Thieves Visit Plymouth.
Thieves entered the B. & O. station Sunday night and played havoc with express packages and U. S. mail.

A package containing gloves, consigned to Miss Elvora Taylor, was broken open and a part of the contents taken.

A package of cigars consigned to Clark Brown, was broken open and a few smokes taken from the better grades. A large box containing many packages of small cigars was almost wholly appropriated.

An express box consigned to Miss Verda Trauger, and containing books and clothing was opened and contents scattered over the freight house floor.

A shipment consigned to J. W. McIntire, containing ladies coats was opened and contents scattered, but nothing taken.

The money drawer of the ticket office was relieved of 25 cents in copper.

Sunday mail trains had accumulated six sacks of second, third and fourth class mail, and those were emptied to the last sack.

A parcel post package was opened but only one of the contents so far as Postmaster Earnest can determine. A mutilated label reveals a C. O. D. package missing, and only the amount, $270, decipherable.

No first class mail is put off at Plymouth from Sunday trains.

On Monday two B. & O. policemen from Willard came down to look into the theft, but these were so drunk, it is alleged, that they didn't know an opened package from a tariff schedule, and their condition was so reported to railroad authorities. No clues are available.

Let's Help.
Let's help the primary grades secure a piano. Their motion picture, "The Square Deceiver", will be put on Friday afternoon, matinee, at three o'clock, and at 6:45 evening, making two opportunities to help the little folks.

Every man and woman in Plymouth should attend. The women and children should make up a packed house at the matinee, and in the evening the men should come across and help.

Don't forget the little folks and their teachers have set their hearts on having a musical instrument of their own. If they fail the heartache to them will be as great as if they were to lose the grown-up. When a small boy's marble rolls away the world rolls with it. When a little girl's doll is broken, her grief is as great as if she were to lose the grown-up mother, when her babe is critically ill.

Let's help the little folks realize on their ambition to secure a piano, that they may put the zest in their songs and recitations.

Buy a Plymouth Locomotive.
F. W. Kattenjohn, of Paducah, Ky., has just returned from the factory and purchased a Plymouth Industrial Locomotive for use in the quarry of the Greenville Stone and Gravel Co.

The locomotive was driven to the Broken Sword quarry, near Bucyrus, where two or three Plymouths are daily doing service, and he found it so capable and so highly recommended that he immediately placed an order for early shipment with a promise of more as soon as the quarry could be adapted to their use.

Thus the Plymouth locomotive finds another place of service, and Plymouth the town becomes a household word in a new section.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce launched, and slipped down the ways Friday evening and out into the waters of Opportunity in the presence of 150 red blooded enthusiasts, who with a depth and meaning seldom matched, sang that good old national inspiration, "America," while a five piece orchestra, in delightful harmony, accompanied the big chorus.

It was a great night. Not in a life time has there assembled a finer body of men, in a finer mood, not bent on a more exalted mission. It was a great night, of music, fest, fellowship and joyousness, while joy was everywhere rippling and rampant.

All day Friday little touches were added and this detail, that given attention. Each had his part assigned and he it said to the credit of those who assumed the responsibilities, not a feature was left unattended.

Mrs. Georgia Boardman, the official cateress of the Chamber, was planning with exceeding care that the service might not be less welcome, but plentiful and served with a care and precision that would command the admiration of all. With her were associated Mrs. F. B. Callahan, Mrs. Russell Chappell, Mrs. Clem Hills, Mrs. Dan Clark, and Mrs. Charles Raver. All of these good women had the real helpful, unselfish spirit that befits a Chamber of Commerce work, and he it said that Plymouth never sat down to a more appetizing feast, and never were tables so neatly dressed and decorated.

Each of the eighteen tables in the main dining room provided comfortable seating capacity for six men, and gave the appearance of a handsomely appointed dining room effect, and was a pleasing departure from the usual long table that is characteristic of banquet occasions.

Each table bore white linen, and in the center a vase of sweet peas and greenery constituted a pleasing adornment.

Each of the five indirect light shades fitted with 100 candle power bulbs cast a flood of light over all that was not only inspiring, but exemplified the disposition of the committee to do everything in a faultless way.

At seven o'clock the membership began to assemble. For those who were unable to be present we want to impress you with the buoyancy and fellowship that prevailed. The men of Plymouth were actually proud. There was the man of industrial connection, the merchant, the professional man, the man from the farm, the man from the bench in the shops, and the man from a retirement. All were proud, and all were touching shoulders. Casto was broken down. Differences were actually mended. There was a unity of purpose, and all manifesting an unrestrained pride in a new home and a new field of endeavor.

