

Conference Gives Much Inspiration

Young Peoples Division of Religious Education Enjoy Splendid Program

On last Saturday, the Young Peoples Division, Council of Religious Education, Richmond County, held an all-day conference at Marshall. There were two sessions, one in the forenoon, the other in the afternoon. The conference closed with a big banquet and enthusiastic get-together meeting in the evening. Nearly all the cooperating churches, from the far distant parts into which the county is divided, sent their full quota of delegates. The following churches from district number one co-operated and sent their quota of delegates, Shiloh Methodist Episcopal, Shiloh Lutheran and Plymouth Presbyterians. Delegates from Plymouth were Raymond Steele, Ray Keller, Elsie Steele and Ruth Balduf. E. E. Balduf attended as director of the music at the banquet in the evening.

The main address of the conference was given by Prof. J. A. Garber of Ashland College. He spoke on the subject "Being Something and Doing Something." To have a lofty ideal before us, and an intense longing to reach it, in whatever position we find ourselves, is commendable. In a true sense, it is here one can grow, shine and exert a tremendous influence for good, provided one walks humbly and makes everything subservient to the higher life. When you come upon a man diligent in business and inspired by a noble ideal to be just in all his transactions with his fellow men, then you get the highest form of manhood and heroism. That summer has been reached, and in the commercial world, it is fully acknowledged even by those who have never set out for it. There are men whose word can be trusted implicitly. What the heights did for these men, they will do for all who turn their eyes and their hearts toward them. In the race of life there is nothing to fear so long as we are guided and endowed by pure and exalted motives so long as we can see God, above all and in all, and through all. The man of insight and foresight, no matter what his calling may be, knows that there is a way in the light and terms of spiritual values. The greater things are ever ahead of us. The best visions of life are not in materialism, but in true spirituality. Young people soon catch the vision that the life of spiritual is above the material. Young people do not take an interest in spiritual things, when churches encourage them by helping to pay their expenses, as has been shown in this conference. Young people will do the best things when they are shown that, results worthwhile will be forthcoming. Mental and moral vigor, peace of mind and happiness of spirit, will never reach us through the material things of life, they will come from the heights.

There is nothing to fear in our ascent to higher and better altitudes of grace and mercy; there is nothing to fear as we climb to heights of purer atmosphere and get a clearer outlook upon life and service for others; but everything to inspire us with zeal, courage and persistence.

Our young county standards have been sent to every county. Clermont County won the cup last year. Shall we not measure up to the high standard required by the Young Peoples' Division of Ohio, Council of Religious Education? The acting superintendent, Ernest Farnsworth of Columbus, O., says that he will gladly forfeit his school vacation this summer in order to come into your county for a little conference to help raise the standard. Is it not for each district in the county to try to measure up to the highest standard possible? Co-operation means more than a Sunday School to have a "good attendance" and a "nice social" all for our own selves. Why not crack the asbestos covering that obscures your vision from the larger service for the community? Let every nook and corner of Richmond County co-operate to raise the standard, and win in the loving cup contest. Not to win so much for the cup, but for the things

Says Auto Owner Has Big Burden

Added Gasoline Tax Means Favoring the Classes and Not the Masses.

Unless automobile owners of the state enter their protest with their sense of representative in no uncertain terms they are liable to find themselves with added financial burdens. The present general assumption is showing such a friendly disposition to the utility and other "corporations" that they hesitate about taking any money from their large earnings, but to make up the deficit which must be assessed upon someone to meet state expenses, have about decided to pass it on to the auto owner. If they do it means a twofold benefit to the traction and railroad lines of the state. It means that they will not only be able to keep all their large earnings, but these earnings will be increased because rural residents will find it cheaper to patronize them than to operate their own automobile. The proposed 100 percent increase in the gasoline tax means that it is going to cost thousands of auto owners one dollar for every mile they travel. Added to this depreciation, and other cost of operation, and it is readily seen that the excess over railroad fare of three cents per mile is so attractive that thousands will leave their cars in the garage and patronize the utilities. It has been estimated that outside the eight larger counties of the state there are not more than 200 residents in each of the other 80 counties financially interested in utilities. Against this there are almost a million who own automobiles. Added gasoline tax means favoring the classes against the masses. It means adding a burden to a million and a half Ohioans who are now taxed on their automobiles to the limit. At the same time it means increased earnings with no increase in taxes to the utilities. The Ohio State Automobile Association, with its thousands of members, is doing its utmost in the interest of the auto owners of the state in general, but the rural auto owner must realize what this 100 percent increase in the gasoline tax means to them and enter their protest for fear with it an unfair measure is to be defeated.

