

Willard Go To Jail Tomorrow

Unusual Interest Manifested in Trial of Willard Pettit Now in Progress at County Seat.

The trial of Willard Pettit, accused of the murder of John Payne, began Monday afternoon at 10 o'clock. The whole of the afternoon and a part of the next day have been devoted to securing the jury, which follows:

James Colwell, Mansfield.
Margaret Ward, Springfield town.
Sam Harter, Mansfield.
W. R. Ruth, Worthington town.
Wood Wise, Butler village.
W. K. Ackerman, Mansfield.
D. H. Ross, Perry township.
Lloyd Andrews, Monroe township.
W. A. Roth, Mansfield.
Frank Neff, Mansfield.
Hazel Kirk, Perry township.
George Balliett, Millin township.

Prosecutor Beach opened the case for the state, and the argument of the accused. In opening statement Attorney Beach said he proposed to show that Pettit had, on several occasions, and in the presence of numerous witnesses, threatened to kill Payne. Prosecutor Beach also retold the story of the crime. Bertha, divorced from the defendant, was called to the witness stand. She testified that she had seen Pettit with Payne, and that she had seen him with a woman who she believed to be the woman who had been seen with Payne.

The first witness for the state was Mrs. John Payne, widow of the slain man, and sister of the accused. Mrs. Payne told of the shooting, and that she had seen Pettit with Payne. She testified that she had seen Pettit with Payne, and that she had seen him with a woman who she believed to be the woman who had been seen with Payne.

Another witness, J. C. Cline, of Shelby, told of Pettit talking to a Pool Room in Shelby that he proposed to "get Payne."

Yesterday, Bertha, the ten-year-old daughter of Pettit, an eye-witness of the shooting, took the stand for the state. She told a damaging story. Related the story of her visit to the home of her father and grandparents and of her return to the Payne home a company with her father and uncle. She told substantially the same story of the shooting as had been given by other eye-witnesses.

John Fields, another eye-witness, testified that after Payne had fallen to the ground Willard Pettit held a gun while calling upon his brother to shoot.

Although the testimony that has been brooded out thus far has been to the benefit of the defendant. Every effort is being made to rush the trial through, and the session on court held extended until well after five o'clock yesterday.

It is believed that the case will go to the jury some time tomorrow, or early Saturday morning.

FIRE AT CHRONISER'S

A fire originating from a defective fuse, threatened the destruction of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Benton Chronister Tuesday evening about 11:30.

The prompt response of the Fire Department and neighbors is all that saved the building. The damage was slight.

It is fortunate that the flames were discovered before the fire had gained headway, for when the firefighters attempted to turn on the water it was discovered that the hose had frozen. Likewise, when they attempted to extinguish the fire with the chemical extinguishers it was discovered that the extinguishers were empty.

ANNUAL INSPECTION OF RICHLAND LODGE

Last Monday evening was the occasion of the annual inspection of Richland Lodge No. 201, F. and A. M.

The District Lecturer, Mr. Wilson of Shelby, came over for the inspection, and was accompanied by a strong delegation of Shelby Masons.

Special music for the occasion was furnished by members of Richland Lodge. Mr. J. A. Root, Harry Dawson, T. S. Davis, F. S. Holtz and Dr. S. M. Holtz volunteered their services for the evening.

After the inspection, and completion of the work for the evening, the members adjourned to the Palace Restaurant where lots of good things to eat had been prepared.

About 75 members and visitors participated in the evening work and entertainment.

PUBLIC UTILITIES TO PAY MORE TAXES

Public utility companies of Richland County, those companies serving citizens with electricity, gas, transportation and communication, will pay increased taxes this year, the state tax commission announced today.

The 1923 tax valuation of public utilities in the county, upon which 1924 taxes will be paid, has been fixed at $20,460,670, an increase of $802,200 over the year previous. This valuation is more than that of any other individual properties, or all other corporation.

The grand tax duplicate for the county is $105,528,260, an increase of $3,117,493 over the year before. The average tax rate for the entire county will be $19.04 per thousand valuation while it was $18.63 last year.

The following table shows the 1923 tax valuation, on all forms of property in the county, upon which 1924 taxes will be paid, as compared with the 1922 valuation, in which taxes were paid last year.

Public Utilities $20,460,670, 1923 valuation; $19,657,470, 1922 valuation.

Real Estate, $58,845,300, 1923 valuation; $58,079,500, 1922 valuation.

Banks, $3,190,100, 1923 valuation; $2,935,000, 1922 valuation.

Corporations, $11,191,160, 1923 valuation; 10,487,900, 1922 valuation.

Individuals, $11,435,330, 1923 valuation; $11,296,640, 1922 valuation.

Total, $105,157,650, 1923 valuation; $101,735,100, 1922 valuation.

