Campfire Girls.

The Hare and Hound chase which was carried on by the Camp Fire Girls Friday, was a great success. The bounds are great chasers and it took them scarcely 10 minutes at all to discover the snare. The rats allowed and it tasted doubly good because it was eaten in the woods. The guest was Mrs. Jean Seville.

Sprague Company Makes Assignment.

The Sprague Umbrella and Manufacturing Co., for many years one of Norfolk's flourishing and prosperous manufacturing concerns, employing upwards of 25 people made an assignment Tuesday afternoon in probate court. E. G. Martir was named as assignee. The net value of the company's assets is estimated at $100,000, and the liabilities at $60,000.
 For some time the factory has been running only in a small way, financial breakers looming up before the concern soon after the death of Col. J. H. Sprague, the founder and president of the company.

Obituary.

John Mills, son of Melchor and Sarah Mills of New Haven township, was born in Ripley, June 30, 1848, and died at his home in New Haven May 22nd, 1914, aged 65 years, 10 months and 22 days.
 He was first united in marriage to Mary Smith, two whom was born two months one day in infancy, the other, Fred Mills, living east of Plymouth. Mrs. Mills died in 1878. On Dec. 9, 1882, he was again united in marriage to Mary J. Day and to this union were born three sons and two daughters, one daughter dying in infancy, leaving to survive him, besides his wife, four children, Mrs. Maud Tucker of Plymouth, Moggis S. of Shelby, Melchor and Brayton of New Haven.
 Mr. Mills was a private in Co. C, First Reg. U. S. Vet. Vol. Engineers, and was enlisted Sept. 8, 1864, serving until the war closed, receiving an honorable discharge. He was an industrious citizen, was janitor and mail carrier two years, but for some time was in declining health and unable for heavy work. He was a kind husband and father, good neighbor, and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn his death. He expressed his belief in Christ as his savior before he died and received consolation in his last days from much reading of the bible.
 His worthy cares I'd bid farewell, And triumph o'er death's saddest well And though o'er her mantle and angels dwell I'll join in Christ at his savior's feet. 'Till join with those who've gone before, Who sing and shout, their sufferings o'er.
 Where pain and parting are no more To all eternity.
 Adieu, ye scenes of joys and shout, And all ye scenes of sorrow and parting, Where we ought not to dispart meet and grow.
 A better world's in view; My Savior calls, I haste away, I would not here forever stay. I'd, ye rights realize of endless day; World, I would not here forever stay.
 We desire to thank our kind friends and neighbors, and all who have so kindly and generously aided us thro' this hour of affliction. May the kind hand of Providence be with them all, if it should come in such a manner as to comfort the souls of the makers, for his comforting words are the choir for their beautiful music.

WHY WEAK LUNGS?

The toll of tuberculosis is claiming more than 500 victims every day in the United States, yet few realize their grave condition until the critical period arrives. Overworked, weary, weakness after sickness, catarrh, bronchitis, tender throats—all exert the weakening influence that invites consumption.
 To guard against consumption, thousands of people take Scott's Emulsion after meals because its rich medicinal nourishment strengthens the lungs, puts vigor in the blood, and upbuilds strength to resist tuberculosis. Scott's Emulsion is nature's strength-builder. Refuse substitutes.

Car Loads of Bees.

Transporting bees by the car load is a new task for the railroads. Last autumn the A. I. Root Co. of Medina, arranged to ship a car load of bees down to Florida, as an experiment. The Root company said that instead of lying idle through the winter, the bees could be persuaded by southern sunshine to continue their labor throughout the winter. Extreme care had to be taken so that the insects would reach their destination unharmed.
 Some time ago the commercial agent of the L. & N. at Cleveland received word that the Roots will have three car loads of bees come up from Florida in the next few months. Three cars coming back while only one went is explained by the best breeding qualities of the bees. Some of the bees in the shipment are valued as high as $200.

NEW BRICK MACHINE ARRIVES.

Paving Brick to be Manufactured at the Ohio State Reformatory.
 Mrs. Wilson Robinson, 74 N. Toledo, Ohio, writes:
 "I feel like a new person. I have no more heavy feelings, no more pain, don't belch up gas, can eat what I please, work all day without it hurting me. I have a new feeling of well-being, without it hurting me. I have a new feeling of well-being, without it hurting me. I have a new feeling of well-being, without it hurting me."
 The Ohio State Reformatory has just received from the J. D. Fattori, Inc. of Plymouth, a large brick and tile machine, which will be used in manufacturing paving block at the institution during the summer.
 This is the second of the new machines received at the reformatory from this company.
 Included in the equipment of the machine is a cutting table, which facilitates the repressing of brick that is to be resorted to by any other machine. It is one of the most modern machines on the market.
 The machine will be used in manufacturing paving block which will be used in paving the roads to the institution during the summer.

Saloon Census in Ohio.

Before liquor licenses are issued for another year, the state liquor license boards will check up and find out what has been the result of the first year of the operation of the license law. To get information the board will ask the county boards to go to official records.
 The first year of the license system will be compared with the last year of no-license. The records of police and magistrate's courts will be gone over to ascertain what has been the result of the vigorous enforcement of the law and the elimination of dives.
 Arrests of all sorts are to be shown in the comparative statement. The state board believes that strict Sunday closing effects are apparent in the reduced number of Monday cases in the police courts. All other violations of the liquor laws are also to be reviewed and compared.

Stomach Trouble; Wholly Restored!

"I feel like a new person. I have no more heavy feelings, no more pain, don't belch up gas, can eat what I please, work all day without it hurting me. I have a new feeling of well-being, without it hurting me."
 See me now. Mrs. Wilson Robinson, and saw me two months ago when I was a bundle of nerves. I was unable to eat, and I was unable to sleep. I was unable to do anything but lie in bed. I was unable to do anything but lie in bed. I was unable to do anything but lie in bed."
 Just get a bottle and try it. If you have catarrh of the stomach you have a serious trouble. If you want to find a remedy it would be very easy to make the experiment. Before you buy any other medicine, however, let me send you my little book, "The Cure for Stomach Trouble." It will tell you why you need no testimonials on the part of other people, or arguments to convince you. Until you try Peruna, however, all the testimonials in the world will not move you. Just one trial of Peruna will convince you. Persons who object to liquid medicine can use the Tablets.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT IN MEXICO IS REPORTED.

CARRANZA MEN ARE BARRED

General Huerta May Retire and Successor Be Installed Before Villa and Constitutionalists Take the Capital of Mexico.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 27.—Much progress was made in the mediation negotiations within the 24 hours preceding Monday and gave substantial grounds for the belief that an agreement between the American and the Mexican delegates will be reported by the end of this week.

