EACH IN HIS OWN TONGUE.

A fire-mist, and a planet,
A crystal and a cell,
A jelly fish and a Saurian,
And caves where the cave-men dwell;
Then a sense of law and beauty
And a face turned from the cloud.
Some call it Evolution,
And others call it God.

A haze on the far horizon
The infinite, tender sky,
The ripe, rich tint of the cornfields,
And the wild geese sailing high;
And all over upland and lowland
The charm of the golden-rod
Some of us call it Autumn,
And others call it God.

Like tides on a crescent sea-beach
When the moon is new and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings Come swelling and surging in,
Come from the mystic ocean,
Whose rim no foot has trod.
Some of us call it longing,
And some of us call it God.

A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood;
Socrates drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the rood;
And millions who, humble and nameless,
The straight hard pathway trod
Some call it consecration,
And others call it God.
—William Herbert Carruth.

A lot of people who kick because printed matter costs high, throw away all their waste paper and thus help make paper stock scarce.

Art and Science.

In a number of the Bookman, William Lyon Phelps thus set forth the advantage of a work of art possesses over a scientific book: A great work of art is never old-fashioned because it expresses in final form some truth about human nature, and human nature never changes—in comparison with its primal elements, the mountains are ephemeral. A drama dealing with the impalpable human soul is more likely to stay true than a treatise on geology. This is the notable advantage of works of art have over works of science, the advantage of being and remaining true. No matter how important the contribution of scientific books, they are alloyed with inevitable error, and after the death of their authors must be constantly revised by lesser men, improved by smaller minds, whereas the masterpieces of poetry, drama and fiction can not be revised because they are always true. The latest edition of a work of science is the most valuable; and in literature, the earliest.

After all, it is far better to have one's literary work read and sharply criticized than not to have it read at all and for this reason a paragraph is always mildly pleased when his wife looks up from the paper and says severely: You said that twice before.

Not Afraid To Look Old.

Joseph Cummins Chase, the American portrait painter, finished a portrait of Marshal Foch not long ago, but after finishing it, was almost afraid to show it to the marshal. It seemed so old, although the painter had faithfully followed what he saw in the great Frenchman's features. Finally he decided to show it to Foch, and did so with the remark that it looked too old, and perhaps ought to be changed.

Marshal Foch was delighted with it. "It looks old," he said, "but I am old. You must be the artist to remove a single line or touch a further brush to the painting. I am not afraid to look old, since I am old," he said. Why should any one fear to look old? What is there in age to be ashamed of? What is there in youth that one should deceive to reflect it? If age were something a few only achieved, if it were something that showed the wrath of the gods visited only upon certain individuals, one might be justified in attempting to conceal it, or in denying it. But it is the common lot of all; none there are who may escape age.

Turning Out Pennies.

Every mint in the United States has been put to work by Director Ray Baker turning out one-cent pieces, in an effort to keep pace with the enormous demand for the nation's least valuable coin. By instituting a 24-hour day, the output has been pushed to 90,000,000 cents a month.

"There have been approximately 3,500,000,000 one-cent pieces coined in this country," Mr. Baker announced, "but where they have gone is a mystery nobody seems able to solve. The sub-treasuries are inundated with orders from banks which keep issuing the copper coins for use in payment of odd cent taxes and street car fares, but the demand continues." The May output of the mints was 64,984,000 coins, of which 60,978,000 were one-cent pieces. Nickels also were in large demand, 2,645,000 being coined, the remainder of the production being 822,000 half dollars, 176,000 quarters and 370,000 dimes. The money value of the output was $1,229,881. All of the pennies being made are of the Lincoln design.

Safety For Traitors.

We have revoked the citizenship of just two men in all the list of overt traitors to America. We have deported very, very few. They ought, of course, every one of them, to be deported; but as a matter of fact they will not be. They will be handed over again to the benevolent assimilation of America, the land of the free, while the smile of our benevolent Goddess of Liberty still will welcome more of their ilk thronging to our shores.—Emerson Hoogh in Sat. Eve. Post.

Obituary.

Hallie Vernon Smith, son of George W. and Birdie E. Smith, was born May 6, 1896, in New Haven Ohio. Departed this life June 9, 1919, at the age of 23 years, 1 month, and 3 days, after a lingering illness of four months. He bore his sufferings without a murmur, but the Grim Reaper took him home where there is no more suffering.

His mother preceded him to the great beyond on November 28, 1899. After his mother's death he made his home with his grand-mother for about seven years. His father was again united in marriage to Miss Edna Laver, April 25, 1906, after which he made his home with his parents.

He leaves to mourn his loss his father, mother, and sister, Mrs. Phoebe Tilton, and a host of relatives and friends.

We cannot say, and will not say, that he is dead. He is just away. With a cherry smile and a wave of hand,

He has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be since he lingers there.

And you, oh you, who the wildest
For the old time step and the glad return.

Thinking of him faring on as dear,
In the love of "There" as the love of "Here"

Think of him still as the same, we say,
He is not dead, he is just away.
The funeral was held at the home, June 12, at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Neff, of Ney, Ohio.

Clyde Roose, sheriff of Huron county, has the distinction of being able to speak the Roumanian language. He picked up a sufficient knowledge of this tongue while serving as marshal of Wil-

Successful In Raising Beans.

Wilbur Barrett, of Whatcom county, Wash., made $65 profit from his one-tenth acre of beans. Wilbur is a member of the boys' and girls' club of his county, organized by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural College. His seed—6 pounds of Kentucky Wonder pole beans and 3 pounds of bush beans—was planted on land which had never been cropped. It required 1,420 plants to stalk the plants when the vines began to run. He writes in his report that "the most fun was picking the long fat pods. At one picking I would get as high as 14 big sacks. I spent $16 of the $65 I made for clothes, $2 for an air gun, $7 for some rabbits, and gave the rest to my father to help toward buying an auto to go to school in."

Abe Martin says that if the old prices will be returned no question will be asked.

Farmers know well that ensilage, properly laid in, develops a high alcoholic content. The cost of the future will be our only horrible example.

