FROM Our Point OF VIEW

There is much work to be done in the homes of Plymouth in the training of our young folks. Just the other day we passed a group of five boys, ranging in age from 10 to 16 years, gathered around in front of a local pool room. And at an hour, too, when they should have been at home.

And a few minutes later we observed another group discussing a football game, and of all the swearing—it would make the "tough sailor" ashamed. There's nothing naller in "plain cussing," but to hear the name of the Almighty God taken in vain makes us shudder.

Twenty years ago the average mother enforced the habit of going to Sunday school at least until we were the age of 12, and then we felt like we wanted to go every Sunday.

But then mothers, churches, education and most everything else has changed in twenty years. But man's individual responsibility to humanity will never change.

We have read and heard discussions of the responsibility of the churches and schools—their influences among our young people. But in our mind, the home has the greater responsibility of turning out clean young men and women—and it will always remain so.

Swiss Bell Ringers To Give Concert at Mansfield Church

Georgette's Are Favorable Known Here; Former Residents.

Georgette's famous players of musical novelties and Swiss bell ringers are to come to Mansfield on Nov. 25 and give a concert in the First Methodist church. This organization played on the Mansfield Chautauqua program about fifteen years, and proved one of the big features.

Owing to the fact that the musicals had an open date, they were able to be booked advantageously and the admission will be half what they usually receive. Concerts will be given at 2:30 in the afternoon, primarily for the children, and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

No doubt a number of local people will plan to attend this concert. Mrs. George and Mrs. Frank George, mother and daughter are well known in Plymouth, being former residents.

Frank's father, Dr. Georgette, came to Plymouth with his family about forty years ago and located on Railroad street in the property now owned by Mrs. Mary Fate. They later moved to the sevier property on W. Broadway.

The entire family were quite musical. Mrs. Georgette playing the piano while other members were skilled in the playing of various instruments. It was while living in Plymouth that Dr. Georgette passed away and some years later the children moved to other cities.

Mr. Sykes is a former Plymouth resident and since moving to Cincinnati he has enjoyed much popularity among the industrial and financial world.

JUDGE SAYS IT'S OK IF YOU CAN DO IT

A Lima man was recently acquitted of charges filed against him by federal dry agents who raided his home at Lima after they were tricked into buying a jug of water that they believed to be liquor.

"If you can sell water to a dry agent and get away with it, it's all right." This was the ruling passed down by United States Commissioner W. Gaines at Toledo in the case of Paglow.

Robt. Nixon Is Chosen Member of School Board

Former Plymouth Man Is Favorite of East Cleve- landers at Election

Most everyone around here knows Robt. Nixon, but it is not generally known that Bob has made another step upon the ladder of popularity. Mr. Nixon, who is a resident of East Cleveland, was chosen a member of the board of education last Tuesday. There's no use in reciting Bob's history in Plymouth for everyone knows that he has fought a good battle in the business and financial world, and it was only his straightforwardness and keen judgment in business affairs that the people of East Cleveland selected him as a board member.

Here's what a Cleveland paper has to say concerning Mr. Nixon's race: "There were some surprises in Tuesday's result, as surprises go. Elections do not constitute an exact science and there is no way of figuring out results in advance, because politics moves in mysterious and devious ways, and this was so in East Cleveland this fall as elsewhere. Fortunately, however, there were no charges of crookedness or no call for police interference in East Cleveland as in some other places."

"One of the surprises, until explained, lies in the lead vote of Robert E. Nixon for board of education, and the election of another woman to the board. Nixon won over Captain H. H. Burton, admittedly strong, by 50 votes, and over Mrs. Finley, the third winner, by 712 votes. Nixon's big run was accounted for Tuesday night when it became known that W. G. Dillon, former street superintendent, and an expert in politics, and a few others, got into the fight in behalf of Nixon, who is a contractor. Dillon's only explanation of his support of Nixon was that "they don't make them any better than Nixon," and that some dirty politics was played against Nixon. Nixon and Burton were two of the Chamber of Commerce nominees.

