Want Potatoes? Ohio Has Plenty.

Ohio raised a potato crop this year that will be sufficient to give to every person in the state, men, women and children, about a bushel and a half.

The total crop, as estimated by the state board of agriculture in the November crop report just given out, was 7,014,256 bushels. They were raised on 96,453 acres, averaging 73 bushels to the acre.

The cold rainy September was wholly unfavorable to the work of wheat seeding and in consequence, despite the probability the war will cause high wheat prices for the next year or two, the farmers of Ohio will have a much lower acreage of wheat to harvest for 1916 than for that of the current year.

This year there were harvested 1,900,111 acres, and only 1,592,129 acres have been sown for the next harvest—82 per cent of this year's acreage.

The condition of the growing wheat is none the best, the state board estimate being only 84 per cent of a full average condition for this time.

The same general condition is reported also for rye. The harvest of 1915 was taken from 19,034 acres, while only 16,648 acres or 87 per cent of that acreage has been sown for the coming harvest. The rye condition is put at 91 per cent.

Farmers' Week to be January 31 to February 4.

Combining the annual meetings of the Ohio State Dairymen's Association, the State Farmers' Institute, the Ohio State Corn Show and the Vegetable Growers' Association, the Fourth Annual Farmers' Week which will be held at Columbus January 31 to February 4, promises to be one of the greatest agricultural meetings ever held in Ohio. Sixty lecturers by the leading farm authorities of the corn belt will form the three sessions, five-day course which will be offered free to the farmers of Ohio.

Practically every building on the campus of the University will be utilized for the event. Last year two sessions were given at the same time but to provide for the large attendance expected three lectures or demonstrations on different phases of farming will be scheduled simultaneously.

With a free trip already granted to three boys of the University from each of forty-two counties in which junior stock judging contests were held this fall, 125 youthful aspirants will clamor for the honor of being the best judge at the first state-wide contest to be held at this time. There will be given instructions in judging and all will compete in the contest.

Showing 800 slides selected from 2000 pictures taken on his trip around the globe, Professor Alfred Vlijan of the University, will deliver a series of daily lectures from 11 a. m. on "Around the World in Five Days." The slides will show agricultural conditions from a farmer's viewpoint in traveling 42,000 miles in twenty-one countries.

Obituary.

George R. Sponseller was born in 1840, in Adams county, Pa., and died at the age of 75 years, Thursday, Nov. 4, 1915.

He enlisted as a soldier in the civil war, being a member of Co. C, of the 202nd Regt. Pa. Infantry. After the war he came to O. in and Oct. 26, 1876, was married to Miss Julia DuBois, the daughter of the Rev. Hubbell DuBois, prominent minister of his day in the Methodist Episcopal church. Two children blessed their home, one of whom died in infancy.

Mr. Sponseller's married life has been spent almost wholly in Richland county. For five years he lived in Plymouth where less than two years ago he was bereft of his wife who died in the blessed hope of heaven.

For a year or more he has been almost an invalid and has made his home with his son, Moody and wife, who has taken the most tender care of him to the end. Mr. Sponseller has been a lifelong member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and shared in the blessed hope of immortality in the mansions above.

One less on earth, and its tolls to his pains, its sorrows, and its tolls to share; One less the pilgrim's daily cross to bear; One more the crown of ransomed souls to wear.

The funeral was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Chas. F. Mott, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock (at the home), and the burial was in the family lot in Greenlawn cemetery.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to neighbors and friends for all kindnesses and favors shown during his illness and care for him to the end, and funeral of our beloved father, George R. Sponseller.

Mr. and Mrs. Moody Sponseller.

Death of Mrs. M. D. Stryker.

The community was shocked Monday evening by the news of the death of Mrs. M. D. Stryker from heart failure, following the birth of a daughter. The abruptness of her passing, made it hard to realize that one of Fredonia's kindest and loveliest women had left this life, and for hours the town seemed under a sudden shadow of grief. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, Rev. John Garretson conducting the service, and interment was in the local cemetery.

Ruth LaDow was born in Plymouth, Ohio, in 1888, and spent the earlier years of her life there. Following the death of her mother she went to Sandusky, O., where an aunt, Mrs. Spencer Strong, cared for her until after Ruth had finished her course in the high school. Then Miss LaDow went to Leland, Stan., and remained for three years at the California school. In 1907 she attended Randolph Macon college in Virginia, specializing in science. The year following she returned to Leland Stanford and received her M. A. degree from the institution. In 1909 Miss LaDow went to Boulder, Colo., where she lived with an aunt, Mrs. Kitty DeVries, and took special work in Colorado University. The next year she taught in the Wheatland, Calif., high school, and after a year of travel in the east, came to Fredonia and made her home with her father, B. E. LaDow. Here she met Maurice Stryker and on April 9, 1913, the two young people were married, and began housekeeping at 415 Ninth-st. Mrs. Stryker is survived by her father, her husband, her little daughter, a brother, C. V. LaDow of this city, and a sister, Mrs. H. J. Johnstone, of Tontozany, Ohio, all of whom was present at the funeral. An uncle, L. W. LaDow, of Kansas City, was also in attendance.

In the passing of Mrs. Stryker the town lost one of its most capable young women. Her strong and pleasant personality, her cultured and cleancut reasoning, and her gentle and kindly disposition endeared her to friends and acquaintances, on account of those qualities of heart as well as mind. Her place will always be vacant in the memory of those who knew her and the universal sorrow which her death brought to Fredonia will be felt in the years to come.—Wilson County (Kans.) Citizen.

DEATH VICTOR IN BRAVE STRUGGLE.

Leroy Hoyt, Prominent Resident of Fairfield, Passed Away Wednesday Morning.

Leroy Hoyt, for many years a prominent merchant of the village of North Fairfield, passed away in Sandusky, where he has been making his home for several months past, at 2:15 o'clock Wednesday morning, Nov. 3, following an illness of several months.

The deceased was born in North Fairfield about fifty years ago, and practically all his life was spent there. He was a prominent republican and at the time of his death was a member of the county board of elections. For twenty years he was postmaster at North Fairfield. Mr. Hoyt is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Nelka Hoyt. Two brothers, Wilbur and Ralph Hoyt, of North Fairfield, also survive.

Funeral services were held in the Baptist church at North Fairfield, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with interment in the village cemetery.

School Notes.

(CONDUCTED BY SUPERINTENDENT)

We did not get our news in last week, so we did not announce the result of the Halloween carnival held at the school building. The pupils responded to the call with their service and donations. And of course it could not have been a success without the support of the people of Plymouth. The people of Plymouth seemed to realize that it was their school and the result was a success. We netted over $90. Already we have subscribed for some standard magazines for the school. The teachers are selecting books which will be ordered in a short time. We thank the people for their patronage and the pupils for their part of the work. We decided to give each room an equal share of the money to spend as they see fit for their needs.

We still have some plates and pans at the office. Persons owning them should call for them. Some persons must have made a mistake and taken home the wrong sheet, marked H. J. There is an unclaimed sheet at the office yet.

Mr. F. B. Pearson, state high school inspector, inspected our schools last Tuesday. He reported our schools in excellent condition, considering their crowded condition. He took our first grade charter away with him, stating that we could get it back as soon as we conformed with the law. This was a staggering blow to us. The board has begun to make arrangements for re-instatement, and we hope to have our charter back in a few weeks at most. I can assure the high school pupils that they need not worry about the credits; the standard of our schools will be brought up. The criticisms of the inspector were respecting our scientific laboratory, and the crowded condition of our schools with an insufficient teaching force, especially in the grades. Many pupils coming into the high school are unprepared for high school work and are handicapped in their high school work, especially in mathematics and languages. There are a number of pupils who dislike to take any foreign languages, and it is because they are deficient in our own English language.

We hope that some of our lower grade boys had a wholesome moral lesson taught them Tuesday by a B. & O. detective. It may have been thoughtless sport on the part of the boys to stone trains, but the railroad company does not think so. Our neighbor up the road has her lesson too.

All who heard John Lyons deliver his reading at the Lutheran church last week agree that John can "deliver the goods." It is no wonder the judges awarded him the gold medal some time ago. We were proud of John those two nights. John could make a better entertainer than some we hear traveling about. Some good training would bring John out. To make a success all entertainers must have it.

We will know Friday evening whether or not we are to have an extension school for teachers and prospective teachers. I would like to hear from any to whom I have not spoken. Call me up as early as you can Friday p. m. or evening, before 7:30.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

On November 2 a very pleasant reception was held at the church by Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Helmuth. The church was decorated with ferns and bouquets of chrysanthemums. A very interesting program of music and readings was carried out. Addresses by Revs. Mott and Helmuth were listened to with attention and much appreciation. Coffee, cake and ice cream were served, after which the friends departed with many wishes that Rev. and Mrs. Helmuth may enjoy their stay in Plymouth.

The Rally Day exercises held on Oct. 31 is bearing fruit. A committee for the Christmas entertainment was appointed on Sunday by the S. S. superintendent.

The pastor's subject for Sunday morning will be, "Rise and Build." For the evening the subject will be, "Two Sails and Two Visions." Our orchestra will play for the Sunday School and assist the choir in the church service.

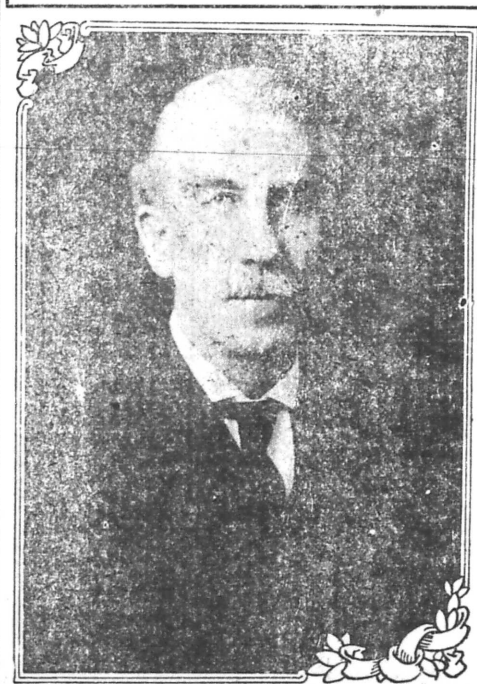

You are cordially invited to these services.

