Chamber of Commerce Evening

The opening night of the Chamber of Commerce is fast approaching. The dining room has been repapered and decorated, and its capacity for 100 banqueters without undue crowding is especially pleasing.

are on their way Plymouthward. Stoves and range are being installed. Linen and china are being sought, silverware will arrive soon. Furniture has been selected and it will be of a comfortable type. Then will come the big opening night. Then will come the first red shoulder touch that the men of Plymouth have enjoyed for a long time in the interest of a common good. Then will come a fine dinner and a fine address. An address by a big strong man, whose reputation is big enough and wide enough to make an hour seem brief. Whether we can secure this man is yet in question but the chances are good, and full determination will be announced in our next issue. In the mean time get ready.

Pay to John I. Beelman your membership due. The committee is meeting up with the expense of equipment, but we are going to have several hundred dollars in our treasury that will enable us to do many things of use and advantage to Plymouth and the country-side round and about us. Personally we are anxious for the big opening night. We are hoping it will be about March 14, but don't take this suggestion as definite. It will all depend on arrivals of certain articles of equipment that have been ordered.

THIS is our birthday.
AT least this issue
OF the
ADVERTISER
COMPLETES our first
YEAR in Plymouth
WE have given
YOU
JUST fifty-two issues
OF this child of
PETROLEUM V. Nasby.
WE have enjoyed the
YEAR immensely—
WE have met
A lot of good people,
WE have made a
HOST of friends—
THAT is, we've tried to.
WE have no enemies
THAT are really
HOSTILE
ANYHOW no one has KNOCKED our BLOCK off, nor even
COME in to cuss us.
NEITHER has anyone
COME in to tell us
HOW to edit this
IGNITION system.
STRANGER still, no one
HAS come in and
TOLD us to give
SO and so
HELENA, Montana.
ON the contrary everyone
HAS treated us as a GUEST.
WE have worked like
THE very Satan, and
WE haven't made money
ENOUGH to make us
FIGHT the inheritance
OR income tax laws.
THE depression in the PRICE of Liberty Bonds
IS not due to
THE fact that we
ARE throwing ours
ON to the market all
IN one sheaf.
YET, we are happy—
SUPREMELY happy.
AND we love Plymouth
WELL enough to keep

Moon's Hog Sale.
The sale of bred sows at the annual auction held at Pleasant View Farm last Monday was only fairly well attended, and the sale average was not what the blood line deserved.
Some of the best bred sows in Ohio sold extremely low. They were fine individuals and reflected the care and development which Mr. Moon had bestowed on the herd, but the eager buyers were not present.
Thirty sows due to farrow in a few weeks brought an average of $61.50 each, which was much below their real worth.
A total of 45 head were sold bringing an aggregate approaching $3000.

Our Basket Ball Team.
After handling Shelby a nice little drubbing in the swiftest games staged this season in the local gym, the boys went over to Attica and lost by a narrow margin last Friday evening. The Plymouth High Girl Team also lost to the Attica girls by a close score, but all came home speaking well of Attica as clean players.

Thanks Mahlon.
Mahlon Nimmons handed Mr. Earnest a two dollar subscription to the hand fund, which will come in handy before the concert season closes.
This is a good time to say that the band is coming along so satisfactorily that Mr. Beamer smiles when he speaks of the progress.

A. J. Pettit Joins.
A. J. Pettit told us the other day to add him to the Chamber of Commerce membership. This is fine. The membership is now above ninety. If we had three or four more good fellows we would have a cool thousand dollars in the treasury. That is some achievement and speaks well for Plymouth. No other town about us can say as much. Will you come in with us?