The village was fittingly decorated with "Old Glory" and schools dismissed for the day but otherwise business was resumed as usual.

Workers over the county started out early this week and it is expected the work will be finished up in short order. Plymouth will be called on for its quota of members and will probably receive hearty support.

The fact that this organization works for humanity in time of peace as well as war makes it a very worthy one and should be supported wholeheartedly by the American people.

Be ready when you are called upon and do your bit for humanity's sake.

OBITUARY

MRS. JANE KLINE

People of our community were greatly shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Jane Kline at her home last Friday morning. The passing of this lady takes another of Prescott's pioneers from our midst. She was an example of honest, industrious and upright womanhood. Many old friends and neighbors will be saddened by the news of her departure. Following is a short sketch of the life of Mrs. Kline: Nancy Jane Ervin was born near New Washington, Crawford county, Ohio, November 16, 1855, and passed away at her home north of Prescott, Friday, September 16, 1927, aged 71 years and 10 months. She was united in marriage to Albert Kline, at Plymouth, Ohio, February 1, 1877. Mr. and Mrs. Kline moved to Prescott, Iowa, where their present home forty-nine years ago, at which time they practically entered a pioneer life and in nearly a half century have witnessed the many developments of our noble state. To this union six children were born: Lettie E. Brandt, Prescott; Myrtle C. Knolle, Union, Iowa; Flora B. Newton, Crookston, Neb.; Francis Ellsworth, deceased; Clarence Albert and Percy Oliver, Prescott. She is also survived by her husband and one brother, Elmer Ervin, of Plymouth, Ohio. Eight brothers and sisters preceded her in similar death. Her death was sudden, as she was found lying in the yard by her son, Clarence, and wife, who were making their home with her. At the age of sixteen years she united with the Methodist Episcopal church, near Plymouth, Ohio. After moving to Iowa she transferred her membership and continued faithful in her belief. She was a devoted mother and self was forgotten in her administering for her family. She will be greatly missed in her home and by her many friends. Funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Leslie Ross. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery. Those from a distance who attended the funeral were a daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Knolle, her husband, of Orient; four grandchildren, Florence, Paul and Mary Brandt and John Oberholt from Lincoln, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Shaub, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Porter and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Harkness and daughter, Helen, of Preston; Mrs. McCready, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Newton of Brooks; Mr. and Mrs. James Herbst, of Mercer Center and Mrs. Chester Cupp, of Corning.

Is It Well With The Lad?

By DR. G. R. MENTE,

By precept and example teach the lad to attend not only Sunday School but the regular services of the church. It creates and stimulates a desire for the house of God and for society of the good and pure. Suppose he does not understand every word the minister may say in his sermonizing, there are many grown-ups in the same boat. Suppose he should cause you to smile when in his childish simplicity he tells you the preacher's text was: "Many are Cold but Few are Frozen," do not rebuke but kindly rectify the mistake, for it may have been the speakers fault in mumbling his words instead of pronouncing them clearly and distinctly. There is a widespread belief that the editor of a newspaper knows almost everything worth knowing, but one small lad discovered that there are limitations to the mind of even an editor, when asking his father: "Daddy is Jupiter inhabited?" Moments of meditation and finally the answer: "I don't know my son." The lad was almost floored but once more rallied to the attack: "Father what does the North Pole look like?" But alas once more the acknowledgement of ignorance uttered by the words: "I do not know." Thus in desperation the lad asked: "Dad how did you manage to be an editor?" I need not answer for the father, and the lad went away satisfied.