IS FINE SOUTHERN ORATOR

DR. GEORGE R. STUART.

PROBABLY the most successful representative of the South on the great Lyceum and Chautauqua platform of today is Dr. George R. Stuart, for sixteen years a co-worker with the late lamented Sam Jones, and one of the most popular preachers south of the Mason & Dixon line, who will speak here this season. As an evangelist and Chautauqua speaker, Dr. Stuart is in such demand that his time is engaged many months in advance, and his record of Lyceum successes is equally great. He is a magnetic speaker, of commanding presence, with a great fund of entertaining anecdotes, and he has all the attributes of the true Southern orator. His many years of conspicuous success on the platform make extended reference to his abilities as a public speaker superfluous. On some of the greatest Chautauqua in the country he has been a fixed feature for years.

SYNOPSIS.

Confederate Sergeant Wyatt is sent as a spy to follow the advance of the Green Briar. He meets a mountaineer named Tom Taylor. At a house beyond Spring Springs they meet Major Harold Taylor, murderer of Wyatt's father. Wyatt escapes to the Green Briar country and goes to Harold's home, where he finds Noreen Harwood. He introduces himself as Lieutenant Raymond. Purson Nichols comes to the house and Wyatt forces him to confess that he has been sent in advance of Anne Cowan, who promises to marry Noreen at once, and so quiet title to the land in dispute between the Cowans and Noreen's dead father. Anne Cowan and his gang arrive. Wyatt tells Noreen who he really is and they flee to the mountains. Unable to escape while the gang is on the first floor and around Noreen's house, Wyatt forces the Noreens to protect her from Cowan. She accepts and Wyatt forces her to marry Noreen. Cowan's gang is driven off by Federal troops, and Wyatt meets the real Lieutenant Raymond. Wyatt is trapped, though Noreen attempts to defend him. Wyatt is taken to Lewisburg for trial as a spy. The camp commander and Captain Judd are in his cell in the courthouse basement. He refuses clemency in return for information, and uses his boyhood knowledge of the building to escape to the attic and thence to the sheriff's office by means of a disused, old-fashioned chimney. He washes off the soot and changes clothes in the deserted washroom, and escapes. He surprises Raymond and the camp commander.

CHAPTER XVIII.

I Make Two Prisoners.

I saw him stare, as Ben-mouthed, as though at a ghost. There was a startled look in his face, but no recognition. The same swift glimpse had revealed to me a discarded belt on the end of the desk, in which glittered the pearl handle of a revolver. With one step forward I had the weapon in my possession, and sprang between both men and the door.

"Not a single move, gentlemen!" I commanded crisply, yet not venturing to speak aloud, for fear of a guard outside. "Lieutenant, place your gun on the desk!"

He had it half drawn, but my weapon was aimed straight at his head.

"What the hell's he spouting."

"Never mind!" As I say first, and then ask questions—take it by the barrel; now slide it across to me."

My eyes glanced aside at the face of the other, who was looking up, scarcely comprehending even yet what had occurred, and recognized Colonel Pickney. So I had blindly strayed into headquarters. Raymond gasped like a fish out of water, and the stern features of the colonel expressed a chagrin too deep for words. I thought he would explode, he spluttered so before he could give vocal utterance to his discovery.

"By G—, it's that d—n spy!"

"What?" and the lieutenant took a step forward, only to shrink back as my revolver came to a level.

"Any noise either of you make will be the last sound you'll utter in this world. Lieutenant Raymond, I will trouble you to step around back of the desk—no, the other way; I advise you not to be tricky. Colonel Pickney, sit up in your chair, and put your hands behind you in through the openings in the chair back. Oh, yes you've got. Don't be a fool man! What is this—a hair trigger?"

I never saw anyone more thoroughly angry; he would have killed me with the utmost pleasure, and, indeed, for an instant, I expected him to actually attack me. But my eyes were not glued into his, and the man was not insane. Slowly, reluctantly, as though actually forced into the action, his arms were thrust backward into a posture of helplessness. His lips spluttered, but he could not even swear.

"Now, Raymond, take that belt and bind him. I command you sternly. Go to it, and be quick. Remember I have a gun in each hand. That's it—now catch the buckle."

Pickney choked with rage to which he dare not give vent, and the hands of the lieutenant shook as though from chill. His face was so white I began to think the fellow had a streak of cowardice in him, but his very fear might give him recklessness. I shoved the muzzle of a revolver against his coat.

"Now this other around his legs; strap him tight to the chair. Very good, indeed; you are learning your trade."

I tested the taut leather with one hand.

"That will hold you, colonel, all but your mouth, and I hope you have enough sense left to guard that yourself. Raymond, and my glance swept the walls of the room hastily. I regret nothing you so much, it is like adding insult to injury—but would you reach me those overalls hanging on the book behind you? Thank you; now turn that chair, so the back will be this way, and—sit down."

He knew what I meant, and there was an ugly look in his eyes, but I gave him no time for action. I gripped him by the collar, twisting my knuckles into his throat, and thrust him down into the chair seat with a violence which caused the fellow to gasp for breath.

"You move when I speak!" I said threateningly. "This is no boy's play. Now put your hands back—faster. That's that; cross them over each other. Come, do you feel the steel? I do not like you any too well, Raymond; I know your treachery."

"I did nothing against you," he protested, wriggling about to gain glimpse of my face. "I had no authority here—"

"No, but you had influence, and used it against me. I got the story straight enough, and can guess the reason. Sit back straighter; there, I reckon that will hold."

I stood off and looked at the two of them, surprised at the ease with which I had accomplished the result, but entirely at sea as to my next movement. No plan, no hopeful possibility, occurred to me; I could but stare vacantly at my two prisoners, and about at the walls of the room. Raymond was jammed back into one corner farthest from the door, his face white, every bit of nerve gone, and a red welt showing where my grip had contracted the flesh. The fellow actually looked pitiful he was so completely cowed. But Pickney was of a different kidney. He sat glaring angrily at me across the table, with face red as the rising sun, straining at the tough leather, his lips muttering incoherent threats of vengeance.

"I'll get you yet, you d—n rascal," I heard him growl, "and stretch your neck without any trial."

"And I'll gag that mouth of yours," I answered "and keep it still for awhile. Oh, yes, you'll open up, my man! I know it trick that will make you bite the tighter I pull the cord. How about you, lieutenant? Would you like a dose of the same medicine?"

I stepped across to him, a strip of cloth in my hand, but just at that instant the rising sun, straining at the other hand without gripping it, I had barely time in which to loop back against the wall, hidden from view, when the door opened inward. All I saw was the glimpse of a man's hand and sleeve. The fellow must have perceived nothing, alarm him, for he merely held the door ajar.

"A lady to see the colonel," he announced briefly. "Just step in, miss."

I saw her advance two steps, and then stop motionless, with half-suppressed cry of surprise. The sentry could not have heard the slight exclamation, for he closed the door, the latch clicking sharply. Her eyes opened wide, staring at me, as the colonel, then at Raymond, so startled at the discovery of their predicament as to be dumb. I took a step forward, and the swift light of recognition leaped into her eyes, as she leaned forward to scan me more closely in the dim light of the single lamp. I could not tell, I could not be sure, yet I thought the expression on her face was one of relief, of rejoicing.

"You!" She exclaimed. "You Here, and Free!"

"You!" she exclaimed, as though not yet half convinced of the truth. "You here—and free! What—what have you done to them?"

I laughed lightly, so relieved by her reception as to feel a new man. "Merely turned the tables; this time luck was on my side, and neither gentleman seemed eager to prove a hero. As you perceive, they are like lambs."

"But you! Tell me; I must understand in order to know what to do. How did you come here?"

"From the top of the chimney. I had no suspicion this room was occupied, until I came face to face with these men. But they were more surprised than I. I got the guns first, and that ended it; but I cannot hold you up that way."

"There is no necessity."

"No! I could not keep the joyous note out of my voice. 'You mean—'"

"Please do not speak of that—every moment now means so much. Yes, I understand perfectly; shall I go now?"

"I nodded. Drawing slightly back behind the door, I thrust both revolvers into the belt I had retained; this was to be an affair of bare hands—swift, merciless, hopeless."

"She grasped the latch, lifted her eyes to mine for a bare instant, then stepped out into the hall, her lips smiling, as she paused a moment to glance backward into the room."

"Very well, colonel; I shall certainly take her your message," she said gaily, "and I thank you so much."

"Her fingers released the latch, leaving the door standing ajar."

"Ob, sentry," she said pleasantly, but with guarded voice, "I know it is perfectly ridiculous, but a strand of hair has become entangled in this clasp. Would you kindly see if you can free it?"

"I heard him set down his musket against the wall, and step forward."

"On the other side," she suggested. "If you turn this way you will get the benefit of the light; it is caught in those crossed sabers, I think."

She stepped back as I gripped him, sending the musket to keep it from being jarred to the floor. A gasp, and

"You will let me thank you!"

GATHERING IN THE HARVEST

Every Month in the Year Finds Workers Busy in the Fruitful Fields of the Earth.

Somewhere every month in the year harvesters are clicking. The world's schedule for cutting grain is as follows:

- January—New Zealand, Argentina.
- February—East India, Upper Egypt.
- March—Egypt, Chile.
- April—Asia Minor and Mexico.
- May—Asia, China, Japan, Texas.
- June—Turkey, Spain, Southern United States.
- July—United States, Austria, Southern Russia, England, Germany, Switzerland.
- August—Canada, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Poland.
- September—Scotland, Sweden, Norway, Siberia.
- October—Northern Russia, Siberia.
- November—South Africa and Peru.
- December—Uruguay, Australia.

"Then it all starts over again, beginning with New Zealand and Argentina. The United States exports harvesting machinery to all the countries named and also to many others."

Prophetic.
"It's a good play, Bill," said the manager, who had just finished reading Shakespeare's new play of "Hamlet," "but it's too gloomy. Can't you put a little more comedy in it?"
"That," replied the actor, "will be furnished by the actors who attempt to interpret the stellar rote."