This agreement will provide not only for an adjustment of the quarrel between the Huerta administration and the United States, but will contain a declaration on the land question and provide for the installation of a provisional government for Mexico to succeed that of President Huerta, who will voluntarily retire from office.

The persons to compose the provisional government will be named in an agreement. One important development of this 24-hour period was that notice has been served on the constitutionalists by the Washington government that if they send a representative to the mediation conference, they will be required to establish a provisional government in the place of Huerta's before the constitutionalists could capture Mexico City and attempt to set up their own.

The three South Americans made it plain that while every aspect of the Mexican situation has been touched, international had been laid before the delegates from the United States and Mexico, no formal basis had been reached for the treatment in any specific order of the issues involved.

It is the hope of the Huerta delegates that a new provisional government will be set up in the Mexican capital which the United States will promptly recognize.

With a new government established in Mexico City, the Mexican delegates began the constitutionalists were compelled to accept it. If they refused the constituted government, duly recognized and able therefore to guarantee the world's cash revolution.

Washington, May 27.—Satisfactory reports from the Mexican mediation conference at Niagara Falls have created the hopes of the Washington government that international warfare can be averted and peace brought to Mexico.

Denials were given in official quarters to reports that General Carranza had flatly refused to consider any form of mediation proposals. Carranza's own constitutionalists believed that if Villa captured Mexico City there would be need for the good offices of mediators between Carranza and the government could be established.

The Washington government decided to make no protest over the first or second demands made by Carranza. On the contrary, it announced that no more American aeroplanes would sail across the Mexican bay while the armistice is in force.

San Antonio, Tex., May 27.—The landing of 3,000 constitutionalists on the coast of the Mexican state of Vera Cruz is the beginning of a triple march against Huerta's army.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 27.—The landing of 3,000 constitutionalists on the coast of the Mexican state of Vera Cruz is the beginning of a triple march against Huerta's army.

Veracruz, May 27.—Aviators Bellinger and Stiles were fired upon on Saturday by Mexican forces while seeking to locate the position of the federal reinforcements which have been moving forward in the direction of the American outpost.

Two flights were made by the aviators. On the first trip they discovered no mounted machine guns near the American outpost. On the second trip they found that this body had been increased to 100 and had moved two miles to the north and another mile farther to the north a second body was discovered numbering about one hundred and fifty men. This latter body was thrown upon intrenchments between the two positions.

It was from the latter position that the shots were fired. Sixty shots in all were fired, but none hit the aviators. No shots were fired from the American lines.

Washington, May 26.—Huerta is on Lexington Post Office Robbed. Bloomington, Ill., May 27.—Four masked robbers wrecked the safe in the post office at Lexington on Friday. The explosion aroused the entire town. Only a small sum was obtained.

Senator Bradley at Crisis. Washington, May 25.—Senator William G. Bradley of Kentucky, is in a critical condition at his apartments here, according to physicians attending him.

Saturday notices the United States through Ambassador Bland. Huerta may take active steps against the 3,000 rebels that have landed near Vera Cruz. His notification was given in order that there may be no misapprehension on the part of this country that he is about to break the armistice by massing troops to meet the rebels.

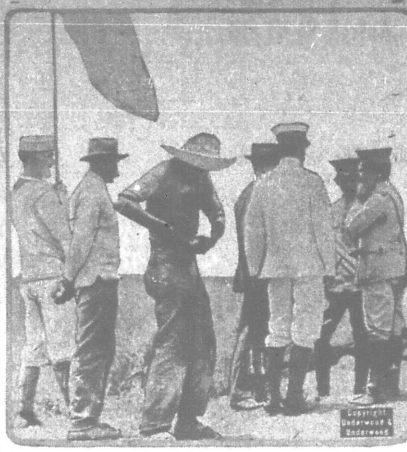

Mexico City, May 25.—John H. Silliman, vice-consul of the United States at Saltillo, about whose safety there has been grave disquiet in Washington for more than two weeks because of the failure to get any direct word from him, arrived here Friday on a train from the north.

He is registered at a hotel as "companion" of J. De Groot, who came from San Antonio, Texas, but he went to the Brazilian legation to stay. He left Veracruz for the States by way of Vera Cruz.

The delay in his arrival was due to the fact that the railroad tracks were torn up at several points and also to several encounters which the military escort of 300 men provided for him had with rebel bands.

Galveston, May 25.—After spending ten years in Mexico, the last 15 days of which he spent in a cell, three men were brought to the cell occupied by American Vice-Consul Silliman of Saltillo, Dr. Herbert F. Saunders also here, bringing with him his wife and three children.

BIG VICTORY FOR ASQUITH

LONDON, ENGLAND, May 27.—By a vote of 351 to 274—a majority of 77—the house of commons passed the home rule bill on the third and final reading. The bill becomes law when it receives the royal assent.

Home rule is now a fact. There is no doubt that royal assent will be given to the measure. In the regular course of events the issue will go next to the house of lords, but the action of the peers will have no effect upon the measure.

The passage of the home rule bill is a tremendous personal victory for Premier Herbert H. Asquith, who as Premier Asquith had made his final statement, the Unionists refraining from debate in accordance with the instructions from William O'Brien that they drove her 15 supporters out of the park.

A fierce battle was waged at the park gates by men astrophysicists and astrophysicists.

MILITANTS IN CHAINS

SLYVIA PANKHURST IS ARRESTED AFTER LONG MARCH.

Daughter of Leader Caught in Trap by Police and Fierce Battle Follows in Victoria Park.

LONDON, MAY 25.—Sylvia Pankhurst appeared in a parade Sunday, chained and handcuffed to 15 of her most ardent women supporters.

The streets were filled with suffragers, as the recent demonstration against King George and at the damage done to pictures by militants.

At the park gates, however, the police executed a bit of strategy and got Sylvia Pankhurst and the 15 women chained to her through the gates.

ERUPTION SPREAD ON FACE

310 East Elm St., Streator, Ill.—A running sore broke out above my right eye, which spread over my entire face. It started as a small blister. I scratched it open and the contents of this small pimple ran down my face. Wherever this ran a raw sore appeared. I was itched and burned terribly; I couldn't touch my face it burned so. It disgusted my face terribly and I couldn't be seen for everyone was afraid of it. It looked like a disease of some kind; it was all red and a heavy white crust on it. Everybody kept out of my way, afraid it would spread. I was out at night and I couldn't bear to have anything touch my face, not even the pillow. I had to be on the back of the chair. I was always drenched when morning came so I could get up. It was extremely painful.

At last I thought of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I commenced using them. It took three weeks to completely cure me. (Signed) Miss Carolyn Miller, Apr. 20, 1915.

REMARKABLE CASE OF MRS. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had a falling inflammation and congestion, female weakness, nervous system, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy.

There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, not fancies over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicine after medicine, but I got no better.

