Ripley Items.

School opened for work this week
Tuesday.

Irene Palm left Tuesday evening to work for Mrs. Peabody in Greenwich.

L. D. Crum and wife were guests at the Keiser home in New Haven
Tuesday.

Bent Chronister and family spent last Sunday guest of Melvin Howard and wife.

G. W. Brinson has slicked up the appearance of farm residence with a coat of paint.

Winford Lang was going over our telephone line this week Wednesday testing out phones for groundings.

W. G. Scroggie and wife of Norwalk, were guests of their cousins,
G. A. and Clara A. Knight, last week.

B. A. Boardman, F. P. Boardman and E. H. Fole and families attended the funeral of Velma Hote Monday.

Miss Fanny Carver, one of Ripley's esteemed young ladies, was married to Frank Kraueb of Greenwich, last week.

H. M. Huffman is at the wheel in a Buick auto. L. D. Crum has not run his out yet, so we have not the name to give this week.

J. O. Palm, F. B. Barker, H. W.
Barker, F. P. Boardman and Melvin Lutz were among the State Fair guests from this vicinity.

Mr. F. M. Williams and wife, who spent their vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Darling, left for their home in Cleveland last week.

The application of paint to the already neat buildings of C. H. and G.
B. Silliman shows the business thrift of these enterprising men of Ripley.

D. W. Cookburn of Shiloh, and John Monteth and wife of Mansfield, with their families, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lofland Sunday.

David Truxell, aged 95, visited Dr.
Kester in Shiloh to have an eruption examined that is appearing near the same where he had a cancer removed two years ago.

W. G. Blackmore is unloading fertilizer this week for his many farmer patrons. W. G. has been in the field with the Bowker goods and they stand the test.

Richard Dawson of New Haven,
was at the home of the writer viewing his young Jersey cows one day this week. Dick knows good cattle and often buys them.

Mrs. L. B. Truxell and Mrs. Ford
Truxell were in Norwalk Wednesday turning over the cash to the county treasurer for taxes and looking after bargains in the various stocks.

The Young Peoples' Class of the Delphi Sunday School, taught by Mrs. C. M. King, was entertained
this week Wednesday by Miss De-Witt. Games, etc., were indulged in.

E. A. Stotts of Plymouth, keeps up his daily auto service from Plymouth to Ripley siding, where he delivers men to work on the pike, as well as running the loading machine for Contractor Britton.

Floyd Anderson and family of Plymouth, and Noel Ruckman, agent of the Big Four railroad at Shiloh, and family, were last Sunday guests at the pleasant home of Dan and Tom Ruckman and wife on the county line.

Mrs. A. E. DeWitt and the G. A.
Hassinger were touring the great state of Ohio from north to south last week. They are not running for office or campaigning for any one else
but visited a sister in Gallipolis, visited the State Fair, called on other at Bucyrus and greeted friends in Plymouth Saturday evening.

Melvin Howard, one of Ripley's
most useful and much wanted men,
a mechanic in many lines of work,
met with a painful and serious accident while painting on the house of
M. E. Reeves last week Thursday.
The ladder on which he was standing collapsed, throwing him to the ground, breaking his collar bone and infring his leg, which will lay him up for several weeks. Dr. Saunders set the bone.

New Haven.

Mrs. Frank Cline is a guest of Newark relatives.

Walter Long left Monday for Ada to attend school, and will make a specialty of civil engineering.

J. W. Palmer and family, Mrs. J.
H. Mills, Mrs. Winnie Mills and children spent Sunday at Cedar Point.

The schools opened Tuesday with the same corps of teachers with the exception of Misses Kiser and Simpkins.

Miss Byrd Loistetter of Cuyahoga Falls, was called home Monday by the death of her uncle, Jack McElwain.

callers Friday afternoon at the home of their aunt, Miss Jennie DuBois.

J. G. Hanna of Hiawatha, Kansas came east to attend the G. A. R. encampment at Detroit, and spent several days this week with some of hi-Huron county friends.

O. O. Garrett, who for the past few weeks has been in Norwalk, a member of the Board of Complaints, was relieved Tuesday of this week
for an indefinite length of time.

Friday of last week, John, son of Frank Ruth, fell from a bicycle, and broke his arm in two places. Dr.
Holtz reduced the fractures. John will carry the arm in a sling for some time.

Tolstoy Prophesied the Present War.

That a war in southeastern Europe would eventually involve all Europe in conflagration of destruction and that in 1915 a new Napoleon would arise and extend his sway
over the continent was the remarkable prediction made shortly before his death in 1910 by Count Leo Tolstoy.

"This is a revelation," said the philosopher, "of events of a universal character which must shortly come to pass. Their spiritual outlines are now before my eyes."

"The great conflagration will be set by the torch of war in the countries of southeastern Europe. It will result in a destructive calamity. I see all Europe in flames and bleeding. I hear the lamentations of huge battlefields."

"About the year 1915, a strange
leon—comes upon the stage of the bloody drama. He is a man of little military training, a writer or a journalist. But in his grip most of Europe will remain until 1925. The end of the great calamity will mark
a new political era for Europe."

There will be left no empire and kingdoms, but the world will form a federation of the United States of Nations. There will remain only four great giants—the Anglo-Saxons,
the Latins, the Slavs and the Mongolians.

115 Cases of Tuberculosis in Huron County.

Ottawa, Sandusky, Erie, Lorain
and Huron counties have been placed in tuberculosis hospital district
No. 3 in the tentative apportionment that has just been completed by the division of tuberculosis of the state board of health.

Sentiment for the erection of a district hospital in north-central Ohio has been in evidence for some time.
The inclusion by the state board of health of the five counties indicated above in the tentative hospital district is based upon the scientific rearrangement of the entire state in which population and the extent of the disease were the prime factors.

Under the district tuberculosis hospital law the cost of erection and maintenance of the hospital will be assessed against the above counties in proportion to the size of their tax duplicates. In this district Lorain would bear the largest share of the cost, having a duplicate of $121,000-000. Erie would come second with $84,000,000. Huron and Sandusky range around $80,000,000 and Ottawa would bear the smallest proportion of the cost, having a duplicate of but $36,000,000.

At the present time authorities estimate there are about 180 cases of tuberculosis in Erie county; 115 in Huron; 35 in Lorain; 90 in Ottawa and 120 in Sandusky.

Tuberculosis is a preventable disease, and the erection of an inexpensive, yet complete, inter-county hospital in this section of the state would be a tremendous step toward its prevention.—Reflector.

It Will Have to Come.

Keeping up with the increased cost of all other commodities, the items which enter into the publication of a newspaper have also felt the upward movement, and while it costs much more to issue a country paper, the cost will be a few cents ago, the subscription price has never been increased. The time is coming when this will be changed through necessity, and the publishers of many of the country newspapers have been forced to raise their prices.

COMMON SENSE.

If we will only do our best; if we do not, as we are tempted to, magnify trifling troubles; if we look reasonably, I do not say at the bright side of things, but at things as they really are; if we avail ourselves of the manifold blessings which surround us, we cannot but feel that life is indeed a glorious inheritance.—Sir John Lubbock.

Iceberg Designs.

All the architecture of the world is represented in nature's iceberg designs.
Sometimes a little berg will have the appearance of an Arab's white tent as seen from a distance. Other times, in their sharp outlines, softened in the vaporous atmosphere, will appear like a domed mosque in green marble. A cluster of Chinese pagoda-roofs drifting slowly down the current, followed by a stately Gothic cathedral, every style. Then comes a collection, and beyond a huge man-of-war floats down the current. Its stem submerged, with steam gradually breaking over it, the stem seventy-five feet aloft.—London Chronicle.

plaining, but I think she merely lacks stamina. Mrs. Malspring-Oh, no, she's got it. At any rate, that's what the doctor calls her disease. She can't sleep, nor know—Exchange.

A MISTAKEN IDEA

There are some people who still resort to drugged pills or alcoholic syrups to overcome colds, nervousness or general debility, and who know that the pure, unflavored nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is eminently better, but refrain from taking it because they fear it may lead to excessive fat or obesity.

This is a mistaken idea, because Scott's Emulsion first strengthens the body before making flesh. Its blood-forming properties aid nature to throw off sickness by evacuating itself from its very source, and flesh is formed only by its continued use.
Avoid alcoholic substitutes for SCOTT'S.

Largest Oyster Crop in History

Like oysters?
Well, get ready for an oyster season full of delights!

From places where the succulent
bivalves grow emanates the joy news that one of the beneficent results of the European war will be that the peaceful and good old U. S. A. will enjoy the greatest and best oyster season in its history.

For many years Europe has taken the choicest oysters produced along the shores of Long Island, which have produced exclusively for the European trade. Now the growers are unable to make shipments, it is reported, and these oysters must be sold on the home market.

The market for these bivalves has been found in the high-priced European hotels and with steamship lines. Comparatively few have been supplied to the large hotels and restaurants of this country, it is said.

Oyster growers also report that never before have the beds been in such fine condition, and even if there had been no war the crop was expected to be the largest in the history of the trade. The crop, this year, in addition to being unusually large, is reported to be of more exquisite flavor.

Predictions of the growers are that prices will be lower than ever this season, and, by the way, did you know the season is now on?

Many Rare Plants Grow in Sugar

Grove Region.

"The richest collecting ground in Ohio for botanists with the exception, perhaps, of the region around Sandusky," is the designation given the narrow strip of country extending from a few miles north of the town of Sugar Grove in Fairfield county, in a southerly direction about 20 miles near the southern boundary of Hocking county, by Robert F. Griggs, Professor of Botany at the Ohio State University in a book recently published by the University, entitled "A Botanical Survey of the Sugar Grove Region."

Each year the students of botany
at the Ohio State make several trips to this region, where they study the specimens. Many rare plants grow here and the students are required to make a herbarium of these plants.
The flora is described by Prof. Griggs as an "outlier of the great Allegheny mountain flora from which it derives a considerable number of Appalachian plants which do not occur elsewhere in Ohio. Besides these plants there are a number of others which belong in the Canadian area and come into Ohio from the north, reaching their southern limits, as far as Ohio is concerned, in this Sugar Grove region. In addition to these there is a third element of southern plants which stretch up from Kentucky and Tennessee and reach their northernmost limits in this region."

DEATHS DURING EUROPEAN WAR

Entire Allied Line Is Now on the Defensive, Says French Report.

Steadily Driving Back and Making Progress Against Kaiser's Soldiers.

Paris, France.—The entire allied line is now on the offensive in the greatest battle of the European war, according to official reports from the various commanders to the war office, and is steadily crumbling the German forces. The following official communication, giving the latest news of the vast conflict east of the capital, as summarized from official dispatches from the front, was issued by the war office in Paris.

German Are Retiring.

"The left wing of the allied armies, comprising certain portions of the forces now defending Paris, continues to make progress against the enemy. The French advance reaches from the banks of the River Ourcq into the Montmirail region (Montmirail is about 45 miles east of Paris). The enemy is retiring in the direction of the River Marne, between Meaux (20 miles east of Paris) and Sezanne (42 miles east from Meaux). The French and the English armies have taken numerous prisoners, including a battalion of infantry and a company serving a detachment of machine guns; they captured also many gun carriages.

Allies Holding Their Ground.

"There have been violent encounters with the enemy on the center, between Fere-Champenoise (13 miles east of Sezanne) and Vitry-le-Francois, the southern point of the forest of Argonne (Vitry-le-Francois is 37 miles east of Fere-Champenoise). At no place have we fallen back; the enemy has lost ground. The reported retiring of the enemy near Vitry-le-Francois has been confirmed. On our right, a division of German troops delivered an attack on the axis of Chatons Salin-Nancy, but they were repulsed to the northward, passing the forest of Champenoise. Further to the east our troops recaptured the crest of Mandy and the Peak of Fourneau. There has been no change in the situation in the province of Alsace."

The leading military authorities of the city are convinced that Gen. Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French forces, is at last holding at bay the vast German army of invasion.

Allies Close to Supplies.

"The warlike troops of Emperor William, who may constitute an army totaling 750,000 men, are today encountering the relative fresh soldiers of the French and British armies on ground selected by the allies, and in positions within easy reach of supplies and reinforcements. The Germans are in a hostile country and at distances relatively great from their home bases. The invaders today are probably at their greatest straits, while the defenders of France, especially the British contingents, are being augmented steadily.

Asks for Armistice.