At 7:30, and to the strains of an excellent orchestra that is 100 per cent. Chamber of Commerce.

Board of Affairs Re-organizes
The removal of J. S. Smith to Ashland, and A. F. Ramsey to Mansfield, caused their resignation from the Board of Public Affairs. Mr. Smith was serving in the capacity of clerk of the board.

Geo. Mittenbuehler also submitted his resignation to the council on Tuesday evening. The council, to restore the board to a working basis, appointed J. W. McIntire and R. T. Chappell as members to fill the vacancies which the resignations created.

The personnel of the board is therefore W. H. Peters, J. W. McIntire, and R. T. Chappell, with the clerk yet to be selected.

It strikes us that the council has appointed two very good men to round out the board. Both are level headed business men, and the affairs that come before the body will be handled with deliberation, and with the same caution that characterizes the conduct of their personal affairs.

There are important matters soon to be considered and an election will be held. We can not doubt be announced soon.

the company took their places at the tables, the over-flow using tables provided by the director's room. When all was in readiness, the orchestra led off with American and Plymouth men sang as never before. The environment was such that inspired all to sing and the volume was not lessened until the finish of the old hymn.

At the conclusion of "America," the company sat down to a banquet expressed in the following menu:

Fruit Cocktail Slaw
Roast Veal and Gravy
Mashed Irish Cabbage
Sugar Peas in Wheaton cups
Sliced Dill Pickles

Beet Relish
Cheese Wafers Salad
Ice Cream and Cake
Coffee and Cream Cigars

The service was both prompt and efficient, and you will know the reason when we tell you that every detail was in the capable and thoughtful hands of the Misses Winnifred Whittier, Thelma Pezall, Agnes Aslaskan, Thelma Earnest and Christine Davis. With a punctuality that climaxed tedious waits, with a solicitude that responded to every want, these young ladies kept the five course service moving, and did it with a grace that excited admiration.

At the conclusion of the dinner preparation of constitution and nominating committee for the purpose of submitting officers and directorate to a meeting of the Chamber to be held on Friday evening, April 5. Postmaster Heath acting also in the capacity of president of the preliminary organization, announced as a nominating committee the following: Karl P. Webber, Fred Clark, Dr. J. T. Gaskell, R. H. Sykes, and Halsey F. Root.

As a committee for the preparation of constitution and by-laws, Mr. Heath appointed as follows: O. A. White, Rev. G. C. Smith, and O. S. Earnest.

At the conclusion of these appointments came one of the most delightful entertainments ever provided for the men of Plymouth.

This entertainer was none other than Hugh Diamond of Galion, a Scotchman with a typical Harry Lauder brogue, and with an effervescence in wit and song that put every hearer in a bubbling good humor, and kept him in almost a continuous laughter for a full half hour.

It is impossible to describe Diamond, further than to say that he must be seen as well as heard to be appreciated, and to put his wit into type is as impossible as it is to write the sparkle in the stone his name symbolizes.

There was an occasional intersperse of philosophy, just enough to permit relaxation of interest-als, while the Scotch melodies were sufficient rhythmic and tuneful to lull the assembly into a delightful quietude, only to break out into a thunderous applause at the conclusions, as its unobtainable token of appreciation.

So well did he meet up with the boys that a motion by Mr. C. E. Heath, who was temporarily out of the chair, to make Mr. Diamond an honorary member of the Chamber was greeted with a chorus of ayes that shook the firmament.

As the conclusion of Mr. Diamond's hilarious half hour lull, H. Nimmons made a statement of the origin of the movement that led up to the big night and closed with a request that your humble servant of the quill make a statement of the intent and purpose of the organization. It was our purpose to be programed, but we complied briefly.

This effort with a selection by the orchestra rounded out the evening, on of the most enjoyable in years.

We are proud of Plymouth. Proud of the men who unstintingly gave their time and money in the building of the institution. We like to call it an institution, for it is really big, both in purpose and possibility.

We are proud of the farmers who came in to identify themselves with the movement. Naturally our acquaintance is limited in the country, yet we know many, and are growing to know them intimately. We are sincerely hoping that the committee that is to recommend officers and directors will not forget to give the country a place in the responsibilities.

Remember, we cannot all be officers and directors, but we can all be workers, and the fine thing to do is to hold fast to the unity that is now so conspicuous. Let us be men. Let us take oath to be helpful. Not a trace of friction found a place in the building. Let us go through the year with a spirit of unselfishness.

There are three avenues for work in the effort for town and country. These are civic, industrial, and commercial. Let us be just as ardent for a good road in the country as we are to divert trade to Plymouth. Let us be just as anxious to beautify Plymouth as we are to commercialize her.

