Well, we almost had a little excitement Wednesday noon when two cars met on the Public Square. It is strange how near accidents will happen in such wide open spaces.

Some people do not know anything. And they readily admit it. Of course, that's the only answer when we go in search of NEWS.

Our greatest ambition is printing just ONE issue of The Advertiser without a mistake. Anyway, we'd like for some of the "know-alls" to try it.

Smoking cigars and cigarettes may seem a pleasant thing to the station attendant of the auto owner. The best way to avoid a catastrophe of this kind is to avoid smoking while getting gas.

Saw where some fellow made the statement that the farmer works too hard. Believe me, this fellow never was in the newspaper business.

And on top of that I. H. May, our local hair remover, makes the statement that the editor has the softest job in town. Well, he hasn't seen Jack Bevier or George Sehringer recently.

The pot pigeons seen on the streets make a pleasant sight to the town. It seems to add just a touch of peacefulness.

Charlie Brown will be missed around town for being seen on the Public Square for around 18 years daily. We hate to see Charlie go, but he says business comes first.

F. P. Downend has promised to bring us some sparrows and back home this fall. And of course you're living in a great deal of expectancy—and who wouldn't after eating the products of this renowned butcher.

Somebody's going to spoil these pleasant hours by saying "Just no many days 'til Christmas."

GREENWICH BOY KILLED IN WRECK

Earnest Kessler, aged 13 years of Greenwich, was instantly killed Friday when his automobile turned turtle over a bank near the village causing a broken neck together with other injuries of a fatal nature.

The young man left home about noon to go to Norwalk, and the cause of the accident is unknown. When he reached a point two miles from Greenwich, he apparently lost control of the steering apparatus and the car left the road.

When the car leaped the ditch at the roadside, it bounded over a high bank into a field and turned over pinning Kessler underneath. The body was found about an hour later by a passing motorist, who removed the body to Greenwich.

It was found that in addition to a broken neck, the heavy weight of the car crushed his chest, either injury being sufficient to cause instant death.

The young man is survived by his father, who operates a filling station in Greenwich, his mother and two brothers.

PLANES SHOW 55 TIMES MORE DUST IN CITY THAN IN COUNTRY ATMOSPHERE

Federal Observer, Who Aided Lindbergh, Studies Particles to Show Effect of Showers and Time of Day—Suburban Air Seems Good.

AIRPLANES are now being used to determine the amount and nature of dust particles floating in the atmosphere, dust particles that have been blown skyward from the earth.

Dr. Herbert H. Kimball, United States Weather Bureau meteorologist, who has been prominent in the news recently because of the data he supplied to Lindbergh, Chamberlin, Byrd and other aviators for long distance flights, has been making a special study of atmospheric dust.

His figures show that country dust has 2,000 particles to the cubic inch; suburban air 30,000 particles and 115,000 or more to the cubic inch of city air.

Tests in the airplanes have shown that in the morning more dust is found near the ground than in the afternoon and, further, that more dust is found near the ground than at a height of from 2000 to 7000 feet.

Showers, of course, will reduce the number of dust particles and a country breeze has the same effect.

Other scientists have made various studies as to the effect of certain chemicals on laying dust. Foremost of those has been calcium chloride, a white and flaky chemical which attracts moisture to itself, dissolves when exposed to the air and combines with the road surface to which it is applied.

Delaware Woman Is Oldest Crusader For Prohibition

Probably the oldest active campaigner for prohibition is Mrs. M. A. Davis of Delaware, Ohio, one of the original Ohio crusaders, who will be especially honored by a demonstration at the 53rd annual convention of the National W. C. T. U. at Minneapolis August 25-31.

Mrs. Davis is 88 years old and for the past seven years ever since the 18th Amendment became effective she has devoted each year of her life to getting pledge signers and new members of the W. C. T. U. in numbers equal to the years of her life.

That is, in 1920, when she was 81 years old, she recruited 51 members for the W. C. T. U. of her town, and she kept that up each year, concluding her present recruiting activities with 88 members for 1927.