I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in an asylum if your medicine had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep all night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad system I had before trying your remedies, and all pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. J. H. Ham, R. F. D. 1, Box 25, Shamrock, Missouri.

Young Man Leaves Note Saying He Slew Girl, Then Ends Own Life.

Chicago, Ill.—Reginald Barr, a prominent young business man of Downers Grove, suburbs, was found to be the slayer of his sweetheart, Miss Florence Bentley, a beautiful clerk who had ended his life by throwing himself under a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy train, near Lisle, Ill.

He left a letter containing the murder and giving details of the crime. He told how he had killed his sweetheart in the bushes not far from their home and then of two attempts to commit suicide before the third attempt proved fatal. One of these attempts was made while lying beside the body of the girl he had killed.

The two were sweethearts. They had quarreled. She had told him he must give her up. He killed her after they had gone for a walk. So ran the letter.

Baby Mutilated by Hog. Pallen, Cal.—Climbing into a hog pen to play, the three-year-old son of L. O. G. of the Hogard district was attacked by a young quackling litter of pigs and cut and lost almost beyond recognition. His blood-soaked body in the bay was mutilated. Most of his injuries were inflicted about the face and head, one scalp wound cut entirely to the skull. His hair is still in the hog's mouth. The father informed the child's mother of his plight and his immediate rescue secured him from a horrible death.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION

Two Thousand Delegates Expected at Columbus, O., on June 9-10-11. The Ohio Prohibition Convention to be held in Columbus, June 9, 10 and 11, is expected that there will be over 2,000 delegates in attendance at this notable gathering. There will be a splendid program, including many prominent speakers. The keynote speech will be delivered by Dr. A. S. Watkins, Ada, O., vice presidential candidate in 1908 and 1912.

This convention will be a mass meeting and every Prohibitionist present will have a part in the proceedings. The keynote speech will be delivered on the afternoon of the first day by Dr. A. S. Watkins, Ada, O. He is one of the foremost educators and statesmen in our state today and will have a vital message for every citizen who hears him on the relation of the liquor traffic to our governmental machinery. State Chairman R. E. Roberts, after making a tour of the state, holding county conventions and doing preliminary work preparatory to the great state gathering, is planning for the biggest convention in the history of Ohio.

Prof. A. M. Thatcher, of Columbus, who is acknowledged by press and public as the greatest orator in America, will have charge of the music throughout the convention. An elaborate program will be presented. It would be worth your while to come this year to Columbus just to hear this great artist sing.

HIGHEST AWARD FOR WORKMAN

Man Who Lost Both Hands Receives Lump Sum of $2,646.75. Columbus, O.—Lee Worman, of Columbus, who lost both hands in an accident at the Ralston steel car works, has been awarded the largest amount of compensation yet allowed by the state industrial commission. He will get a lump sum of $2,646.75, and in addition the sum of $28 a week as long as he lives. The lump sum is equivalent to $3 a week for the next 10 years. Worman is now 47, and according to insurance statistics will live 36 years longer. The lump sum is given to enable him to buy a new home and to take care of his living. His total remuneration is far in excess of the award that his family could have received had he been killed. The man retired last year under the compensation law in $5,750. Another large award was that of $3,775 to Mrs. Lella May Mayer, of Hamilton, for an accidental death of her husband, William C. Mayer, while employed at the Champion Coal Paper Co.

MISS BROWN, BLIND TEACHER

May Be Appointed by the Dayton Board of Education. Dayton, O.—Miss Eleanor Gertrude Brown, blind, will probably be appointed to a position as teacher in the public schools at the beginning of the school year, according to Dr. W. H. H. president of the board of education. She has qualified for the work. Her appointment to a grade position will probably be the first made since a teacher outside of a blind institution.

OFFERED BIG BUN FOR PATENT

Theoretical $100,000 For Rights on His Invention. Dayton, O.—An offer of $100,000 for patent rights on a recent invention was made by Dr. W. H. H. president of the board of education. She has qualified for the work. Her appointment to a grade position will probably be the first made since a teacher outside of a blind institution.

INCREASE IN TAX RETURNS

Hamilton, O.—With the returns in all of the principal counties, including cities, townships and villages a total increase in the returns of personal incomes is reported as follows: Hamilton, $1,000,000; Adams, $1,000,000; Adams, $1,000,000; Adams, $1,000,000.

STATE Q. A. R. REUNION IN JUNE

East Liverpool, O.—Elaborate arrangements have been made for the reunion of the State Quilts Association, the forty-eighth annual encampment of the department of Ohio at East Liverpool, June 22 to 25.

Y. M. C. A. RAISES BIG FUND

Canton, O.—Closing the campaign which Secretary C. W. Decker announced several weeks ago, the Young Men's Christian association has raised $200,000 for a new building.

WESTLY MEETING OF EMPLOYERS

The state health department has adopted the plan of holding weekly state meetings to promote the efficiency of the service. At its meeting on June 1st, the department will be discussed and plans outlined for extension of the activities of the department. Part of the time will be devoted to the presentation of new scientific work and developments and discoveries of a scientific nature. Research work by the various departments will be presented in a series of papers during the routine of the day.

EVERY ORGANIZATION IN THE STATE HAS BEEN ASKED TO SEND DELEGATES.

TO SAY WHETHER REPRESENTATIVES MAY ACT IN MATTER—CONFERENCE OF MINERS AND OPERATORS. (By Items—Donors.) Columbus, O.—Every local miners' organization in the state has been asked to send delegates to the joint conference of miners and operators to be held in Columbus June 2, under a call sent out from headquarters of the state miners' organization. Whether the delegates will be directed by the local ending them as to what wage scale they shall insist on as left to the local organization, as no request is made in the call, is a matter to be determined. It will be up to the locals to say whether their delegates shall confer the second conference with miners to act as they deem best. The officers of the state organization will not have a hand in the local meetings, which are scheduled for the coming week, according to George W. Sawyer, secretary of the miners. His views will not be given until the state convention opens here, preliminary to the joint conference. That the state officials are agreeable to the honorable settlement is assumed on all sides. The injection of the influence of national officers into the coming conference is expected to have considerable effect in bringing about satisfactory settlement of the wage question. President John White and Secretary-Treasurer William Green will attend the conference. Green already is on the job and will remain in touch with both sides during the interim. Mr. White is expected to arrive here for the conference opens. Green has stated that he believes a settlement can be effected, and White is known to be extremely anxious for peace. They will not be backward in expressing their views, it is said.

PROPOSITION UP TO LOCALS

Outside influences are said to be weighing heavily upon the speedy judgment of differences. Other states, particularly West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania, are setting the example in this respect. The Ohio Markets are being taken from the Ohio operators and every day see the situation growing more critical in this respect. This is the case with the coal and iron mines and, therefore, the miner and operator both suffer. Operators contend that they must have a wage rate that will enable them to compete with other states, else a mere paper agreement will not bring about resumption of mining activities.

