

Train Men Get Raise

A new wage agreement has been negotiated between the A. C. & Y. R.R. and its employes, and went into effect Tuesday. This agreement calls for substantial increase in wages to the men, and affects around forty employes of the road who work out of Plymouth, as well as the entire force of the A. C. & Y.

The new agreement is a Memorandum of agreement that was reached between the Akron, Canton and Youngstown Railroad Company and Committee representing Enginemen, Firemen, Hostlers, Conductors, Trainmen and Yardmen employed thereon.

Effective April 1st, 1924, the following increases will apply:

- Enginemen 32c per day
- Firemen 32c per day
- Conductors 30c per day
- Brakemen 29c per day
- Hostlers All service, 32c per day

It is agreed that General Chairmen representing Train and Enginemen Service Men will accept the proposition contained in Superintendent's letter of March 17th with respect to 12:30 a. m. call in Yard Service.

It is agreed that General Chairmen of Train and Enginemen Service Men will give consideration to and report on modification of Rule 15 of Trainmen's Agreement making it applicable to yards where more than one engine is employed.

Good Speaker for P. T. Meet

When officers of the Parent-Teachers Association received word that Mr. A. A. Hunter of Berea had consented to be present at the April meeting of the Association, they were assured of an excellent program. Mr. Hunter is a young man, but an inspiring and experienced public speaker. During the war he was a chaplain in the army and saw considerable service in France.

The committee also announces special music and refreshments. The program is an excellent one and will be immensely enjoyed by those who attend.

Place: School House. Time: 7:30. Date: Tuesday, April 8th.

STAKE RACES AT HURON COUNTY FAIR

It has been definitely decided to add four fast stake races to the speed program of the Huron County Fair this fall which, without doubt, will prove to be the best racing program at any county fair in the State this year.

Lovers of the harness sport will be pleased to hear that the up-and-coming live wire Board of Huron County Fair managers have taken steps forward to improve on past racing programs at our Fair by announcing the following program of $1,000 stake races in addition to the regular race program:

- 14 Trot $1,000 purse
- 20 Trot $1,000 purse
- 13 Pace $1,000 purse
- 19 Pace $1,000 purse
- 15 Pace $1,000 purse

It is freely predicted that the additional races will bring some of the most famous race horses here to "go" for this big money, as well as increasing the attendance to the fair in no small way.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran Church will meet in the church parlour on April 8th at 2:30 o'clock. There will be a social hour following the business meeting. All members are requested to be present.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of the Lutheran Church will meet in the church parlour Friday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock.

THE 20TH CENTURY CIRCLE

On Monday evening, March 31, at eight o'clock, p. m., the Twentieth Century Circle held its annual reception at the Chamber of Commerce. Fifty members of the Circle and invited guests, ladies and gentlemen participated in the event; most of them were in mask and so skillfully were the disguises made that very few could be recognized by their most intimate friends, the object, in general, being to show costumes of the different nations.

A literary program was rendered, consisting of readings, music, imitation orchestra and fire dancer, all of which was enjoyable and much of it amusing.

After singing the national anthem, at 9:30 all were invited to the dining room, where an elegant supper was served by a committee of members. Spring flowers and other table ornaments added to the pleasure of the evening.

All who were fortunate enough to be present will pleasantly remember the reception of 1924.

WESLEYAN GLEE CLUB

Don't forget the entertainment in Hamilton Hall, tonight. The Wesleyan Glee Club, one of the best in the country, will furnish entertainment for old and young, and the proceeds go for the benefit of the Boy Scouts.

The admission is nominal—50c for adults and 25c for children.

BUYING LIMESTONE

Ohio farmers, in an effort to make sour soils sweet and to increase crop production per acre, last year bought more limestone than ever before.

Huron County farmers bought 1842 and Richland County farmers bought 1948 tons, soil specialists at the Ohio State University report after compiling limestone company statistics. In all Ohio farmers in 1923 bought 170,052 tons, compared to 145,054 tons in 1922, 97,951 tons in 1921, and 118,925 tons in 1920.

Hamilton County, with only 600 tons in 1921, bought 3424 tons last year. Other large increases were: Erie, from 922 to 13,857 tons; Morgan, from 27 to 1471; Sandusky, from none to 5997; and Brown, from none to 224.

Stark County led with 16,569 tons. Columbiana, Erie, Mahoning and Tuscarawas Counties also used more than 10,000 tons.

True friends seldom demand favors.