"The Germans are reported in Paris unofficially to have asked for an armistice to bury their dead and care for their wounded. This statement lacks official confirmation. It is further understood that the allies refused the request.

"The fighting on the long line to the east of Paris probably will last for a number of days. No quick and decisive outcome is expected. The results of the encounters of the last two days are regarded as distinctly favorable to the allies.

ENGLAND'S CASUALTIES

BRITISH LOSSES ARE 15,881 MEN IN DEAD, WOUNDED AND MISSING.

London, England.—Up to the present time the British naval and land forces have lost 15,881 men in dead, wounded and missing. The most serious loss suffered by the navy occurred when the cruiser Pathfinder was blown up in the English sea. It is believed that all the 423 men recorded as missing in that disaster are dead. One hundred and thirty-one men were lost when the cruiser Amphion was blown up by a mine.

Here is a resume of the British losses to date from the official figures:

Naval—Killed, 37; wounded, 76; drowned, 131; missing, 242; total, 486.
Land—Killed, 238; wounded, 1,233; missing, 15,155.
Grand total—Killed, 266; wounded, 1,310; drowned, 131; missing, 15,385; total, 15,881.

Banks Being Organized.

Washington, D. C.—After an all-day conference with clearing house delegates from many large cities the Federal reserve board has announced it would proceed immediately with the organization of the currency system provided for by the new currency system. Although predictions were lacking, it is generally accepted that the system can be put in operation about Oct. 1. The actual opening may be delayed, but it was said the 15 banks would be ready for business within the next few weeks.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE AUSTRIAN CASTLES

Take Many Prisoners and Seize Guns and Quantities of Ammunition.

Petrograd (St. Petersburg).—Russian newspapers publish a report from a highly authoritative source to the effect that there are signs of a general retreat of the Austrians on their whole front between the Rivers Bug and Vistula. The fortresses of Przemysl and Jaroslau on the River San and Cracow on the Vistula river, the newspapers say, are the only obstacles the Austrians now have to prevent the Russian advances. Przemysl is a strongly fortified military camp, 21 miles west of Lemberg, with 49 forts and 40,000 men, who have been reinforced by the soldiers who escaped from Lemberg and Poland.

An official statement says that Russian cavalrymen are now upon the crest of the Carpathian mountains and that the Russian offensive against the Austrians in Galicia continues successfully.

The Austrian fort at Nicolaeff, about 25 miles southwest of Lemberg, has been captured by the Russians, notwithstanding the fact that it was protected by armored gun turrets and three miles of barbed wire. The Austrians retreated from Nicolaeff, abandoning their supply trains. The Russians took many prisoners and captured 40 guns and great quantities of ammunition.

The Austrian forts at Nicolaeff, captured by the Russians, have enormous strategic importance. The Austrians retreated from Nicolaeff, abandoning their supply trains. The Russians took many prisoners and captured 40 guns and great quantities of ammunition.

Battle Rages Three Days.

A telegram from Vienna states that Gen. Ruszky, who, following the capture of Lemberg, executed a flank attack northward against the Austrians under Gen. Auffenberg, the Austrian war minister, is engaged in a desperate attempt to annihilate Auffenberg's army. The battle has already continued three days and is likely to continue several more.

The second Austrian army operating in Lublin region is suffering very serious losses, it is reported. It is now acting on the defensive and in places has retreated to the east.

German aeroplanes are appearing on the Russian frontier, heralding the arrival of reinforcements. The Germans seem to possess a powerful force in the Posen district, as they move their troops from Posen to east Prussia or Galicia.

A dispatch from Athens declares that the Turks, to be prepared to oppose possible landing of Russians, have concentrated about 80,000 men at Tchatalja, 25 miles northwest of Constantinople, on the coast of the Sea of Marmora. Furthermore, they are fortifying along the Sea of Marmora at other points.

A dispatch from Nish, Servia, says that the Servian army has begun the invasion of Bosnia and has crossed the River Save, near Mitrovitch. Refugees from deserters from the armies of Austria, in Galicia, according to information obtained in official quarters, have told the Russian military authorities that their losses have been enormous. A number of Austrian regiments were decimated.

NEWSPAPER PREDICTS

SEES FLIGHT OF GERMAN EMPEROR IF HIS ARMY IS BEATEN BY ALLIES.

London, England.—In the event of Germany's defeat in the big war, the Kaiser probably would take refuge in America, according to the London Financial News, which says:

"There can be no doubt that the defeat of Germany in the present war means for the Kaiser one of two things. Either he will be his own or other hands or flight to non-Teutonic soil. Ever since Germany began to make preparations for attack the Kaiser has been investing large sums of money on the other side of the Atlantic. He is one of the largest land owners in the western states but not in his own name of course. He owns several sections of property in western America. These investments in America indicate very plainly, it is held, that the Kaiser, when he was preparing to stake the fortunes of his dynasty upon the attempted conquest of East Asia, was preparing for the possibility of failure by liquidating his huge financial resources in the United States and the neighboring dominion in case he has to escape to that part of the world. The Kaiser's boss western Europe the Kaiser means to have the finest house on 'Savoy.'"

Refugees Starving in Holland.

The Hague, Holland.—Thousands of women and children are actually starving in Holland today. They are residents of Belgium. Their homes have been destroyed. Their husbands are either dead or fighting against the German. The Government cannot supply the kind of food needed and the mortality, especially among the children, is very great. Special refugee camps have been arranged and the families are being taken there as well as possible. The Dutch Red Cross is preparing to

ASKS CONGRESS TO RAISE $100,000,000

Wilson Urges Action be Taken by Solons to Add to the Nation's Revenue.

Hesitation and Delay Worst Forms of Bad Policy, Says President.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson asked congress Friday to pass measures to raise $100,000,000 additional revenue through internal taxes. Addressing a joint session of the senate and house of representatives, he suggested that immediate action be taken in order that the sources of revenue chosen should yield a "certain and constant flow."

"Hesitation is dangerous. The worst forms of bad policy under such conditions," said the president, after pointing out the risk that would be run if the additional revenue were not raised.

The address of the president in part follows:

"I come to you today to discharge a duty which I wish with all my heart I might have been spared, but it is a duty which is very clear, and, therefore, I perform it without hesitation or apology. I come to advise very earnestly that additional revenue be provided for the government. "During the month of August there was, as compared with the corresponding month of last year, a falling off of $10,629,538 in the revenues collected from customs. A continuation of this decrease in the same proportion throughout the current fiscal year would probably mean a loss of customs revenues of from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. I need not tell you to what this falling off is due. "We Shall Pay the Bill." "We shall pay the bill, though we did not deliberately incur it. "In order to meet every demand upon the treasury without delay or retardation, and in order to keep the treasury strong, unquestionably sound and strong throughout the present anxieties, I respectfully urge an additional revenue of $100,000,000 be raised through internal tax: devised in your wisdom to meet the emergency. The only suggestion I take the liberty of making is that sources of revenue be chosen as will bring to yield at once and yield with a certain and constant flow. "I cannot close without expressing the confidence with which I approach a congress, with regard to this or any other matter, which has shown so unflinching a devotion to public duty, which has responded to the needs of the nation throughout a long season despite inevitable fatigue and personal sacrifice, and so large a proportion of whose members have devoted their lives to the service of the country."

Lawmakers Quick to Act.

The president's appeal met with quick action. As soon as he had left the house chamber Speaker Clark referred the message to the ways and means committee.

Democratic members of the committee met at night at the call of the chairman, Representative Underwood, and began consideration of plans to raise the additional revenues. Various members suggested sources which they believed would be properly subjected to additional taxation. On the list suggested were:

Gasoline, a tax of one or two cents a gallon; railroad and amusement tickets, a tax of 5 to 10 per cent; beer, an increase of 50 cents a barrel; domestic wines, whiskey, an increase of 15 cents a gallon; proprietary articles; duties on water products; chewing gum; soft drinks; playing cards.

Chairman Underwood said the articles suggested would be given over by the Democrats of the committee and a list of taxable articles would be agreed upon by elimination.

The full salary of $20.54 a day is being witnessed for every day except for sickness.

NATIONAL SOLONS ARE 'DOCKED'

Washington, D. C.—Ten per cent of the members of the house found they had been "docked" when they received their pay checks Friday. The rule limiting the salary of congressmen to $20.54 a day was enforced. One New York member was docked $200 for absence since the rule was passed.

Bars Ways for U. S. Warship.

Washington, D. C.—Turkey has declined to grant the request of the United States for permission to send the cruiser North Carolina through the Dardanelles to Constantinople to deliver $100,000 in gold deposited here for the relief of Americans in the Ottoman empire. The grand vizier has informed the American government the waters of the Dardanelles had been mined and that it would be unsafe for a vessel other than the North Carolina to go through the straits.

WILSON SEEKS TO END STRIKE IN COLORADO

President Appeals to Miners and Employers to Fix Up Differences.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson sought to end the Colorado coal strike Monday by appealing to employers and employes to adopt a "tentative basis for the adjustment of the strike," drawn up by the commission of conciliation appointed by Secretary Wilson of the labor department. The appeal was sent to the president of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., the chairman of the Victor American Fuel Co., the president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Co. and to the officers of the United Mine Workers of America. It was forwarded after the president had held several conferences with Secretary Wilson.

The basis of agreement offered by the president includes the establishment of a three-year truce, subject to the enforcement of the mining and labor laws of Colorado, the return to work of miners who have not been convicted of law violations, the prohibition of intimidation of union or non-union men, the publication of current scale of wages and rules, and the appointment of a grievance committee by the employes.

Under the agreement provides that in cases where the officers of the company or the grievance committee cannot settle difficulties, a commission of three men named by the president shall step in and act as the final referee of all disputes.

Under the agreement the claim for money advanced by the miners for contractual relations would be waived, no mine guards would be employed, the federal troops now on duty in the strike district would be withdrawn, picketing, parading, colonizing or mass campaigning by the miners would be stopped, and suspension of work would be prohibited pending a decision by the commission. The expense of the commission would be divided between the employers and employes.

MOLINEUX HELD INSANE

MAN TWICE TRIED FOR MURDER AND ACQUIRED ONCE SENT TO ASYLUM.

Babylon, N. Y.—Roland B. Molineux of New York, twice tried for the murder of Mrs. Katherine L. Adams in 1938 and acquitted on the second trial, was adjudged insane by two physicians sitting on a board in Jamaica and formally committed, as a violent patient, to the Kings Park asylum. Molineux was arrested after he had dashed through the streets, clad only in a bath robe and trousers, and engaged in a series of running fights with pedestrians. For several days previously he had been a patient at a mental hospital, recovering from a nervous breakdown.

Ninety-one Are Saved.

London, England.—It is learned on reliable authority that the captain and about 90 of the crew of the British cruiser Pathfinder, which was sunk by a mine in the North sea, have been saved. The destruction of the Pathfinder occurred at a point in the northeast of Saint Ab's Head, Scotland. The Pathfinder was literally blown to pieces. According to an official announcement the casualties among the officers were one killed, eight missing, one seriously wounded and one slightly wounded.

RANKS ARE FILLED UP AS ENEMIES ARE MOWED DOWN

By R. M. TOMLINSON.

Gournay, Near Rouen.—I talked with a noncommissioned officer belonging to a regiment named after an eastern county of England which has been in the front of the fighting almost continuously night and day. And very hard fighting, too.

"Our only rest was when we were on the march retreating," he said. "This German attack is certainly extraordinary. You can throw them down and mow them down, but still they come on, and directly the gaps are made in their ranks fresh men fill them up! There seems to be an inexhaustible supply of fresh troops. It is impossible to oppose successfully such a mass of men."

Allies in Good Spirits.

Still, from my observation and my talks with men and officers, there need be no concern in England about the enthusiasm and confidence and good spirits of both the British and French forces. They do not minimize in any way the power of the enemy, but it is strange that the rapid and irresistible rush of the Germans, which in England may appear intensely alarming, does not worry the French or the British soldier.

They believe themselves well placed and are surprisingly quiet and confident, and are patiently working away and watching and waiting for that day, which is to come. Nothing that has yet happened in the campaign has made any of them in the least despondent.

Success for General Pau.