ON plugging
WE made one big
GIGANTIC blunder, however.
ONE big mistake.
WHEN we were advancing
THE price of subscription
TO this
MEAL Ticket
WE should have said
TWO Dollars per year.
THAT little old fifty
CENT raise was GOBBLED up by the PAPER mills, when they
SHOT the price from
FORTY dollars per ton
TO one hundred and
THIRTY dollars.
IF we could get another
CENT a week out of
EACH subscriber
WE could sleep better.
WRITE better, and
GO to Cleveland
ONCE a year.
WRITE us a prize
LETTER and tell us
WHETHER you should
PAY four cents a week
OR whether you should
KEEP on paying three.

Big Sale Saturday
Whose Ad is it?
LUKE AIN'T GOT NO HAIR
WHAT'S COL. RIGGS SAYING THIS WEEK?
GET I CAN SOLVE RIGGS'S PROBLEM

Since our last report of the activity within the Advertiser family Mrs. Henry Fenner has adjusted the records in a manner that will entitle her to remain in the circle until old Father Time ushers in another new year.

Then George Hatch gave us an invitation to come out and look at the ripened berries on his suburban farm next summer. He was, paying his subscription when he said this, and we were so busy with the records and credits that we don't recall whether we were to look at them on the bush and vine, or whether George would put them in a dish with cream and sugar accompaniment.

George Whiteside is a new one. He came over from Ft. Recovery, Ohio, about a year ago and is a part of the Northern Ohio colony. He came from near our birthplace, the Indiana side of the old Fort. He strikes us as a pretty good industrial citizen.

J. F. Waite had come to Plymouth on a sad mission from Cleveland, and before returning came in to shake hands and adjust his renewal that there might be no loosening of the tie that binds.

Miss Elizabeth Weber never fails to be good to her sister, Mrs. E. R. Johnston, over in Indianapolis. As the years go she comes in and renews, and she was our guest recently when she directed the Advertiser Hoosierward until February nineteen twenty.

Miss May Lerch, proprietor of the Lerch hat shop wished to tell the world of the new creations that she had purchased from the fashion centers, and while her purse was open she deposited her subscription to this medium of expression.

L. E. Snyder slipped in during our absence, and we didn't get to inquire about the weather, the roads, or the crops. We note, however, that he carried away a blue receipt that will bear testimony of good standing until about next ground-hog day.

O. A. Loveland used the mails this year, and we are writing this brief paragraph that he may know that the check has been deposited, and his subscription advanced in to the twenties.

While we were out on business our good friend Bob Nimmons brought L. S. Steele into our office and saw to it that Mr. Steele was properly enlisted. Mr. Steele is a new one, and he now knows the joy of being a real subscriber to a real paper.

D. J. Harding lives at Angola, Indiana. We are told that there was a time when he was a citizen of Plymouth. Anyhow, he said in a letter that he loved Plymouth well enough to subscribe for the home news and he is therefore another new one on our elongated list.

"I want to pay B. E. LaDow's subscription to the Advertiser," said Ted McClintchey as he faced our work table. It was just Ted's way of showing his appreciation of a long time friendship and the transaction made three fellows happy.

his son, Arthur James Shepherd, Cleveland, and planked down the price that put us in debt for a year to this new member of the Advertiser household.

Joseph Delancey will hold a public sale Tuesday March 4, and drifted into this office for his sale bills. While we were wrapping them up, we asked him to read the advertiser for a year, and without hesitation he passed us the price, and when he moves to Plankton he'll have something to interest him.

H. O. Steek, good farmer, good citizen and thinking seriously of joining our Chamber of Commerce, sat in our company the other day and grew chummy while we credited the index card and wrote his right and title to this shouter for Plymouth.

Mrs. O. A. Jump complimented the Advertiser and noted its improvement while she selected the price from the purse. These little expressions of approval coming from those who are good judges make the labor of publication all the more agreeable.

Dr. Carl W. Babcock, veterinary, slipped us the necessary amount as he was on the way to the bank with his deposit. This wasn't a hold up. It was Doc's free and voluntary act.