Mrs. Davis crusaded in the streets of Columbus, Ohio, and in her native village of Pataksala, Ohio, in January, 1874, praying on the streets and in the schools and joining in the historic movement throughout the middle-west which focused attention on the determination of the women to outlaw the liquor traffic. "She was a very great leader and very able in prayer," says Mrs. Florence Richard, the present president of the Ohio W. C. T. U., "and was in great demand in those days."

It is believed that Mrs. Davis' feat in membership raising is unequalled by anyone her age in any organization in the world.

Miss Nellie Carson of Delaware, O., former high school teacher visited Plymouth friends the first of the week. Miss Carson is always a welcome visitor and her best guests extended by her numerous friends.

She taught in Tucson, Arizona, the last year and expects to leave the end of the month for Missalapp where she will begin her new duties in a Mission school under supervision of the Women Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church.

Best wishes for her success in her new undertaking are extended.

HEADLIGHT REGULATIONS SEC. 63101: (Lights on Motor Vehicles Required) Every motor vehicle as hereinafter provided, or a motorcycle, driven upon the public highways of the state, during the period from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise and whenever fog renders it impossible to see at least two hundred feet ahead of such motor vehicle shall display, while running, at least TWO LIGHTED LAMPS on the forward part of such vehicle . . .

Every motor so operated shall display a red tail light from behind and a white light shall be so arranged as to illuminate each and every part of the distinctive number borne upon a rear number plate.

The above is taken from the state code governing Motor Vehicle Laws of Ohio, and is reprinted for the benefit of those who insist on driving with improper lights for motor cars.

It doesn't take but a few minutes to look at your lights and only a few cents to put them in good condition. Let's begin now to make night driving safe. See that your own lights are OK and then you can talk about the other fellows.

Hundreds of motorists who have occasion to use the Shelby-Plymouth road will be pleased with the information that a new bridge of regulation width is to be constructed at Marsh Run. The present structure is narrow and two cars can pass on but the driver must be steady and the cars driven slowly, otherwise they would slide. The usual custom at this bridge is for one motorist to wait on the other and take no chance on passing on the bridge.

Once in a while two motorists with a little more daring in their make-up meet and take a chance on passing. About one trial is all they wanted, after which they wait until the machine coming in the opposite direction is across.

Harry T. Flasher, former Shelby man, now connected with the state highway department, was in the city recently and made arrangements for a temporary bridge to be built at the side of this bridge on the Lebanon stock farm ground. Mr. Flasher made arrangements with J. A. Seltzer, owner of the farm, and workmen will be busy within the next week or two putting in the temporary bridge and getting set for the erection of a wider bridge.

The narrow bridge is located on a curve and a number of accidents have occurred at this point. A wider bridge will make it safer for motorists when rounding the curve at this point—Shelby Globe.

INCREASED WATER SUPPLY NECESSARY FOR NEW TURBINE

Willard—Three additional wells are promised to this city.

These wells will furnish all the need for both the city and the Baltimore and Ohio. Work has already begun on the improvement.

The new 600 kilowatt steam turbine for the generation of electricity at the municipal plant has been installed and is being given its first tests. It is expected that the new turbine will furnish enough electricity for the city and its industries as well as the rural lines which purchase their electricity here. The new generator, which was purchased at a cost of $10,500, will take the place of the smaller turbines now in use.

Exhibits of Local Plant Draws Much Attention From Fast Throgs

Plymouth industry is making a great impression with the fast throgs who are daily visiting the Ohio-Cleveland Industrial Exposition now in progress at the Public Auditorium in Cleveland. Just at the main entrance to the annex of the auditorium a huge Plymouth Chrysler locomotive draws immediately the attention of the visitor, and his curiosity is aroused as to just what kind of a "iron horse" this might be, and he begins an examination.

The Fast-Road-Heath Co. has one of the best exhibits on the floor, and it is probable that the clay-working machinery and engine on display will attract more than one "captain of industry." The local exhibit is being attended to by different representatives from the office here.

Across from the exhibit is a display of the Shelby Tube Works and the products of this concern are so attractively arranged that the sight-seer always stops for a good look. Both towns are receiving quite a bit of free advertising through the products of the two concerns.