NOTES
We wish we could mention all the fellows that helped to make the affair so complete. To do so would make us print the membership list all over again.

We do feel like singling out Bob Nimmons, John A. Root, C. E. Heath, Fred Clark, Karl Webber, E. B. Callahan, Ted McClintchey, Doc Gaskell, Fred Holtz, Fred Grammiller, Shan Earnest, and you might write in a few names yourself.

We don't know that these fellows did any more than anybody else, but they were around telling each other what to do, and it was surprising how easy it was to tell fellow to do this or that, and how readily and willingly he went to it.

For instance, if Heath told Earnest to do a certain thing, Shan went straightway and did it. Then both claimed the credit, and there was always enough credit to go around.

The only man that worked without orders, and did anything he wanted to do, was Bob Nimmons. He also did what he was told to do, and the Lord knows they told him enough.

When it came right down to the set day when things had to be done right on the spot, they were assigned to Postmaster Earnest. There's a man that does things by the clock.

Karl Webber said it was the most representative gathering he ever saw in Plymouth.

Then Bob Nimmons said that Karl was in the kindergarten class. He had lived in Plymouth twice as long as Webber, and it was the most representative gathering held in Plymouth in forty years.

Then Sol Spear told Nimmons to go back to his cradle and keep quiet. Forty years was only yesterday. Mr. Spear said he had attended every gathering since 1857, or more than sixty years, and the opening of the Chamber of Commerce was the happiest he'd seen in the more than six decades.

They couldn't get enough of that orchestra. It was there with bells on, and somehow or other it had the snap and the melody, John Ralston is usually as sober as you make them, but on this big night there was a beam on his countenance that resembled a full moon.

Speaking of widening our territory, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce has memberships in New York, Pittsburg, Kansas City, Columbus, Mansfield, and Shelby. These are: B. W. Willett, New York. L. W. LaDow, Kansas City. Orson S. Hoffman, Columbus. Ed. Nathan, Spear, Pittsburg. J. E. LaDow, Mansfield. A. C. Morse, Shelby.

All these are old Plymouth boys who have gone out into other fields and made good. They have never forgotten the old town, neither has the old town forgotten them. Their contribution to the Chamber's finances will help us keep the homes fires burning, and if we ever get them into Plymouth at one time we'll give a dinner in their honor that will make them think that metropolitan hospitality is but a veneer without feeling or fervency.

Sage, The Piano Man.
We like Karl Sage, the piano man, of Willard. The reason why we like him is because he's a helpful fellow, and he doesn't stand off nobly when you do business with him.

Last Friday morning we telephoned Karl for the use of a piano in the Chamber of Commerce. Did he hear and have? He did not. He told us there would be a piano in the Chamber after ready for the orchestra right after that.

Did he put in a cheap tin pan instrument? He did not. He put in a brand new York, one of the best made, and how it did help in the big night.

That's why we like Karl Sage, and when the Chamber gets ready to buy it will call in Mr. Sage and say to him, inasmuch as you did it unto us, we will likewise do it unto you.

And that's not all. If Mr. Sage will give us a cut of the York, we'll print in the Advertiser as a further evidence of our appreciation.

Another Non-Resident Member-Ship.

On Monday we had the pleasure of meeting Nat Spear, of Pittsburg, who with Mrs. Spear, was returning from Los Angeles, where they had gone for a season's relaxation. They stopped off for a few hours with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Sol Spear.

Mr. Spear was much interested in the Chamber of Commerce as an innovation for Plymouth. A visit to the Chamber's quarters so delighted him that he wished to become a non-resident member, and he immediately mobilized ourselves into a reception committee and extended the glad hand.

What we like about these Plymouth boys is the interest they yet retain in the old town despite their absence. By the way, no one seems to forget Plymouth, nor long to leave it, but you nor how far they go nor how long they stay. To some the old home town may seem like a humble origin, when contrasted with big congested centers, and the big business enterprises, but they don't deny us.

In this respect they are much like the water lilies. You have seen these blooms riding on the surface of the lakes, but you never heard one complain of the muck at the bottom that gave it origin and pushed it to the light.

If there are others who wish to manifest their interest, let us lead in our pencil is yet sufficiently vital to write the welcome.

That Tire Trouble.
Detective Wentz, of Mansfield, and Marshal Tucker, of Shelby, were in Plymouth Tuesday in the interest of the case of W. G. Ramsey charged with concealing stolen tires, as told in our last issue.

Detective Wentz stated that the preliminary hearing would be held Friday, April 18, and that the case would go to the federal courts, as the affair was of sufficient magnitude and importance to warrant such a procedure.