O. J. Lybarger happened in town in the evening on a little business and came in to pay where he gets full value for the money spent. You will remember that O. J. tried to stop a loaded wagon last fall by using his forearm as a chunk. It didn't work, and his left wing isn't yet as good as it used to be.

Elmer Stotts, who does his summer farming on Sandusky street, and his winter farming in Boughtonville, has made sure that the Advertiser will continue to gladden the Stotts domicile, whether they live up Plymouth or Hoboken.

Last week we mailed a sample copy of this standard of country news paper making to A. Deason, Farm Co. He liked it well enough to come in and subscribe, which is another new one and Mr. Danner will please take notice.

What do you think? Sam Bachrach resisted the temptation to subscribe for almost a year. That's what we call an endurance feat. When he came we thought he was an old subscriber and began to fumble the card index, when he told us he was a new one and was just taking his first degree. Thanks, old boy. The seed and wool business will now show bigger profits.

Right away another new one. A. C. May, do you know him? We don't and neither did we meet him as the subscription came in our absence. All we know is that the money was good, and the address is West Unity, Ohio.

Chas. Whatman is now in good standing until March four, twenty. By the way Chas. wants to rent a farm and says he'll work hard, produce good crops, feed well and give the land owner a square deal all the way through. If you know anything that will help tell him about it.

Soldiers and Sailors.

You are invited to come to Shelby Tuesday night March 4, as honored guests.
The Shelby Advertising Club is herewith extending a personal invitation to all the soldiers and sailors of Plymouth to come to Shelby in uniform Tuesday night March 4, at which time they will be the honored guests of the club at the opening of the big auto show which will be staged here for a week. The club has made all plans for a pleasant time for the soldiers and sailors. They will be given a royal and hearty welcome and after a drill and parade in the business section escorted by the band they will be honored to the auto show where coffee and sandwiches will be served. This will give the soldier boys of Shelby, Galion, Crestline, Mansfield, Plymouth and Shioh and opportunity to get together for a splendid evening. Soldier and sailor boys who read this are to consider it a personal invitation to be among the honored guests in Shelby on the above date. Come in uniform. The entertainment committee will be looking for you and if you fail to have a good time it will not be their fault.

K. of P. Banquet.

There's a fine night awaiting those invited to the K. of P. Banquet, reception and ball, and which is scheduled for Friday evening this week.

The Hotel Lodge is sponsoring this social event of the season, and fully four hundred are expected to respond. The management hopes the guests will arrive as scheduled in the invitation, that the reception, banquet, literary program and dance may not be delayed in their presentation.

Eastern Star Social.

The Eastern Star's ten cent social is announced for Friday evening March 14, at 7 o'clock. The event will be given in the Masonic Lodge room, and the public is most cordially invited. The Eastern Stars are exceedingly capable in planning and carrying out a social evening and they will not disappoint in the affair forthcoming.

Remember the evening, Friday March 14, the price, ten cents, and the general invitation.

That Alpha Entertainment.

One of the prettiest entertainments provided this winter for the community enjoyment was that of the Alpha class given at the Lutheran church, Tuesday evening.

No one in attendance was prepared to see quite such a display of character and costume, and this fact made the evening a most agreeable surprise.
We cannot specialize, but if we were guided by comment we would say that Mrs. Jean Stewart Sevil was a gem in the evening, and Miss Rilla Trauger as representative of the typical Holland girl, were worthy of specific mention, but this does not detract from the excellence of all other participants. It was one delightful ensemble and more of them would be a source of delight.

Ot Curpen Home.

Ot Curpen, who arrived in the states from overseas in January, reached Plymouth on Monday evening from Camp Sherman, honorably discharged and glad to receive civilian life. He has been receiving the congratulations of friends.

Oddfellow Night.

On next Tuesday evening Paris Lodge 748 will serve refreshments to the members and their wives or lady friends. O'Toole's orchestra will furnish the music. Come out and enjoy a social evening.
K. I. Wilson, N. G.

