

In ordering the manufacture of beer to stop December 1, and in providing for War Prohibition, the President and Congress have done all they can do. These are war propositions. They have nothing to do with Prohibition after the war. Ohio will vote on Constitutional Prohibition November 5. That proposal is for peace time as well as war time. Let the action of Congress and the President increase the efforts of the drays of Ohio to adopt a state-wide amendment and elect a dry Legislature. This is the time for action, not for apathy.

HURON COUNTY DRY

Potato Blight Warning.

Seasonal conditions in Ohio are right for an outbreak of the late blight of potatoes. Reports have been coming to the office from neighboring states of the occurrence of this "bread disease." The amount of damage that this disease can do in a short time needs no discussion at this time. Whole fields may be ruined in a week's time. All growers in the county should look for affected plants which show leaves that appear water-soaked and wilted and on the underside of the leaves a milky-like growth. This is an unmistakable sign and is more readily found in the morning before the heat of the day. City gardeners should also look for this disease as many purchased their seed potatoes last spring from unreliable sources. Moreover, in a great many cases these potatoes were shipped into the state from districts where this disease occurs annually. These small patches may be the starting place of a serious outbreak. If the night temperature continues to stay around 88 degrees and accompanied by muggy weather, it will be advisable to spray with Bordeaux mixture. As the fungus fruits on the underside of the leaves it will be necessary that the spray be applied so as to cover this surface. Any cases found should be reported to the county agent at once.

Is Your Community On High?

If your county organization hasn't shifted into high yet, it's high time it did.
A three-week campaign means that all preparation must be done in advance.

The farther and faster our boys drive the Huns back towards Berlin the faster we must mobilize the dollars that keep them going.
We all condemn the tightwad who withholds his money and doesn't buy bonds. How about the publicity secretary or county chairman who withholds his good ideas and doesn't help the other fellow sell bonds? Use the bulletin to pass your good hunches along.

You've seen an autoless Sunday. Imagine an autoless Monday or Tuesday or Friday on the front when our boys are waiting for ammunition and food! They'll have 'em if we don't supply the funds.
Every day'll be Labor-Day from now until the 19th of October.

The boys go singing to victory over there. Let's go singing to over-subscription over here.

Complete victory is like the best oil or coal. If we're unwilling to dig deep enough we can't get it.

The fellow who doesn't believe in advertising these days probably uses a mustache cup, shies at a telephone and hasn't heard the returns on the Roosevelt-Parker election.

Fifty per cent more subscribers and fifty per cent bigger subscription from each of your third loan bond buyers will make your doubled quota this time.

Fifty per cent patriotism and fifty per cent safety first, was the reason given by a Northern Ohio widow for putting $24,000 into Third Liberty Loan Bonds.
If there are any Spaniards in your district, by any chance, they ought to be good prospects for bond right about now.

Soft Sugar Comes Into Use.
Soft sugar is again to find its proper place in the homes and eating places of Richland county during September as notice has been received by Mayor Brunner, chairman of the county food committee, that 25 per cent of the sugar shipment to retail dealers in Richland county for this month will call for soft white and brown sugar.
In informing Mayor Brunner of this new order, Fred C. Croton, state food administrator says there is an overabundance of white and brown sugar in the hands of wholesalers and retailers in order to keep it from spoiling. It was decided to make each retailer take 2 per cent of his September allotment in this kind of the product.

In some places in the county, only soft white sugar has been obtainable recently and the housewives claim it as fine as granulated for many purposes.
In recent years, the soft white sugar has not been in use much for table purposes due to the fact it was supplanted by the finer granulated grades. The new order applies to bakers and all others affected by the sugar restrictions.

The Volume of Traffic.
Some idea of the volume of the eastbound traffic is to be had from a recent report of the Pennsylvania road which shows that 250,000 freight cars moved past Columbia, Pa., during the month of June. Practically all the thru east and west bound freight is sent via this point and the cars passing there in June if coupled together would make a continuous train more than 2,000 miles in length. The average daily movement was 7,244 cars on an average of about one car every 10 seconds. On June 20, 9,331 cars passed Columbia, exceeding all previously reported one-day movements on the Pennsylvania road and establishing what is believed to be the world's record for the greatest number of freight cars that ever passed a given point in 24 hours. In weight the freight in the month exceeded 6,000,000 tons, equal to the carrying capacity of 1,200 steamships of 5,000 tons each or approximately 40 vessel loads of freight a day.

