

Joel Kimble Dies in Oklahoma. Mystery Surrounding Wood Co. Crime Unsolved.

The death of Joel Kimble, 68, at Tulsa, Okla., last week, removed a prominent figure in one of the most baffling and mysterious cases in northwestern Ohio.

Four years ago Kimble and his wife were brutally slain in a house near Bradner. Kimble was found in the yard of his home by a neighbor. His head had been caved in with a blunt instrument, but he recovered after hovering between life and death for several weeks.

His wife was found in the kitchen of the home in a dying condition, her head and body badly mutilated. She died without regaining consciousness. When Kimble recovered he named John Willey, 20, his grandson, as the guilty person, alleging that Willey had assaulted him in a shed near the house from the house, while he was engaged in milking.

At the trial which followed Willey was found guilty and sentenced to a year in the penitentiary. The judge ruled that this was not in accord with the testimony and ordered a new trial. A few days later Willey's body was found hanging to a tree near Bradner. He had been dead several hours. His wife, Mrs. Olive Willey, declared her husband was slain by a mob and produced a threatening letter from unidentified writers to substantiate her claim.

The case was argued and is now awaiting action of the higher courts. The body of Joel Kimble will be buried at Pemberville for funeral services and interment.

Well Known Grocer Dead.

Charles L. Quinsance, Bucyrus, Ohio, 60, a director of the Ohio Retail Grocers' association, is dead, after a lingering illness which he contracted in a hospital at his home. He was a member of a number of fraternal orders.

Two Papers Advance in Price.

The Tribune and Advertiser, both daily published at Tiffin, have raised their subscription prices to $5 per year. The Tribune price being $4 per year. The high cost of news print, along with other commodities soaring sky high, has caused the publishers of both papers to advance the price of their papers in order to make expenses.

Hats Off To American Legion.

The John Harvey Warner post of the American Legion at Tiffin has issued a challenge to Senator Harding and Pomerene, asking for bread enough and drastic enough to wipe out radicalism. The American Legion seems to have a determined disposition to whip radicalism into a frazzle, and they are the boys who can do it. The American Legion seems to have a determined disposition to whip radicalism into a frazzle, and they are the boys who can do it.

Meat Prices Going Down.

The cleaver is being swung on meat prices in Bucyrus. Price trends have been upward for so long that a distinct cut in anything is worthy of notice.

Two new shops recently started in Bucyrus are quoting low prices, which are being competed by the new store at "Wall Street" near the Hotel Royal and W. G. Merkle in the old Cuningham stand on the square are the new dealers and both are cutting prices.

Prices quoted by several dealers show the following: Pork chops down to 33 cents; round steak, 18, long steak, 18, fresh ham, 18, round steak, as low as 30.

The public is sitting up and taking notice. On the other hand, sugar has risen to 15 cents and in the general market, many articles available further. — Bucyrus Telegraph.

Former Plymouth Lady Dead. Mrs. J. Hoadley, wife of Rev. B. J. Hoadley, former pastor of the M. E. church here, died at Portland, Oregon, Nov. 22, 1919.

She was a greatly beloved woman, and our readers will learn with deep regret of her death. To eliminate the glare from street lights an English engineer has proposed a method of reflecting the light thrown on the front of the buildings.

Guest Night of the Twentieth Century Circle.

In the pleasant rooms of the Chamber of Commerce the Twentieth Century Circle held their regular meeting, Monday evening, Dec. 15, at which each member had invited a guest. The rooms had been tastefully decorated in red and green and one of the approaches to Christmas.

The president, Mrs. Waite presided. Minutes of last meeting were approved as read.

Mrs. Trimmer played a piano solo which was heartily enjoyed. Mrs. Sauer's subject was Mt. Katmai and the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, so named by Prof. Robt. F. Griggs, of Ohio State University who was leader of three exploring parties and the first man to visit the region after their eruption of volcanic eruption ever recorded.

In a very entertaining and delightful manner Mrs. Sewell told of the wonderful resources of our neighboring state, Pennsylvania. She had prepared a large map of the state and indicated the position of each city as well as the industries and commercial importance of the place.

