

Mr. Farmer

Why not drive up to our place in Nimmons & Nimmons old stand, with your cream and eggs.

We are here with the cash and everybody has confidence in our tests, and we always set the pace in price.

Then there's a sort of welcome that is good to get into. Try us out and note the difference.

Something Wrong Here.

The prices of milk and cream and butter and cheese are higher than ever known for the summer season.

A season when the pastures give a cheap feed in abundance, and when the winter transportation and labor problems do not bother the producer?

And yet, the country over, there are more big dairy herds being sold under the auctioneers hammer this year than ever before.

In one dairy county that we know five of the chief herds of the district have been sold at auction in three months. These herds were managed by skilled dairymen, they were on farms where much pasture land was available, and close to a big city market, reached over paved roads. And yet these experienced dairymen, unusually favored in situation, equipment and low overhead expense, quit.

Any breeder's magazine will show pages of dispersal sales.

All over the country milk cows are going to the butcher; big herds are being broken up; dairymen who are not "entirely" getting are cutting down their herds so they can "afford" to stay in business.

And about this time we discover that milk and butter are not only the cheapest foods we have been getting, but that they are essential to the healthy growth of the young, and mighty near essential to the welfare of the adult.

We are discovering that there is no substitute for butter, or for cream, or for whole sweet milk, and many cities are supplying poor children with free milk at their schools.

The necessity and demand for dairy products is greater than ever before, and still the source of supply is constantly dwindling, and the men who have been longest in business are the keenest to get out.

Wheat Harvest Shows Unexpected Conditions.

Farmers are disappointed with the quality and yield of the wheat in many sections.

Stinking smut is so generally distributed throughout the western half of the state that a crop entirely free from it is rather rare. This smut reduces the price for wheat that in other respects would grade as No. 1 or No. 2.

Smutted wheat cannot be made into first grade flour by the average flour mill. Therefore, the stinking smut of wheat in Ohio is becoming alarming. It may be controlled to a large extent by seed treatment.

In most cases, the rather unexpected low yield is caused by scab, which the season has had some effect on the large proportion of straw in some fields. The moisture content of new wheat is unusually low due to the remarkably dry weather during the ripening period of wheat.

Death Rate in Our Wars.

The death rate from wounds in the Civil war including of course those killed in battle, was 35 per 1000 of soldiers engaged. But the death rate from disease was 65 per 1000.

During the present war we lost from battle fourteen and two tenths soldiers per 1000, and from disease 14.7—or approximately the same number from battle and disease. But a slender margin of showing is as regards deaths from disease, it is still more favorable than when all things are considered.

For we had a terrible epidemic of influenza that was world-wide, and which claimed many civilians as well as soldiers. Three fourths of the deaths from disease of the Expeditionary forces were due to pneumonia, the result of the "flu," an ailment not properly heeded up to the war. Similar deaths occurred in countries that were not engaged in war and among civilians everywhere. Had it not been for the epidemic, only about two soldiers out of a thousand would have died from disease while in the army.

New Disease in Ohio Rye Fields.

The broken stem disease of rye has been reported to the Department of Botany at the Ohio Experiment Station by E. H. Barnes, agricultural agent for Sandusky county. The disease is identified by a grayish-brown rotting of the lower internodes of the rye stalk.

The stalks of rye become weakened and break with a collapsed twist when the infection appears. The yield of the grain is lowered because of the small heads produced when the disease strikes the headway; often a large amount of shriveled grain results from the disease attack.

Farmers are requested to report the presence of the disease to the Experiment Station at Wooster.

Too often the bull-roar voice is accompanied by a tadpole intellect.

Big Farm Deal in Crawford.

One of the biggest farm sales made in Crawford county in years, has been consummated, when S. A. Schieber, local contractor, sold his 190 acre farm on Lincoln Highway east, to parties whose names have not been made public. The sale is admitted, the price being reported at $202,500 an acre, or $33,475.00 for the whole farm.

The farm lies a short distance outside the city limits and extends through from Lincoln Highway to the North Robinson road.

It is rumored it is ultimately to be used as a dairy farm.

Wheat Insects Infest Many Ohio Counties.

Farmers may expect to experience considerable trouble from wheat insects next year, according to the recent survey made by the entomological interests of the Ohio Experiment Station, College of Agriculture and State Board of Agriculture. Joint worm infestation is high in the western counties of the State, reaching a maximum in Miami county of 80 per cent with an average of 31 per cent for thirty-nine other counties.