Property of public utility companies is assessed at more than nearly its true value in money than any other form of property, according to the state tax commission. The Ohio Commission on Public Utility Information points out that increases in taxes of public service companies always must be reflected in the rates, inasmuch as these companies have no means of revenue other than that received for services and that higher the taxes the greater must be the revenue collected from their patrons.

500 HEAR LECTURE ON INDIA BY SPEAR

An audience of more than 500 last night heard the illustrated lecture on India, presented in the First United Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, by Nathaniel Spear, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Spear, of 5221 Northumberland avenue, Squirrel Hill, just returned from a week's tour in India.

Spear, assisted by his brother, James N. Spear, who accompanied him on his tour, gave a colorful account of his experiences and impressions gained among the Hindus and Mohammedans of the Indian peninsula.

From the Island of Ceylon, India's farthest south, the traveler took his audience through busy Calcutta to the sacred Ganges river at Benares; then north again to the forts at Agra and the Taj Mahal, and on to Simla and cloudy Darjeeling in the Himalayas.

Spear made no attempt to analyze political or economic conditions in the British possession but succeeded in bringing home a graphic and entertaining tale of its strange beauties and strange inhabitants.

Mr. Spear is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Spear and known to many Plymouth folks.

DEATH OF FRANK HOUGH

Mrs. Ella Webber received word yesterday of the death in Seattle, Washington, of her nephew, Frank Hough.

Mr. Hough was the son of Mrs. Maggie Hough, a sister of Mrs. Webber. He died Tuesday, March 11.

Many Plymouth residents will remember Mr. Hough, who resided here with his mother and sister for a number of years.

The family moved to Seattle from Plymouth about thirty years ago.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

In honor of the twenty-first birthday of their son Ernest, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Phillips entertained the following guests at dinner Sunday:

Misses Lois Willett, Eve Whitely and Lucille Brinckley of Shiloh, Miss Sara Spangler and Dr. V. H. Traylor of Shelby.

MINISTER LEAVES

Rev. and Mrs. C. H. DeLauter left Tuesday morning for Indiana where they will spend a few weeks vacation before Rev. DeLauter assumes his duties in his new charge.

Fire threatened the Esley Smith home one day last week when an oil can exploded, scattering the flaming liquid over the walls and floor of the kitchen. Prompt work on the part of neighbors is all that saved the residence. The damage was slight and covered by insurance.

FORMER PASTOR HERE SUNDAY

Rev. A. C. Miller, of Lima, Ohio, will fill the pulpit at the Lutheran Church next Sunday morning.

Rev. Miller was for 12 years pastor of the local church, leaving Plymouth about 15 years ago. This is an opportunity for his old friends to hear him again.

RECORD PRODUCTION IN FLOCK OF SHEEP

The Mansfield News is going after B. O. Stock's Lamb Record. Read the following:

Ed Sargen and Ernest Thrush had a flock of Shropshire ewes on their farm three miles east of the city on the Park avenue east road, that is making a high record in production. Six ewes had 19 lambs.

One ewe had four lambs. The others had three each. One of the four died later. Some of the lambs have to be fed. This flock was started two years ago with 13 ewes. The owners have a means and a thought some. They now have 116 in the flock. Thirty-two ewes are the mothers of 48 lambs.

These lambs are sold when they are about two months old.

Sargen says there is a great demand for lambs of that age.

WANT BUS LINE FROM NORWALK TO SHELBY

The States Transportation and Storage, Norwalk, has made application to the Public Utilities Commission for permission to operate a motor bus line for transportation of passengers and property over the route from Norwalk to Shelby.

The proposed route of the motor bus line would run through Fairfield Center, North Fairfield, into Willard, Plymouth, and on into Shelby. It is presumed that the States Company will operate on an hourly schedule.

The hearing before the Public Utilities Commission is set for an early date.

P. H. S. NOTES

Mr. Nimmions, president of the bank spoke to the high school students Monday morning. He pointed out why school boys and girls should use their time to good advantage and avail themselves of the many opportunities afforded by the present-day schools. Among other things, Mr. Nimmions stated that his experience as banker had taught him the importance of saving, as a builder of character.

The basket ball team will complete its schedule of games this week when it meets two strong teams, Kearney and Fredericktown. Both teams have had enviable records this year and P. H. S. will have to play a superior brand of ball to win.

The boys' basketball team and the girls' teams met defeat at the hands of Tiro, they were clearly out-played but the lineup of the boys' team has been seriously weakened by the loss of Becker, who injured his left ankle a few days before.

Professor Richard Parsons, Superintendent of Plymouth schools during the years of 1871-1875 gave a brief talk to the high school Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Parsons began his remarks by saying, "I suppose you grandchildren of people I used to teach, think I look as though I have just stepped out of the ark." He was heartily received by the student-body.

Sixty new books have recently been added to the high school library. A few of these are:

Life of Abraham Lincoln—Tarbell.
The Other Half Lives—Riis.
Collected Poems—Masefield.
Kim—Kipling.
Best Short Stories of 1923—O'Brien.