The-Lower Level.
"Well, I can't tell you how glad I am to sit down to dinner in a plain business suit."
"Where have you been all summer?"
"At an Adirondack camp."—Life.

DIDN'T IMPRESS HIM MUCH

But Listener Was Ready to Admit That He Heard the Sermon Under Difficulties.

A new minister in a rural district who wished to make the acquaintance of the members of his congregation, and also to discover whether they were pleased with his discourse, met an old farmer whose face he recognized as one who had attended the church the previous Sunday, and, stopping him, said:
"Mr. Brown, how did you like my sermon last Sunday?"
"Well, parson," replied the old man, "you see, I didn't have a fair chance to judge. Right in front of me was old Miss Smith and the rest of that gang with their mouths wide open just a swallerin' down all the best of your sermon; n' what reached me, parson, was purty poor stuff, purty poor stuff."

Lloyd's Misty History.
Now that Mr. McKenna is looking to Lloyd's for a substantial contribution to the revenue from war profits, it is interesting to recall that the greatest maritime institution in the world is named, not after a financier or shipowner, but after a humble coffee-house keeper. Of Lloyd's history, the London Chronicle, little is known beyond the fact that he kept a coffee house in Lombard street at the beginning of the eighteenth century, which, from its proximity to the Royal exchange, came to be the favorite assembling place of the underwriters.

The first mention of his house occurs in a poem. "The Wealthy Shopkeeper," published in 1700: When to Lloyd's coffee house to go he never fails To read the letters and attend the sales. In 1714 Stood dated some numbers of the Tatler from Lloyd's and Addison also makes mention of the house in the Spectator.

TEUTON-BULGAR FRONT ADVANCES

The Bulgarians Are Now in Close Touch With Austro-German Forces.

SERBO-FRENCH WIN IN SOUTH SERBIA

Gap of Only a Few Miles Remains to Be Closed Before Orient Route Will Be in the Hands of the Invaders.

London, Eng.—The scythe shaped Teuton-Bulgar front which is cutting a gash through the heart of Serbia swept across more territory Tuesday, while in southern Serbia, on the handle of the scythe, the Serbo-French troops are reported to have gained some successes, including the recapture of Velez by the French. In the north the rush of invasion continues. Lescovac, south of Nish on the railway to Saloniki, has been occupied by the Bulgarians and Alexinac, north of the captured war capital, also has been taken. The capture of the latter place puts the Bulgarians in close touch with the Austro-Germans, who, pressing southward, have taken Krusevac.

Orient Route Almost Open.
A gap of only a few miles remains to be closed before the Orient route will be completely in the hands of the invaders and trains will be running from the North sea to the Bosphorus. An official statement given out in Berlin supplements the report of the capture of Krusevac with the information that 7,000 Serbians were taken prisoners there. Fifty cannon, 10 of which were heavy pieces, were captured.

The allies, meanwhile, are reported to be sending troops forward rapidly to the relief of the harassed Serbians. A Copenhagen dispatch states that news received from Berlin is to the effect that 300,000 French and British troops already have been landed at Saloniki. From the latter point comes news that Bulgarian columns have been thrown back north of Prilop and that Monastir, for the time at least, has been saved. The British have entered the arena, the first English blood to be spilled in the Balkans crimsoning the ground along the Krivolak railway where, on Saturday and Sunday, determined Bulgarian attacks were broken up.

Russians to Invade Bulgaria.
Meanwhile Italian advances are to the effect that 200,000 Russians have been concentrated on the Rumanian frontier and are awaiting orders for a descent upon Bulgaria. Heavy artillery in great force supports the Russian troops, it is said, some big guns already having been sent ahead by way of the Danube.

On the western arc of the line of invasion the Austrians are engaged in a desperate struggle with Montenegrin troops along the frontier. Further east Austro-Hungarian forces have gained fresh successes in the Kraljevo district according to an official report received from Vienna. The Austro-Germans in their advance through the Morava valley have reached the most difficult country in Serbia, a series of jagged foothills and mountains in which their gains are bought at a heavy cost in life. From the beginning it was predicted that the most desperate fighting would take place here, the Serbs having prepared strong positions among the crests and on the mountainsides.

EXCLUDE BRYAN'S BOOK

'BRITISH RULE IN INDIA' WILL NOT BE RECEIVED FOR MAIL TO INDIA.

San Francisco, Cal.—William J. Bryan's latest book, "British Rule in India," which was given a wide circulation in his recent political propaganda, has been ordered excluded from the mails to India by Postmaster Charles W. Fay.

Attributing the widespread revolt of the Hindus against British rule to this book, the British government of India has asked the United States government not to accept the book in any language for mailing into India.

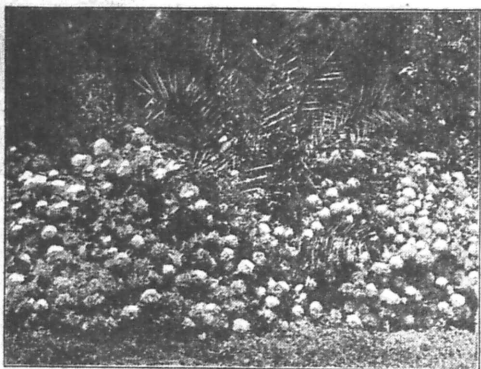

Objects to Bond Issue.
Columbus, O.—The issue of $18,000 bonds in anticipation of receipts for health, safety and service department of Piqua was illegal, the state bureau of accounting declared Tuesday in a report on finances of that city. Such action constituted a virtual violation of the Smith 1 per cent law, the bureau held.

Crushed by Windmill.
Pierpont, O.—Charles W. Kiefer, 20, of near Dorset, was caught in the gearing of a windmill and badly crushed before he was rescued by his father.

Will Lay Down Arms.
London, England.—"The conditions under which the allies will lay down their arms are the same now as they were a year ago," declared Premier Asquith in his speech at the Guild hall banquet Tuesday night in honor of the new lord mayor of London. He added: "Be the journey long or short, we shall not cease nor falter until we have secured for the smaller states of Europe a charter of independence for Europe itself, what we all have at heart, final emancipation from a reign of force."

The HOME BEAUTIFUL

Flowers and Shrubbery
Their Care and Cultivation

Showing the Beauty of Massing Hydrangeas.

PERENNIALS AND HERBACEOUS PLANTS

By E. VAN BENTHUYSEN.
There is no class of flowering plants more desirable than the hardy perennials and herbaceous plants like the hydrangeas, the peonies, the hollyhocks, golden glow, spiraea and iris.

These plants require but little attention, and for those who have not much time to devote to the garden, there is no class more desirable. Most of them will do well in ordinary soils and flourish under conditions unfavorable to the satisfactory development of annuals.

The annuals should be left to those who are here this season and away next. For the permanent residents it is well to consider the merits of this class of plants.

The cultivation of a collection of hardy plant is urged in preference to annuals because the latter class will not prove satisfactory unless a good deal of time and labor are expended on them. One of the prime arguments in favor of the perennials is that once established your plants are good for an indefinite period. Your garden does not have to be made every season.

About all this class of plants will ask of you is that in the spring the plants will need to be worked about and freed from the grass which will encroach upon their territory, if allowed to do so, the soil will require fertilizing, and once in three or four years the old plants will be bettered by a division of their roots.

A great many of these can be attended to in a day, and the work is much easier than that of making beds and pulling weeds.

One of the best perennials is the hydrangea. The coloring is beautiful and it lends itself to massing and is lovely in all its stages from the first tender green, through the pink and rose stage on to its russet coloring in the fall.

The hollyhock is another favorite. It comes in a wide range of colors—white, rose, crimson, maroon, and soft yellow—it is a profuse bloomer and does well in almost any kind of soil.

Double hollyhocks are mostly in favor these days, but the single ones are well worth the cultivation. Cut off the old flower-stalks, as soon as the buds on them have developed, and quite frequently new stalks will be sent up late in the season.

In this way one may have hollyhocks until late in the season. Seeds planted in May, June or July will give one dozen of plants from which flowers may be expected the following season.

Great clumps of golden glow or rudbeckia make an exceedingly rich show of color. For weeks it is a solid mass of golden blooms, and for cutting we have few better flowers.

The spiraea should be more extensively grown. It would be difficult to find a more exquisitely lovely flower, with its great plume-like panicles of airy, pink bloom.

The iris should always be given a place in the amateur gardener's collection. It must have a somewhat moist location. The Japanese and German varieties have remarkable colorings.

Perennial phlox should be in the collection and ought to include a dozen of the most distinct varieties. This is the gem of the outdoor garden. It grows easily and is a profuse bloomer.

Hardy pinks are good, readily obtainable and easily grown. Unless you desire immediate effects all the kinds here mentioned will bloom the second season from seedling plants.

Now is the time to think of your garden for next year and if you have been restoring to annual planting try making permanent beauty spots.

FOR THE WINDOW GARDEN

By PRISCILLA PAKE.

All the hardy flowering shrubs may be started by rooting cuttings, and this should be done early so the plants will be well established before the cold weather. Such plants started from cuttings will bloom much more quickly than those from seeds.

For rooting oleander cuttings, split the stem a little way and push a bit of cotton between the parts, then place in a bottle of water, hang in a warm shady place, sheltered from the wind. Wrap a black paper or cloth about the bottle to exclude the light, and bide your time. Replenish the water, if necessary.

Acacia Iopantha is one of the most beautiful, fern-like plants, is easily started from seeds, and will "show up" beautifully when only a few months old. The flowers will appear the second or third year, under good treatment. The plant requires plenty of room, will grow to be quite a tree and is long lived.

A Wonderful Planting of Palms in a California Garden.

HOME GROUNDS BEAUTIFUL

While in the North, East and middle West it is impossible to achieve the beautiful effects possible in the South, there is much that can be done to improve the appearance of the grounds around our homes.