Since the larvae of this insect are deposited mainly on the wheat stalks entomologists recommend raking the wheat fields to remove as much of the down straw as possible. When the rakings are removed the remaining larvae may be destroyed by plowing deeply or by burning the stubble fields.

The lessian fly infestation of the State is in the more eastern counties being particularly heavy in Lorain, Medina, Holmes, Wayne and Ashland, Richland, Knox, Huron, Erie and Sandusky counties. "Fly free" dates for sowing wheat this fall, as determined from the survey, vary from September 16 for northern Ohio to October 2 for the extreme southern portion.

Dedicate Memorial To Apple Tree Originator.

To commemorate the originator of the Rome Beauty apple, the Ohio State Horticultural Society will hold its annual summer meeting at Proctorville, Lawrence county, on July 23, where a memorial will be dedicated to H. N. Gillett, who was instrumental in the propagation of the variety. The original Rome Beauty tree, which stood on the bank of the Ohio River until 1850, when it was swept away by a flood, was derived from a freak graft. The sprout was given by Joel Gillett to his son who set it out in the corner of a field near the Ohio river.

When the tree began to bear fruit it was found to produce apples of such excellent quality that it was named Rome Beauty—Rome from its appearance.

The Rome Beauty variety has retained its position as the foremost commercial apple of southern Ohio because of its resistance to soils and locations and attractive appearance when displayed for sale, horticulturists state.

Insect Pests May Take Heavy Toll In Crops.

Grasshoppers and blister beetles may be expected to take a considerable toll in farm crops during the summer and fall, according to the department of entomology at the Ohio Experiment Station. This prediction is based upon the increasing numbers of these pests during the past few years and to comparatively hot and dry weather.

The blister beetles, commonly known as the "old-fashioned potato bug," generally follow the grasshoppers, as their larvae feed upon grasshopper eggs, but the adults may do as much damage as the grasshoppers in eating green plants.

For destroying blister beetles entomologists find effective the use of Bordeaux mixture to which arsenate of lead is added at the rate of 2 pounds of the powder to 50 gallons of spray.

A solution of water and one-half gallons of arsenic with two quarts of syrup to which has been added the juice and pulp of three oranges or lemons. This is scattered thinly over the fields in the late evening.

They Have The Courage In New London.

The New London Record says: Yesterday about one o'clock an aeroplane coming from Wheeling, W. Va., ran out of gasoline and landed east of town in a field owned by Myron Hileman. The plane is the property of the aviator, whose home is in Detroit.

After landing the aviator came to town for dinner and gasoline for the plane. When he went back to the field, a number of people wanted a ride; so he started with Preston Goding by taking him over town. Then Levi Farnsworth handed over fifteen dollars and took his seat in the plane. He said that "New London looked like an experiment station, everything in small plats." Others who took rides were Bob Kelley, Wayne Perkins, Charles Post, Mr. Ruth, of Sandusky, and one other. The aviator left at 5:20 o'clock for Detroit. He intended to fly over the lake and so wanted to get there before dark. He told some of the people that Labor Day would see him in New London, so every one is starting to save their pennies.

Ten Nights In A Milk Store.

By D. T. Fisher.

Joe's coffee shop was crowded. All the regulars were there. About the door there stood a score Who couldn't find a chair. My buddy, Brown, had just put down His seventeenth root beer And big McCann, the taxi man, Was drinking cherry cheer.

When in there crept a dirty bum, "Who'll buy a drink," said he. "For poor old Lou" thanks, friend, I knew I'd find a sport. You see In days gone by I travelled high, My shirts were made of silk, And all was well before I fell For chocolate malted milk.

"Twas drink that made me wretched-ed boys. I went the pace that kills. They robbed poor dad of all he had To save my soda bill. My mother doped my coffee, yes, And praved for me at night But I'm afraid that lemonade Was master of the fight.

I'll ne'er forget the night I met That little blonde in blue. She said, "I'll take a nectar shake" And I said, "make it two." 'Twas sweet and thick (without a kick) And flavored strong of aninee. I'd never tried the stuff before. But how I've killed 'em since.