Don't forget Delancey's Sale Thursday March 4.
Don't forget George R. Kline's sale Thursday March 6.
Don't forget R. F. Wilson's sale Friday March 7.
Don't forget the K. of P. banquet Friday evening.
Don't forget the Eastern Star Ten Cent Social, Friday evening, March 14.

Two Big Dances.

At Hamilton hall, March 7 and 14. The Monlight dance will be on March 14. There will be special music by Beamer & Ralston's orchestra. Get your dates right.

Do Your Bit.

Every good citizen should write his representative at Columbus instructing him to support the measure that is intended to kill the system of district superintendents that have been fastened upon our public school system. The law that created this useless superintendency and more than useless expenditure of public money never had a single merit that appealed to common sense. If the money it has taken out of the public treasury had been added to the salaries of the teachers who do the work there would be some justification for the outlay. But to create a sinecure at a comfortable salary to be held and embezzled by a poorly paid hard working teacher is so inexcusably silly as to merit a swift undoing. Let us get back to the one strong man as superintendent of the county and save us from the humiliation and expense of this district foolishness.

Sheep Sale.

The Seaton Park farm is announcing a sheep sale for Tuesday March 18. You will catch our next issue you will see a more extended notice of this event.

Kenneth Myers.

Kenneth Myers has been honorably discharged and is back to his home in Mansfield. He will take over the Myers Studio and conduct it for two weeks, giving such opportunity to secure the best in photography.

For a year he served Uncle Sam in aerial photography. He has come back with all this experience added, and now is your opportunity to sit for a good picture. Go early and secure the best in pose and finish.

Elizabeth Pettit Dead.

Elizabeth Pettit, aged 82 years, died at her home in Plymouth Tuesday February 25, 1919, after a lingering illness. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday by Rev. Hollett. Obituary will appear next week.

Births.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder, Wednesday February 26, 1919, a son.
To Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Whatman, Wednesday February 26, 1919, a daughter.
To Mr. and Mrs. Harry Griffith, Thursday morning, February 26, 1919, a son.

The Plymouth Gasoline Industrial Locomotive

This Plymouth Industrial Gasoline Locomotive, built by the J. D. Fate Company is due to enter a new field of utility, for it has recently been found splendidly adapted to highway construction work in the delivery of materials along the roadway under construction.

That it will be used very largely in the big road building program this coming season, is evidenced by the inquiries, and by the actual introduction of the Plymouth by contractors around Detroit last year, and by the government road work in the east. This idea is now moving west, and The J. D. Fate Company has just recently shipped two sturdy Plymouth's to the Bryant Paving Co., of Waterloo, Iowa, for use on a large concrete road contract near Readland, Arkansas.

A temporary track is constructed along side the proposed road improvement, and the Plymouth conveys the concrete, gravel and sand as the construction progresses, and also removes refuse material.

This method displaces slow moving teams and trucks that must use the torn up highway and operate at great disadvantage. The track is easily laid, as the ties and rails are delivered by the Plymouth as the work progresses, and when the highway is completed it again transports all material to the point of starting that it may be shipped and used in the next job.

We are glad to note this new avenue of usefulness for this Plymouth product, and in as much as the country is soon to engage generally in highway construction The J. D. Fate Company will profit immensely by the innovation.

Whatever stimulates our industries vitalizes the whole community.

An Adamless Hotel Staff.

Time was when women were classified under two heads, household workers and ornaments. It is so no more. During the absence of the men in the Army women have been called from behind the sewing machine and the vanity case to fill their places.

Mason City, Iowa women have taken their places in the sugar beet factory and in the cement plants, and now it develops that they have entirely taken over one business which heretofore had been considered generally a man's job.

Mason City has a hotel run exclusively by women, and thirteen of them, at that. There are a woman day clerk and a woman night clerk and a feminine bell hop. Another member of the force presides over the kitchen and manages an exclusively female force. The only person who is out of harmony with the general effect is the proprietor, and, of course, he doesn't count.