FARM BUREAU MEETING

Another good program has been planned to be given March 17, 1927, at the New Haven High school. The program includes:

Musical Numbers—Alice Newman. Lucille Penner, Gert West. Dorothy Dew. Lucille Newman. Reading—Mildred Woodworth. Talks: County Agents—C. M. Hampton; Service Manager—Geo. A. Newlon. "How I Started My Dairy"—George Lund.

Be sure to be present and don't forget to invite your neighbor.

THE PROGRAM COMMITTEE

Payment of Dividends

In probate, Judge Bechtel has granted the receiver of the Ohio Metal Urch Co., of Greenwich, authority to pay dividends to stockholders.

P.T.A. Has Fine Meet

The attendance at the March P. T. A. meeting at Hamilton Hall on last Thursday evening was a record breaker.

The attendance far exceeded the February meeting. Both Richland and Huron County sides of the room were filled to overflowing long before the time to begin.

Forty-six persons became members of the association that evening. There are now two hundred, and eight paid up members—ninety-one from Huron County and one hundred seventeen from Richland County. This membership certainly owes credit to a town the size of Plymouth.

There are still others who should be on the list. If you have not been solicited send your name and twenty-five cent membership fee to the Secretary.

Free Himes called the meeting to order for a short business session. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The president was granted the privilege of appointing a committee to decide on the time and place of the next meeting and designate what the members of the losing side were to do.

The Richland County program under the auspices of Mesdames Howard Smith, E. E. Balduf and H. F. Root was rendered. The program was as follows:

A Sketch by Frederick Chappel and Willard Caldwell. A playlet entitled, "The First Day of School" by twenty adults from Richland County under the direction of Mrs. Theodore Jenkins. The teacher, pupils and parents of the 1880 to 1890 period were impersonated in style and characteristics. The playlet was voted a great success by those in attendance.

The Dorian Brothers and their little niece Genevieve Kneel added much to the program by their musical rendition.

Mr. Harry Kendig gave two excellent numbers on his Hawaiian Steel Guitar.

At the sound of the bugle, six American Legion boys stood three on each side of a slowly lowered American flag. The Star Spangled Banner by the audience closed the very excellent program.

Quartette Here Monday Night

Said to be Real Musical Treat; Under Auspices of Local School.

It has been the aim of the school through the year to furnish the community with good wholesome entertainment. For those whose tastes are devoted to music and readings, the Lyceum Course has proven of the greatest enjoyment. We have been entertained by the lyric power of Brush, the Great, and the music and readings of the versatile Foote Trio. Now comes the real treat. The best is always reserved for the last.

The Ithican Male Quartette comes to us highly recommended from several former audiences. Each member is from the famous Male Chorus of Chicago and has proven himself before hundreds of audiences in U. S.

Their programs include solos, duets and ensemble numbers. Their comic dramatic sketches are unusually attractive. Perhaps the greatest feature of the program and the most appealing to some will be the Swiss Hand Bells. Additional numbers will be given with the Hawaiian Steel Guitar and the Saraphone.

These men are singers and entertainers of unquestioned ability. As a committee we invite the people of Plymouth to see this delightful program. We assure you that you will not be disappointed.

Don't forget the date. Monday evening, March 21, eight o'clock. Admission 50c.

Passing of a Highly Respected Citizen

Mrs. Elizabeth Kurtz, aged 90, slept peacefully away Wednesday, March 16 12 M., at the home of her daughter Mrs. Chapman at New Haven. Death occurred after a slowly declining of years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from the New Haven M. E. church.

Interment will be made in the New Haven Cemetery.

Specialist Here Next Monday to Analyze Soil

On Monday, March 21st, the farmers of this community will have an opportunity to have the soils of their respective farms analyzed.

Geo. Reynolds, a chemist of Cleveland, who has specialized in the many uses of lime and fertilizer will be at the Plymouth Elevator on above date and invite the farmers to bring in a specimen of their soil. He will then explain what substance such soils lack or if it contains too much of others and how to remedy this.

The Plymouth Elevator was instrumental in obtaining the services of Mr. Reynolds and state they will have on hand any fertilizer the farmers may need.

Appointed Administrator

D. W. Cockburn of Shiloh has been appointed administrator of the estate of Dr. Willis Ferrell, late of Cass township. The bond was fixed at $14,000. The probate court of Richland county appointed Sherman Marling, C. Wolfersberger and C. D. Nelson to appraise the property.

WILLARD WILL REPLACE MISSING STREET SIGNS

WILLARD—Replacing of street signs and the checking up of all street numbers on residences and places of business are two items on the spring program of improvement under way here.

Employment of a man to check up numbers was authorized at the last meeting of the city council, while the request to replace street signs, by Postmaster Frank B. James, is under consideration.