CLEANS PUBLIC SQUARE

One member of the Council, and an ex-member of that august body did Plymouth a real service last Friday. Our Marshal, Riley Ziegler, has been confined to his home for some time on account of illness, and our square was greatly in need of a cleaning.

Sans Bachrach and Bill Ellis started in Friday morning to do the job for Riley. Sam did the sweeping and loading, and Bill did the hauling. Don't know just how they managed to divide the work in this way, especially as Ellis hauled the sweepings to his farm. Anyhow they cleaned the Richland County side of the square in a workmanlike manner, but fell down on the job before cleaning the Huron County side. One Plymouth citizen was mean enough to insinuate that this was "getting back" at the folks who refused to return him to office last election. We don't like to believe this of Bill, but would be glad to have him explain "how come."

Will Continue to Operate Cars

Orders were issued Saturday that the Norwalk-Shelby railroad will continue to operate until legal action has been settled in the courts. It was anticipated that the public utilities commission would give permission for service to be abandoned Monday, March 31st. Instead an order has been issued ordering the receiver to operate the road until legal entanglements are straightened out.

Another Cookie Sale is projected sometime soon, as the results of the last one were fine.

Candy has been sent for also, and you soon may expect a sale at your door. Peppermint Patties, Coconut Creams, and Maple Coconut Creams are the representatives of the Schraft Candy Co.

A few smaller parties were discussed and then the Scouts adjourned till the next week.

ILL WITH PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Mary J. Earnest, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Motley, is ill with pneumonia. Her friends hope for her speedy recovery.

ROSES BLOOM IN PLYMOUTH

Out on West Broadway Boulevard E. Clark, who experiments with fruits and flowers.

On his premises, he has about the best berries, cheries, strawberries, etc., to be found in Plymouth. And flowers, well almost every kind of flower is in evidence during the summer months.

But Mr. Clark was not satisfied with summer flowers, and so he cast about for something that would bloom both winter and summer. This is not as easy as it may appear, but Mr. Clark now has a Swiss Alpine Rose in his flower garden, and last Sunday invited a crowd to view it. This Rose was in full bloom despite the fact that only the day before the ground was white with snow. This rose does not grow on a bush, but a sort of a vine, spreading over considerable surface. The petals of the Rose are a delicate shade of pink, and Mr. Clark asserts will bloom all winter long, even underneath snow and ice.

ATTENTION EASTERN STARS

The annual inspection of Plymouth Chapter No. 231 O. E. S. will be held the evening of April 1st. Dinner will be served at the Palace Restaurant, using the same plan as last year.

Members will meet in the Chapter room at 6:15 p. m., April 9th. Secretary.

HEARING SET FOR APRIL 18TH

Inasmuch as it seems certain that the highway bill will be abandoned for good within a few days, interest is shown in the question of automobile bus service that will doubtless be established between Norwalk, Plymouth, and Shelby.

A hearing is scheduled to take place at Columbus on April 18, before the public utilities commission. Representatives of transfer firms. Motions for permission to operate buses in the south line territory, doubtless will be filed by transfer concerns anxious to operate in this territory for action at the state hearing.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER DIES

Barney Pulver, aged 71 years, member of the board of county commissioners of Richland county, died very suddenly at his home at Mansfield Sunday night at 9:00 o'clock. Mr. Pulver had been ill with high blood pressure for some months and owing to this had been compelled to absent himself from the county commissioners' office. However he was not thought to be critically ill by members of the family.

He was widely known over Richland county having filled the office of sheriff of Richland county years ago and later being elected to the office of county commissioner which he was filling at the time of his death. He had many friends in Plymouth and vicinity who will regret to hear of his death.

COUNCIL MEETING POSTPONED

The regular meeting of the Village Council was held Tuesday evening. Due to the absence of the Clerk, Mr. H. I. Jeffrey, who is in Cuba, no business was transacted. The meeting was adjourned to meet two weeks hence, on Tuesday evening, April 15.

The Tourist Club met Monday, March 24th at the home of Mrs. Elise Sauer with Mrs. Karl F. Sauer were present and twelve members were present and after the lesson, election of officers was held. The officers of the past year were unanimously re-elected. President, Mrs. Charles Walker; Vice-President, Mrs. Ed. Curran; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Harold Jeffrey.

Mrs. Sauer served a delicious lunch and the hour was late when the club adjourned to meet April 7th at Mrs. Weibler's with Mrs. Sam Bachrach as leader.

PROPERTY OWNERS

Property owners on Bell and High Streets appeared before the Village Council Tuesday night, and petitioned that body to appropriate money to have High Street and Bell Street this summer.