Opposes Transferring.
The state brought strong arguments to bear against the motion in venue, introduced in the Wallace D. Birmingham murder case, which may frustrate attempts to have the third trial of the case taken from the Seneca county courts to Crawford county.

The motion was opposed by more than two hours in Tiffin Friday pro and con the court reserving its decision until Monday. The court heard 69 affidavits and the state 187.

State opposition, at least in such a pronounced fashion, was not expected. An early decision on the motion of venue is expected this week.

Coming In Under The Wire.

Just as the Charter of Commerce was about to open, it added to its membership, E. L. Davis, E. A. Starns, of Creston, Arthur Adams, Lawrence Gaskell, George Smith, and Charles Silliman, bringing the membership up to 154.

Some boys, all of these and it was a source of great pleasure to make a place for them.

Amegnomot.
George Hatch will have to be quiet. No longer can he cackle over the big egg which he recently obtained for him.

Come how a strange story. After the big Chamber of Commerce banquet, Bob Nimmons gathered up some crumbs that fell from the table and gave them to the hen in the Nimmons's henery the feed of their lives.

By some mysterious way, whether by day night, or under their own power, two hens from the Nimmons hen wandered out to the Chauncey Hamilton farm at the edge of town, and being thoroughly imbued with the Chamber of Commerce spirit, laid each an egg, one a whooper, measuring, circumference, 7 3/8 inches, and the other a hen's egg size, but worthy of mention. We know why a hen crosses the street, but why a perfectly home-loving hen would wander out to Hamilton's and there lay a record breaking egg, is as undecipherable as the fourth dimension.

Neither do we need the wisdom of a Solomon to determine ownership. Possession is sufficient for us and we expect to see them in the morning, sunny-side up, and eat them by day night, with a plate of hot Snow Flake biscuits.

We were going to buy a few hens, but if we can keep this egg contest in motion what's the use.

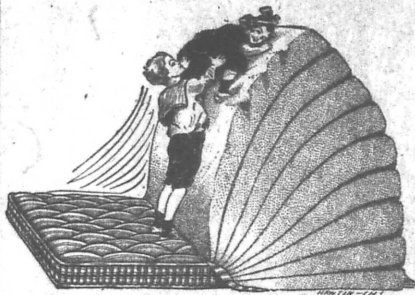

Listen:

Come up to the Chamber at 8 o'clock Friday eve. Hot coffee, sandwich, cigar, officers, directors, constitution, by-laws, and suggestions.

Will He Run Again?

The New York World has printed six pages of replies from the editors of Democratic and independent newspapers to its inquiry whether they favor the nomination of President Wilson for a third term, and believe that he can be elected if he is made the candidate of his party. The range of opinions is wide and entertaining—nearly as much so as the way that some of the papers dodge the issue.

Speaking of the evaders the Wilmington, Del., "Every Evening" is hard to beat. It says that, "There is no doubt President Wilson could be re-elected provided the people want him." The "National Democrat," out in Des Moines, Ia., thinks that Mr. Wilson will be nominated again and, "if elected will be the ideal man for the place." The Omaha World-Herald replies that it is too early to make predictions, but ventures the observation that, "It is conceivable that the malice of his enemies may conspire to bring about Mr. Wilson's renomination and his triumphant election to a third term, and this in spite of his own desires that the well grounded convictions of the American people against a third presidential term." And then it adds: "It is to be hoped, however, that no crisis will arise sufficiently grave to necessitate and justify a violation of the rule."

Not many of the editors who answered the World's inquiry decided, however. Nineteen of them spoke out more or less clearly in favor of running the President again, or they at least said that his chances were better than those of any other viable candidate. On the other hand seventeen of these Democratic or independent newspapers declared that Wilson ought not to run, or that he could not win if he should make the race. And twelve of these adverse opinions come from Democratic editors, with only six from independents.

How Old Sayings Originated

A custom once prevailed in France of serving a cold shoulder of mutton to a guest who had worn out his welcome, hence the famous expression we gave them, a cold shoulder. A baker's dozen, because dreadful things happened to them if they gave short weight. The word tip meaning a fee given to a servant, originated from the phrase, to insure promptness, which was inscribed on money boxes in old time taverns, and in which travelers were expected to drop money, which was afterward divided among the guests.

Captured Rooster and German

An American private spied a rooster prowling around a farm house in No Man's Land just after the Americans had captured Very. Being hungry and having no appetite for roast chicken, this American private decided to crawl up on the rooster and trap him in the building.

The American was about to lay his hands on the astonished rooster when a German entered the rear door of the building, beat on the same mission. Both were so surprised that they stood for a moment and glared at each other, then the American motioned for the German to do a right flank on the rooster, which was at that time closed in on him. The rooster was captured by the American lines with both rooster and German in tow.

