

Capt. Slough Makes Eloquent Address

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce demonstrated that a summer night had no terrors, when it gathered one hundred strong on Friday evening last to hear an address by Capt. E. G. Slough.

It was the largest meeting since the opening night March 28, and was full of spirit and good fellowship. Notable also because of the attendance of non-resident members.

Present were O. S. Hoffman, of Columbus, Alex. Spear, of New York, J. E. Ladow, of Mansfield. Guests were W. T. Leonard, secretary of the Manufacturers Association, of Mansfield, and former editor of the Shield, Otis Fehl, court reporter for the Mansfield News, W. S. Hissem, cashier of the First Citizens Savings Bank, Loudenville, and a member of the Loudenville Chamber. E. E. Heasbly, Mansfield, and a former Plymouth citizen.

Refreshments consisted of ice cream wafers, lemonade, and cigars.

The address by Mr. Slough, was especially pleasing and eloquent in theme. He spoke eloquently of the mission and purpose of Chamber of Commerce work, and commended Plymouth in carrying its organization farther and with a stronger membership than do most towns of many times our size. Emphasized the comparison of Plymouth with other towns which such an organization encourages, and the power which such a body could exert for the civic and commercial interests of the town.

The conclusion of Capt. Slough's address opened the way for a sort of round table chat, the first to respond being Attorney J. E. Ladow.

Mr. Ladow is no stranger to Plymouth, and his brief talk was applauded. He is a charter member, and his membership grew out of his regard for his old home, and his desire to fellowship and cooperate. It was his first attempt to do so.

He spoke of the old proverbial boy with his first pair of red tops.

You will have to leave it to Mr. Hoffman to grow enthusiastic about the town of his birth and boyhood. We expected him on the opening night, but he failed us, and it was doubly good to have him present at this session. No greater love hath any man for his home town than that which Orsin whole heartedly proclaims. After he had exhausted the resources of prose he broke out in verse and finished with:

The roses nowhere bloom so sweet
As in Plymouth;
The birds sing nowhere quite so sweet,
As in Plymouth;
And nowhere hovers so lightly
The spirit of heaven and earth both seem
To meet
In Plymouth.
The days are never just so long
As in Plymouth;
Nor quite so filled with happy
song
As in Plymouth.

And when my time has come to die,
Pray take me back and let me lie
Close where the Huron's rolling by
There is nowhere a land so fair
As at Plymouth—so free of care
As in Plymouth.
And I believe that happy land
The Lord's prepared for mortal man
Built exactly on the plan
Of dear old Plymouth.

Mr. Hoffman is yet a property owner, and he hinted to us that he was thinking seriously of making Plymouth a place to summer, and his good wife is not only sharing in the good opinion of Plymouth, but is aiding and abetting her husband in his inclination to establish a more intimate relationship.

Then came the tall and good looking Mr. Leonard, of Mansfield. He spoke as a man knowing his subject. Having touched the proportion of Journalism, and the self-education of an orator, he had something to say and said it without apology or embarrassment. He could write a book about Plymouth that would rank among the six best sellers, and have enough left over out of which to make another as good as 'The Fortune Hunter.'

Mr. Spear surprised all of us by repeating "Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land."

Most anyone in the audience could have gone as far as we have quoted above, but Mr. Spear quoted on as if it was as familiar to him as the Lord's Prayer to the ministry.

One of the pleasing features of the meeting was the presence of a number of full members of the farming community. There was a full score of them.

We want to go on record as saying that around Plymouth is as good a type of agriculturist as is ever known. They are more than good farmers—they are good fellows and their sympathetic cooperation with the citizens of Plymouth excites our admiration. They even give up their money for things Plymouth with as much grace as do those who live in the town's midst, and profit most by the liberality of the country-side.

There will be another meeting in August. Probably the 15th, a Plymouth boy who has gone away and is making good in the law. A half dozen or more said last Friday evening that they'd like to have him come down and give us a chance to listen.

We are using this closing paragraph to thank Capt. Slough for his address, and to express also the appreciation of the Chamber for the presence of all non-resident members, and guests of the evening. Somehow or other a letter sent saying our hospitality, and adds to the zest of the session.

Return of Harry D. Murphy.

Sergeant Harry D. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy, West Broadway, returned from overseas Tuesday evening, arriving here by Camp Sherman, where he was discharged.

Mr. Murphy left Plymouth ten years ago for the west coast country. When war was declared he enlisted in the United States Army, and his arrival in Plymouth Tuesday evening is his first return since his departure.

An interesting fact in the reunion is the fact that the reunion of the Murphy family was more than the usual frequency. After a time with his parents he will again leave for the coast which country is where heaven and earth meet.

They Put It Over Greenwich.

The Plymouth-Shiloh base ball team trounced the Greenwich team last Sunday to the score of 5 to 1.

The game was won in a ninth inning rally at which time the score stood 4 to 2 in favor of Greenwich.

But about this time Arthur Becker, who was pitching for Plymouth-Shiloh, sent the whisper down the line for every man to stay close to the listening post, as he had a few curves and shots that had not been exhibited.

Then the fun began and before Greenwich could adjust its gaze it was all over with Plymouth-Shiloh holding the long end of the score.

We Pity New Washington.

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and on the Shiloh diamond, the Plymouth-Shiloh team will cross willows with New Washington.

Becker and Dawson will make up the battery for Plymouth, Shiloh and if you want to see a perfectly good neighborhood team appropriately spanked, just slip over to Shiloh Sunday afternoon and watch the clock-like precision, and the dove-tailed work, on the kibosh on the New Washington contingent.

Splendid Improvement.

The Bucyrus-Plymouth road in Auburn - Sandusky - Cranberry - Le Roy - is extended by the Schwab at his bid of $22,297.92. This was the only bid received on this road, the estimate being $23,000.