Out of History—Wells.
The Blue Flower—Van Dyke.
The Rover—Conrad.
Up from Slavery—B. Washington.
Americanization of Edward Bok.
Camping and Tramping with Roosevelt—Burroughs.
The Story of My Life—Mary Keller.

The following pupils of Mrs. Keller's room received excellent marks in tests given last week:

Road Hearing Hed Tuesday

Plymouth, Willard, New Haven and Steuben Send Large Delegations to Norwalk.

The hearing before the representative of the State Highways Department, held in Norwalk last Tuesday morning, for and against the proposed change of route from Plymouth to Norwalk, drew a big crowd, both of those in favor of the change and those opposed to it.

M. Plymouth's representation was 30 strong, and was as follows: O. S. Hofman, K. H. Nimmions, F. M. Nimmions, H. Beckwith, Chas. Barr, Christy Weber, Fred Clark, Karl Webber, H. R. Byrd, S. Bachrach, Alex Bachrach, M. Kappenberg, John Fleming, H. S. Root, Chas. G. Miller, Ben Wooley, Dr. and Brokaw, Russell Chappell, F. E. Lofland, Jack Hampton, Wm. John L. H. May, B. F. Criswell, G. E. Bevier, D. E. Srafield, Toby Lofland, C. W. Babcock, and F. W. Babcock.

Leaving Plymouth about eight o'clock, the party motored to Willard where they were joined by more than 100 Willard people favoring the change. Headed by Mayor Willoughby, the start for Norwalk was made about 8:30, in order that the party might arrive at the county seat at the appointed hour for the hearing. Every man in the party wore a badge indicating that he was a booster for the proposed change, and when the string of more than 100 Willard people rolled into Norwalk the citizens of that city knew we were there for a purpose.

Many of the residents along the line of the proposed change had joined the party enroute, and when the court-room was finally turned over to the delegation, we noted many familiar faces from New Haven. Subsequent other points in that section of the county.

Residents along the old road had employed Attorney Don Young, of Willard, to present their case before the Highways Department, and proponents of the new route had retained Attorney Carpenter as their spokesman. Mr. Carpenter opened the argument, and pointed out to those present the great advantage that this route route has over the old. He not only stated that this new route was the logical one, but backed up his statement with evidence furnished by the engineering department.

The representative of the Highways Department, in conjunction with the County Commissioners, New Haven, Willard, and the section to be served by this proposed change of route, pay about one-fourth of the cost of the road.

Further, that there is no direct road north or south, serving this section, and that every other incorporated village or city in the county has at least one good hard-surfaced road maintained by the state.

By the Way

We saw Elias Heifer, headed toward the burning Chelifer home Tuesday evening with an empty water bucket in his hand. Elias didn't mean to cast reflections upon the Fire Department, but just the same, the water bucket was needed.

Alex Kappenberg says that when the fire was discovered at the Esley Smith home last week, there was not enough water on the premises or at the Willett home, to put out the fire. They might have used milk instead!

One of the business people on the square wonders how many Plymouth folks remember the time when the district was dedicated when the fire alarm was sounded. This party claims that Plymouth has a system of signals that will give the approximate location of a fire. And we wonder why they are not used!

We often wonder why a $400 Fire whistle will sound so much louder at 12 o'clock at night, than 12 o'clock noon.

Likewise, we wonder why a roll of hose that hasn't been used at a fire since sometime last summer, should be filled with water and frozen stiff!

And whether the emptiness of the Chemical Fire Extinguishers Tuesday night was due to the H. C.

On Wednesday afternoon, March 13th at 2:00, the Junior and Seniors of the Home Economics Class will hold an exhibit, and in the evening they have accomplished since the beginning of the School term. Everyone is invited.

ment of the county, in the person of Mr. Williams. Mr. Williams stated that his department had made an estimate of the cost of constructing a road over each route and that while the difference in length of the two roads was small, the character of the grading, and difficulties to be surmounted, would result in an added cost of $35,000 to the state if the old route was maintained. Mr. Carpenter then called for expressions from people favoring the proposed change and many interesting and helpful talks were given.

Perhaps the most interesting was that given by Mr. Moffet, trustee of Greenfield Township for more than 25 years. Mr. Moffet stated that his farm is located almost directly between the two routes proposed. He favors the new road by way of Steuben because he believes it will be cheaper of construction and will serve a greater number of people.

Mr. Moffet spoke of the difficulty in constructing a road over the hill, and particularly stressed the fact that it would be practically impossible to build a road over the hill near what is known as the old mill. He pointed out the difficulty in bridging the Huron River at this point, stating that it has never proven possible to construct a bridge at this point that would withstand the erosion caused by the river.

Figures were submitted to the Highways Department representatives at that time that Plymouth, New Haven, Willard, and the section to be served by this proposed change of route, pay about one-fourth of the cost of the road.

Further, that there is no direct road north or south, serving this section, and that every other incorporated village or city in the county has at least one good hard-surfaced road maintained by the state.