I used to say that I could drink Or let the stuff alone Just as I chose. But heaven knows I lied. Each ice-cream cone That I consume confirms my doom. It's far too late to mend My clothes I'll soak for one more coke And speed the bitter end.

And now you know my story, boys. Plain soda suicide. It's made me what I am today. I hope it's satisfied. Just one request—when satan's best Have rushed me to the ropes, Oh, be a friend in need and send Me down my chocolate dopes.

Attach Peerless Car Used by Bank Robbers.

An attachment has been issued out of Justice W. L. Monnett's court against the Peerless car owned by Lennie Goehelein, the bank robber injured in the explosion at Bucyrus.

The claims on which the attachment was issued amount to $463, as follows: Dr. W. L. Yeomans $200; Dr. J. J. Martin $100; Dr. H. W. McClave $150 and Monnett hospital $148.

The car was appraised at $700; Chas. F. Matthew and Harry Paxton making the appraisal.

This action presents a new feature in this celebrated case as the Ashland county officials were endeavoring to get hold of this car to help reimburse the bank of Nova for the loss sustained there. It has been practically established that the Peerless car was the personal property of Goehelein.

Hard Coal

We have coming a car of furnace hard coal, also a car of chestnut hard coal for stoves. This should sound so good that your order should be forth coming. Always query us about your coal needs.

Fertilizer

Nothing like being on time with your Fertilizer orders. We have seen farmers hurrying around for fertilizer all because they did not place their order while the placing was good.

Tell us to save your supply. The price will be down at the bottom, so there's no chance to lose.

Come in and talk to us. Select your brand and tonnage. We'll then have it ready to load when you are ready to use.

The Sunken Grave

Nothing can be sadder than a grave that is no longer a mound. The inevitable has come to pass—the weight of the sodden earth has crushed in the last protection. It helps nothing to close the imagination to what happens then! Yet there is not the slightest necessity for this barbarous, unsanitary, old fashioned method of burial. There has been a double barreled recoil in the senate due to the letters of Mr. Taft to W. H. Hayes, National Republican chairman. Truth is the Republican leaders are not in accord. The bitter-enders like Borah, Lodge and others are out of sympathy with the party in general. Mr. Taft's letters were not intended for publication, but were written that the Republicans might stop clashing and find a common ground. Mr. Hayes is weakened by the publication of confidential correspondence, and the honest old Republican senators who want to kill the pact entirely say that Mr. Taft has missed their plans. There ought to be a light somewhere that would lead the senate to know that the people take no stock in the opposition to the pact, and that there are none of the dangers that are continually heralded. Ratify and get down to brass tacks. If it works well it will be glad. If it doesn't get out of it there is a chance such a large German vote in America the pact would invite but little if any criticism. The senator who would kill the pact, word and line, has but little conception of the task that confronted the makers of the covenant, and but small consideration for the fusion which a rejection by the senate would bring about. There never has been framed any great document free from imperfections. Our own constitution was hammered, and all manner of breakers were predicted, but only those who defended have won a place in history. There is a small place for Mr. Lodge and Mr. Borah, and Mr. Reed, and they are gravitating thereto, because their objection is void of sincerity. They were outspoken before the terms were known, and before signatures were fixed. If a political advantage could be secured they would be against the Lord's Prayer or the Sermon on the Mount. Mr. Taft's effort to smooth out the opposition may offend Mr. Borah, but it will make Mr. Taft even stronger, and he was already the sanest leader of the party.

Bucyrus Water Supply.
The contract for the construction of the big reservoir and clear wells for the Bucyrus Development Co. in and near Bucyrus, was today awarded to Rust Engineering Co., of Pittsburgh, one of the biggest firms in the business.
The price for the big job is said to run approximately $70,000, which does not include the $63,000 paid for the land.
The Rust firm agrees to start work August 1 and to have the clear-well completed in 14 weeks and the reservoir and dam in 18 weeks from that date.

Breaking Virgin Soil.
Fifty acres of land belonging to the county infirmary farm, most of which according to Commissioner Samuel Nengesser, never saw a plow but has remained virgin soil from the time of the American Indian, is to be tilled and turned into productive farm land, the county commissioners having inspected the acreage and ordered the improvement.
It is expected 5,000 pieces of soft tile will be required to supply the acreage. Harry Worden of North Robinson has been given the job and Victor McDougal of the same village will furnish the tile. Hauling of material begins next week—Bucyrus Journal.