Mrs. Ralph Hoffman recited "Mrs. Corcoran's Prayer" which was very pleasing manner, and it is needless to say all laughed at Mrs. Casey.

An instructive was Mrs. McClincy's paper about the Pottery industry. The ancient Egyptians and Chinese took lumps of moist clay, the case was applied and just in the same manner in which it is done today. She also told of the Faience pottery of Italy.

Roll call was responded to by thoughts of Yuletide. After adjournment the Christmas cards and distributed presents to all the good little boys and girls.

The entertainment committee in the meantime had prepared one great, long table in the dining-room, seating the entire company at one time. All enjoyed the delicious supper. Games were played until a late hour.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. O. A. White, Mrs. Charles Waite, Dr. J. T. Gaskill, Mrs. Augustus Metz, Mrs. W. W. Trimmer, Mr. Kirk Wilson, Mr. Elden Nimmons, Mr. Elmer Trauger, Mr. Harry Dick, Mr. Carl Lofer, Mrs. Edna Hoffman, Mrs. Ralph Hoffman, Mr. E. A. Willett, Mr. Chas. McClincy, Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. E. E. Rogers, Mrs. J. W. McFetridge, Mrs. E. E. Barnes, W. Mrs. Harold Ruckman, Mrs. J. C. Charles Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming, Mrs. Forest Stewart, Mrs. Lewis Gebert, Mrs. E. E. Motley, Mrs. Kate Taylor.

Tire Gas Rates

The Tiro council at their regular meeting Monday night passed the new rate schedule of the Logan Gas Co., which is the same as that proposed at the meeting and other towns in this part of Ohio. The Tiro council voted unanimously to adopt the new rates.

Lybarger Sells Farms

Through the Clark agency, O. L. Lybarger has sold his 57 acre farm south of town to W. H. Statler. Mr. Lybarger has sold also another tract of about 60 acres in the same vicinity to W. S. Tuttle, who formerly tenanted the Nimmons farm.

Gets Big Verdict.

Thomson H. Douglass, of Willard who recently sued the B. & O. for damages because of an injury to his leg, has been given a verdict in the Huron county court for $15,000. The jury deliberated about three hours.

Hat's In The Ring.

Senator Harding has made formal notice of his candidacy for the presidency by letter to the Ohio organization.

Senator Johnson, of California, is also out, and is practically certain.

Gen. Wood is also in the running with at least a passive effort to share the hat. Ohio organization with Gen. Harding.

Mr. Poindexter, of Washington, went down the ways into the vortex two months ago.

Sen. Tom Latham is also a candidate for governor of Ohio. Mr. Latham made his own announcement at a dinner in Fremont the other evening.

Glove Lost.

Friendship Class Gives Liberally.

The Friendship Bible class of the M. E. church has forwarded to the Methodist Children's home at Worthington, Ohio, a box of bedding and clothing and a barrel of soap, the total value of $85.00. A very liberal gift to a very worthy institution.

Basket Ball.

The ex-High players will play the Plymouth high school a game of basketball in the high school gym on Friday evening of this week. Most people who know say that the high school will play rings around the ex-boys. The latter are not in practice. Others say that the high school boys are timid—just timid enough to lose their anxiety on us we had better wait for the score.

Cannot Export Liquors.

Exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes will not be permitted after January 16, when the prohibition amendment becomes effective, according to the bureau of internal revenue. The fact that spirits are in transit in this country on that date or are in warehouse at that time will not be regarded as compliance with the law. It must be actually outside of the territory of the United States by January 16, the amendment said.

May Sell Out.

The Sutter Manufacturing Co., Shelby, is considering the sale of its property to Chicago parties, who contemplate enlarging the plant.

McBride Will.

The will of Calvin McBride, formerly of Shiloh, bequeathed to his son, Arthur McBride, the home farm of 115 acres. The will is dated Aug. 20, 1910 and is witnessed by J. M. Hunter and Bernice J. Ropp.