Later, at the regimental P. C., the German roasted the chicken for his captor, who shared it with him.

Increased use by American farmers of tractors is shown in reports from manufacturers estimating that approximately 25,000 of the machines will be produced this year. The estimate is more than double the number manufactured last year.

Isn't it strange that the one in the family who has a groutch in the house-cleaning season is the man who expects his wife to do the work?

Another astonishing thing about a local election is that so many people fail to register either for or against a proposition, even though it is a matter of greatest moment to the community.

One reason why women are generally better than men is that the average woman is so busy trying to cure or cover up some man's sins that she hasn't much time to cultivate any of her own.

In the love chase a woman always "hunts with a camera. All she cares to know is that she "could have" bagged her game if she wanted to.

In the life of the modern successful woman, a husband appears to be just a "temporary weakness."

Disabled soldiers are taught poultry raising at Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

There should be a change in the time of turning the clocks forward, so that the man of the house would get home early enough in the evening, to make it possible for him to beat the carpet for the early spring house-cleaning.

A conscientious objector is a fellow who is yellow all through and lacks manhood so much he hides behind religious peculiarities to save his personal discomfort.

The dictionary is valuable when you use it; but many people prefer to talk about what they don't understand rather than striving to understand better.

 Like an ugly, toothless houn'
 Dat' kain't stop mah plantin'—
 Got mah seeds all in de groun'.

L'il, sweet seeds o' gladness,
 De'll sprout an' grow fo' me!
 Now dat dey is plantin'
 Ah'm as happy as kin be.

Hyar's a lazy niggah,
 Jes' e-puffin' ob his pipe;
 Dreamin' ob de summah,
 Wen de sweetes' t'ings is ripe.

Breath by, Mistah Wintah!
 Ah've attended to mah weeds;
 Jes' kain't tink ob nothin'
 But dem watahmillion seeds.

The Test of An Undertaker

Like doctors, lawyers, and other professional men, the undertaker has a reputation to maintain. The up-to-date funeral director nowadays attends conventions, studies his trade publications and keeps abreast of the improvements of the times. Just as an experiment, sometime, ask any live, up-to-date undertaker about the Norwalk Vault. A leader won't wait to be asked; he will tell you at the first opportunity a dozen reasons why the Norwalk has been accepted throughout the country as the very foundation of the modern, sanitary burial.

Marriage of Interest To Plymouth

We reprint the following from a San Diego publication.

Miss Ruth Hull and Paul T. Emery were married last Wednesday at a pretty home ceremony.

Mrs. Emery is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alcazo Hull, 3552 Fourth street, this city. She attended the San Diego high school, and later Miss Houd's school for girls at Berkeley. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Emery, formerly of Columbus Grove, O. He also graduated from the San Diego high school, and later attended Throp College of Technology at Pasadena until shortly before his enlistment in the aviation service. He has been stationed at North Island ever since.

Smilax and a great profusion of dainty sweet peas in lavender, pink and white were the decorations. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. F. O. Belden of the First Baptist church, was held under a floral canopy with a background banked with smilax and blooms. The bride wore a gown of opal metal cloth with long train, and wore a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. Miss Emmeline Lowenstein, maid of honor, was gowned in pink chiffon and carried a similar bouquet in pink. Miss Lowenstein sang "Mavis."

by Harold Craxton, after which Mr. Alcazo Hull, Jr. played "To a Will Rose," by MacDowell, on the violin, accompanied by Miss Esya Herzberg, of Enid, Okla.

Many beautiful wedding gifts were displayed, and jeweled pins were presented the maid of honor and best man, Mr. John Hull, brother of the bride, also to Mr. Alcazo Hull, Jr. and Miss Herzberg.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Emery will be at home to their friends at 3552 Fourth street, the old home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Alcazo Hull, arriving for an extended trip to Washington and Canada.

Mr. E. E. Emery, the groom's father is a brother of Mrs. Chas. Southard, and Mrs. Emery is a niece of H. W. Whittier. They were both former Plymouth residents and have many friends here who will be interested to know of the marriage of their son.

OHIOANS MUST DO THEIR SHARE
Appeal of Sunday School Association Is Most Worthy.

CHILD LIFE CALLING OUT TO ALL

Spiritual Welfare of the Country's Youth Will Fall to Cureless Ruin if the Sunday School Fails to Measure Up to its Responsibility. Cause Appeals to All That is Best in Human Nature.