A. W. Firestone, cashier of the Shiloh Savings Bank Co., was in Plymouth Tuesday, and left a generous lot of job work for execution in the busy Advertiser shop.

Abandons The Primary System.

Idaho has abandoned the direct primary system of nominating state and congressional officers when the legislature passed the bill to confine the operations of the primary system to the nomination of county candidates and delegates to state convention. The present law has been in force for 10 years, although several times amended.

The new bill is now in the hands of Governor Davis for his signature. There was a tendency in Ohio to abandon the primary system but the sentiment is hardly strong enough to influence the present assembly to action.

Celebrated 100th Birthday.

Recently David Truxel, of near Bountonville, celebrated his hundredth birthday. Mr. Truxel was born in 1819, when all the west was of the Western Reserve, was a dense grower of timber. Cleveland was then a small village. Indian traders frequented this region. Their blood-thirsty breathers invaded the woods but a few hundred miles west. The aged centenarian enjoyed his hundredth anniversary and the numerous attendees attending it to the fullest extent. A grand dinner was spread in his honor. He was the recipient of many gifts, including a postal letter of congratulations were received from all sections of Ohio.

Automatic Cutter, For Cutting Fire Brick. Made in Plymouth

The J. D. Fate Company is enjoying a splendid demand for its clay working machinery. Indeed the orders are taxing the capacity of the plant to fill, and they are working hard to avoid delays in shipment.

The above is a type of automatic cutter that is meeting with approval wherever installed, and the one shown above is now building for The Barkwill-Farr Co., of Cleveland, and will be installed in their Vernon plant. The machine is now coming through the shop and will be ready to load in a few days.

We are especially glad to record this activity in the clay machinery department of the local industry, and it is likewise an indication of an awakening in the building activities throughout the country, for the products of the clay business enters largely into building construction.

aloged by the J. D. Fate Co. Their augur machines, pugmills, clay feeders, automatic clay cutters, crushers, disintegrators, dry pans, elevators, conveyors, winding drums, turntables, cars trucks and barrows, constitute one of the completest clay working lines in the United States.

Terms made known on day of sale.

President Wilson has in a most practical way defined America's responsibility in the present crisis. We say crisis, for the world is feverishly awaiting a conclusion and is in no mood to stand for other than an honest conservative reasoning and that immediately. The lawmaker who seeks to dally for political purposes, or who would postpone a sensible conclusion that it might be dragged as stump speech inspiration into the next campaign marks himself unworthy of retirement. President Taft is the Republican party's level headed counselor and is exactly our sort of Republican in this hour of vital import.

P. V. Nasby recalled. The death of Mrs. Martha H. Locke in Toledo last week recalls a prominent character in the Ohio of civil war days—David R. Locke, better known as Petroleum V. Nasby. She was his widow. To many it will be a surprise to know that she survived her noted husband so long, for he died in Toledo February 15, 1888.

Mr. Locke was a native of Vandalia, N. Y.—born there in 1833. And Mrs. Locke, though almost a life-long resident in Toledo, was not a native of that city. She came to it as a young bride when her husband was just beginning to make a name for himself. Her maiden name was Bodine—a name notable in Protestant Episcopal church work in this state. David R. Locke learned the printer's trade in Cortland, N. Y., and coming to Ohio served as a reporter in Plymouth, Mansfield, Bucyrus and Findlay. In the Findlay Jeffersonian about 1860 he began writing letters over the assumed name of Petroleum V. Nasby, who was represented as an ignorant Democrat living at "Confederate Cross Roads which is in the state of Kentucky," devoted to the cause of slavery and free whiskey, and desirous of the appointment as postmaster there. The letters gave Locke an opportunity to use his unusual power of satire and humor, which very popular in the north. They were transferred to the Toledo Blade when their author became proprietor and editor of that newspaper. The Blade itself refers to Locke as its founder. He was practically so if not the actual founder. The title to the Blade newspaper property is still in the Locke family, though leased for publication by another company. The letters gave the Blade a nation-wide circulation, which is still held by the weekly edition. Slavery out of the way, Locke made the Blade stand for prohibition of the liquor traffic, and even after his death it still stood for that reform, though never taking its stand with the third party prohibitionists.