The huge palms that grow so wonderfully in southern California and lend beauty days, but the single ones are well worth the cultivation. Cut off the old flower-stalks, as soon as the buds on them have developed, and quite frequently new stalks will be sent up late in the season. In this way one may have holly-beauty given by proper arrangement. Ornamental shrubbery can be effectively used and the successful cultivation of this shrubbery depends upon the simple principles of ordinary gardening: First, proper preparation of the ground—which is merely digging or plowing a foot or two deep and seeing that there is a supply of fertile soil, properly drained.

A good dressing of well-rotted stable manure spread over the surface of the bed and dug in will achieve wonders. The second point of importance to consider in planting is whether you want to have done with the work once and for all or whether you will carefully tend the plantation for the next few years. The ideal way is to plant little thickly—that is, to plant a few more than can later be comfortably accommodated upon the space, and to thin out in succeeding years as the various plants attain greater size.

Wife Charges Extremes Cruelty.

Sara J. Ruckman against Benton H. Ruckman is the title of a suit for divorce filed in the court of common pleas late Wednesday afternoon. The parties, who reside in North Fairfield, were united in marriage in this city Oct. 25, 1889, and have three children, all of legal age. Extreme cruelty is charged by the plaintiff in that the defendant has used vile and indecent language toward the plaintiff and that on Oct. 20, last past, he threatened to shoot the plaintiff and choke her to death. It is also charged that he has not properly supported the plaintiff. A temporary injunction order was issued by Probate Judge Rowley, in the absence of Judge Young, restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff or from disposing of his property.—Reflector.

W. C. T. U.

The November meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the Presbyterian church Wednesday, Nov. 3rd, at 2 p. m. A goodly number was present. The meeting again was given wholly to business in its various departments. A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to the voters who so loyally gave Plymouth a majority vote for prohibition. It was voted that a present be given Miss Francis Jones for the paper she presented for the union service held at the Lutheran church, Sunday eve, October 31st. Mrs. Susan Beelman gave the union a cordial invitation to meet at her home Wednesday, Dec. 1, at 2 p. m. The meeting was closed by the W. C. T. U. The president later appointed Mrs. J. L. Judson as Superintendent of scientific temperance.

Sickness to be More Expensive.

This winter is going to be a very fine time for everybody to keep well because the drug famine caused by the European war has greatly increased the high cost of being ill. "Some of our best professional invalids have experienced sudden recovery recently and we have reason to believe the experience was superinduced by the prices of prescriptions," remarked a New York physician. The big drug firms, in spite of increasing prices on drugs more than 300 per cent, cannot supply the demand because there is no supply. Quinine has jumped from 20 cents to $2.25 an ounce; glycerine from 20 to 58c a pound; cod liver oil from $40 to $80 a barrel; sage from 5c to 35 cents a pound; a portable bromide, potassium, permanganate, olive oil, sarsaparilla and many other drugs have gone "way up. Some drugs cannot be obtained for love, money nor influence.

Compensation to Workmen Grows

Complete refutation of charges that the operation of the workmen's compensation law had been seriously impaired during the administration of Governor Frank E. Willis is furnished by figures just issued by the state industrial commission. Instead of a decrease in the volume of work done by the department in settling claims of injured workmen, an increase is shown. During the month of October all records were broken by the disposition of a total of 9,429 cases. In the past week, 1,735 first notices of injuries were received from employers who insure their employees in the state fund. As against this number of claims filed, there were presented to the commission as completed 2,921 claims, of which at least 1,800 were finally disposed of. For the corresponding week of 1914 there were presented to the commission 1,077 claims of which 896 were disposed of. Eleven death claims were presented to the commission during the past week and of this number, seven were allowed with awards to dependents.

A Beautiful Autumn Wedding.

At the beautiful and spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Heath, on Plymouth street, at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, occurred a very impressive wedding ceremony, which united two loving hearts in the holy bonds of wedlock, the contracting parties being Marian Cynthia Heath, and Everett E. Krueger, of Cleveland, Ohio.

The double ring ceremony, amid the decorations of white and pink chrysanthemums, which were highly impressive in this setting, was performed by the Rev. G. W. Richards, of Bellevue, a distant relative of the bride, and was solemnized in the presence of sixty-five guests, most of whom were relatives of the bride and groom, and a few of her girl friends and near neighbors.

Promptly at 4:30 to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Jno. A. Root, uncle of the bride, the groom, preceded by Rev. Richards, took their place at the improvised altar, arched over by a bowyer of roses, following which came the maid of honor, Miss Bess Root, aunt of the bride and Attorney Earl Krueger, of Sandusky, Ohio, brother of the groom, as best man. Then came little Miss Emaline Fate, as flower girl and Master John Root, as ring bearer. Following came the bride, supported on the arm of her father, who gave the daughter in marriage.

The bride was very beautifully gowned in satin striped chiffon, trimmed in silver lace and white fox, and wore a veil with pearls and ornaments carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies. The maid of honor was gowned in light blue silk and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

After congratulations the wedding party were taken to the Smith hotel, where a delicious dinner was served. Those seated at the bride's table were the parents of the bride and groom, the maid of honor and best man, and the Rev. Mr. Richards. The dining room was handsomely decorated with white and pink chrysanthemums.

The bride is one of Plymouth's charming young ladies, being the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Heath, president of the Root-Heath Manufacturing Co., a graduate of our High School, and with her wondrous array of ornaments decorated herself to all. She was greatly interested in the social activities of the church and a young lady of pure mind and character and her social charms will be greatly missed here by her numerous friends.

The groom is one of Cleveland's rising young attorneys, being a member of the law firm of Reed, Nord & Eichelberger, prominent in Masonic circles, and at the last election was elected a member of the city council from the 24th ward by a large majority.

The bride was the recipient of many very costly and handsome presents, too numerous to mention, which although useful and some ornamental, will always remind her as loving remembrances from her friends.

Immediately after the wedding dinner the bridal party took their departure for a short wedding trip, and after December 1st will be at home to their friends at 10527 Bryant Ave., Cleveland, which will be their future home. The out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Krueger, Mr. Clarence G. Krueger, Mr. Lee Krueger, Berlin Heights; Mr. Earl Krueger, Sandusky; Miss Hilda Krueger, Dr. and Mrs. Gamble, Dr. and Mrs. Pearce, Dr. and Mrs. Glass, Mr. and Mrs. Linger, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bergoy, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Davis, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marble, Miss Helen Marble, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Marble, Miss Eva Marble, Ravenna; Miss Della Moore, Miss May Whalen and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Root, Medina.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

Rev. H. P. Richards Will Redeem Promise Made Eleven Years Ago.

A wedding that will take place in the neighboring town of Plymouth on Wednesday, November 10, reveals a romance in real life, in which Rev. H. P. Richards, of this city, plays an important part. When Rev. Richards was stationed at Medina as pastor of the M. E. church, eleven years ago, there came from Plymouth to visit relatives in Medina, a sweet, winsome little girl of nine, named Miss Marian Heath. The little girl was visiting at a home close to the M. E. parsonage and she was a frequent visitor of Rev. and Mrs. Richards at the parsonage and they became very much attached to her. One day, eleven years ago, this little girl said: "Rev. Richards, I want you to promise to be the minister at my wedding when I grow up." Mr. Richards solemnly promised that he would be pleased to perform that pleasant duty.

Years passed by, as they generally do, and the incident was almost forgotten by Rev. Richards, until yesterday when he was forcibly reminded of the promise made years ago, when there was a call at the phone. Upon answering he found the message to be from Miss Heath, of Plymouth, now grown to womanhood, most beautiful and accomplished young lady. She told Rev. Richards that he was now called upon to redeem the promise made years ago. At next Wednesday she was to wed a prominent young Cleveland attorney and so at the appointed time, Rev. Richards will go to Plymouth and officiate at the wedding of Miss Marian Heath and Mr. E. H. Krueger, of Cleveland.—Bellevue Gazette.

Rev. Courtland Miller, R. J. Van Dusen and A. A. Britenwisher of Ann Arbor, Mich., are spending the week in Plymouth. The party left Ann Arbor Sunday evening, in a Ford car, at 9:30 and arrived in Plymouth the following morning at 3:30, included in which time was a thirty minute stop in Fremont. This is considered a record run, when taken into consideration that a considerable of the distance was through Michigan sand.

Legal Notice.

Clara May Ruckman, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that Melvin A. Ruckman, on the 22nd day of October, 1915, filed his petition against her, in which he is plaintiff and she is defendant in the Common Pleas Court of Huron County, Ohio, praying for a divorce from her on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty; that marital relations existing between them may be annulled; for the care and custody of the infant children, Elvise Loretta and Abbie Bell Ruckman, and for such other relief as to the court may seem proper. This defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 14th day of December, 1915.

Each applicant for an automobile license for 1916 must, in addition to giving full address, give the name, make, motive power, style and horsepower of the machine. This information is duly made a matter of record. To evade detection persons who steal automobiles usually change the number tags and often obtain new ones from the state. Of course, there is no way of the registrar to tell when tags are bought for use on stolen cars. It is his duty to issue tags to all who apply and pay the stipulated fee.

Mrs. A. M. Trago, residing at the corner of Plymouth and High streets, was very happily surprised Tuesday evening when a goodly number of her friends and neighbors dropped in to spend the evening with her prior to her departure for the west, where she will join her husband with the expectation of making the west her future home. She will be accompanied by her son, Oakley. Her daughter, Wanda, who is teaching south of Plymouth, will delay her departure until the end of her school term, and for the present will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Waite.

Many men are said to be self-taught. No man was ever taught in any other way. Do you suppose a man to be a hick to be hung on the well of knowledge and pumped full? Man is a creature that learns by the exertion of his own faculties. There are aids to learning of various kinds; but no matter how many of these aids a man may be surrounded with, all the learning is that which he acquires himself. Whether he is in college or out of college, in school or out of school, every man must educate himself. And in our times and in this community every man has the means of doing it.

Last week Wednesday evening the Sunday School class of Mrs. Chas. R. Smith was invited to her spacious home on West Broadway; also her intimate friends, to participate in the evening's pleasure. Strange to say, that none of the guests to be were present, but instead, possession of the home was taken by spectral-like figures, ghosts and spooks reigning supreme in silence. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The light of the pumpkin field shed their dim rays, and the rich colorings of the autumn cereals and fruits formed in lovely counterpoint made a striking contrast with the pure white asters and chrysanthemums in their profusion. The meal served was in keeping with the time, and all enjoyed the never-to-be forgotten Hallow-eve.