Let us see what seems to have happened since my dispatch from Amiens last Monday. On that day the staff of the famous general commanding the extreme left wing of the allies (Sir John French) was at —

From the north the Germans seemed to be advancing in great force. On the other wing General Pau had had a fine success near Guise, where he handled severely the Tenth Prussian army corps and the Imperial guard in a fight lasting throughout Saturday and Sunday last. I was informed that he circled them and smashed them into the Oise.

On Monday the Germans were forced to retreat with heavy losses, but in the center of the center of the allied forces the British were so successful. The concentration of Germans was against these points and there was great fighting last Sunday.

Regardless of Human Life.

But knowing this and more than this, I am not any more alarmed than are the French and British officers and men. I am not in the course of my unpleasant journey close to the fighting line. They know they are only beginning, but they are still intact and the men who have been working hard and skillfully to stem the German torrent are quite confident that success will ultimately be theirs.

Here a mass of obedient men are flung by the German commanders, regardless of the loss of life, in a fierce and desperate effort to burst through to Paris quickly, and though such enormous masses must necessarily force back all opposition, the allies' opposition meets them resolutely and calmly and with intelligence and military science.

When the history of this war is written it will be seen that, wonderful as the German advance has been, the retirement of the allied forces has been equally magnificent. It is hardly possible to understand why such reckless masses of men should rush forward, believing that nearly all the German army is in France, continually pushing along, should not overwhelm everything human, however well armed and skillfully handled, which stands before it.

Still it has not overwhelmed the allies. It is almost incredible, but it is true. Town is Deserted Suddenly.

When I arrived at this little railroad junction at noon, after a trip to Paris and back, I was told that, on Monday, the French cavalry were seen on the hills to the south and southwest, and that fighting had been going on to the east, 12 miles away. From what I have heard of the progress of the German advance up till last Saturday, I judged it would be useful to visit the little town of — down the road. I found as peaceful a countryside as if it had never heard of war. The sight of a strangely beautiful cathedral standing apart from the town was restful enough, but there was something uneasy about the shut and silent houses. Not an inhabitant was to be seen, and then the cold truth struck us that the town had been evacuated. Crossing a bridge by the railway station, a French division was engaged when we saw our startled looks at that rested below and against the bridge abutments.

They were waiting for the Germans.

The streets were strewn with broken glass bottles and barbed wire was scattered everywhere. The little place in a hollow and one needed but a slight imagination to see the flames bell it could become at any moment. It was growing dark, and I suppose I have never before felt such an urgent desire to leave a town.

The railway was still intact, but the officials differed widely as to our prospects of getting away. While they argued we heard a mine blow up and then the sound of guns. A friendly engine driver, who merely thought he could get through "at length got us away about eighteen miles south-east of the railway junction, which is about thirty miles to the north of Paris, and we got into Paris by train after midnight. We passed Creil, which was then alive with English soldiers.

Defense of Amiens Useless.

The Paris correspondent of the London Mail says: The capture of Amiens, which is the capital of the department of the Somme, 120 miles directly north of Paris, was made possible by the success of the Germans at Meroell. The entry was not contested. The mayor, after receiving a German envoy, announced the surrender of the city and urged the citizens to make no disturbance.

The Germans went to the town hall, where they hoisted down the French flag and hoisted the German colors. The German troops began entering the city about midday Monday, singing as they came: "Die Wacht am Rhine" and "Deutschland Uber Alles."

No time was wasted, however, as the orders were to move swiftly out on the high road to Paris. Only a few men were left to guard the city.

"When the Germans entered Amiens the French retired to Picquigny (eight miles northwest of Amiens). They are reported to have blown up the railway tunnel and to have destroyed a large square along the highway to the south with dynamite."

Praise for British Charge.

The Daily Mail's correspondent behind the British lines describes the charge of the Ninth lancers, which occurred at an unnamed spot during the recent series of tactical retreats, as a second Balaklava. He says: "A terrible havoc has been caused in our ranks by shells from a battery of 11 German guns posted inside a forlorn near the Belgian frontier. "It seemed impossible to silence their fire until the Ninth lancers made their attempt, riding straight at the guns after debouching into the open and charging under a hail of melinite and lyddite.

"I have not been able to get reliable figures as to the distance they rode, but they reached their goal. Nothing could stop them. They reached the guns, killed the gunners, and put the guns out of action. Then, like charging prototypes of Balaklava, they rode back.

Many Blaise on Return.

"On the return they fell in greater numbers still than the attack of the German batteries posted at vantage points around the valley. "Notable bayonet charges were made at (name deleted) on Wednesday last. Several British infantry regiments occupied an exposed position around which the Germans gradually circled, drawing the noose closer and closer.

"The Brits decided to cut their way through the cordons. So the men went at it, yelling and shouting, and got through, although the German artillery mowed them down fruitfully.

"The German machine guns have been extremely effective in all engagements thus far. Men who saw the South African war say the hottest firing there was childish compared with what the British troops have undergone since their arrival in France. So far as I can learn thus far the Germans have lost 26 of these guns.

Tells of Bapaume Fight.

The Paris correspondent of the Mail sends the following dispatch: "I have just returned from Compiègne. The English have left the town. The bridges over the Oise were blown up this (Monday) morning. The Germans were expected hourly. "One important section of the battle which drove back the allies' left was fought at Bapaume Thursday and Friday. On Friday morning the Germans brought up many machine guns in a dense fog, and in a six hours engagement the French suffered severely. "A British force unexpectedly arrived and occupied the French position and allowed the weary French to retreat. Then, though hard pressed, the British continued to fight a magnificent battle.

Mines in Air to Destroy Dirigibles

Washington.—It is entirely feasible to "mine" the air against dirigibles and aeroplanes which seek to dive bombs in fortifications or besieged cities, according to a member of the army general staff. A large number of small captive gas balloons, each provided with a sufficient amount of explosive to destroy any aeroplanes or dirigibles with which it came in contact, could be sent up each evening, together with a number of box kites, each provided with a tail of inflammable wire or other material newly designed to foul propellers. The action of propellers would draw balloons "mines" from a considerable distance.

NAVAL OFFICER SAYS SEA FIGHT WAS NOT BATTLE, BUT MASSACRE

London.—A graphic description of the naval engagement of Heligoland, in which British vessels sank five German ships and killed 900 men, has reached here in a letter to relatives from a young lieutenant who was on one of the British torpedo boat destroyers. It reads:

"As to our fight off Heligoland, I think the home papers are magnifying what really was but an affair of outposts. We destroyers went in and lured the enemy out and had lots of excitement. The big fellows then came up and afforded some excellent target practice, and we were very glad to see them come; but you ought not to consider that we had a fight, because it was a massacre, not a fight."

Just a Case of Bombardment.

"There was superb generalship and overwhelming forces on the spot, but there was really nothing for them to do except to shoot the enemy, even as we shoot pheasants."

"Have you ever noticed a dog rush on a flock of sheep and scatter them? He goes for the nearest and bark and goes so much faster than the flock that it bunches up with its companions. The dog then barks at another and the sheep spread out fanwise, so in front of the dog there is a semi-circle of sheep and behind him none."

Tells of the Battle.

"That was much what we did at 7 a. m. on August 23. The sheep were the German torpedo craft, which fell back on the limits of our range and tried to lure us within the fire of the Heligoland forts. But a cruiser then came out and engaged our Arcturus and they had a real heart to heart talk, while we looked on, and a few of us tried to shoot at the enemy, too, though it was beyond our distance."

"We were getting nearer Heligoland all the time. There was a thick mist and I expected every minute to find the forts on the island bombarding us, so the Arcturus presently drew off, after landing at least one good shell on the enemy. The enemy gave every bit as good as he got there."

"We then reformed, but a strong destroyer belonging to the submarines got chased, and the Arcturus and Fearless went back to look after it. We presently heard a hot action again, so the captain in command of the flotilla turned us around and we went back to help. But they had driven the enemy off and on our arrival told us to 'form up' on the Arcturus."

Cruiser Fires on Ships.

"When we had partly formed and were very much bunched together, making a fine target, suddenly out of the mist arrived five or six shells from a point not 150 yards away. We gazed at whence they came and again five or six shots of fire pierced the fog, and we made out a four funneled German cruiser of the Breslau class."

"Those shots were his guns going off. We waited 15 seconds and the shots and noise of its guns arrived pretty well from 50 to 60 degrees. Its next salvo of shots went above us, and I ducked as they whirled overhead like a covey of fast partridges."

"You would suppose our captain had done this sort of thing all his life. He went full speed ahead at once, upon the first salvo, to string the bunch out and thus offer less of a target. Our commodore from the Arcturus made a signal to us to attack with torpedoes. So we swung round at right angles and charged full speed at the enemy like an Hussar attack."

Catches Debris From Shells.

"Our boat got away at the start magnificently and led the field, so all the enemy's firing was aimed at us. For the next ten minutes, when we got so close that debris from their shells fell on board. Then we altered our course and so threw them out in their reckoning of our speed and they had all their work to do over again."

"Humanly speaking, our captain by twisting and turning at psychological moments saved us. Actually, I feel that we were in God's keeping that day. After ten minutes we got near enough to fire our torpedo. Then we turned back to the Arcturus. Next our follower arrived just where we had been and fired his torpedo, and of course the enemy fired it instead of us. What a blessed relief."

"After the destroyers came the Fearless, and it stayed on the scene. Soon we found it was engaging a three funneled, the Mainz, so off we started again, now for the Mainz, the situation being that the crippled Arcturus was too laggard to do anything but be defended by us, its children."

Draw Fire of the Enemy.

"Scarcely, however, had we started, when, from out of the mist and across our front, in furious pursuit came the first cruiser squadron of the town class, the Birmingham, and each unit drew fire from the Mainz. As we looked and reduced speed, they opened fire, and the clear language of their guns was just like a cooing drink.

"To see a real big four funneled spouting flame, which flame denoted shells starting, and those shells not at us but for us, was the most cheerful thing possible. Once we were in safety, I hated it. We had just been having our own imaginations stimulated on the subject of shells striking."

"New, a few minutes later, to see another ship not three miles away, reduced to a piteous mass of unrecognizability, wreathed in black fumes from which flared out angry gusts of fire like Vesuvius in eruption, as an unending stream of hundred pound shells hit on board it, just pointed the moral and showed us what might have been."

Says Mainz Acted Gallantly.

"The Mainz was immensely gallant. The last I saw of it was absolutely wrecked. It was a fuming inferno. But it had one gun forward and one aft still spitting forth fury and defiance like a wild cat."

"Then we went west, while they went east. Just a bit later we heard the thunder of the enemy's guns for a space. Then fell silence, and we knew that was all."

"The most romantic, dramatic and piquant episode that modern war can offer is the chase of the Mainz, having sunk an enemy, lowered a whale to pick up its swimming survivors. Before the whale got back, an enemy's cruiser came up and chased the Defender, which thus had to abandon its small boat."

Im Pops a Submarine.

"Imagine their feelings, alone in an open boat without food, 25 miles from the nearest land, and that land an enemy's fortress, with nothing but fog and foes around them, and then suddenly a swirl alongside, and up, if you please, hops his Britannic majesty's submarine E-4, opens its conning tower, takes them all on board, shuts up main, dives and brings them home, 150 miles off."

"Is not that magnificent? No novel-ist would dare face the critics with an episode like that, except, perhaps, Jules Verne, and yet here it is, and all true."

England in Anger.

Calm, methodical, unemotional British conduct in the war, is getting into a passion which is carrying the nation to a point of deathless determination to defeat the Germans. The gloriously gallant fight that the small British fleet has been making to stem the German flood towards Paris has touched this country's imagination, aroused the national spirit, and called forth a rush to the colors.

Hitherto the country has not seemed to realize fully the portent of events across the channel and, as in the South African war, it's taken a bit of pounding of their own forces to bring the people to the point of patriotic anger which the situation demanded. Now they have reached that point.

Stemmed by Recruits.

The recruiting stations were overwhelmed, hundreds standing outside in waiting lines. It was reported that 50,000 had been accepted during the last three days. It's a glorious uprising of the whole nation, which has come to fully realize the necessity of not only clearing the seas of the enemy's ships, but helping the allies on land as well.

With this condition prevailing, Lord Kitchener will find it possible to send a steady flow of fresh men to the front.

The removal of the French government to Bordeaux received general approval here, and is considered the logical step under the circumstances.

Devotion of Peasants.

The following letter, signed by five women of title, is addressed to the press:

"We undersigned have all got near relations serving with the colors. Most of them have got near relations who have borne and are bearing a part in the gallant and sanguinary battle which the British army is fighting against heavy odds on the northeast frontier of France."