SCHOOL CENTRALIZATION

There is still considerable opposition to contrary centralization in some parts of Ohio. Among those who object to it is some apprehension lest the new school code will restrict the initiative of local school boards. This is an unwarranted fear, as the new school laws are but little different from the old in this respect. The old statistics, which have been kept for the last ten years, leave the matter of centralization largely in the hands of the boards of education, together with the local school boards. There has been only one change in this matter. It used to be that if a vote had been taken by the people of the state, the matter would not have been taken for two years. Now an election may be held upon the petition of 40 per cent of the voters whenever these signatures can be obtained. The new law does not force centralization, or particularly encourage it, but simply provides for the consolidation of schools in the interest of economy and efficiency.

MORE MONEY FROM TAXES

Because not instead of gross receipts of fire insurance companies were used in calculating the amount of money due the state for the support of the fire marshal's office, the state has been losing an average of $20,000 a year in such taxes since 1912, and the total loss exceeds $250,000. This is the discovery of Robert M. Small, state superintendent of insurance. He announced it after receiving an opinion from Attorney General Hoover sustaining his conclusions. Superintendent Small said the correction of the mistake will mean an added income of $24,000 a year to the state treasury. A law passed in 1908 provided that each fire insurance company was to pay a special tax, shall contribute one-half of one per cent of its gross premium receipts to the state fire marshal's office.

UNIFORM BRING TO TAX CORPORATIONS

A rule to bring about uniform taxation to corporations throughout the state was promulgated this week by the state tax commission, as the result of a conference of the state tax assessors on June 22. Twenty-two counties represented at the conference, it developed that there were 22 counties in the state with no assessors arriving at the valuation of these concerns. In a few counties an intelligent effort has been made to list the property of the state, but in many instances the assessors to treat every corporation fairly by getting the inventory of each corporation by the state tax assessors to be used as a basis in listing the property. "In assessing, use good common sense in addition to the inventory and the state tax assessors should be treated the same way."

STATE ALSO INSURES

Because no claims for damages under the workmen's compensation law have yet been filed by any employee of any institution under the management of the state, the board of administration, members of that board thought perhaps these hundreds of men and women didn't know their rights or they were afraid to sue. Accordingly notice was sent to the managing officers of all 18 institutions under control of the board the day they were notified that all employees, except those elected or appointed by the board—including only the managing officers—were entitled to compensation from the state in the case that any of them were injured.

OHIO'S LOSS IN APRIL SEVERED

The Ohio fire loss in the month of April was $507,655, according to the report of the Fire Marshal Deffenbaugh. There were 542 fires in April. Of this number 123 were caused by sparks from chimneys, seventy-one from stoves, thirty-five from the careless handling of matches, nine from electric wires and twelve were of incendiary origin.

"GRABBY" QUIT FOR GOVERNOR

Leader Smith, 80, of Bidwell, Gallia county, a civil war veteran, has sent Gov. Cox a "grabby" quilt made by him in about five years in the Union army and many times I wished for it.

TO MEET AT SANDUSKY

The next quarterly meeting of the managing officers of state institutions under control of the Ohio board of administration will be held at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home in Sandusky Monday, June 22. The program includes an address by Dr. C. O. Frazier, superintendent of the Athens State Hospital, on "The Training of Nurses at State Hospitals," and an address on "Hereditary and Delinquency" by Dr. H. C. Check, superintendent of the Toledo State Hospital, and "Juvenile Delinquents" by Judge G. Adams.

WORK OF THE STORM

By DON LA GRANGE. To the night of the 15th of December there had been no winter from a north wind raising and dishes had scarcely frozen over, indeed, the highways were dry and dusty and "the oldest inhabitant" said that his back was as numerous in the country as in June. At three o'clock the cows were out in the green pastures. At six a gale from the north was raising and the snow driving in blinding sheets that man or animal could not face. Of course, Mr. Rayburn and his wife had selected that very afternoon to drive over the town of Hepburn 13 miles distant, to see about some business that should have been attended to a month before, and that could be postponed to any time within the next month without loss to anyone. They were two miles on their way home when the storm-wind struck them and ran the boys into the farmhouse for the night. They were only two of hundreds that had to seek shelter that night.

PEAK OF LOCUSTS DUE THIS YEAR

"Seventeen-year locusts" are scheduled to pay Ohio a visit next June. Preliminary signs are that they will do most of their swooping in Eastern Ohio. The last time they made a call in the Buckeye state was in 1897, but this year they intend to make up for their long absence by coming in great numbers. The state agricultural commission has started a campaign to fight them. Scores of pamphlets are being sent out to farmers, warning them to be on their feet, and telling how to protect fruit trees from their depredations. All during June the air will be filled with humming of locusts. They will be eating up the thousands of trees, especially on young fruit trees, which they sing out as a special object of attack. "I don't step a foot to breathe. She was blinding herself and blinding the cook. It was a fact that she was frightened. There was not another house within a mile. The telephone had 'gone dead'."

ON AUSTRALIAN STAMPS

The Kookaburra, which is to figure on the new Australian stamps, is a kind of laughing jackass of the king-fiber tribe, and about the size of a crow. He kills snakes, is an optimist by nature, laughing at sunrise and sundown. "The trouble with the man of few words is that he is apt to use them until they become tiresome. Dr. F. J. Fletcher, small, spruce, and easy to take a canny, reliable and invincible stomach, liver and bowels and cure constipation."

DEEP BREATHING

"Learn to sit or stand erect and breathe deeply," every health expert. "Remember that your blood cannot be properly washed with half a lungful of air any more than you can take a proper bath in a few pints of water. Everybody must know what a joy there is in the deep breathing of the pure air of the morning. The lungs respond to the stimulus much as the body reacts from a dash of cold water."

Swarms of 17-year locusts are expected to infest the eastern half of Ohio during June of this year, the first time since 1887. All during next month they may be counted by the thousands on trees, especially young fruit stock, and the air will be filled with their humming, according to experts.

Orchardists and tree owners should not neglect to spray their trees as the statutes provide that spraying must be done twice between April and November. It is useless for one man to spray his trees for scale if his neighbor neglects to do the same, and there is a penalty for non-compliance with the law.

Declaring that so far as they were able to ascertain, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has not returned a dollar of his vast wealth during the year for taxation anywhere, not even in New York. Cleveland tax commissioners have placed $311,226,347 of the oil king's wealth on the tax list for taxation at $1.41 per $100.

More than two hundred Italians, men, women and children, arrived in Norwalk Tuesday noon from Buffalo and vicinity, to go to work for the Pressing Co. They will be employed both in the fields and the factory and will dwell in the comfortable apartment houses the company erected near the plant last year.

