PLYMOUTH 100 YEARS OLD.

THE OCCASION BEING FITTINGLY CELEBRATED

BIG GATHERING OF FORMER RESIDENTS—RENEWING OLD ACQUAINTANCE.

THE TOWN IN GALA DECORATION FOR THE EVENT.

A century ago, what is now the beautiful and thriving village of Plymouth was a wilderness, inhabited by Indians, its streets but footpaths through the almost trackless forest over which the sturdy braves passed with stealthy tread on the trail of his fleeing enemy. A century ago the arches of the boundless forest rang with defying war cry and the beautiful valley of the Huron was dyed with the carnage of conflict. Beneath the overhanging branches of the sturdy forest trees the Indian lover wooed his dusky sweetheart or smoked the pipe of peace with his brethren in the council.

But all this has been changed. Just one hundred years ago four sturdy pioneers waded their way into this scene of desolation and, attracted by the beauty of the location and the fertility of the soil, determined to wrest from the wilderness a home. Their coming marked the advent of civilization before whose ruthless hand the painted warrior was driven westward and today the valley of the Huron, which was once tinged with curling haze of the lonely wigwam is darkened with the smoke of mill and factory. The red man has passed and lives only in the chronicles of his white successor. His tepee has disappeared and its place has been taken by the farm home or the village mart. The fertile soil that once nourished lofty forest trees now produces bumper crops of wheat and corn. And all this is fitting and right for "westward the course of empire takes its way."

The loyalty and love of the present and former residents of Plymouth has never been more strikingly shown than in the enthusiastic way in which they are carrying out the centennial celebration this week. Scores of her devoted sons and daughters who grew under the shadow of the forest trees have returned to do her honor and are proud to claim Plymouth as their home.

Monday the business houses and dwellings were given a festive attire of flags and bunting and Plymouth looked better than she does this week. The very buildings seem to vie with each other in looking their prettiest and stand proudly erect as if to say, "We are a part of Plymouth." The bunting is all fast color and looks bright and clean notwithstanding the dreary day it has received. A prize has been offered for the best decorated business house and also for the best decorated home and there will certainly be some sharp competition for it.

The centennial program began Tuesday with a band concert afternoon and evening and a grand sale at 8:00 o'clock. The throng of people present the first day augured well for the success of Plymouth's centennial. The square dotted with the tents of the various attractions presented a picturesque scene, and the merry-go round with its entrancing music delighted the youngsters. Scattered about in numerous groups were people renewing old acquaintances and greeting friends whom they had not seen for years. Many a bashful maiden exchanged a small room for a fascinating glimpse into the future and even added the necessary details to the rather vague picture of the gentleman who is to play such a prominent part in her future while perchance the self-same fellow was busily engaged in throwing balls at the coin.

Friday afternoon or the weather man, seemed to be in a bad humor Wednesday, for an almost steady rain sadly marred the festivities. But the band, not to be daunted, adjourned to the verandah of the Smith Hotel and carried out their part of the program in a very pleasing manner. The retention of the pioneers and their friends at the Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon was a genuine success and was attended by a large number of people.

One of the most interesting features of the centennial is the relic room in the Clark Building, which is crowded with people the greater part of the time. The people of Plymouth and vicinity have supported this part of the program in an excellent manner and the room is filled with very interesting and curious antiquities which would do credit to a more pretentious display. Those who fail to visit the relic room will be missing one of the best features of the centennial.

Thursday the weather man relented, for, although it rained in the forenoon, the afternoon was fine permitting the program to be carried out according to schedule. The two free attractions gave their first performance in the afternoon and both were fine. The Royal Havashi Japanese Troupe are an excellent company of acrobats and jugglers and their work both afternoon and evening was great. And who will remember that "pigs is pigs" the performance of Rhelder's trained pigs is really very clever.

The reception to alumni and friends at the high school in the afternoon was enjoyed by a large number of old-time grads who had the pleasure of greeting each other after years of separation. Owing to the high wind the balloon ascension was postponed until this (Friday) afternoon at 4:15.