Quite a number of Plymouth people have attended the industrial show and promise it one of the greatest events ever attempted in the state, and are fully satisfied with the exhibits as well as the entertainment throughout the afternoon and evenings.

Says Husband Fails To Give Her Support

Daisy Davis complains in her petition for divorce that her husband, Roy Davis left her frequently without giving her notice or without providing for her support.

They were married in Cleveland in 1924. One child, now dead, was born to them. The petition says they lived in Cleveland, Oberlin, Norwalk and Plymouth.

Mrs. Davis says her husband told her while she lived in Cleveland he was going to join the United States Navy. That was in March 1925. She claims she has never heard from him since that time.

She asks that she be granted a divorce and restored to her maiden name, Daisy Herberich. The petition was filed by Attorney E. K. Trauger.

Our Weekly Sermonette

(By Dr. G. R. Mente)
SEEING GOD IN A DREAM
Genesis 28:12

Let us first notice the circumstances in which this part of the life's history of the patriarch Jacob took place. It was when he was quitting home for the first time and under a cloud, driven on by a troubled and accusing conscience. The dream was not simply a dream, without significance of meaning, but a vision sent him from the everliving God. What Jacob saw in his dream was not the creation of his own wrought mind, but a lesson, which impressed itself upon him as a real thing. The things Jacob saw are real things. They can be seen any time by us, if we have our eyes open to see them. This peculiar way connecting God's abode and man's home on earth, exemplified by a ladder, has existed since the creation of man. This ladder always binds heaven and earth together, and our God is always standing at the head of it. Angels are always going up and down, ministering to those of us who are heirs of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

It is true that often our eyes are hidden and we cannot see the wonderful workings of our God. There seems to be no communion between heaven and earth. God seems to be so far away, that no cry of ours seems to reach the mercy seat. Thus Jacob was facing the greatest period of his life, seemingly alone, forsaken by all friends, unable to know if in the battles of life he should be able to fight alone. At this most critical moment God meets him with a few words of encouragement: I will keep thee in all places whither thou goes. How these few words transformed the complexion of the world before him, how this message will help us to pierce the veil that has been hanging before our eyes, until God opens our eyes of faith, we see little. Often like Jacob we think the wilderness a weary God forsaken spot, but the moment our spiritual eyes are opened, we see ourselves at the very gate of heaven. Would that I might be able to speak to all who think themselves alone in the great soul struggle, who think their life lonely, who are not able to see the faintest ray of hope in the darkness surrounding them. Look up, pray, have faith in God, and heaven will be in reach, for there is a ladder reaching from earth to heaven, messengers of peace are communicating with the father of love and are willing to help us, for our God stands at the head of that ladder, looking down in unpeakable love upon the children of his creation.

Angels felt weak, lonely, crushed. And when the solitude and darkness of the wilderness enshrouded all nature, his heart, no doubt was filled with sensations never before experienced. It was at this moment that Jehovah used the thoughts that had been forming in Jacob's mind, to send the beauties of his great and tender love. This is the way in which revelation generally comes to the inquiring mind. Like any other troubled and weary man, Jacob's sleep was restless and broken by dreams, dreams dreamt upon the bleak, lonely, and dreary mountains all day long. First a ladder, then a voice rolling down the rounds of that ladder, I am the Lord God of Abraham, thy father. God came so very near that Jacob saw and heard him in this vision. We are Jacob's ladder, we are interested in the nearness of heaven to earth, and the voice calling to us, with the assurance that Jehovah will never forsake his trusting child. Have you heard the father's voice? Are you willing to follow its leadings? If not, why not?

THRILLS A PLENTY AT HURON CO. FAIR

The famous June sisters will perform their daring high-diving act which consists of three dives from heights of ninety, sixty, and forty feet into a huge tank. Their act also consists of acrobatics and a dive into a flaming tank each evening from a height of ninety feet. A contract was signed Wednesday evening with the Cleveland Air Service Inc. for an unusually spectacular exhibition of stunt flying including loop-the-loop, spins, wing walking, rope ladder exhibitions, balloon bursting, smoke trails and parachute jumps. Daredevil Wensinger, who was formerly with the Gates Flying Circus on the west coast and who has been entertaining tremendous crowds at Chippewa Lake each Sunday with his sensational jump into the water and stunt flying, will be one of the performers at the fair.