This action was taken last summer, but for some reason the plans could not be carried out. It is hoped that some way can be found to raise the necessary funds, and that these two streets may be paved soon.

A GOOD TOWN, BUT ---

Someone has said that a town is judged by five things, viz strong Churches, good schools, a live newspaper, strong bank, and an up-and-coming Chamber of Commerce.

Give good schools properly administered in a modern school building; a bank strong and progressive; a fearless newspaper, properly supported; churches, that appeal to the eye as well as to the heart, and an ACTIVE Chamber of Commerce, any town will favorably impress the stranger.

Plymouth is a good town, made up of good citizens. She enjoys a fine trade from the surrounding territory and has a BIG industry furnishing employment to her townpeople. Yet in Plymouth we are confronted with conditions not calculated to impress a stranger or home-seeker. Our School is housed in an antiquated building, with insufficient equipment, and no funds in sight for replacement or addition. This, in spite of the fact that the enrollment is increasing from year to year.

Our churches are struggling for existence. We do not believe we exaggerate when we say that the total income of all three churches is far below what ONE church should have.

Look at the advertising columns of The Advertiser. Any week at least 75 per cent of the advertising is from out-of-town merchants. Advertising is where we derive our revenue. We can't give you a real newspaper without the support of every business man in the bank can be called strong. The churches cannot properly function unless they have funds to carry out their plans. The teachers in our schools cannot instruct the pupils to advantage without proper quarters and modern equipment.

Of the five things by which a town is said to be judged, only one bank can be called strong. The Peoples National is unquestionably one of the strongest financial institutions in the country in a town the size of Plymouth. Not only is it strong, but it is progressive. This is proven by its rapid growth in the past ten years.

The weakest member of the five essentials of a good town is our Chamber of Commerce. It should be the strongest. With the columns of The Advertiser filled with out of town advertising, with a school building partially condemned, with the churches just existing and a Chamber of Commerce threatened with dissolution for lack of funds, what must be the thought of a stranger or a prospective citizen.

The Chamber of Commerce is in debt, and there is danger of the furnishings of the organization being sold to satisfy the creditors. We cannot blame the creditors, they've waited almost four years for their money. But a thought of it, folks. A town with a population of 1500, with around 30 business places on the public square; a million dollar manufacturing plant, and yet its Chamber of Commerce is threatened with extinction for the lack of a measly little $400.

It seems that at least one out of every fifteen inhabitants of Plymouth would have pride enough in their own town, and take interest enough in her welfare, to contribute $5.00 a year toward an organization whose sole excuse for existence is to boost the town. This would give the Chamber of Commerce a membership of 100, with $500 working capital.

The editor was delegated to solicit members for the coming year. It's not a pleasant task. Especially is this true, when three out of every five persons solicited have some kick about the way the Chamber has been managed in the past. What the chamber has accomplished, or failed to accomplish, has nothing whatever to do with what the Chamber hopes to do, and may do, in the future. This same percentage of three out of five men, admit that they never attended a meeting of the Chamber, and many of them are not certain when asked if they contributed to its support the past year.

That isn't the proper attitude, people. If you are dissatisfied with the way in which the Chamber has been conducted in the past, come in and help straighten this out. Pay your membership fee, thus securing a right to be heard, and then stand up on your own hind legs and tell the world what you want. The floor of the Chamber is the place to air your grievances, and it's a mighty proud citizen, in our estimation, who is afraid to do so when the occasion demands. The same percentage of men when asked to join, advance the reason for refusal to join, "the bunch" runs things. Sure, "the bunch" has been running things, and why in the name of all the Gods, shouldn't they run things? They're the only ones who have voted their dues. They're the ones who are "holding the place" and to whom the creditors of Plymouth Chamber of Commerce are looking for payment of their claims. Why the h— shouldn't they run it?

The editor was asked to express himself, and tell the people of Plymouth what should be done about the Chamber of Commerce. We've told you what we think. We might add that it is every man's duty, as well as his privilege to identify himself with the town's Chamber of Commerce. He should bear his share of the burden of boosting the community in which he lives. He should pay his dues without being asked. And after he pays, he should attend the meetings and voice his opinion on any question that may arise. If he doesn't attend the meetings, and take his stand on the way, another, then he should keep his criticism to himself.

Henry Jackson Smith, life-long resident of Richland County, died yesterday afternoon, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Warren Mae Dougg, just south of Plymouth.