"We know not what their fate has been or yet may be; but if it is their fortune to die for their country, we shall not show our sorrow as for those who come to a less glorious end. A white band around the arm will mark both our loss and our grief; but it will do more; it will express the pride we feel in knowing that those who are nearest to us and dearest have given up their lives in their country's cause."

BENEDICT XV

New Pontiff Succeeds to St. Peter's Chair.

DELLA CHIESA IS ELECTED POPE

Assumes Title of Benedictus XV After Being Elevated to Head of Catholicism.

Appears Upon Balcony of St. Peter's and Bestows Papal Blessing.

Rome, Italy.—Less than four months after he had been elevated to the cardinalate, Cardinal Della Chiesa, archbishop of Bologna, Italy, was Thursday elected to the papacy, succeeding Pope Pius X, who died on Aug. 20. His coronation as Benedictus VX took place Sunday.

The election of Cardinal Della Chiesa, who was made a cardinal on May 23 last, at the last conclave, came as a surprise, as his name had not been mentioned among the list of prominent candidates. His candidature was put forward as a compromise between the contest between the supporters of Cardinal Maffi and Cardinal Ferrata, threatened to grow into a deadlock.

Cardinal Giacomini Della Chiesa, before being elevated to a position of the church, was a Monsignor. He was made archbishop of Bologna in December, 1907, succeeding the late Cardinal Domenico Svampa. He was born in Genoa and formerly was assistant to Papal Secretary of State Merry Del Val.

Previously the appointment of papal nuncio to the Madrid court had been offered to him, but he declined. The Vatican had gone so far as to make up the official papers naming him the papal nuncio, but he refused to accept them.

Benedictus XV is His Title.

Announcement was made at the Vatican that the new pope will take the name of Benedictus XV. It has been 156 years since an occupant of the chair of St. Peter has borne the name of Benedictus. Pope Benedictus XV is the 26th pope.

The election of Cardinal Della Chiesa took place upon the second ballot Thursday. Despite a falling rain, 40,000 had gathered in St. Peter's square, and the pope himself proclaimed the burning of ballots.

At 6:30 o'clock a thin column of smoke ascended through the drizzle, giving notice that another ballot had been taken in vain. This whetted the curiosity of the crowd, and the cheering about the Vatican increased in volume.

Later, when no more smoke arose from the Vatican chimney, excitement ran high among the populace and the word ran from mouth to mouth that a sovereign pontiff had been elected.

Felt Unworthy.

His election to the papacy was a complete surprise to Cardinal Della Chiesa.

The announcement that a large number of cardinals, both Italian and foreign, had agreed to vote for him, and that others were not opposed to his election, was a surprise to Cardinal Della Chiesa, although his name had often been mentioned during the last few weeks as the one who would ultimately triumph.

On the day the conclave opened he told a number of friends, who had called to wish him success, that he considered himself unworthy of the honor.

NEW PONTIFF WAS CROWNED SUNDAY

CARDINAL, AFTER FOUR MONTHS IN OFFICE, SUCCEEDS TO HEAD OF CATHOLICISM.

Rome.—(Cardinal) Della Chiesa, archbishop of Bologna, elected supreme pontiff, to succeed the late Pope Pius X, was crowned as Benedict XV, September 6.

Immediately after his election the pontiff said he could not imagine how his trial being was capable of enduring the enormous weight of responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, especially at a moment when almost all the countries of Europe were stained with blood, when the wounds inflicted upon humanity also were inflicted on the church and when countless victims of the first war were being cut down.

Bestows First Papal Blessing.

Immediately after his election Cardinal Della Chiesa appeared upon the balcony of St. Peter's and bestowed his first papal blessing, addressed to all the peoples of the Roman Catholic church.

Before this, however, workmen had to break down the doors of Conclave hall, in the Vatican, which had been sealed since Monday, when the conclave was formally opened.

All of the deliberations took place in secret, according to the laws and traditions of the church, but it was authentically reported that the assembled prelates came to the conclusion to support Cardinal Della Chiesa when it began to look as though the rivalry between the supporters of Cardinal Maffi and Cardinal Ferrata would draw the proceedings out to an unreasonable length. A two-thirds vote was necessary to elect.

Pope Benedictus XV is 60 years of age. He was born in 1854. He was ordained in 1878 and nine years later was made secretary to Cardinal Rampolla.

The ceremony in the conclave upon the election of a pope is this. After a ballot has shown an election the cardinal deacon and two other cardinals approach the successful candidate.

"Do you accept this election?" asks the cardinal deacon to the new pope. In the case of Cardinal Della Chiesa the answer was in the affirmative. Then all the canopies over the cardinals' seats were taken down with the exception of that over the chair of Cardinal Della Chiesa.

"What name will you take?" was the next question of the cardinal deacon.

Cardinal Della Chiesa had evidently felt within his own mind the possibility of his elevation to the head of the great church of Rome, for he had said to his friends:

"The new pope was then led to a high altar, where he robed himself in his pontifical vestments. Then he seated himself before the altar and received the homage of all the other cardinals, who kissed him upon the foot, the hand and the cheek."

CONDEMNED TANGO.

Cardinal Giacomo Della Chiesa, who was elected pope by the sacred college in succession to Pius X, who died August 20, was created a cardinal May 25, 1914. He is the archbishop of Bologna, Italy.

In 1907 he was appointed papal nuncio of Madrid in succession to Mar. Rinaldi, but this appointment was cancelled three days later. This occurred just before he was made archbishop of Bologna.

In January, 1913, while still at Madrid, the present pope issued a pastoral letter strongly condemning the tango.

CALLS UPON PEOPLE TO PRAY FOR PEACE

President Signs Proclamation Setting Oct. 4 as Supplication Day.

"Eternal God, our Heavenly Father, out of the depths of our souls we cry unto Thee that peace may come speedily to the peoples now engaged in unholy war, with its wide desolation in the wrecking of homes, the breaking of hearts, robbing the world of its young men, filling it with widows and orphans. Intervene, O we beseech Thee, with all Thy quickening and persuasive power, that wisdom, mercy and brotherly love may prevail, and we will praise and magnify Thy holy name, in the spirit of the Prince of Peace. Amen."

This prayer was written by the Rev. Henry N. Coudes, the blind chaplain of the House of Representatives, at the request of the peace committee. It will be offered in connection with the peace movement inaugurated by the newspaper, which culminates in President Wilson's proclamation, naming Oct. 4 as a day for peace services all over the United States.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson has just signed a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to pray for peace in Europe. He set Oct. 4 as the day.

"Whereas, great nations of the world have taken up arms against one another and war now draws millions of men into battle while the counsel of statesmen have not been able to save from the power of the sword, and

"Whereas, in this, as in all things, it is our privilege and duty to seek counsel and succor of Almighty God, humbling ourselves before Him, confessing our weakness and our lack of any wisdom equal to these things, and

"Whereas, it is the especial wish and longing of the people of the United States, in prayer and counsel and all friendliness, to serve the cause of peace.

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do designate Sunday, Oct. 4, a day of prayer and supplication, and do request all God-fearing persons to repair on that day to their places of worship, there to unite their petitions to Almighty God, that overruling the counsel of men, setting straight the things they cannot govern or alter, taking pity on the nations now in the throes of conflict, in His mercy and goodness showing a way where men can see none, He vouchsafe His children healing peace again and restore once more that concord among men and nations without which there can be neither happiness nor true friendship nor any real progress in the world, or thought in the world, praying also to this end that he forgive us our sins, our ignorance of His holy will, our willfulness and many errors and lead us in the paths of obedience to pieces of vision and to thoughts and counsels that purge and make wise."

PSYCHOLOGY OF THE KISS

Learned English Authority Has Divided Occupation Into Two Distinct Classes.

In a learned dissertation on kisses Sir Ray Lankester divides them into two classes. "One class takes the form of nose-rubbing—each kiss giver rubbing his nose against that of the other. Both kinds are really of the nature of sniffing, the active effort to smell or snuff, the kissing of one another by grown-up men was abandoned in this country in the eighteenth century, but we have most of us witnessed it abroad, and perhaps been unexpectedly subjected to the process, as I once was by an affectionate scientific colleague. Both kinds are really of the nature of sniffing, the active effort to smell or snuff, the kissing of one another by grown-up men was abandoned in this country in the eighteenth century, but we have most of us witnessed it abroad, and perhaps been unexpectedly subjected to the process, as I once was by an affectionate scientific colleague. The Russians are the most profuse and indiscriminate of European peoples in their kissing. I have seen a Russian about to go on a journey decorated by the kisses of his relations and household retainers, male and female."

1. That mosquitoes only bite once.
 2. That mosquitoes only live one day.
 3. That mosquito bites won't itch if you scratch.
 4. That if you hold your breath you can catch a mosquito and slay it.

My experience is that mosquitoes only bite once (in the same place); that they only live one day (at a time); that their bites won't itch if you don't scratch 'em (but you can't use swaddler and the edge of your jaw instead); and that if you hold your breath you can catch a mosquito and slay it (provided you have a shotgun in each hand and are a good shot).

ST. PETERSBURG NOW IS CALLED PETROGRAD

Petrograd.—The name St. Petersburg, to designate the Russian capital, is no more.

An imperial decree makes it known that in the future the capital is to be called Petrograd. This change had been in the air for some time. The German sounding name of the city had been a strange anomaly, and with the outbreak of the war there

SMITH BROS.
New Haven, O.

That's Him!

A booster is a man who believes in himself and believes in his neighbors. He believes that it is better to live eighty happy years than to live sixty lonely and selfish ones. He is a man who knows that the heart of the average man is good and that our failures are accounted for largely in our frailty and ignorance and in our stupid content.

Dizzy? Bilious? Constipated?

An order is issued to its members that the Holy Sacrament be administered.

A sermon appropriate to the occasion will be preached - "The Attractiveness of Jesus."

Rev. Griffiths will occupy the pulpit and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

The Cost of War.

"Think of a gun," one writes, "fifty feet long, weighing 250,000 pounds, consuming 612 pounds of smokeless powder at every charge, firing a projectile weighing almost a ton and four hundred pounds, that will pierce two feet of Krupp steel armor and having a range of nearly nine miles."

And then the waste of the nations' money. Each time a modern "Dreadnaught" flames out a broadside, nearly $20,000 is taken from the people's pockets.

The slaughtering cost cannot be estimated.

Stop That First Fall Cough.

Check your fall cough or cold at once—don't wait—it may lead to serious lung trouble, weaken your vitality and develop a chronic lung ailment. Get a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey today; it is pure and harmless—use it freely for that fall cough or cold. If babies or children are sick give it to them; it will relieve quickly and permanently. It soothes the irritated throat, lungs and air passages. Loosens phlegm, is antiseptic and fortifies the system against colds. It surely prevents cold germs from getting a hold. Guaranteed. Only 25c at your drug-gist.

Three Hurt, One Seriously When Boiler Lets Go.

When the crown-sheet of a traction engine blew out at the farm of Oscar Stout, west of Rome, Bloomington township, late Friday afternoon of last week, three men were seriously injured while threshing wheat.

Vaughn Crouse, the engineer, was blown 25 feet over a high board fence and struck in a corn field. He was burned and scalded about the face and arms, and is in a serious condition.

Tobias Harvey and Merle McCormick, helpers, were burned and scalded about the face and arms, but escaped with less injury than did Crouse.

Private Sale of Household Goods

Beginning Friday, Sept. 11, Miss Sara Sweet will offer at private sale her entire lot of household goods.

Norwalk is making big preparations for the entertainment of the Northeast Ohio Conference of the Methodist church, the week of September 22d. As is well known, this new Northeast Ohio conference is the merger of the old North Ohio and East Ohio conferences, which union took place in September 1912, at Cleveland. This Conference now has its headquarters at 550 Methodist church with an affiliated membership of 141,000. These churches are served by 400 ministers in active relation; there are on its rolls also 94 supernumeraries and retired ministers. A total enrollment of 434 clergymen in full connection.