Brick laying on the Broadway street improvement was hung up Monday on account of the non-arrival of brick. However, three car loads were received Tuesday, and laying was again resumed on the east end, closing up the gap between the present pavement and the B. & O. bridge. This section will probably be thrown open to traffic by the end of the coming week. About one-third of the brick work is now in and with favorable weather for the next two weeks, barring delays in shipments of brick and sand, should see the pavement completed.

Under a provision of the school law six schools of the elementary grades in Huron county have consolidated under first and second grades, and are now designated as such by steel signs, erected by County Superintendent Minnich. Schools of the second grade, under the law, are entitled to $50 each from the state, while those of the first grade are entitled to $100 each. The schools of the county that have consolidated are as follows: First grade, Monroeville village and Greenwich village. Second grade, Lyons special, North Monroeville, Ripley centralized and New London village.

The engine, tender and baggage coach of Baltimore & Ohio passenger train due in this city at 9:22 a. m. was derailed Tuesday morning at Monroeville. At this point the Lake Shore road crosses the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and in going over this crossing the engine, tender and baggage coach left the tracks. The train continued about 300 feet before it was stopped and the tracks were torn up the entire distance. The train remained in an upright position or the accident would have been more serious as the train was filled with passengers at the time. The passengers were badly shaken up by their jar but no one was injured. A special train was made up and they were transferred and brought to this city, arriving here about one hour late.

Secretary of War Garrison Makes Known System to Be Presented to Congress.

RECOMMENDS THREE KINDS OF TROOPS

Urges 'Continental' as Well as Regulars and Militiamen—Scheme in Four Years Would Give United States 670,483 Defenders.

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of War Linsley M. Garrison has just given out here a statement showing the details of the plan for the defense of the nation which the administration will propose to congress. The system will provide, when in complete operation, a regular army of 141,842 officers and enlisted men costing $127,234,559.70; a National Guard of 129,000 officers and men, costing the federal government $19,000,000, and a "continental army" of 400,000 officers and men, costing $45,000,000.

Accumulation of reserve material, sea-coast defenses and other provisions make the total cost of the plan for the first year $182,717,036.03; second year, $212,816,979.70; third and fourth years, each $216,315,975.70. Thereafter the plan will be in full operation with the cost $162,234,559.70.

HOLDS BLOCKADE OF COMMERCE ILLEGAL

United States Note to Great Britain on Trade Interference Is Made Public by the State Department.

Washington, D. C.—The state department has just made public the text of the note to Great Britain, delivered several days ago, on the subject of trade interference. It marks the resumption of the efforts of this government to obtain relief from the annoyances to which neutral commerce has been subjected, which were interrupted by the acute crisis with Germany over the sinking of several passenger vessels.

Inasmuch as the negotiations are intended to bring about practically the "freedom of the seas," for which Germany claims she is contending, the American note receives added significance from the fact that it may in a measure contribute toward peace.

The note, which is said to be the longest in American diplomatic history, is positive in tone but uses no phrases as strong as "strict accountability" and others employed in the demands on Germany.

The United States informs Great Britain that it "cannot with complacency suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional geographic position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal practices."

Great Britain is advised also that the United States "unhesitatingly assumes the task of championing the integrity of neutral rights against the lawless conduct of belligerents arising out of the bitterness of the great conflict which is now wasting the countries of Europe."

Formal notice is served on Great Britain that this government cannot recognize the blockade instituted under the order in council of March 11, and "cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights" by measures which are admittedly retaliatory and therefore illegal.

The note describes Great Britain's interferences with American ships and cargoes as "increasingly vexatious" and denounces as "illegal and unjustifiable" her attempt to interfere with the right of the United States to sell goods into the general stock of a neutral country.

Great Britain's contention that the greatly increased exports of the United States to neutral countries justifies the detention of vessels on the presumption that some commodities are being re-exported into enemy countries, is sharply disputed. The note points out that British exports to the same neutral countries have also materially increased. By a continuance of the practice of detention, American trade would suffer to the extent that British trade would benefit.

"Great Britain cannot expect the United States to submit to such manifest injustice or to permit the rights of its citizens to be so seriously impaired."

Accordingly, the United States "anticipates that the British government will instruct their officers to refrain from these vexatious and illegal practices."

The position of Great Britain that Americans may seek relief in the British prize courts is vigorously, almost sarcastically, assailed as offering "the form rather than the substance of redress."

Mexican Admits Alleged Plot. San Antonio, Texas.—Jose Orozco, former chief lieutenant of his cousin, Gen. Pascual Orozco, and who is a prisoner at El Paso, has made a confession of an alleged plot to restore Victoriano Huerta to power in Mexico, according to information given out at the office of United States District Attorney Camp in San Antonio. It is understood that warrants will be issued for the arrest of at least 12 men.

MISS HELEN

SCORE OF SHIPS OR THEIR CARGOES

Will Be Made the Subject of a Special Protest to Great Britain.

WILL PUT QUESTION UP TO CONGRESS

Officials Realized That When They Protested the Blockade of Neutral Ports a New and Grave Danger Arose.

Washington, D. C.—The next seizure and detention by Great Britain of an American ship or cargo bound to a neutral port will be made the subject of a special protest by the state department, which may even demand disavowal of the act. Such a protest, it is believed, will have the effect of throwing into congress the whole question of aggression by the allies on American commerce.

The Pivotal Point.

Neither Secretary of State Lansing nor any of the higher officials of the government will admit officially the check put to the next representations to Great Britain. This much, however, is certain: The United States has declared that the blockade by Great Britain of the ports of Holland, Norway and Sweden is illegal. This declaration, whether it be admitted or denied by Great Britain, furnishes the pivotal point on which a protest on new grounds can be made. It is stated that if between now and the time Great Britain answers the note published Monday she stops an American vessel on the high seas which is bound for a neutral port, the United States must seek to draw the protest on her. If, however, Great Britain in such case should contend that the vessel seized is owned or partly owned by Germans, the case would be duly considered by diplomatic exchanges. Even in such a case the United States will maintain that the evidence of such ownership should be obtained during the actual search of the vessel.

A Grave Danger.

Officials here realize that when this government told Great Britain that her blockade of neutral ports was illegal, a new possibility re-opened itself. It is admitted that the state department must necessarily apply its rule to any case of seizure and not only protest specifically, but demand the cessation of such practices by the British cruisers.

LAUNCH BURTON BOOM FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Republican Leaders Throughout the State Pledge Their Heartly Support to the Ex-Senator.

Columbus, O.—Republican victories in 1916 was presaged Monday by the harmony, good will and enthusiasm of the Ohio Republican leaders made possible by the action of Gov. Willis in eliminating himself as a possible candidate for the presidency and announcing that he will run for reelection.

Nearly a hundred Republicans of power and influence in the party counties congratulated the governor on his stand in placing party harmony above personal ambition and promised him support in next year's campaign. They also pledged to former Senator Theodore E. Burton their hearty support for the presidential election and assured him of a solid Burton delegation from Ohio to the Republican national convention.

Following his visit to the governor's office in the morning, Senator Burton issued a statement in the afternoon expressing his gratitude to the governor for his attitude and expressing the hope and belief that Gov. Willis will be triumphantly re-nominated and re-elected.

"I have been more than pleased to meet many leading Republicans today from all parts of the state and to find them so cordial and confident of Republican success."

"His administration has been one full of hardships, and when his accomplishments and that of his administration are fully understood, as they will be, they will be approved by the voters of the state. I desire to add my endorsement of his administration and to express my earnest hope and belief that Gov. Willis will be re-nominated and re-elected."

"It would gratify me if Gov. Willis and Senator Harding should be delegates at large to the Republican national convention. What has taken place today I am confident further cemented the party and insures party success in next year, but for years to come."

Cannot Support the Plan.

Washington, D. C.—Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina, Democratic floor leader, Monday told President Wilson he could not support his naval construction program. As he was leaving the White House after an hour's conference with the president, Mr. Kitchin said:

"I regret to say that I cannot support the president's naval program. I did not discuss the army program with him. I do not care to say anything more at this time. I shall give my reasons on the floor of the house."

FRANK B. WILLIS

Frank B. Willis, governor of Ohio, has declared that he will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency, but will seek re-election to the office he now holds.

NATURAL INCREASE IN BUCKEYE STATE

DURING THE PAST YEAR THERE WERE 65,077 BIRTHS AND 101,801 DEATHS.

AVERAGE AGE IS 42 YEARS

State Registrar of Vital Statistics Makes Report—June Banner Month for Marriages.

Western Newspaper Union News Service Columbus, O.—More births and deaths occur in March than in any other month. This is shown by figures compiled by Dr. Morton W. Bland, state registrar of vital statistics, June is the banner month for marriages. The births outnumber the deaths. In March of last year there were 6,734 deaths and 9,132 births.

Dr. Bland's tabulation presents numerous interesting features. It shows that last year the youngest mother was aged 12 years and the oldest 54 years. The former resided in Marietta township, Washington county, and the latter in Coventry township, Summit county.

During the year there were 65,077 births and 101,801 deaths. Based on a population of 5,026,896, the average age of life in Ohio is 42 years. Tuberculosis is the most prolific cause of death in Ohio, 10 per cent of the entire number of deaths last year having been from this cause.

There were 101,801 deaths and 822 suicides and 240 deaths from alcoholism. Automobile accidents caused 187 deaths, street car accidents caused 173, and railroad accidents 766. Other principal causes of death were: Cancer, 4,194; cerebral hemorrhage, 4,690; heart disease, 7,891; pneumonia, 3,907; disease of arteries, 1,311; typhoid fever, 912; diphtheria, 775; childbirth, 753; measles, 233, and scarlet fever, 229.

VAST IMPROVEMENT MADE

In Industrial World Said to Be Indicated by Workers' Claims.

Cleveland, O.—A comparison of the number of claims handled by the claims department of the State Industrial Insurance Commission with those handled six months and a year ago proves that there has been a vast improvement in the industrial activity of the state during this period.