GRAND PARTY ON MULBERRY STREET

It was indeed a merry group of young folks that gathered at the home of Miss Frances Rowland on Friday, March 8, 1924. As the young folks entered they were ushered into the reception room which was decorated in a Japanese style. The tables were laid out in the parlor which was decorated in a fashion somewhat similar to that of the reception room. It was a most lovely affair, with Japanese lamps in practically every corner of the room. The air was tinted with delicate odors of Japanese incense.

The evening was spent in playing Mah Jongg and dancing. At a late hour the guests entered into the dining room and were astonished to find a table of delicacies. Japanese candles were placed at each table. The menu consisted of pressed chicken, pickles, potato salad, and other delicacies, and ice chocolate. For the last course was brick cherry and vanilla ice cream and cake.

The guests present were: Miss Grace Longnecker and Mr. George Macillo from Shelby, Miss Thelma Johnston and Mr. Russell Tinker, Mrs. Thelma Johnston, Mrs. Lester and Mr. Harry Rinehart from Mansfield, Miss Mary White from Cleveland, and Mr. Joe Smith from Mansfield. Miss Eleanor Searle and Mr. Thelma Johnston, Mrs. Lester and Miss Frances Rowland and Mr. Jack Robertson of Cleveland. At a late hour the guests departed, all to meet again in the near future.

SAY RUM FLEET LANDS 100,000 CASES A MONTH

One hundred thousand cases of liquor are smuggled into the United States monthly by rum runners off the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, according to Coast Guard officials charged with preventing the traffic. This estimate was given to the House Appropriations subcommittee which drafted the deficiency bill reported allotting an additional $13,853,989 for the Coast Guard service. In testimony before the subcommittee on February 5, Commander Root of the service, who had made a special investigation of rum-running activities, said: "The smugglers in the sea force at present consist of 34 steamers and 132 sailing vessels, ranging in size from 35 tons to 3,000 tons. Some of these vessels are capable of speeds up to 19 knots. The majority fly foreign flags. The auxiliary crafts for making about 300 cases of several hundred gasoline-driven craft, about 30 percent of which are good for 25 knots. "With our present force during the past 22 months we have been able to put out of business, by capture or otherwise, 153 vessels. We have captured the equivalent of 31,000 cases of liquor and 200 to be jettisoned under fire an amount estimated at 20,000 cases. "The so-called 'Rum Row' off New York is maintained constantly as a good business proposition, but principally as a diversion to hold to that point the attention of the Coast Guard vessels as possible. "Commander Root said the smugglers maintained advance stations at St. John, N.F.; St. Pierre, Miquelon, the Azores, Bermuda, and the Bahamas. "The smugglers maintain a bribery fund," he added, "and have a shore organization for obtaining supplies and making contacts." Commander Root said a report from Havana showed that from 7,000 to 10,000 cases of liquor were shipped weekly to Baltimore and New York concealed in cargoes of sugar. Extensive smuggling activities also exist in the Puget Sound country, he said, adding: "Not only is the traffic increasing but also the audacity, skill and courage of the enemy."

An automobile is as safe as its driver.

The American flag is no carpet. E.B. Harris, principal of the Pierpont Manor School, Watertown, Mass., has requested the trustees because he used the flag for just that purpose. He told the trustees in extension of which he had put the flag on the floor to teach the pupils respect. One of the pupils complained, and American Legion posts in Watertown and surrounding cities complained also.

In all life there is only one great success. Its name is Youth.

The fourth home for convalescent veterans to be opened by the American Legion in New Jersey will be soon ready to receive patients. The new home, which is located at Millville, will serve veterans of Atlantic, Cumberland, and Cape May counties. The homes are designed to serve men who have been discharged from government hospitals, but whose condition is such that they may not immediately enter civil life. The project is purely a Legion affair, and is sustained by funds raised by that organization.

Town That Consists Of Only One House

On a crossroads in Hunterdon county, New Jersey, there stands a solid, lonely brick building which enjoys a unique distinction. It is a town, in fact, the town of Perryville, and has been listed on the map as such for more than a hundred years.

The building locally is also known as Brick Tavern, having served throughout its earlier and more flourishing years as a meeting place for farmers of the neighborhood and a resting place for travelers on the post road that runs before its doors. It was under construction in September, 1813 when the first news of General Perry's victory on Lake Erie flashed along the road and the building was christened Perryville. A jug of whiskey was poured over the structure, and the building was surmounted the roof-tree by way of proper observance.

Because of the tavern's site on the east, to west of the state's traffic passed at the time of the erection, the tavern of Perryville soon won the map as a post where the stage coaches stopped and continued to receive mail as a town for a considerable period after railroad service banished the horses and the clattering coaches. Even now the flavor of antiquity clings about it, although it has been appreciably modernized by its present owners.

Maybe you can't fool all the people all the time, but when they are not being fooled the wise ones often pretend that they are.