The Test of An Undertaker

Like doctors, lawyers, and other professional men, the undertaker has a reputation to maintain. The up-to-date, funeral director nowadays attends conventions, studies his trade publications and keeps abreast of the improvements of the times. Just as an experimenter, sometime, ask any live, up-to-date undertaker about the Norwalk Vault. A leader won't wait to be asked; he will tell you at the first opportunity a dozen reasons why the Norwalk has been accepted throughout the country as the very foundation of the modern, sanitary burial.

No Binder Twine

It's a bad go to have harvest right up to ripe, and no binder twine. Worse yet if there's none in the market.

It Don't Pay

It don't pay to grow a crop and make no preparation for harvest. Binder twine is as essential as a self binder. Useless each without the other.

Get It Now

Get it now, as old Widow Bedot used to say, while the gittin's good. Those got binder twine at a high low price?

The Plymouth Equity

The Plymouth Equity has binder twine with a margin of profit so close that it is practically wholesale in price. Of course the Equity will sell as long as it has buyers and the supply lasts.

After Supply Is Gone

After supply is gone then the fret begins. Better buy than fret. Get in line now. Better have twine ready than chase from town to town while the binder stands still and the grain is over ripe. Besides low supply means higher price.

Corwin's Effective Wit.

Tom Corwin's ready wit was often alone sufficient to carry his point and he used it with effect even in support of serious legislative measures that he was advocating. When he was a member of the Ohio general assembly, one of the measures that he introduced and urged was a bill to abolish the whipping post as a method of administering punishment for crimes and offenses.

The chief opponent of the bill was an elderly member who had lived in his early days in Connecticut. He said, "Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not as old as I am, and has not seen as much of the practical operation of the system of punishment which he desires to abolish as I have.

"When I lived in Connecticut, if a fellow there stole a horse, or cut up any other rusties, we used to tie him right up and give him a real good thrashing and he cleared out right away, and we never saw any more of him. It is the best way of getting rid of rogues that ever was tried, and all without any expense to the state."

Mr. Corwin rose and in reply merely said:

"Mr. Speaker, I have often been puzzled to account for the vast immigration from Connecticut to the west, but the gentleman who has just addressed us has explained it to my entire satisfaction."

With that he took his seat and when the roar of laughter, which his ally had provoked died down, a vote was taken and the bill passed.

Corwin was three times a member of the legislature—in 1821, 1822 and 1823—the terms then being for a single year.

The Discovery of America.

A schoolboy in London turned this in as a composition on Christopher Columbus:

Columbus was a man who could make an egg stand on end without crushing it. The king of Spain sent for him and asked him:

"Can you discover America?"

"Yes," Columbus answered, "if you will give me a boat."

He got his boat and sailed in the direction that he believed America was. The sailors mutinied and insisted there was no such place as America, but presently the pilot came to him and said:

"Columbus, land is in sight."

"Well, it's America," Columbus said.

When the boat neared the shore Columbus saw a group of natives.

"Is this America?" he asked.

"Yes," they replied.

"I suppose you are Indians?" Columbus went on.

"Yes," the chief answered, "and are you Christopher Columbus?"

"I am."

The Indian chief turned then to his companion and said:

"The jig is up. We are discovered at last."

"U. S. Tires Are Good Tires."

I was much pleased with the advertisement of automobile tires I saw the other day. I had been passing many enormous board-notices, grandly in line, striking in design, and each claiming superlative merit for their tires. "Buy Liveforever Tires! They last like steel!" "Use Rockaway Tires! No other rides so smoothly!" "You'll come to Ne Plus Ultra Tires! Don't wait!" "The Bestfall Tire! Nothing like it!" So the advertising advertisements vibrated thru the landscape.

Then I saw the quiet announcement: "Smith tires are good tires." Just that. You can't imagine how restful it was. Immediately a sense of solid satisfaction came over me. "Good tires." No need to bluster and howl. No need to ransack the dictionary for superlatives. No need to run down competitors. "Smith tires are good tires." I wanted to buy some at once. Those are the tires for me henceforth. "Good tires." That is the acme of advertising.

Ah, when will people learn the delicious value of quiet, self-respecting simplicity?

The Mute Giraffe.

It is said by animal trainers that the giraffe has never been known to emit a sound of any kind. No matter what the animal may suffer when ill or injured, he remains silent. And scientists have advanced the theory that, because of the extreme length of the neck, sound is difficult or impossible for them.

Open Shop or Nothing.

The publishers of Buenos Aires are said to have joined in a compact never to admit another union printer to their shops. The principal newspapers have started linotype schools and are teaching prospective operators. It is asserted that the old employees on newspapers will be given their jobs again only when they resign.

The Seventeen-Year Locusts.

The Seventeen-Year locusts, as they are called, and which are to visit us this summer, are by all odds the strangest creatures in nature—that is the way to express it. Their right name is Cicada, but seventeen-year locust is a good enough name for these mysterious insects.

Seventeen years ago their ancestors laid small white eggs in little grooves of tender branches or twigs of trees. Before the summer was gone, the twigs had died, and the tiny white worms hatched from the eggs fell to the earth and worked their way into the soil. There they have since lived—seventeen years in darkness, a few inches or a few feet at most from where they fell—alone and lonesome for there has been no communication among them.

And now, seventeen years to the moment of June 21, 1919, the earth, shed their flinty coats, crawl to a branch or twig, lay some eggs as did their ancestors and pass in a couple of months or less. Seventeen years to make the round trip, to live for six or eight weeks in the sun-shine. Verily there is nothing comparable with it in the insect world.

Their purpose in the great economy of things? We do not know. We have never heard anybody advance a plausible theory. We have never read any explanation of the long cycle through which these little creatures pass in order to live for six or eight weeks. That everything in the world has a place in the great economy of things, there is no doubt. But the place of the seventeen-year locust, what he is for, what good he does, why he should remain in the earth so long, and then play such an apparently unimportant part while he is here—we do not know.

The New York legislature has ratified the woman's suffrage amendment without a dissent.
Here's another opportunity for a cataleptic prostration. Go to it
Mr. Heistand.