Monroeville Spectator says they are having band concerts in that village, and comments: "It was a delightful evening and Monroeville's fine band gave the best concert of the evening. The boys were liberal in the length of the program and the last selection was not rendered until after ten o'clock."

Evidently the leader doesn't narrowly jam the concert thru in forty or fifty minutes, and dispatch the drummer and traps to the dance hall while the last selection is finishing, and while our guests are arriving.

Plymouth has a good band, and the majority of its membership would have band concerts given without haste, and prolonged with appropriate intervals between selections.

Hon. James T. Begg, the very good and sincere representative of Ohio's Thirteenth district, voiced the approval of his constituents on the floor of the house the other day when he said:

"Ninety percent of the working people of Ohio are in favor of the repeal of the Daylight Saving Law."

Mr. Begg stated further that most of his district had been placed in the Eastern Time Belt and that their time was actually advanced two hours during the past two years.

"I have lived on a farm a good many years, and I have lived in the city a good many years, and if there is 30 percent of the population in the city or rural districts of my State that is opposed to the repeal I will vote with the Democratic side of the House," continued the Congressman. He also called attention to the fact that many cities had disregarded the law.

Mr. Begg's speech met with the approval of both sides of the House and was applauded frequently.

Mr. Ford's suit for a million dollars against the Chicago Tribune is developing a new Mr. Ford. If we were Mr. Ford we'd give a million dollars to stop it.

The front of the Nimmons & Nimmons hardware store and the Peoples National Bank have been destroyed by fire. The store, assisted by the Eastern is doing business in making Plymouth a outfitless town.

War Savings Stamps bought out of the savings of the masses have paid nearly one-tenth of the cost of the war up to June 1 this year. The sale lists total nearly a thousand million dollars.

An Early Registration Law.

While registration for election purposes as we now have it is, comparatively recent thing, the fact of the matter is that the idea is an old one and was given its first trial in this state more than three-quarters of a century ago. The first law for the registration of voters was enacted in Ohio March 13, 1845. It was of an even more general application than the registration laws of the present time are, for it applied to all townships in the state which had more than one voting precinct. Now registration is required only in the large cities. But the first registration law in Ohio did not at the present one does, lay the burden of registration on the voter. The assessors of the townships and the collectors of taxes were made ex-officio registrars. In the process of their other work they were required to make a record of all males of 21 years of age or over found in their jurisdictions, and a separate record of all who would reach that age before the next approaching election. These names with their residences were to be placed in the hands of the township election board before 9 a. m. on the Tuesday of the fourth week preceding the next election. This board at once revised the names, made alphabetical lists of them and posted the lists for the inspection of the public. The election boards held a second meeting on Monday preceding the day of election, to hear objections to names in the list and applications from those who may have been overlooked, if any, and at that time made up the final list of persons entitled to vote. That list was used in the election and the presence of a name on the list was prima facie evidence that the owner of it was a legal voter in the precinct. Still, of course, his right to vote was subject to challenge under the general election laws, final decision in such a case being in the hands of the precinct election officers then and there. Of Interest to Teachers. Teachers seeking county certificates to teach henceforth will be given but four examinations a year instead of eight. The new certification laws which go into effect in August. The new laws discontinue examinations in October, January, March and April and thus continue September, May, June and August examinations. To bridge the gaps the laws provided that "between regular examinations boards of examiners under such conditions as may from time to time be prescribed by the superintendent of public certificates" valid until the next examination. Such temporary certificates may be issued in September, (1) only in counties in which not enough regularly certified teachers to supply the schools can be secured and after the fact is certified to the state superintendent; (2) to persons who have taken 12 weeks of normal work this summer and who if they have not had teaching certificates; and (3) in no case to persons without normal training. The subjects required for high school examination change with the September examination to and five electives. The list of electives is changed to include physics, algebra, French, Spanish, economics, sociology, manual training and home economics and to exclude German. We Give 'Em Dust Baths. The trans-Australian railway provides free of charge shower baths for through passengers.

DELPHI.

Thanks, for the splendid rains. We are anxious to hear how the wheat will yield in proportion to the straw.

F. E. Craig had an auto party to Shiloh Sunday afternoon a week ago, consisting of himself and wife, A. D. Hayward and the writer, Jane Scoby and Nancy Strimple were our hostesses.

U. W. Rank of Canton, is a harvest guest of his son-in-law W. E. Duffey. H. W. Jones and family of Wilmington, Del., are spending a two weeks vacation with his sister, Anna O. Truxell and family. Mr. Jones is a locomotive engineer for the "Penny", his run is into the big city of New York.

Claude Dellavre is back from over seas service, with a full discharge. He will go back to the old job held for him by the Shelby Tube works.

Mrs. Nettie Dellavre is reported as having serious stomach trouble of a cancerous nature.

Mrs. Anna Crum had for week end guests Mrs. Anna Tomlinson, Marion, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wolf, of Ashland, O.

The terrific rain storm of last Saturday night caught a whole lot of Ripleyans in Plymouth, and the blankets, robes and wearing apparel that was hanging on the clothes lines to dry, Sunday morning was a caution.

Miss Anna Shade of Findlay, was a luncheon guest last Thursday evening of Miss Stella Warren.

B. A. Boardman and wife, R. C. Boardman and wife, and Mrs. Hattie Maynard spent, Saturday and Sunday at the closing of the Centenary in Columbus a week ago. Hold on! we take back a part of the above, Mrs. B. A. Boardman got to "jumping" around in the back and broke the bridge of her nose and was left under the doctor's care in Shelby, until the party returned. She is now about her usual work.