Ohio Leads.

Ohio continues to lead all states in the aggregate sale of War Savings Stamps, the cash order to September 1 amounting to a total of $60,000,000, according to the Ohio War Savings Committee. The campaign gains in impetus and the "roll up" during the last few days in August indicates that Ohio people who pledged to purchase are making good their promises to save.
Nine counties—Ashland, Morrow, Morgan, Knox, Richland, Seneca, Warren and Noble—have exceeded their cash quotas of $20 per capita for the year. The 33 more counties are on the road to the victory list within the next few weeks. Morrow leads with cash sales of $29 for every man, woman and child in the county. Ashland was the first to exceed its quota.

Muskingum, Butler and Clark counties have each absorbed more than $1,000,000 in War Savings Stamps. Lucas county is leading in the campaign, having sold less than Montgomery county and $1,500,000 behind Franklin county. Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Franklin and Stark counties have sold from $1,500,000 to more than $5,000,000. The sales in Richland, Athens, Licking and Columbiana counties are nearing the $1,000,000 mark.

Recent activities in Youngstown and Akron are bringing these communities in line with the success in all parts of the state. Sixty-five counties have sold in excess of $10 per capita to September 1. The record in Ohio in aggregate sales, which exceeds that of either New York state, Pennsylvania or Illinois—each with two million population—is attracting the attention of the nation to the Buckeye state.

Mansfield Youth Touring World.

It's a cold, cold world and police and other ordering people do not appreciate the romance that stirs in the breast of youth.

Ask James Reinhardt, 15; Fred Carter, 14, and Jerald Selby, 16, all of Mansfield, who are just at present spending an enforced vacation at the detention home in Cleveland.

The three boys started out to tour the world. They got as far as Cleveland when their money ran out and they were picked up by the police when they tried to sell a new suitcase for the "price of a meal." Police at Mansfield have been notified.

Soldier Boys Gone Wrong.

In efforts to secure reinstatement, the services of Congressman Overmyer were enlisted by relatives of three young men from the Fifteenth district who have recently been dismissed from military service. Two from the navy and one from the army. In each case the relatives claim an injustice has been done by the severity of the sentence imposed for minor offenses. The congressman finds it difficult to accomplish much in these cases, as the regulations of the army and navy in war time are very strict, and while now it is fighting to make the world safe for democracy and a fit place to live in, it is proposed that our boys must prove themselves good examples of what we want the Huns to be. Severe penalties are being imposed on wilful and proved violators of military rules and discipline, yet a fair hearing is always granted the accused.

"THE OLD RELIABLE"

WHAT IS SUGAR HOARDING?

Having on hand more than is needed for a reasonable length of time. You should not fail to return any unused balance of sugar purchased for canning purposes.

May a household have a month's supply of sugar on hand?

This is not justifiable except in extreme cases where there are no stores available for purchase and it should be done only upon advice of the Federal Food Administrator or his deputy.

It throws the distribution system out of joint; it raises prices; it imposes a heavier burden upon those already doing their utmost; it results in waste where there are no proper facilities for storage; it discourages the honest.

What is the moral wrong of hoarding?

It is selfish, cowardly, unpatriotic. It is, in effect, taking upon one's self privileges at a time when all Americans should be on the same footing, share and share alike.

Is there any punishment for hoarders?

Yes. The Food Control Act provides fines of not more than $5000 and imprisonment for hoarding by dealers, manufacturers, or householders.

He who loveth a book will never want a friend; a wholesome companion, a cheerful companion, an effectual comforter.

Storing Seed Corn.

The early selection of seed corn will not be of any particular benefit unless it is properly stored and cared for. Corn which is well stored, even though it is sown out of the dough stage, if properly dried, will make splendid seed. It should be husked and hung up to dry immediately after picking.

About as easy a way of storing it as any is to weave the ears into double twine and hang them up under cover where the air can circulate all around them. Fifteen or twenty ears can be hung from a single nail. They may also be stuck on nails driven through a thin board and this board nailed to the wall or posts in the barn or crib. Ears should not touch each other as this is very likely to cause mold.

Such places as furnace rooms, attics, and dry cellars are very desirable places for the proper drying out of seed corn. It should not be hung up on tenth south side of the building nor put in tight granaries or damp cellars or in any poorly ventilated place. By taking special care to get the seed thoroughly dried before freezing temperatures prevail, corn of high germination will usually be secured so that less time will be necessary for testing in the spring.

