in Mexico as significant that untoward incidents such as these have not occurred in any case where representatives of other governments were concerned, but only in dealings with representatives of the United States, and the rights and dignity of the United States are not to be slighted. It is regarded to the representatives of other governments, have necessarily made the impression that the government of the United States is to be treated for manifestations of ill will and contempt.

THE INSULT FOR WHICH REPARATION IS DEMANDED

Thursday morning, April 9, a boat's crew of United States Marines, in command of Assistant Paymaster (Capt.) Opp, left the submarine Dolphin for Tampico to get a fresh supply of gasoline.

The United States flag was flying from the stern of the whaleboat when the Dolphin was ordered to call at Tampico. For no assigned cause Assistant Paymaster Opp and his men were placed under arrest as they stepped aboard.

Surrounded by a detail of Mexican Federal troops they were marched up and down the principal streets of the city, and taken to the police station, where they were locked up. (One report of the affair says the United States flag was snatched from the stern of the whaleboat when the arrests were made and carried and hidden to the jeers and hisses of the anti-American populace.)

There is no denial of the fact that the prisoners were made the subjects of an anti-American demonstration, though at the time of their arrest they were in the Dolphin's boat flying the United States flag, and were wearing the uniform of the United States and were conducting themselves in an orderly manner.

After the Americans had been detained several hours, word of their arrest was carried to Rear Admiral Bayne, who demanded their immediate release.

The demand was complied with, but the only reparation made was a brief expression of regret for the alleged mistake.

Efforts by local committees to get the state G. A. R. encampment here in 1915 will not be confined to that body alone according to action taken when it was decided to ask the United Spanish War Veterans to get the encampment here. The committees are confident that the convention can be secured, it will be a big feather in Mansfield's cap.

Only three more teachers' examinations will be held before September 1st. The first will be held on Saturday of May, one the last Friday in June, and one the last Friday in August. Frank H. Mason, 68, head of the Monroeville tile yard of Mason & Son, met with a horrible death at noon Monday. His overcoat caught in the shafting and he was hurled into the big trolley wheel till life was extinct. His neck was broken, one ankle broken, and it is said about half the bones in his body were broken. The body was terribly mutilated; the bone protruded from one arm. Death came instantly to his relief.

Leonard Nogle of Chicago Junction has filed a petition in the common pleas court in which he sues William H. Cox for $5,900, alleging that Cox swore out a warrant for Nogle's arrest, caused a hearing in the court of Justice L. S. Wise in the Junction, had the case carried to the probate court of Huron County, where later the case was dismissed. Because of the action Nogle says he suffered mental pain, humiliation and suffering and now asks the court for redress.

A custom since Lima was a cross-road town and had but one grocery has been shelved by the Retail Grocers & Butchers' association. For years it has been customary to give a customer a bag of candy or a cigar when the grocery bill was paid. Now the organization has figured that shoe dealers do not give a new pair when their customers buy shoes, nor does the butcher hand out a nice juicy steak when he gets his, so henceforth there will be not "take this on the house" content extension when a Lima grocery bill is paid.

Henry Culp, for the past three years balliff in the common pleas court and prominent in local democratic circles, has resigned his berth in order to take a position in Detroit, where he intends to locate permanently. Henry has abandoned the idea of becoming secretary to Congressman Wm. G. Sharp, of Elyria, when he becomes ambassador to Russia, the appointment not being too lucrative financially, as the executive balliff had thought after making inquiries about the salary attached to the job.

The New School Law.

Under the Cox school law 1,000 district superintendents will receive not less than $900 a year, and if the state is to pay half, which is the state's duty, eight hundred and twenty superintendents are to receive $2,300 to $2,500 a year, which requires eighty more thousand dollars. This is one of the laws which create necessity for an increase in the tax duplicate and rate.

Made It Two Straights.

The High School base ball season was opened here on Friday of last week with the Shelby High as the visiting team, but in which the visitors were no match for the locals, as the score resulted in 4 to 6 for the Plymouth High. However, the game was very exciting and was a very good exhibition of the national game.