Recently an order was issued by the state department of Weights and Measures to the effect that all goods sold in packages must bear on the outside the net weight of the goods. The state department rules that in case butter and lard are sold in wooden dishes the goods must be sold at net weight and not, for instance, 15 ounces of butter and one ounce of wood.

Don't forget the flowers to decorate the soldiers' graves memorial. As in the past, the old and well established and in vogue on memorial day, the children go to the woods to select nature's rarest and prettiest. Every boy and girl in the village and in the vicinity should do their part to make the day a solemn and impressive one, and in no way can this be better accomplished than by the liberal profusion of flowers.

The high cost of dying was the subject of complaint before the state public utilities commission last Saturday. The Cleveland, Western and Columbus railway charges $25 for the use of its funeral car from Amherst to Lorain and Elyria cemetery but only $15 from Lorain to the same cemetery, although the distance is about the same. This charge was made in a complaint filed by John J. Smith, mayor of the village of Amherst.

One of the most urgent needs of Plymouth at the present time is more dwelling houses to care for the people who would like to become residents of our little city, but owing to the scarcity of houses must seek other towns. If we expect our town to advance and grow the above is a matter that must be cared for. Perhaps if a chamber of commerce was organized such matters as this could more easily be worked out. Industries and people is what makes a live town.

A man who goes to see a girl twice a week, and takes her places, is legally regarded to her according to a recent decision, whether he says anything to her about marriage, or not, and she could recover damages for breach of promise. Young men have a habit of loafing about a girl's house for years and then drifting off without a word of marriage. While a young man is loafing about a girl's house, he probably keeps some one away who would talk business. Some of our "mashers" might do well to take warning.

Attorney General Hogan gave to State Highway Commissioner Marker a ruling that will permit the immediate employment of at least 10,000 men in the building and repair of 300 miles of state highways. Hogan ruled that Marker may proceed to advertise bids and let contracts for this work, without waiting for the funds accruing from the tax levy to reach the state treasurer, which would not be until fall. This ruling will enable the state highway department to accomplish much work during the present summer which otherwise could not be done until next year.

The eighth grade commencement held in the grammar rooms of our public school building Wednesday afternoon was largely attended by parents of the graduates and others interested in our public schools. A very interesting program, participated in by the various members of the class, which consisted of recitations, songs and music, was most pleasingly rendered, making the afternoon one of pleasure to all in attendance, thus ending the school days of the eighteen graduates in the grades, and who at the beginning of the coming school year will carry credit which will allow them to step over the threshold of the High School room, where with the same degree of diligence four years hence they will have completed the full course as prescribed by Plymouth Public Schools and become full-fledged graduates of one of the schools of the first grade.

Stop and Consider!

Have you ever stopped to consider the true meaning of economy? Some people think that the words Economy and Cheap are synonymous—that they mean just the same. BUT DO THEY? Or is true economy found in full value? WE THINK IT IS. Is a low price economical if you do not get a value returned for that price? WE THINK IT IS NOT. We take special pains that every piece of merchandise we sell must measure up in full value to the price that is paid. What you buy of us must give you dollar for dollar in value. On that platform, and that alone will we continue to do business.

Work on the Sandusky street improvement has moved along fairly well the past week, but will require another day or two to complete the concrete work. The working of laying the brick in the center of the railroad right of way will then be taken up.
D. M. Beelman, who was operated upon at the Horon Road Hospital, Cleveland, several weeks ago, was brought to his home in this place Saturday, and made the trip in fine shape and has been making satisfactory improvement since, all of which will be cheering news to his many friends.
Will Trimmer, employed at the Ralston hardware store, had a close call from losing his left eye Tuesday morning. He was engaged in cutting a piece of wire from a roll, when the end flew back, striking him in the corner of his eye, narrowly missing the sight, but lacerating the ball quite badly.
A capacity house greeted the graduates at the Lutheran church Sunday evening, the occasion being the baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. J. H. C. Mansfield, pastor of the Lutheran church. The sermon was an able one and highly complimented and the music furnished by the High school pupils fine and appropriate.
Lest we forget, the Plymouth postoffice will follow the holiday schedule on Saturday, which is Memorial Day. The rural mail carriers will not make a trip over their routes, while the general delivery and money order windows will be open only until 10:30 a. m. after which they will remain closed until the regular hour for opening Monday morning.
In one of the prettiest ball games seen on the local diamond this season between the New Washington and Plymouth High School teams Saturday afternoon, the Plymouth boys administered a complete shut-out to the visitors, the score standing 4 to 0. Becker was on the mound and struck at the exciting end, and with the able support given them put up a faultless game. The New Washington boys put up a star game at no time had any chance to score.
The Fling stock of clothing which several weeks ago was purchased by the Barnett Bros. has again changed hands, the new owner being Mr. Charles Johnston of Chicago, who arrived Monday evening and has already assumed charge. As soon as a suitable home can be obtained Mr. Johnston will move his family from Chicago here with the expectation of making Plymouth his future home. Mr. Johnston is a very pleasant gentleman to meet, thoroughly conversant with the clothing business, and Plymouth will give himself and family a warm reception into our business and social circles.
The first of the weekly band concerts here for the season will be inaugurated Saturday evening, at which the well known Ganges band will furnish the music. A temporary platform will be erected on the public square for this occasion, and the council should get busy and erect a permanent band stand, as our square is plenty large to maintain a structure of this kind. It should be constructed of cement, not over four feet high with out roof, but columns at each corner to maintain lights. It would be an ornament to our business section and built on the above plan would not obstruct the view.

The Memorial services held at the M. E. church Sunday morning were largely attended. The church was very beautifully decorated with the national colors and presented a very neat appearance. The old soldiers formed into marching line on the public square at 10:15, and headed by the Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, followed by members of the Eastern Star, Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodges, marched to the church, where they listened to a very able sermon delivered by Rev. R. H. Balmer, who was assisted by the other local pastors. It was remarkable to the occasion was nicely rendered, the whole combining to make the day and occasion one long to be remembered.

Three young provincials, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta... says a New York financial journal, 'have already made Winnipeg one of the greatest primary wheat markets of the world...'

Henry Howland HIS PROMISE and HER DOUBT. Oh, he's my own, sweetheart, and I will elab... Mr. Howland says...

A Lesson That Failed. 'I don't suppose,' the timid young man said...

'I'll tell you,' she said in here saying you didn't expect me to consent to let you have my daughter...

'All right, old man. Seeing that there's no reason why Genevieve and I should get married, you'll, of course give your consent...

'I'm minutes later the young man woke up on the sidewalk and began wondering how one was to be able to tell how to go far enough without going too far.'