Arthur McBride is directed to pay to his sister, Mary Barnes of Shiloh, one year's interest on the death of their father, to Lillian Golden of Greenwich, $1200 two years after the death of the father, to the heirs of Owen McBride, $200 four years after the death of Calvin McBride, to Frances Bever, $1950 six years later; to the Board of Missions, $1000 eight years later; to Agnes McBride $1200 ten years later; to Grace Malone $1200 twelve years later. Arthur McBride is the president of the United States, and the personal property is to be divided equally among the children. Levi Malone is named executor of the will.

Get Ready to Answer.

When the consular enumerator knocks at your door he will have business with you that will demand immediate attention.

The consular officer is out to get you. The law says you must answer, so get ready to reel off the replies to the following:

1. Age at last birthday.
2. Each person ten years of age and over will be asked whether he is able to read or write.
3. Each person will be asked his birthplace as well as the birthplace of father and mother.
4. If foreign born the date of coming to the United States will be asked, and if naturalized, the date of becoming a citizen; also mother tongue or native language.
5. Each head of a family will be asked whether his home is owned by him or rented. If owned whether the home is mortgaged or not.
6. Each person will be asked his occupation and whether he is an employer or employee or both.

The answer to the above questions is valuable and vital information. — Government.

Just a puff. That's enough. Habit grows. A little here and there. Yellow stain. Listless brain. No success. No power. No love. Coffin nails. Pale faces. Weak, and thin. Laid to rest. Reason Gushed.

George Joan Nathan has given us the best definition of a star that we have ever heard. It is: "A star is an actuary who is loved a little by the public, and who looks by her manager."

Vernon Township Scrappers.

Frank Freese and Oliver Hartman have won a Vernon township Crawford county, and evidently they don't love each other with a Damon and Pythian intensity. Counts that turning the engine in battle over a matter of a hunting license, or rather the lack of one. They settled the matter in rounds then settled again in a justice's court.

The other day Freese was driving along the country road while Hartman was busking corn in a field adjoining. Hartman halted Freese and asked him if he wanted to fight. Freese pulled up on the lines and alighted from his buggy, while Hartman left his corn husking and started for the road.

Then the fun began. Hartman weighed in several pounds light, but he made up in his ability to dodge. He also landed with such startling frequency that Mr. Freese sued for damages.

Thereupon Mr. Hartman demobilized his forces and later Justice Spriggs notified the contestants that turning the engine could be arranged in his office.

Dr. Hartman, of Galion was summoned to testify whether or not the nature of the tool he used was declared that one of the cuts over Mr. Freese's left orb was the work of some sharp instrument.

The Dr. Hartman was undecided as to the nature of the tool but declared that one of the cuts over Mr. Freese's left orb was the work of some sharp instrument.

After which, Homer, son of his father put two dollars on William into the web of Freese's drug store, and asked that he be credited to the subscription of Frank Kenrick. This is written to say that a receipt, which evidences both money and appreciation on our flat top awaiting delivery. Good people, these Kenricks.

Mrs. A. G. Thornton, of Mansfield asked for a sample copy of the Advertiser. We gave it and heathofth came her check for a year's subscription. That's a new one to our growing family.

Aunt Laura Ebert, a very interesting lady, was our guest for a few minutes. — We are pleased to see a renewal to her subscription.

Mrs. Mack Rogits remembered her annual obligation to Mrs. N. Hills, of Washington, D. C., and accordingly adjusted the subscription of the latter for the year of '20.

By courtesy of Harry Silliman the subscription of B. Silliman was advanced for the succeeding year. The Silliman are very loyal to the Advertiser and we are proud to have them express our gratitude.

Harry B. Murphy, who is enroute to California, will keep his self advised of Plymouth and vicinity by the weekly visit of this paper. He is indebted to his good friends for assistance in his trip, he having come in Wednesday, despite the fact that it was the day for the best astronomical disturbance. Another new one.

Christmas Eve at the Lutheran Church.