Some sardine stole our rabbit's foot again, for as we go to press Friday morning it is raining once more.

Doan's Kidney Pills have relieved us of backache and have regulated the action of the kidneys. I always keep a supply in the house."

HAY FEVER VICTIMS AWAIT INEVITABLE.

Season Opens Promptly at Noon on the 15th Day of August, As Per Schedule.

Both in song and poetry the hay fever rhapsodists are mourning in anticipation of the mercury rising higher and the journeys of summer sun across the heavens relentlessly count off the days toward the approach of "Hay Fever Day," Aug. 15.

Throughout the length and breadth of these United States, thousands of fellow-sufferers, whose ranks are crowded with "all sorts and conditions" of men and women are now beginning to lay in a goodly stock of ammunition—bandana handkerchiefs and "anti-sneeze" remedies—and prepare to journey to far-away points variously catalogued as "weedless and sneezeless paradises."

Hay fever victims religiously await the approach of the most universally detested day in the calendar—August 15. When each of the more than 100,000 hay-feverites in the country awakens with the dawn of the dread day, he goes in excellent health. He may be in the fray with a smile, hoping on each occasion that the unseen hand of his mortal enemy, the hay fever germ, will spare him in its flight from coast to coast. But he hopes in vain, and none know it better than he. When the clock strikes the hour of noon the hay fever victim bows his head to the inevitable "K-ka choo."

Is Sickness a Sin?

If not, it's wicked to neglect illness and means of relief. It's wicked to endure liver ills, headache, indigestion, constipation, when one dose of Po-Do-Lax gives relief. Po-Do-Lax is Podophyllin (May Apple), without the gripe. It arouses the liver, increases the flow of bile, nature's antiseptic in the bowels. Your constipation and other ills disappear overnight because Po-Do-Lax has helped nature to remove the cause. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Get rid of your constipation over night.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

A Medicine Chest for 25c.

In this chest you have an excellent remedy for toothache, bruises, stiff neck, sprains, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism and for most emergencies. One 25c bottle of Sloan's Liniment does it all—this because these ailments are symptoms, not diseases, and are caused by congestion and inflammation. If you doubt, ask those who use Sloan's Liniment, or better still, buy a 25c bottle and prove it. All druggists.

By order of the Council. W. A. JEFFREY, Village Clerk. July 31st, 1915.

Pioneer Farmer Passes Away.

Henry Trimmer, pioneer farmer of New Haven township, passed away Saturday evening at his home in Chicago Junction. Mr. Trimmer had been seriously ill for about two weeks and death was due to pneumonia. He was 83 years old.

Mr. Trimmer was born in Germany, coming to this country when a mere lad. Like many who came to this country from the fatherland Mr. Trimmer chose farming. An indefatigable worker and shrewd in business matters he was enabled to amass more than a comfortable portion of this world's goods.

Mr. Trimmer owned several hundred acres of fine farming land in New Haven township, where most of his life in the country of his adoption was spent. A number of years ago he gave up active work and retired, moving his family to Chicago Junction.

Mr. Trimmer's wife died several years ago but he is survived by five children as follows: Jay Trimmer, of Ashland; George Trimmer, of Chicago Junction; Sheriff C. D. Trimmer, of Norwalk; and ex-County Commissioner Henry Trimmer, and Mrs. W. W. Christian, of Chicago Junction.

A number of grand children and one great grandchild also survive.

Funeral services were held from the home in the neighboring town Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ira Dawson Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Ira Dawson died at her home one and one-half miles west of town, Tuesday evening, Aug. 2, at 11:45 o'clock, death resulting from acute arsenic poisoning. Mrs. Dawson was taken sick shortly after the noon hour Tuesday, and from that time suffered terribly until death relieved her.