A young man presented an engagement ring to a lovely girl he had won with the remark: "I am poor, but you manage as mother does and we'll get along nicely." The young lady investigated how mother managed. She was a wife, a mother, a housekeeper, a land manager, a laundress, a mender and patcher, a dairy maid, a cook, a nurse, a gardener and general slave for a family of five. She works from five in the morning until ten at night, and her hands are hard and wrinkled, and corded and cracked at the rear endless as you think the ring was returned. If the wife must drudge, let the husband share it. If she must scrub let him carry the water, if she must churn let him milk the cows. This girl did what every girl of sense and wisdom should do.

J. H. Seltzer, a well known resident of Shelby, was the victim of a bandit just on the outskirts of Detroit Saturday night. The Grand Trunk passenger train on which the Shelby man was riding, was passing through the suburbs toward Detroit. It was moving rather slowly as it was within six miles of the heart of the city. Mr. Seltzer happened to be standing at the front of the coach when a masked bandit entered the coach at the rear endless, pointing a revolver, demanded that every one remain in their seat. Seltzer started to move through the vestibule, when the robber told him to stop. Seltzer did not stop and the bullet that came from the bandit's gun passed through his hip. He was taken to a hospital and will recover. A young man who was on the train was shot through the stomach for refusing to comply, and was fatally injured. Seltzer was relieved of $30 and other passengers of sums aggregating $400. When the bandit completed his work he backed out by the rear endless, and left the train when it was within five miles of the heart of Detroit, and that too, without leaving any clue.

To Boom Your Town.

Talk about it. Write about it. Elect good men to office. Be friendly to everybody. Keep your sidewalks in good condition. If a poor man starts a project, help him. If a rich man starts a project, encourage him. Sell all you can and buy all you can at home. Don't talk the town down to strangers. If you are rich, invest in something; employ somebody. If a project to improve the town comes up, don't hoot—investigate. Don't let your personal antipathies get away with your business judgment. Follow the men who have the vim and energy to go ahead—and "saw wood." Be courteous to strangers who come among you so they will go away with a good impression. If you don't like your home town well enough to speak well of it, get out of it and make room for better men. Always cheer on the man who goes for improvements. Your portion of the cost will be nothing but that which is right. Do not kick at any proposed improvements because they are not at your door, or for fear that your tax will be raised fifty cents. Don't be afraid to stick your hand into your pocket for money to help a public enterprise. You owe something to the community for being so kind as to patronize you. Don't! Don't! Don't! For heaven's sake don't think your ideas are the only correct ones as to what improvements are needed, and how they should be obtained. Let your name be written down on every paper that has "Improvement" on it.

STRICT DRIVING LAWS FOR AUTOISTS.

Any Man Who Accepts Pay From Passengers Must Have License or Badge.

Daniel Hoover, examiner of chauffeurs, has received additional instructions from A. J. Shearer, state registrar of automobile licenses, in regard to the law concerning licenses for chauffeurs.

Heretofore owners of cars have not been compelled to take examination. The state holds that any owner of an automobile who accepts pay for carrying passengers, must take the examination and get a chauffeur's license. This applies not only to owners of garages or salesmen who make a practice of hiring out their machines, but it also applies to owners who only occasionally hire out their machines for the accommodation of people.

The state also holds that in cases where an automobile or auto truck is owned by a corporation or firm, no member of the firm can drive that truck without a chauffeur's license. Daniel Hoover interprets this to mean that this does not apply to the private cars owned individually by members of the firm.

They can drive their family automobiles without having any chauffeur's license, but if the president or the secretary of the firm would want to drive the delivery truck up town, he would need a chauffeur's badge.—Mansfield News.

Corn cutting is under way. Fall seeding has been started. See the Chickens at the Attica Fair. The school bell sounds familiar once again. Well, Labor Day introduced fall weather, all right. Gee, that was a close call for a frost Tuesday night. The nut crop will not be overly abundant in this section. Don't be hasty with the woollens—it will be hot enough later. Get your suit from Hatch & Hatch, and don't forget the "hat to match." A Grostine & Fuller piano for $35.00 at the Story & Clark Piano rooms. The B. & O. excursion trains will make their last runs of the season Sunday. Free State Agricultural Exhibit—100 boys in Potatoe contest at the Attica Fair next week. For Rent—After Sept. 15th, five unfurnished rooms for housekeeping. Paone R-128. Margie V. Strong. In order to produce the highest grade of Swiss cheese in this country, all that is necessary is to import the holes. Your baking will be quicker done and you will have more and better bread by using SNOW FLAKE FLOUR. W. B. Squires, agent of the Big Four road at Shelby, purchased a new Studebaker car from the Plymouth Garage last week. The following is a recent Plymouth real estate transfer: "Shelby Building & Loan Company to Addie Maurer, lot, Plymouth, $3,900." War is over all Europe and dirt is all over your clothes. Dry clean them? Sure we will. Hatch & Hatch. Mrs. Emma Backenstoe living in the Lofland house on North street, is quite seriously ill. She is being waited on by her sister from Indiana. SNOW FLAKE FLOUR has the right of way over all competitors because it makes more and better bread than any other flour on the market. The 4th Quarterly Sacramental Services will be held in the M. E. church on Sunday morning, Sept. 20th in Plymouth, and at McKendree church in the afternoon of the same date. Notice—On and after Oct. 1st, all barber shops in Plymouth will close at 8:00 o'clock, except Saturday evenings, when they remain open until 11:00. Also will charge 5c extra for neck shave. Services in the M. E. church will be regularly conducted on morning and evening from next Sunday, with the possible exception of Sept. 27th, the pastor being absent at Conference on that date. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran church will gather old newspapers and magazines in October. Any one having any will please notify Miss Dronberger, Phone No. B-111 and they will be called for. Henry Clay Hedgcock, for years one of Mansfield's and Richland county's most highly and widely known residents, died at his home 145 Park avenue west, early Sunday morning after many years of suffering and illness, aged 83 years. Mrs. Link has returned from the markets and will hold her fall opening on Friday and Saturday of this week, and the ladies of Plymouth and vicinity are cordially invited to this opening, where will be displayed all the latest in millinery. A Joy Place! A multitude of attractions, exciting races, $2000 in purses, Cleveland Vocal Orchestra, Lady Band, ten big shows on Midway, greater and better exhibits, all at the Attica Fair, Sept. 15 to 19. Load up your auto and go. Miss Lila Clark of this city accompanied Pitcher's Lady Band of Chicago Junction to Erie, Pa., Saturday where she assisted the band in furnishing the music for the Nickel Plate Veterans Association, which was in convention there on the above day. Howard Jones, 18-year-old Gallon boy, was fatally injured when he leaped from a moving train at Shelby by Labor Day afternoon and rolled beneath the wheels. He died three hours later in Emergency hospital at Gallon, where he was taken on a special train.

The fair season is now under full sway. Always some Fair! Attica Sept. 15 to 19th. For Sale—Sow and pigs. Enquire of A. R. Morse. Mornings and evenings begin to have a touch of fall. Attend Mrs. Link's millinery opening Friday and Saturday. Don't overlook the Star-Spangled Banner anniversary today (Friday.) A little fire the past few mornings and evenings felt pretty comfortable. 2 second hand coal stoves, good as new, for sale cheap. Ralston Hardware. Only 15 miles from Plymouth to the Attica Fair. Load up your auto and go. Let us heat your house this winter with a Monitor Furnace. Pipeless. Ralston Hardware. Plymouth was rather quiet Labor Day, a good many of our populace visiting and attending celebrations elsewhere. Only a few miles of ideal roads for automobiling to the best day outing of the season. Load up and go to the Attica Fair. Bellevue has decided not to have a street fair this year, the majority of the business men being of the opinion that "there is nothing in it." A 6-octave Story & Clark organ for $4.00 at the Story & Clark Piano rooms. Others from $5 to $35. Nothing down and only $1.00 a week. Found—On the public square Monday morning, a gent's straw hat, which the owner can have by calling at this office, identifying property and paying for this notice. R. H. Nimmons is improving the appearance of his Sandusky street property by building a new concrete retaining wall to the embankment running the full length front of his property. For Sale or Rent—Good house and barn with pasture lot, large garden, various kinds of fruit, known as the Solomon Silliman home, on Park Ave. Address, MRS. QUINCY ADAMS, Bellevue, Ohio. L. H. May, who for some time past has been employed in the Flory barber shop has finally succeeded in securing a house, and together with his family are now domiciled in the Fate apartment house on Railroad street. For Sale—Threshing outfit, consisting of engine, separator and cover hauler, all in excellent condition, the property of the late F. W. Chapman, deceased, of New Haven. For price and particulars call on Chas. Silliman. C. M. Flory and family were in Cleveland Labor Day where he attended a meeting of the State Chiropractors and visited among relatives. The national meeting of this society will be held in Cincinnati in August, 1915, thus giving to Ohio quite an honor. The Elvira Telegram says: "Some 1,200 Elvira households decided the fate of eastern time as the standard time in this city when they signed a petition opposing the present time. The city council voted Tuesday evening to revert to the old central standard, beginning Monday, Sept. 14."

A. C. Shaw, a well known freight conductor on the B. & O. died at Garrett, Ind., last week Wednesday after a long illness, death being due to a complication of diseases. Mr. Shaw was a very heavy man, weighing 340 pounds when in health, and was known to his friends as "Fatty Shaw." The body was interred at his former home in Grafton, W. Va. Mrs. Weber received a letter from her husband, Jacob Weber, who for the past three months has been in Europe, postmarked at Rotterdam, Aug. 26, stating that he expected to sail for home Sept. 9, and if his plans do not miscarry ought to land in the states the first of the coming week, stopping off at Buffalo for a few days before returning to his home in this place. A small barn on the Mrs. Geo. Gibson place about three miles south of town, together with a small amount of hay, was totally destroyed by fire about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. Several from this place went out in automobiles, but were too late to be of any assistance. The building was an old structure, therefore the loss will be small. The origin of the fire is unknown. Comrade David J. Palmer of Washington, Ia., member of the Eighth and Twenty-fifth Iowa regiments in the civil war, was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, at the closing session of the forty-eighth national encampment, which has been in session in Detroit last week. Washington, D. C. was unanimously chosen for the encampment place next year. Owing to the unsettled condition, due to the European war, the Toledo bonding house, to whom the Plymouth township pike bonds were awarded, have failed to take the bonds, consequently work on this improvement will be held up for a time and possibly until next season. The bonding company forfeited their $200 on deposit at the bank, to the township, which will defray the expense of negotiating a further sale of the bonds. Only twenty-two of the present fifty-five liquor license holders in Richland county have applied for renewals and no other applications have been received. One transfer of license has been requested and is under consideration by the county liquor licensing board. Curpen & From of Plymouth, applied for a transfer of license to Curpen & From, the present partner in the holding, wants to transfer it to his brother, Otto A. Curpen. E. J. From is the other partner. Velma Ruth Parrott, granddaughter of Mrs. E. L. Naylor, died at the home of her grandmother, on North street Saturday evening, Sept. 5. She deceased was born in Fairfield township July 30, 1903, being at the time of her death aged 11 years, 1 month and 23 days. Funeral services were held from the home Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. H. Balmer, pastor of the M. E. church, burial taking place in Greenlawn cemetery. The following young girls acted as pall-bearers: Gladys Zigler, Mary Becker, Florence Parsel, Lucile Nixon, Thelma Beelman, and Winifred Whittier. Story & Clark have leased the Partner room, recently occupied by the Link shoe repair shop, and have stocked it with a full and complete line of Story & Clark pianos and player pianos, and will add other musical novelties later. Since being in business here, starting in last fall, they have sold and placed one hundred and nineteen pianos and player pianos, which is evidence enough of the worth of the Story & Clark instruments. At present they only occupy a part of the room, but at the end of the month they will have control of all and will greatly increase their stock. Drop in and look over their line. For Sale—Millet Seed, at 90 cents per hundred pounds. T. A. CONNELLY.

INFANCY IS THE CRITICAL STAGE

ACCORDING TO REPORT FILED BY OHIO'S BUREAU OF VITAL STATISTICS.

DEATH RATE AMONG CHILDREN

More Mortalities of Persons Below One Year of Age Than for Five Years Period of Life Thereafter.

(By Benny Donovan.) Columbus, O.—Completion of the death statistics collected by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics for the calendar year 1913, shows that there are more mortalities of persons below 1 year of age than for any five years' period of life thereafter. There were 68,399 deaths in Ohio during 1913, of which 37,392 were males and 31,107 females. Of the deaths 65,554 were whites and 2,845 were black, and 12 of races other than Ethiopian and Caucasian.