The Ohio legislature has ratified the woman's suffrage amendment to the national constitution. This will give the editor of the Mansfield News an opportunity to throw another fit.

The legislature passed a law authorizing another nut institution and now the location is a bone of contention. One newspaper proposes that the state house be converted and start it off with the present assembly as a nucleus.

The more we read the editorial page of the Mansfield News the clearer becomes the realization that the Republican party will have a hard time winning in 1920.
Fortunately, however, there is consolation in the fact that not all Republican editorial pages are twenty years behind the times, and not all have the smell of the sewer.

President Wilson's suggestion that beer and light wines be excepted from the war time prohibition in force July 1, is not likely to be acted on favorably by congress. This is right. The people are trying to get out from under this booze game, and the agitation is a propaganda inspired by brewers.

When we hear complaint because of the time devoted to making a peace pact, closing a war in which twenty-three nations, big and little, were involved, we think of the Ohio legislature which began a month ahead of the peace conference and hasn't yet been able to frame a tax law that would relieve municipal fund shortage.

The Mansfield News raps the Ohio legislature because it ratified the woman's suffrage amendment in face of the rejection of the proposition by the electorate two years ago. Then it bemoans the prohibition amendment which was written into the constitution by direction of a decisive majority and calls all men who supported the measure dubs and fakes.

The (democratic) party is a hardened criminal. It richly deserves a ball and chain and solitary confinement for the rest of its unnatural life, compelled to field News.

The above is the kind of stuff out of which bolshevism is made.
It harks back to the hate and vituperation that followed the civil war when the stump speaker drew a laugh out of partisan boot-lickers by saying "every democrat may not be a horse-thief, but every horse-thief is a democrat." Such rant doesn't come from intelligence. Rather it comes out of the partisanship that sings "My Party 'Tis of Thee," instead of the patriotic sense of obligation which the old hymn inspires.

PATHE

Pathe leads the world in phonographs and records. Pathe Brothers of France were the first to put on the market disc records.
Just seven months after Edison brought out his cylinder records, Pathe began manufacturing disc records. Their experience with disc records is much longer than that of the other companies, and their different records are more numerous than those of any other company in the world.

Pathe has five times as many different records as has the three leading companies combined.
Years before these companies were making many records, Pathe Bros. were recording on disc records the finest music produced in the music centers of the world.
The music of all nations is represented ten-fold better on Pathe's records than on those of any other talking machine company.
Pathe makes 110,000 different records which is ten times more than its nearest competitor.

Pathe has become a synonym for scientific discovery and mechanical perfection. When France wanted a man who understood sound moves to invent a machine to detect the approach of a flying machine while at a great distance, Chas. Pathe was called. And he with Prof. Miller, of Cleveland, invented the machine desired.

Goes To The Pen.

On Saturday Alton Denslow was brought into Huron county court, being charged with non-support of his children. He manifested rather small concern and was somewhat defiant in his demeanor, and said he did not want a lawyer. Judge Young spoke to him about the mistake in apparently having little regard for the restrictions of the law, and sentenced Denslow to a term of from one to three years in the state penitentiary.

A year ago he was acquitted of a non-support charge, and later sentenced to the workhouse for threatening his father-in-law His divorced wife married Earl Myers

The Peoples National Bank

There is no credit like that established at the bank. If it is your custom to place a part of your earnings in a savings account you are establishing a habit of thrift that will give you a standing not secured in any other way.

Especially is this true of the young man. The bank is the only reliable source of information as to credits, and oftentimes, as to habits. Strive to have the bank speak well of you in both credit and conduct. Give it a reason for commending you by saving and husbanding your resources.

Miss Mildred Mittenbuhler left Monday for Kent, Ohio, where she entered the Kent Teachers Training school.

"Buy wisely; pay promptly; sell prudently; collect promptly; advertise consistently; observe principles, which if followed closely by the business man are bound to win success. These are not our words, but are the consensus of opinion of a large meeting of credit men in annual convention. Available at any time, these principles are particularly important at this time. They are absolutely sound."

Why Vudor Ventilating Porch Shades are The Best

Vudor Porch shades are the only ventilating porch shades. Vudor Porch shades have the patented self-hanging attachments—one person can hang them in a few minutes and thereafter take them down and put them up in a minute. Vudor patented cord guides transfer all strain to the porch beam and are much superior to pulleys. Vudors are oil stained in fast colors, mottled brown and green or all green and may be had 4 to 12 ft. wide; with care they will last 6 to 10 years and prices are very reasonable. Full information and prices sent on request.

The City of GOODRICH Akron, Ohio

The Goodrich More Mileage Message

Goodrich is making the burliest, sturdiest, most lasting tires the rubber industry has ever seen; and Goodrich knows it. In every test of road-roughing to which tires can be put, Goodrich Tires have unfolded an endurance, an ability to take punishment, which has run into phenomenal mileage.

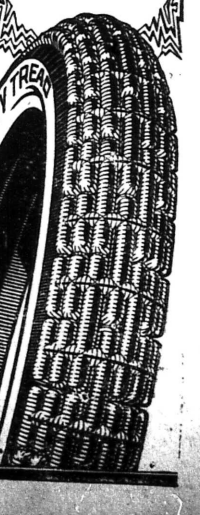

Confident in this knowledge and belief, Goodrich desires that all tire users share in the confidence of Goodrich, and the big mileage Goodrich Tires assure. Therefore, Goodrich announces to present and future owners of its pneumatic tires—an adjustment basis of 6,000 miles for SAFETY TREADS, and 8,000 miles for SILVERTOWN CORDS, instead of the 3,500 and 5,000 miles respectively, heretofore in force.

Remember that a Goodrich adjustment is a fair one. Goodrich knows the mileage is in its tires, and more; and to make you realize and to lose money in being without Goodrich Tires, the new Goodrich adjustment is proclaimed broadcast.

"BEST IN THE LONG RUN"

Permanent Highways.

"Improved highways of a permanent type providing motor express and passenger transportation facilities spell opportunity to day to the City which intends to lay the foundation for a healthy, permanent future growth.