Paper Mill Employees in Germany Prosperous

While paper money in Germany is spelling poverty for thousands, employees in the paper industry are waxing happier and wealthier every day. According to a Munich Business man, recently arrived in New York, paper making is now the key industry in the Fatherland and produces the most required article at present. It is the only industry with no unemployment. On the contrary, paper factories are run in double shifts. Twenty large factories are entirely occupied in supplying the Reichsbank, according to the Munich citizen, and 72 in all are today working for it, converting tons of paper into money. Owing to the rapid circulation of the mark, notes are very short lived. In a very short time most of them become superfluous, prices having risen so greatly that a note of a hundred times higher denomination must replace them. Although they look brand new, notes issued but a few weeks before cannot buy, say, a loaf, even the cheapest objects. While their exchange value has fallen, however, their worth as raw material has grown meanwhile to exceed many times their value as legal tender. Notes up to 1,000 marks are worth more than forty times their printed value to the ragman. Those up to 100,000 marks sell for four times their nominal value as junk.

Faced by the tremendous demand for new paper marks, the Reichsbank has declared that it has only a small stock on hand and that despite the overworked papermen, only a quarter of a trillion represents the daily output. With the demand so high, the supply so low the Reichsbank can satisfy only in a small measure the demands of its patrons. It considers first the claims of the bureau which pay the stipends to the unemployed. Second to be considered are the industries which as far as possible are given a few truckloads of paper to pay the wage earner. Trade, including the banks, and the government authorities, receive little or nothing from the Reichsbank. In the latter instance advantage is taken of the fact that the state employees are regarded as the most patient, suffering without making disagreeable complaints. Consequently thousands of state employees do not receive their salaries until they are many weeks overdue.

Small Girl Invests in Lemon

"Grapefruit," remarked the head of the family at breakfast, "is a comparatively new delicacy. The common people may never have seen the product when I was a kid. Trimes were then the standard morning appetite. Even oranges several years back, before the general use of refrigerator cars, were almost a curiosity in parts of the North. The big item in my Christmas stocking, in addition to a bunch of firecrackers and a pair of new slates, was an orange. "Oranges go back farther than your day," corrected grandma. "Of course, they were never so common. But I think lemons preceded oranges. I remember the first lemon I ever saw. My father gave my Brother Joe and me each a lemon. He cut one up and shared it with me. Finally, we asked the storekeeper what we could buy with my nickel. He took my fortune and gave me a lemon. It puffed our mouths so we couldn't eat it. My nickel was a total loss."—New York Sun and Globe.

Battles With Leopard

A thrilling story of an unarmadative's fight with a leopard comes from a village in upper Burma. The man and his family were asleep when a disturbance among the chickens under the house roused them. The Burman found a large leopard trying to get at his fowls. The leopard stood on its hind legs and the Burman, armed, rushed at the animal. The closed and fell, fighting desperately. The leopard, which was underneath, was inflicting dreadful wounds on his adversary with his hind claws when the Burman's father, a very old man, came to his son's assistance with a knife. Seizing the leopard's head he sawed the knife through its throat and killed it. The injured Burman recovered after having been placed for some days in a bath of iodine solution.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Wood Buffalo Herd

Buffalo Park, in Alberta, has been set aside by the Canadian government as a wild life sanctuary, and will be unique in that it will serve as the habitat of the herd of wild wood buffalo in existence. Virtually the same as the plains buffaloes in habits and customs, the wood buffaloes mate in September and back and forth by the male trails, and take life easily at all times. It is amazing how fast these clumsy-looking animals travel. Even when they are walking a man can run to overtake them, and when they are in a hurry it requires a foot-footed horse to keep up with them.

Bill wanted to slip out of barracks un-noticedly to see his girl and she went to the sentry and stated the case. "Well," said the sentry, "I'll be off duty when you come back, so you ought to have the password for tonight." "It's unnecessary." "Who says?" "Everybody." "It's necessary," said Bill.

Sentimentality And the Indians

It is unfortunate that all the interest which has been recently aroused in the Indian problem would have been centered upon a situation so intricate and so unique as that of the Pueblo Indians, says Flora Marren Seymour, in the Forum. The legal status of any tribe is such as to puzzle the lay observer. The legal status of the Pueblos has puzzled even the Supreme court of the United States. It goes without saying that those who have taken up the matter so vociferously have been blissfully unaware of the underlying factors and the real issues involved.

A volume would not suffice to relate them. It is enough to say that the title of each Pueblo to his land rests on Spanish and Mexican grants antedating the authority of the United States; that his for many years construed to mean absolute ownership by each Pueblo free from wardship, that an early decision of the supreme court held that the Pueblos were not Indian tribes in the meaning of the usual laws applying to Indians; that the courts of New Mexico have uniformly held the Pueblos to be citizens, and that finally eight years ago, a supreme court decision in a liquor case declared Pueblo lands to be Indian country, this reversing previous decisions and throwing a cloud upon the land transfers made by the Pueblo government on the basis of their hitherto unqualified tribal ownership.