Saturday afternoon was the scene of another good game, and in which the local boys had to tighten up in order to nose out ahead. The visitors in this instance were the New London High School team, who came determined to win, but returned home with their hopes blasted and will be minus a free trip to the opening game at Cleveland, which had been promised them by a New London citizen, provided they won. The game was a very pretty exhibition of base ball, but by superior work Plymouth came out vic or by a score of 4 to 2, thus making two straight victories for the local boys. In both instances Becker was on the mound and he looked as if he were giving the local boys have had but very little practice and as the season advances will be in better shape to put up a much stronger game.

All returned home at midnight, the car being held for their benefit, and with one accord all voted their Chicago Junction sisters royal entertainers.
Saturday morning while the street sweeper was in operation, sending clouds of dust skyward, a practical joker called us to the phone and imparted the information that it was the "chief of the Shelby fire department" talking and had understood we had a fire over here and inquired if we needed any assistance. We kindly advised him we were equal to the emergency and that the bell would soon sound the taps "fire all out." Dr. Searle, perhaps, can enlighten you further along this line.

A deal was carried through here the first of the week where Albert Ping disposed of his clothing stock and farm northeast of town to a gentleman by the name of Barnett who bills from the state of Illinois, who together with other brothers owns other stores throughout the country. The store here will be continued the same as at present, the parties already having taken possession. Mr. Ping has had full control of the store in the future, but will devote some little time in settling up his affairs, but has no intention of leaving Plymouth.

Are You Suffering From Auto-Intoxication?

The state of being poisoned, from toxic substances produced within the body. This is a condition due to the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver, or pores of the body failing to do their proper work. More than 90% of adults are suffering from this trouble. It is probably why you are suffering from nervousness, headache, loss of appetite, lack of ambition, and many other symptoms produced by auto-intoxication. Your whole system needs stirring up.

will remedy the trouble. It first aids the system to expel accumulated poisons. It acts as a tonic and finally enables the body to eliminate its own poisons without any outside aid. ### REMODEL OLD FROCK IN THE WELL-LIKED TAFFETA

FASHION FOR ONCE HAS A LEANING TO ECONOMY.

Madam of the passé gown, here is a secret which as one woman to another I will whisper into your ear, weary with many sad tales of remodeled costumes.

This is a season when remodeling is not only possible, but which positively erases aroid for the remodeled garment.

Take advantage of this gracious but so fleeting moment of fashion. While there is yet time hasten to convert your sartorial triumphs of a past decade into ravishing, up-to-the-moment creations.

Especially there is the lace founced dress of your teens or perhaps the "teens of your mother or grandmother." The founces may be embroidered on delicate ivory colored muslin. Perhaps the gown is of black lace. Anything in founces is possible.

Remount the founces in taffeta, green, rose or blue, or on net or chiffon; make a short, quaint bodice of a bit of founce helped out with taffeta or chiffon and have a quaint and or a queer scanty overdress of the taffeta.

There you are with a wonderful frock if your founces are of fine embroidered net or linen or of a good quality of lace it is a costume which would cost several hundred dollars in the shops.

Waists which are a combination of silk and chiffon or net are much in evidence.

A pale yellow and green waist was made in a waistcoat design. The silk of striped green and yellow formed the waistcoat and the lower part of the sleeves. The upper part of the sleeves and the chemise were of pale yellow chiffon.

The upper part of the sleeves was full, but the straight deep cuffs of silk were tight-fitting. The sleeve was a modified bishop design.

The waist was finished with a fanning collar of the yellow chiffon edged with a narrow band of the green silk.

The Success Label.

Upton Sinclair, commenting in Baltimore on the enormous fortunes now being made in America, said:

"In no other place the world over are such fortunes to be found. One reason is that our laws regulating transactions are far less stringent than those of other countries, and another reason is that even where we have laws our magistrates forget about them."

"In fact," Mr. Sinclair concluded with a laugh, "the histories of some of our largest American fortunes show clearly that on the door of success is 'push' in brass, a Golden Record Record."