At different experiment stations corn which is artificially dried has germinated considerably better than corn which is allowed to dry by natural courses. At Wisconsin in particular, two hundred and eleven tests gave an average germination of 88.2 per cent with an actual stand in the field of 83 per cent for the artificially dried seed, while that which was dried by the natural methods gave a germination test of 51 per cent.

The moisture content of corn selected early will of course be very high and the more rapidly it is dried, the less danger there will be of mold. It should not be brought in from the field and thrown in a heap to remain even over night, but if it cannot be immediately hung up or placed in racks, it should at least be spread out upon a dry floor.

Again, keep in mind that the time spent in early selection may be lost unless proper care in storing methods are used after it is selected.

Put In Class Four.

Speaking of the constancy of woman, once in a while we find one that refuses to play this constancy stunt to the limit, and which marital ties are once broken she will not again pick up the tangled ends. Here's an example: Thirteen years ago Paul Thiel, of Chicago, went away, leaving his wife and several little Thiels behind him. It was up to Mrs. Thiel to provide for those children. She did it by hard work. Now Mr. Thiel has come back and wants his wife to forget the past, and take him back. Mrs. Thiel refuses. The children are begging her to take papa back, but Mrs. Thiel is firm. She is through with Paul Thiel the Enoch Arden kind of a man does not appeal to her. Even when her husband said tearfully: "I came to say goodbye to our son who must go to war," Mrs. Thiel did not relent. She said coldly: "All right, say goodbye: it is the thing you do best."

The Test of An Undertaker

Like doctors, lawyers, and other professional men, the undertaker has a reputation to maintain. The up-to-date funeral director nowadays attends conventions, studies his trade publications and keeps abreast of the improvements of the times. Just as an experimenter, sometime, ask any live, up-to-date undertaker about the Norwalk Vault. A leader won't wait to be asked; he will tell you at the first opportunity a dozen reasons why the Norwalk has been accepted throughout the country as the very foundation of the modern, sanitary burial.

The Liquor Forces fought to waste coal, sugar, grain, freight cars, and resources needed to win the war.

They want Ohio Wet to continue the waste, drunkenness, dirty politics, Sunday selling, and saloon profits.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Adam Schultz, Who Alleges He Received Numerous Threatening Letters, Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Whether or not the shot was intended to kill, it is certain that Adam Schultz, North Robinson road, had an escape so narrow that he can be extremely thankful that he was able to tell his tale, even though it be a rather weird and strange one.

The Schultz family reside on the Vincent Bonin farm, about three miles northwest of here. His story is that for some time he has been receiving threatening letters, from unknown sources, letters in which the writer warned him to prepare for death, according to Schultz's statement. The culmination of these alleged letters came Sunday when a note was fastened to the house a sheet of paper embellished with skull and cross bones, and a heart punctured with a dagger, together with an inscription which conveyed the rather annoying and uncomfortable information that Schultz was about to have his heart cut out, or something equally terrific.

The Schultz family were pretty badly frightened when the man of the house discovered the Black Hand Klu Klux warning, but everything quieted the terror in the household during Sunday and on Labor day following.

Yesterday there were doings. During the day Schultz went back in a field in the presence of performance of his farm duties, and soon after he left the house a shot was heard, and a little later Schultz appeared at the house, with his coat afire. A daughter pulled off the coat and stamped out the fire, and it was then discovered that the father had been shot.

When the physician, who had been summoned arrived, he found a dangerous wound, in below the heart, the ball, when discharged from the gun, entered the flesh of the apex, struck a rib and deflected sufficiently to pass out, but the closeness to the heart was such that had the ball struck the heart a little further up, instant death would have resulted.

There is a mystery about the whole affair, with positively nothing to point to a possible perpetrator. Schultz claimed that he had been shot from the back, but the course taken by the bullet showed this to have been impossible. The fact that his coat was smoking and that the flesh about the wound was blackened with powder smoke would indicate that the shot was fired at a very close range. It is alleged that the warning missive found on the house Sunday was fastened by Schultz's own pen knife. The statement is made that no one ever saw any of the numerous letters which Schultz is supposed to have received, and that there was only one path from the house to the field, where the shot was fired, and through the tall grass and only one return path, and that there was no indication of the presence of a second person in the field.