Add to these complications the fact that surrounding populations is a poor, untutored, non-English-speaking people, locally called Mexicans, though American citizens for two or three generations, people who have lived beside the Indians believing in the right to possession of their grandfathers' purchased, and you have the framework of a situation full of even yet unguessed potentiality for misunderstanding and confusion.

The real and serious need is for less sentimentality and more realism. If we really wish to help the Indian we must know something about him. We need not play medicine man, shrieking incantations into the ear of the truant and maddening him with the din of our tom-toms. The wise physician prefers intelligent inquiry, careful diagnosis and the prescription of well-considered remedies. We should use our brains instead of our lungs.

Half way through the second act of the evening after having been left starving with a bunch of children, and having been greatly abused, got tired of this sort of treatment and shot the villain dead.

It Happened in 79

A part of tourists was about to be steered through the rains of Lombardy. The guide began his lecture by saying: "Pompeii was destroyed by eruption of '79."

"Oh!" exclaimed the lady from the Middle West. "Just eight years after the Chicago fire!"

Not Alone

The lecturer had been describing some of the sights he had seen abroad. There are some spectacles, he said, that one never forgets. I wish you would tell me where I can get paid, exclaimed an old lady in the audience. I am always forgetting mine.

Suspensions

Jack: So your father demurred at first because he didn't want to lose you?
Ethel: Yes, but I won his commission. I told him that he need not lose me; we could live with him, and so he would not only have me, but a son-in-law to boot.

Jack: I've accred the youth from the rear row, who was leaving school, anyway. Like a girl says: Don't Stop that!

Strange Soup

Jack: Yes, but I wish you his commission. I told him that he need not lose me; we could live with him, and so he would not only have me, but a son-in-law to boot.

Reassuring Miss Jones

As they boarded the train they had every look of being a bridal couple. The young man carefully escorted the young woman to a seat, while the interested passengers smiled indulgently. Then extending his hand to the supposed bride, he said, in a very loud voice:

Well, Miss Jones, the train is about to pull out. I wish you a very pleasant journey, and doffing his hat, he hurried off the train.

DELPHI

Zero weather, and Young lands knocked us out of the paper for the past two weeks.

We hear that Mrs. Wm. Simmons was out of the paper for the ice a few days ago. She was considerably injured from sudden stop.

The Darling Public Sale on the County Line road this Friday will no doubt be well patronized.

Earl Leibold of Plymouth, Pa. passed through Ripley last Friday with two horses, purchased for his Stable.

George Howard traded his passenger Touring Car for a Coupe last Thursday.

Jane Seoby, aged 92 is living with the writer. Hail and hearty, not having had a common cold during the winter. She will go back to her home on Pettit Street in Shiloh, when the Wrens return and look after the drilling of a gas well on her town lot.

Mrs. Meda Gleson Curtis is suffering again with the Rheumatism, and we are sorry. She has been a most patient sufferer.

We thought the weather was so inclement last Friday evening that no body would be present at the Class Party held at the Parsonage but some one has said that they did attend. That shows grit and grace will win.

F. C. Young is now at home to his friends in the G. A. Knight farm.

Floyd Cole who was injured in his barn some time ago is able to be about his work again.

George Schoff is hauling logs to the Hanville Sawmill for farm lumber.

The Pettit murder trial is creating more than usual interest in the vicinity.

We note that the Auto bus line is before the Utilities Commission for a certificate to operate a line over the same route as they did two years ago.

FRENCH WITHDRAW OBJECTIONS

Through the American Embassy in Paris, the American Lutheran Council has been informed that the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs agrees to "hinder" in no way the purely charitable work which the National Lutheran Council of America plans to carry on in the occupied territories of Germany.

This decision of the French Government removes all possible obstacles in the way of extending the National Lutheran Council's feeding operations and relief measures into the occupied area. The "church free table" plan which has worked with remarkable success throughout other portions of Germany will be extended in accordance with the present French agreement, declares Dr. J. A. Morehead, Executive Director of the Council.

INSURANCE CLAUSE FAVORED IN BONUS

Paid-up insurance was decided upon as a provision of the soldiers' bonus bill today by the House ways and means committee.

Provisions of the bill passed last session and vetoed by President Harding or vocational training and farm or home aid were definitely eliminated, but an opinion of cash payments still is pending.

Sentiment for the full cash payment feature appeared about evening of the bill. It was then that the lividly members of both parties urged its adoption.

Representative Oldfield, Democrat, declared, proposed it but after a short discussion the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

A plan proposed by Representative Bachrach, Republican, New Jersey, will be used by the committee in working out the definite form of the insurance provision. It provides for endowment policies payable at the age of 62, with a privilege of borrowing on the policies after a certain period. The amount of the policies would be based on the length of service of veterans, figuring about $2.65 a day for each.