'Mean Man. "I think I know the meanest man in this town..."'

'Perfurntory' the first mate explained. 'But I didn't mean just that either. It looks as though we'd have to be strict in enforcing it...'

'There's at least one chap aboard who can't get on dry land powerfully well...'

'Why have you broken your engagement to Billy Stillwell?' 'Oh, Billy couldn't stand for his slang...'

'The binner when you pass in scores, Mr. Whining, asks you for a crust. In purple robes, tomorrow, March 10th, I'll be in a place of rest...'

'We cannot know, he may not guess. What chance any man has for success? The bard whose songs are professedly Tommy may be professedly Tommy...'

'They'll Agree With Him. "One of the scientists claims that a man's brain gets smaller as he grows older..."'

'Possibilities. The prince who envy now may lie in death's embrace tomorrow night; he'll look like his original self...'

'Could't Let It Go. "Why did you say that thing, my dear? We haven't the slightest use for it..."'

'Believing Young. Mrs. Gramercy—Do you think you'll be coming to the party...'

that sort of thing. Candidly, it didn't look right.

'Now, I've seen you come and go at that house; I knew that you belonged there. I saw the chap who was killed last Sunday come in with his gun...'

'Whosepup Max Willard took his lifeless face away for good, and Tom, after telling Phil Mercer to get the launch ready, returned to the chart-house where he sat smoking and ruminating...'

'Reflection prompted action, and action made him forget his own dejection. He walked forward, and in a moment his regard fell upon the ungainly form of John Callis...'

'There was something in the fellow's attitude that made Tom eye him narrowly. He too seemed dejected, in his heavy face there being nothing bellows now...'

'"The truth is, Captain Phinney, if I might be allowed to not for frankness carry a great wrong soon will be corrected. If you betray me, if you disclose anything you may discover on board this yacht, you will be the instrument of such a miscarriage...'

'"Well—I'll be," he began, but quickly checked himself and looked up at the dead piercing eyes steadily regarding him.

"And so," he concluded, "you are Max Willard."

And then Tom all at once remembered where he had previously heard this familiar voice. Last Monday night, when he stood blindfolded in the mysterious Long Island house...'

The contents of the sheet, which Tom had open in a jiffy, were brief and were taken in by Tom in a glance. His immediate stupefaction at their purport be voiced in tones of awe.

CHAPTER IV.

As Tom thus voiced his astonishment at the disclosure of the old man's identity, there was a sudden swish of skirts and the two disappeared like the companionship.

The statement concluded with a note of interrogation; but Tom stood silent. What the two ladies intended could not tell this man that at the present moment a detective was exceedingly anxious to find him—at least, to find out where he was.

After a pause— "Have you any place we may retire to for a quiet talk?" Willard inquired in the same tone.

"The chart-house," you had said. "Once seated, there followed a long silence in the course of which Tom grew more and more restive beneath the keen looking magnifying-glass eyes."

"Look here, captain, frankly, are you spying on me?" "Moses and green spectacles, no!" replied Tom. His astonishment at the question was so unmistakably genuine that the other continued for a time to watch him in silence.

"You are not the sort of which spies and eavesdroppers are made. You are too transparent. And yet—" He fell silent again, and for a space pondered, then abruptly leaning forward, he once more looked into Tom's eyes.

"You thought—that light," he said. "I can believe that," he said warmly. "You are not the sort of which spies and eavesdroppers are made."

"In the face of the older man's direct manner, Tom's nervousness left him. The powerful personality was not without its influence. He was now of the sort of chap that any man could outwade, and his discomposure was wholly due to his ticklish position.

Her Grandfather and His

S.E. Kiser

ANET ROLEFF'S dark eyes blazed with sudden anger. A deep flush overspread her cheeks and Harley Worthington realized at once that he had made a blunder.

They had known each other less than a month, but the few weeks that had passed since their first meeting had not been wasted by them. Daily they had either ridden their horses side by side or raced up and down the hills in Worthington's roadster, and by clever management upon the part of somebody they found themselves together every evening. Harley Worthington's friends looked on with much concern. He had neglected his work and managed to get himself so deeply in love that to him nothing seemed worth while if Janet happened to be where he could not see or hear her.

But she had a reputation! No, not! She was not a woman with a past—not that. She was merely a flirt—at least that was a common supposition among those who knew her. There were certain heart-broken men wandering upon the face of the earth and vowing that they could never forgive her. She may not have been to blame for their sorrowful plight. If they had insisted on falling in love with her that certainly did not place her under an obligation to return their love. At least that was the opinion she held, and she may have been right.

And now Harley Worthington was well started upon the way that must lead to madness. His sister-in-law had warned him early.

"Don't do it, Harley," Elizabeth Worthington had begged. "I know she is the prettiest girl in the world, and I know you have no intention of breaking your heart. She is just anxious to have a good time. She probably likes to be with you, and she may admire you—but, Harley, stop where you are. I'm talking to you as you ought to be talked to, not because I enjoy it, but because it's my duty."

"I'm Talking to You as You Ought to Be Talked To"

I like you too well to stand aside without protesting while you are getting ready to have your heart broken."

But when did a man ever listen to his sister-in-law if a beautiful girl happened to be beckoning to him?

One day when they had ridden out beyond the limits of the city and into the pleasant countryside they halted their horses beneath a wild crab-apple tree at the edge of a cemetery. While Harley was breaking off a blossoming bough Janet gazed curiously at a number of gravestones which were set in even rows and which all seemed to be exactly alike.

"Tomorrow is Decoration day, isn't it?" she asked.

"Yes. Tomorrow all those graves will be covered with flowers." "I ought to be at home tomorrow," she said, with a little sigh. "There is a grave in the South that I have always decorated. My grandfather was in the Civil war."

"And my grandfather's grave is there," he answered. "It is the third in the second row from the right. I suppose your grandfather was in the Confederate army?"

"Yes." "Well, there were good men on that side, too." "The best men that ever lived were on that side."

"I can't agree with you there. Some of the best men that ever lived were on both sides."

"The war would never have ended as it did if the South could have put as many men in the field as the North did. You know that very well."

"Let us not get into an argument over that question now. The war is all over. We can both be proud of our ancestors who took part in it. I am ready to admit that your grandfather was brave and high-minded. He fought for what he thought was right. If he was mistaken it was unfortunate, but it does not lessen his heroism in the least. I honor him for doing what he considered his duty."

"Oh, please don't say any more about that. You northerners people are always patronizing us by telling us how brave and how noble you consider our soldiers to have been. It is merely another way of telling us that you are ready to forgive us for being crushed. I have heard it so often that I hate it."

They rode on for a mile or two in silence. Suddenly Janet turned her horse, saying:

"Let us go back. I don't want to ride any more today."