Schultz is alleged to have stated that on several occasions he saw a stranger skulking about on the road just across from the house. Information of the shooting came to Chief Riblet this morning, and he notified Sheriff Steckman, who may conclude to make a general investigation.—Galion Inquirer.

Until peace is declared, the War Department has decided to use certain of the colleges of America for the training of officers. Oberlin College has been officially designated by the War department as one of the select institutions in which the new military training schools will be located. High school graduates, eighteen years or over, can now enter college and the United States Army at the same time. The government will pay their tuition, board and lodging, furnish the uniforms and give each cadet a retainer pay of thirty dollars per month. These men will be trained as follows in the new Students' Army Training Corps.

Men who are eighteen years of age or over and who are prepared for college are to register with their local boards on the 12th of September and enter college at the opening of the year (September 17th and 18th are the registration days at Oberlin). On or about the 1st of October the commander of the college unit will admit physically fit men into the S. A. T. C. by voluntary induction. The status of these men will correspond to that of private soldiers of the United States, enlisted for the war, on active duty. The men may expect to remain in college until about that time they would have been summoned for service if not in school.

1400 Women Get Jobs.

More than 1,400 women have been employed by the eastern lines of the Pennsylvania railroad during June to do every kind of work from cleaning locomotives to leading track gangs. Before the war women were rarely taken into the railroad service, but since it began 9,354 have been employed. This is an increase of 1,945 over last year. Women are now working in 60 classified occupations on the Pennsylvania road, and have invaded manual labor, which was formerly regarded as being filled only by men.

Libby Is A Pig-Bait With a Straight Tale

Down in Ashtabula county there is a fine owned Libby. It has proved to be a particularly amiable and fast-growing pig, and its proud owner and upbringer believes it is because it got the right start early in life.

This was it.

"Of course I put all the money I could into Liberty Bonds during the last campaign," explains the owner, an enthusiastic woman. "Last fall when the interest was due, I tried to think of a particularly good investment for it. And as I was coming out of the bank I met a farmer friend of ours. 'Don't you want to buy a pig,' he said, 'a nice companionable little pig' that had never thought of pigs in that way, but rather, remember those needless days we were told were ahead of us, and porkless days, and I said, 'Here's my investment'."

"So I bought the pig with my bond interest and named it 'Libby.'

"Next winter we'll kill her, and squash as we hate to, and leave the butcher's meat for less provident people.

Tom Latham, of Norwalk, Republican candidate for State Senator, was in town during the week, negotiating the sale of a Huron county farm to Mr. M. Duncan. He paid the office a pleasant visit, and remarked that farm business was unusually good, and that the political situation was entirely satisfactory.

I expect to carry my home county by 2,000, said he, Erie by 500, and it is a fifty-fifty shot that I will break even in Ottawa and Sandusky counties, and why?

People nowadays, all from Missouri; they want to know what you are and where you are at, I believe they want something besides "sucker" statements to represent them.

It is quite amusing to hear candidates from Coroner up, use the political megaphone on war stuff to further their candidacy. We are in this war and believe we are going to win it, in fact, we don't win or lose our hides. It must matter whether you elect Bill Jones of Mud Creek, Justice of the Peace or not so far as winning the war is concerned. Our boys are doing the fighting over there and not a sundry lot of candidates.

Let's cut out the wind, sober up, and analyze the state situation.

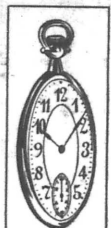

Jim Cox, declares himself to be the great and mighty constructive governor of Ohio. Yes, very constructive, so far as manufacturing political machines.

Machinery that requires so much lubrication, and the taxpayer pays for the oil and the gasoline. Look up your receipt of 20 years ago, and see if you are not paying nearly double the amount of taxes today, and this is a matter that I want to speculate on if you send me to the senate.

I must hurry along, remarked Mr. Latham; later in the season I hope to have the opportunity of addressing your people in this vicinity, by that time the beans and buckwheat will be harvested down our way, and I will have plenty of time.—Genoa Times.

Death of Mrs. Myron T. Herrick.

The remains of Mrs. Myron T. Herrick, wife of the former ambassador to France, were brought to the Herrick home in Overlook road, Cleveland Heights, Monday for burial.