Mr. Smith was 89 years of age. He had been in failing health for some time, but the immediate cause of his death was paralysis and heart trouble.

Funeral services will be held from the MacDougal residence, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. J. W. Miller, pastor of the Presbyterian church interment in the Mausoleum.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

YOUR IMAGINATION

GIVE your imagination free rein, especially if it is of the constructive kind taking you to new heights beyond those of yesterday. The greatest achievements of yesterday, if we are to progress, must be outdone today.

An original thought is but one more step towards another, destined, perhaps, to revolutionize accepted standards and set at naught much of our boasted knowledge with its many deficiencies of precise information.

By imagination the countries of the world have been brought closer together. News that was once brought by minutes of complex riding day and by means of electricity, reaching to all parts of the world and surpassing in its flight the speed of light. When Samuel Morse dreamed of the telegraph he annihilated distance and brought the poles of the earth together.

Thousands of miles from the forecasting station, millions of people listen daily to the radio carrying its lilting music and stirring voices through invisible paths of air.

These modern wonders, mystical, startling, had their birth in the imagination of men who continued to pay court to fancy, while their narrow visioned friends jeered and mocked.

Do not criticize the boy who goes castle-building, or prefers by choice to dwell apart from others.

Manifest interest in his thoughts and give him encouragement. You cannot surmise where a boy of this type may be leading, or what in future years he may do for the uplift of the world and the comforts and delights of his people.

That the boys of today are destined to surpass the boys of yesterday, may be accepted as a foregone conclusion; indeed, it can be counted upon as a certainty.

The result of their imagination, belittled by better schooling, and let us hope greater encouragement, will be seen in the next generation in the revelation of things which the visionist of today has not yet dreamed. Every analysis of what has been done in the past reveals the probability of something more startling awaiting the imaginative brains of the boys of today. Give them an opportunity to show their inequality. Encourage their imagination and cheer them on!

A WOMAN IN THE HOUSE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

A WOMAN in the house, to me, is like the sunlight on the sea. It is like the roses by the road. It is like the laughter with the load.

As stars make beautiful the night, And flowers, gardens give delight, Yes, all that beauty does for you A woman in the house will do.

A woman in the house will make An altar there for hearts that ache. Will build a shrine amid life's din To worship God, and ask Him in.

For you who wander, you who weep, A woman in the house will keep A candle burning evermore— She is a lighthouse on the shore.

A woman in the house is like The sun's declining rays that strike Your windows when the day is old And turn your window panes to gold.

A man may build a house of his; A woman in the house it is. Through joy and sorrow, dawn and gloom, That 'nicks his house and makes it home.

POULTRY SPECIALIST SAYS NO BEST BREED

Which is the best breed is a question often asked. In answer we have to say that there is no best breed. You can find good and poor layers, large and small birds comparatively in every breed. It is the strain more than the breed that is really the more important thing to consider.

There are three recognized general classes of poultry, the small birds or so-called egg producing class, the mixed birds, or the so-called dual purpose class, and the extremely large or the meat class. There is no great distinction between the egg class or the dual so far as the egg production is concerned, for many of the medium meat breeds are good egg layers. And in the small sized birds which are considered for egg laying the same qualities are often found in individuals that weigh from five to five and one-half pounds, and these would make a fairly good meat bird.

In regard to the breed you would like to have, it is suggested that you decide upon whether you want eggs primarily, or whether you want general purpose breeds. When you have made this decision, select a breed to which you like best, because this is the breed with which you will get the best results. Then after you have picked the breed that you like best, buy your stock or eggs from a breeder whom you know has bred for the thing that you desire. This may be egg production, or it may be show purposes, or it may be a combination.

You can find many breeders who have bred for egg production, but their stock may not be worth very much for show purposes. You can find breeders who have bred for show purposes and their stock, in turn, may not be worth very much for egg production. You can find a small percent of breeders who have combined these two qualities and, of course, their stock would naturally be worth more because of this combination.

Just as a parting caution be sure you know the breeder from whom you are buying your stock and be sure that he has the strain of birds which have the qualities which you desire.

"Hatch Early" and Get More Eggs From Poultry

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Profits in poultry raising depend to a large extent on the earliness in the season that chicks are hatched. Because of this fact a slogan of the United States Department of Agriculture has been "Hatch Early."

The department notes that in order to commence laying in October, pullets of the Plymouth Rock, Rhode Island Red, Wyandotte and similar breeds, which hatch the latter part of March or the first part of April. Pullets of the Leghorn, Ancona and similar breeds should be hatched the latter part of April or the first part of May.