PLYMOUTH WOMAN OPERATED Sunk Motor of Plymouth was operated upon for appendicitis at the Willard community hospital and reported getting along nicely.

Recovers Coupe

A. J. Phillips residing north of Plymouth has recovered his Ford Coupe which was stolen at Reynolds hall. The car was abandoned by the thief on the Marion-Kenton road after running out of gas.

Huron Takes P-T Contest

Much Rivalry Shown in P. T. A. Plan for Enthusiasm—Losers to Pay.

After spending their spare time for several days in checking lists and comparing figures, the committee of judges gave their decision in the contest for attendance and program at the recent Parent-Teachers meetings. Had their decision been made on program alone there could be no doubt that it would have favored the Richland County side, because their program was so carefully prepared and so successfully put across. Those who attended felt that they witnessed one of the best local talent performances in Plymouth's history.

The decision been made on attendance alone there would have been no difficulty as the Huron County side with fewer to draw from had the greater total attendance and a percentage more than double that of the other side. It was because this great advantage was offset by a superior program that the decision was made in favor of the Huron County side. That the committee was systematic and pains-taking is shown by the following table of figures.

	Huron Rich.	Co. Co.
Number of parents of school children (compiled from school records)	99	187
P.T.A. Members not parents	39	58
Total	138	240
Possible attendance, (21 nights)	276	480
Attendance Feb. 10	75	39
Attendance March 10	77	84
Total attendance
(both nights)	152	123
Percentage of attendance 55%	25%
Program Grade	81	96
Average of attendance with Program grade	68	61

At a future meeting of the P. T. A. the losers will pay their penalty.

According to a motion passed at the last meeting, the committee in charge is to have full authority to decide when, where and in what manner the losers are to pay the penalty for losing. The committee will consist of Mrs. Sam Bachrach, Mrs. Anna Fate and Miss Harriet Rogers.

The Committee appreciates the time and effort given by those who took part in the P. T. A. program last Thursday evening, and takes this way of thanking them.

Fords Make Good Show

The Gallon Army Team almost got revenge upon the Russell and Reynolds Ford Basket Ball team last Friday night in Hamilton Hall but failed by two points, in the most thrilling game of the season. In spite of a great defensive game on the part of the Ford Quintet in the first half the visitors took a long lead with the score at 23-11 in their favor at the end of the half. They had been able to loop a number of long shots and score in a few more by having their players under the basket. The Plymouth boys had broken up many plays but had failed to work the ball down the floor. Team work seemed to be missing and the breaks did not come their way.

The second half was different. The home boys undertook to overcome a 12 point lead and kept the crowd on their feet with their splendid effort. The lead was cut in two in a very short time and then the real struggle began. Local fans have seldom seen such fast and furious basketball ball. Referee Gander was hard put to it to keep up with the game. In spite of the terrific pace and the small floor the game was comparatively free from fouls. The score was tied near the end of the last quarter. Thirteen seconds before the final whistle, L. Becker dropped one from the foul line and the game was won.

MARION DAVIES MEETS IRVIN COBB DURING FILMING OF "RED MILL"

An interesting meeting took place at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios during the making of "The Red Mill." Marion Davies' new starring vehicle when she was introduced to the man who had written her favorite funny story.

Irvin Cobb, famous American humorist, visited the studio to discuss plans for his forthcoming story of the Panama Canal, which the M-G-M organization is to film, and was taken on a tour of the studio.

On the replica of a Dutch street where Miss Davies is being starred in her new comedy romance of Holland, the author was introduced to her.

"I said to Cobb," said Miss Davies, "because, for a long time, I have wanted to meet you and tell you that I thought one of your stories the funniest I ever read."

Cobb said that he felt deeply honored.

Miss Davies' new Cosmopolitan feature is a romance laid in the Netherlands and adapted from the Henry Blossom-Victor Herbert stage success of the same name, and will be shown at the Temple Theatre, Monday and Tuesday of next week. Owen Moore plays the leading male role and the cast includes George Siegman, Karl Dane, Louise Fazenda, Snitz Edwards, William Orlamond, Russell Powell, Fred Gamble and other note.

Tom Mix In "The Broncho Twister"

Actors who appear in the scenes of "The Broncho Twister," Fox Films new production starring Tom Mix, escape death by the fringe of the spurs on their boot heels. These striking scenes will be shown at the Shelby Opera House, Saturday.

The closing sequence pictures a desperate gun battle at a ranch house. The desperadoes have Tom surrounded and his fortress is shot full of holes. He finds a barrel of powder to which he attaches a lighted fuse. Then he rolls the barrel from a higher tower over the roofs of several lower structures. It hits the ground and explodes just as the desperadoes are dashing from one structure to another. The side of the house is ripped off by the blast just as the last of the gang die through the doorway.