A CLERGYMAN'S TESTIMONY.

The Rev. Edmund Heslop of Winton, Pa., suffered from Dropsy for a year. His limbs and feet were swollen and painful. He had heart fluttering, was dizzy and exhausted at the least exertion. His hands and feet were cold and he had such a dragging sensation across the chest as to be difficult to move.

After using 5 boxes of Dodds Kidney Pills the swelling disappeared and he felt himself again. He says he has been benefited and blessed by the use of Dodds Kidney Pills. Several months later he wrote: "I have not changed my faith in your remedy since the above statement was published. Correspond with Rev. E. Heslop about this wonderful remedy."

"The great fault of American servants is familiarity. To be familiar is to be inefficient. A familiar cook is as inefficient as a pestiferous doctor."

The speaker, Mrs. Boardman Hartman, is perhaps the most brilliant conversationalist in New York—a fact which renders more poignant this anecdote.

"I had a cook," she continued, "whom I tried to break of her over-familiarity. What was the result? This cook, discussing me in the servants' hall, said:

"I don't say she's a bad mistress, but she's a woman with only one idea. Why I can't never get her to talk of a single thing but eating."

COLLARS OF MANY DESIGNS

Woman is Offered Rich Choice of Pretty Neckwear From Which She May Make Selection.

Three sorts of collars are much in vogue this spring. One of them is the familiar oriental collar which falls away from the shoulders and may be put on either as a straight piece or with shirring. So loose is it that with it the neck is free of the collar, inner collar, with one blouse or gown, a chemise, as friend.

The medic collar, a friend of the thin-throated woman, is second on the list of fashionable collars and may be made as tall and as wide-spreading as the individual wearer decides to have it. It is most picturesque when it stops just in front of the ears, and it is most becoming in transparent materials relieved with the slenderest line of fur.

Norandy collars are the rage among neckwear models and very smart they are on tailored frocks, blouses and waistcoats. The "Norandy" is a high standing affair having two sharp points that stand out from under the carotides.

HANDY POLISHER FOR SHOES

Easily Made Article That Will Keep Footwear Looking at the Best Through Many Days' Wear.

It is not always convenient to carry a box of polish in one's traveling bag, but a "strip polisher," which can neither upset nor smudge the contents of one's bag, answers the purpose as well for short journeys. In fact, it's not a bad thing to have tucked in the corner of one's bedroom shoebox at home.

To make the polisher, take a strip of velvet or plush about four inches wide and 18 inches long and attach to the ends two little sticks, round or square, about a half inch thick. The sticks should be given a coat of glue and then the polishing material rolled on to each end sufficiently to cover the wood.

From slipping out of the open ends, then sew the sticks in tightly as well, so as to keep them from being pulled out when the polisher is being used. Have the shoes polished before being taken home, and for several days one can bring them to a bright polish by simply rubbing the polisher back and forth over them. For polishing the backs of heels, place the strip back of the shoe and rub it briskly back and forth by pulling first one handle and then the other toward you just as the shoeback does. The right side of the velvet should be next the shoe.

Buttercup at the Poultry Show.

(By H. VAN BENTHUYZEN.)

The display of Buttercups at the recent Grand Central Palace show in New York, more tows were shown of that breed than had ever been shown in any other show. They are among the most recent trends to be taken up by the American breeders, and though they are of an old Sicilian breed, are highly favored in this country for a comparatively short time.

The breed is becoming more and more popular in other countries. They are not much raised in most of the other Mediterranean areas. They lay well, molting out large white eggs, and are highly fertile. The comb differs from that of any other variety. It starts back from the neck, and runs back a little way and then divides into two points, the distance between the points of the comb being about a third of an inch.

BEST WAY TO MAKE COLLAR

This season collars and neckwear generally will play an important part in feminine attire, for the final touch of smartness that stamps a gown as up to date can be achieved almost entirely by the manner in which it is finished off at the throat.

The medic collar is a modified form, made smaller and lower at the back than was the case when it first came into fashion, will be first favored. These collars are by no means so difficult to make as they appear, the simplest method being to take about three-quarters of a yard of fine lace, three or four inches in depth, and tuck off to a mere nothing at the top.