Late-hatched chicks are rarely as profitable as early-hatched ones. When hatched late, they are not able to make as good growth during the hot summer months and do not mature in time to start laying in the early fall. There is little danger of farmers hatching chicks too early.

DOULTRY NOTES

Wet brooder floors have caused the death of thousands of little ducklings.

One cannot expect strong, lively chicks from poorly selected hatching eggs.

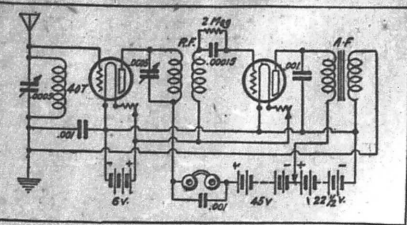

Any bird lacking vigor and constitution should be removed from the breeding pen. Unhealthy birds have no place there. Aiming for quality rather than quantity gets healthier chicks.

A good dry mash, fed by means of hoppers, should be before the hens at the time in the morning when the grain in deep straw litter will be at night, but let the hens eat all the mash they want.

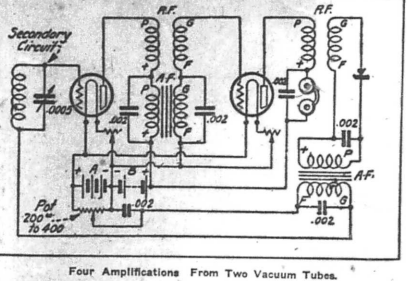

A modified breed is usually considered best for the farm in spite of the fact that the small breeds may lay a few more eggs per year.

Incubator failures are usually the fault of the operator, but skill comes with practice and following the instructions accompanying the machine.

Early spring is nature's most favorable growing season. Early hatched chickens have the advantage of this favorable growing season and a longer growing period.

Only the Audio Frequency Tube Is Reflexed.

Four Amplifications From Two Vacuum Tubes.

By ARTHUR H. EDDY

If you engage yourself in conversation with the average amateur concerning his radio receiving set it will not be long before he will bring up the question of maximum range of reception, which would be the paramount topic of discussion. It is thus that we have grown into the habit of regarding the relative merit of a receiving set by the range that it can cover, and although this method of judging is not altogether fair and just to all types of outfits, yet for the average beginner or radio experimenter it does form a good basis of quality. The standard range of the regenerative receiver is quite an unknown quantity, for amateurs and experts having almost identical circuits and antenna conditions give very conflicting claims. But still, if we are to have most of our claims on distance, on a certain consistency of receiving an everyday broadcasting station, it would be very near the truth if we should limit the regenerative receiver to approximately a range of 100 miles when using a rather sensitive detector tube.

Most amateurs realizing this have endeavored to augment this distance by the use of a combination of reflex and radio frequency amplifiers. In other words, the reflex circuit. With the former type success was assured where the sensitivity of the detector was great enough to detect the signal, but since the sensitive tube must be a soft tube—that is, a tube that biases at a critical point—the number of frequency stages is somewhat limited. To adapt a reflex circuit to an amplification to a regenerative receiver after once it has been constructed is by no means an easy task. Yet some amateurs have not only accomplished this, but have obtained remarkable results.

For the vast majority of beginners the true answer to the problem of building a long distance receiver is not the regenerative receiver with audio and radio frequency amplifiers nor the superregenerative receiver, but a receiver which is a combination of audio and radio frequency units in the circuit. This type of circuit will not only have the desired range, but will be so compact that it will be readily portable and so simple and efficient in its operation that the beginner can operate it as satisfactorily as the expert.

Reflex is not new, but is usually described in peculiar ways with peculiar names. This is at once an evidence of evasion, for the simple reason that at the end of the story the whole thing will be found to be the original flex circuit.

A reflex set can be made from a single tube and crystal detector, the single tube serving for both audio and radio frequency amplification. If it is desired to operate a low speaker we must resort to two or three tubes in a reflex circuit. Here the first two tubes serve as radio amplifiers and audio amplifiers, with the crystal as detector. The schematic diagram shows a number of two-tube reflex circuits.

If amplifier tubes are used in all stages the B battery should be regulated so that the proper B battery voltage is applied to their respective plates. This is accomplished by a permanent. Usually between forty-five and seventy volts are found best for the plate voltage.