Mrs. Herrick died Sunday afternoon, at Talleyrand cottage, Bar Harbor, Me., after a prolonged illness, believed brought on by work in Paris at the beginning of the war. Mr. Herrick and their son, Farnely W. Herrick, were with Mrs. Herrick when she died.

Mrs. Herrick, who was Miss Caroline M. Parnely, was married in 1880. She had been a leader in public and civic activities constantly. She became very popular in Paris at the outbreak of the war for her work in aiding suffering refugees.

Beer, Breweries and Germany

Beer came directly into America from Germany. It is the German national beverage. Native born Americans have acquired its use from Germany. Should its use be continued by loyal Americans? Most of the boards of education in America are discounting the teaching of the German language in a sense of loyalty. Why continue the use of Germany's national drink.

Germany has decreed against the manufacture of beer throughout the empire during the remaining period of the war, and Germans themselves are thus sacrificing its use to aid in winning the war for Germany. Is there any argument why the Germans in America should not do without it, to help win the war for America, if they are loyal Americans?

Why did the Kaiser issue an edict prohibiting the brewing of beer in Germany during the period of the war? The reason, of course, because beer is a non-essential; because it is a destroyer of efficiency of men; because it is a destroyer of foodstuffs. Do not these same reasons apply with force as to why America should become beerless during the war?

Mr. Hoover states that in the year 1917 the breweries of America consumed (spoiled) between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 bushels of grain in brewing beer alone! While our own soldier boys at the front and our allies and their families must have according to his estimate, twice that amount of grain to sustain them and to win the war. Would it not appear that the beer drinkers might be asked to contribute to their dead end by stopping the unnecessary consumption of beer and not become ruffled in temper about it either.

As beer came from Germany and the Germans have installed it in America, might lead us logically to suspect that it may have been by design to create tension and a part of the German propaganda in the aid of Germany? It is evident that Germany has been preparing the war for more than half a century, (spoiled) therefore, this may have been a deliberate plan from the beginning. Every beer drinker at least refuses to consider the sacrifice of a beerless day to aid in winning the war.

Those are sacrifices of essentials. But the beer consumer of German instincts and inclinations refuses so small a sacrifice as doing without beer. Those who persist in their loyalty or otherwise, and we have reason to believe it is based upon pro-Germanism!

They prefer beer to winning the war.

It is a rule of human conduct well established that one intends the natural result of his own actions, so whatever the brewers and beer drinkers may say as the result of their conduct is intended. It is useless consumption of coal, of labor, of shipping space, of production of necessities and munitions, of rendering men inefficient, of depriving the soldier and the families of our allies of food, and many other things. Therefore, the result of brewing and consuming beer is a direct and intentional act of depriving Germany to win the war, and thus of disloyalty to America!

The so-named "Liberty League" heading this beer-drinking element all over America, shouting the words "personal liberty" in human conduct, every one of them inconsistently attempts to deny the right of liberty of expression to those who may differ from them, and who believe that beer drinking is a non-essential and should be abandoned, as they appear to view it, is only one side. This is not American LIBERTY—rather it must be German "liberty" and had its origin in the German brewery and beer came from.

Why should this nation cater to the German-American beer drinker citizen who remains home safe from war in preference to our own soldier boy defenders or our allies? Should they be supplied with this non-essential to the detriment of the needs and danger of the man, woman and children on the fighting line? Is it not selfish, unthoughtful, un-patriotic and pro-

German to demand such a thing? Let them not only demand but fight for it.

The recent testimony developed before the United States Senate judiciary committee in Washington, showed that the brewers of America contributed money to defend beer brewing and consumption through the German-American Alliance, a pro-German organization. This would indicate a direct connection between the Kaiser's government and its descendants, the brewers of America.

Let the breweries, having had their origin in Leipzig, be returned to Leipzig, together with the brewers who are dissatisfied to be loyal Americans, and thus closed from further production for and fight the people engaged in the war; they appear to be pro-German in conduct, and they who are unwilling to make so small a sacrifice to aid America in winning the war, let them be returned to the Fatherland, where they will feel at home.

Huron Co. Boy Killed in Action.

The News, of Norwalk, carries the following information on the death of a Huron county boy.

Two letters received from Huron county boys who went to France with Gen. Pershing's first division of U. S. troops give the information that Harold McClaffin only son of Benj. Mc Claffin, just killed in France about five weeks ago.