On the eve of Christmas, Dec. 24, a new Christmas entertainment entitled The Holy Story in Pantomime will be given by the Lutheran Sunday school. This is the most pretentious thing of the kind yet attempted by the school, and will be assisted by our delightful as well as instructing all who are fortunate enough to see it. There are ten scenes, beginning with Zacharias and the Angel, and ending with The Wise Men at the Manger. These ten scenes in appropriate costume and power of the great incidents with which he deals.

We have been fortunate in securing an entertainment of such high order and one that is free from the criticism so often urged against Christmas cantatas. It is purely a presentation in pantomime of the great incidents of the Advent. An offering will be received for foreign missions.

Birthday Surprise

The country home of Jay Woodworth was the scene of much merriment on last Friday evening when 36 young people from the neighborhood gathered to celebrate the birthdays of Dale and Elma Woodworth, aged 14 and 15 years respectively. The day did not cover both birth anniversaries but it was made to do double duty.

The evening was spent in music, games and the usual carousal. A few presents were bestowed and a gladstone time enjoyed.

Senator John Sharp Williams is disgusted with the political situation, and disgusted with the senate. This is not a supposition, but John Sharp says so in a letter made public.

He says he will not be a candidate for re-election and that he would rather be a dog and bay at the moon, than to spend another day in the senate after his time is expired.

Senator Williams is not alone in his disgust. He is the public to share his opinion, and it feels much the same way.

One of the situations that fill Senator Williams with disgust is the effort the senate is making to treat international affairs as party politics. Before the war the hue and cry was that was American war. It was neither Democratic nor Republican. There was nothing wrong about that. It was national, not political.

Now comes the settlement of the business of the nasty thing, but the settlement of politics. The big thing is to put somebody in a hole. Keep the stuff for campaign purposes. Don't pull together. Keep the sediment stirred up. Keep the unrest going.

What a fine thing it would be if we could get a senate that had more consideration for public welfare, and less for the campaign that comes next.

Delay, delay, intrigue, intrigue, sidestep, sidestep, nothing direct. Cheap talk. I'm a candidate, therefore, can't come back. Wait till after election. If we do it now they'll hog the credit. Soft pedal.

Both the opposition. Muddy the track. Make a big speech. Shout Americanism. Of course we are all Americans, but we know it's cheap stuff, but you can always fool the public on cheap stuff.

Get them in a hall—the kind that go in a hall. Tell a funny story, then with a deep voice and a magic shake of the mane, shout it out that "We are for America." Hear them well. If we don't tell them we will for America they might think we were for the Fiji Islanders.

This beats good common sense. This beats grappling with constitutional legislation, either national or international, and going thru it like men in the interest of America.

Americanism in the senate will be a fine achievement, and work for all the people it kills our campaign, thunder. All we could do would be to go to the engineering department.

They will abide with Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Gaskill until they can find a home. It is probable that Mr. Gaskill will purchase one of the new homes now building.

There are probably others who feel much like Mr. Williams.

Takes Position With Fate-Root Health Co.

J. M. Gaskill and wife of Akron arrived this week to become residents of Plymouth, Mr. Gaskill having taken a position with The Fate-Root-Health Co. in the engineering department.

They will abide with Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Gaskill until they can find a home. It is probable that Mr. Gaskill will purchase one of the new homes now building.

Recount of Vote

Demand for a recount of the votes cast at the recent election on the federal prohibition amendment in practically 100 precincts in 20 counties was made in a petition filed in the Franklin county common pleas court Tuesday evening by James J. White manager of the Ohio dry federation.

It was P. J. Dowds, of New Haven, who came in Saturday and asked if it wasn't about time to get his ticket for the 1920 tour. We looked in the card index while P. J. dug for the purse. He's now ticketed through with state room accommodations.

Uncle Chas. Smith, out west Broadway, was an 8 p. m. visitor Saturday with two dollars and a smile. We took the money but didn't have the nerve to divert him of his fiscal gleam. He's set now till 1-1-21, and he departed with our receipt and benediction.