There also is no doubt but that the campaign of "Safety First," inaugurated by the commission, is having a decidedly good effect upon both employers and employees throughout the state, as the number of accidents is decreasing in proportion to the increase in the number of men concerned taking industrial insurance under the state plan and the increase in the number of artisans and laborers employed.

MUCH FRUIT IS NOW CANNED.

Lancaster, O.—More than $25,000 worth of small fruits and vegetables have been canned at the various state institutions, for their own use, during the coming winter months. During the past few years complete canning establishments have been installed and this year for the first time they have been put to a test to care for the large crop which was harvested. The Boys' Industrial School near Lancaster probably heads the list in the amount of goods canned. The total is valued at $11,500.14.

SHOULD TAKE ACTIVE INTEREST

Cincinnati, O.—Business men of Cincinnati must realize that they must participate in movements for great trunk highways in this and surrounding states if they are to reap the benefits of them when they are constructed, according to J. Stacy Hill, president of the Hotel Gibson Co., and Dr. C. L. Bonfield, president of the Cincinnati Automobile club. They headed the party representing the Automobile club and the Chamber of Commerce in the motor parade over the Hoosier Dixie highway.

GROWERS STUDY NEW METHOD.

German town, O.—Tobacco growers of this vicinity, flocking to the Ohio Agricultural Experiment farm to study the efforts of the experiment farm in steaming its tobacco beds to kill "root rot" fungus which causes heavy losses in the season just passed. The scientists at the experiment station assert that the steaming process destroys other diseases and weed seeds. All interested persons were invited to visit the test farm while the steaming was being done.

MACHINISTS RETURN TO WORK.

Cleveland, O.—The machinists' strike here, which affected 5,000 men and lasted three weeks, is at an end so far as five large plants are concerned. Men who quit work at the Warner & Swasey Peerless Motor Car, Bardsley & Oliver National Automatic Machine Co. and the Standard Tool Co. are turning to work under the conditions existing when they went on strike. The employers say they have won a strike which never should have been inaugurated.

MANY FEIGN BLINDNESS

Ohio Conference of Charities and Corrections Meeting at Dayton.

Dayton, O.—One of the most interesting addresses made at the Ohio Conference of Charities and Corrections was that of Dr. Louis Stricker, former member of the blind commission, and now clerk for blind relief under the county commissioners of Hamilton county. His address was an explanation of the practical application of the blind pension law of Ohio and was economic rather than medical in its nature. Dr. Stricker has been in charge of the distribution of blind pensions in Hamilton county since 1908. An analysis of his work, given by Dr. Stricker, showed that Hamilton county spends $45,000 annually for blind pensions, payable quarterly. During the past year 639 applications for blind pensions were made, 226 of whom were single and 413 married. Eight per cent of them were colored, 457 were native born and 285 foreign born. Seven per cent of the applicants were under 20 years, 31 per cent between 20 and 50, and 62 per cent past the meridian of life. Of the last, 25 per cent were past 70. One of the difficulties in administering the law, Dr. Stricker pointed out, is the attempt made to feign blindness by applicants.

ARMENIAN DAY IS ANNOUNCED.

Cincinnati, O.—Sunday, November 14, has been set aside by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, as Armenian day, upon which Sunday sermons will be preached in many pulpits as a protest against Turkish atrocities which are being perpetrated in Armenia. Prayers will be offered and money will be collected for Armenian relief. Columbus is to enter fully in the attempt. Plans will be definitely formed, immediately after this observance, for a mass meeting which will be held.

UNABLE TO ELECT TICKET.

Columbus, O.—Jacksonburg, Butler county, one of the oldest villages in the state, was unable to put up a ticket because of a lack of electors to fill the offices. The $60,000 bond issue to establish a "Great White Way" in Lima was defeated by a majority of 759.

BUCKEYE BREVITIES

Newark, O.—The vote to issue $30,000 worth of bonds to rehabilitate the municipal plant carried by 1,281.

Beverly, O.—Walter H. Parker, grand captain of the host, Grand Chapter of Ohio Royal Archmasons, died at his home in Beverly.

Cambridge, O.—Narval Poland, 18 years old, of Gaysville, died due to a gunshot wound in the abdomen, sustained when hunting rabbits.

Zanesville, O.—Adam Weaver, 30, was crushed to death when a clover buller went through the floor of his barn and he was caught beneath it.

Hamilton, O.—When Geo. Eiders, 14 years old, son of Henry Eiders, was scolding a fence a shotgun he carried was discharged, and the load tore his left arm so badly that he may lose the member.

Columbus, O.—To aid school teachers and others in arranging programs for Agricultural Day, November 12, the State Board of Agriculture issued a manual of suggestions and material for these programs.

Dayton, O.—The Vandalla Old Fellows' lodge dedicated their new temple with an appropriate program. The building cost $12,000. Grand Master Wright and Grand Secretary Lyman, of Columbus, were present.

Lancaster, O.—Harry A. McIntosh, 30 years old, of Rochester, N. Y., traveling salesman, was killed and another man and two young women were injured seriously at Carroll, Fairfield county, when their automobile was struck by a freight train running over the Hoosier tracks.

Columbus, O.—More than 1,000 unlimited practitioners of medicine are expected to take examinations in Columbus, November 16, 17 and 18, in their respective branches, as offered by the Platt-Ellis bill. It was announced here. The examinations will be held in the Chamber of the House of Representatives.

Beres, O.—Play of three little girls was suddenly halted by death when they jumped from the rear of a carriage on which they were riding on the road between West View and Olmsted Falls and fell in the path of an automobile. Five-year-old Anna Kora and three-year-old Mable were killed, and seven-year-old sister Mary and Anna Masur, eight, were badly cut and bruised.

Youngstown, O.—Attorney Benjamin O. Shulman, 31 years old, was fatally shot through the head by Louis Begala, a Struthers merchant. The shooting followed the closing of Begala's store on an order from the sheriff's office in a suit in which Shulman represented the plaintiff.

Gallipolis, O.—Newton Jones, 69 years old, farmer, was killed here when a horse fell on him. The animal became frightened at an automobile, reared and fell backward. Jones's skull was fractured in three places.

IS AMERICA'S DAY

When Prayers of Thanksgiving Arise From Hearts of Grateful Nation.

EMORY J. HAYNES.

Did you ever see the sun rise out of the ocean? For nearly four hours the dawn of Thanksgiving day has been feeling its way westward across the sea before it breaks on America.

If the sun were a god, marching over the Atlantic spaces, one would pry the words in his mouth: "You ships on which I flash, I am not content with you alone, nor with you lighthouses, which I now touch with my spears of sunbeams. I seek a continent of grateful human dwelling, I gild church spires, burnish the white walls of great cities, gleam in farm house windows, the homes of men. It is not a day of toil but of thankful joyous rest. I will march over the vast areas of mighty states, cross rivers and lakes, climb the Saharas and beyond, before I slip again into the Pacific ocean. For this is a day set apart to me. Men are waiting, out of harness, for the sunbeams. I acknowledge their tasks. I make the American flag beautiful everywhere in my blue sky, thousands of flags dipping to give thanks. I do hear the ringing of bells, the shouts of joy, the laughter of kinsmen greeting kinsmen, and the voice of a nation's prayer."

But the sun is no god. A day is merely a stretch of hours. There is a Maker of the sun who trains it to be but the servant of his children. There is an All-Serving Eye which views us at our grateful offices. Let us try to think of it that way. Then the day has a meaning.

Think of it all in that way, what a sublime day it is. A whole youthful nation with uplift hands and merry hearts. This nation has been, at times, in tears. Today it bursts into laughter and the sounds of thankfulness—the fragrance of a feast fills the air. It is a very festive of charity, when none is proud or selfish, when the poor are not ashamed.

Have you ever watched the clouds awaking by mists rising by the advancing sun? What a spectacle it would be if, from a star, one could witness this uprising of sun-touched vapors from valley to plain across a continent. So do the clouds of thanksgiving arise with increase of thanksgiving. Remember that, by this figure, we are seeking to make our answering adoration visible to our minds.

And there is no beauty in a sunset except if there be clouds to take on the gliding. So may the evening be, of this glad day, for the Lord God is our sun and shield. When the day is done may heaven's blessings, yet to be sent us, be more than the evening stars for multitude. Stars on stars, the light from many a star is so distant that it has never yet reached us. But it is on the way.

Things to Be Thankful For. The sentiment of gratitude is one that there is small risk of finding too much in evidence. It is not possible to grow from childhood to manhood or womanhood without implicit dependence upon others, without incurring obligations and running deeply into debt—first of all to the God who made them to our parents who safeguarded our helpless infancy, then to the friends who assisted us on our way. It is impossible for us to make adequate repayment or return for all these benefits. What has been done for us in our creation and our sustenance, in all the generous provision of love and of sympathy that surrounds us, is beyond reckoning or valuation—it is without money and without price. But we may at least from time to time express our gratitude to the Giver of all good gifts. We may occasionally voice our thankfulness that we are alive and that our plain duty lies before us, and that there is useful work to occupy our hearts and souls and senses. Above all, there is the great gift of love—the love that transfigures life and makes it worth while to keep on trying to puzzle out the riddle of existence—the love that fills the universe and, according to Dante, "moves the stars and the other stars."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Golden Corn. Reap high the farmer's wintry hoard! Reap high the golden corn! No richer gift has autumn poured From out her lavish horn! Let other lands, exulting, glean The apple from the pine, The orange from the glossy green, The cluster from the vine; But let the good old corn adorn The hills and vales, And still let us for his golden corn Send up our thanks to God. —Whittier.

King of All Turkeys. The Thanksgiving turkey is turkey with cranberry sauce and mince or pumpkin pie. He is allied with crisp celery, and is redolent of Araby by reason of the spices in his stuffing. He is the king of all turkeys, all turkeys in one, the hope of ardent youth and the prop of declining age, the luscious burden of the groaning oar, the bird of that paradise for which all good lives long.