Three sons survived. They are Robinson Locke of Toledo, Edmund Locke of Beverly Hills, Cal., and Charles Locke of Portland, Me. The above taken from the Columbus Dispatch, is especially interesting for the reason Mr. Locke practically began his pen career from Plymouth, and founded the Plymouth Advertiser in 1851.

Physicians must comply with the regulations requiring them to furnish the state health department with the names of clients afflicted with venereal diseases. This ruling by Attorney General Price, goes to the state health officials.

The attorney general held that physicians who furnish this information do not willfully betray a professional secret nor are such physicians rendered liable in damages to their patients.

Plymouth's Early History

By Hon. J. E. LaDow.

To the Editor of The Plymouth Advertiser:
A. A. Graham's History of Richland County, Ohio, published in 1880 referred to by N. N. Hill, contains an interesting chapter on Plymouth township and village, the authenticity of which in the main must be correct. Posterity will be indebted to this publisher, and as time goes on his history will be the more regarded as authentic.

Mr. Graham correctly credits Abraham Trux as the founder of Plymouth township and village. The plat was filed in the Richland county records. Part of its accuracy ends here, however, as the name of the man he refers to is Abraham Trucks (not Trux) which the indelible records of the county show. Abraham Trucks signed the first plat of Paris for Richland county, Ohio, under the title to over 300 acres of land in the township in which part of the present village of Plymouth is situated in the name of Abraham Trucks.

We find in the land records of Richland county that the exact name of Abraham Trux does not appear. The nearest name to it is Abraham Trux who took title to a quarter section of land in Perry township, which is now part of Morrow county. It must be conceded he knew how to spell his own name. The street commencing at the south-east corner of the square running diagonally south-east, is named in this plat he filed in Trucksville street four poles wide.

In partly tracing the life of Abraham Trucks, we find on file in Richland county his last will which bears date of March 10, 1838, which was filed and probated in the following November. He nominates, "my friend Patrick Lynch of Perry county, Ohio, and Andrew F. Russell of Davenport, Territory of Wisconsin, executors." The first part of this will directs that "all the lands and town lots situate and adjoining in and in the town of Paris, Richland county, Ohio, as well as the lands I own in Illinois, be sold." He then writes certain sums of money to his mother Ruth Trucks; to his sister Mary Trucks; to his brothers, John and Michael Trucks; and that "my claim on Paston's Creek, Territory of Wisconsin, go to Lucius Trucks on his paying one half the value to my brother John Trucks."

Patrick Lynch, who was afterwards the village blacksmith of Plymouth, qualified as executor by entering into a bond as such for $2500 with David F. Webber and Samuel G. Wolfe sureties, and final settlement of the estate in June 1841.

Thus the record history made by Abraham Trucks tends to show he was a pioneer in Plymouth township; that when the village of Paris which he founded, progressed sufficiently, it was not longer of the real frontier, which kind of life he must only have loved, he left and ventured (that) far west to the wilds of the Territory of Wisconsin, which later became Davenport, Iowa, and there died in the interim between the date of his last will dated March 1838, and November of the same year when the will was probated in court.

This tends to prove he was not married and did not have a living child. He donated the first cemetery for Paris on lot number 23 which is now partly occupied by the Lutheran church, yet he was not buried there. Mr. Graham the historian, relates that "Catherine Truxer daughter of Abraham Trucks married one Hugh Long in 1817." It is as possible that the historian may have been mistaken in this instance as he evidently was mistaken in the spelling of the name, which latter he could have easily verified by the records of Richland county which were within his command.