Elna Clark was born in Plymouth township, Richland county, Ohio, October 13, 1858; died August 3, 1915, aged 56 years, 11 months and 20 days. She was married to Ira Dawson, October 2nd, 1883. To this union were born three children, Mrs. Lloyd Russell, Fred and Frank Dawson, all of Shiloh. She leaves to mourn her death, her husband, three children, two grand-children, one sister, Mrs. J. H. Dawson of Shiloh, and a large number of relatives and a host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson moved to their late home about 27 years ago, where they have resided ever since. Mrs. Dawson was a life long member of the Lutheran church, being a member at Plymouth and later at Shiloh.

The funeral services were held Friday at 1:30 o'clock p. m. standard time from the late home. The services were conducted by Rev. Ross Miller of the Mt. Hope Lutheran church and interment will be made Mt. Hope cemetery.—Shiloh Review.

Fewer People Sent to Jail.

Judged by the jail statistics just compiled and forwarded to the secretary of state by Deputy Sheriff Bliele, the morals of the people of Huron county are greatly improved or else they are keeping under cover with deceptions better than usual. According to the figures of the year ending June 30 last, there were only 50 people confined in the jail, as compared with 67 the previous year, and 78 the year prior to that.

Of the fifty prisoners, the past year, 29 were natives of Ohio, 13 natives of other states and eight foreigners in the bowels. The fifty included five women, three of them white and two colored. Three were wholly illiterate, while 47 could read and write.

The fifty prisoners were confined in the jail for a total of 780 days, an

 "Balloon ascension" (this Friday) afternoon at 4:15.
 Only one unwelcome visitor at the centennial—Pluvius.

We are one hundred years old, but still young and thriving.
 We'll let others look after the next centennial celebration.

Shelby will hold her chautauqua from August 31 to September 3.
 Plymouth behaved pretty good for being a hundred years "young."

The biggest and best part of the centennial celebration is yet to come.
 These may be dog days, but we know some that celebrate mostly after night.

For Sale—A house with good lot, located on Bell street. For particulars, inquire of Mrs. Kirk I. Wilson.

The Richland county teachers' institute will be held at Mansfield, beginning August 23 and closing on the 27th.

Dr. J. S. Burnett has a force of men at work remodeling the property recently purchased of the Sweet heirs, just off Plymouth street.

The weather man has been rather unkind to us so far this week, but here's hoping he will keep things corked up for the balance of the week.

B. S. Ruckman, while engaged in work at the Fetters' garage, fell from a scaffold Monday evening and received a sprained ankle and a few body bruises.

In less than a month all who desire to hold public office must file their petitions with the county board of elections, but as yet there has been little talk along this line.

A ladies' belt was found in the rear of the lot at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews on Irwin avenue, a few mornings since, which the owner can have by calling for same.

The Barborton fire department performed a new feat in life saving when it made a record run to the home of Mrs. Alex Ekosi and saved the life of a new-born boy with a pulmotor.

Mrs. Ruby Brown Jump, assisted by Mrs. E. E. Weatherby, will give a musicale, at the Lutheran church, Wednesday evening, August 18th, at 8:00 o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited.

Our homecoming and centennial is moving along nicely. Just one thing having miscarried, and that was when one of our citizens sent to Sears and Roebuck for an injunction, and they being out, he was unable to secure it.

Rev. Howard M. Welsh, former pastor of the local Presbyterian church, and who is here attending the centennial and renewing old acquaintances, will occupy the pulpit at the Presbyterian church at the usual Sunday morning service.

About a dozen automobiles, containing the band and citizens of Greenwich paid our little city a visit Monday afternoon, being on a booster trip for their chautauqua which is being held this week. While here the band treated our people to several very fine selections.

R. L. Shupp, a farmer, was struck by a large tent pole Sunday afternoon at New Washington, Crawford county, when a chautauqua tent blew over, and was killed. A severe wind storm was the cause of the accident. Several in the audience of 800 were also injured though only to a slight extent.