M. B. Simon and wife of Cleveland was a recent visitor of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Minnie DeWitt and family.

Tom H. Sibbett has been helping his brother Lewlyn take care of his harvest for a few days.

Have you been looking for Harry Sibbett during the past two weeks? Well, he has been busy every day on his farm making a full hand in his hay and wheat harvest.

We had the pleasure of attending the annual reunion of our father's Company at the commodious and hospitable home of Jerry Casner in New Haven last Wednesday. The members of Co. I, 224 O. I. are, fast passing away. The veterans present were the host Jerry Casner, C. E. Trimmer, North Fairfield; Henry Saitcock of Attica; Henry Gibson, of Clyde, and E. Snyder of Newark. Sons and daughters of veterans, James M. Harrison, wife and daughter of Omar; H. W. Lawrence and family, Perry Township; Mrs. N. E. Shaw and son, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mrs. Wm. Herman Böhmer attended the funeral of O. Garrett and as a brother Oddfellow acted as pall bearer.

F. E. Craig, wife and sons visited friends in New Washington, last Sunday.

The writer is celebrating his sixty-second birthday by writing this budget for the Advertiser readers—this 21st day of July a thoroughbred Ripleyan, born near the county line. Frank W. Miller followed us a month later. Ned Lofland about 11 months later. Miller has spent nearly all of his life upon the farm on which he was born. Ned has always lived near the place of his birth. All have tried to live and bless the world with a useful, respectable and upright citizenship—and the fact is certified to the state superintendent and prospered.

Program is now being arranged for the 7th annual reunion of the D. Z. Literary society in August, and on account of Hilda Beck, Flora Brooks and Hattie Loveland having charge of the refreshments and J. D. Sparks a life of 100 years of ground it will be a basket picnic (Pot Luck) at the Baptist churchyard, Guinea Corners. The question for debate is "The modern invention does not meet the expectations of the people in producing true happiness and simplicity of home life."

W. Davis of Norwalk, H. H. Sibbett, with the writer as a substitute will be the first air registrars. Lelia Heller, Wives of New London, the secretary, was a most efficient literary secretary well proportioned. So we will have a most interesting gathering. All are invited. Fill your basket and give it to the above committee, and you will be served.

Why Clothes Are High. About 400 cotton mills in England closed down recently to maintain prices of goods.

Wounded Yeag Courts Death. "Oh, why can't I die. I want to die," means "Lennie" Kocchine, wounded yeag he lies on his back at Monett Memorial hospital at Bucyrus, says the Bucyrus Telegraph.

"I'll never see again," says the wounded man who has been told that his pal is dead, and who knows something about the terrible condition he is in himself. Physician and hospital staff say that there is grave doubt that Kocchine's remaining eye will ever be of any use to him. He will in all probability go thru life blind. Added to this is his missing right hand, and possession of only two fingers and a thumb on his left hand.

"Tell us how it all happened," insisted George Bell, Lennie, of the patient, who came up Thursday from Benwood, W. Va. "Tell about it."

"I tell you George, the gasoline tank of the car blew up, while we were out on the pike," declared Kocchine. He sticks to this story, which is the same one he told when bloodcovered and inert his shattered hand stretched beside him, his clothing and eyes nearly blown out and bleeding from a dozen wounds about the body and limbs, he mumbled over and over to an attendant who rode with him in the ambulance.

New Flag Law. On July 7, the new flag law, introduced by Senator White of Columbiana county, went into effect. This statute reads as follows:

"No red or black flag, nor any banner, ensign, sign, or emblem upon it any inscription opposed to organized government or which is seditious, or which may be derogatory to public morals, shall be carried in parade within this state, or displayed upon any street or building therein; and it shall be unlawful to display the flag of any anarchistic society upon any public or private building or to carry or display such flag in any street procession or parade within the state. Nothing in this act shall apply to the pennants of any university, college or other recognized institution of learning.

"Whoever violates any provision of this act may be arrested without a warrant and shall be punished for each offense by a fine of not more than $100.

Where Seagulls Roost.

Seagulls do not always roost on the water, as persons familiar with the places where thousands of gulls roost in trees on Big Duck, Little Duck and Old Man islands in Lake Erie, and not only roost in trees, but nest in them as well. The same is true of many other islands along the Maine coast. The gull of Boston harbor and throughout many particular roosting places on the water.—Rochester Post-Express.

Thick Skinned Animals.

The walrus is one of the thickest skinned animals in existence, its hide being so thick that it is possible to split in several layers, every layer tough and durable for the finest leather. The elephant, rhinoceros and hippopotamus also are very thick skinned, the elephant having such tough hide that hunters of big game have learned to shoot it in the forehead for a fatal wound. There is a soft bone about the size of a saucer, in the middle of the elephant's forehead that is the target of the experienced hunter.—Exchange.

For Sale At Sugar Creek.

Ten thousand wheels of Swiss cheese made in Holmes, Coshocton, Tuscarawas and Stark counties and weighing from 100 to 200 pounds each were offered for sale July 19 by the cheese makers in the vicinity of Sugar Creek, Tuscarawas county. This is the first time that the cheese makers have gotten together and had the buyers come into the community at one time and bid on their product. A start is being made by the cheese makers to put Sugar Creek on the cheese map—it seems a good start.

School Enumeration.

Mansfield Shows Greatest Increase

While Villages Show Less.

During the past year the number of children of school age in Richland county has increased by 140, according to the enumeration statistics, which have been tabulated at the office of the county auditor. The increase in Mansfield alone has been 313, and the gain in the township districts was 8. However, the loss in the villages was 181 which cut down the increase.

Another War Coming.