Our good friend Luther Shutt was a Monday morning caller. There are two subscriptions which he looks after with precision—his own, and "The Ohio Good" daughter Mrs. F. B. Swanger, Cleveland. Both are now secure for the year of '20.

After which, Homer, son of his father put two dollars on William into the web of Freese's drug store, and asked that he be credited to the subscription of Frank Kenrick. The Wild Pigeon.

Almost incredible stories are told of the visits of wild pigeons to this state in the early days, and many still living recall seeing them pass at migration seasons in vast flocks, but a report made by Rev. Thaddeus M. Harris of Massachusetts, who visited Ohio in 1803, of this matter, published in a book he wrote concerning the Ohio country, probably surpasses them all. He says: "The vast flights of pigeons in this country seem incredible. But there is a large forest in Waterford, near Marietta, containing several hundred acres which has been killed in consequence of their lighting upon it in the autumn of 1801. Such numbers lodged upon the trees that they broke off large limbs, and the ground below is covered—in some places—foot thick—with their excreta, which has not only killed all the undergrowth, but all the trees are as dead as if they had been girdled."

In a footnote, made by the author, evidently feeling that his readers would require further support for this story, he says: "This account which I received from credible persons at Waterford when I was there May 13, 1803, is confirmed by a letter written to me since my return by my much-esteemed friend, the Rev. Mr. Story, dated June 3, 1803. This is the Rev. Daniel Story, the first ordained minister to preach the gospel west of the Alleghenies. In the letter from the Marietta states that he has seen two such pigeon roosts and has heard of a third. One of the two contained more than 1000 acres and the other was still larger."

In the same account Mr. Harris tells of investigating the hollow trunk of a large sycamore tree, which had fallen down, in this pigeon roost, which was packed full of feathers and bones of birds. He could not make out from their decayed condition from what kinds of birds they came, but the natural presumption is that they were the remains of pigeons taken by some animals of prey to be devoured in their den in the tree.

A battleship of today can discharge in two shots as great a weight of metal as an entire broadside of Nelson's biggest ship.

In these times of ever-increasing prices, as never before, the producer of all kinds of products, whether manufacturer or farmer, can well afford to give more and more attention to the small leaks of the business. Small outlays and expenses which might at one time be neglected can no longer be overlooked for while small at one time they have doubled in nearly all cases in the last two or three years.

While there never was a time that the farmers in Huron county could afford to waste their manure, there is twice the reason today in a plain dollar and cents proposition why it should be handled properly now.

Without going into any details as to the chemical composition of manure, we all know that it contains the same three substances that we pay so dearly for in commercial fertilizers, namely, nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

Common stable manure in comparison to the prices paid for commercial fertilizers is worth about a quarter of a cent per pound when figured simply as plant food and not taking into consideration the value of its organic content. It adds humus to the soil, changes the texture by making heavy, cold soils warm and break up more easily; it makes light sandy soils more retentive of moisture and encourages the growth of beneficial bacteria so essential to clovers, alfalfa, soy beans, etc. But just as a commercial fertilizer proposition it is worth five dollars per ton without taking into consideration its other benefits. It is safe to say that common barnyard manure under present price conditions is worth something over five dollars per ton.

Roughly estimated, the manure produced under present price conditions per average farm animal per year is as follows: horse, $34; cow, $45; hog, $16; sheep, $4; poultry $0.

Upon this basis which is simply taking into consideration plant food value and not the physical, thermal, or bacterial nature derived from its use an average 160-acre farm carrying 6 horses, 10 cows, 20 hogs, 30 sheep, and 100 chickens, produces in a year's time, a value in plant food as follows: horses, $324; cows, $450; hogs, $320; sheep, $120; poultry, $60; or a total of $1274. It is impossible to add to this just what the other benefits derived from the use of this fertilizer actually would amount to but it would be quite considerable. How many farmers are actually realizing this value and are getting it?

There are two general practices used in the handling of manure, one bad and one good. One is to throw the manure out in the barnyard, exposed to all weather

The Valuable Skunk.