The deaths of infants less than 1 year of age numbered 11,014, while those of 1 year were 2,382. The death rate is only half as great for the next year, total deaths for Ohio being 10,877. At 3 years the rate was further reduced. The number of deaths last year was 639, and for those from 4 to 5 was 491.

Classification that has been made by Dr. A. C. Holland, chief of the bureau, casts a light on the liability to death during the various four-year periods. Least liability seems to obtain at the period from 10 to 14 years, and greatest from 70 to 74.

Teach Poultry Raising.

Poultry raising will be taught again at Ohio State University during the winter course in agriculture, beginning January 6 and lasting eight weeks. This course is arranged to meet the needs of men and women who desire a practical knowledge of poultry raising, without the necessity of taking a long college course. A number of poultrymen will give lectures. Among these is Clarence A. Rogers, M. S. A., of Bergen, N. Y., formerly professor of poultry husbandry at Cornell University. Prof. Rogers will deliver lectures on "Poultry House Construction," "Commercial Incubation and Brooding," "Methods of Management at the Orchard Poultry Farm," and "Planning the Poultry Plant on the Farm."

Plan a Large Winter Fair.

Serving as a clearing house for numerous agricultural and other activities, it was made known here that an increased appropriation for the Ohio exhibit at the Panama Exposition will be asked for, that next state exhibits of produce, formerly held at various places will be combined into a large winter fair to be held in Columbus; that a hot contest is on in the selection of master of the state grange for next year and that the expected enrollment of the college of agriculture of Ohio State University is 1,460, greatly in excess of last year.

Complaint is Filed.

O. P. Gohlman, former member of the state railroad commission, acting as attorney for the American Foundry and Machine Co., of Cincinnati, filed with the state public utilities commission a protest against an action on the part of the P. C. C. & St. L. railroad, which is termed by Mr. Gohlman a clear violation of the Valentine state anti-trust law. The petition filed by Mr. Gohlman charges that a violation of the railroad committee of the law when it ordered the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway to cancel the commodity rate of $1 from Hamilton to Linwood on lots of iron castings.

Number of Cases Reduced.

Due to the new statutory requirement that only constitutional cases and those affecting public interests can be appealed to the supreme court, the number of cases pending in that court of appeals of Franklin county also is greatly reduced. Formerly it is explained, many cases were taken to the court of appeals only with a view to taking them to the supreme court, a large number of parties who lose out in the common pleas court do not even appeal.

Sandies Again in Wrangle.

The quarrel between A. H. Sandies, president of the state agricultural commission, and H. H. Farris, chief health officer of Columbus, over sanitary and health inspection on the State Fair grounds broke out afresh. Mr. Sandies sent a letter to Gov. Cox complaining that city health officers were wasting a "campaign of murder" by making too stringent regulations for concession holders.

Fight on Large Scale.

There are indications that a bitter legal fight will begin soon to break down the indictments against officials and employees of the Capital City Dairy Co., reported by a special federal grand jury, on charges of defrauding and conspiring to defraud the government out of $1,000,000 taxes on artificially colored oleomargarine manufactured and sold. Counsel employed by the indicted men declare they will be prepared to combat the charges. The case comes to trial at the December term of the federal court.

Jobs Open, Pay Big.

Civil service examinations for positions, paying salaries as high as $3,000 a year, are announced by the state civil service commission for September and October. The State Board of Health wants an assistant bacteriologist in the hygienic laboratory at $2,600 a year, a supervising nurse at $1,500 a year. The examinations will be held at the office of the state commission, September 22. Assistant physicians in all the state institutions are wanted at $900 salary. Examination is to be held September 25. Stationary clerks are wanted at $1,500 to $1,200 salary, examination October 3. The State Board of Administration wants a field officer for the penitentiary at $1,500 salary, examination, October 12, and the industrial commission wants an examiner of steam engineers, salary $1,500, examination October 8. Besides these, many other positions at various salaries are to be filled by eligibles qualifying in these examinations.

Thousands Are Now Dead.

The state tax commission has certified to the secretary of state a list of 35,000 corporations whose charters the taxing board asks to have canceled. The action is taken under statutes passed several years ago, when the taxation machinery was reformed. The corporations are "dead ones," which, in official parlance, means that they have not paid their taxes to the treasurer of state, and all efforts to collect have failed. Special counsel from the attorney general's office has gone over the companies and endeavored without avail to collect. The cancellation of the charters will clear up the books of corporations that have encumbered them for many years. Many of these corporations have been out of business for a score of years, but their manly records continually being carried forward, a notice will be mailed to the address of each one of the final proceedings by which they become extinct.

Hunting Season Opens.

Open season for killing wild ducks, wild geese, brant or other water fowl, will close on September 1 and close December 15. With the advent of the hunting season, the Ohio fish and game commission is sending out numerous copies of the fish and game laws of the state. The protection on Carolina doves ended and will not be placed in force again until October 20. The open season for squirrels is effective after September 15 and does not close until October 20. Rabbit hunters can start out any time after November 15 and the state law will not interfere until December 4, when the season closes. This relates only to the hunting season. Other methods are prohibited. The open season on foxes is from October 2 to January 2; raccoon, November 1 to March 1; muskrat, January 1 to April 1, and skunk, November 15 to February 1.

Uniform Accounting.

Uniform accounting for all electric light and power companies in Ohio, including municipal plants, is to be established by the Public Utilities Commission on January 1 next. The forms and the entire system, developed by Carl H. Nau, of Cleveland, were exhibited to the commission. Copies are to be printed at once and distributed to the electric light and power companies of the state for study and suggestions. About November 1 the commission will have a hearing, at which time the interested companies may make suggestions and criticisms. After which the forms will be formally approved and distributed for use. Trac-tion lines will use the standard system of accounting approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Ohio Film Censor.

There is little reason why film exchange men should complain about delay in passing on films, according to Mrs. Maud Murray Miller, member of the board of moving picture censors, who commented on reports from Cincinnati that the movie men are highly displeased. In telling of the situation she said: "We have been aware that we would hear complaints at the time that the penal provisions of the censor act became effective. We gave the exchange men five months in which to have censored the films on hand and set September 1 as the date on which we would attempt to enforce the penal provisions. We considered this liberal allowance of time to arrange everything."

Convention Closed.

One hundred and fifty third and fourth-class postmasters of the state attended the annual convention of the State League of Postmasters here, that is concluding sessions under the leadership of the newly elected and the 1915 speakers were: President B. F. Martin, of Sidney; Secretary W. C. Geyer, of Norwalk; J. S. McKinley, of Orient, the president of the national league of third and fourth postmasters; E. C. Jordan, of Adelphi; W. A. Merritt, of Harveysburg, and O. W. Curtis, of Swanton.

No Payment of Claims.

Not until Hamilton and Franklin counties pay into the state compensation fund the premium under the workmen's compulsory act of 1912 will the State Industrial Commission pay awards due to injured public workmen or to dependents of those killed. While the commission members state that they regret the situation, the explanation was made that until the premium is paid, there will be no basis for compensation of public employees. It would be unfair to take money from other counties.

ARGUMENTS ARE FILED WITH STATE

PAMPHLETS CONTAINING STATEMENTS ON ELECTION ISSUES WILL BE SENT OUT.

FOR AND AGAINST CHANGES

One Million Two Hundred Thousand Voters Will Receive Statements as Provided by Law.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Columbus, O.—Factions with changes which they propose the people of Ohio shall adopt, as well as those who would bar any changes in the organic law of the state, have filed statements with the secretary of state. These statements will be printed in pamphlet form and sent to the 1,200,000 voters of Ohio, as provided by the initiative and referendum law and constitutional provisions, an appropriation being especially made for the educational work which the state is called upon to perform under the direct legislation plan.

There is an argument for woman's suffrage and one against extension of the ballot to women. There are arguments for and against the prohibition amendment to the constitution and for and against the home rule amendment to the constitution.

There was filed also an argument in favor of the proposed change in taxation, but so far the opponents of 1 per cent tax with the classification feature added have failed to file any statement of their position. This is due to the failure of the taxation change opponents thus far to effect a state organization.

In large part the formal statements on the temperance and suffrage issues repeat the familiar arguments that speakers have used on the hustings. Dry leaders cling tenaciously to their claim that the home rule amendment to repeal the county option law and make state-wide prohibition by statute impossible will destroy other local option and regulatory laws. The liberals denounce this argument and in turn contend the amendment only affects the Rose county option law.

CAN'T AGREE ON THE SCALE.

Eastern Ohio Operators and Miners Break Up Conference.

St. Clairsville, O.—The joint sub-scale committee of the operators and miners of the Eastern Ohio field adjourned after failing to reach an agreement. The committee reported disagreement at a meeting of the scale committee of the miners and operators. The strike in this district has been on over five months. Seventeen thousand men are affected.

TOBACCO MARKET BOOSTERS.

Cincinnati, O.—A meeting of the leaf tobacco trade was held at the Farmers' and Shippers' warehouse, Vine and Water streets, immediately following the regular auction sales of burley tobacco. There was a large attendance of warehouse men, shippers and buyers of burley tobacco and the meeting was presided over by President W. D. Spaulding, of the Leaf Tobacco Exchange of Cincinnati, who stated that the purpose of the gathering was to discuss ways and means of increasing the volume of business in the local market.

THE FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Chautauqua.—The 40th anniversary of the Chautauqua was celebrated in connection with the International Lyceum association convention, which opened here and continued until September 11. Among the notable women present were Maud Ballington Booth, Anna A. Gordon, Mrs. William Cummings Story, Mrs. Charlotte Gilman and Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker.

AN ABANDONED PLANT BURNS.

Bridgeport, O.—The plant of the Crystal Glass Co., which was abandoned several years ago, was destroyed by fire which is believed to have been started accidentally by tramps. It was purchased recently by the Bridgeport Auto Co., incorporated for the purpose of manufacturing airships, autos and motorbuses.

EXPRESS AGENT DISAPPEARS.

Marion, O.—G. B. Adams, express agent for the National Express Co., has disappeared, and his whereabouts are the cause of grave concern by his family, as well as to officials of the company for which he worked, and a determined effort is being made to locate him.

EAGLES PLAN A NEW HOME.

Dayton, O.—The local series of the Fraternal Order of Eagles approved plans for a new home, to be located on Main street, this city. The cost is estimated at $75,000.

BOY SHOOT HIS PLAYMATE.

Cambridge, O.—Hayes Shaffer, aged 12, son of W. S. Shaffer, was shot in the jaw and neck with a revolver by Harold Bean, aged 11, and is at the point of death.

DELEGATES ARE CHOSEN

Piqua Will Entertain the Miami Ohio Conference Next Year.

Dayton, O.—Piqua will entertain the Miami Ohio conference in 1915. Rev. J. W. Young, pastor of the Piqua church, extended the invitation, which was accepted without dissenting voice by the conference in session at the First Christian church.

An old folks' meeting was held, which was well attended. Among the committee reports presented were those of the rural life committee, asking for the improvement of country church property and a country social survey, and of the Sunday-school committee, announcing the sum of $100 for the Melrose mission, Springfield. The following delegates to the Ohio State Christian association at West Milton, in November, were named: W. E. Young, D. Pleasant, G. McDaniel, Eric Kerr, O. P. Furness, Mrs. Ella Cart, Prof. Perry, Raymond Kersy, C. F. Hanger and F. L. Walsh.

A. C. Chase, of Dayton, was named conference trustee. A. C. Brander, of Greenville, was named as member of the official board. Adjournment was taken with the report of the education and relief and the resolutions committees.

HOCKING VALLEY APPLIES

For a Rearing on the Wellston Belt Line Case.

Toledo, O.—The Hocking Valley railroad has filed with the state public utilities commission an application for a rehearing in the "Wellston Belt" case. The commission ordered the restoration of electric trolley service over the line owned by the Hocking Valley and running from Jackson to Hamden, Vinton county. The electric service has been discontinued by the railroad. The Hocking Valley, through its attorneys, says that the action of the commission on its findings are "contrary to law," that the "commission is without authority, power or jurisdiction to make or enforce the findings."

JURY LAW IS TO BE TESTED.

By the Maumee Valley Railway—Damage Award Reinstated.