"I'm sorry we came out this way," Harley replied. "There are some blossoms. May I get some of them for you?"

"Leave them where they are," she answered. "I shall never like crab-apple blossoms again."

He experienced a feeling that he had never been conscious of before. It seemed to him that the glory of the day had suddenly vanished. He knew in that moment that he could never be happy again without her.

"If I have said anything I ought not to have said, please forgive me," he begged. "Promise me that you will not so away. Janet, I love you. Can't you see that I do?"

"And I hate you," she answered. "I never want to see you again. Will you please ride on?" I preferred to return alone."

Harley Worthington passed a sleepless night, and Memorial day found him in the depths of hopelessness. He had no desire to participate in any of the usual ceremonies. Shutting himself in his room, he refused to see anyone or to seek forgiveness in diversions. He could think of nothing but Janet Rolle and he conjured up a thousand fancies concerning her, all of them leading to the conclusion that she had never forgiven herself of the first crime that presented itself to get rid of him.

At last his hopelessness turned to anger, and late in the afternoon he got his horse. He had no idea, as he galloped along, where he was going. He did not care.

HOPE OF THE NATION IS IN ITS YOUTH

By THE RIGHT REVEREND BISHOP SAMUEL FALLOWS.

IN OUR common schools we have not only the nurseries, but the real West Points and Fort Leavenworths of the Republic. From these is to come the ever-flowing stream of our fresh young soldiers, who shall maintain the integrity and glory of the nation.

In more than 350,000 buildings they gather—in the rude log hut or primitive "shack" of the remote frontier and in the costly and commodious structures which we rear in the crowded city. Many thousands officers of the Field and Staff and Line marshal and guide day by day 16,000,000 of these juvenile warriors—the infantry, cavalry and artillery of our homes.

It is upon the intelligence and morality and loyalty of the American citizen that the institutions of our country rest—"broad-based upon the people's will." Give our common school system to Mexico. Educate their children as we are training ours. Break up their great landed estates into small farms and let the common people own and till them, and barbarous Mexico would be wiped from the map of the world.

significance. Today it is a ruined hamlet where a few drowsy people dwell. The courthouse was burned 11 years ago, and around the desolate court square, cumbered with ashes charred plaster and shattered bricks a half dozen tottering dwellings cling. Some are tenanted, but others are in decay and collapse for even this faint distinction.

Ruins Cover Surrender Ground of Appomattox

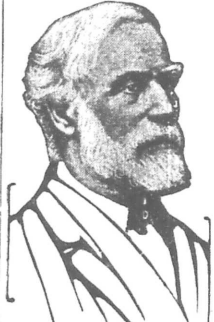

A N American must recall brave memories as he looks upon the red clay fields and pine-grown land where the Army of Northern Virginia laid down its arms, or stands on the spot where the terms of surrender were agreed upon and signed. There must come to his memory these words of Grant: "I regard it as my duty to shift from myself the responsibility of any further effort of blood by asking of you the surrender."

General Grant in Uniform.

der of that portion of the Confederate states army known as the Army of Northern Virginia. Also there comes to mind these words of Lee: "After four years' arduous struggle the Army of Northern Virginia has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources." It is especially impressive to visit the surrender ground of Appomattox upon the anniversary of the events which gave to Appomattox everlasting

Gen. Robert E. Lee.

The site and garden of this house are heaped with piles of brick and rotting lumber, which once were the house known as 1852 the McLean house was taken down for the purpose of removal and reconstruction at the Columbian exposition at Chicago, but the erection of this plan was carried no further than the demolition of the house.

There were two Appomattox towns in 1865. It was at Appomattox Station on the line of railway between Petersburg and Lynchburg that Sheridan's cavalry captured a train of supplies from Lynchburg intended for Lee's army. These supplies stood between Lee's men and starvation. The Appomattox Court House—the county seat of Appomattox county—was three miles northward. Today Appomattox occupies the site of Appomattox Station and is a brick village. Old Appomattox Court House—the Appomattox of history, the Appomattox where the expiring hopes of the South were crushed—is the hopeless village told of.

Much of the ground occupied by the armies is now covered with tall, thick pines. In a particularly dark stretch of places the traveler comes upon the North Carolina monument, the most—in fact, the only—imposing marker on the fields of Appomattox. The inscription on this monument, which gives glorious praise to the soldiers of the North, has caused tense discussion. The accuracy of the statements cut on the stone has been denied.

Cost of a Boy.

It has been estimated that it costs $5,000 to raise a boy from babyhood to the age of 18. This amount represents the cost of his food, clothing and various expenses. This is not a low estimate for it means 60 cents a day. The state benevolent and penal institutions do not spend any more than that upon the inmates of the various institutions.

But it is well for the young man or woman reaching the age of 18, to remember that he or she has cost $5,000 in ready cash up to that time and the problem is how to pay it back, for it is really a debt. There is but one way open for paying the debt and that is through the medium of good habits. If one leads an upright, pure, studious, diligent, sincere life, he will soon pay off the debt, but if he doesn't, the debt will keep on growing and after while swamp the debtor.

There is one sad fact here and that is the more money that is spent on a boy's raising, the more heavily the debt rests upon him and the more disinclined he is to pay. As a rule, it will be found that the more money spent on a boy, the heavier the debt and the less he is able to pay.

One Hundred Cars of Implements Sold.

The following was taken from a Dallas, Texas, paper and sent by Burn Brodhead to George Bodley of this city, which shows that the Lone Star State grows something besides Texas Grasses:

"The largest single shipment of agricultural implements in the history of the implement trade of the southwest has started from Chicago for the grain fields of the 'great west.'" Secretary Babcock of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce says. "It consists of 100 cars and every piece of it is sold. In fact, it is a whole of a refutation of the stories about short grain crops in this section."

"The shipment was assembled in Chicago and embraces all sorts and kinds of implement machinery, the total value aggregating over $600,000. One full train will arrive in Dallas May 23, and will be distributed from this point to the farms of Texas and Oklahoma."

"It is a matter of more than passing interest that the whole of this shipment has been sold. Not a single piece of it comes on consignment and it will help to swell the total of the Dallas implement trade. It is the Dallas shipment will be fifty cars."

"This shipment does something else that sounds good for Dallas. It is further evidence of the importance of Dallas as an implement market. The yearly sales of Dallas in this line of trade is now $36,000,000 as against $10,000,000 in 1914, the next competitor to Dallas as the leading implement market."

"It would be hard to figure, but it is interesting to speculate on the number of acres of ground that will be plowed and the number of bushels of grain that will be threshed by machines in these two big trains, for they will work for years in the fields of the southwest. These trains are the first of the big shipments of farm machinery take care of the 1914 crops. But others are to follow them in the near future."

Why You Pay More.