The steel for the tower for the new fire bell has arrived and will be set up in a few days. It will be located in the alley to the east of the Dick Bros. shoe store and be operated from the telephone exchange. It will project high above the surrounding buildings and will be readily (but we hope not often) heard.

The outlook for hickorynuts and walnuts, according to authorities on such things, was never brighter than this year. It is reported that crops of both kinds are loaded heavily this year, and that small boys will have all they can do Saturdays this fall, to attend to business and tote in bags of nuts, surreptitiously gathered.

Although this is the canning season and the time when sugar ordinarily advances instead of declines, there was a decline of ten points in the wholesale quotations on sugar this morning. The commodity is now quoted at $6 per hundred pounds by Mansfield wholesalers. Further declines are anticipated owing to the large crop.

Attorney E. K. Trauger had rather a harrowing experience as he was passing along the front of the Price jewelry store Saturday evening on his way from the postoffice, when a gardener containing a flower pot accidentally fell from the upper porch, narrowly missing his head by only a few inches, and was crashed into hundreds of pieces when it hit the sidewalk.

After many annoying delays, occasioned by the non-arrival of material and frequent rains, the Deister building is now under way and the work of finishing the interior will now go along uninterrupted. It is certainly a very handsome building and a pleasing acquisition to our town and Mr. Deister is to be commended for his enterprise and should have the good will of every citizen.

The Japs are certainly a nimble bunch.
 Well, guess all were pretty well "back home."

See the industrial parade at 2:30 this (Friday) afternoon.

And we couldn't get through the week without the usual rainfall.

Tuesday settled it for most of the candidates, but some of course will be settled later.

Lost—Black leather brief case, containing auto photographs. Finder notify John Gazlay, 2753 Monroe St., Toledo, Ohio. Reward.

Word was received here Wednesday evening that Mr. and Mrs. Mack Webber of Cleveland, were the parents of a daughter, born to them on the above day.

The primaries slipped through Tuesday without any election being held here. Those who aspire to office will now have to have their name placed on the ballots by petition.

For Sale—Detroit Touring Car, guaranteed in A1 condition and has always had good cars. For price and further particulars call at the Plymouth Motor Truck Works.

In the real estate transfers of last week an error crept into one of the transfers, which should have read "The Congregational Home Missionary Society to C. E. Devoe," instead of Cora E. Devoe.

Having purchased the vault cleaning outfit of Mr. Gillen, will hereafter look after this work. Parties having work of this kind to do should either call or phone and the same will be looked after. CLIFF REED.

I was 72 years old the 2nd of this month, I was kindly remembered with a post card shower of 76 cards for which I feel very grateful to my many friends who so kindly remembered me on my birthday.

A huge steel crane which was towed from Cleveland arrived alongside the steamer Eastland in Chicago Monday is being used in fighting the vessel which capsized in the Chicago river two weeks ago last Saturday, causing the loss of nearly 1300 lives.

Lost—On Tuesday afternoon, in front of Judson's drug store, a pair of "shur on" eyeglasses, gold frame, one lens broken. Glasses fell from upper window. Reward to the one who returns glasses. E. K. Trauger.

The Richland County Agricultural society is distributing pamphlets advertising the Richland county fair which will be held from Sept. 14 to 17. The pennants have a picture of the race track and grand stand and people watching the races. The pennant picture is made from a photograph taken at the fair ground.

Grape growers in the vicinity of Sandusky have asked the assistance of Congressman Weaver in their campaign against the berry moth. They say the grape industry will be ruined in a few years if the pest is not curbed. The grape interests want an experiment station established in the island fruit district.

The Huron river went on another rampage Sunday afternoon occasioned by the heavy rains south of us, the water reaching a stage higher than that of the week before. The temporary bridge on the Springmill road was swept away in the over rush of the water. Hundreds went down to the river to view the sight.

When a merchant or newspaper man presents a bill for payment, don't allow the hair on your spine to rise like porcupine quills, and then look at him as though you had been insulted. A man whose temper rises to 90 degrees in the shade and feels that his dignity has been trampled upon simply because he is asked to pay a debt, is a good man—not to trust.