"Every true worker in the church should rejoice," he believes," says Arthur T. Arnold, general secretary of the Ohio Sunday School Association, "at the multitude of movements which, for the first time in history of this country, will supply religious work with a proper financial backing to insure its continuity and success. From the first religious work in this country has been maintained by free-will offerings. Too often these have been more will than offering. Most of the big modern missionary movements have originated in this country. I think a special vote of recognition to the Methodists for giving the world a vision of an $10,000,000 fund for the advancement of the Kingdom on earth.

"I do not believe the world is ready for the abandonment of denominational tional movements at the present time, and I am proud and happy to count myself a lifelong Methodist and to remember with gratitude the honors which the Methodist church has conferred upon me. I think all Methodists will want to do the utmost in their power in making a great success of the centenary movement.

"No less worthy and no less wonderful is the New Era movement of the Presbyterian church, and it gives every prospect of successful culmination. The Baptists, the Lutherans and other denominations, about in the same measure as their numerical strength, are engaged in similar movements. If we are to believe that the blessing of God will rest on one, we must expect it to cover all of them.

"I can not believe, however, that denominational zeal will outweigh or overshadow the claim of child life or the outstanding need of a community program of religious education. These are interdenominational movements for which the World, International and the Ohio Sunday School organizations are pledged.

"Measured in terms of the country's Sunday School enrollment, the $20,000,000 budget for which a campaign has now been launched is smaller than that of any of the denominational drives. No one familiar with the situation will deny that religious education has been sadly neglected when measured in terms of expenditures for secular education. In Ohio the proportion is $1 for Sunday schools to $400 for day schools. Our social evolution has taken the religious training of the child almost entirely out of the home. If the Sunday school fails to measure up to its responsibility, the spiritual welfare of the youth of the country falls to cureless ruin. More than 75 percent of the entire church membership comes to it through the doors of the Sunday School, the case seems so direct and forced, so appealing to all that is best in human nature and most forward looking in human mind, that it needs only to be stated to be proved.

The pulpit has its collegiate and seminary training to supply, direction and leadership. The Sunday School movement is sadly defective in this respect. One of the outstanding purposes of the present campaign for funds is to provide trained leadership at the critical points in this country and throughout the world. The layman, I believe, can readily see that despite the variety of appeals being made at the present time, all are worthy. All of them have the endorsement and support of Sunday School leaders everywhere. None provides for the help we plan

As Plymouth Comes And Goes

Mrs. F. B. Carter and son Roy, arrived from Columbus Wednesday morning, joining her husband here. Their household goods are enroute, and they will occupy the D. W. Ellis property on West Broadway.

Bred in old Kentucky isn't any better than bread in Plymouth if you use Snow Flake flour.

The Royal Neighbors of America which was instituted here in December, gave a box social after the regular meeting last Friday night. The affair was well attended and was a success in every respect. Games and music were enjoyed, and much merriment was occasioned by the "male members" present.

Lot of those good heavy overalls, blue and blue stripe, only $1.50 at McKellogg's.

The Royal Neighbors of America will hold a baked sale in the room of the "Ohio Dairy Cream Station," one door east of the Gas office, Saturday, beginning at ten o'clock. All kinds of home baked articles will be sold. Come and get your dinner for less than you can bake it yourself.

It's the way they make Snow Flake flour.

O. T. Sennett, of Sandusky, Ohio, was in Plymouth on Monday and Tuesday of this week. While here he visited with G. W. Holtz, Jacob Zeigler, and Joseph Pettit. Mr. Sennett will hereafter reside in Cleveland, having removed from Sandusky.

You heard the news. Two pairs of men's socks for two bits—25c McKellogg.

We discovered it and now offer it to you. A clear Havana cigar. The El Modelo, 7c, or 3 for 20c. At Webber's Drug store.

Saturday afternoon she slipped into a pretty house gown, and picked up a magazine for diversion. Her baking was done, and the bread and pastry was faultless. Snow Flake flour makes a happy home.

If you need a nice dress shirt, try an Emery. From $1.50 to $6.00 at McKellogg's.

Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Sykes, of Baltimore, Md., spent the week end with the mother, Mrs. Eliza Sykes, and brother, R. H. Sykes. A family dinner was spread at the R. H. Sykes home Sunday for the pleasure of the guests.

Mrs. Tillie Clark spent Wednesday in Mansfield.

Men of Plymouth you stand in your own light if you do not stand in a pair of Bart and Packard's Korsett Shape shoes. McKellogg sells them.

A Wonderful Cigar

THE EL MODELO

A clear Havana Tampa made Cigar, at no more than the cost of an ordinary Cigar, but this is no ordinary Cigar.

In The El Modelo

You will at once recognize that peculiar taste and flavor of high grade tobacco, when you light an El Modelo.