In filming these scenes many old troopers in the cast had the thrill of their lives, as they later told Mix.

Richard Dix in "Paradise for Two"

Richard Dix believes in whole hearted giving. He says so himself in words that lack no emphasis in the saying. He looks ahead and delivers himself of an obituary statement.

"If I have any money when I die," he says, "I leave it to as his with no strings whatever to it. Especially against strings." He explained his enigmatic statement.

"Let me elucidate," he continued. "Take this new role of mine in 'Paradise for Two' instance. Here I am cast as a full-blown able-bodied young man, mentally sound, yet the fortune left me by my parents is placed by the terms of the will under control of a testy, suspicious old uncle. When Edmund Brown as the uncle cuts me off entirely with the warning that I don't get another cent till I'm married, I am forced to trickery, and so Betty Bronson is hired as the wife. There is of course the happy ending. I fall in love with her, steal her away from Andy Brown and marry her myself. But this is beside the point in the present discussion.

"This business of stipulating in a will that the legatee must be married in the dark of the moon by 9:30 P.M. on Christmas eve is the bunk."

Ford Sterling in "The Show Off"

In 1919 Mack Sennett gave one of his young gag men his big chance. "Go ahead and direct, and see that it's funny," the youngster was told.

The picture was "Rip and Stitch Tailors," a two-reel comedy starring Ford Sterling. The youthful starring phase wielder, thus elevated from the ranks of gag men, was Malcolm St. Clair, who today, at the age of 25, is considered by critics and public alike one of the outstanding comedy directors in the motion picture industry. Call it poetic justice if you will, but it is one of the queer pranks of time that in Malcolm St. Clair's most pretentious directorial effort to date, Ford Sterling plays the featured title role. This picture, coming to the Opera House, Shelby, Monday and Tuesday, is Paramount's amusing American comedy.

"The Show-Off" which Pierre Colins adapted from the Broadway stage success by George Kelly. Sterling was one of the leading figures in the screen comedy field when "Rip and Stitch Tailors" was filmed. He had made himself famous as the captain of a celebrated and hilarious "Keystone Kops." As an experienced actor, he practically directed his own picture.

A KISS ON THE LIPS IS WORTH TWO ON THE HAND

What would you do if it while on board a ship bound for Europe, you should suddenly have a beautiful young thing jump out at you and ask to be kissed? Of course you'd do as she wished!

And that's just what James Hall does in Bebe Daniels' new Paramount comedy, "Stranded in Paris" which arrives at the Temple Theatre, Willard, on Sunday. Bebe is seen as the little shop-girl who wins a free trip to Paris. While running in a sack race, Bebe loses and is told to kiss the winner. Not knowing what to do, she hides under a tarpaulin on the upper deck. And it there that Hall, a rich young American finds her. Thinking Jimmie to be the winner, Bebe tells him to take the prize. He does it, not only kissing her. That night they meet again beneath a silvery moon.

"Just one of the many funny sequences in Bebe's latest, Ford Sterling and Iris Stuart are co-featured with Hall. Arthur Rosson directed.

Our Weekly Sermonette

(By Dr. G. R. Meigs)

FORGIVE AND YE SHALL BE FORGIVEN—LUKE 6:27

What a wonderful presentation of every day life in this little incident. The story refers to a king who had many servants, some of them were indebted to him for reasons not here explained, and while some of the debts were not large the servants could not easily pay them. At one number was a poor man who could never repay his indebtedness. According to the custom of those days the king ordered the selling of this man and his entire family into slavery to reimburse himself. Informed of the king's decision, the poor servant came himself before his master imploring mercy, asking for patience and assuring the king that he would try to pay all in due season. The king was aware of the fact that it would be impossible for this man to redeem his bondage, but felt a deep pity on account of the innocent family. And so moved by deep compassion, forgive him the debt and let him go free. Imagine the happiness of that man as he went out of his master's house. He had learned a wonderful lesson of forgiveness. But let us ask: Did the lesson bear fruit? Let us go on with the story. He met a fellow servant who owed him a little money, mind you, just a small amount, in comparison with the cancelled debt. Stepping in as an ugly mood, taking hold of his fellow servant, he demanded payment at once.

The poor man in agony of soul cast himself on the ground and begged for patience, assuring him that in due time he would be repaid. But forgetting the great lesson received a few moments ago at the hand of his common master, he had him cast into the debtors prison there to remain according to the ancient custom until the last penny had been paid.