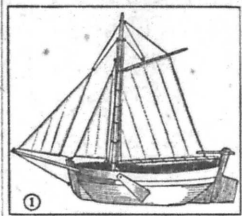

HANDICRAFT FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

By A. NEELY HALL and DOROTHY PERKINS

(Copyright, by A. Neely Hall)

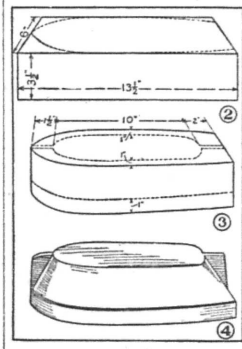

A TOY SAILBOAT.

In Fig. 1 I have shown a sailboat with a broad hull of a satisfactory design that is easy to prepare. A solid block of wood of the dimensions shown in Fig. 2 is required for the hull. First mark out the curve of the deck, as indicated by dotted lines (Fig. 2), upon both top and bottom faces, then cut to these lines (Fig. 3). Next, mark off the shape of the bottom of the hull upon the bottom face of the block, as indicated by dotted lines in Fig. 2, also draw a line around the sides and bow and stern, one inch below the top (see dotted line); and pare down the sides from the dotted line to the line of the hull bottom, to make them of the form shown in Fig. 4. Be careful in marking out the hull, to get the sides exactly the same; and use an equal amount of care in cutting. With the outside cutting, scoop out one-half the length of the hull, for a cockpit (Fig. 5).

The gunwale strips A and B (Figs. 5 and 6) are lapped over and tacked to the upper edges of the hull. Cut them out of thin wood. Curve the top edge of strips A, as shown in Fig. 6. Cross strips C and D, and the corner blocks E and F (Fig. 5), are provided to brace the gunwales. Finish the bow of the hull with strip G (Fig. 7), and the stern with strip H. The double-pointed tack in G is provided for the attachment of the foresail. Make the rudder as shown at I (Fig. 8), with a tiller stick cut in Fig. 8) tacked to its top. Drive a couple of brads into the long edge of the rudder, and bend them over for hooks to fit in a pair of small screw eyes driven into stern strip H (Fig. 7). Figs. 9 to 12 show the mast, gaff, boom and bowsprit. Bind a loop of wire to one end of both the boom and the gaff, to slip loosely over the mast, as shown. Drive a double-pointed tack into the bowsprit near one end, and slip the other end through a hole in one of the gunwales. Set the mast in a notch bored in the hull, and brace it on each side with stays tied to it and to double-pointed tacks driven into the gunwale ends. Have mother make you a mainsail, a foresail, and a jib-sail, of the proportions shown in Fig. 1, with each edge hemmed. Four fancy-worship rings should be sewed to the mainsail for mast hoops, and the top and bottom should be lashed to the boom and gaff with thread. Figs. 9 and 10 show the halyards for raising and lowering the sails. Use beads for blocks (Fig. 12). There should be six of these blocks (see K, Figs. 9 and 10). The wire bars L, M and N (Fig. 6) are provided for tying the halyard ends to

A GIRLS' HANDICRAFT BOOTH FOR A FAIR.

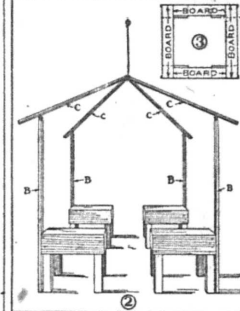

Here is a plan for a handicraft booth which a class of girls can make one of the most attractive and best-patronized features of the church fair. Your own handicraft, or that of your friends, and you can build the booth itself, by following the plan I have worked out in Fig. 1.

Fig. 2 shows how the booth is constructed. You will need a grocery box about thirty inches long, fourteen inches wide and ten inches deep for the corner supports. These boxes must be mounted on legs (A, Figs. 4 and 5), made of pieces two inches thick, four inches wide and twenty-three inches long. The supports for the canopy are nailed to these boxes (B, Fig. 5). The distance apart to place the box supports will be determined, of course, by the size that you want to make the booth. Seven feet square, outside measurement, is a good size. The counter boards should be twelve inches wide, and long enough to make a continuous counter extending from corner to corner. This is not shown in Fig. 2, but it is indicated in the plan diagram of Fig. 3.

The canopy framework is made of four poles (C, Fig. 2). The lower ends of these are secured to the tops of uprights B, and the upper ends are supported from a screw eye screwed into the ceiling directly over the tops of the booth. These poles must project six inches or so over the tops of uprights B, and be long enough to run up to a peak at the center. By screwing a screw eye into the tops of uprights B, and one into the under side of poles C (Figs. 5 and 6), the poles can be joined by tying together the screw eyes with cord. Gather a screw eye into the upper end of poles C to tie the cord to for suspending the poles from the ceiling.

Crepe tissue paper in different colors is the best covering material for the booth framework. Figure 1 suggests how strips of the paper may be wound around the corner uprights and janey poles, how a latticework piece of twisted ropes of crepe paper may be extended around the sides at the top, and how ribbons of crepe paper may be used to inclose the canopy framework. Pretty homemade cardboard lanterns hung from the ends of the canopy poles will add a finishing touch to the roof. Tack heavy wrapping paper to the counter boards, and then cover this with cheesecloth of a color to harmonize with the tissue-paper trimmings. A pretty effect will be obtained by plaiting this as indicated in Fig. 1. One side of the valance must be made to part, to provide an entrance into the booth.

A WOMAN'S THANKFULNESS.

I AM thankful because there was one Who thought me the dearest and fairest— Who comes when his duties are done To tell me my charms are still rarest; I am thankful because it was he Whom the fates when they made their selection Sent eagerly, gladly to me To offer his lasting affection.

I am thankful because he is true, Because he is worthy and cheerful; Because the dark moments are few, When he leaves me regretting and tearing; I am thankful that he has the will To be thoughtful and gracious and tender.

I am thankful because I am still On the right side of forty and slender. I am thankful that I am free From ills that keep other complainings; I am constantly thankful that we Can live very well without straining; I am glad that I never have had A child to disturb or distress me; I am thankful because he is glad To labor to feed and to dress me.

A BOY'S THANKFULNESS.

I AM thankful that I've got a daddy Who works for me with all his might; He always calls me "Little Laddy," And says "at I'm his heart's delight; He often sets me on his shoulder, And helps to fill the house with noise; He's bigger than I am and older, But mother calls us her two boys.

I'm thankful that he never worries Because my hands ain't nice and white; I'm thankful that he always hurries Back home to us when it gets night; I'm always thankful for his Sunday, 'Cause when it's Sunday, why, you see, He doesn't huff to work till Monday Or do a thing but play with me.

I'm thankful that he never scolds me Except when I've been acting bad; And every night almost he holds me Tight in his arms and says he's glad; Our blessings, mother, are many, And, see, but wouldn't it be fine If every body that hasn't any Could have a daddy just like mine?

A MAN'S THANKFULNESS.

I AM thankful because I am strong, Because of the chances of my life, Because in the thick of the throng I have brothers who never will doubt me; I am thankful to have as my right The freedom true manhood inherits; I am thankful for courage to fight For an honest reward of my merits.

I am thankful that no one may weep Because I am cunning or greedy, Because if I sow I may reap Without bringing grief to the needy; I am thankful because I have claims, No vic-tainted tribute from others, That still unshared, unshared, I may ease in the eyes of my brothers.

I am thankful for those who depend On me for the chances of my sorrow; I am thankful at every day's end For the hope of a splendid tomorrow; I am glad that, though many must grieve, There are hearts which are stirred by compassion; I am glad that I still may believe That kindness is not out of fashion.

AFTER THANKSGIVING DINNER

IN TWO PARTS.

Season Teaches a Lesson. This festive season brings joyous reunions and pleasant greetings; the table is loaded with flush autumn cheer, it is a time to banish anxiety and sadness, to revel in all good things of life. But this thoughtless indifference stage does not always continue. Later on there comes a consciousness that gratitude is due someone for the countless blessings bestowed. This dawning consciousness often awakes feeling of thankfulness, not considered before—Christian Work and Evangelist.

Travels of the Turkey. The first turkey eaten in France was served at the wedding banquet of Charles IX. The Mexican birds were taken to Europe and then brought again to America as domestic birds. The journals of many of the explorers, among them Capt. John Smith, record the attractive qualities of the wild turkey. They were plentiful from Canada south to the seacoast. One English traveler wrote of the "great store of the wild kind of turkeys, which remain about the house as tame as ours in England."

Thought Him Fresh. He—I'm not earning my salt. She—That's unfortunate, when you need salt so badly.

Out of Sorts

THAT IS, something is wrong with baby, but we can't tell just what it is. All mothers recognize the term by the lassitude, weakness, loss of appetite, inclination to sleep, heavy breathing, and lack of interest shown by baby. These are the symptoms of sickness. It may be fever, congestion, worms, croup, diphtheria, or scarlatina. Do not lose a minute. Give the child Castoria. It will start the digestive organs into operation, open the pores of the skin, carry off the foetid matter, and drive away the threatened sickness.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Scares 'Em. "How did you get rid of that life insurance agent so quickly?" "Oh, I'm always prepared for those fellows. I keep a large bottle of cod-liver oil in plain sight on my desk, and when an agent calls I greet him with a hollow cough."

Most Eminent Medical Authorities Endorse It

A New Remedy for Kidney, Bladder and all Uric Acid Troubles

Dr. Eberle and Dr. Braithwaite as well as Dr. Simon—all distinguished Authorities—agree that whatever may be the disease, the urine seldom fails in furnishing us with a clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated, and accurate knowledge concerning the nature of disease can thus be obtained. It is for this reason that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, or send 10c for a large trial pack. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood have been favorably known for the past forty years and more. They are standard remedies to-day—as well as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels. You can have a sample of any one of these remedies by writing Dr. Pierce, and sending 10c for trial package.

Called for More Security

Baggage Carried by United States Senator Did Not Satisfy Colored "Overseer" of Hotel.

Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas tells this one on himself: "I had an appointment to speak at a town in eastern Kansas on a Saturday, and I arrived on a late train the night before, carrying nothing but a small handbag. I went to a hotel near the depot. There was no one on duty at the hour, except the night porter, and he was acting as porter, clerk and general overseer. I registered and he showed me to a room, but in a few minutes he came back and said: "Boss, my 'struction is, when a gunman haven't any baggage to collect in advance."