What an easy thing it is to go to the big town forty or fifty miles away to do your trading.

You read the advertisement of bleached muslin 8 cents in the city. Your horse dealer charges 10 cents and you think he is a robber, so you buy the department store.

When you return home and figure the total cost of your purchase you are disappointed that it is considerably more than you can get at a dealer's price for the same goods.

You didn't know that the city price of 8 cents on the muslin was a "leader" for the town. This was made up on something else. Only a few articles at a time are on the bargain counter. They are made at fractions. City people are taking advantage of these bargains every day. You can't.

The country merchant's prices are nearly stationary. The price on an article he sells is fixed at a reasonable, living profit. Let us show these prices differ from those of the city merchant.

The city store is a fine building on a paved street. The store fixtures cost a lot of money. The clerks are paid $50 to $100 a month and in many big stores are carried over the year. Taxes and interest charges add to the expense. All this represents the cost of doing business. It amounts to 20 to 25 per cent of the selling price. At that store, and this percentage must be added to the cost of every article, and the big merchant must have a net profit of 15 to 20 per cent to protect him against losses.

Now consider the small town dealer. He usually owns his building. His hire is less—taxes, his light and interest charges are less. His cost of doing business is 12 to 18 per cent, and he is satisfied with a net profit of 10 to 15 per cent.

The country merchant buys a horse or a hat for $1.60 and sells it for $2.00. The city department store must charge $2.50 or more for the same goods or he will lose money.

Consider these facts carefully and give your home dealer a chance before buying in the big city store. Buy your goods where you can get the most for your money.

Attest: W. A. JEFFREY, Clerk.

It is always the one who can not write a four line local and spell every word correctly who makes the fun of the errors in the newspapers. It is usually the fellow who couldn't run a store two weeks without going into bankruptcy, who feels competent to give the merchant pointers on how to conduct his business, and it is the folks who could not make a public address even if their lives depended upon it, who find fault with the ministers' sermons. The reason is not hard to find. No man knows live more, he brings it takes to do these things unless he does it himself. Editing a newspaper is an easy task. If we publish original matter they are too lazy to write. If we don't go out and get news, if we do we are hypocrites. If we remain at the office we ought to be out looking for news; if we go out we are not attending to business. If we wear old clothes, they laugh at us; if we wear good cloths, they say we have a pull. Now what are we to do? Just as likely some one will say we stole this from an exchange. We stole it.

PUT THE "TALK" IN CHAUTAUQUA

Bryan Made Word Known All Over the World.

SIDELIGHTS ON CONTROVERSY

Atlanta Chautauqua Manager Gives Reason Assigned by Secretary of State Bryan For Continuing Platform Work That Was Overlooked by Eastern Critics.

The fact that we are to have a Chautauqua the coming summer, the program to be furnished by the Colt-Alber Chautauqua Co., makes the criticism of Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan because he gave Chautauqua lectures last summer, of considerable interest to our readers. The newspapers of the East were, as a rule, harsh in their criticism of the "Great Commoner," but in the West, where the Chautauqua is understood, there was little criticism except in the least newspapers. Many people asked themselves whether this criticism was deserved, whether our secretary of state had a right to lecture while holding office, and whether it is undignified for a secretary of state to lecture at a Chautauqua.

The reason Mr. Bryan gave for lecturing, as reported by the newspapers, is not the only reason he gave. Mr. Russell Bridges of Atlanta, a prominent Chautauqua manager, was in Mr. Bryan's audience the evening he made his first statement. From him we learn that Mr. Bryan gave as his chief reason for lecturing the fact that in this way he could spread his ideas on the problems of government and general moral questions. The fact that he needed more money was only touched on incidentally, but the eastern press seized this one item—and emphasized it to the exclusion of everything else.

Lincoln Wirt on Bryan.

Dr. Lincoln Wirt, F. R. G. S., the noted Arctic lecturer, covered this point concisely in an article in the Congressionalist, which was later copied in the Literary Digest:

"There is no question about it, the common people hear Bryan gladly. The harassed farmer will drive his machine fifty miles, burn up $2 worth of gasoline and pay 50 cents smilingly at the Chautauqua gate for the privilege of standing two hours to listen to the man whom he knows to be so kind and sweet to the core; to the only man who could 'drag the old man of the sea' from the neck of Democracy. Does it mean anything that from 5,000 to 10,000 people will pay for the privilege of hearing the 'Great Commoner' whenever he is advertised to speak?"

"In all this criticism of Mr. Bryan and his lecturing, I share with his Middle-West friends the feeling that, if there has been a mistake, it is not in giving him credit of his time and strength to the common people (which may well do without serious neglect of his duties of state). But the mistake, if it mistakes there, is in not giving the larger reason for so doing, namely, a vital message which clamors for utterance, and a vast audience which clamors to hear it. 'I would like to hear from the dead,' said Robert Louis Stevenson, 'to preach.' Mr. Bryan is the people's prophet and his Chautauqua message is a 'Thus saith the Lord' to them."

"He has as much right to slip away at the week-end and inspire 20,000 people with two or three lecture-sermons—may or not be a member of the members of the cabinet have to go fishing, or the president has to sit on his veranda at Corinish."

TO HEAR STATE LECTURERS

Chautauquas Recognized by State Agricultural Department and Speakers to Be Furnished.

Farmers' Day will be one of the big days of our Chautauqua. Large numbers of farmers are expected to attend. The Ohio Department of Agriculture has recognized the Chautauqua as an institution worthy of the support and aid which has been offered to furnish several speakers.

These to be heard on several mornings, when no admission will be charged, and the Colt-Alber Company has accepted their generous offer.

One of the speakers is Professor E. I. Morgan of the Public Service Department of Massachusetts Agricultural College, who has done great work all through the west among the farmers.

On two or three days following he picture the speakers furnished by the Ohio Department of Agriculture will appear and a most interesting and profitable time will be had.

Community development is one of the prime purposes of the Chautauqua.

The multitudes of the Chautauqua is its strongest appeal, and the consciousness of this should be the strongest impetus to us to cultivate more and more in our lives the things which are common to all men. There is nothing like a common interest to promote the welfare of a community.

COUGH TWO YEARS OLD

Yields to Vinol. Read Why.

Strong vigorous men and women hardly ever catch cold. If they do, the system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your run down condition again? Mrs. D. A. McCreo of Waycross, Ga. says: "I had a chronic cold and cough and liver ailment for two or three years and I felt tired all the time. Vinol cured my cough and I feel stronger in every way."

The reason Vinol is so efficacious in such cases is because it contains in a delicious concentrated form all the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood building from added.

Chronic coughs and colds yield to Vinol because it builds up the weakened, run-down system.

You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say. P. S.—For itching, burning skin try our Sasso Salve. We guarantee it.
