

Kochendefers Observe 60th Anniversary

A privilege accorded to few was enjoyed Christmas Day by Mr. and Mrs. Rosa Kochendefers when the immediate family gathered to help them celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary at their home on Plymouth street.

The home was fittingly decorated in holiday garb and a spirit of good cheer and thankfulness prevailed. At noon carvers for thirty were laid to a bounteous Xmas feast at which three generations were represented.

Mr. and Mrs. Kochendefers were united in marriage on December 25, 1866 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Crall at Benton, just north of the city. Happy and contented years followed. In 1882 they moved to Plymouth where they have since resided.

During their many years here they have made hosts of friends who congratulate them on their married anniversary and wish them many more anniversaries.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kochendefers are quite active despite their age. Mrs. Kochendefers preparing practically the entire meal. Mrs. Kochendefers will celebrate her eightieth birthday in February while Mr. Kochendefers passed his 83rd in September.

An interesting coincidence is that Mr. and Mrs. Hornberger, formerly of Shelby, who attended the Kochendefers wedding would also celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary December 31st and Mr. Hornberger lived, but he passed away just a year ago. During all these years, the two families were constant and true friends.

With the exception of Mrs. H. R. Sykes of Cincinnati, who was unable to be present, all their children were home for the occasion including Mrs. W. B. Anderson, Mrs. Dora Willet and Mrs. W. B. Anderson, Plymouth, Mrs. I. B. Devos of Greenwich and Mr. D. C. Kochendefers of Paxtang, Pennsylvania.

Real Talent Shown In "Star of Promise"

The teachings of the Scriptures are like a musical score, which if it is used only as it enables one to reproduce the spiritual harmonies that it implies. The Sacred Cantata, "Star of Promise," by E. L. Ashford, rendered at the Presbyterian Church, last Sunday evening, reproduced the Christmas Story and its meaning, in all the spiritual harmonies which that wonderful story implies.

By means of reason and musical education one learns that there is a lofty beauty in high church music, and that one may come to feel and be inspired by it as he had never thought music had the power to stir him. Aesthetic feeling comes through the actual and repeated hearing of good music. At the close of the impressive service, last Sunday evening, such were the sentiments expressed by the large and appreciative audience. Every one had received a vision of greater heights of thinking and living.

Splendid solo work was rendered by E. E. Baidt, William Harris, H. Kendig, Mrs. William Hawkins, Miss Clarice Beamer, and Miss Ruth Baidt.

The Men's Chorus consisting of Messrs E. E. Baidt, A. F. Cornell, William Harris, H. Kendig, Weldon Cornell, Doryl Cramer and Raymond Steele, rendered very efficient service. The church orchestra rendered a very fine special number. The choir men's chorus and orchestra expressed in music and song that beauty which is not only truth, but Divine Truth. Greater heights no service can attain.

Just a word of explanation: concerning the admission of beginners in our first grade at six years of age. In order to avoid confusion it was necessary for the Board of Education to establish a rule for admission. Elmer Rogers Died Friday

News of the death of Mr. Elmer E. Rogers last Friday morning came as a complete surprise to a host of friends here. Mr. Rogers had undergone an operation at a Bellevue hospital Tuesday morning and it was reported that his condition was favorable shortly afterward. However, it is said that complications set in causing his death Friday.

Elmer Elsworth Rogers was born March 2, 1861 west of Shelby. The family moved to Plymouth when Mr. Rogers was a lad of five years and since that time he has made his home in this vicinity. For a period of 18 or 19 years Mr. Rogers served as a rural carrier from the Plymouth post office and during that time made many friendships along his route.

The deceased is survived by his wife and one son, Frank Rogers, by a former marriage.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon with Rev. A. M. Himes in charge. Burial was made in Greenlaw cemetery.

JUVENILE CANTATA WELL RENDERED

In religion man reaches the highest method of creating and expressing beauty, not only through literature, sculpture, architecture and other arts, but also through the fine art of music. This is because the Supreme has been regarded as the supremely beautiful.

In a very fascinating style, the Juvenile Cantata, "Manger King," by Dorothy Lehman Sumner, carries out this idea. On last Friday evening, the Junior Department of the Presbyterian Sunday School, rendered this attractive Cantata, in a very creditable manner.

While the Pilgrim children were waiting for service, around the Shepherd's Campfire, the Shepherd's song from over the hills, sung by E. E. Baidt, was heard. The children most cheerfully responded to the shepherd's call.

The soloists were Iden Jackson, Doris Cramer, Zella Ruckman, Marie Hickey, Dorothy Petters and Rhea Kead.