In the actual application of the circuit there are several difficulties to be overcome. The tubes, for instance, must be coupled for both radio and audio frequency amplification, but placing the audio frequency amplifier in a circuit where radio frequency currents are flowing, the windings of the secondary act as a choke coil and prevent the radio frequency currents from passing. To overcome this a resistor is shunted around the windings as radio frequency currents may pass. It is suggested that 301A tubes be used in all reflex circuits, since this tube responds to radio frequency currents much better than others.

If this tube is used it would be advisable to employ a 50-ohm rheostat in the event that a six-volt battery is used.

The constructor attempting to build these great sets should employ direct regeneration. Once the tubes start oscillating the whole set may become paralyzed due to the choking of the tubes.

Radio Appreciated by Those Who Cannot See

In lieu of the inspiration which the artist derives from the upturned eyes and faces of his audience, the singer at the radio broadcasting station, if she has imagination, can picture hundreds of homes where sit invalids, blind men and women and even many deaf people thrilled at her every note.

Letters which come to the radio broadcasting stations emphasize the enjoyment which the "stay-at-homes" get from music. To many such letters the writer writes, "I am glad that you are so popular, and that you are so helpful to the deaf people." Has Anyone Laughed At You Because—

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

You wear sensible shoes? Whoop! I haven't been the storm center for a lot of discussion? "Why do you insist on such ugly boots? Why don't you wear paper thin soles?" All these and many more questions have been hurled at you.

But you are comfortable, you can take long walks, your back doesn't ache, your feet do not ache, your head is clear. Sensible shoes about not only sensible soles, but a soul in a good condition. It's better to be laughed at than for you to cry over your own discomfort.

Your discomfort here is: Fear not! You are on the right track, and the really elite are wearing low heels and round toes an' even the new Parisian fashion shoes feature them!

EVERYDAY FOODS

WHEN a few pieces of chicken are left over from the Sunday dinner, cut the meat into small pieces removing all the bones. A cupful will make a nice dish with macaroni. Prepare a rich white sauce, using two tablespoonfuls of butter, mixed and two tablespoonfuls of milk; mix well and add one cupful of flour with each seasoning as one likes. Take a cupful of cooked macaroni, put a layer of macaroni in the bottom of a buttered dish, cover with a layer of chicken, then a layer of white sauce. Repeat until all are used. Over the top sprinkle with thick covering of buttered crumbs and bake until brown.

Soft Molasses Cookies. Take one cupful of molasses, one and three-fourths teaspoonfuls each one cupful of sour milk, one-half cupful of shortening, two teaspoonfuls of ginger, one teaspoonful of salt and pour to rest as possible. Chill before rolling, and less flour will be needed.

"TAY David Swift," said the senior member of the banking firm of Smith, Jones & Brown to his friend, and according to the Sunday paper he took the halting slip of yellow paper to Mr. Swift's official deepener of mixed code notes.

"That man eight years ago was earning six dollars a day at unskilled labor; now I pay him ten thousand a year," said the great man as he and his friend waited for the outcome over the cigars in the inner office. Then he said David Swift's story.

The Young Lady Across the Way

if you could know how much we enjoy the voice of the Schenectady station, you would be glad that God gave you such a gift. My father, who is very hard of hearing, can hear you clearly and knows your voice as readily although we are only two blocks old in the radio world. Father could get nearly all the service and sang the hymns with the choir.

RAISE TIDY SUM

A paper has been circulated around Plymouth for the benefit of Mrs. Amy Payne, widow of John Payne, in an effort to raise funds to tide her over until she can make other arrangements.

That the effort was a success is shown by the fact that the sum of $156.00 was collected, and is now in the bank to the credit of Mrs.
Payne.

Following are the contributors:

Table listing names and amounts for the 'RAISE TIDY SUM' fund, including George J. Searle, J. E. Nimmons, Paul Russell, etc.

HOW TOTAL ABSTINENCE
INCREASES THE MARGIN OF SAFETY FROM ACCIDENTS

(By Deryl Cramer)
(Eighth Grade)

What is alcohol? Alcohol is a narcotic and an irritant. A narcotic numbs the nerves so that they are not capable of the sense of feeling while an irritant inflames the nerves.

If a person keeps on drinking alcohol will harm the most vital parts of the body, and especially the brain and heart, and in time will bring death to the person.

In the modern traffic three things are required for safety, namely:
good judgement, a clear vision, and a steady nerve. Whatever inter-sion with good judgement, a clear vision, and a steady nerve, will affect the margin of safety.

Table listing names and amounts for the 'HOW TOTAL ABSTINENCE' fund, including C.A. Seiler, Dick Phillips, J.E. Heindel, etc.