Friends that lad is inquisitive, he wants to know, he must be taught not only the rudiments of Arithmetic, Writing and Spelling, but the influence of the home should teach him how to be pure, honest and truthful, clean in mind as well as in body; yet fanaticism has no place in the proper raising of the lad, for piety, worthy of its name and possession is not calculated to rob youth of its innocent pleasures, its charms and beauty; it should never chill the spirit of adventure, dwarf the possibilities, deaden the aspirations of youth, or make it old and cold before its allotted time. A feeble, feeble substitute, sometimes passing for the genuine article may do this, but to love God and follow the footsteps of good men does never call for annihilation of all boyish ambition; I am of the opinion shared by many of the leading spirits of this century, that the founder of the church of God, the great Galilean teacher, intended to convey the idea to human mind that piety should guide human thoughts and human nature appeared by the way of every day happenings. Tell the lad to be prepared for sunshine and showers, for both are needed to ripen the precious grain, hence teach him to be ready to say at any time: The will of God must be done, for the Heavenly Father knoweth what is best and what is really needed for our discipline. It is well with the lad? This question is the burning question of the age; as parents, teachers and ministers of the gospel we make many mistakes in our inability to understand the boy, be careful, boys will be boys and as such they are full of ambition, robust of mind and body, and while he may conform to the lessons of his teachers readily, adopting the bearing of a man of more mature years, at some future day the revelation will come to him that he has become a man before graduating from boyhood happy days, and the awakening has often been fraught with very great danger, for in the depth of his soul that lad will rebel at the fetters that were placed upon him and the first unguarded moment may expose him to the temptation to be a boy again, and forgetter those delusions that boyhood and youth are only vanity. So, as the hosts of the 20th century advance to overcome difficulties and temptations let their motto ever be: Rejoice Young Man in Thy Youth." Eccl. 11:9.

HOME DECORATION

HINTS

MURAL ART

The ancients left a substantial part of their history for posterity in drawings, stampings, and emblems with which they decorated the walls of their public buildings and dwellings. Mural art was practiced by the Aztecs, and in ancient Mesopotamia, Persia, Egypt, Greece, Rome and other sections of the world.

The art of making tapestry was known in the old nation. The hangings on the walls of the Jewish Tabernacle were decorated with a tapestry made by needles and by weaving. The Saracens introduced tapestry into Europe and the art flourished in high perfection in Flanders in the fifteenth century. The scenes represented upon these earliest tapestries have historic interest. They give vivid representation which they present of contemporary life.

But tapestry had to give way to the painting and the papering of walls, and for several centuries mural art flourished with their instruments to portray the skill of artists and designers.

Within recent years the development of new kinds of building structures has called for different methods of wall treatment. Wall paper has had its ups and downs in popular favor, and smooth painted walls and rough-finishes and stucco effects have had their partisans.

As a compromise between the different modern wall materials there has recently appeared something new in the decorative line. Naturally enough we have the industrial chemists to thank for ing produced Muralist Wall Fabric. It is a light weight cloth, treated and decorated with many coats of pyroxilin. The basis of pyroxilin is cotton, and it is one of the many chemical products that is furnishing a new market, and new hopes for cotton growers. Muralist in its finished states is rich in colors, and blends itself into beautiful embossed designs that out rival rough-finished plaster, stucco, and all previous methods and materials used on walls. It has the advantages of plaster, the beauties of wall paper, and in addition it can be cleaned with ordinary soap and water without affecting its surface. The new fabric is scuff-proof, vermin-proof and stain-proof.

Our absence from these columns last week was seemingly unavoidable because of acting as presiding judge on the election board taking considerable of our time.

The election passed off nicely and pleasantly. The town officers were unanimously chosen—G. T. Cupit, Harold J. Dole and Foster D. Pettit became trustees with no opposition; C. M. Hawkins, Clerk only candidate; for constable no name on the ticket; names written—Joseph Willis led the field of 15 ranging from one to fourteen votes each. On the referendum the contest was spirited—Marshall Hill, yes 9; No, 49; Chloroplastic, yes 63; No 68; Two Mill Road Levy, yes 64; No 70; Judges S. J. Lewis, H. E. Silliman, L. R. Barker and F. S. Catlin; Clerks S. E. Gleason and Ransom E. Noss.

JOHN GILBERT AND RENEE ADOREE ARE BOTH IN NEW FILM

John Gilbert and Renee Adoree, the combination that scored one of the screen successes of history in "The Big Parade" are together for the first time since that picture. In "The Show," Metro-Mayer's sensational romance of the Budapest underworld, coming to the Castamba Wednesday at Shelby. They play the central characters in a strange romance laid in a mysterious sideshow on the outskirts of the "Invisible city"—a sideshow of illusions, magician's tricks and strange grotesques, with a "decapitation" illusion in which Gilbert has his head cut off in a "Salome" travesty as the central feature.