As the Master taught His disciples that true greatness came through service, so the church may triumphantly proclaim that from the children shall come beauty, goodness and service.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. Dr. G. R. Monte tells us he still believes in a Santa Claus. His visit at his home this year brought joy and happiness. S. sent a box of dried fruit; Sapaho Chapter O. E. S. Attica furnished a fine window wreath and other delightful gifts; our friend Mr. Sibbert supplied the table with a choice food, candy alone came from all parts of the country, evergreens and mistle toe arrived from Colorado and other gifts too numerous to mention. YOUR RESOLUTIONS
By W. H. Fetter
Now that Christmas is over, New Year will come next; I will speak of resolutions, For my little text.

Now to make resolutions, And change your future plan, Means a fight without a doubt, But if determined, you can.

How were your last resolutions? You made some I was told, Had you kept them in memory, Or forgot and grown old?

The New Year resolutions, Are the best I am told, Have you any resolutions, That are one year old?

Now for new resolutions, And good ones do make, That will make you better; Provide you never break.

Make good resolutions, And then try to do better, Break away from bad habits, That bound you with a fetter.

Why wait for the New Year? When you see trouble brewing, To delay and wait many months, Might prove your utter ruin.

If necessary to fight a battle, With ammunition you provide, It is possible to win four points, If in it you take pride.

OPERETTA BASIS OF "WALTZ DREAM"

"The Waltz Dream," a UFA special, made by the producers of "Variety," "The Last Laugh," "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," "Passion" and other great pictures, showing at the Temple Theatre Sunday at Willard, Ohio. It reveals the continental spirit in yet another mood, rarer, lighter in tone, with more of an eye to the American taste than any previous picture sent over by that great company.

An Oscar Strauss operetta was the basis for the piece, and its director, Ludwig Berger, has put into the film itself a good deal of the lift of the charming waltzes of old Vienna. "The Waltz Dream" is first presented in America as a comic operetta, in the old Broadway Theatre, and was an instantaneous success. The success of the film will be as great, accompanied as it is by the original music of Oscar Strauss.

Mady Christians, Willy Fritsch and Xenia Deni, who play the principal roles, are newcomers to this country. By their work in "The Waltz Dream" they take their places with the foremost of America's screen celebrities. Miss Christians as Princess Alix, gives a moving interpretation of the awakening of a sequestered young Princess in a small duchy in Austria, to the romance of life as it is lived in a gay city. Miss Christians comes very near to perfection in the art of pure, joyful comedy.

"SO'S YOUR OLD MAN" IS POPULAR PHRASE AND FILM

"So's Your Old Man."

A new epidemic has struck our peaceful town. Everywhere one goes, he sees signs of it. No matter where you are, you can't help hearing it. It stands on street corners and about at the top of their lungs. Wives greet husbands in the same way. Not since the Charleston has anything equalled it. Always that same line—"So's Your Old Man."

But perhaps there's a reason. We suspect that the indicators of this "So's Your Old Man" movement can be found within the limits of the Temple Theatre, Willard, Ohio. Why? Because a film called "So's Your Old Man" is about to be shown there on Saturday.

W. C. Fields is starred in this new Paramount comedy. Alice Joyce and Charles Rogers are featured. Gregory La Cava directed. We think you'll laugh and—so's your old man!

FAN MAKES UNUSUAL DEMAND UPON MARIE PREVOST. FILM STAR

If there's anything you want, ask a leading screen star for it. That, at least, seems to be the idea some of our fans entertain.

Marie Prevost, star in "Man Bait," her new Metroplita picture, received an unusual request recently. Her admirer, a young woman, desired the gown Marie Prevost wore in the recent pictures. She also craved the shoes that went with it and, possibly, the hat. If possible, a pair of gloves would be acceptable and she would like a pair of chiton hosiery thrown in.

One thing hinders the little screen favorite, and that is, who is going to pay the freight? Presumably the admirer naturally expects that item prepaid.

Marie Prevost will be seen in her latest starring vehicle, "Man Bait," at the Shelby Opera House on Saturday. She is supported by a brilliant cast. Kenneth Thomson has the male lead, with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., playing the principal juvenile role. The rest of the cast includes Adda Gordon, Eddie Gribbon, Louis Natheaux, Betty Francisco, Sally Rand and Fritz Ridgeway. Donald Crisp directed.

es Grace and Bowena Buurma.

Saturday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiers were: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Postema, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sharda, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wiers, Mr. and Mrs. John Wiers, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sharpless and Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Buurma are visiting relatives in Pandora.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cok were Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Moll.

The Christmas program at the local church was well given and well attended. This was the first year that those between the age of 3 and 6 were on a Sunday school program.