You will find seventy-five percent of all accidents are caused by drunkards, or tobacco users. Anyone who drinks alcohol gets the poison into his system and it effects all nerves and organs of the body.

In all large cities there are many accidents that are caused by traffic. Some are careless but in most cases caused by intoxicated people. In many accidents at the railroad crossings, there are many killed because the nerves are weakened and numbed by alcohol, and in some cases are caused by tox-icated people.

We will take for example a watch. A watch may keep perfect time, but a very small grain of sand dropped into the works, will so effect the delicate machinery of the watch, so that it will not keep perfect time. So a drunkard who drinks all kind of dope containing alcohol, will so affect all the delicate parts of the machinery in the human body.
The brain is the most delicate piece of machinery imaginable, and more so than a watch, and if a grain of sand will so effect the watch, a drop of alcohol will more so effect the brain.

If a drop of alcohol enters the brain it will effect the sensitive brain cells, so that ones judgment will be dull, his vision blurred, and his nerves unsteady?
If his nerves becomes unsteady and not used in the will probably be of no use to the world. So if a person wants to be useful—and have a steady nerve, clear vision, and good judgement, so as to help avoid accidents and keep safe for traffic no drop of alcohol should be allowed to pass into the body.

School Notes

When the Orythian and Clon-inian Literary Societies encounter each other in their contest next Friday evening, April 11th, a royal battle for possession of the silver loving cup is sure to occur.
Greatest interest will probably center in the debate, but one that outbalances the other events in the scoring of points.

This debate makes the last appearance of two veteran forensic artists of the high school, Les-belle Ford and Gertrude Beelman.
Their work will undoubtedly compare favorably with that of most any high school debaters. Robert McIntire, the other Senior Participating in the debate is also expected to make a strong appeal to the judges.

There is much to be said in favor of and against the recognization Soviet Russia. The debate will present both sides of the question and leave it to the judges to determine the merits of the question.

This contest will mark the last appearance upon the high school literary program, of Margaret Nimmons, Gladice Baltzell and Ina Stock, members of the graduating class.

The contest will take place at the Presbyterian Church, 7:30 p. m., Friday, April 11th. Admission 15c and 20 c.

Mrs. J. W. Miller and Rev. Eife have been the heads of a new two channel exercises. Both talks were greatly enjoyed by members of the high school and faculty.

FRANK STRAUB OF TIRO
ARRESTED

Frank Straub, former resident of Shelby and Tiro, now in business at Medina, is in the Crawford county jail on a serious charge in connection with an assault which occurred in Tiro Sunday afternoon.

George McConnell, guardian of Straub's mother, who is an aged lady in the eighties, was the victim of the assault and narrowly escaped with his life according to reports received here.

to Tiro Sunday and was preparing to remove his mother to Medina from his home in Tiro. She was being cared for there by another lady. Straub is reported to have abused the lady who was caring for his mother and to have ordered her out of the house.

The news of his action came to Mr. McConnell who went to the Straub home to see what was going on. Straub is reported to have had some words with McConnell and pulling out a knife is reported to have cut him across the forehead, cheek and inflicted a slight wound in the neck. Had it not been for McConnell's coat collar it is said the jugular vein would have been severed resulting in his death almost instantly. The knife blade just passed through the collar and made a slight wound in the neck near the jugular vein.

YOUR QUESTION
And Its Answer
QUESTION—"Will you please explain why Chiropractors do not diagnose, and how it is that you can get your patient well without diagnosing the disease?"
ANSWER—Diagnosis means giving a group of symptoms a name.
Naming a disease will not locate what is causing that disease. Neither will diagnosis enable correct the cause. As an example of the uselessness of di-agnosis in the practice of Chiropractic, take a case of symptoms of stomach disorder. It matters not to us what name may be given the ailment, be it Gastritis, Dyspepsia, Acid Stomach, Peptic Ulcer, or what not, we know that the dorsal nerves whose duty it is to supply the stomach with vital energy, are effected and responsible for the stomach symptoms. These same dorsal nerves are involved in all diseases of the stomach, the same Spinal Adjustment is required, and of the same results gotten, so why diagnose? In our practice we find just two steps necessary to get a patient well locating the CAUSE of the trouble, and adjusting the spine to correct the cause.
In order to spread the knowledge of Chiropractic, health questions and problems of general importance and practical value will be answered, in the order received if addressed to Change Engine Oil every 300 Miles Throughout the Season

Drain Off Old Oil

Flush Crank Case

Fill with Correct Grade of Polarine

Clean oil in a clean engine is essential to perfect lubrication. Any oil "wears out" in time—hence the need of frequent replacement of engine oil.