Rejection of a hospital at Essex by Director Frank T. Hines of the United States Veterans Bureau has caused a serious shortage of hospital facilities in New England. Members of the American Legion District Rehabilitation Committee and other Legion officials have requested that two new hospitals be constructed in Greater Boston to provide for tuberculosis and mentally disabled veterans. Director Hines rejected the Essex institution because he said it was a fire hazard.

It is likely that the Wisconsin American Legion Summer Camp for Legionnaires and other veterans will be located on Lake Metcanna near Cranford. Offers of sites have been made to department officials and the long shore line and splendid fishing in the lake are expected to influence selection. Cabins and shelters will be erected by Legion posts.

Until you have found out that people don't want to be reformed you haven't found out much.

NEXT TO PURE ADVERTISING

Just now the popular magazines are specializing on a type of literature which the veteran book-reviewer Walter Prichard Eaton characterizes as "almost-but-not-quite" stories. The action is mentally to dally with adultery in all conceivable settings, dragging the heroine through compromising situations but landing her at last nearly pure and almost undefiled but badly shop-worn and severely misshapen. Many of the magazines edited for women are putrid with this suggestive sex stuff which is warranted to give virtuous maiden ladies vicarious thrills. There is a familiar stock phrase used in making contracts for advertising space which calls for position "next to pure reading matter." The old meaning was that the advertisement could not be surrounded by other advertising, but must be "along side" of text matter.

During the past dozen years or more, advertising has undergone a very thorough renovation, vacuum cleaning and general purification. The dishonest, the vulgar, the misleading, have been largely wiped out of the public press. Many publications have gone so far as to refuse all high-class medical advertising because some medical advertising did not cure so per specifications. And now that advertising has been rendered antisemitic, highly virtuous journals are filling up their reading columns with sewage. Advertisers still specify "next to pure reading matter," but we pity the poor make-up men who take that line literally, and try to find reading matter pure enough to be run side by side with honest advertising.

There is no doubt that the best writing and the best art work are found in the advertising section of a popular magazine. It is equally sure that the advertising is the safest reading for the younger members of the family. It is suggested in all seriousness that the national associations of advertisers and advertising agents start a crusade to clean up the fiction pages of the popular magazines. Persons reading depraved sex stuff are in no mental condition to think seriously of any business proposals. They do not want to do advertising, even when it exploits all-wool underwear. If it were not for advertising patronage, the publications would soon die of starvation. That is the very best thing that could happen to many of them. Publishers reserve the right to pass on any advertising sent to them; so why shouldn't the advertisers have the right to pass on the editorial contents of the publication? Will anyone make a motion to that effect?—Ned Longmeadow, in the Paper Book.

COMING Tuesday & Wed. March 18-19 "NERO"

Do Beautiful Women Rule the World? One clear note carries its message throughout the length of this magnificent photoplay. It is the power which beautiful women exert over the world's most absolute and unlimited rulers. In Nero we see the tyrant of Rome unsuspectingly swearing to the whims and suggestions of the beautiful women who throng his court, as a ship answers to its helm Nero is a magnificent spectacle for all, with a love story to touch every heart. From the first flicker to the very end it held us spellbound. The direction is perfect and the acting superb—gorgeous, brilliant and thrilling.

Something to Think About

ETERNAL MASTERS

TO CHOOSE the right color for a sunset sky, or the exact tone for a storming sea, finding its tones against the dripping rocks, is one of the many peripatetic of the earnest painter.

Living colors cannot be put on canvas at one stroke. The tint, shades, lights and shadows composing them must be "coaxed" and worked in until they become and blend in natural harmony, and make a perfect whole, otherwise they lack sincerity and fall short of truth.

To arouse admiration and hold it, the gold and purple of the west must flash, glint and shimmer in the grass, green and white, and umbers of the ocean and cliffs must sing their diapason notes in tune with Neptune's roaring voices.

To paint the truth, the artist must paint truthfully.

He must at every stroke of his brush hold alive the vision of the true picture.

The more "dash" will not suffice for the true painter. The picture over which he works and ponders must be a living, breathing offspring of Nature.

It must be an aesthetic creation of exquisite beauty, showing in its atmosphere perspective and breadth, boldness and delicacy of treatment.

An artist may spend a life time producing his masterpiece, just as a musician may consume years of labor in the practice of stirring movements and entrancing changes of sufficient endurance to go singing and dancing down the ages, then a million of music lovers yet unborn.

If we people of lesser gifts would give our homely endeavors such devotion as the genius bestows upon his, we, too, would soon find ourselves rivaled.

ing to fame and honor and hiding proudly on golden streams. The young man in the field, at the forge or beside the desk, with his future before him, has within him the power to shape his own destiny.

It is for him to decide whether he shall be a master builder or a thinker. If he holds to truth, he will not soil his hands in manual labor—patient, industrious and accepts advice in the spirit in which it is given, no opposing force can hold him back in the race. Faith and industry are the eternal masters of Fate.