For, if we but admit that hope lies in a more even distribution of the population over the acres lying within a city's sphere of influence then we are committed to the task of arranging facilities to permit that adjustment to take place in a natural way.

Improved highways that make possible rapid motor transportation 365 days out of every year will just as certainly permit and stimulate our people to move out on to the surrounding country acres as a fast and free flowing stream will deliver at its mouth the piece of bark flung in at its source."

These remarks, made by Mr. W. O. Rutherford, Vice President of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company at a recent conference, are vital now, first because in many cities housing conditions are not conducive to a home-making and home-loving folk, and second now is the time to set about on these works of public improvement that will permit men and women to become home owners and give them added cause to be proud of their city and land.

"Quite recently our Trade Extension Division," adds Mr. Rutherford, "completed a series of these works of public improvement that will permit men and women to become home owners and give them added cause to be proud of their city and land. They will fly bombing planes which had been destined to carry the doctrine of terror into Hun territory before armistice was signed."

Among the men who will operate these planes are Lieut. Frederick E. Luff, Cleveland, who will be flight commander; Lieut. Rex L. Uden, Cleveland, and Lieut. J. V. Garver, Strasburg, Ga.

"To meet such situations as these, and because of the evident solution to be found in the improvement of our highways and the stimulation of highways transportation, representatives of the cities of this country assembled at St. Louis recently and put themselves squarely on record for the development of highways as being of particular and pressing importance. At this meeting the United States Commerce Commission a resolution was adopted urging upon Congress that the time had now arrived to create a Federal Highway Commission to lay out and build a truly national system of highways and stimulate their efficient utilization. And this action signifies the importance to our national life that may be attached to the new Federal Highway Commission merely echoes the voices of hundreds of thousands of citizens who have already expressed themselves. As a result of this general insistence, Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan introduced his bill at the last session providing for a Federal Highway Commission and a National System of Highways. The feeling was unanimous that the time had come for the adoption of a policy specifically providing for the building outright by the national government of highways of interstate importance including those essential to the national defense and development of the public domain."

Mr. C. A. Dunham, Manager of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company at Cleveland, has again urged in this connection the great opportunity before our colleges and universities for help at this time. He makes the statement: "Throughout the land in countries, as well as in State Assemblies, our legislators are at a loss for scientific data on which this great development of motor transportation can be guided to the ultimate good of all."

"For this reason it becomes increasingly important that the colleges of this and neighboring states should provide instruction on highways, their construction, and maintenance, in every aspect of highway transportation. The efforts made during the war by the Highways Transport Committee and the Council of National Defense should not stop but should be incorporated as a definite part of the new

Henry Doughboy Is Home Again And He Writes

My buddy says to me, one night when we were reading "The Stars and Stripes" up front: "Well, Hen, I see they're going to have a new Liberty Loan bank home. There's five months' pay coming to us from the paymaster tomorrow, and I'm going to take out the folks at home and take a hundred dollars' worth." That was the time of the Fourth Loan.

Well, he did, handing the money over to the Skipper right there at the paytable, telling him to buy a bond for him.

That was a Thursday, Saturday morning, at daylight, we jumped off. Half an hour later I didn't have a buddy any more—piece of shrap.

Ge, he was a Man! He gave everything he had to his country. And since I've been back I've heard some people growling because Uncle Sam is asking 'em to make one more loan to him so he can finish up the job.

I hope my old buddy can't hear what they're saying.

Poor Excuses

"I bought bonds while the war was on; now my duty is toward my family and my business."

Is that so? The war was fought to protect your family and your business, and now you convict yourself of ingratitude by refusing to lend to pay for that protection.

V V V

"Let the banks take the loan; they've got money. Yes, they have money. They have your money and your neighbor's and your neighbor's neighbor's money. These deposits must take the loan. The loaning surplus in banks must be counted upon to keep business going. All the banks in America couldn't float the loan with their own money."

V V V

"The bonds of former Liberty Loans are below par. I can't buy notes on a down market."

What do you care what the bond market is if the Government promises to pay you par at maturity? Did the Yanks fail to fight because they were below par in the estimation of the enemy? No. They proved themselves above par when everything was against them.

War Dogs of Belgian Artillery On Tour to Boost Liberty Loan

THE Dogs of War did yeoman work for the Belgians. Small field pieces mounted on rubber-tired carriages were whisked about the Belgian battlefields by griffons, or Belgian Police Dogs, such as are shown in the photograph.

A detachment of Belgian veterans is on tour in this country with some of these war dogs giving demonstrations in the larger cities in the interest of the Victory Liberty Loan.

The men are all veterans of the entire war. They were at the siege of Liege and were in the thick of it until the armistice was signed.

BRAMBLEBRIAR TALES

MR. SQUIRREL COMES TO HIS SENSES.

Not many years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were presented with two little baby squirrels. Now these two little squirrels lived for many months in their home at the top of the high oak tree at the edge of the big woods.

Mrs. Squirrel did not allow Sammy and Danny, for that was their names, to go down on the ground because old Mr. Bear or Mr. Weasel might happen along just at that time, and be unusually hungry. And, of course, that would be very very unfortunate for Sammy and Danny.

But as the winter months passed by, the spring with its warm days came along. Mrs. Squirrel decided to let them venture down the tree, and get acquainted with little Bremen Rabbit, and Vixen Fox.

Old Mr. Squirrel sat on his front porch enjoying a smoke one fine morning, watching the capers of his children, who were playing with little Bremen Rabbit. Everything went along very nicely until Bremen Rabbit, said to Danny Squirrel:

"My daddy bought me three VICTORY LIBERTY NOTES. How many did yours buy you?"

For a minute, poor Danny said nothing, being ashamed to admit that his daddy had not bought any bonds for him. Then finally he spoke up.

"I was all in our day's work," Luff said, referring to the fact that he was awarded the distinguished flying cross for exceptional bravery and gallantry in action.

Each of these men has risked his life many times.

"It was all in our day's work," Luff said, referring to the fact that he was awarded the distinguished flying cross for exceptional bravery and gallantry in action.