Skunk skins recently sold in New York for nine dollars each—the highest price ever paid for the fur pelt. But there is no indication that they will be any cheaper, for the skunk has found its place in the fur trade, and it is going to command a high price from this time forward. When one remembers that only a few years ago a skunk skin brought only a dollar, the nature of the advance can be seen.

The skunk now produces a greater revenue in this country than any other fur-bearing animal. Not that his individual skin sells for more, for there are animals whose pelts bring a higher price than do the skunks. But because the skunk is found in every latitude, because it is prolific, because it is taken in such numbers, the aggregate of the skunk skin sales is greater than of any other of our fur-bearers.

There is no more serviceable fur than that of the skunk. It is heavy, with strong hide back of it, and is susceptible of being worked up in any way. It can be trimmed, colored and handled easily by the furrier, and it endures. So even the offensive armament of the skunk can not prevent his pelt taking a place in the economy of things—if fur in this day and age is an economy.

Historic Monroe Mansion Sold.

The old house at 63 Prince street, New York, where James Monroe, fifth president of the United States, spent the declining years of his life—and died—went under the auctioneer's hammer recently. It brought $138,000.

A real estate broker bought the place for an unnamed client. Efforts to preserve the house as an historic monument had been unavailing. Patriotic societies considered it, but no time was found to organize a movement to purchase it.

Samuel L. Gouverneur, son-in-law of President Monroe, built the house in 1822, and in the years immediately following it was the scene of gala social festivities. Monroe went there to make his home at the end of his second term as president.

Experiments conducted whereby large quantities of manure were exposed to all kinds of weather conditions for periods of six months or less show that 50 to 75 per cent of the nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash are actually washed or leached away. Taking our 160-acre farm, this would mean a loss in dollars and cents of over $900 which could be easily saved with a little good management.

Besides this loss the plant food has got to be supplied from somewhere or else the crops suffer and can only be supplied with an extra outlay of money for commercial fertilizers. Commercial fertilizers are a good thing but how many farmers think of piling the fertilizer outside of the barn and allowing half of its value to be washed away by rain and bad weather?

There are days when it is impossible to haul out the manure but there are few weeks on the farm in winter that the horses are not hitched up for something, and that is the time to clean out the barn. Hauling directly from the barn to the field also saves one handling. On farms producing one or two hundred tons of manure a year that is an item worth considering.

Also hauling manure in the spring or fall in winter with spring or fall plowing and six or eight days at that time of the year may mean success or failure of a particular crop. The money saved by keeping this valuable product hauled out at all times will much more than pay for a manure spreader in one year's time or will make a good payment towards a straw shed or covered manure pit.

Summing up the subject of proper handling of manure one can readily see that there is (1) A saving of at least 50 per cent of the plant food. (2) Saving of labor in handling only once. (3) Saving of time in spring and fall which might be devoted to other work. (4) Less commercial fertilizer is needed to keep up the fertility of the farm. It seems to me that this is a problem which many of the farmers of Huron county or any other locality can well afford to consider carefully and then plan to make the needed changes to correct the condition. How much is a ton of manure worth to you and will it pay to take care of it? Max N. Phillips, County Agent.

Any senator who dodges the responsibility of the peace treaty, and by delay attempts to drag it into the campaign next year is not meeting issues squarely and in good faith. It is not a question of what disposition is made. The duty is to meet it as a document in which our international relations and obligations are involved and about its disposal like statesmen and not like politicians who would seek party advantage. It is one thing to cry out Americanism but dodging the task that involves Americanism will be so apparent that no one will be misled by the policy. Unless Mr. Lodge, Mr. Knox, Mr. Borah, Mr. Johnson and others throttle the small staff of which they have been guilty the Republican party will go into the next campaign on crutches. The senate has been selected as men of probity, and if they can not act with deliberate intelligence, that will be gained by having the document kicked about in a political campaign. We cannot imagine a drier issue. No one wants to fight the war over again. Let's go into the campaign on domestic issues.