His fellow servants were very sorry that this man did so soon forget the great kindness shown him by their master, and after consultation decided to avenge the king with the deal. At once the master ordered the selfish servant to be brought before him and addressing him thus said: "O, you wicked servant, I forgive you all that debt when you asked for patience and begged for mercy. Would it not have been proper for you to have shown mercy to your fellow servant just as I did unto you?" The king in his wrath ordered him to be put into prison until the last farthing should have been paid, and if we understand the story properly, this would mean a life sentence.

What a strange picture this parable paints before our eyes, showing Jesus in the attempt of teaching the 12, a lesson of forgiveness, rebuking Peter who thought that seven times seven was the solution of this knotty question, by telling them in His loving way, "none of you are perfect, sin is in the world, in some way you transgress the Divine law every now and then, you are debtors to your Heavenly Father every day of your life, and that great, warm Father heart is willing to forgive if you are really sorry for your sins." The lesson has become our bedrock. Are we praying the Lord's prayer, or are we simply repeating the same as we say: "Forgive us our debts as we also forgive our debtors?"

March 20, The Christian's Hope. John 14:1-3; 2 Cor. 5:1-10.

"The valley of the shadow of death"—used it be a dark night. True—all we know of it is what God's Word tells us. Our Lord is the only One who has gone through and returned to tell us of the blessed land beyond.

Two wonderful passages are before us in this lesson. The first (John 14) is sometimes called "the holy of holies of the Gospel." It records the last of His disciples. Although His passion was facing Him, what a message of hope fell from His lips! We call it "Peace and Promise" chapter.

"Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in Me, believe also in Me." "I am the true vine, and my Father is the true vine in Him that they did in God, the Father. There is no escaping that. Some would make Him a great moral reformer who came and talked of God's love, justice and truth. But the peculiarity of His call to believe in Me." Honor the Son even as you honor the Father. Ah, that is the secret of peace. It is no use saying, "let not your heart be troubled," unless you have said first, "believe in Him."

"In my Father's house are many mansions" (apartments). v. 2. The word "mansions" simply means "abiding places." The universe and the Father's house (Psa. 139:7-10). His abode has many apartments. Earth itself is one. Heaven may be full of them.

When His child fall into his last sleep here on earth, he does not leave His Father's house. He passes from one apartment to another. He has simply gone upstairs to be in the very presence of his Lord.

"I go and prepare a place" (v. 3) What is that but the assertion of His authority over every nook of the universe? Heaven itself will be arranged according to His orders.

It is certain, if He will not come to prepare it, there would be no place for us. Apart from His atoning death there would have been no entrance. Take away from the thought of the heaven the part Jesus plays in it, and you have little left. And if you're home, let us be sure to remember that He is away from His body, and if ever loved longer for His beloved Jesus than the day when His church shall be gathered to His bosom. Heaven will be more blessed to Him when the saints are home.

"If I go . . . I will come again" (v. 3). How can one believe that gloriously truth, and yet not say such words. His ascension was visible, corporal, literal, personal, local. So will be His return—"this same Jesus" . . . in like manner as He went" (Acts 1:11)—"The Lord Himself shall descend" (1 Thes. 4:16). This is no afterthought of Luke or John or Paul. It was our Lord's own doctrine (Mt. 24:29-37; 29:51). He said some—He will come again! Has between the two points—this present Gospel age.

It shall be known that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (2 Cor. 5:1). The word "tabernacle" is "tent." At present we live in a tent, in contrast to a permanent temple—building of God—which we will have in the resurrection day. These tents of ours are often walls. They tremble in the great storm. There are tents through which the rain enters. Some tents are so frail that they are put up that the occupants seem to have little defense against the breezes of life. But even the strongest becomes weatherworn, and in due time collapses. These tents?

It shall be exchanged for a solid building—a house made by God Himself—A SCHOOL LESSON ON THE breaking tent cords of life, the decaying shelter of our spirits, will all be left behind. What an ecstasy it will be to know that never again will we be exposed to the cutting wind—pain, sickness, the death of this first life.

"6:4. Naturally we dislike the thought of the grave, that of being changed in the twinkling of an eye, instead of dying, is much more distressing. Paul longed to put on immortality at once. He is still waiting for it—waiting with us, for the resurrection day.

Nevertheless, we can be confident of one thing (5:6). Even death, if we must go that way, brings us nearer to our Lord. Even as unclothed spirits we may see Him face to face. (cf. Phil. 1:23-25.)

Therefore we are content—if death should take us before the Lord's coming—to accept it. Though it does not bring the full glory of the resurrection body, it does make us at home with Christ, among all those who wait the glad resurrection morning. 5:8. Present. There is a story that Satan once offered a prize to the most unhappy man outside of hell. A man stepped forward and claimed it. "On what ground?" he was asked. "I am a man without a home." He won the prize. The vision of the heavenly home—the thought of eternal rest, shelter and communion, has ever incited God's people to "labor to be accepted of Him" (v. 9.)