You are laughed at because so many folk pour out their troubles in your confiding ear and you always seem to know why he or she reacts a certain way? Well, what of it? These confidants wouldn't have told you if you hadn't honored them, a month ago, a bit of confidence.

THE SPENDTHRIFTS

By DOUGLASS MALLOCH

THE fools are not the ones who haste.

To spend wisely they possess, The fools alone the ones who waste Their hours in idleness.

These are the spendthrifts: They who throw Away some wealth that now they know, Some good wealth they might retain,

These are the spendthrifts; They who spend Their riches doubly dear, The good opinion of a friend,

The love of some one near, A spotless life, an honored name, Exchanged for folly, sold for shame—

These are the fools, who throw away The simple things, of every day.

Oh, better lose the gold you own Than lose the hearts you hold; The wealth for which a man is known Is not his wealth of gold.

It is the wealth you need not lose, To keep forever, if you choose, The faith of friend, the love of wife, An honored name, a spotless life.

CULLING HEN FLOCK INCREASES PROFITS

The first essential for high egg production is healthy and vigorous stock, says H. M. Wells, the extension poultryman, of the University of Nebraska.

Certain colors or pigment changes also indicate whether a hen is a good layer or not, especially during the summer months after a period of heavy laying.

be noted in yellow-skinned breeds. The heavy layers can usually be distinguished by their general appearance of the vent, eye ring, beak, skin, and shanks.

Poultry profits are not based altogether on the number of hens in the flock, but rather on the number of eggs that the hens lay.

Avoid Chilling Eggs in Gatharing for Hatching

Eggs saved for hatching should be gathered often enough through the day to prevent any possibility of the germ being killed from becoming chilled.

It is also advisable to test the eggs in each setting for the removal of the infertile ones, which will give a better chance to those that are left.

Feed Sprouted Oats to Poultry During Winter

The poultry raiser who has not yet adopted sprouted oats as a part of the hen's bill of fare, especially during the winter months, is not only depriving his hens of feed that would be relished and which is most valuable in feeding for egg production, but is also overlooking one of the best opportunities to save on the cost of feeding.

Spring Range for Fowls Needed for Good Health

As soon as spring comes, the fowls should be given the range of a large field and one or two acres of alfalfa and dig for worms.

Many of the thousands who last year had radio sets and who were satisfied with reception by means of ear-phones, want to discard the phones for local reception, and employ a loud speaker instead.

Of all the horns used, the phonograph horn is undoubtedly the best. The phonograph horn was developed by means of long years of painstaking research and experiment by highly paid acoustical experts.

chamber of one of the most famous phonographs. This loud speaker is a revelation to those who have heard only the tremendous bursts of sound from the loud speakers placed in stores to sell radio. This reproducer, while it does not take a field current, employs a large magnet

It is said that a loud speaker does not increase the volume of sound from a given set. While this is correct, the loud speaker does not actually add to the volume, it prevents large losses from occurring, and so the volume is greater than it would be without the horn. It also directs the sound waves, and so it seems to greatly add to the volume.

To give best results, the horn should spread the sound waves but gradually, so that these losses are eliminated. It should also be large enough so that the fundamental of the horn is lower than any of the sounds which are liable to be reproduced.

The loud speaker described here with covers all these points and gives a wonderful quality of music and speech. It is also a beautiful instrument, as contrasted with most of the

Some Tube Problems Amateurs Will Have

Have you been confronted with a problem like this? A receiving set consists of a detector and two to three stages of audio frequency amplification.

The container is a cabinet made of mahogany, 19 1/2 inches high and 12 inches wide and is made with a hinged cover. The front piece may have a circular, oval or square opening cut in it.

Material Needed to Make Compact Rheostat

The materials needed to make this rheostat are a composition dial, some resistance wire, a small strip of brass, and some screws and mica disk. Wind the resistance wire on a 3 1/8 inch dial, where the dial is wound on connect one end to the brass backing inside of the dial and cut the other end off about 1/4 inch from the set-screw where the dial is attached to the bushing.

THE Knocking club had met for luncheon. There was Mrs. W. V. Vetchen Brown, Agatha Pin, the novelist; May Hendricks who wore knickerbockers most of the time and posed an oratorio on the beauty of Constance Welles, whose engagement to John Wynne had just been announced.

"Her husband talks too much," began Mrs. van Vechten Brown. "I should be glad to see you again," said Constance Welles, whose engagement to John Wynne had just been announced.

"I shouldn't care how she dressed if she wouldn't dress like the King's English," Agatha Pin spoke very coarsely and distinctly.

"At this point Constance looked at her watch. She had an appointment, as it happened, with John that afternoon, and here with the Knocking club just getting under way she found herself making her excuses and leaving."

"I think those three women are like three old alley cats bugging the dark street when it squalls at everyone who goes along!"

Constance rasped. "John dear, you couldn't call Agatha Pin an alley cat!"

"No," said John. "I'd call her a