Webber's Drug Store

Miss Ethel Major, teacher in the Elyria public schools, is spending the spring vacation with her father R. P. Major and family.

Mrs. Dr. J. F. Holtz and son Robert, were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Webber.

For long wear, and always good shape, why not a pair of Douglas shoes at McKellogg's.

Frank Kuhn, the five-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuhn, recently submitted to an operation for appendicitis in a Shelby hospital. Mrs. Kuhn is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Berberich, of Plymouth.

Men's all leather work shoes that we know will give good service for $3.00 and $3.50 at McKellogg's.

See Attorney Seiler's professional card elsewhere in this issue.

C. S. Moore, Jeweler, of Willard, was transacting business in Plymouth Wednesday.

Our W. L. Douglass dress shoe for men start at $2.50 and $3.00, and higher priced ones if you want them at McKellogg's.

Staff of Life is best made from Snow Flake flour, so Plymouth housewives say. They buy it of Chappell, Clark Bros., Plymouth Produce Co., or at the Elevator.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Andrews have moved to Shelby. Sorry these good people have chosen to leave Plymouth.

An elegant line of men's work shoes, all prices, from $3.00 to $5.00, at McKellogg's.

She said breakfast was ready, and when we sat down there was a plate of hot biscuits made from Snow Flake flour. Oh boy!

Mrs. A. Bachrach and Mrs. Hattie Somerfield, of Willard, were guests of Plymouth relatives and friends Tuesday.

H. J. Schneider, of Monroeville, was in town Wednesday, giving attention to his lumber interests here.

A. C. Wheeler, of Cleveland was in Plymouth Tuesday, greeting old friends he had not seen for many years. Mr. Wheeler was once a resident of Plymouth, but is now calling the Sixth city his vine and fig tree. His twin sister, Mrs. Barber, of Willard, is seriously ill, and being summoned to her bedside, he came over between cars to meet a few intimates.

Rev. and Mrs. G. C. Smith are entertaining their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sisson, of Bolivar, Ohio. They will remain through the week.

L. R. Fetters transacted business in Cleveland Monday and Tuesday, in the interest of his garage and the Plymouth Stamp Metal Co.

Miss Verda Trauger has resigned her position as principal of the schools at Martins Ferry, and returned to the home of her parents in Plymouth. Miss Trauger has been ill for a time, and on the advice of her physician will abandon school work until her health is restored.

Another Car Load of Fords. N. J. McElric, of Plymouth, and Shiloh, and Ross Levin, of Shelby, unloaded another carload of Fords on Friday of last week.

Fords are coming through pretty good now and if you will leave your order you will have yours just about the time the weather and the roads begin to beakon.

Postmaster Earnest and carrier, Oscar O'Toole, attended a dinner at the Sherman hotel at Shelby Wednesday evening, given by Edwin Ford of Mansfield, who is in charge of the sale of War Savings Stamps for Richland county. Edward Mugazine, of Cincinnati, addressed the postmasters and carriers of Shelby, Plymouth and Shiloh.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Hutchen, of Chicago, visited at the M. F. parsonage a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McFadden were called to Cleveland Wednesday, that they might assist in the return of Ralph McFadden to the Cleveland hospital for a second operation to relieve an injury to the back received several months ago.

At this time it bothers a smoker to find a good cigar at less than 10c. The El Modelo at 7c will suit a taste that likes a good cigar. At Webber's Drug store.

C. E. Heath is transacting business in Cleveland today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Judson is in receipt of a card announcing the arrival of their son Sidney Judson, who returned from France with the 37th Division. He's now at Camp Dix, and will probably be transferred to Camp Sherman soon for permanent discharge.

J. L. Judson transacted business in Mansfield Tuesday.

C. E. Rhoades formerly of Plymouth, but now of Bucyrus, was in town Wednesday. Mr. Rhoades is with the American Clay, and next week will be promoted to foremanship in the Winous department. John Curpen is also with the American Clay, and has been made foreman of the Shell department, where the company is still making depth bombs for the government.

Mrs. J. H. Anderson of Hillsboro, Ohio, accompanied by her son Louis, and daughter, Nannie, arrived in Plymouth Sunday and remained until Tuesday with her husband, J. H. Anderson, who recently assumed charge of the foundry department at the Root-Heath plant. They will soon remove to Plymouth, occupying the Davis Brown property on Plymouth street.

"The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. W. Taylor, Friday afternoon, April 4.

Mrs. Mariett Woodworth and Miss Nettie Gaanog, of New Haven, were shopping in Plymouth Wednesday.

Made in Tampa. Sold in Plymouth. A Clear Havana Cigar. The El Modelo, 7c, 3 for 20c, at Webber's Drug Store.