"I guess my daddy forgot," said Danny, who by this time was hanging his head in shame.

Old Mr. Squirrel had heard every word of the conversation, and ran about his porch in a furious wrath. He was angry for two reasons: first, because Mr. Rabbit had bought his little boy something which his little boys had not enjoyed, and second, because Mr. Rabbit had shown himself a good patriotic citizen by buying Victory Notes, and he had tried to get out of it.

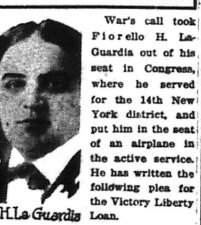

"I'm a fool," said old Mr. Squirrel, as he knocked the ashes out of his pipe, "for trying to shut my duty onto someone else."

Mr. Squirrel was the haptest squirrel in the big woods. They daddy bought them twice as many VICTORY LIBERTY BONDS as Bremen Fox had bought.

Patriotic Act, Yes, and Good A-1 Investment

F. H. LeGuardia

War's call took Fiorenzo H. LeGuardia out of his seat in Congress, where he served for the 14th New York district, and put him in the seat of an airplane in the active service. He has written the following plea for the Victory Liberty Loan.

By F. H. LeGuardia.

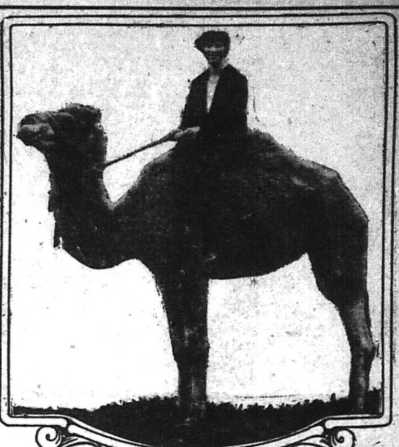

Certainly a people who have loaned their money to the country to conduct war will cheerfully lend again to maintain peace.

The money given to the four previous loans was used for the purpose of war. The war has been won. All expectations have been realized. The enemy has been beaten and crushed; autonomy and militarism have been completely destroyed.

In order that we may enjoy the continued blessings of peace and retain all that which has been acquired at the cost of thousands of lives, it is necessary for the citizen and ask for another loan to carry out the necessary post-war measures.

Now that our country is a people's worth a good American ought to invest, but I do know that the people who are living here and who have appeared to lend are in a position to do so because our boys who left their homes and who died in the great

Dromedary Came a Long Distance to Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration

THE first Methodist Centenary Celebration dromedary has arrived in Columbus, O., and has consented to an interview. In fact, so softened was his disposition by the familiar scenes which greeted him in the North Africa exhibit section at the exposition grounds that he smilingly consented to pose for a picture with the reporter perched precariously on his hump.

"I've come a long distance to attend the Centenary celebration," he stated, "and I don't regret a mile of it now that, I have seen the preparations being made for it at the exposition grounds. This world's missionary exposition is going to beat anything I have ever seen, and I have seen many things in my travels."

The dromedary is one of a number of animals who are arriving to take part in the great Centenary celebration in Columbus. They will appear in the exhibitions of foreign countries, and some absolutely safe camels and elephants will be ridden by children who come to the exposition.

Associate Director of Music at Methodist Centenary Celebration

Horace Whitehouse

Mr. Horace Whitehouse, head of the department of music of Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, and associate director of music of the Methodist Centenary Celebration which will be held in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13, is due the credit for the remarkable success of the Children's Crusade chorus of 500 young voices. Professor Whitehouse has been training this chorus for several weeks. They will appear as an effective feature of the Centenary celebration program.

COLISEUM HAS LARGEST STAGE IN THE WORLD

Growing Feature of Methodist Centenary Celebration.

Columbus, O.—As the Coliseum is the crowning feature of the exposition grounds where the Methodist Centenary celebration will be held June 20 to July 13, so it will house a number of the crowning features of that celebration.

Built originally by the state of Ohio at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars to house live stock exhibitions, it has been transformed by liberal expenditures into one of the finest auditoriums in America.

It has been furnished with a $50,000 pipe organ.

It has been fitted with the largest stage in America.

It has been resented to accommodate 8,000 spectators.

The stage will accommodate 2,000 people.

The orchestra pit is arranged for 75 musicians.

The building is solid concrete, steel and glass, and has extraordinary acoustic properties.

In the building will be given the daily presentation of the pageant, "The Wayfarer," with 1,500 participants; the daily organ recital, vocal soloists by the symphony orchestra, concerts by the orchestra.

Among the famous men of the country who have agreed definitely to be here for the Centenary celebration are ex-President William H. Taft, Major General Leonard Wood, Secretary Joseph Daniels, William Jennings Bryan, Lieutenant Colonel Theobald Roosevelt, Governor Henry J. Allen, Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior; John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union; Henry P. Fletcher, United States ambassador to Mexico; El Sr. Dr. La Bonilla, Mexican ambassador at Washington, and Christian Tiplady of the British army. These men will appear in the Coliseum as well as

ENTERTAINMENT AT CENTENARY VARIED

Every Effort Made to Popularize Daily Programs.

CHILDREN TAKE GREAT PART

Huge Pageant, Representing the Children's Crusade of the Twelfth Century, Will Be Given Each Day. Famous Speakers Have Agreed to Attend Celebration at Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

In addition to the religious features of the Methodist Centenary celebration, which opens in Columbus, O., on June 20, every effort is being made to popularize the daily programs and to make them attractive to the varied tastes of all visitors, according to Almon E. Wilson, director of the department of special days.

The Rainbow Division band and a famous Jackie band will furnish music daily, and well known Chautauque entertainers have contracted to there with lively programs of songs and instrumental music. For lovers of classical and sacred music, the Coliseum at the exposition grounds will be Mecca. Daily recitals by Professor William J. Kraft of Columbus University, at the $50,000 organ; a symphony orchestra, famous singers, a chorus of 1,000 voices and the troupe choir of 100 pieces will be featured there.