Mr. Wensinger is the first aviator to make a successful jump into the water from an airplane. Three previous were made, but the jumper were drowned.

A thrilling account of Mr. Wensinger's narrow escape from death at Chippewa Lake on Sunday, August 10, was given by two Cleveland papers. He jumped from an altitude of two thousand feet and the parachute failed to open until he was six hundred feet of the water. By pulling the parachute to him while he was falling, Mr. Wensinger was able to untangle the ropes and save himself from sure death. Up to the present time, this young aviator has made over a hundred drops. He will give two exhibitions each day at approximately one and five o'clock.

Secretary Phillips has announced that running races will be offered as a new feature in connection with the Harness races each day.

Besides the two bands which will provide plenty of music morning, afternoon and evening. One of the main features of the circus will be "Dynamite" a clown mule. It is claimed that both young and old will get a real "kick" out of this part of the program of free acts.

The board of directors of the Huron County Fair feels that the above entertainment, together with the livestock parades and fireworks will make up one of the strongest programs ever presented in Northern Ohio at any county fair.

The advance sale of membership and box seat tickets together with the entries which are being reserved are very gratifying to the management and they are making preparations for a daily crowd of from forty to fifty thousand people.

Moving Stunt Men

When Warner Bros. made "Oh! What a Nurse!" starring Syd Chaplin and directed by "Chuck" Reisner, they had most of the moving picture "stunt" men in the business working on the picture.

There were eighteen of them altogether. All of them have had at least ten years experience in pictures, and all bear one or more scars of honor in the way of broken noses, sprained joints, broken bones, torn ligaments and pulled muscles. In "Oh! What a Nurse!" they composed with Matthew Betz and Raymond Wells the Super-tough crew of a run-unwilling school-er. Athletes and dare-devils, they spent their spare time when not before the camera in boxing, wrestling, and pulling muscles. Footballs and medicine balls and doing assorted gymnastic and feats of strength and skill.

These are the fellows that fans have seen do the dangerous falls from horseback, dives from the rigging of ships, and fights and many other thrilling feats in thousands of pictures since the movies began. They are for the most part, really adventurers and dare-devils at heart. They like their jobs, they like change and peril, they are quick to fight, and they are proud of their deeds and their scars. "Salter" Sharkey, Percy Watkins, Abe Linkoff, Bill Bowman, Tex Jordan, Max Hawley, Otto Benninger, Jimmy Fulton, Clarence Corder, George LaRue, Jack Krishberg, Bill Dagwell, "Chuck" Collins, Frankie Simonds, George Watkins, Billy Dennis, Bill Hauber, Larry George and Tommy Richards. Although mostly Anglo-Saxon, these names indicate men of many different races. Before and since entering pictures, they have engaged in almost every occupation imaginable, from dancehall bouncer to life-guard. One of the smallest men in the lot had an enviable reputation as one of the most honorable, fearless and effective bouncers on the Pacific Coast. Most of them have taken their stunts at pugilism, wrestling, or various forms of athletics and hung up records in various fields.

"Oh! What a Nurse!" is to be shown at the Temple Theatre, Wilbur, Monday and Tuesday, August 22 and 23.

OODLES OF LAUGHS PROMISED TO FANS IN GIBSON'S NEXT

Audiences at the Cantamba Theatre Friday 19, are due to get loads of laughs out of Hoot Gibson's characterization of a cowboy banker, the role he portrays in his latest starring vehicle, "A Hero on Horseback."

The picture is screen version of "Bread Upon the Waters," a story from the prolific and versatile pen of the noted author of Western fiction, Peter B. Kyne, who is rated as one of the most popular novelists and short story writers in America. Kyne has had as colorful a career as any of the characters in his colorful tales. From clerking in a rural merchandise store, the prominent career of best sellers engaged by errors in the lumber and shipping business and as a newspaper man. In 1898 he enlisted in the 12th United States Infantry, and was a member of the 3rd Expeditionary Force to the Philippine Islands, also serving during the Spanish-American War. During the late fracas "Over there," Kyne was a captain in the 144th U. S. Field Artillery.