The parents of young McClaffin, who enlisted in Company "G" when war was declared by the United States against Germany, and was among the first to arrive in France, have not as yet been officially notified by the War Department of the young soldier's death.

Mr. Noble Hurst of Wakeman, received a letter Wednesday from his son Glain in France, stating that he was standing beside Harold McClaffin when the latter was struck down mortally wounded by the enemy's fire.

Ed Coleman, of New London, also in a letter to his sister of that town, stated that Harold McClaffin was killed while in action. It is his opinion that the parents have received of his fate, and it is believed by them that the reason the war department has not notified them, there must be more than one Harold McClaffin in service, and their addresses have been confused at the war department.

BIG SUPERFEATURE FILM

Made From Ambassador Gerard's Book Has Personal Indorsement of Mr. Gerard.

One of the most important and interesting productions ever produced in motion pictures is the dramatic production filmed from Ambassador James W. Gerard's book, "My Four Years in Germany."

Throughout the entire production of this film Mr. Gerard is in close touch with William Nigh, who directed the production and the scenes and incidents have been staged with the most painstaking care in every detail.

Nothing will so clarify in the minds of the public the reasons why America is now at war with the autocratic despotism of Europe, as this clear and lucid tale of the hidden forces working for the future downfall of America and the forces of democracy.

The results of this German inability to really understand America is clearly shown in the incidents which took place in Germany before the war and in which our Ambassador, James W. Gerard, was involved.

The whole history of German intrigue, diplomacy and double dealing is exposed in this intensely interesting and dramatic picture of Mr. Gerard's book, which will be shown at the TEMPLE Theatre, WILLARD, OHIO, on September 23 and 24.

Matinee Daily at 2:30, night at 7:00 and 9:00 o'clock. Admission, Children, 6 to 12, 17c. Adults, 28c.

No Prohi or Socialist Tickets.

With characteristic delay the several County Boards of Deputy States Supervisors of Election are slowly transmitting the petitions filed by the Socialists and Prohibitionists to the Secretary of State. In five days just five counties have reported.

These petitions are to be used to place upon the ballot the state candidates nominated by the party conventions, and nearly 12,000 signatures are necessary to secure the coveted position that bring 1 per cent of the total vote cast for Governor in 1916. These five counties show only 1,813 for the Socialists and but 303 for the Prohibitionists.

In the opinion of Chief Statistician Johnson neither party will qualify. The bulk of the Socialist vote comes from the large centers of population and the returns from several of these made unofficially, seem to point to failure.

While the final count will be long delayed by the delinquent election officials, only such returns as were made 60 days before the election will be received by the Secretary of State, who under the law must certify all nominations 40 days before November 5, in order that the ballots may be printed.

Believe me when I tell you that thrift of time will repay you in after years we want a usury of profits beyond your most sanguine dreams and that the waste of it will make you dwindle, alike in intellectual and moral stature, beyond your darkest reckonings.—W. E. Gladstone.

United States Marine Borrowers Plane and Does Amazing Stunts

On the first morning of his arrival at Camp Chamberlain borrowed a plane and shot down one German in flames and forced another to descend so a British flyer could get him.

On the next day he went as an escort for a party of French bombers over the Marne. On the way back he got into a fight, had engine trouble, and one of his guns jammed.

The Marine's own story. He requested that Chamberlain borrowed the plane and shot down one German in flames and forced another to descend so a British flyer could get him.

"I turned desperately, having no more shells left. I saw my companions attacking the three remaining Huns, who were making off in wide circles."

"After I had guns quit a way back, I saw my engine vent had kept getting worse. The other two, like typical British soldiers, stayed with me until near our lines, when the engine died."

Engine Bad, Hunts Fights. My engine was missing badly, and had gone dead a moment before, but I went to meet him like to meet to fight. I fired just to break the strafe.

My two companions were darting this way and that, trying to force their way out of the circle, but the Huns were maneuvering so as to tighten the circle. They didn't see me as I flew in the hazy sunlight just over their circle.

"As two went for my companions I went for them, nose down, with the vertical engine full on. I got the first one in thirty yards and twenty rounds from my one working gun. He blew up and went down burning."

"I dodged to miss him the second enemy turned square about in front of me, and I got him with a burst of twenty-five shots at twenty yards. He spun about, with flames leaping over the machines. The pilot jumped out."