Chaplain Funnell of Norwalk, was given a public reception, on Tuesday evening of last week, and the course of his remarks said:

"There are three things that this great war has taught: the value of morale, the meaning of citizenship, and the brotherhood or comradeship that should exist between men. All three are great lessons, worth learning. Men are making better business men because they stand erect, check their heels and concentrate their attention; and show respect for superiors or officers. He commands best who knows how to obey.

God pity the lad who was in the army and didn't have a buddy. Something was wrong with that sort of a fellow. And the average soldier would just as willingly lay down his life for his fellow, if necessary, as not. The spirit of sacrifice that marked the war, brought forth a nobility of character that has lain dormant in this nation at least for years.

And these fellows, back from the war, are prone to say that they are through with Uncle Sam's uniform, but not that they will be first to don it again at the next war.

And those European nations are already preparing and planning for a war that will make the one just closed look infinitesimal," dramatically declared the speaker. "War is their chief business over there, and within 15 years there is likely to be another tremendous upheaval.

"France is a nation that does not take God into account. It is not a churchly nation. And even at that peace table, the name of God was not invoked. Can a people prosper that ignores God?"

Must Secure License.

Hotels and restaurants in municipalities of 200 or more population and dry cleaning establishments everywhere must be licensed by the state fire marshal in order to operate after January 1 under a new law.

State Fire Marshal Fleming requests that owners of all such places report to him so that he can have inspections, such as are required by the law, made early enough to prevent delay in the issuing of licenses.

The purpose of the law giving the fire marshal supervision over hotels, restaurants and dry cleaning establishments is to promote sanitation and to reduce fire hazards to a minimum.

Plymouth Equity Exchange Company

Pocahontas

Think of three cars of Pocahontas coal enroute. It was an accident that we get it.

If you want Pocahontas, you should order out of these three cars. It may be the last for Plymouth this year.

We have other coal, such as Kentucky Block and Virginia White Ash. Don't delay your order. Give it now while we are able to supply.

Hard Coal

We have coming a car of furnace hard coal, also a car of chestnut hard coal for stoves. This should sound so good that your order should be forth coming. Always query us about your coal needs.

Fertilizer

Nothing like being on time with your Fertilizer orders. We have seen farmers burying around for fertilizer all because they did not place their order while the placing was good.

Tell us to save your supply. The price will be down at the bottom, so there's no chance to lose.

Come in and talk to us. Select your brand and tonnage. We'll then have it ready to load when you are ready to use.

It Costs Less—At First

To bury in a wooden box, a slate or brick cistern or even a cement vault with an unsealed lid costs less than the Norwalk. A heavy top lowered and sealed by hand is naturally more expensive. But once you have seen with your own eyes the workman cement the top and bottom of the Norwalk Vault together into one solid piece of masonry you are satisfied; and that comfort is worth any price you could pay. That's why every modern undertaker is glad to use the Norwalk—he can guarantee his work.

Owned a Township, Died Poor.

In the city of Steubenville, while the United States was fighting its second war with Great Britain, there died a man who had become an international factor in the first war with that country—the war of the revolution—Arnold Henry Dohrman. He was a citizen of the Netherlands, but during the revolution was living in Portugal, where he was able to supply the colonial forces at sea with food, clothing and munitions. It is not apparent that Dohrman did this without hope of compensation, but it was plain that he was taking long chances on ever getting anything for his goods and services and that his action was largely dictated by his sympathies for the American cause.

Patrick Henry called the attention of congress to what Dohrman was doing and he was directed to keep an account of his contributions to the cause and they would be taken care of. At the close of the war he rendered a claim for a little over $26,000, but as it would show receipts for only about $8,000, after some delay that amount was paid him and in addition he was allowed a salary of $1600 a year computed from the date when his services to the country began.

He had become a citizen of the United States and was living and engaged in business in New York. As a further compensation for his services congress authorized him to select any township in the last three of the First Seven Ranges in the Ohio survey and "sight" under Dohrman selected township 13 in the seventh range. The tract lies now partly in Harrison and partly in Tuscarawas county.

Dohrman did not succeed well in business in New York and the fires in his establishment broke him up. He mortgaged his Ohio township and he was ultimately forced to sell it, did so at a disadvantage. While conducting these negotiations he moved to Steubenville. He was still urging his claims to further compensation from the government at the time of his death. Congress granted an annuity of $400 a year to his widow, Rachael Dohrman, and $100 additional for each of their minor children.

Lizzied 1500 Miles.

Would you put seven persons in a Ford and start off on a trip of 1500 miles or more? Sure! Said F. Brown of Billings, Mont., did, and he says it was a dandy trip, and his wife and five children support the assertion. Mr. Brown, Mrs. Brown and Laura, Larr, Marie, Martha and Dick Brown all came this long distance overland in the family flier. And they enjoyed every minute of the trip. They started from Billings July 4 and landed here July 11. Mr. Brown is a brother of Captain Carl A. Brown of Ontario street. He and his family are at present visiting the Gottlieb Kibler family, near New Washington. Bucyrus Telegraph.

Young Burglars Before Judge Rowley.

Luther Cook, 11 year old Tiffin boy arrested at Willard for burglary and larceny, was taken to his home Monday by Probation Officer Lawrence. The boy is said to be out on parole from the juvenile court in that city.

Harry Shidley, 14, also of Tiffin, arrested at the same time as the boys stole some tobacco from a store at Willard. Later, they tried to steal Dr. L. Whistler's automobile at Willard. The Shidley boy has been in the Mansfield reformatory twice and likely will be returned to that institution in a day or two. The boys had their hearing before Probate Judge A. E. Rowley.

Many Bad Eggs Marketed.
Huron County Agent M. E. Laird has been informed by the State Dairy and Food department that a good many spoiled eggs are still being sent to market, showing that some egg buyers are not candling all eggs they take in. The law requiring candling went into effect June 15 this year, and buyers who do not observe it are subject to the penalty. Inspectors are covering the state as fast as possible and investigating very carefully in those sections from which the spoiled eggs are received.