Gilbert plays a swashbuckling sideshow "barker" and Miss Adoree a Salome dancer in the production with Lionel Barrymore as "The Greek," a sinister gangster leader, and Edward Connelly as the old blind man who eventually brings about an astounding climax.

Those who really like something different in pictures will find "The Show" filled with thrilling and tense scenes, and the story itself is not tiresome at all. We suggest that you see Gilbert and Miss Adoree in "The Show."

Were you at the Father and Son banquet last Friday? If not, you missed a treat. The tables were beautifully decorated, and the P. T. A. served a fine 7 o'clock dinner, in consequence there is a grape on many a bent house door.

The singing was under the leadership of Rev. McCourt, the instrumental music by the High School orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Rosenberg. After dinner speeches were along the line of present day airplane, comparing the life of the young man to the trip of an airplane; those having part in this program presented their part of the voyage very nicely and to the point; there was mention made of the starting point, the crew, the airplane or landing place, the equipment, etc.; there was also the spectator who was very much interested in the trip; and finally the landing was safely made.

MORNELYA PATTERSON

Rev. Mente had charge of chapel service last Monday morning. His talk was on the life of Florence Nightingale. She was born in 1823. In 1855 she went to Constantinople to help in the hospitals. They all appreciated her work so much that they put up a bronze tablet with her name on it saying she was one of the greatest missionaries of the world. From there she went to Egypt where she was stricken with a disease called French disease. They thought she would die but she recovered and I later wrote a volume on first aid. It was this volume which persuaded Clara Barton to become a nurse.

MARGUERITE SHAFER

Adult tickets will sell for 40c and school tickets for 25c. Pupils in Mr. McBride's, Miss Bushey's and Mr. Pittenger's rooms will have charge of the ticket sale. GET YOUR TICKETS AND HELP US GET OUR MUCH NEEDED PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT.

Among those called at the Mente home last week we noted Geo. W. Koster, Prof. Ford and Rev. McBroom and Gloyd Russell.

Armistice Day was observed by a very liberal display of the national colors. In the afternoon Prof. Ford, Rev. McBroom and Dr. Mente autographed to the Cranberry and London schools, at which time Rev. McBroom spoke on education and Dr. Mente addressed the pupils on the significance of Armistice Day.

Dr. Mente spoke at the Shiloh schools on Friday afternoon four times, his talks to the scholars had to be brief but to the point, dwelling upon the great war and its consequences. He impressed the hearers with the need of future peaceful relations of national and international difficulties, pointing the scholars to the Prince of Peace, at whose advent heavenly choirs rendered the greatest peace song ever recorded: Peace on Earth and Good Will to Man.

CRESTLINE IS SCENE OF RAILROAD ACTIVITY

Work on the yard extension of the Pennsylvania is now in progress at Crestline, according to information received from that town.

Grading will be continued throughout the winter by a large force of workmen. It is expected that at least four months will be required to place the site for the yard extension in shape for laying the tracks. A force of about 200 were placed at work on Monday.

There has been much talk of an improvement along this line for several months, and now, since work has started, it is very evident that Crestline will continue to grow as a railroad center.

It is said that there is not enough local labor to care for the amount of work, and that outside help will be resorted to.

Spangler Store

IS NORWALK'S LEADING STORE

In the two years since The Spangler store first opened for business this firm has taken a unique place in the minds of the buying public. This has been due to a conviction on the part of both Mr. and Mrs. Spangler that every customer is deeply concerned in securing the wearing apparel which is particularly suited to their individual tastes—not just any coat or dress for any customer, but one which has the color, style and distinction best suited to that individual.

Based upon this conviction, The Spangler Store has established a policy of most carefully selected buying. You often hear the expression, "Spangler Standard Quality," which results from this policy. Every article must conform to this standard in every detail before it will be placed on sale.