Kyne is the creator of the famous "Crazy Ricker" stories, written around his experience while in the shipping business on the San Francisco waterfront. Some of his other noted novels are "The Enchanted Hill," "The Understanding Hill," "O'Pomine Me," which was filmed as a starring vehicle for Hoot Gibson, under the title of "The Bucharoo Kid," and many others.

In "A Hero on Horseback" Ethelene Clair, the petite titan haired screen favorite, plays the leading feminine role opposite Gibson, while Edward Davis, Edward Hearn and Dan Mason all the supporting cast.

Arthur Statter and Mary Alice Scully wrote the screen adaptation of the Kyne story and Del Andrews directed its picturization.

Farmers' Exhibits Will Draw Crowds To the Tiffin Fair

Tiffin—One of the greatest displays of mid-west farm products ever shown in the state will be exhibited here August 23 to 26 when the Seneca county fair holds its eighty fifth anniversary.

In the merchant's hall will be shown the fruits, vegetables, and flowers as well as booths advertising the various merchants of the community. More applications for merchant's display have already been received than can be taken care of by the space allotted.

The grange hall will contain the six grange exhibits as well as a special display of the Seneca-Cummingham Co. and a display of Canadian products by the Canadian government.

In the art department will be shown a great collection of fancy work and paintings. In the past this has proved to be one of the most credible displays of the entire fair. School exhibits, portraying the advancement of the school child, and a part of the display from the J. O. U. A. M. National Orphan's Home will also be housed here.

Two hundred head of cattle will be on display in the large cattle barn. A large exhibit of sheep, horses, and ponies will be shown in their pavilions while several hundred head of prize swine are expected to attract thousands to the huge display pavilion.

The entire livestock exhibit will be of the highest caliber. In the past as high as thirty carloads of livestock have been shipped from the Seneca county fair direct to the Ohio State fair, where they have always ranked among the leaders.

The display of farm machinery will be much larger than ever before, showing the latest types of agricultural machinery in use today. A special feature of this exhibit will be the complete outfit for cutting, threshing, bagging, and weighing in one operation.

Two large tents will house over sixty automobile exhibits, displaying all of the latest models.

After the city's reaction to the announcement, Captain Thomas V. Farrell and A. C. A NEW CAR whose Reliability, Power and Style Mark it All-American Reliability? Look at the longer, heavier frame of the All-American Six—the big new engine, transmission and clutch—the longer wheel-base (117") and larger tires—all the result of pitiless testing on General Motors' great American proving ground!

Power? Get behind the wheel! Thrill to the pull of the biggest engine used in a six of Oakland's price. An engine whose smoothness and steadiness are the result of a 7½ lb. counter-balanced crankshaft with Harmonic Balancer, a new type of combustion chamber developed by General Motors' research staff, and Oakland's famous rubber-silencing principle.

Style? Instinctively your eyes will look for that famous emblem "Body by Fisher"—for here are new heights of beauty and fashion—in the best American tradition.

Longer, lower, more rakish lines. Richer and more alluring Duo colors. Sweeping crown fenders—and luxury features by the score.

Oakland has set the nation talking by building the new All-American Six—and offering it at new low prices! See this history-making car today!

New Machine Is Installed

A machine which has been attracting much attention is that of the new valve refacing machine recently installed at Dinger's Garage. With adjustments on this machine defects on an auto valve can be detected to a hundredth thousand of an inch. New valves have been given a test and in most cases they do not measure up accurately.

The time saved with the new machine on a valve-grinding job requires about one half the time that it took the old way.

Automotists are invited to come in and see the machine in action, and to note the perfect work it turns out.