Pageants in life plays, motion pictures and educational lectures will fill the mornings, afternoons and evenings. "It is our aim to provide entertainment for everybody every day of the Centenary."

That the celebration is not for grownups alone is proved by the extensive preparations being made for the children who are in addition to playgrounds, well equipped and tended, there will be elephants, camels and burros to ride, and a Wild West show every day. A huge pageant representing the Children's Crusade of the twelfth century will be presented daily by 500 children, accompanied by a children's chorus of 500 voices.

Among the famous men of the country who have agreed definitely to be here for the Centenary celebration are ex-President William H. Taft, Major General Leonard Wood, Secretary Joseph Daniels, William Jennings Bryan, Lieutenant Colonel Theobald Roosevelt, Governor Henry J. Allen, Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior; John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union; Henry P. Fletcher, United States ambassador to Mexico; El Sr. Dr. La Bonilla, Mexican ambassador at Washington, and Christian Tiplady of the British army. These men will appear in the Coliseum as well as

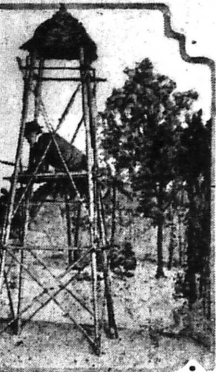

NEGROES WILL TAKE PROMINENT PART IN METHODIST CENTENARY CELEBRATION

THE Methodist Centenary celebration, which will be held in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13, will for all time establish recognition for the negro on the international church map by transferring him from his traditional racial role of recipient to that of a potent contributor to the world's religious uplift.

The very fact that all Methodism is celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of missions in a tribute to the zeal and the consecration of its negro membership assembled in the person of John Stewart, a negro member of the Methodist Episcopal church, who started at Upper Sandusky, O., the first home standing over the A. M. E. church of Tennessee; Dr. E. W. B. Hammond, editor of church literature, Bushville, Ind.; Dr. J. W. Robinson, Dr. G. E. Bryant and Dr. E. M. Carroll of Chicago; Dr. R. E. Jones, editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate; Dr. W. M. Brooks of New York; a number of college presidents and district superintendents as well as a host of well educated, intelligent men and women, lay representatives of the varied fields of African Methodist church activities.

Columbus boasts of eight African Methodist churches, a new Y. M. C. A. building, valued at $100,000; two community social center houses, one missionary work ever done in our country," said Dr. E. L. Gilliam, pastor of the St. Paul's M. E. church of Columbus and chairman of the African Centenary bureau, in a recent interview.

Among negroes of prominence who will be in Columbus to take part in the Centenary proceedings are Bishop Alexander Campbell of Monrovia, Africa; Bishop Isaac Scott of Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. W. A. C. Hughes, field secretary of the Board of Home Missions; Drs. F. M. Delaney of the Cincinnati-Yaville district and A. C. Jones, field secretary of the Board of Sunday Schools; Dr. W. S. Sherrill, field secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions; Dr. J. H. C. Coggin, field secretary of the Board of Temperance; Dr. I. G. Penn, corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society; Bishop O. A. Carter, pre-son of the tax duplicate for $25,000, on for $20,000; a Y. W. C. A. war community center, a theater and a movie house and two good hotels.

A thoroughly organized African Centenary committee is actively engaged in perfecting plans for the participation of nearly 2,000 negroes in various forms of the celebration activities. This committee includes district superintendents and the pastors and lay members of the Columbus churches, who have charge of the enlistment of Africans for pageant and musical service and securing of accommodations for the Centenary visitors. Already a chorus of 500 colored singers, two colored bands, one of men, the other of women, and college quartettes are pledged and in training. In addition 300 negroes will take part in the pageants and assist in the demonstration exhibits.

Monster Religious Pageant Feature of Methodist Centenary Celebration

ON the exposition grounds at Columbus, O., daily between June 20 and July 13 there will be produced, on a scale without precedent in this country, a program of pageantry which will require for its housing the coliseum, seating 8,000 people, a specially constructed mission playhouse, half a score of exhibit buildings, a great oval in front of an amphitheater designed to seat 50,000 people and calling for the services of 20,000 trained participants, already being drilled by hundreds of skilled instructors under the supervision of recognized authorities in missionary, dramatic and musical fields.

The Centenary Pageant will be presented in six distinct divisions. The schedule includes:

1. A splendid production of the Columbus Centenary Pageant, "The Wayfarer," to be staged in the Coliseum, six performances each week, every evening except Sunday.

DR. J. E. CROWTHER, Assistant Director of the Methodist Centenary Celebration.

2. A mammoth patriotic pageant, on the great oval, probably July 4.

3. An impressive pageant of prophecy, bringing together in massed array all participants in the service activities of the celebration. This processional will be held in the open.

4. The Children's Pageant, which will be given effective out-of-door setting in that it is to be staged on the lake front in the Centenary grounds with a background of natural greenery, with trees and shrubs.

5. The Demonstration Pageant, given daily in the several exhibit buildings.

6. Native Life Plays in the Mission playhouses.

Interest on the part of the general public centers primarily in the Columbus Centenary Pageant, "The Wayfarer," which has been written and will be produced by Dr. J. E. Crowther of Seattle, assistant director of the celebration.

Realizing that the celebration would attract many thousands who could carry away a great spiritual message if it was presented in striking manner, he designed the pageant, "The Wayfarer," as more than an entertainment of a spectacle, and combined impressive religious drama with a high-class musical setting to show that throughout the ages religion has triumphed over seemingly insurmountable opposition.

"The theme of my pageant? One word will give it to you—Emmanuel. 'God is with us,'" says the author-producer. "There are two leading characters in this pageant of mine, a woman called Understanding and the Wayfarer, a man who represents that element in modern society, and more especially in the church, which is so bewildered by the industrial and the social upheaval in the revolution throughout the world as to be almost in despair.

"The Wayfarer, as to the many whom you don't know in real life, it seems as if God is either an absentee or utterly impotent to control existing conditions. However, I have held my pageant close to the fundamental truths which life teaches and as the Wayfarer journeys with Understanding through the great events of religious history, he discovers that in every age the church has been confronted with seemingly insurmountable difficulties, yet always has triumphed."