Let us not forget that we have a preparation to make. In the resurrection day, we shall stand before the judgment seat of Christ" (v.10). It is a place of manifestation and a place of rewards. In that day of our Lord's coming for His own, we are going to be made manifest. Our lives, our work, our service, will be brought into the unshaded light of the presence of Him who is Light.

We shall "receive the things done in the body." Believers are not there for criminal judgment. Christ has been judged for us (John 5:24). As Christians, rewards are held before us to stimulate us to service and to encourage us to persevere. The rewards to be given by our Lord in that day will depend on, and will be commensurate with our service. We shall either receive or suffer, the loss of reward, yet in any case "we ourselves shall be saved" (1 Cor. 3:15) because built upon the foundation, Christ (v.11).

It is vital that Christian should learn from the Word of God, what kind of service will bring reward. 1. It is service done in the name of the Lord Jesus—Mark 9:41. 2. It is willing service—1 Cor. 9:17; 1 Pet. 5:4-6. 3. It is humble, unostentatious service—Matt. 6:15. 4. It is faithful service—1 Cor. 4:15; Rev. 2:10. 5. It is service that will stand the test of time—3 Cor. 3:14. Faith and Pains.

God's children are to be God's housemates.

Death is not the destruction of anything—it is dissolution of parts, a temporary separation of spirit and body.

The spring work of Angelus Chapter, 322, O. E. S. was ushered in on Wednesday evening last by a banquet served by the ladies in the spacious dining room of the Masonic temple. Shelby chapter had accepted an invitation to be present at this session and a very fine representative body of members made us feel that after all is said, Masonry has no limits nor bounds, but whoever is found worthy, is welcomed to its ranks. After the conferring of the degrees upon two candidates, Rev. C. R. Monte for the first time in the history of Angelus chapter gave one of his famous illustrated lectures, exemplifying the work upon canvas, delighting the vast audience. For the good of the order the W. M. of Shelby and W. P. of Mansfield spoke feelingly about the great work the order was doing in the world. Beside the Shelby deputation, there were representatives from Greenwich, North Fairfield and Mansfield present.

COME ON "BREAD-WINNERS"

In the contest between the "Bread Winners" and the "Life Savers" in the Epworth League at the Methodist church, the "Life Savers" are about 500 points ahead of the "Bread Winners." But we feel confident that our side, the "Bread Winners," will make up that 500 points this next Sunday night at 8:30. That is, if—every member on our side brings some one else.

A new member counts 100 points if they are under 30, and 50 if they are above 30 and under 50. Visitors count 15 points. All members count 15, if on time, and only 10 if late. So, all you "Bread Winners" come Sunday night and bring some one else with you. Remember if we win, we will get a big feed and a good time. But—if we lose, we will have to furnish the good time. Let's go!

Our curtain dryer makes them hang true

Even after you spend a hard day washing your curtains and drying them on the floor or an old-fashioned curtain stretcher, they so often lack that smooth finish and even "hang" that they had when new.

Let our curtain dryer take the tiresome job off your hands. We measure every curtain before it is washed, and dry it exactly to its original size. The edges are patted down on the carding material at the sides of the dryer, and come out straight and true, without pin or hook marks. And both in washing and drying, your finest curtains are handled gently and carefully.

You'll never wash your curtains at home again after you know our quality work and low prices. Phone and let us tell you more about it.

A carding material, similar to a stiff bristle brush, holds the edges of the curtain, without hooks or pins. Corners are square, scallops even, measurements true.

THE OLD FATALISTIC THEORY OF
"ONCE INSANE ALWAYS IN-SANE" IS NOW OUT OF DATE

Editor's Note—This is the seventh of a series of articles that will appear each week in this newspaper dealing with Ohio's problem of increasing insanity.
These articles are sponsored by the Ohio Association for the Welfare of the Mentally Sick, which has but one objective—namely, more scientific and more humane treatment of mentally sick patients in state hospitals and the rapid rehabilitation of these unfortunates.

Many centuries ago a great philosopher stated, "The physically sick you pity, the mentally sick you hate," which thought has led to the present day thought of, "Once insane always insane."

Take Them Into Court
When, however, these steps do become necessary they take the patient to a cold, musty probate court or report the condition to the court, and a sheriff does the rest.

The reason why this patient is taken to a court is the old idea that "once insane always insane," and that society must be protected.