Farmers can help themselves as well as the dealers by gathering eggs twice daily in hot weather and placing them immediately in a cool room or cellar where they will keep very well for several days and go to market in fine shape.

We begin to have prejudices early in life and never recover.

A Hard Coal Story.

The Huron Reporter prints this:

While in this port one day last week a captain of a lake freighter, disclosed a very peculiar and unaccountable condition that exists on the great Lakes relative to the supply and prices of anthracite coal, the facts of which are based upon his personal knowledge. When in Duluth about two weeks ago the captain purchased ten tons of hard coal for use in the cooking range on his steamer. He paid $6 per ton for the coal, which is the regular retail price in Duluth. Duluth is about 400 miles further removed from the Pennsylvania coal fields than Huron, and it is natural that the Duluth price should be some higher in order to cover the increased freight rate. In this instance, however, the law of contracts seems to be the controlling factor, and it would appear that the further one gets away from the coal producing fields the cheaper the product becomes. The retail price for hard coal in Huron is now about $11 per ton. The freight by water from this port to Duluth is $1 per ton, and the local consumer would thus be able to buy his coal in Duluth and have it laid down here for less than $8 per ton, notwithstanding the fact that it already had been freighted to the head of the lakes from Lake Erie ports. Many of the lake captains are now buying their next winter's supply of coal in Duluth and bringing it back to the original shipping ports on Lake Erie.

Typhoid Rare in Cities, Common In Rural Areas.

Typhoid fever is a far more serious menace to the rural or small town resident of Ohio than to the person living in a large city. Statistics for 1918 show that this disease still a serious menace in the less thickly populated sections of the state despite decreases of recent years, is also most negligible as a cause of death in the large cities.

Each of the five largest cities of Ohio had a typhoid death rate last year of less than 10 deaths per 100,000 population. Two of these rates—those of Cincinnati and Cleveland—were under five, giving these cities rank well up toward the top among American municipalities. Columbus, Toledo and Dayton rates were between five and ten.

For the state at large—both cities and rural districts—the 1918 rate was a fraction under 15 deaths per 100,000 population—three times as high as the rate for the two largest cities.

The state typhoid death rate for 1918 was slightly higher than that for the preceding year, although much lower than the rates of several years ago. Case reports thus far in 1919 indicate a typhoid prevalence much below normal, leading state health officials to hope for a sharp reduction in the death rate.

Grooming French Brides.

French brides of American soldiers from their way from France to their new homes in America are entertained in the Hostess House at St. Nazaire, until they and their husbands are ready to go on board a steamer. Thus far 81 of these newly made American wives have been taken care of in this temporary home for brides.

The work of caring for them is conducted by the Young Women's Christian Association, with five workers under the charge of Miss Mary Fay. The house was opened May 1 and is located in a grove of trees outside the limits of the men's camp.

The wives, many of whom had never been more than 50 miles from their homes before, are met at the station with an automobile and taken to the Hostess House, where they are given a thorough physical inspection, teeth examined and any necessary work to be done on them is here done. After this they are given the opportunity to bathe, change their clothing and are assigned to a bed in one of the snug and span dormitories. Their life from then on until the time they board the boat is chiefly occupied in learning the English language, sewing and exercises and recreations of various kinds in the mornings and with their husbands in the afternoon.

Ten days is the average time each girl spends in this camp. From it she is taken directly to the boat, where she again meets her husband, he having been transferred from his organization to a casual company so that they kind in the same boat back. That the government is doing everything in its power to make their life while in the army a happy one is very evident.

A month ago it was estimated that accommodations for 55 would be ample for this camp. That was less than a month ago. Today there are accommodations for 120, and more barracks are being built. The Fifteenth Cavalry alone have 51 newly married men and their wives. And now that the service of supply troops are going through here so fast it is suspected that the Hostess House may be swapped for these troops, unlike the combat troops, have been stationed in one place most of their time over here and have had the opportunity to visit and see some dainty French girl.

It Listened Good

Our talk on Washing Machines last week went before, listened well to the housewife.

Even the men came to inquire, and orders were placed. It is time that this home laundry situation be given attention.

An Every Week Task

No week escapes. As regularly as the week comes, the housewife must face a great pile of soiled clothes. She must either bend over the washboard and rub, and rub, or

She can own a power washer that will take the great pile and wash them with its own power, while the housewife does nothing more than give attention.

Don't wait. Come now and let us show you how a little money will lighten the work of the wife that you said you'd love and protect.

Nimmons and Nimmons

It Isn't At all Strange

It isn't strange that people say that the Troy, of Norwalk, is the one Laundry that uses great care in all its work.

Even family washing is put through without the slightest injury, and returned as clean and as carefully packed as if done by the most particular housewife.

Perhaps you are still doing your own washing or spending your time hunting a laundress. Why not say the Troy shall do the work and save you the worry.

Bundle up the family washing for a trial. Give it to Hilborn & Derringer and watch the result. The cost isn't so much as you've been paying.

BIG POTATO YIELD

Western Canada Man Raised 600 Bushels on Two Acres.

He Thinks He Did Pretty Well, but There Were Even Larger Crops in the Neighborhood—Live Stock Men Prosper.

As a by-product the yield of potatoes on the farm of Ben Pawson of Coalville, Alberta, was somewhat of a paying proposition. One acre in the Medicine Hat district of Alberta. Medicine Hat is a place, pictured in the mind of many Americans, where the weather man holds high carnival, and when he wants to put a little life or spirit into the people just moves the mercury down a few notches.