Dr. Crowther has built his "Pageant of the Kingdom" around three episodes—The Captivity, the Christ, the Resurrection. The first episode, "The Immediate occasion is the war in Europe.

Episode 1. The Captivity has three scenes—Bethlehem, Despair and Deliverance.

Episode 2. The Christ is presented in four scenes—Bethlehem, Jerusalem, Calvary, the Resurrection.

Episode 3. The Kingdom comprises nine acts, staged without intermission. The great Commission, The Messengers of the Cross, The Gospel Message, The World's Response, Procession of America, The Christian League of Nations, The New Jerusalem on Earth, Emmanuel, The Great Commission recalls the direction of Christ for the Conquest of the world through Christianity. The Messengers of the Cross are shown as Luther, Wesley, Morison—were for service in China, Carey—who brought the Gospel to India, Livingston, in separate from the church history of Africa and other men who in modern times have served the cause of Christian civilization.

"The World's Response," that great poem of John Oxenham, "From the South Sea and East and West They Come," will be given.

While much that is finest in the world, "The Messiah" will be incorporated in the presentation of "The Wayfarer," Professor William J. Kraft of Columbia University, director general of the Centenary music, is drafting selections for it and selections from both Stainer and Macfarlane have been introduced. Assisting Professor Kraft are Horace Whitehouse of Ohio Wesleyan University and Montgomery Lynch of Seattle. Mr. Lynch will direct the music of "The Wayfarer."

A symphony orchestra of 75 pieces will support an off-stage chorus of 1,000 voices in addition to the 250 singers on the stage.

"The musical numbers of the pageant feature which by itself would be considered ambitious enough for any large production. They include the following:

- Bass Solo—"Why Do the Nations?" Handel
- Soprano Solo—"Comfort Ye" Handel
- Chorus—"Awa'k'ant" Handel
- Strength—Soprano Solo—"Bene Greviti," Handel
- Daughter of Zion—Handel
- Chorus—"Arise, Shine" Handel
- Alto and Chorus—"O Thou That Hast Tellest" Handel
- Orchestra—"Pastoral Symphony" Handel
- Chorus—" glory to God in the Highest" Handel
- Alto Solo—"He Shall Feed His" Handel
- Chorus—"Hosanna" Handel
- Soprano Solo—"Come Into Him," Handel
- Orchestra—"Processional" Handel
- Chorus—"Bring Wide the Gates" Stainer
- Tenor and Chorus—"His Everyman" Handel
- Chorus—"Into Us a Child is Born" Handel
- Chorus—"Hallelujah" Handel

DESIGNING COSTUMES TO BE WORN AT METHODIST CENTENARY CELEBRATION

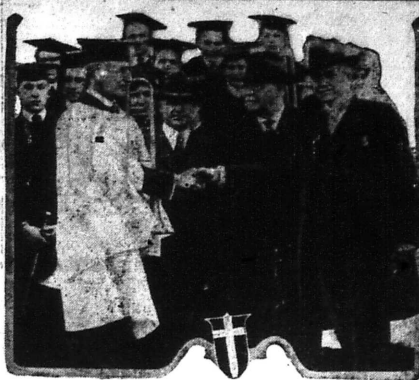

DESIGNS for thousands of costumes to be used in the pageants and life plays of the Methodist Centenary Celebration at Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13, are being prepared by Livingston Platt, the noted costume and scenic designer of New York, who has taken the big job of costuming appropriately all participants in the exposition. Mr. Platt's designs range from the ancient and classic Babylonians and their Jewish captives, worn in the first episode of the pageant, "The Wayfarer," to the more modern dress of Belgian refugees in the war front scene. Seventy thousand yards of material have been ordered for the costumes used in the Centenary Celebration which marks in a spectacular and impressive manner the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Methodist mission.

Mr. Platt has made research work for weeks through authentic pictorial records of costumes, ancient and modern. In addition to the costumes of Biblical times, he has limited plates of Japanese, Chinese and Hindu garb.

Musical Authority Places Stamp of Approval on Centenary Trombone Choir of M. E. Celebration

A WONDERFUL organization of 100 trombone players, to be heard in concerts of sacred, semi-sacred and patriotic numbers, is to be one of the outstanding features of the Methodist Centenary Celebration at Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13. At first this unusual musical organization was not taken seriously by musical authorities. Investigation, however, killed all criticisms and turned about into enthusiasm. The picture shows Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelley of Western College for Women, an Oxford, O. composer of "New England Sunday" ("Pilgrim's Progress" and other orchestral compositions of world fame, congratulating Frank M. Sutphen, director of the trombone choir on his great success. Dr. Kelly at once arranged to furnish some special scores for the trombone choir. On the left of Mr. Kelley is Herman Bellstedt of Cincinnati, a bandmaster of national reputation, who was also amazed at the work of the trombone choir. "Not trombone spoken so wonderfully," he said the days of Berlin's trombone spoken so wonderfully," he says. Between Mr. Bellstedt and Mr. Sutphen stands H. B. Dickson, organizing secretary of the Centenary Celebration, who is the father of the trombone choir idea and who had faith in it, before the musicians themselves.

WHY COLUMBUS WAS MADE CENTENARY CITY

Has Largest Percentage of Methodists in the World.

AGED MINISTER LIKES TO GO AUTOMOBILING

Will Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration June 20-July 13.

REV. ALBERT VOGEL, Aged Minister to Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration.

What brought the Methodist Centenary Celebration to Columbus, June 20 to July 13, is the question in the minds of a great many Methodists and non-Methodists throughout the United States and elsewhere.

When H. B. Dickson was chosen organizing director of the celebration by the joint commission of the Methodist Church South and the Methodist Church North, he immediately set about to find the most suitable place for the greatest event of its kind ever held—a city which could take care of the 250,000 persons who would come to this gathering, and one which was so located that it could be most easily reached by the people most concerned.