MOTHER, 92, FAILS TO RECOGNIZE HER SONS, LONG ABSENT

SEAL, ENG.—It's a wise mother who knows her own children after 34 years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bassett, 92, oldest inhabitant of this village was visited recently by two strange men who introduced themselves as "Mr. Cummings" and "Mr. Smith." They had lived here many years ago, they said, and wanted to talk a bit with the oldest resident.

Mrs. Bassett replied that she did not remember any Cummings in the village. Then her face lighted with inspiration.

"What are your real names?" she asked quickly.

"I call him Sidney and he calls me Horace," was the reply revealing to the aged mother that the pair were her two sons who had gone to America 34 years ago. They had come home for the first time since leaving this country.

Editorial And News Comment On National Happenings

One of our friends has blithely suggested that we are inclined to picture the future with too much enthusiasm on the "brass." But no experienced or reasonably read man can possibly feel blue when estimating America's prospects. Especially one who within his own life span has witnessed the increase in wealth of a city like Chicago from $25,000,000 to its present billions of property value.

Foreign is too busy perfecting motors to waste thought on brakes. And we'll continue to build and expand for indefinite generations, despite "Whos men" who were already tugging at the reins as early as 1824. At such period statisticians very definitely proved that America had reached opportunity and population limits. Concerns that discount national destiny aren't planning nearly so many improvements in service or organization.

The threats and the murderous attempts to kill and destroy which have been made by "reds" in various countries because two Communists are to be executed for a payroll murder in Massachusetts are not the product of thought, even mistaken thought. They are born of blind fury. Not even a typical red revolutionist is stupid enough to think that he can save men condemned to death in the United States of America by attacking some agency of an American motor company in Argentina. If the revolutionary "reds" were capable of conservative thinking in their present state of mind they would realize that they are virtually nailing down the lids of the coffins of the men they are madly seeking to save. They are so challenging the authority of the courts and the power of the government, in one of the great states of this republic, that they are making it impossible to spare Sacco and Vanzetti without seeming to yield to threats of violence, including death. They could not win their campaign now without doing great damage to the machinery upon which the orderly administration of justice depends and must continue to depend. But furious feeling has little in common with ordinary thought and nothing to do with cold, clear logic. Men prey that bite savagely at their own bodies, where their pain is sharpest.

Young man who claims to be only 19 years old says he is sorry after committing a series of holdups, escaped from one policeman after an attempt to shoot the officer, finally landing in jail. Good clothes, diamonds and automobiles he says, was his desire that prompted him to be a hold-up man. This young man is not a victim of society inasmuch as he had an opportunity for schooling and was exceptionally bright in his studies. The fact that he is a hold-up man gives him leisure to formulate his handiwork. Serving a sentence in a penal institution, mingled with hard-boiled criminals helped him into the channel which is now directing him toward prison doors which will close permanently for the next two decades. Now, he says he is sorry. He should have been sorry after being released from serving time on the first offense. There are many young men that have said they were sorry. They have been unanimous in choosing the location for their embarrassing grand gesture for sympathy which they are apprehended—but, they have been successful in evading the law, they would continue on the route of banditry.

In the life of the usual bandit, it is sometimes a short stretch from the payroll to the garole.

Wall Street and its clientele of big business is advocating and before long will be demanding the nomination of Secretary of Commerce Hoover for the Republican presidential candidate. Wall Street has always been dictatorial in nominations for president.

Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia has no doubt devoted considerable time and energy in reforming his neighbors and seeing that they were punished for any violation of law—and it seems he was so busy meddling with other people's lives and trying to make them good, to his sense of the word, that he neglected some duties at home. His son got out with the boys in an automobile bought some whiskey, drank his share of it and then crashed into a trolley pole. He was arrested, charged with driving while intoxicated and transporting liquor. Human sympathy would be much more freely to a father who was doing his best to reform himself and train his children to be come useful citizens than to a father who selects as his mission on earth the mauling of other people's business and imposing on others his own narrow ideas of conduct.

But even in this meddling preacher's case it is hoped the intolerant sins of the father will not be visited on the bibulous son.

Town in Vermont reports it has a woman 105 years old who does her own housework. That's nothing. We heard of a woman 25 years old who does it.