If one might speak of hogs in the same breath in which you speak of potatoes, there is no doubt in the ethics of literature that would create an embarrassment. Taking advantage of this license it will not be out of place to state that large potato yields are not the only feature of interest in the new and interesting country. Amongst others hogs are having a good deal of attention. Not long ago, hogs reached the $20.00 mark on the coast.

"CAN I BE CURED?" SAYS THE SUFFERER

How often have you heard that and cry from the victims of disease. Perhaps the disorder has gone too far, but still, if it is not too late, it can be cured. The pain and ache are only nature's first cries for help. Do not despair. Find out the cause of the trouble and the help you can and will receive. You will feel better when you are cured.

SWISS ARE TIRED OF EXILED KINGS

Poor in Funds and Spirit and Moody Waiting for Something to Turn Up.

'TINO' SPECIALLY OBNOXIOUS Kaiser's Brother-in-Law Accepts Invitations to Banquets and Then "Cuts" His Hosts—Old Ludwig Saddest of All

Chasso. Indo-Swiss Frontier—Switzerland is getting tired of exiled kings. They meanly cause a rise in food prices, already toned up to breaking point, and give a good deal of trouble in international relations owing to their craze for political intrigue.

Ex-King Constantine of Greece, known to his fans as "Tino," has not been paying his bills with regularity of late. Since Kaiser Wilhelm, his brother-in-law, hastened into Holland, help from Germany fails to come.

The weekly bill is 2,400 francs ($480), a modest sum for even an ex-sovereign, with a following of 60 people, all told. But even this bill (the entire family and entourage are on regular board rates) is paid with great difficulty.

Had to Cut Him Out. Then, "Tino" is no longer the little god of all those war profiteers who flock to Switzerland for the central empire. They are tired of him. His way of accepting sumptuous banquets and then cutting his Greek admirers gives him another dinner-giver has arrived, has finally bored them and invitations are few and far between.

No longer do his German, Austrian and Greek admirers give him, where lights were turned out at two in the morning, though the party did not break up till several hours later. The orgies of "red balls" and "pink balls" and even "black balls" (so-called just because the lights went out before the party broke up, and everybody wore black when the lights were on, and at the decorations were black) began to shock the decent health or pleasure-seekers at Saint Moritz, Lugano and other resorts, so that the Swiss police had to intervene, and "Tino" was cut off from the lurid joys for the sake of public decency.

To crown all, the exchange is so bad for his dearest friends that they no longer have the money to spend on his amusement. And so he has to walk up and down the shores at Lugano on foot, for he has not even a motor nowadays.

Kaiser's Sister Sees No One. The rest of the family pass their time as best they can. His granddaughters and nieces, for lack of a carriage or a car, go about on bicycles. People turn round to look at them, not because they are exiled princesses, but because they happen to be very pretty into the bargain, with fair hair and dazzling complexion; and beauty is not among the list of Swiss women's good qualities. "Tino's" wife, Sophia, Kaiser Wilhelm's sister, goes nowhere and sees nobody. She is confined in melancholy and takes her place in the public mind of the family table in the publishing room of the hotel with an expression of settled melancholy. They simply can't afford to dine in their rooms. It would cost at least that is to prevent the union of Austria with Germany. Berchold and Adress are in Zurich. But the list of exiled monarchs, ministers, field marshals and nobilities of yesterday now eating penurious food in hotels of various grades and killing time as best they may on incomes which the average New York business man would pity is too long to go over in full. They all have the same characteristics. They are poor, shabby, look bored to death, older than their years, grouchy and dyspeptic. And they all keep as far away from one another as they can.

Some Swiss recently remarked that it would be good punishment for Kaiser Wilhelm to bring him to Switzerland and make him live in close touch with these fallen idols and heroes. They would give him such a and time of it, blunting him for their fallen state, that he would clamor to be tried for his sins by the enemies within a week of his arrival among friends and colleagues.

The Clarinda citizens have paid $85.00—10 cents a day—for each child's support for a year through the Fatherless Children of France, an American organization with headquarters at 410 South Michigan avenue, Chicago, operating with 150 stations in 150 France, which Marshal Joffre is the head. The organization will see that the adoption of each child is made in the name of and as a memorial to a dead soldier with his name on the plans to repeat this sum annually for each child until it is capable of caring for itself.

It has been demonstrated that 10 cents a day, to supplement the pension of the same amount which the French government, straining its resources, sends to war orphans at the time of the early disbursements to keep soul and body together in a little village of the war and enable it to remain with its mother or other living relatives, would result in an institution. From the prayers of such a child the name of the brave American soldier who died for France and the world will never be absent.

RICH, BUT DOESN'T KNOW IT

Sailor's Farm in Texas Turns Into Oil Lake While He's Gone. Eastland, Tex.—Somewhere on the Seven Seas Ell Perkins is by all odds the richest man in the United States. His fortune has not yet come to him. His father has been trying to locate him, but his warship he is on has not been located.

When Perkins enlisted in the navy more than two years ago, he owned a farm of 50 acres north of here. The soil is rich and has an intrinsic agricultural value of perhaps $400. When Perkins entered the navy he left the farm in charge of his father, with full power to rent all matters connected with it. With the first indications of an oil boom the elder Perkins leased the 80 acres for 25 cents an acre, retaining for his son the usual one-eighth royalty of any oil that might be produced.

When the field began to develop one-half of the one-eighth royalty was sold for $40,000 and which sum was deposited in a local bank to the credit of young Perkins. Now the big thing has happened. The Sinclair Gulf Oil company has been granted a lease on the 80 acres, has brought in the largest well upon the tract that there is to be found in any of the central west Texas fields. It is producing crude petroleum at the rate of 10,000 barrels a day, each barrel valued at $2.25. The present income of the young man is about $1,500 a day, and with the bringing in of other wells upon the tract it may be increased several times this sum. He could easily dispose of his royalty rights for $3,000,000.