This tucking draws the lace into the correct curve. The corners need to be neatly rounded off, and then the silk-covered wire is lightly stitched into place, one piece running along the top, another half way, and third at the bottom edge, and last four or five wire spokes are used to keep the whole corners in position.

The bottom wire, by the way, should be run inside a narrow casing of net or silk, which forms a band to tuck along the neck of the blouse or gown.

—Lace Concetta.

Delicate embroidered necks still rule, and are combined with lace, two or three varieties of how being used of the same gown. Tulle and soft silks

Rudolph Van Vechten, a young man of mysterious background, is introduced as a man who has been in the city for some time. He is seen at a party where he meets Miss Carey and her companions. The story follows his interactions and the mystery surrounding his identity and past.

BOOK II.

The operation, manifestly, was not very satisfactory, for by and by he uttered another groan, tossed away his half-smoked cigar and once more sat upright.

"What," he began, but his companion promptly checked him.

"Now you stop right there," commanded Tom. "If you want to fire any more questions, suppose you try 'em out on Uncle Theodore. 'Him up him."

The other smiled wanly, and a spark of his customary sprightly humor flashed again.

"Bright boy," he said. "If I possessed your practical mind I would not be so woody over this thing. But you are an inspiration. You know why I didn't think of it before? Forthrightly must be one of Uncle Theodore's agents."

After some delay, Uncle Theodore's voice came over the wire. He also had received the cryptic message, but certain portions of it obscure to Rudolph were more or less clear to him.

The surmise respecting Forthrightly had been a pretty shrewd one. That gentleman, it appeared, was a member of the firm of Hirschfeld & Sons, bankers, the man of rank and position, and fish representatives. He had been instructed to send all messages in duplicate—one for the elder Van Vechten in Manhattan, the other for Forthrightly's guidance. The latter learned that that all other information likewise was to be sent to him.

"Lord, Uncle Theodore!" Rudolph blurted into the mouthpiece, "the newspapers will now be justified in stirring up whatever scandal they may conceive of."

"Are you afraid of them?" demanded his uncle sharply.

"No, no, of course not. It's Pelge I'm thinking of. 'Tisn't he who has feelings about us when the news comes out, and that's being printed about her."

He heard the other man groan. "A groan that is not of consideration has been heard for some time," he said. "But you are mistaken, the newspapers may be our best allies, and it is not our policy to antagonize them at this time."

"Frankly," the latter voice said, "I have now completely recovered. I have seen so many things that I am not at all surprised at anything."

"What Van Vechten tried his best to recall the associations which the name all but evoked, Mr. Flint sat shrewdly contemplating him.

"I give it up," declared the young man at length, on an end, "tell me why you jumped on when you read the message. What's the answer?"

"I said that it was a pretty spot!" the man's provocation was so palpable that Mr. Flint, who was sitting in a home—regular old-fashioned English country home, you know—sables, chimney-pots, and gables, and all that sort of thing. For instance—

"'Confound you, Flint! Out with it!'" Mr. Temple Bonner's voice came over the wire.

"For a moment the two young men sat staring speechlessly at the unmoved detective. Then Van Vechten spoke the truth with his fist.

"By George!" ejaculated he, vehemently but not loudly. "That's it! The very thing that's been chasing round in my skull!" He proceeded more calmly.

"But, Flint, admitting that one of the two ladies mentioned here is my cousin—lapping the calabrag—the fact that Van Vechten has her purse in a house which happens to belong to Temple Bonner, and that also she has been mysteriously sojourning near his house in Chelsea, presents only a coincidence—curious, perhaps, but immaterial."

"Maybe so; but do not lose sight of the other lady—her companion. She was a Schuyler, I believe."

"Do you know that before Number 1112 came into Mr. Bonner's possession it belonged to Compton Schuyler, Mrs. Devereaux's father?"

The expression that now flitted across Van Vechten's face was one of bewilderment. He had no comment to make.