Changes in Fish and Game Laws.

New changes in Fish and Game Laws cover the following:
The question of the opening of the squirrel season this year has been definitely and officially settled by a ruling handed down by Chief Game Warden A. G. Bortel.
The open season will be from September 3, to September 20, both inclusive.
There was some uncertainty regarding the limitations of the squirrel season this year on account of the new game laws moving the season forward into August, opening on August 20. However, as the new law does not go into effect until September 3, hunters will be deprived of this early sport, while at the same time the game may benefit by the hunters' loss.
Rabbits, November 15 to January 1, both days inclusive; 10 be bought or sold during the open season.
Any person having a ferret in his possession while hunting, or going hunting, or returning from hunting, is violating the law.
Raccoon, skunk, mink and opossum may be taken from the first day of November to the first day of February, inclusive.
Muskrat from the first day of December to the first day of March, inclusive. It is unlawful to have a green pelt of a raccoon, mink, skunk, opossum, fox or muskrat in possession during the closed season without proof that the same was taken during the open season.
Ruffed grouse, Hungarian partridge and pheasants may be taken November 15 to November 25; 3 cock pheasants in one day; 6 Hungarian partridge in one day.
Wild geese, brant, wild ducks and wild duck, other than wood ducks and gallinules, may be taken from September 16 to December 31, inclusive.
Snipe and plover from September 16 to December 31.
Woodcock from November 1 to November 30.
Open season for black bass is from June 16 to April 30, both inclusive. Bass must be 11 inches in length. Limit for one day 12, and no more than 20 days catches may be in possession of any one person at one time.
Limit for rock bass is 25 for one day and crappie or sunfish, no more than $500 for any such offense.
Sparring fish is prohibited.
Any person resisting or interfering with a game protector may be fined not less than $10, nor more than $500 for any such offense.
Cut this out and keep it for future reference. It is handy, you will know when to hunt and trap.

Tough on Bucyrus.
Bucyrus is about to receive another blow. Another industry is to leave making the third since the first of the year. Announcement is made that the plant of the New York Blower company will be moved to LaPorte, Ind., as fast as machinery can be released from service and loaded on the cars which are already in waiting on the siding. The company has a plant at LaPorte and is consolidating the two factories.
When originally established the New York Blower company received considerable aid from Bucyrus people.

Contesting For Michigan Trip.
Sixty mail carriers in Ohio have just set a nation wide record by selling more than one million dollars worth of War Savings Stamps in several months time. They are leaders in the Mackinac free trip contest arranged by the Ohio War Savings Committee and their sales total the immense sum of $1,178,000. The contest closes August 9 when approximately 100 letter carriers will be taken on a trip to upper Michigan. Every county in the state will be represented.
J. G. Cooper of Newark, is the champion war stamp salesman among the mail carriers of the United States. His sales total $57,870. E. A. Keller of Chillicothe is second with sales of $50,470. H. E. Flory of Wauson is third with $50,090 and A. L. Vansodall of Ashland, fourth, with $43,150.

Bucyrus Springs New Season.
The arrest of Harry Lockhart, alias Murray, gambler well known to the Bucyrus police department, and now declared by Detective James to be one of the greatest scoundrels in the country, was the feature of developments in the sensation still occupying the center of the stage in Bucyrus.
A tip received by the officers, a few weeks ago, to the effect that a still was suspected of being operated near Leesville, resulted in the arrest of Lockhart, the arrest being made by Sheriff Knappenberger. No evidence of a still was found but Prosecutor Meek who accompanied the sheriff and deputy, two detectives and several assistants revisited the place and searched it. In the cellar were found 24 cases of whisky, the majority of it of the Pobleford brand, and between 500 and 600 quarter-pint bottles of Welby's whisky, all set in orderly fashion on the cellar floor. Lockhart told Prosecutor Meek that part of it belonged to Sullivan.
It was said that the packages contained no revenue stamps and it is suspected that part of a cargo of $6,000 worth of liquor which left Cleveland some time ago, presumably for distribution in that neighborhood, might have found its way into Lockhart's cellar.
An affidavit was prepared before Mayor Ott charging Lockhart with gambling, and he will be held on this charge until further investigation can be made.
Lockhart, it develops, bought the old Alec Morrow place, a short distance east of Leesville hill, and has been living there, with his wife, for nearly a year. He also bought the place across the water from the sheriff's office, and he will be held on this charge until further investigation can be made.