NEW HAVEN

The New Haven School will give a Christmas entertainment at the M. E. church, Tuesday evening, December 27, at 7:30 o'clock. The High School pupils will give Christmas carols and the Intermediate and Primary pupils, plays and recitations. The monthly Teachers' meeting of Supt. W. I. Shuman's district was held in the High School room at New Haven Saturday, December 13. Twenty-five teachers were present and also Supt. O. C. Minnich of Norwalk. This room is to be the regular meeting place of this district for the present school year.

Mrs. Geo. Searle and daughter Elnor, of Plymouth, were Sunday afternoon callers at the home of Mrs. Mariette Woodworth. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Woodworth were week end guests of Mrs. Woodworth's parents of Fitchville.

Mr. Harding's Candidacy.

Concerning Mr. Harding's candidacy, N. H. Fairbanks, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee writes as follows: United States Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, is a hundred percent candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency at the National Convention in Chicago, June 8, of next year.

From the moment it was understood in Washington that the Ohio senator had consented to become a candidate, his offices were crowded by men and women from all parts of the United States who attended the meeting of the Republican National Committee this week.

Harding's support is not of the spotted variety. It is general and comes from the North, the East, the South and the West. He is looked upon generally as the one man in the United States in whom are comprised all of the attributes necessary in a chief executive at this critical time in the world's history.

From the moment the Ohio congressional delegation gave him its ringing nomination for a large delegation of Ohio citizens called upon him to impress upon him the fact that he is the unanimous choice of the Republicans of his state, it became apparent that a large percentage of the visitors had caught the Ohio enthusiasm and were ready to join in a universal cry of "Harding for President".

None of the Harding sentiment has been manufactured or purchased. His record in the Senate on all of the grave questions of the hour, his magnificent Americanism and his sturdy support of American institutions has caused him to be regarded as a truly safe and sane leader in the coming campaign. I believe he will be nominated and elected President of the United States.

An error discovered in the official county gives Huron county two extra votes on the constitutional liquor amendment issue. The mistake of two votes in favor of the wets was made in Bellevue. The error was purely a technical one. It is not believed that fraud would be uncovered in counties of the type of Huron if the extra count is authorized although it is generally believed that interesting developments could be expected in Lucas, Hamilton, Franklin or Cuyahoga counties. It is said that the account of an official recount on the constitutional liquor amendment issue will be decided at Columbus in a day or two.—Norwalk Reformer-Herald.

The Feast of Dedication.

On Wednesday, December 17, there was celebrated throughout the civilized world, wherever there are even a handful of Jews, Chanukah, the Feast of Dedication, or rather as it is perhaps better known, the Feast of Lights. According to the Jewish custom, the Festival, which lasts for eight days, begins on Tuesday evening, the Jewish method being to reckon on the day from dusk to dusk and not, from midnight to midnight, as is the modern method. So, on Tuesday evening one candle will be lighted, the succeeding evening, two and so on until eight are lighted on the last day, each being lighted from a taper known as the "Shamun," or sexton.

The Book of the Maccabees tells us that the Syrian King Antiochus IV. or Epiphanes in the year 168 B. C. had decided to unify all the provinces and peoples of his Kingdom. Following the idea of his predecessor Alexander the Great, he believed that this could be accomplished only by compelling all his subjects to adopt a common religion, that of the Greeks. For this reason, he issued a decree to the Greeks and to the Greek gods were to be worshipped and only the Greek religion was to be practiced. But the polytheism of the Greeks did not appeal to the Jews who, alone of all the people of that time, worshipped the one God. Undaunted by the persecutions heaped upon them by the Syrians, undismayed by the profanation of their holy Temple and the setting up of idols therein, the Jews, led at first by the aged priest Mattathias and after his death by his son Judah Maccabeus, successfully resisted the strong armies which the Syrians sent against them, defeated them repeatedly, and finally marched triumphantly into Jerusalem. There they rededicated the Temple to the service of the one God after it had remained defiled for exactly three years. The rededication took place on the 25th day of the Jewish month of Kislev, in the year of 168 B. C., and it is commemoration of this glorious event that the Feast of Chanukah, or Dedication, is celebrated today.