Bears Third Set of Twins in Third Successive Year

Mrs. Annie Cholick, 24 years of age, of Shamokin, Canada, Pennsylvania, claims to be another woman when the third set of twins in three years made their advent at the Shamokin State hospital. She had her two boys, one born in 1917, the second pair, a boy and a girl, in 1918, and a few days ago two boys arrived, giving the mother a record of six children in three years.

BOY SCOUTS

WILL GERMANY HAVE SCOUTS?

The Danish, Norwegian and Swedish boy scout organizations, in conference in Christiania, called Chief Scout Executive James E. West as follows: "Danish, Norwegian, Swedish boy scout conferences, Christiania, has urged peace conference not interpose obstacles scout movement. Germany, Austria invite scouts of America most urgently support appeal."

The chief scout executive placed the matter before members of the executive board in the following letter: "The difficulty about the scout movement in Germany is that there were four separate movements and only one of the four, as I understand, from Sir Robert Baden-Powell, has any of the heart and soul such as the English scout movement or the Boy Scouts of America. They made the scout movement there essentially an ally to their militaristic policy."

"If there was some way by which we could, as a practical proposition, give leadership to having the treaty provisions specify that there should be no boy scout movement except such as followed the program of the English Boy Scouts or the Boy Scouts of America, it would be a splendid thing for the boys of Germany and the movement as a whole."

The matter was laid before Hon. W. G. McAdoe, and the combined judgment of the members of the board, Mr. McAdoe and the chief scout executive resulted in the following reply: "Recommend that League of Nations be requested to make adjustments as to German and Austrian boy scouts instead of appealing to peace conference."

SCOUT TROOP OWNS BALLOON.

Parker B. Francis, a scoutmaster of Kansas City, Mo., has what is believed to be the only balloon troop in the country. Mr. Francis has been engaged in the manufacture of hydrogen gas for use in aerostatics and has instructed his troop in many of the peace and war-time uses of this gas. He has given them the balloon. Recently the troop took it through Kansas City streets to advertise an army event. This balloon had been used during the war as a part of the anti-aircraft defenses of the city of Paris, and had actually exchanged several German planes in its steel network.

SCOUTS HONORED BY FIREMEN.

Thirteen boy scouts of the Aspirinwall (Pa.) troop have been placed on the roll of honor of the Aspirinwall fire department. They prepared and served hot coffee and sandwiches to the men fighting fire, and the scouts stayed till the fire was put out. Besides this, Chief Conner said, "they made themselves useful and carried themselves in a quiet 'an' gentlemanly manner and was on an equipment, and the clothing of most of us was thoroughly wet. The men were in danger of being chilled were it not for the fireman services rendered by the scouts."

WILSON LAYS SCOUT WRATHS.

Boy scout memorial wreaths were laid upon the graves of American dead in France by President Wilson. The original wreath was done by John E. Livingston, president of the Boy Scouts of America. On Memorial Day President Wilson found the wreaths ready and he took them to the cemetery where American soldiers were buried. The wreaths were paid for by small contributions from individuals, clubs and fraternal organizations.

DOCTOR CURGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic trouble, nervousness and headaches and every day I was obliged to stay in bed most of the time. Friends would tell me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister called me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I had my operation. I took five bottles of it and was cured. It was a pleasure. I tell all my friends about it. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE H. BROWN, 509 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is safe to say that after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such a case to consider it before finally submitting to such a trying ordeal.

Beazeth, Waiver St., Mt. Holly, N. J. "For over three years I was in misery. The pain in my back grew worse until I had to go to bed. I did nothing but toss about. The stinging pains shot through my eyes and my head ached and my back ached as though they would break out of my head. The blinding pain made me think I was in misery. Everything would turn dark. The kidney secretions burned, were the color of coffee and lasted only a few minutes in very small amounts. I scarcely ate anything and I lost twenty-four pounds. I felt short of breath and my heart was so weak that I could not walk. I had to lie in bed for weeks. I had no relief. I couldn't believe this but Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief. The blinding pain was gone. I had helped me after the doctor's expensive treatment had failed. I feel like a new woman. I have gained 25 lbs. weight. R. J. B. BLAZER, Waiver St., Mt. Holly, N. J."

BY POOLING WOOL CLIP OF COMMUNITY SHEEP RAISERS CAN OBTAIN FULL VALUE

Buyers Purchasing Wool at Auction Sale.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The wool grower who markets his wool as an individual is handicapped...

Provision for Expense Funds. If the members of the cooperative marketing association...

The price paid for wool is determined by the grade of the clip and when selling under the cooperative plan...

How to Organize Selling Clubs. When farmers of a community decide to consign their wool...

This plan provides a nucleus for a permanent organization, and is the first step in a more efficient system for marketing wool.

In its simplest form, the co-operative selling of wool may operate merely in the collection and disposal of the clip.

The wool may be collected at some central point and sold privately, or by auction sale, or by sealed bids.

Some cases it may be advisable to have a local representative handle wool for the grower, or the wool may be assigned to a merchant in some central market.

The latter method requires less actual time, experience, expense and labor.

When farmers of a community decide to consign their wool to some one grower should be designated to act as an informal manager.

SUGGESTIONS FOR PREPARING FLEECE FOR MARKET

Shear the sheep when the wool is absolutely dry, never when there is any moisture in the fleece.

The sheep should be shorn only on a smooth, dry surface, preferably a planned board flooring, never on the dirt.

Care should be taken to keep the fleeces intact. Avoid second cuts, which reduce the average length of the staple.