Friends of Mayor Thompson of Chicago have formed an organization to boom him for president on an "America First" program. The mayor's own platform has been "Thompson First."

Ex-chief of Police of Canton, Ohio, has been a sentence for life for conspiracy in the murder of a newspaper editor. He is the fifth to be convicted, three others having drawn a life sentence and one an indeterminate sentence, the court being lenient for his "squealing." In passing sentence on the ex-chief the judge has put in to light a new phase of law in which he says: "The menace to this nation today is organized crime. In the opinion of the court the law of criminal conspiracy is of more importance today than any other branch of criminal jurisprudence. The doctrine of the liability of a co-conspirator should be vigorously precluded."

A committee of the New York Crime Commission has revived the idea that crime news in the press is harmful and has advanced several arguments in an effort to prove it. There is some sense in the idea, but thus far no one has offered a remedy that isn't worse than the fault. Suppression of crime news would certainly do more harm than all the sensationalism with which we are now affected, and censorship is too absurd for second thought. Details of a murder, theft or forgery cut both ways. If they influence some people to be bad, which is still a matter of guess work, they assuredly stimulate others to be good.

Evidently Will H. Hays, who has been czar of the movies for the past five years, has been unable to do what was originally intended—clean up the pictures. Reports are coming from the west of the Anti-Saloon League that mixing of cocktails and drinking is prevalent in the pictures and they are going to chase them out. The dry officials say "we take exception to the cheap sex movies in which the principals pour a drink or shake a cocktail every time they turn around." Strange that a five-figure salary man cannot cope with the situation for which he was appointed.

London dispatch says the hair dressers of that city prefer the light haired women. In this country there are millions of men who prefer the light-headed.

Now that it's all settled that the big fight is to be held in Chicago, the bootleggers of that city can send their orders to the importers.

WHEAT GROWERS: TAKE NOTE

$452.00 Added Profit On 1 1/4 Acres of Wheat

Fostoria, Ohio August 12, 1925

The American Agricultural Chemical Company, Cincinnati, Ohio Sirs:

I have used "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers for years and have found them to be of the highest quality as to productivity and mechanical condition.

One of my wheat fields of 1 1/4 acres produced a yield of 48 bushels per acre and I feel satisfied that the yield was more than doubled by the use of "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers.

Very truly yours,

H. A. KRABILL

At last year's wheat prices, one 1 1/4 acre field fertilized with "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer gave $452.00 added profit. Figures from other farmers in this locality tell about the same story. Increased yields as high as 57 bushels an acre. Average increase, 13 bushels per acre.

You too can make such increased profits if you select your fertilizer on its crop-producing record. The sure way to do this, is to insist on getting "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers. "Worth more per dollar because they produce more per acre."

KEEP COWS IN BARN AND FEED GRAIN—ADVICE

Later summer is the most trying time of the year for both cows and their owners, yet by following a few simple rules, dairymen can avoid much trouble, and can add materially to total milk production for the year.

August grass as a rule isn't even good hay. If it isn't completely burned up by the sun and a long period of drought, it is dry, tough and leathery—literally a starvation diet for a dairy cow. Prof. W. J. Fraser, of the University of Illinois, found that over a period of four summers there were only three weeks during which 1 1/2 acres of pasture were sufficient to support one cow, and often pasture was in such condition that 30 acres would have been required.

The cow was never born who could walk far enough and eat fast enough to get a living diet from such grazing ground. "Cows receive-ing grain in summer will milk better the following winter," says a bulletin issued by the Minnesota Experiment Station, and that is the answer to the summer feeding problem. A regular grain ration not only gives the dairy cow nourishment she can't get from grass, but builds up her condition for fall and winter production.

It is a profitable investment to keep cows in the barn during the heat of the day at this time of the year. Be sure they receive all the water they can drink. Keep flies away from them as much as possible by spraying, screening or other devices. Flies irritate cows, and the statement that "contented cows produce better" is indeed a fact.

In addition to this, feed grain according to their daily yields—enough to keep them up to their best possible production. Such a plan will pay handsome dividends in better condition and more fall and winter milk.