Columbus, O.—A suit which will be the first to test the constitutionality of the "three-fourths" jury law, according to state officials, was filed in the supreme court. It is in the form of a petition in error filed by the Maumee Valley railway of Toledo against Fred Schuster, who was thrown from a street car in Lucas county August 9, 1913. Schuster was awarded $1,570 damages in the common pleas court of Lucas county. The company then carried the case to the court of appeals, which upheld the lower courts. The petition questions the power of the legislature to pass a law which says that juries in civil cases shall reach a verdict on a three-fourths vote.

OPERATOR'S TONGUE PARALYZED.

Massillon, O.—Clayton Fair, Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad operator at the Harmon station, was robbed of the power of speech during a heavy electrical storm. His tongue appears paralyzed. Physicians say he will recover but it may be permanent. He was unconscious for half an hour after the bolt, which entered over the telegraph wire and passed through his body into the ground.

CONTRACTORS' EFFECTS SOLD.

Marion, O.—Steam shovels, dinky locomotives, bunk and dump cars, etc., appraised at close to $100,000, were sold at public outcry near Espyrville, this county, as personal property of the Eyre-Shoemaker Co., of Philadelphia, which double-tracked the Erie railroad between Marion and Chicago, and which dissolved several months ago.

NILES VOTES BOND ISSUE.

$210,000 McKinley Memorial in City is Assured.

Niles, O.—A bond issue for $106,000 McKinley memorial carried 5 to 1 here. Work will commence before the first of the year on the $210,000 structure. The principal square in the city will be the site. More donations are expected for the project. Niles will be donated $120,000 in return for the $109,000 bond issue.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND IN LINE.

Cincinnati, O.—The weather was ideal for the Labor Day parade in this county. America, days to be found representatives of all nations of Europe, united in the great army of industry. More than 15,000 men and women were in line and thousands of spectators lined the sidewalks and cheered the marching hosts of labor.

AMERICA HAS OPPORTUNITY.

Dayton, O.—The European war presents the greatest opportunity ever given to America for the development of its trade, declared John R. Kirby, Jr., former president of the National Manufacturers' association, on his arrival home from San Francisco.

BOY LOSES BOTH OF HIS LEGS.

Shelby, O.—Walter Jones, 16 years old, of Gallon, lost both legs below the knees when he fell off a Big Four train here.

The Onlooker HENRY HOWLAND LOTHARIOS ONCE I sometimes marvel, seeing men, And studying their various ways; There's Jenks, for instance, now and then He does it—'e thing deserving praise, But drink has tinged and swelled his nose, His eyes are badly bleared and dim; Who hunching, shuffling steps he goes, And once some madly, I suppose, Was happily in love with him. Old Waddums, with his heavy jaw, Has but one purpose and one thought, Which is how he may dodge the law, To swell his gains, and not be caught; Within his eyes no pity gleams, He crowds his brothers to the wall; He profits through dishonest schemes, Yet love once brought him happy dreams, And some girl was his all in all.

Reh Spurgeon, with his hairless pate— Behold him sitting with his knife; Some girl no doubt once mourned her fate, Because she could not be his wife; And there is Higgins, overfed, 'Polish, foul-mouthed, filthy fat; His chin has multiplied and spread, And some sweet girl, fair and well-bred, May once have been in love with THAT.

Serving the People. "So you wish to be elected senator from this state?" "Yes, sir, I desire to be of service to the people." "I understand that you have expressed a willingness to spend $50,000 to bring about your election. Do you think that's a proper way to be of service to the people?" "Why not? Can you think of any way in which the money might be given a wider circulation?"

Too Much. "How do you like our new minister, Mrs. Metcalf?" "Well, he seems to be an awfully good man." "Yes, I really believe he tries to practice what he preaches." "And he is quite eloquent at times." "I think he has preached some of the best sermons I have ever heard." "But I just can't imagine an angel with such whickers as his."

Why He Quit Editing. "You say you were once the editor of a newspaper?" "Yes, lady, and it was a very bright little sheet, if I do say it." "How does it happen then that you are forced to ask at back doors for meals?" "It is merely a case of the irony of fate. I had a printer who was near-sighted, and one afternoon when he made up the paper he got a wedding notice and a murder trial mixed, so that after describing the costume of the bride it said the condemned man almost collapsed when sentence was pronounced."

Ambition. "When a man becomes wealthy he wants to go to the United States senate." "Yes, but why do you mention it?" "I was just thinking of the difference. The rich man's wife's ambition lies in another direction. She wants to purchase a title for her daughter." "Not always. I know a rich man's wife who would be perfectly satisfied to see her husband come back to wrinkles."

Something Else the Matter. "Doctor," said the sick man, "I'm afraid my nerves are in bad condition." "Oh, no," replied the physician, "that's not what is the matter with you. The fact that you have sent for me after ignoring the statements I've been sending you regularly during the past year and a half indicates that your nerve's all right."

GOODYEAR TIRES AT ANTE-BELLUM PRICES

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announces (No. was price on Goodyear Tires." Mr. F. A. Eberling, president of the company, thus explains their unique position.

"We advanced Goodyear prices, as others did theirs, when the rubber panic came. Almost in a day crude rubber rose in New York from 15 cents per pound to much over a dollar.

"The New York supply was too small to consider. We called our London people to buy up the pick of the rubber there. By acting quickly and paying cash they obtained 1,500,000 pounds of the finest rubber. "That big supply of rubber is now nearly all on the way to the Goodyear factory in Akron. It constitutes the best of the London supply.

"We are using the same grade of rubber and the same amount of it as we always have used in these tires. "We are running our factory with three shifts of men, twenty-four hours a day. So long as we remain in this fortunate position on rubber, we shall supply the users at before-war prices to the limit of our capacity."

Important to Mothers

Examining carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it Bears the Signature of J. C. FLETCHER In Use For Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

An Optimist. Six-Police Commissioner Rhinelanders Waldo, who established a policemen's public library that has been a great success, praised, at luncheon in New York, New York's police system.

"It has especially been good since Mayor Gaynor's day," Mr. Waldo said, and then, in response to an objection: "Oh, that's nothing. Be an optimist. Don't mind trifles. Look, like the bespeckled husband, on the bright side of things."

"By gosh," a bespeckled husband said, "I hear some chaps kicking because I, in response to an objection: "Oh, that's nothing. Be an optimist. Don't mind trifles. Look, like the bespeckled husband, on the bright side of things."

"No, on the contrary, I always feel thankful when she gets to it."

Rare Minerals in Tasmania. The number of rare minerals found to exist in Tasmania is constantly being added to, and the latest addition is molybdenite, which is used in the manufacture of "molybdenum steel," in which it gives a special hardness and toughness that makes it suitable for use in propeller shafts, guns and boilers. It is also used, to lesser extent, in the making of pottery glass and other things. The price of molybdenite is now $2,500 a ton, or nearly four times the present price of tin.

No Alternative. The young man had just been accepted. In his rapture he exclaimed: "But do you think, my love, I am good enough for you?" His strong-minded fiancée looked sternly at him for a moment, and replied: "Good enough for me? You've got to be!"—Judge.

The Follow-Up Method. "Why do you get the pretty girls jobs first? Is that fair?" "Best for all concerned," declared the head of the school of stenography. "The pretty girl soon marries her employer, and then there's a permanent job for one of the plainer young ladies."

Just the Material. "They were married kneeling on a cushion stuffed with their love letters." "I should think such a cushion would be full of angles." "No, those letters were very, very soft."—Kansas City Journal.

We are never too old to learn the things that are of use to us.

FOOD FACTS

What An M. D. Learned. A prominent Georgia physician went through a food experience which he makes public.

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful aid in the recovery of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients gain very rapidly, just as I did in strength and weight."

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains of this state. There I ate Grape-Nuts food, and, in fact, I was not quite as well as when I left home. "My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, making up hard work again. Studying that time I have fit and well, and strong as I ever did in my life.

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "Try 15 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, work wonders." There's a Reason. Look it up in the famous little book, "The Road to Well-being," which may be had free. Write to Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "We need the above letter. A new one is being printed. Write to Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich."

The Land of Broken Promises

A Stirring Story of the Mexican Revolution

SYNOPSIS.

Bud Hooker and Phil De Lancy are forced, owing to a revolution in Mexico, to give up their mining claims and return to the United States. Bud, a wealthy miner, and Phil, a poor man, are both forced to return to Mexico to acquire title to a very rich mine which Kruger had shown up when he found a proposition to return to the mine. Kruger, a Mexican, subsequently owned a large sum in an unsuccessful attempt to release the vein and then allowed the land to revert for taxes. Hooked and De Lancy arrive at Fortuna near where the mine occurs at the Eagle Tail. They are engaged by the services of Cruz Mendez, who is a very friendly and honest man. He gives them the title for the mine, and get a permit to do preliminary work. Aragon protests and accuses them of jumping his claims. Bud discovers that matrimonial entanglements prevent Mendez from perfecting a valid title. Phil, who has been paying attention to Aragon's daughter, Gracia, decides to turn Mexico over to the title in his own name. Bud objects to Phil's attention to Gracia. He has had an attempt to drive them off the claim. Rebels are reported in the vicinity.

"It is the desire of the Yaquis," he had said, when rebuked for serving under the hated flag of Mexico, "to kill Mexicans. And," he added grimly, "the federals at this time seem best able to give us guns for that purpose."

But it had been a year now since Bule had passed his word and struck them they had battled valiantly their land had not been given back to them. The wild Yaquis, the irreconcilables who never came down from the hills, had gone on the warpath again, but Bule and his men still served.

Only in two things did they disobey their officers—they would not attack their arms, and they would not retreat while there were still more Mexicans to be killed. Otherwise they were very good soldiers.

But now, after the long campaign in Chihuahua and a winter of illness at Agua Negra, they were marching south toward their native land and, in spite of the stern glances of their leaders, they burst forth in wild Yaqui songs which, if their words had been known, might easily have caused their Mexican officers some slight uneasiness.

It was, in fact, only a question of days, months, or years until the entire Yaqui contingent would desert, taking their arms and ammunition with them.

"Gee, what a bunch of men!" exclaimed Bud, as he stood off and admired their stark forms.

"There's some good fighters for you," he observed to Phil; and a giant Yaqui, standing near, returned his praise with a smile.

"Well, if they did it was for being caught in bad company," said Hooker. "I'd take a chance with 'em any time—I'd go you into their country with a Mexican escort they'll kill you on general principles. Say," he cried impulsively, "I'm going over to talk with Amigo!"

With a broad grin on his honest face he advanced toward the giant Yaqui and shook hands ceremoniously.

"Where you go?" he inquired in Spanish, at the same time rolling a cigarette and asking by a sign for a match.

"Moctezuma," answered the Indian gravely. Then, as Bud offered him the makings, he, too, rolled a cigarette and they smoked for a minute in silence.

"You live here?" inquired the Yaqui at last.

"Come here," corrected Bud. "I have mine—two miles—over there."

He pointed with the flat of his hand, Indian fashion, and Amigo nodded understandingly.

He was a fine figure of a man, standing six feet or better in his well-cut sandals and handling his heavy stick as a child would swing a stick.

Across his broad chest he wore a full cartridge belt, and around his waist he had two more, filled to the last hole with cartridges and loaded clips. At his feet lay his blanket, bound into a coil and tied with a girth.

His cap completed his outfit, which, so far as impediments were concerned, was simplicity itself.

But instead of the cheap linen uniform of the federals he was dressed in good American clothes—a striped shirt, overalls, and a sombrero banded with a bright ribbon—of the same color as the best, hunted look of those poor conscripts he had the steady gaze of a free man.

leaving a great silence where all had their bugle-calls and excitement, and then the great fugitive came in from down below.

(He was an old Mexican, with trembling beard and staring eyes, and he had a tale of outrage that made their blood run cold. The red-faggers had come to his house at night; they had killed his wife and son, left him upon the ground for dead, and carried off his daughter, a prisoner.)

But later, when the comisario questioned him sharply, it developed that he lived not far away, had no daughter to lose, and was, in fact, only a crazed old man who had lost his mind which he feared would happen.

Notwithstanding the denouement, the story stirred the Mexican population to the depths, and when Bud and Phil tried to hire men to push the work on the mine, they realized that their troubles had begun. Not only that it is impossible to engage laborers at any price, but on the following day Cruz Mendez, with his wife and children and all his earthly possessions on his burros, came hurrying in from the camp and told them he could serve them no more.

"Is my woman?" he explained; "my Maria! Ah, if those revolutionists should see Maria they would steal her before my eyes!"