Furniture For Sale. A complete dining room set, living room furniture and rugs. See Mrs. Sam Bachrach.

Potatoes For Sale. Common potatoes only $1.00 per bushel at the house. See Frank Kenestrick.

Lot and Lumber. I will sell a good lot on Walnut street. Also about 8000 feet of hardwood lumber. See me at the Quality Grocery. Fred Clark.

Organ For Sale. I have an organ in good condition which I will sell so cheap that you will be interested. See me at the Quality Grocery. Fred Clark.

For Sale. I have a Mitchell-Six Roadster, 1918 model, run about 5000 miles and good as new and looks it. Will sell reasonably or will trade for a Ford which is better adapted to my business. W. R. Outerbridge. Plymouth, Ohio.

Ford For Sale. Ford Touring Car. Will sell cheap. J. E. Grimes, near Newman's Corners.

Golden Laced Wyandottes. Eggs for hatching from good strain of birds. H. L. Winters, 15 Burtfield Ave., Plymouth, Ohio.

BOY SCOUTS

SCOUT PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The war is over. Peace is here. Our ninth anniversary finds scouting stronger than ever...

Again we look forward to a year in the making day out-of-doors. The greatest need of a nation is for men—not the mush-and-molly sort...

The nation has need of more such men as that typical scout, our great former president, whose recent death the nation mourns...

Let us dedicate ourselves to a year of intensive outdoor scouting, such as that great man lived, so that the life of our nation may be vitalized by more men such as he.

Several outstanding obligations rest upon every scout. His life from day to day should, first of all, be an unbroken chain of good turns and acts that square with the scout chain...

LEARNING TO TELL THE TREES.

One of the Most Interesting Nature Studies of the Scouts.

CHURCH COUNCIL FOR SCOUTS.

The federal council of the Churches of Christ in America has voted the following resolution:

"The federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, through its administrative committee, expresses its deep sympathy with the boy scout movement."

"Several of the constituent denominations of the council have appointed commissions on relationship with the boy scout movement and render earnest testimony of its great value to the church."

"The attitude of the Boy Scouts of America in their recognition of religion and their loyalty to the church is cause for deep appreciation upon the part of the churches."

DOINGS OF THE BOY SCOUTS.

Reading, Pa., Boy scouts removed dead trees from sidewalks for fuel in church.

Renovated memorial trees have been offered to Pennsylvania boy scouts by the state department of forestry.

The address of New London, Conn., voted $250 to the boy scouts for their good work in cleaning up the city. The scouts cannot personally accept money for such services, so it was given to the local council and will be used for the summer camp.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A small bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair...

The President's Paws.

The mighty earth-swaving hands of President Woodrow Wilson are duplicated in the "paws" of the recently arrived Woodrow Wilson Sayre, grandeur of the country's executive. The young Sayre possesses the characteristic unusually large hands and long little fingers of his granddaddy.
This is the sole resemblance the Sayre youngster has to the president. With the hand's exception, he is a replica of his father, Francis B. Sayre, instructor in law at Harvard university.

The baby was born here in Jefferson hospital at the time when his distinguished grandfather was returning from France. At the time of birth the young Sayre was twenty-one inches in height and weighed eight pounds nine ounces. Abundant red locks adorn his noble brow. Like a regular youngster he can whoop like an Indian on the warpath. And does, too, according to Miss Ruth Swisher, of Chambersburg, Pa., his nurse.

Annual Meeting of the Presby- terian Church.

The Presbyterian church held its annual meeting on Thursday evening, March 27, 1919. The reports from the various organizations were very encouraging.

In spite of the many handicaps of the church year just closed, the church is in excellent condition and the members have a mind to "go forward". Th benevolence were increased more than 400 percent over a three year average.

The treasurer's report showed all bills paid with a good comfortable balance on hand with which start the next year. Ten members were added to the church in the last quarter. Eight by letter and two on confession.

The every member canvass which was conducted on the 22d of March met with a hearty response on the part of the people and more than three hundred dollars was added to the church budget for the expenses of next year.

The pastor takes this opportunity to thank not only the members of the church but our friends who are not members of the church, for their cheerful cooperation in the present forward movement.

The annual meeting was well attended and every one was cheerful and progressive. At the close of the business session the ladies served an excellent lunch. For getting those things which are behind, and reaching forth for those things which are before.

Let us "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

We are entering upon the work of a new church year. The world is at the threshold of a new day, standing as of old at Kadesh Barnca. Will God's people take the world for King Emanuel or will we continue to say with the "spies" there are "giants there" and turn back to wander in the wilderness. Serve God and him only. Be strong and very courageous and victory is sure.