"Furthermore," continued Mr. Flint, "instead of the present owner being Mrs. Devereaux's father?"

The expression that now flitted across Van Vechten's face was one of bewilderment. He had no comment to make.

Josephine Devereaux's history—a one in a way familiar with the meagre history of a friend—for that very reason I am rather hazy as to details. In other words, there never has been a word of her name since she was plumb her past. She is almost a member of our family, and has been for so long a time that whatever affects her affects us.

"Precisely," said Mr. Flint, so briskly that his augmented interest caught Van Vechten's attention.

"You are not so discouraged."

"It is in the close relationship among the different families concerned that I hope to find the key to the answer that I seek."

"Consider, Mr. Van Vechten: it's a far cry from the murder of an obscure, insignificant young man here in New York to Temple Bonner in England, whose name in any language means unlimited wealth and power. He and his family own no inconsiderable portion of the world's second city. He is inaccessible to all ordinary methods of approach, and by virtue of his position and affiliations he is the ruler here as well as elsewhere. But it has become unmistakable that a binding cord leads from the man of extraordinary events, getting Temple Bonner and Jim O'Neill as surely as if they walked hand in hand.

"You are privileged to associate with such people; you are one of them. I am not. That's how you can help me."

"You, a young man surveyed him curiously, perhaps a little admiringly. There was a noticeable tone of presence in the question which he pressed upon the young man's mind.

"Flint, how did you come to be hurrying into the past, and raking up old dead, forgotten romances?"

"You supplied the hint, was the quiet answer. 'But you said that the house has not been rented through the regular channels—that is to say, by application at the estate's offices—' Mrs. Devereaux's reflection told him that possession of the house could have been obtained only in one other way namely, by direct authority of Mr. Bonner himself. 'But you're extraordinary eh? It was while trying to verify this conclusion that I stumbled upon the real.'

"Your information is exact, the old place over London—Lond, what would Josephine think is she knew how it had been exciting the club's interest for these many months? If you are correct, then it is her old home—her birthplace—the house from which she was married. Well, well, well."

The marriage had not been a happy one, and the speaker paused. There was a quality in the detective's silence and intent attitude that, seemed subtly to encourage the young man's remembrance vein for after giving the unfortunate young a brief mental turning over, Van Vechten dismissed it and went on.

"Josephine had a twin sister—Henrietta—been dead for years and years. She too made an unhappy match, I believe—was married to a man who took about such things. I know next to nothing about it. Must have been some gay times in that old house."

"I am sure you are right, Flint," the other checked him. "She was a young lady mind."

"Still," insisted the detective, "you thought at first glance—before you saw that she was a young lady—that it was Mrs. Devereaux— isn't that so?"

For a long time Van Vechten sat scowling at the table. By and by he looked up, his regard encountered the detective's.

"I believe you are right, Flint," he admitted at last. "It was the difference in your description of the girl that led me to my mistake. I believed the yelled lady to be Josephine Devereaux."

"Until I Realized My Mistake I Believed the Yelled Lady to Be Josephine Devereaux."

"The detective favored Tom with a look of interest, and then his eyes smiled.

"One thing at a time, gentlemen," said he, "one thing at a time. You can't excite me. Let us first get through with the point we were discussing."

"It is entertaining enough for me," agreed Van Vechten. "I trust it will prove profitable. You see, while I am acquainted in a general way with

'LITTLE RHODY'S' GOOD WORK

Statement Made That Glory of Oliver Hazard Perry's Victory Belongs to That State.

The celebration of Perry's victory on Lake Erie recalls that the northwest was not only settled very largely by emigration from the New England states, but that those great and populous states were very probably saved from the hands of the British by England by the enterprise and valor of New England sailors, the Boston Herald observes.

Oliver Hazard Perry, then a commander in the navy and masterly, was contented because the duties assigned to him offered no opportunity for proving his mettle, was a Rhode Islander in charge of a fleet of gunboats against the British in the winter of 1813-15. Possessed, he said, "by an ardent desire to meet the enemies of his country," he sailed for the lake on the 19th. On the very day that the order came for his transfer to Lake Erie he sent forward fifty men, the second day he sent fifty more, the third day he sent fifty more, and the following day, and Perry himself started on February 22, 1813.