So he was given his pay, and the fifty dollars he had earned and, after the customary "Muchas gracias," and with the faithful Gracia, he went hurrying off to the states.

And now in crowded vehicles, with armed men riding in front and behind, the refugees from Moctezuma and the hot country began to pour into town, adding by their very haste to the panic of all who saw them.

They were the rich property owners who, having been subjected to forced contribution before, were now fleeing at the first rumor of danger, bringing their families with them to escape any being held for ransom.

In half a day the big hotel presided over by Don Juan de Dios Brachamonte was swarming with staring-eyed country mothers and sternly subdued families of children; and finally, to add eclat to the occasion and compensate for the general confusion, Don Cipriano Aragon y Tres Palacios came driving up to the door with his wife and the smiling Gracia.

If she had been in any fear of capture by bold marauders, Gracia Aragon did not show it now, as she sprang lightly from the carriage and waited upon her lady mother. Perhaps, after a year or more of rumors and alarms, she had come to look upon impending revolutionary conflicts as convenient excuses for a trip to town, a long stop at the hotel, and even a dash to gay Gadsden in case the rebels pressed close.

However that may be, while Don Juan exerted himself to procure them a good room she endured the gaze of below walked decorously with their mothers; and the little band of Fortuna Americans, to whom life for some months had been a trifle burdensome, awoke suddenly to the beauty of the evening.

And among the rest of the maidens, but far more ravishing and high-bred, walked Gracia Aragon. And in particular stole many secret glances from beneath the broad brim of his hat, hoping that by some luck the insurgents would come upon the town, and he could defend her—he alone. For he felt that he could do it against any hundred Mexicans that ever breathed.

CHAPTER XII.

In its inception the Fortuna hotel had not been intended for the use of Mexicans—in fact, its rates were practically prohibitive for anyone not being paid in gold—but, since most of the Americans had left, and seven dollars a day was no deterrent to the rich foreign hand owners, it became of a sudden international, with a fine mixture of pure-blood Spaniards and race-proved American adventurers.

Not a very pleasing combination for the parents of romantic damsees destined for some rearranged marriage of state, but very exciting for the damsels and most provocative to the Americans.

After the promenade in the plaza the mothers by common consent preempted the upstairs reception-room, gathering their precious charges in close, while the Americans, after their custom, foregathered in the lobby, conversant to the beat of the Hot Moments about the revolution, and predictions of events to come served to pass the early evening, with many scornful glances at the Mexican daughters who went so insolently up the stairs. And then, as the refugees returned to their apartments, the spirit of adventure rose uppermost. Phil De Lancy made a dash into the darkness and came back with a Mexican string band.

"A serenade, boys!" he announced, as the musicians fled sheepishly into the hotel. Our guests, the fair senators, you know, came down here to those young Mexican dudes look like two goats before the war is over. Who's game now for a song beneath the windows? You know the old stand-by—"La Paloma" and "Teresta Mia"—and you want to listen to me sing "Me Gustan Todavía" and "The Fairies."

"Come on fellows, out in the plaza, and then listen to the old folks cues!"

They adjourned then, after a drink for courage, to the moonlight and the plaza; and there, beneath the shutters, the guitars and violins took up "La Paloma," while Phil and a few brave spirits sang.

A silence followed their first attempt, as well as their second and third, and the comisario of police, a mild creature owned and paid by the federals, came forth and made a few ineffectual protests.

But inside the company's concession, where by common consent the militant rurales kept their hands off, the Americans knew they were safe. They soon jollied the comisario into taking in the act, and the Hot Moments. Then De Lancy took up the burden, and the string band, hired by the hour, strummed on as if for eternity.

One by one the windows opened; fretful fathers stepped out on the balcony and, bound by the custom and the policy of the country, thanked them and bade them good night. But the two windows behind which the Senor Aragon and his family resided did not open, and though the dwindling band stood directly under their balcony, and all knew that his daughter was the fairest of the fair, Don Cipriano did not wish them good night.

Perhaps he recognized the leading tenor—and the big voice of Bud Hooker, trying to still the riot—but, however it was, he would not speak to them, and De Lancy would not quit.

"You 'em on American music!" he cried, as everyone but Bud went away in disgust, "the latest rag from Broadway, New York. Here, gimme that guitar, hombre, and listen to this now!"

He picked out a clever bit of syncopation and pitched his voice to a heady growl.

"Down in the garden where the red roses grow, Oh, my, I long to go, Pick me like a dower, cuddle me an hour, Let me learn the Red Rose Rag!"

There was some swing to that, and it seemed to make an impression, for just as he was well started on the chorus the slat in the roof of the shutters parted and a patch of white shone through the spaces. It was the ladies, then, who were getting interested! Phil walked on:

"Sweet honey-bee, be sweet to me! Come to my garden, be the key! And then, positively, you could see that patch of white heat time. He took heart of grace at that and sang on to the end, and at a suggestion of clapping in dumb-show he gave an encore and ragged it over again.

"Everybody's done it, don't it, don't it?" he began, as the shadow fell.

"Honey, I declare, it's a bear, it's a bear, it's a bear!" he continued temptingly, and was well on his way to further extravagances when the figure in white swiftly vanished and a slat was closed.

"Several minutes later the form of Don Juan appeared at the lower door, and in an uncertain tone he requested them to cease.

"The Senor Aragon informs me," he said, "that your music annoys him, and that he wishes to see you on the balcony and say his good night, as he has done several times."

"The gentleman refuses to do that!" responded Don Juan briefly, and then: "Then let him go to bed!" replied De Lancy, strumming a few syncopated chords; "I'm singing to his daughter."

At that Don Juan came down off the porch in his slippers and they engaged in a protracted argument.

"What don't I get a word?" demanded Phil grievously, "not a pleasant look from anybody? 'Sweetest honey-bee, be sweet to me!' he pleaded, turning pathetically to the lady's balcony; and then, with a sudden flourish, a white handkerchief appeared through the crack of the shutters and Gracia waved him good night.

"Enough, Don Juan!" he cried, laying down the guitar with a thump; "this ends our evening's entertainment!"

the general stagnation of business, he soon had to quit Mexico at his own request.

There, as Phil had dropped out of sight, he ordered supplies at the store and engaged Cruz Mendez—who had spent his fortune in three days—to pack the goods out on his mules.

They were ready to start the next morning if De Lancy could be found to order a pair of mules and no Phil appeared. Bud went on a long hunt which finally discovered him in the balcony of their window, making signs in the language of the "bear," as a man who flirts with a woman in Mexico is called.

The Psychology of It. A. Stuyvesant Ogden, a San Francisco millionaire, said in Washington the other day: "The present business depression is a psychological thing. It is a form of the nightmare fears of mankind. In a word, it reminds me of a music hall girl." "The stage manager of a music hall rushed to the proprietor the other night and said: 'Turn 14 refuses to go on with her trained mice. She says she has been completely unnerved ever since that young student was eaten in Chicago.'"

PIMPLES ON HEAD ITCHED

Tell City, Ind.—"My baby's head was covered with sores and the top was a solid scab. It began with pimples and he would scratch his head until it would bleed and then scab over and keep spreading. He would scratch his head and fret, it itched and itched so and I was afraid he would never have any hair on top of his head again." "A friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I asked our family doctor and he said, 'Yes, go right ahead and use them.' We got one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and they healed him from the first. In a few days his head did not seem to itch or bother him in the least and before we had used one set he was healed and he has a fine growth of hair." (Signed) Mrs. Rosa M. Hanks, Jan. 26, 1914.

Waste in coal has practically been eliminated. Even the waste from the culm bank washers is now being utilized, for it is flushed into the mines and partly fills old workings, where it cements together and furnishes support to the roof when the coal previously left for pillars is removed.

An interesting feature of the production of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania is the comparatively recent utilization of the smaller sizes of coal. Since the first washery was constructed in 1860 the total recovery of useful fuel shipped from the wash, heaps, or culm banks, has amounted to 49,529,279 long tons.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Bill Steele, Brooklyn's New Pitcher.

Bill Steele, former pitcher for the St. Louis Nationals, is now wearing a Brooklyn uniform, and he is expected to help keep the Superbas out of the cellar and possibly to lift them from seventh place to a higher standing. Steele, who is a right hander, has been with the St. Louis Cardinals for two or three seasons and has at times shown flashes of form, but his work has not been consistent. Recently he has been used principally as a relief pitcher. For the Cardinals during the present season he played in seventeen games, has been credited with winning two and is charged with the loss of two. During the seventeen games he tossed eight passes and struck out thirteen. Steele was bought outright by Owner Ebbets.

Doping the Pitchers.
This is the tale that is being told, not only in the secret councils of the Cleveland team, but even unto those who wait outside for news:

It appears that one of the Nap pitchers had trouble with his arm. They all have that kind of trouble, but this was a kind of special trouble. So this pitcher consulted a doctor.

"Doc," he said, "this wing is stiff, and I want something to limber her up."

"Here's the dope," answered the doctor, taking a drink from the shelf. "I'll inject a big dose of this in your arm, and in the morning you'll be all right. If you're not, drop in again."

In the morning the pitcher was there. "Doc," says he, "the darn thing is stiffer than ever. I can't ever move it now."

"Impossible!" answered the doctor. "What did I give you?"

"Something out of that dark bottle on the second shelf."

"Did I inject it in the arm?"

"Yes."

"Poor fellow! I'm afraid I can't do anything for you now. I don't know how I can make that mistake, but that bottle contained liniment cement. The blamed thing is set by this time!"

A Popular Turf Official.

The American turf never had a more popular or better known racing official than Colonel Matt Winn of Louisville, Ky. Colonel Winn's first active participation in turf matters was in 1904, when he was appointed manager of the New Louisville Jockey club. This time organization had been conducted on obsolete lines, with the result that the directors had a great financial burden to bear. Colonel Winn immediately set into play progressive ideas by tossing aside ancient rules and regulations until he whipped things into such shape that in a few years he not only brought both racing and financial success to Churchill Downs, but also attracted attention to himself throughout the western country.

Today the New Louisville Jockey club is one of the foremost racing organizations in the country.

Jap Wrestlers Coming.

Headed by Taichiyama, champion, a troupe of fifty-four Japanese wrestlers are on their way to this country. Taichiyama has been the undisputed champion of Japan since he won the title in a series of desperate matches with contenders for the crown belt by Taichiyama, an old veteran, who was declared to be the greatest of all Japan's champions.

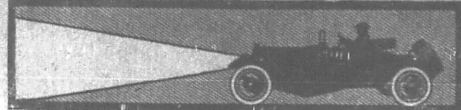

Taichiyama has amassed a fortune estimated at half a million dollars during his career. He is a big, good natured man, standing about six feet three inches and weighing about 315 pounds.

He is said to be quick in spite of his enormous size. Many of these wrestlers seem to be mountains of flesh, which is an advantage at the Japanese style of wrestling—in short, furious bouts much like two bulls locking horns.

As He Spoke in Britain.

The "conservative speaker" who related the following incident did so with an obviously keen appreciation of the humor of it, says a correspondent in the Manchester Guardian:

He was on the platform at a meeting in the Colne valley division and, while the prospective candidate was addressing the audience, found his seat a very drafty one. Turning round, he observed an open window behind him. "Couldn't we have it closed?" he whispered to his next neighbor.

"Nay, ind," said the other gravely. "Ah left it open a-purpose. Last time as way had a Conservative candidate I this schoolroom he fun that window war his best way aht."

Her Pathetic Wish.

Apropos of the pitiful overcrowding of the slums, J. G. Phelps Stokes, the millionaire social worker, said in an address in New York:

"Let me illustrate our overcrowding with a story. "Three pretty girls of fourteen or fifteen talked as they sat making artificial flowers about what they'd do if they each had a million dollars.

"I'd buy a house at Coney and live there all the year round," said the first girl.

"I'd buy automobiles and diamonds and live in Europe," said the second.

"The third little girl, heaving a sigh of divine content at the thought, said: "I'd sleep alone!"—Exchange.

Apertisms.

Messins furnished early in the nineteenth century a new word for the German language. It was from there that oranges were first shipped to Germany, and the fruit was known for a long time after its advent as "apfel aus Messina"—apple from Messina. After many years "apfel aus Messina" degenerated into "apfel Messina," and finally it became "apfelsine," the name by which oranges are still known among German speaking people.