Clip all locks from each fleece and pack separately. Never permit them to remain in the fleece.

Fleeces should be prepared with the flesh side out, never the weather side.

Fold, roll, or use fleece box for preparing the fleeces.

The fleeces separate. Never tie two fleeces together, nor pack and market untied wool.

Use only enough twine to tie the fleeces securely.

Paper or hard glazed paper twine should be used. Never use sisal nor binder twine.

Never permit the fleeces to come into contact with chaff, hay, dust, nor any other foreign material.

Place the tied fleeces in regulation wool sacks or cover them with canvas or new burlap.

Select a clean, dry place for storing the wool until sold. Never permit the wool to lie on straw or in a basement.

Keep the white and black wool of black wool to be mixed together.

Divide the burry, seedy, coated, clean, white, well-grown wool of all grades together, individually.

Use only enough twine to tie the fleeces securely.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

From many localities throughout the United States reports are being received from club leaders...

The home demonstration agent in Natchitoches Parish, La., says: "I find that a much larger percentage of my poultry club members have pure-bred chickens and eggs than last year."

I find that this branch of the work is getting on a very substantial basis.

The poultry club enrollment is twice as large as last year, and this morning club nearly three times as large."

William Allen.
Forty years ago last Friday William Allen, one of the most noted men Ohio has produced, died at his Chillicothe home, aged 73 years. By vote of the legislature of Ohio his statue stands in the national capitol as representative of his state. Born in 1807 in Edmington, N. C., he was left an orphan in early childhood and was taken as a ward of his aunt, Mrs. Thurman, mother of Allen G. Thurman, into her home at Lynchburg, Virginia. When in 1821 the Thurmans removed to Ohio he was a student in a college in Virginia and remained there two years to finish his studies. Then he rejoined the Thurman family at Chillicothe and began the study of law. Before he was of age he had been admitted to the bar. In 1822 he was elected to congress, defeating by one vote General Duncan McArthur. The result of the election does not seem to have left any animosity toward him in the McArthur family for 13 years later he married Effie McArthur, his defeated opponent's daughter, and through her inherited the stately mansion at Chillicothe. Fruit Hill, famous as the scene of many a political contest. In 1837 he was elected to the senate and in 1843 re-elected. Then followed a long period of retirement from public life, from which he was recalled in an interesting manner. The Democrats found themselves in the early seventies carrying a heavy political burden, a legacy from the Civil war, and looking for a candidate for governor in 1873 who could give promise of success. It was known that the party leaders were urging Allen to return to politics and lead them. Murk Halstead jokingly referring to him, parodied an old ditty into the familiar "Then Rise Up William Allen, and come along with me." When Allen read that in him to be a candidate and his nomination followed. He was elected over Governor Edward T. Noyes, a soldier candidate. Two years later, however, he was himself defeated by another soldier candidate on the Republican ticket—Rutherford B. Hayes. The next year he was a candidate for the nomination for president at the national Democratic convention, but Samuel J. Tilden was nominated. Allen never again took part in politics.

"Dip That Chick!"
"Dip that chick! It isn't done just for the sake of making a rhyme for "dip that tick" either. Dipping chickens is likely to become more general than dipping cattle, because the chicken louse is a more widely-distributed insect than the cattle tick. The "dip" consists of 1 ounce of water, fluoride to the gallon of water, which should be at a temperature of 70 to 85 degrees. The dipping should be done on a clear, warm day—never on a cold day. The old way of getting rid of chicken lice was by dusting with dry sodium fluoride. It was effective, but in the case of large flocks it was slow and wasteful, a great deal of the dusting material being inevitably lost. Experiments in dipping were begun by the United States Department of Agriculture in the laboratory of the Office of Insects of Entomology, at Dallas, Tex. The experiments proved successful, and the results promise a sure and speedy means of getting rid of one of the worst pests of poultry.

Coal Shortage Coming.
There is at present a shortage in anthracite shipment of over 4,000,000 tons for the present coal year as compared with the previous year. Unless this is speedily made up during the balance of the summer months, and another mild winter comes on, there will be general suffering throughout the coal-consuming belt next winter. It will be difficult for the railroads to make up the shipments and have the coal at hand when needed. The public alone can save itself but in the case of large flocks it is a fuel famine. Order your coal now.

A Time to Buy

Now that the harvest is over, we are greeting you with new suits, new furnishings, and the celebrated Burt and Packard shoe.

Fishing.
I take my patent jointed pole, which cost me quite a hefty roll, and hie me to a sylvan nook, infested by a babbling brook, and there I sit, a patient scout, and fish, and fish for trout. Oh, my equipment's out of sight, in each detail exactly right. Through Walton's stuff I often toil; I study up the works of Hoyle, to see just what I ought to buy. What kind of bait, what sort of fly. My reel and sinkers and my line imported are, and vastly fine. I bought my raiment at a shop where sporting vestments are on top. And so I sit and fish and fish, and think of what a princely dish we'll have at home when I return, with all the troutlets in the burn. But when at last I homeward go I have no speckled trout to show. I have a grouch, a temper sore, my costly rig, and nothing more, and meanwhile Johnson's freckled lad goes toiling homeward to his dad all burdened with a string of trout that weighs a ton or thereabout. He caught them with a pole of mine to which was tied a cotton line. In agony my voice I lift, and ask you whether do we drift? There's something wrong with congress, says, when anything like this occurs.

Does This Hit You?

You are now face to face with the fact, that sooner or later, you'll have to build a new house or barn, or make extensive repairs on the old one. If it's repairs, RIGHT NOW, is the time to make them most economically. If it's a new building, it will certainly cost no less later on—while the chances are it will cost more. Why not decide at once what you'll do, and let us make you a price on the material needed.