One glance at the winter coats or dresses which have just arrived will impress upon you the quality of the goods, exactly what this system means to the purchaser who desires to get the most for her money.

The same thing holds true of the hosiery, undergarments, novelties and millinery featured. Miss Lorena Chandler has served a large number of patrons in this community for many years and her conduct of the Millinery Department assures the expert care and attention to which you are entitled.

Mr. and Mrs. Spangler's contact with the people of this community for the past ten years has given them a knowledge of requirements which benefits each customer. In their new location at 30 West Main St., Norwalk, these policies will be given more concentrated attention than ever before; also these larger quarters will permit carrying a larger assortment than ever. The growth of The Spangler Store, which has necessitated the move from the smaller room which was occupied for two years, has been due to their efforts to give the very best in value and service.

BASKET BALL SEASON OPENS

Hurrah for Plymouth! At last practice has started, much to the delight of players and rosters. Coach Jenkins assures us that the prospects for the season are very bright.

The season opens Friday night with Adair furnishing the opposition for both boys and girls. Rumors have it that Adair has two strong teams. We won't contradict this in words but we will in actions. If you don't believe it just come out and see.

Last year you supported us to the last even though we didn't give you much in return but this year we're going to pay you back with plenty of interest.

We'll hit 'em high.
We'll hit 'em low.
Just come out and watch us go.

The foundation of present-day industrial progress is applied science, which, in turn, is responsible for most of man's present-day comforts and pleasures.

It was modern applied science that created such mechanism as that which allowed Lindbergh to wing his memorable flight from New York to Paris in the time it once took our grandfathers to travel from New York to Trenton.

All the tremendous mechanical developments of the last few decades depend to an important degree upon the availability and cheapness of abundant supplies of fuel and of iron, copper, vanadium, barium, chromium, aluminum, magnesium, tin, zinc and other base metals, all of which are the results of applied science—that is to say, the application of man's inventive genius and research to modern industrial progress.

Of the various transformations wrought by chemists in modern industry, none is more interesting than the turning of cotton into Fabrikoid, a product which is used as a substitute for leather. Each year millions of yards of Fabrikoid are manufactured

MUSIC

Dear Folks:
It seems that there have been too many other important things lately that have prevented me from sending you information regarding the Glee Club and Orchestra. You would just die if you could see us trying to learn the intricate steps and actions that we are to enact in each song. Some of the boys and girls are so bashful that it tickles one pink to watch them. We shall have to begin on the speaking parts next, so be prepared to see the P. H. S. students get down to work.

The Orchestra practice as usual at the church. It isn't safe to practice in the school house with plaster falling like rain we should have to tie umbrellas over us for protection. We are progressing as can be expected.

We have postponed until next year. With Santa Claus coming so soon we would not have time for our Operetta understand.

Prior to the World War, synthetic dyes were almost all made in Germany; but after the war the making of these dyes was taken up in America and today our chemists supply practically all the needs in this country.

We ordinarily think of dyes as being used in the textile field alone, but, as a matter of fact, to the leather, paper, paint, ink and in many other industries a supply of synthetic dyes is just as indispensable. Although the value of the dyestuffs is small percentage of the total value of the articles themselves, it is estimated that $5,000,000,000 of production in this country is dependent on the dyestuffs industry.

The same cotton which used to go into the young lady's dress or stockings—she wears rayon or silk nowadays—has been made into rayon by the motion picture film, which, in turn, provides education and entertainment for millions of people every day. The cotton, nitrated, produces nitrocellulose.

In making the motion picture film, the celluloid base or carrier is produced by casting solutions of nitrocellulose and camphor continuously upon a rotating drum. As the drum turns, the solvent used is evaporated and a sheet of celluloid remains on the wheel. This sheet, before the

Mr. Fisher. (In Algebra I class): "How many of you would like to work problems on the blackboard or from the Algebra note book?" But, "I'm going to let majority rule" (referring to election.) The students voted by raising their hands and it was a tie.

Mr. Fisher: "I think we will work from the books."

Helen C. (in great disappointment): "That's not fair."