Automotive experts advise changing of crank-case oil in passenger cars every 500 miles, trucks every 300 miles.

Simply removing the drain plug will not get all the old oil out—some will be left in small hollows in the crank-case. This must be washed out.

Replace drain plug and pour in one gallon of light "flushing oil"—not kerosene. Run motor slowly a few minutes. Then drain again.

There's a grade of Polarine Motor Oil that's right for every make of automobile and motor truck.

You can consult the Polarine Chart and get the recommended grade of Polarine anywhere in Ohio—at 500 Standard Service Stations and at dealers' stores and garages.

Polarine Motor Oils are supplied in five grades because the different types of motors require oils of distinct characteristics. Polarine Transmission Lubricants and Greases meet the lubrication needs of all transmission units and chassis parts. And the Polarine Chart of Recommendations is a quick, sure guide to the correct grade of Polarine for each part of every car.

NEW HAVEN

New Haven High School Pupils Are Given "Nut Tests" Last Week

Was Gettysburg famous in the World War, Civil War, Spanish American War, Mexican or the war of 1812? Which is the opposite of ancient, familiar, old, young, modern, antique? Is good housekeeping a name of a vacuum cleaner, washing machine, floor polish, magazine or novel? Does H.C.L. stand for hydrochloric acid, high cost of living, house of commons, or head cheer leader.

No, we are not trying to find out how much you don't know or do know but the above questions are simply a part of the Pressey Senior Classification test that was taken by the high school pupils at New Haven last week under the supervision of Supt. Ford. Many interesting tests have been given of all grades this year and a great deal of good is accomplished through the tests, believes Mr. Ford. Many questions will not accept students who do not show a good grade in high school intelligence tests.

Intelligence tests are given to the pupils at various intervals in order to show comparison of the students mental capacity at different times and the progress that is made. In some instances the student actually retards in mentality in certain subjects according to the superintendent. As an average however an increase in knowledge is displayed through the consecutive tests.

The Pressey Classification test was arranged by S.L. Pressey of the Department of Psychology of Ohio State University. The test consists of 96 questions and 16 minutes is allowed to complete the test. The object of these particular tests is to see how much the pupils have learned and how well and how fast they can think.

After the student reaches the last question on the first page of the test sheet he sees this stern command in bold italics, "Do not stop. Go right on to the next page." This statement is also seen at the bottom of the second and third page for it is not until the fourth page that the student sees the statement, This is the end. Stop here. Go back and see that all your answers are correct.

On through the list one finds the following questions: Did Marquette, Washington, Jackson, Lafayette, or Sheridan live the longest time ago? Is the term calculus used in religion, mathematics, science or art? Was Mark Twain an orator, humorist, singer, poet, or dramatist? Was Victor Hugo a Scotchman, Frenchman, Italian, or Irishman? Where was the peace treaty of 1918 signed, in Paris, Venice, Versailles, Washington or Portsmouth?

The Pressey test is but one of the many tests that have been given this year in the New Haven schools. Some time ago a continuous arithmetic problem was given. There were seven questions and all depended upon the first answer for the correctness. According to Supt. Ford only fifty percent was the grade recorded in this test.

Below is the problem. Work it out and see what answer you get?

- Mr. Smith bought 36 head of cattle for $40.50 per head.
1. What did the cattle cost him?
 2. The weight of the cattle was 21,600, what was the average of their weight?
 3. How much did the cattle cost per cwt?
 4. What was the weight of the entire herd of cattle after the cattle had increased two-fifths of their weight after being in the pasture six months?
 5. What did Johnson receive for the cattle if they were sold at the end of six months at an advance of 50 cents per cwt.
 6. If the pasture was worth $1.50 a month per head, what was his gain on the herd of cattle?
 7. What was his net gain if Mr. Johnson borrowed the money from a bank at six per cent to pay for the cattle. He paid the note when due.

Owing to the securing of Judge Bechtol to speak to the Parent-Teachers Association the meeting date has been changed from Wednesday, April 9th, to Tuesday, April 8th. Keep the date in mind.

Quite a few attended the oratorical and Reading Contest at Newark Wednesday evening.

AS I LOOK AT IT

After all, the great tax question is, "How can I get out of paying it?"

All those who are called upon to lend new ones ought to be in favor of that clean books bill.

A lot of pious frauds take credit for honesty whom nobody ever has considered worth tempting.