"Why, I've got baggage," I replied, pointing to the little grip. "No, sir," he said; "but you've stayed too long on that already."

Poor Excuse. Thomas Mott Osborne, warden of Sing Sing, said at a luncheon in Newport:

"This laying of all one's crimes and transgressions at the door of heredity disgusts me. If we sin, we ourselves are to blame. To blame heredity is false and foolish."

These heredity blamers are like the chap who said to the doctor: "I can't escape the domination of early-formed habits. In my infancy my parents hired a young nursemaid to wheel me about in a baby-coach. And ever since that distant time, alas, I have been pushed for money."

TURN OVER TIME

When Nature Hints About the Food.

When there is no relish to food and all that one eats doesn't seem to do any good then is the time to make a turn-over in the diet, for that's Nature's way of dropping a hint that the food isn't the kind required. For a number of years I followed railroad work, much of it being office work of a trying nature. Meal times were our bustiest, and eating too much and too quickly of food such as is commonly served in hotels and restaurants, together with the sedentary habits, were not long in giving me dyspepsia and stomach trouble which reduced my weight from 205 to 160 pounds.

There was little relish in any food and none of it seemed to do me any good. It seemed the more I ate the poorer I got and was always hungry before another meal, no matter how much I had eaten.

Then I commenced a trial of Grape-Nuts food, and was surprised how a small saucer of it would carry me along, strong, and with satisfied appetite, until the next meal, with no sensations of hunger, weakness or distress before.

"I have been following this diet now for several months and my improvement has been so great all the others in my family have taken up the use of Grape-Nuts with complete satisfaction and much improvement in health. "Most people eat hurriedly, have lots of worry, thus hindering digestion, and therefore need a food that is pre-digested and concentrated in nourishment before."

Given a Reason. Name yours by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "Ever read the above letter? A new use is suggested for Grape-Nuts. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

Stop That Backache!

There's nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. You are lame when you awake. Pain pierces you when you bend or lift. It's hard to rest, and next day it's the same old story. Pain in the back is nature's warning of kidney ills. And many a man has had to drop, gravel, or other serious kidney sickness. Don't delay—begin using Doan's Kidney Pills—the remedy that has been curing backache and kidney trouble for over fifty years.

A New York Case

Mrs. Daniel Jones, 800 St. Nicholas St., New York City, writes: "I have been suffering from backache and kidney trouble for over fifty years. I had used many remedies, but nothing helped me. I finally tried Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. I can now do my work and enjoy life again."

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Howard Buck, Captain of Wisconsin Eleven.

Howard Buck, captain of Wisconsin's football team, is recognized as one of the best tackles in the game. Last year he established a reputation for speed and daring and this year has added to his fame. Howard's position is left tackle, and by his strong game so far he is practically assured of a place on the all western conference eleven. In the games already played by the Badgers they have rolled up big scores.

Peter Volo Fast Four Year Old.
During his career on the turf the champion stallion The Harvester trotted one mile in 2:01 and one mile in 2:02. Crescens once trotted in 2:02 1/4, and again in 2:02 1/4. Etawah last year won five heats under 2:34, the fastest in 2:33 1/2. This year the four-year-old Peter Volo has on three different occasions trotted in 2:02, and his two other winning heats were under 2:05, making an average of 2:02 1/4 for all his winning performances. Etawah was considered a marvel in four-year-old form, but this record of Peter Volo's stamps him as being the faster colt, and he is so far in advance of all other colt trotters that a longer period will probably elapse before his record is beaten than marks any other reduction of the record for four-year-olds. The first champion at this age of which there is record was the famous Ethan Allen. He won in 2:35 in 1853, bringing great fame to the Morgan family.

The Amateur Golfer.
Under the amateur rule of the United States Golf association there are two things, and only two, that a golfer may do in connection with the game and receive money therefor, writes President Frank L. Woodward in the New York Sun. He may write about the game, or he may act as a golf architect. Everything else is barred. It is not intended that a golfer shall be barred from earning his living, but it must be clearly established that his connection with the game of golf has nothing to do with his getting or holding the position, with the conditions of his employment or the amount of salary received.

Sheppard to Coach Militiamen.
Melvin W. Sheppard, a former middle distance runner and holder of many records, has been engaged by the sixteenth Regiment Athletic association, New York, to coach its athletes for the coming year. Sheppard in his competitive days had an enviable reputation as a middle distance runner, and in his career as a competitor he has gleaned much experience which should prove valuable to him in his coaching. To about a year ago he still retained his standing as an amateur athlete, but he relinquished this to take up the duties of coach to the Millrose A. A. athletes.

White Sox to Keep Rowland.
Clarence Rowland will be retained as manager of the Chicago American League club for the 1916 season, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the team, has announced. "There never was a chance of Rowland being dropped, regardless of all reports to the contrary," Comiskey said. "Of course I was disappointed at not winning the pennant, but I am not blaming Rowland. He got all that could be asked out of an entirely new team."

THE FEELING GROWS: WILLIS IS MAKING GOOD
The outstanding political fact in Ohio today is the feeling that Governor Willis has been making good. Confronted by Cox machine embarrassments on every hand, he has taken hold of the state machinery with no uncertain hand. Legislation premised has been enacted by an unopposed legislature. The governor helped, but he did not prepare the bills, as did former executives. He has seen more callers than any recent governor of the state; he has maintained the dignity of the office, and still has been successful in the control of Ohio, just as he was when a common citizen. Not even the efforts of a highly subsidized Cox press bureau, maintained under the direction of an editor of one of Mr. Cox's newspapers, have been able to undo the confidence constantly growing feeling of confidence in the integrity and positiveness of the Willis administration.

Carrots and Peas.
Cut carrots into dice and boil in salted water. Mix with an equal quantity of cooked green peas. Sprinkle with two tablespoonsful of flour, salt, pepper and half a teaspoonful of sugar and two tablespoonsful of butter. Add a cupful of water in which the carrots were cooked, and simmer until thick. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve hot.

WHAT CATARRH IS
It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.
Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.
To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

A peculiar sort of a wreck occurred on the Big Four near Wellington, Saturday morning at 7:45. A freight train broke and a car loaded with cattle jumped the track and went over the embankment. Some of the cows were killed and others injured. The rear section of the train caught up with the first section, and the cars coupled up again as if nothing had happened. The one car was the only one to jump the track.

The Pennsylvania lines will again handle the Buckeye Corn Special Tour this year, according to announcement from T. P. Riddle, director. The selection was made at a meeting of railroad men and representatives of the State Board of Agriculture at Columbus. Seven special trains, which will originate at as many different points throughout Ohio, will carry the Buckeye party.

PROBLEMS OF MUNICIPALITIES

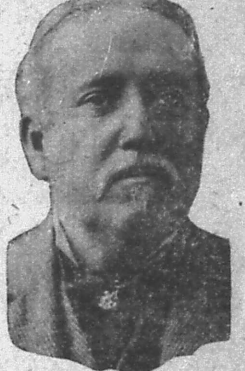

City League and Societies to Meet at Dayton.

TO DISCUSS CIVIC MATTERS.

In Mid-November at Dayton, O., Several Important Organizations Will Confer Upon the Best Methods of Running Towns and Other Important Questions.

How shall we run our municipalities? Is a question that is pressing upon every man, woman and child who lives in what is legally known as a city or town, and on every one in the country, for that matter, because the municipalities are so closely bound up by railroad tracks, telephone and telegraph wires and a hundred and one other interests with the districts round about.

It is in answering this question that the National Municipal League and its allies will address themselves in Dayton in "municipal week." The league fixed its annual meeting for Nov. 17-19. Then the City Managers' association, of which Henry M. Waite, the efficient city manager of Dayton, is president, determined to meet at the same time so as to get the benefit of contact with long time students of the problem. Then the Ohio Municipal League decided to meet in Dayton in the same week, and finally the Ohio Civil Service Reform League took the same action. The appropriateness of the latter body meeting in the same connection is obvious, as one calls to mind that the question of selecting officers and employees to carry on municipal work is one of the most difficult with which administrators have to deal.

The great big question before the National Municipal League will be the adoption of a model charter upon which the municipal program committee has been at work for two years and more. This charter will embody the city manager plan and the utilization of best methods and experts in the management of the municipality. This committee is composed of twelve men who have studied the municipal problem from every conceivable angle. Some of them have had actual experience in city government, some in state government, others have had experience as civil service commissioners, some are college professors, some are public utility experts, another is the editor of an engineering magazine, it is with the advice of experience and authority that the committee speaks its word. President William Dudley Fowler of the National Municipal League is chairman of the committee.

Civic education will be another feature that will come up for extended attention. This is a subject to which the National Municipal League has devoted years of patient study through a series of committees.
In discussing this question at Dayton the league will have the active cooperation of the Urban Universities association, a body of which Charles W. Dabney of the University of Cincinnati, a vice president of the league, is president.

There will be a long list of committee reports involving such questions as the relation of the city to its food supply, franchises, immigration, municipal reference libraries and political methods up for consideration.

These annual conferences are of the greatest value to all municipal workers, bringing together as they do leaders in various lines of civic activity. Another one of the important committees of the league is the civic secretaries' committee, which is composed of the men and women who are serving as secretaries of the leading civic bodies in the country. Once a year they get together to discuss matters of the greatest importance to the conduct of organized civic work.
This "municipal week" will not be of far-reaching importance not only because of the program to be discussed, but of the personnel of the speakers and the character of the organizations which are to be represented. Henry M. Waite, the city manager of Dayton, is at the head of the arrangements and will take a leading part in the meetings.

Croup
"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without them they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.
You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health — Jessie Chamberlain

Mr. Blakley, Dayton, Ohio, says:
"I was suffering from a prolonged and stubborn case of indigestion, which neither doctors or druggists were able to even relieve to any great extent. A few doses of your remedy, however, not only relieved the distress, but drove it away entirely, without any recurrence in the last ten days. I am consequently very thankful. I certainly will not, in the future, be without them, as my trouble was of long standing."
Pepsinco (the perfect digestant) will save your stomach, no matter what the trouble.