Mr. Fisher: "I know it isn't, it's too late in the season."

drum makes a complete revolution, is sufficiently dry and tough to permit stripping and is removed from the drum as an endless sheet. After further drying, it is wound up in large rolls which then go to a coating machine. On this machine it is treated with a chemical emulsion. After this it is dried again, perforated for the sprockets in the camera and projectors, and is ready for packing.

Rich Colors for Your Book Case

Book stands are always an important part of the furniture of the modern home and perhaps there are no pieces of furniture to which more attention is given by those interested in interior decoration. Even the simplest of book cases can now be made attractive and be given a coloring which helps to make the room distinctive.

There are three types of book-cases, any one, or all, of which are usually found in the average home. One is a large book case with glass doors; another is a small book case of general utility, usually of three shelves, which is a fine auxiliary to a reading chair. If you wish to be in the latest mode, you will have these book cases finished in Duco because this latest of all finishing materials gives color schemes which are untainable otherwise. There are two color plans suggested for the large book case with glass doors. One of these is done in blue with a rich green on the shelves. The other is finished in warm tones of orange yellow with deep red interior and shelves. This decorative scheme in these two colors is at once harmonious, soothing and rich.

The small book case which is of such general utility is done in vermilion with black medallion decoration at top, trimmed with old gold. The interior and the shelves are done in silver. Such a vermilion decoration at once removes this piece from the commonplace and makes it a worthwhile addition to the room in which it is placed.

The book stand with three shelves is done in rich tones of dark and light green, trimmed with black.

OAKLAND-PONTIAC OCTOBER SALES SHOW INCREASE

Company Has Sold 172,027 Cars During First Ten Months of Year Against 171,320 During Corresponding Period of 1926.

Pontiac, Mich., Nov.—Record-breaking sales of 15,674 Oakland and Pontiac Sixes, 61.6 per cent greater than during October of 1926, are reported by W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales for the Oakland Motor Car Company. Mr. Tracy also states that sales totals for the last ten months have made 1927 the company's most successful year.

The October record follows a September sales increase of 37 per cent over the corresponding period of a year ago.

The grand aggregate of Oakland and Pontiac Six sales during the months from January to October, inclusive, is 172,027, against 121,320 during the first ten months of 1926. "The attraction of the improved Pontiac Six at lower prices early this year contributed substantially to the increased total of sales," said Mr. Tracy. "Oakland Six sales experienced a brief mid-summer interruption while the factory was being rearranged for production of the new All-American Six."

"But the immediate public acceptance of the Oakland All-American models since their introduction early in August, together with the sustained demand for the Pontiac Six, have increased our business to the point where Oakland-Pontiac retail registrations ranked fourth among all manufacturers in the United States during August and September."

"The factory expansion necessary to keep pace with the continued rise in our sales has been going forward steadily. The completion of the model factory for the Pontiac Six has been followed by an additional plant expansion program for the Oakland Six. This project, already under construction, involves the expenditure of $3,000,000 which will provide the Oakland Six with a significant new assembly building and new shipping facilities, duplicating those already in operation at the Pontiac Six factory."

New Willard Church Dedicated This Week

Willard's newest edifice, Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, is holding a series of meetings this week in honor of the completion of the new and beautiful $65,900 church home.

Several prominent speakers were on the dedication program Sunday, and at each gathering the church was well filled, Lutheran congregations from the neighboring towns, having been invited to attend.

The history of the first Lutheran congregation in this vicinity dates back to 1858 when a handful of Lutherans gathered at the home of Daniel Dresher, who resided in Richmond twp.

With one of the smallest memberships of any church in Willard the congregation is the possessor of the most valuable lots in town. Just recently the house and lot adjoining the corner on the alley was purchased, giving the church all of the corner lot measuring 150x150.

While the total cost of building and equipping the structure runs to $65,000, there remains only a $15,000 indebtedness.

Rev. G. C. Hoffelinger, who has been pastor since 1921, came direct to the congregation from the seminary of Capital University at Columbus, and has worked tirelessly with the 355 active members in the erection of their new church home.