"Then my engine commenced sputtering. I looked around and saw five coming at me, including the leader in a mellow gray Albatross. I saw my companions go after a Hun plane, and each got one. One went down burning and a wing fell off the other one."

"There directly under me was a desperately moving Hun, but I had no more shells left. I saw my companions attacking the three remaining Huns, who were making off in wide circles."

"I saw I couldn't make my line in the deep woods as I dove onto the Hun troops, coming behind their lines. Flying fixed my other gun after the flight, I scattered them with a hail of bullets. I then landed on a sloping depression near the wood, an eighth of a mile beyond the enemy outpost."

"I was in a wheat field about 100 yards from some trees, where I

"The German started when he heard English, and answered in good English. He begged me not to kill him, so I was satisfied with my recommendation. 'I told him to shut up and crawl on. If he did not try to run he would not be harmed. We reached the wood, thick with brambles and swept by machine guns and shells. In the middle of the wood was a stream five feet wide and four feet deep. I heard a whispered word in French, so I crawled along a few yards and found a wounded colonel, who had been hit in the leg and neck."

Cares for Wounded Man. The German prisoner followed me without a word. He started to give me a drink from his canteen, but I took the canteen, washed it, gave the colonel a drink, washed his wounds so I could move him, and then picked him up. I ordered the German to make his way with his hands up. The Hun drew up first. Then I went in. Snipers took three shots at us, but they only splashed blood. The brute of a Hun stepped on the other bank of the stream and I had to drag the wounded colonel through the Hun-shelled trench."

"I was suddenly fired on and challenged in French. I replied in bad French, 'Officer militaire Americaine, aux bisse colonel.' 'Aviator Americain', and added about all the French I knew. A whole string of French came in reply."

"The German said, 'They saw you into the open with hands up.' I did. Then two British and a French officer came. The British and the German, but I pointed to my gun and the wounded colonel, who talked fast, whereupon the Frenchman threw his arms about his neck and talked a lot. We crawled to the outpost. I helped the wounded colonel to the dressing station, which was being shelled. The Hun acted as my assistant and interpreter. Speaking French, he gave me five valuable pieces of information, and I took him to the division headquarters."

"When questioned I pretended I did not know what was wanted and wouldn't give my name. After a time the French commander got this information by telephone from the British commander."

Oregon, Ill.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for an organic trouble from which I had suffered for years. GRAND, GLORIOUS FEELING

Moment in the Life of an Aviator That Makes Up for Much He Has Endured.

When you have been on patrol a long way behind the enemy lines, shooting up towns and camps and railway trains like a pack of aerial cowboys; when, on your way home, you have liberally disobeyed orders and looted a long way behind the other members of your group in order to watch the pretty sunset; and as a punishment for this selfish indulgence have been overthrown by darkness and compelled to land in strange country, only to have your machine immediately surrounded by German soldiers; then, having taken the desperate resolve that they shall not have possession of your old battle-scarred avion as well as of your person, when you are about to touch a match to it, if the light glisters on a long French bayonet and you learn that the German soldiers have been prisoners since the battle of the Somme, and have just finished their day's work at harvesting beets to be used in making sugar for French Poland—ah, isn't it a grand and glorious feeling!

To which I would reply, "Mals out, mon vieur! Mals out!"—James N. Hall, in July Atlantic.

Why Lovebird Grieved. Mr. and Mrs. Lovebird liked to sit together in the evening, reading the paper, and then to discuss what they had read. They assured their friends that it broadened their outlook. On one such occasion Mrs. Lovebird remarked:

"The war is keeping us all guessing. Isn't it, Harold?"

"It is," answered Harold. "Nobody can say when Greece will come in."

"And it's just the same with moon," answered Mrs. Lovebird eagerly. "I've been down to the provision man every day this week, and he keeps saying 'I'll come in any minute.'"

What Is Sugar?

By the U. S. Food Administration

Sugar is a food as well as a flavor. One of the simple food lessons the United States food administration has driven home is "Food Is Fuel for Fighters."

The commercial granulated sugar we buy at the store is not the only sugar on the shelf. Some of these other sugars have popular names which denote their origin...

The best sugar or cane sugar that we buy from the grocer is also an "one." It is called "sucrose."

The department of agriculture tells us that while the canes and the sugar beet are the only commercially important sources of sucrose...

When a sucrose, or ordinary sugar, is taken into the body and goes through the process of digestion it is changed into glucose and fructose.