In modern times the festival has assumed more and more the character of a children's celebration, a period of great joy, marked by the playing of games and the recounting of the great deeds of the Jewish heroes and martyrs of the past.

The desire of Antiochus Epiphanes to unify all the provinces and peoples of his kingdom has persisted throughout the centuries and is the policy of the entire civilized world today: one law, one language and similarity of customs is what they are all seeking today. The advanced nations, however, seek to attain their object by legitimate means, by education and by persuasion, as is the case notably in the United States.

Colored People Organize First Baptist Church.

All the colored people are satisfied and happy recipients of an evangelical able and in person of Rev. C. W. James, D. D. of the first Baptist church. They are having splendid success. Dr. James is a wonderful and influential preacher. Sunday last, day and night services were grand. Sunday night the members and friends donated to pastor and wife a splendid purse as usual. One member joined. After general collection, pastor James mentioned Mrs. Tucker being sick in bed, and asked the congregation to assist her husband in getting his mother from Mobile, Ala. The responses were very liberal, and a neat sum of $24.00 was realized.

Oliver Wilson, master of the National Grange, expressed the sentiments of a good many people outside that organization when he said at the annual convention at Grand Rapids: "No man who is not willing to learn the English language and to become a real citizen of the U. S. ought to be permitted to remain here. If he loves his native tongue and his native land better than ours, we do not want him. Mr. Wilson, (not Woodrow, but Oliver) does not talk in the least like an Internationalist."

Lutheran Church. A Christmas sermon will be given next Lord's Day morning. The subject will be—"The World was made flesh and dwelt among us." In this scripture we find the reason why the Son came into the world. It was the love of the Father that sent him. Love was God's motive, but here is the object. With the World dwelling among us, can we possibly err unless we do so by resolve. This is a theme not for ordinary notice, but for the highest meditation. Surely this is a fit exercise which to approach Christmas. This is lofty spiritual exercise of soul that can work in us good only. The time is eleven o'clock. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. It would add wonderfully to the preaching to have a crowded house. It would seem so much more worth while. Thus can you and your friends add your bit to the success and blessing of the meeting.

Make us glad with your presence.

Everybody Listen

Mine is a grocery store jammed full of the best that money and shrewd selection can buy.

CANDIES

Not any too good a year to buy Sweets—but if you would see our candy spread you would think we were operating a candy factory. We are going to let you ask the price. We may have something up our sleeve.

NUTS

We discarded all old stock, and all our varieties are fresh and filled. Walnuts, almonds, Brazils, filberts, Hazel and the normal run of Christmas time favorites.

FRUITS

Grapes, Oranges, Apples, Bananas, and anything the market offered we bought. Bought them right so we could be the pace maker in price.

STAPLES

You who want to give the useful and the staple, come in and buy. You can't beat our stock in variety and utility. Most people will buy useful things this season. That makes our store inviting to shoppers.

Wishing you the Seasons greeting, I am yours,

F. B. LOFLAND GROCER

Christmas

The same old problem "What shall I give Him for Christmas?" is due to loom up again about now.

It is the same difficult question that presents itself at every recurrence of the Christmas season.

We are in Holiday Attire and have the sort of thing a man buys for himself and appreciates most.

Always a lot of nice things for the boys.

“Your worst half” the present you want for

Ladies, pay a visit to our store and you will find just

Silk Shirts, Silk Scarfs, Silk Half Hose, and an enormous display of Silk Ties.

One thing be sure to remember do not do your Christmas shopping without paying a visit to our store.

The new minister was delivering his first sermon. The dark janitor was a critical listener from a back corner of the church. The minister's sermon was eloquent and his prayers seemed to cover the whole category of human wants. After the service one of the deacons asked the old darky what he thought of the new minister. "Don't you think he offers a good prayer Joe?" "I most suttinly do," said Joe, "why dat man said de good Lord fo' things dat de odder preacher didn't even know he had."