War Bride Visits In Shelby.
The Globe says:
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill, of Gallon, are visiting his sister Mrs. Roy Myers of 30 Auburn street. Mrs. Hill is a real French war bride and was married to Mr. Hill at Saint Nazaire, France, May 28, on his mother's 45th wedding anniversary which he was in France serving with Uncle Sam's forces.
Mr. Hill states that there were 64 brides on the transport to the States which returned to the States. Their pictures were taken in a group and he has one of them. Mr. Hill after visiting relatives and friends in various parts of the state, will locate at Detroit where Mr. Hill was employed on the street car line as a motorman before enlisting in the service. Mrs. Hill speaks quite a little English, and French fluently.

Fattest Man Dead.
Jack Wilson, aged 28, height five feet and five inches, weighing 650 pounds is dead, after being stricken by a Coney Island show New York.
He was too large to enter ordinary ambulance and a motor truck conveyed him to the hospital, where the doors were removed to permit entry. He was the most widely known freak in the show business to reside in Chicago where he will be buried.

It Listened Good
Our talk on Washing Machines last week and week before, listened well to the housewife.
Even the men came to inquire, and orders were placed. It is time that this home laundry situation be given attention.

An Every Week Task
No week escapes. As regularly as the week comes, the housewife must face a great pile of soiled clothes. She must either bend over the washboard and rub, and rub, or
She can own a power washer that will take the great pile and wash them with its own power, while the housewife does nothing more than give attention.
Don't wait. Come now and let us show you how a little money will lighten the work of the wife that you said you'd love and protect.

Nimmons and Nimmons
"Look It Up"
"Divers weights and divers measures both of them alike are abomination to the Lord."—Proverbs, 20:10.
Thinking men and women will do well to consider the striking arguments brought out by the World Trade Club of San Francisco in their campaign for adoption of the units of the metric system of weights and measures.
They show a striking anomaly: That the metric system was invented by a Briton, James Watt, in 1875, and yet all civilized nations have adopted it exclusively, excepting the United States and Great Britain.
Its principle—"British system" of weights and measures is of German origin—a relic of the old German Hansenate trade measure—got Germany adopted it in 1871 and adopted the metric system, invented by a Briton.
People of Britannia and America may well ask themselves whether they are not carrying conservatism too far.
The Metric System is an untried theory.
Its principle—the principle of decimal computation—has been used in the monetary system of the United States since 1786. If the United States had hooded Thomas Jefferson, we should also have adopted this system of weights and measures based on decimals—so simple a system that a child can learn its main features in ten minutes. We know how well it works with money. It will work equally well with weights and measures.
The World Trade Club has started the balling rolling. What we all need is to look the subject up.
Buys Big Farm.
Jess Willard who bought a new auto in Toledo in which to haul his $100,000 cash, his share of the fight fund, to Lawrence, Kansas, has just purchased a 700 acre Kansas farm, paying $175,000 for same, and of which amount $100,000 was a cash payment.
This isn't all the land Jess owns, but he had to fight for every inch of soil he has acquired. Whether he will have to fight to hold it will depend on how much he knows about farming.
You can't always tell—Sometimes the chewing gum manufacturer does the best work.

It Isn't At all Strange
It isn't strange that people say that the Troy, of Norway, is the one Laundry that uses great care in all its work.
Even family washing is put through without the slightest injury, and returned as clean and as carefully packed as if done by the most particular housewife.
Perhaps you are still doing your own washing or spending your time hunting a laundress. Why not say the Troy shall do the work and save you the worry.
Bundle up the family washing for a trial. Give it to Hilborn & Derringer and watch the result. The cost isn't so much as you've been paying.

Have You Tried It?

Now, when quality is down and prices is up, it is worth knowing where you can buy an all-Havana cigar for 7 cents, or three for 20.

El Modelo

Is just such a cigar made by people who manufacture only pure Havana smokes.

El Modelo is not their choicest make, and we say this because we want to be honest. But it differs only in the length of the filler, and the mellow flavor is there, and it also has the weight and size that satisfies.

Who Sells El Modelo

Obtainable at Webber's drug store. Many smokers are regular customers, and buy El Modelo in spite of a case full of domestic brands all about it.