Following the court procedure the mentally sick, brain-hazy boy or girl is taken to the asylum, there to be placed under a per capita cost price system, that makes his eventual recovery doubtful. The average length of residence of a mentally sick boy or girl in an asylum is 15 years. At first he is visited by his relatives rather frequently. Later on they say it causes them too much sadness to come to the hospital. Consequently the patient's visitors become fewer until finally he is all but forgotten by those who once knew him, and goes through daily the lazy routine of the tasks assigned him, because some one once said, "once insane always insane."

If You Were Insane
Let us suppose that you should become mentally sick tomorrow—and you have no assurance that you will not—and that you would immediately come under this fatalistic doctrine,
"once insane always insane," can you picture what would happen to you?
Can you imagine your friends turning away from you? Your relatives are sympathetic, but yet fearful of you, you are arrested by a sheriff, handcuffs are placed upon you and you are taken to a jail, later to be taken before a probate court, where sits a judge, who is considering your "crime" of becoming mentally sick.
Afterward you are again taken back to jail and finally to the asylum where you are placed under the care of a $15 a month attendant.

As It Is In Ohio
This is the condition that predominates, not yesterday, not 500 years ago, but today in Ohio, and all due to the fact that some one said "once insane always insane."

When you are in such an institution no matter what you say, your word is discounted 100 per cent because you are labeled a "nutcase."
No one is responsible for this system. It is an outgrowth of years. No one political party is responsible. It is an outgrowth of all political parties and public indifference.

The Ohio Association for the Welfare of the Mentally Sick has carefully gone into every phase of this work. It is bringing to your attention conditions that prevail today, confident that when there is a public realization of the condition proper steps will be taken to insure scientific and sympathetic treatment for the mentally sick of this state.

Mrs. S. M. Willis Died Sunday

Another Huron county pioneer passed into the great beyond. Sarah M. Willis, after an earthly life of 88 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. W. Cline, Sunday, March 6. Burial in the New Haven Cemetery on Wednesday. She was three times a widow, is survived by one daughter and one son and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Rev. Wol-ford of Plymouth, pastor of the Gallon Disciple church had charge of the services.

What Is a Diuretic?

People Are Learning the Value of Occasional Use.

EVERYONE knows that a laxative stimulates the bowels. A diuretic performs a similar function to the kidneys. Under the strain of our modern life, our organs are apt to become sluggish and require assistance. More and more people are learning to use Doan's Pills, occasionally, to insure good elimination which is so essential to good health. More than 50,000 grateful letters have given Doan's a signed recommendation. Scarcely a community but has its representation. Ask your neighbor!

Girl Scout News

Plymouth troop held their regular meeting on Monday evening with twenty-six members present, six being absent on account of sickness or other causes.

After the formation and business meeting the sewing hour was held, and it is surprising what pretty things are being made by the troop. Lamp shades are now being finished which are certainly beautiful, and the members of the troop will be glad to take orders for these, making them in any certain color or sort that you prefer. Our prices will be nominal, just enough to cover the cost of making, and insure us a small profit, which will be used to defray troop expenses. An invitation is extended to anyone who wishes to visit the rooms and see what is being accomplished, and if anyone can spare an hour on Monday evenings, between 7:30 and 8:30, we will appreciate it if you will come and help us, for we need some one to help superintend the sewing. Mrs. Schreck is superintending the older girls but I have been obliged to do most of the teaching of the younger groups, and it gives me a rather strenuous time to oversee twenty girls who are all asking questions at the same moment. Please think this over, and if you can spare the time you will be doing a great deal for the growing girls of Plymouth. We now have four sewing machines, and I hope to teach the use of these but will need more help before this can be accomplished. Mr. Donnewirth has presented us with a table, and a modest friend with a sewing machine. Mr. Henry Webb has loaned his mother's machine to us, and I have also donated my old one to the Scout work.

Also if you have pieces of new goods, left from dresses or aprons, the troop can make good use of them, in sewing. Please look over your piece bag.

Twentieth Century Enjoy Meeting

Mrs. Ralph Hoffman welcomed the members of the Twentieth Century Circle at her home on Monday evening, March the 14th.

The following persons were elected to serve during the coming year: Mrs. Seville—President. Mrs. Eldon Nimmons—Vice Pres. Mrs. Gaskill—2nd. V. P. Miss Rogers—Secretary. Mrs. Southard—Treasurer.

Miss Fleming read "Mrs. Chirkup gives advice," a humorous article.

A musical program followed beginning with "A Musical Story," read by Mrs. Seville, the circle spelling words from staffs drawn on the blackboard. Next came a musical contest answered by musical instruments and compositions.

Mrs. Arts and Mrs. Willett then read the "Life of Fannie Crosby," pausing for the hums, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Rescue the Perishing," sung by the members; and "Saved by Grace," a duet by Mrs. Willett and Mrs. Seville.

Roll call subject was "Your favorite composer or song." Mrs. Jenkins was a guest.