TORTURING TWINGES

Much-pocall rheumatism is caused by weakened kidneys. When the kidneys fail to clean the blood, uric acid, the acid forms into crystals like bits of broken glass in the muscular joints and on the nerve endings. Torturing pains dart through the affected part whenever it is moved. By curing the kidneys, Doan's Kidney Pills have eased thousands of rheumatic cases, lumbago, sciatica, gravel, neuritis and urinary disorders.

AN INDIAN CASE.

M. C. Walker, 99 Grand Ave., Concord, N.H., writes: "For ten years I had muscular rheumatism, more laid up in bed and unable to walk. I had tried Plasters and all sorts of applications. I failed. The first bottle of Doan's Kidney Pills helped me and two more boxes permanently cured me."

Sick Women's Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had a displacement. I have always been weak and overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but made me well and the doctor said when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 199 Waldo Street, Providence, R. I.

A Minister's Wife Writes:

COCKETT, MRS.—"I have suffered very much with irregularities, pain and inflammation, but your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has made me well and the doctor said the same to all that are troubled with these complaints."—Mrs. JANE A. AKERMAN, Cockett, Maine.

From Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it until I was a healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. MURDOCH, Quincy, Mass.

Silos Reduce Acres Needed.

The experience of F. H. Gibbs, Brunswick, Ohio, illustrates a more intensive system of agriculture naturally follows the taking up of dairying. Fifteen years ago Mr. Gibbs had a stock farm of 180 acres of land. About that time he went into the pure bred Holstein business. He sold 80 acres of his farm and was still able to keep his stock as he had previously kept. This was largely due to the fact that he built a silo. Now, he says that by putting up another silo for summer feeding, he could decrease his farm to 60 acres and still keep as much stock as he had on the original 180 acres. Mr. Gibbs is a believer in the square silo. He built such a silo fifteen years ago on which no repairs have been necessary since. With the exception of the hard pine lining, all the lumber used was hard wood that was cut from native timber. From five to six acres of corn are usually sufficient to fill this silo as yields of corn on this farm have often been more than 100 bushels to the acre.

Collide in Salesroom

Milwaukee Instance Again Proves That Truth is Stranger Than Fiction!

It is a thoroughly established fact that there are more Schmits in Milwaukee than in any other American city of similar size.

This condition was personally known to J. G. Wollager, who sold Studenaker automobiles in the Wisconsin metropolis. He was therefore not greatly surprised to note one day that his list of prospective customers included two Schmits.

That afternoon Mr. Wollager called forth in a Studebaker "Six" touring car, met Herman E. Schmidt and family and took them for a ride. Mr. Schmidt noted the quietness of the car and the easy way it handled its seven-passenger load on high gear. Mrs. Schmidt was also pleased. Mr. Wollager produced an order blank and the Schmits bought the car.

While this deal was in process, H. S. Deland, Mr. Wollager's assistant staff, had been out in a "Six" Lan-Jacob S. Schmidt according to arrangement. Jacob looked at the car as a closed vehicle and as an open body for touring. He admired its perfect fitting equipment, said he knew Studebaker quality from experience and didn't care to fuss with mechanical details which he was ready to take on faith, and bought the car.

Both the Schmits arranged to accept delivery on their cars the following Saturday. Both appeared in due order. Mr. Wollager's assistant, Herman E. and took him to the garage where his taking touring car was waiting. They arrived just as Mr. Deland was turning a new lap over to Jacob S.

Henry began to walk slowly round his new possession with an approving eye. Between his car and the "Six" touring car, he bumped into Jacob, who was also perambulating. The Schmits looked each other in the

"Oh Paham," said Henry, disgust-

"Rats!" replied Jacob in plain cha-

"Trying to put something across on your big brother, eh?" continued Henry. "I thought you were going to buy a small car."

Then they both grinned and exchanged congratulations.