Step In And Try

Try this good smoke. It is made for gentlemen of good taste therefore made for you. The case is at your left as you enter.

Did you know that you could buy a very good pair of men's shoes from us either for work or dress from $2.75 up to $5.00. McKellogg Clo. Co.

Young Hens Best Layers.

There are people who have the right variety of fowls, who house and feed them properly, and yet who can not obtain eggs early in the winter because their fowls are too old. It is seldom that it pays to keep hens for laying after they are two and a half years old; not that they will not give a profit, but that younger fowls will give a greater profit.

THE SWANS OF YPRES

Ypres was once a weaving town. Where merchants jostled up and down, And merry dances used to ply, On the looms the swans were brought from the marsh at Winchester, And silver fox from Burgundy.

Who is weaving there tonight? Only the moon, whose shuttle white Makes silver wry on dyed silk pond; Her hands dingy veils of Hlywood, On riven spools and open roof, And on laggard marsh beyond.

No happy ghosts or fairies haunt The ancient city, huddling gaunt. And wagons crawl with anxious wheel, And o'er the marsh blind desolate Wind howls to the battered gate, That Flemings call the gate of Lilla.

Yet by some wonder it befalls That, where the lonely outer walls Brood in the silent night below, Among the swedes of the moat, Like Lilla's furze, the swans swim flat; The Swans of Ypres, men call them now.

They have heard guns and many men Come and depart and come again; They have seen strange, disastrous things, When fire and fume rolled o'er their nest; But changeless and alone they stand, The Swans of Ypres, with folded wings, As if they were Anonymous, from Funch.

PEER DESERVED HIS VICTORY

Quick Wit Enabled Him to Win Success When Others Would Have Given Up Hope.

Gypsy Smith, the noted evangelist, said on his recent voyage from Liverpool:

"There are some men who can make a success even in failure. There was a certain peer once who rose to make his maiden speech—a speech granting to all accused persons the right to counsel—and when he put his hand in his pocket for his notes they were gone. His notes were lost.

"The peer gulped. He looked about him wildly. He gulped again. Then he said:

"If I, my lords, who now rise only to give my opinion on this bill—if I am so confounded that I am unable to express what I had in mind, what must be the condition of that man who, without any assistance, has got to plead for his life?"

"Then the peer sat down to the cheers of a courted chamber, and his bill passed almost unanimously."

Grape Juice Production Enlarged?
By Totals.

That the production of grape juice will be looked upon with greater favor than ever during the coming season is the opinion of Paul Thayer, assistant horticulturist at the Ohio Experiment Station. Mr. Thayer in the past two seasons has been conducting experimental tests in the production of grape juice which will Nation-wide Road Construction.

The United States is in the midst of the greatest highway building campaign in the history of the world. The aggregate amount to be expended this year on the roads and lanes of the country would build and duplicate another Panama Canal. According to figures collected by the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, combined forces of the federal government, states and counties will spend $375,000,000 in new construction and maintenance of the nation's network of highways. This is the first complete survey of 1919 good roads expenditures. The amounts to be spent in each state in the Union follow:

Poultry Demonstrations

A series of meetings and demonstrations of especial interest to every poultry grower in the county has been arranged for the first week of August by County Agent Laird who is taking care of this work since the first of July. These demonstrations will be principally of proper methods of culling the flock of unprofitable stock, but other problems may be considered.

An expert from the Ohio State University will have charge and every one interested should arrange to attend one of the meetings which will be held at the following times and places, forenoon meetings to begin at 9:30, afternoon at 2:00.

Monday afternoon, August 4, at Miss Anna Mead's, Maplewood farm, Greenwich township.

Tuesday forenoon, August 5, at Mrs. J. P. Meyer's, Ridgefield township.

Tuesday afternoon, at Mrs. C. G. Atherton's Peru township.

Wednesday forenoon, August 6, at Mrs. M. A. Ross', Townsend township.

Wednesday afternoon, at Mrs. E. Holmes, Wakeman township.

Does This Hit You?

You are now faced to face with the fact, that sooner or later, you'll have to build a new house or barn, or make extensive repairs on the old one.

If it's repairs, RIGHT NOW is the time to make them most economically. If it's a new building, it will certainly cost no less later on—while the chances are it will cost more. Why not decide at once what you'll do, and let us make you a price on the material needed.