The history of Richland county, Ohio, by A. A. Graham appears to be the only one published of much merit. A. J. Baughman (whom we well knew while he was alive) published a single volume of alleged history, but mostly autobiography, of the county in the 1891, which was apparently upon a purely commercial basis as a means of livelihood, and of consequence little value as a history. The same author published in 1908 a two-volume work entitled the "History of Richland County, Ohio" which is a fairly reputable work, and it appears to have copied the most essential parts of Mr. Graham's history, even to the misspelling of the name of Abraham Trucks, but was on the former commercial basis as a means of livelihood to its publisher as was his former one-volume work.

While we were in Stark county, recently, we took occasion to examine the records there as to the date of the entries of the land where the village and Post Office of Paris is situated, and found these lands to have been entered into the government during the latter part of the administration of Thomas Jefferson as president. The lands upon which Plymouth is located were entered of the government under James Monroe's term of presidency, more than a decade later.

The record in Stark county shows the village of Paris was platted in 1825. Evidently Abram Trucks was unaware of any other village having been platted in Ohio by the same name at this early period.

We were sufficiently interested while in Washington a few weeks ago to investigate the records there in the Post Office department of the government, and through the courtesy of the First Assistant Postmaster General and his clerks, found that the Post Office of Paris, Stark county, Ohio, was established August 12, 1822. That the Post Office of Plymouth, Richland county, Ohio, was established September 12, 1823.

Evidently if the application was made to have the name Paris as a Postoffice in Richland county, Ohio, the government records showed the office by that name in Stark county had preceded and the name was unavailable for that reason another name must be selected. No one knows why the name Plymouth was at that time chosen to embellish the village for all time. It is conjectured that it may have been because the name suggests the Mayflower, the Pilgrims and even the old English town of that name and that it was desirable to that of Paris which may have suggested revolution, the guillotine, etc. In Baughman's two-volume history and biography mentioned, he writes into this same romance as a basis for the change of name no doubt to make it read smoothly, but which may be misleading to future generations, who have not been investigated for the real reason as given above by the records of the government having first allotted this name to Stark county, Ohio. We further investigated the office of the First Assistant Postmaster General in Washington, to learn who the first, as well as succeeding postmasters of Plymouth were. Can you remember the name of the first one? No, no one now living personally knew the first one. You may think back to remember the first postmaster who knew Robert McDonough, he was the father of former Mayor Robert McDonough who is his namesake as well as his son. James Bailey was Plymouth's first cabinet maker and later on the keeper of a tavern was a postmaster from July 28, 1849, and succeeded Robert McDonough. He was in the office only about four years, however, when he was succeeded by Hezekiah L. Kirkland on the 6th of May 1853.

A. B. Riley who got his commission March 12, 1861, succeeded Mr. Kirkland and was the "war postmaster," but was relieved by Myron Webber on March 3, 1863, and was the first to ring the bell (remember) and he continued in that office about eleven years until Edmond Case was appointed on the 25th day of June, 1880. F. P. Smith succeeded Mr. Case in this office with a commission dated June 25, 1885 and remained at this post one presidential term, when George W. Hoffman relieved him by taking over the office May 7, 1889, and he held the office also for a single term, and was succeeded by Daniel Kirkpatrick December 12, 1893. However, George W. Hoffman was again recognized for a second term with a commission entitling him to take the office from the charter of Kirkpatrick November 9, 1897. S. E. Nimmoms was the successor of G. W. W. Hoffman and the last predecessor of the present postmaster, dating back to March 1, 1913, when the present incumbent O. S. Earnest took charge.