Delicious refreshments in keeping with St. Patrick's Day were served by the hostess and the club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Miss May Fleming.

Today's Ford Car

BEFORE YOU BUY any make of automobile, let us show you Today's Ford Car. You may consider that you know the Ford Car. You may have been a Ford owner for years and think you are familiar with the splendid satisfaction which the Ford gives, and yet unless you have made it a point to examine the Ford Car as it is BUILT TODAY—to drive it and note its improved engine performance—relax in it over rough roads, and experience the increased comfort which it affords and to learn of the many recent improvements, you do not know the FORD CAR as it is BUILT TODAY.

Many of the new Ford Car features are obvious—balloon tire equipment—wire wheels—pyroxylin finish—a choice of colors—improved upholstery, etc., but the big satisfaction to you, as the owner of TODAY'S FORD CAR is to be found in the way in which it will fulfill your expectations of what a modern motor car should be. You will be amazed at the increased power resulting from the new Vaporizer, the smoother engine operation, the increased gasoline mileage, the improved riding qualities, and above all, in the way in which this car handles and performs in traffic and on the open road.

In short you must drive a New Ford Car to be a fair judge of present-day motor car values.

We invite your inspection of TODAY'S FORD CARS!

Curtain Machine Does Perfect Work

With a newly installed curtain machine capable of washing and stretching curtains far more perfect than the human hand, Mr. E. K. Miles, of the Ideal Laundry says that with the coming of spring he expects an increase in the curtain department at least one hundred per cent over last season and that those who have had work done on this machine are more than satisfied with the results.

Its about housecleaning time and the wise housewife should have no doubt as to the ability of the laundry to turn out perfect work on all classes of curtains. There is an advertisement in this issue which should appeal to you.

We Beg Your Pardon

Mrs. J. Howard Smith, Mrs. E. E. Baldus and Mrs. H. P. Root composed the committee that was responsible for the Hickland county side of the "Parent-Teachers" playlet last Thursday evening. In some way the name of Mrs. P. H. Root was substituted for that of Mrs. H. P. Root, for which we beg the pardon of both parties.

Bad Dimes Are Reported at Willard

WILLARD—A number of counterfeit dimes, of the purported issues of 1919 and 1917, are in possession of local authorities as close of what may be a counterfeiting ring located in this section.

The coins, of the old-style 1913 issue, and the newer "Liberty-head" of 1917, are made evidently of a nickel and lead composition. They are hard, of even thickness, but do not have the "ring" of the government metal. About 15 have been found in various local stores.

Marshall C. D. Bohn and Mayor E. K. McMorris, are conducting an investigation. Federal authorities had not been notified late today, with no indication voiced by local would be solicited.

GIVE SACRED CONCERT IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WILLARD, MARCH 13

Sunday evening at 7:30 the Presbyterian choir of Plymouth of twenty-six voices will present a program of sacred music in the local Presbyterian church. Ten men and 16 women are in the choir. It is directed by E. R. Baldus.

The program was as follows: Opening sentence, choir, "The Lord is in his Holy Temple;" hymn, "Day is Dying in the West;" congregation; prayer response, choir, "Jesus, My Strength, My Hope;" anthem, "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed Away;" baritone and tenor duet, Mr. Wm. Harris and Mr. E. E. Baldus; anthem, choir, incidental solo, Mr. Wm. Harris, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say;" Male chorus "The Wayside Cross;" anthem, choir, incidental solo, Miss Clarice Beamer and Mr. ESHUDLU Clarice Beamer, "Seek Ye the Lord;" tenor and soprano duet, Miss Clarice Beamer and Mr. E. E. Baldus, "Love Divine, all Love Excelling;" anthem, "The Lord is Exalted;" anthem, choir, incidental solo, Miss Ruth M. Baldus, "Peace I Leave with You;" benediction, choir, "The Lord Bless Thee."

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Lippus and daughter Dorothy of Berlin Heights spent Sunday with H. J. Lippus.

Buy Shearing Outfit

J. E. Brinson of Boughtonville has purchased one of the latest type shearing machines and is now in a position to shear sheep in any part of the county. The machine with two men working has a capacity of 60 sheep daily.

Dingler Installs Latest Type Gasoline Pump

Dingler's Garage has installed one of the very latest types of gasoline pumps, and with its installation this garage can handle double the number of patrons previously served with in the same time limit. So accurate is the machine in every respect that it merely requires the touch of the hand to operate it.

The pump was installed under the supervision of the Lily White Oil corporation who manufacture the famous Shell Brand Gasoline.

Mr. Dingler states that every day motorists are becoming to recognize the value of a high grade gas, and he says that's the reason he believes in Shell.