Editorial-News And Comment On National Happenings

Slashing attacks on the Klan's reign of intolerance and proscription, as well as a hearty desire for Democratic victory in 1928, have kindled considerable sentiment for the nomination of Gov. Smith below the Mason and Dixon line, according to late reports. Senator Tyson, of Tennessee, the home of the Scopes anti-evolution trial, has intimated that he might consent to run as vice president on a ticket with Smith. He is both dry and a Protestant, and commands considerable popular support because of his war record as a brigadier general in charge of Tennessee troops. In the same state former Senator John K. Shields is delivering many addresses on behalf of Smith. Always an admirer of the New York Executive, Shields has borne the brunt of much of the fighting now centering around the Tammany man's candidacy. In the neighboring state of Mississippi, Senator Pat Harrison has met an unfavorable reaction to his reported criticism of the Smith movement. Certain influential politicians, feeling the nomination of the New Yorker is inevitable, do not want to jeopardize their post-convention position by knocking the governor at this time. In other words, the South appears to be preparing to accept him with the best grace it can muster. It wants success and patronage, and if Smith has the best chance of furnishing it, the practical politicians may suppress their supposed sentiments against his wet views. With some of its leaders going to jail and others resigning, the Klan seems to be losing momentum in its drive against the governor. Two of the most Klan-ridden states, Indiana and Alabama, are said to be experiencing a reaction against intolerance. This swing may prove helpful to the Smith candidacy. By the same token, the movement to obtain a successor to McAdoo does not seem to be gaining much headway.

Figures show a big decrease in automobile production but we can't believe they are correct. We do as many cars as ever.

All the "no-more-war" societies should take heart. A plan is afoot to bring realization to their dreams. The very first thing Senator William H. Borah is going to do at the approach of session of congress will be to introduce a resolution for the outlawing of war. It is the same resolution that failed at the last session, because congress in its closing days, wasted so many million words on farm relief and the Boulder dam that it had no time to forward this prayerful effort on behalf of mankind. This time the Borah program has a chance of adoption largely because France, the country which has done the most to obtain the old-time idea of force in the relations of nations to each other, is willing to contract with its neighbors to put the issue of peace or war upon a precarious basis. The Briand proposition for a "no War" treaty between France and the United States will be favorably considered by both nations, and before the year is out the same type of treaty will be made by our nation with Great Britain.

President Coolidge made so pleasant a picture, sketched in strong, swift lines of national good fortune and country-wide reasons for being thankful in his proclamation setting apart the annual Thanksgiving day, that it is more than ever astonishing to millions of his fellow citizens that he does not want to keep his present job. His appraisal of the state of America, as a whole, is so comfortable and gratifying to read that the wonder is how any man can wish to give up the highest position in such a nation. . . . all of which shows how different a great office may look to the man who holds it from the aspect it presents to the multitude who only see it from afar. It is evident that in the Coolidge case life in the White House and all the power, that place of residence has lost its zest in four years.

In order to avoid all suspicion, every resident of the United States who expects to be on the next Fall-Sinclair jury should buy his car before the trial and after.

Newmarket, N. J. is not a big city but it has witnessed the loss of eleven lives in airplane accidents within the last few weeks. Seven persons were killed in September when a plane crashed to the ground with its load of sightseeing passengers. Four more deaths occurred on October's last Sunday, when a pilot took his machine for a free ride. Having been ill recently the pilot may have faintly when the engine took the air. It crashed with the engine still running, killing the pilot, his fiancée, his roommate and another young man. The two disasters cannot have advanced aviation in the opinion of the residents of Newmarket, or have made Americans elsewhere regard flying as safe and desirable. Aeronautics undoubtedly would stand better in public esteem if it were possible to prevent such catastrophes, or the flights leading to them. The difficulty has to do with the cause and method. In one or both New Jersey cases the pilot was experienced and skilled, the plane was large and supposedly airworthy, the weather conditions were good and there was no reason for apprehension. The fatal flights were alike in being undertaken for pleasure, to afford a memorable experience to persons ordinarily having no such opportunity. To forbid flights of that kind would be to deny most Americans any chance to know a wonderful pleasure. While aviation accidents may be frequent and fatal in proportion to the number of flights made, it should be remembered that group killings are by no means peculiar to aviation. It is not so common as could be wished for four or seven persons to lose their lives in one accident at a grade crossing without leaving the earth's surface.