What'vegot To Eat?
Never thought about it much
In the days of long ago.
That it was a boyish touch,
Then I didn't seem to know.
Never thought that I'd recall
Simple words that he'd repeat
As he rushed into the hall:
"What'vegot to eat?"
Started as a lad of five,
Clamoring for cake or pie,
"Hungriest little boy alive."
Many and many a time, said I,
He'd come bounding in from play,
Seeking me on eager feet
And excitedly he'd say:
"What'vegot to eat?"
Home from school he'd daily run,
Thinking of the pantry shelf.
Cookies vanished one by one,
When he learned to help himself.
"Hello, Ma, I'm back again!"
Was his little greeting sweet,
Then a boyish smile, and then:
"What'vegot to eat?"

Wish that I could hear it now,
Never dreamed I'd miss it so,
Wish that I could know, somehow,
That old joy of long ago.
But he stands across the sea
Serving in the Battle's heat
And he cannot say to me:
"What'vegot to eat?"

What a glorious day t'will be,
When the cruel war is done,
And the boys come home from sea
With the victories they've won!
Oh, the joy to hear them
Saying gladly as we meet,
"Hello, Ma, I'm back again!"
What'vegot to eat?

An explosion occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Arnold east of Shelby last Friday evening about 7 o'clock when the tank of the Carbide lights exploded. The carbide was just about all out and the lights went out in the house. The two boys Lester and Charley went out to put some carbide in the tank. There was some escaping gas which caught the light in the lantern which was setting several feet away on the ground. The boys were right over the tank when the explosion occurred. They were burned badly about the face and hands.

Hold! everybody we almost forgot about the P. H. S. newspaper. We've been so interested in watching our boys beat Shelby, that after they did it we forgot to recover from the effects. The score was 45 to 11 in our favor. Isn't that going some? The Attica game wasn't quite so good but the score was close—boys' 21 to 22 and the girls lost 16 to 4. It wasn't nearly so bad as it might have been.

COURT DECISION SUSTAINED

In Estate of William C. Burdge—New Haven Township Will Not Receive Money.

New Haven township will not receive any part of the estate of William C. Burdge, deceased, as a result of the decision of the court. Burdge bequeathed certain sums to his relatives and a certain residue to go to New Haven township for the purpose of picking the road known as the Norwalk road and running past his farm in New Haven township.

At a meeting of the council held Tuesday evening that honorable body took the initial step toward the proper observance of a centennial celebration for Plymouth this coming year by passing the following resolution:

Whereas it appears from the works of different historians available, such as those of A. A. Graham and A. J. Bagshaw, that the first settlement of the village of Plymouth, Richard and Haron counties, O., was made by Abraham Trux in the year eighteen hundred and fifty.

Therefore, be it resolved by this council, that, in as much as the year nineteen hundred and fifteen will be the 100th anniversary of the first settlement of the village, it is fitting that the occasion be observed in a formal manner by the municipality, its people and the community in general.

Further, that in order that the municipality may perform its part in the observance of such occasion, and that all interests in the village may be afforded the opportunity to take part in the same, that the Mayor be instructed to appoint a committee of two from this council to represent this council in connection with such Centennial, and to invite the appointment of committees by all religious, civic and business organizations of the village, to form a general committee to arrange for such Centennial celebration.

Further, that the expenditure of twenty-five dollars by this committee be authorized by this council for the purpose of preliminary expenses of such Centennial.

Mayor Sauer appointed Ray Sykes and Robt. McDonough as a committee to represent the council.

Have you Catarrh? Is nasal breathing impaired? Does your throat get husky or clogged? Modern science proves that these symptoms result from run-down health. Scott's Emulsion will enrich and enliven the blood, aid nutrition and assist nature to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membrane.

So the Editor Our town newspaper CAN you think? Can you tell your thought in fifty words? If so do this: Sit down and get everything else out of your head except this good old town of ours. Then think out what the town most needs to make it hum. Next write this thought on one side only of a white sheet of paper, clearly, with pen or pencil, and mail it to this newspaper. We will print from time to time as many as possible of these replies that help meet in them. This may help to shed some light on what the people actually think is needed to boom our community.