The New London correspondent to the Norwalk Experiment says: "Friday evening in spite of a down-pour of rain the Plymouth centennial advertising committee with instruments, megaphones and singers, gave a concert on the street. Every one who heard the melody, very much enjoyed it. Many from here are making arrangements to attend the Plymouth doings this week."

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Waite were very much concerned in regard to their son, O. A. Waite and family, who but recently moved to Erie, Pa., fearing that they might be in the flooded region, but word from them brings the assurance that neither their home or place of business was touched by water, and was aware the city had suffered a flood until the following morning.

In villages where there is but one newspaper, ordinances and resolutions must be published in that paper even though its general circulation is small and but one side is printed in the village. In such cases, the printing of the ordinances and resolutions in five public places designated by council is not sufficient. This is a ruling just given by Attorney General Turner to the state bureau of public accounting.

Miss Frances Jones, while on the centennial advertising trip, when alighting from an automobile at New Washington, had the misfortune to break her right ankle and the young lady much pain since. However, she will not have to forego all the pleasures of the big show, as a wheel chair has been procured, from which she enjoys some of the doings each day.

If you want your pennant post cards to reach their destination with a message it may contain, better put a two cent stamp on it. When the card does not contain writing it can be sent for one cent, the usual card rate. The postal authorities hold that the pennant constitutes merchandise making it a merchandise package containing writing, whenever the blank space is filled with writing.

Plymouth's population is gradually growing upward, two new additions being enrolled to our ever increasing list this week, the first being a son born to Mr. and Mrs. David Webber Sunday and the second a son to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ritter Wednesday afternoon. Both newcomers are lusty lads but on account of weather conditions will not be able to get down town this week to attend our centennial celebration, but here's hoping they both will be honored pioneers at our next centennial celebration.

Mr. Worthington, of the Honey Creek Poultry Farm, beginning Thursday afternoon, opened the gates of this new enterprise to the public from 2 to 4, and visitors were shown over the grounds by uniformed attendants. He will also keep "open house" Friday and Saturday afternoons from 2 to 4 and visitors will be welcome and shown every courtesy. It is a very interesting place to visit and hundreds will take advantage of his invitation to visit this model poultry farm, of which none finer can be found.

Authorities are looking for Bart Butler, who brought two little girls here, aged 7 and 12, last week Friday and took them to the home of his brother-in-law, Ernie Davis, where he abandoned them. He hails from Virginia but several years ago worked in this vicinity. He took the children to the Davis home and made an excuse to go up town, since which nothing has been seen of him. One of the girls is now at the home of Frank Davis and the other at the home of Joe Wolf, but arrangements are being made by the trustees to have the county look after the girls but in the meantime a net is being thrown out to catch Butler.

Mrs. Martha Ward Higgins, national organizer of the Ladies of the G. A. R., was in Plymouth the first of August and succeeded in organizing a lodge here which will have a charter membership of twenty. The installation and the election of officers will take place at the home of Mrs. B. F. Marvin, on Railroad street, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, August 18. In the meantime if other ladies are desirous of joining this most worthy organization they can do so by handing in their application to Mrs. Marvin. Every mother, widow, sister and daughter, or grand-daughter, or niece of a soldier should join this organization, which has for its object the perpetuation of the memory of our soldiers.

Centennial Parade.

The big feature of the Centennial for this (Friday) afternoon will be the industrial parade, which will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock from the rear of the high school building and will traverse the following territory:

South on Railroad street to High-east on High to Plymouth street north on Plymouth to the Public Square; thence over to Portner St.; north on Portner to North street; west on North to Sandusky street; south on Sandusky to Square; out Trux street to Mulberry; south on Mulberry to High and the disband.

This parade will outrival anything of the kind heretofore seen in Plymouth, as nearly every business will be represented and the managers are determined to make it a big success, which it will be if the weather man will favor us with the right sort of weather.