Glucose is a simple sugar very easy to digest. As it is manufactured today, it contains absolutely no harmful substances.

We need to remember that all the sweeteners the United States food administration asks us to use in place of "sugar" are sugars, too...

Lusitania May Be Raised By a New Salvage Machine. That Also May Save Others

It is not unlikely that one of the first great undertakings after the war will be the raising of the Lusitania, notes New York World.

The great ship lies on the shifting sands at the bottom of St. George's channel, in 270 feet of water. Divers had not been sent down to the depth...

Near the bottom is a large searchlight, capable of illuminating the water for a distance of thirty feet or more, and by means of this the helmet diver can be lowered to the depth...

Four enormous perpendicular pontoons of hollow steel will then be sunk, one on each side of the ship and then will be attached to cables, passing under the sunken hull.

Nor will their usefulness end with the raising of the Lusitania. The ocean is full of goods to the bottom of 100 feet of water, rests the Eurpione...

Mrs. Henry Sargent, of Perrysburg, Ohio, entertained Mrs. Sarah Harding, of Plymouth, and on the departure of her guest she sent the following as a bit of bloom for our rose garden.

Dear Mr. Editor:

For a good many years we have had an old friend as week-end guest in our home.

During the past several weeks we have remarked on the apparent improvement of the general condition of our guest, and congratulatory ourselves that this very dear friend was gaining in strength and would soon be an influence toward right principles and good citizenship in the community.

For two weeks we have been greatly disappointed over the non-appearance of this old friend and the usual routine of our household has been greatly interrupted. We have overlooked the fact that we could have no more of these visits until we arranged certain details at the other end of the line.

We are, therefore, sending the necessary papers to insure safe transportation, so that we may again enjoy the weekly visits and be informed of the happenings in our dear old home town.

In other words we cannot get along without the Advertiser in our home, and we wish you to know that we appreciate your efforts to bring the paper up to standard; and that you have our congratulations and good wishes.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Henry H. Sargent.

From Corporal Lawrence Buzard.
August 17, 1918.

Dear Mother:
I well how are all of you today. I hope well as I am. We are pretty busy an dhere isn't much to write about. It is almost as warm here as it was in Alabama but not quiet. I don't think that it is too hot here as it is here.

I see that the 18 & 45 draft law is going through. But I'm afraid that they will never see France. Providing one gets back O. K. the trip is worth many dollars. We have seen a few hardships already but haven't suffered from any of them. Any one who finished in the last big hike we had sure deserve credit and can consider himself in pretty good condition.

Our battery had about the least men drop out of any. I'll tell you all about it some day. You know if we didn't suffer any hardships and undergo any danger it would not be very much fun to come back home an tell them about this hike and that battle and how we wore our gas mask for 10 hours.

I imagine it will be much like when the old civil war veterans used to get together and fight their battles over again. All the glory is in the return home. Here is hoping it won't be very long. Goodbye for this time. Give my regards to all.

Lawrence Buzard.
The Troop Movement.

For many reasons it is not perhaps in the public interest that a complete statement of the traffic that has been handled for the Government should be published at present, but some idea of the service performed may be had from the statement that from May 1, 1917, to July 31, 1918, about 6,455,568 troops had been moved on orders from the War and Navy Departments. Of this number 4,304,530 or nearly 63 per cent were carried between January 1 and July 1, 1918. These figures do not include soldiers, sailors, and officers traveling at their own expense.

The trust success is the result of an equal development of mind, body and soul.

We make a hobby, of two kinds of stock; first we are sincere and know the stock in question has merit.

First we allude to the Ohio Seamless Tube Company Stock. It has made big money for my friends, hence why we like it which

Then there is the Ohio Cities Gas Stock, has for some years, paid 5 per cent cash dividend, quarterly, and then as a little surprise, just thrown in, it likewise pays a stock dividend each year, its capital stock is one hundred million. The more we tell you of this stock, the better you will like it. It is another company, that has great merit.

We make it a rule not to offer any kind of stock to our clients, that we do not own ourselves, more or less.

We have one Fire Insurance Company, that we have issued at our Agency over 1400 policies. Its cost is only one half stock rates.

We issue Bonds for Administrators and guardians. Make selling farms a specialty. As Pension attorney, we have achieved an enviable reputation. Employ a live wire and obtain results.