GERTRUDE BEELMAN BECOMES BRIDE OF WEBBER BEVIER

A wedding of interest will occur this afternoon at 4:30 when Miss Gertrude Beelman becomes the bride of Webber Bevier of Wellington, O.

The ring ceremony will be performed amid a shower of yellow chrysanthemums by an uncle of the bride, Rev. W. A. Brundage of Dayton.

The bride will be becomingly gowned in a powder blue crepe dress fashioned along simple and graceful lines with a rhinestone buckles at its only ornament. Her slippers are black suede. A shower bouquet of sunbust roses completed her costume.

Miss Thelma Beelman, a sister, will be bride's maid, while Norwood Hearn of Amherst will attend the groom as best man.

The Beelman home has been decorated with a color scheme of yellow and white, and during the service, large yellow tapers placed advantageously will be lighted, casting their glow over the pretty scene.

About thirty members of the immediate families will witness the ceremony.

The future Mrs. Bevier is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Beelman. She is a graduate of the local high school and for two years attended Ohio Wesleyan University, later teaching school at Oberlin, Ohio.

Plymouth Resembled Mobilization Camp On First Hunting Day

It was a real sight to see the hundreds of hunters that passed to and from the Sportsmen Tuesday morning. In fact, the scene resembled those of war days—men in khaki suits, and guns in hand—and truly it was a war on Brother Rabbit.

There were several enthusiastic and restless hunters around town Monday evening and they could hardly wait for the approach of day, in spite of a stiff wind throughout the day, the majority of sportsmen report a fair bounty.

Several out-of-town people were in Plymouth for the opening event, and it is probable we will have many visitors with us for the next few weeks who enjoy the sport.

All restaurants were jammed by hunters in the early hours—and in most cases, the kitchen was left empty.

One good fellow made the remark that "friend" wife would have had a hard time arousing "friend" husband had she wanted to go somewhere in the early morning.

Mike Dick had unusually good luck while his partner, Rolly VanWagner, could not boast as well. Ed Curpen, Watson and Ott were on the trail early—in fact the women folks ran the town Tuesday. However, the best one we've heard so far is that Beryl Miller was so afraid of not having time to dress, that he slept with his clothes on. This is not hearsay as it comes from a reliable source and SHE ought to know! Frank Davis is reported as having spent a restless night, and we know at least a dozen others that should be mentioned, but space and time forbids. However, in the near future we'll have some real stories on how to hunt.

Miss Grace Trimmer was the guest of friends in Columbus over the weekend.

J. M. Wray returned home Tuesday from a ten days' motor trip through W. Virginia and Kentucky.

Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Mary Fate and Mrs. Anna Fate were business visitors in Shelby Wednesday.

Wait for Mr.'s One-Day Special—December 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Price spent Sunday at Marion in the home of their son, Robt. Price and family.

Moore, assistant, Artman was later moved to his home and last reports state that his condition is good.

New Chaney Role In "Mockery"

From a Chinese aristocrat to a Russian peasant—this is the gamut in roles of Lon Chaney, who last played the mysterious "Mr. Wu," took a "flier" as a Spanish circus freak doing an "armless wonder" act in "The Unknown"—and now is playing a desperate Russian peasant revolution leader in "Mockery," his next Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle, coming to the Temple Theatre, Willard, this Monday and Tuesday.

This film, directed by Benjamin Christensen, the Danish director, is a vivid drama of the period of terror in Siberia when the Red hordes overthrew the White army and surge over Russia in a maelstrom of revolt.

Chaney plays a Siberian peasant, product of years of oppression, slavery and hardship under the iron heel of the old Russian imperialism, who, by a strange trick of fate, suddenly finds himself leader of a revolution and one of the masters of his vast country.