Mr. Dickson made a tour of a number of the principal cities of the United States, including Washington, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City and others of that class. He came back by way of Detroit, where he received instructions to go over the same territory again, stopping at cities that had not been visited before. On the way Mr. Dickson stopped at Indianapolis, where he was first interested in him by showing him the Indiana state fair grounds. This gave Mr. Dickson an idea, but he was not made until he had not considered the possibility of utilizing buildings such as constitute the equipment of a state fair grounds.

As he came to Columbus, where he found the state exposition grounds and he was captivated at once. "There is nothing like these accommodations anywhere in the United States," he said. But this was not enough to persuade the combined board of dignitaries of the two churches most interested. Then it was up to him to set an argument that would convince the bishops, district superintendents and others in authority in the churches.

Mr. Dickson began to draw circles around the cities of any size in the United States, to find out where the Methodists were to be found. In this way he discovered that there were more Methodist churches with 1,000 members and over in the city of Columbus than in any other city in the world. He also found that there were 100,000 Methodists living within two hours' ride of the city of Columbus, and more than 1,000,000 within a four-hour ride of the city. 3,000,000 Methodists within an over-night's ride of the city.

With reference to the Methodist Church South, it was found that there was no city the size of Columbus, even including Baltimore, Washington and Cincinnati, within an equal distance. The fact that there were a large proportion of their membership as Columbus.

These facts laid before the joint commission and determined definitely Columbus as the site for the Methodist Centenary Celebration in June and July.

Rev. Albert Vogel of Gayette, Pa., at the age of 102 is praying every day, but his life may be spared to enable him to be present at the Methodist Centenary celebration which will be in Columbus, O., from June 20 to July 13.

Entering the ministry before the age of 25, he has occupied the pulpit rank, but his life may be spared to enable him to be present at the Methodist Centenary celebration which will be in Columbus, O., from June 20 to July 13.

The centenarian has a keen sense of humor and believes in practicing some of the health rules as set forth by Dr. Charles Barker, the national health expert. Vogel looks like a man of 60 and his hearing and sight are unimpaired. His step, too, in spite of his old age, is firm and steady. All of these things he attributes to a life of long walks and early rising.

SHOULD REGISTER EARLY

Visitors to Methodist Centenary to Be Well Cared For.

The one plea of H. B. Dickson, organizing secretary of the Methodist Centenary Celebration, is that visitors to Columbus, O., from June 20 to July 13, and in the North, South, East and West, is that visitors register early. The registration fee is $5 for an individual, or $10 for a family, including all members over 21. Registration covers admission to the exposition grounds each day of the celebration at Columbus, June 20 to July 13, and it also includes the services of the Methodist Celebration housing committee.

"There is no use mincing matters," says Mr. Dickson. "Those who register earliest will get the best services and best accommodations. We are trying to provide for an eighth hour rush, but it is never so satisfactory when people take matters in their hands early enough to get good attention."

HUGE ORGAN WILL FURNISH MUSIC FOR METHODIST CENTENARY CELEBRATION

CHIMMERING, pulsating strings; liquid, sparkling flutes; broad, dignified diapasons; militant, exultant trumpets and reeds from the plati-vio humana; the contemplative orchestral oboe; the ringing French horn and the quaint clarinet; the massive, compelling sonority of the great 32-foot bombard and its accompanying battery of brilliant tubas, comprise the six divisions of the huge organ which is being installed in the Coliseum at the exposition grounds for the Methodist Centenary celebration to be held in Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

The organ is being built under the direct supervision of W. J. Kraft, director of music at Columbia university, by Moller of Hagerstown, Md. It will cost about $50,000.

"The instrument compares favorably with the largest organs now in use," said Professor Kraft. "It is much larger than the municipal organ at Portland, Me. The organ has 38 stops, having a subdivision great, small, choir, solo and echo. It will have the divisions of woodwind, brass, strings, harp and chimes. It is my purpose to invite some of the leading organists of the United States to come to the celebration and give recitals."

Mr. Moller, builder of the organ, said: "I know of no organ in the country which has the power and many modern appliances as that being built for the Centenary celebration. It will probably hold the record for being the largest organ used for any religious gathering."

There are three separate blowing plants, requiring 25 horse-power, with centrifugal electric blowers and generators. The console is movable, being connected with the organ by a flexible cable, located immediately in front of the stage at the west end of the auditorium. "The organ covers a floor space of 900 square feet and weighs approximately eight tons. The blowers furnish a cubic foot of air per minute. Twenty-one miles of wire have been fastened. The pipes range from three-quarters of an inch in length to 22 feet.

In planning the accompaniment for congregational singing in an auditorium seating 10,000 people, the committee is charging the preparatory work saw that an orchestra would be ineffective, and that nothing would be so peculiarly in keeping with the religious motive underlying the whole movement as the resonance power, beauty and spiritual uplift which would result from the use of an organ. This organ will furnish accompaniment of great mixed choruses ranging from 500 to 1,500 voices, which will have part in the Centenary Celebration. The work of installing the mechanism already is started and in terms of the contract call for completion by May 1.

Professor Kraft has invited some of the leading organists of the United States to display their skill on this organ during the progress of the Centenary.

Farmers' Attention!

On account of the fact that all wheat will be bought on the new government grade this summer and because most people are not familiar with this new grading, the Farm Bureau will hold a series of meetings in the county to explain and demonstrate to the farmers just how the grade is made. A good many farmers and most of the elevator men of the county were in attendance at the meeting at Medina last week and all felt that the knowledge gained there should be more generally distributed. Meetings will, therefore be held at the following times and places:

Wednesday, June 25, at 9:30 a. m., Lyme Special School.
Wednesday, June 25, at 1:30 p. m., Court House, Norwalk.
Wednesday, June 25, at 8:00 p. m., Town Hall, North Fairfield.
Thursday, June 26, at 9:30 a. m., Town Hall Willard.
Thursday, June 26, at 1:30 p. m., Town Hall, New London.

This is a busy time for the farmers, but on account of the importance of these meetings, every farmer within driving distance of these meetings is urged to attend and get an idea regarding this new grade.
