

School Opens Next Tuesday

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR FAVORABLE YEAR; EXCEPTIONAL TEACHING STAFF.

Superintendent R. R. Miller states that the public schools will be ready for the fall term and that the first session will be held Tuesday, Sept. 5. A short period, however, will be held Monday. A complete teaching staff has been chosen, the majority of whom are already here, and various plans are being discussed among them for the betterment of the schools. The teachers and their respective grades are as follows:

Superintendent, R. R. Miller.
Principal, T. S. Jenkins.
Latin and Mathematics, Paul E. Fisher.
French and English, Miss Marian Gooding.
Home Economics, Mrs. Harmsen.
Eighth Grade, Mr. J. B. Herr.
Seventh Grade, Miss Lucile Fenner.
Fifth and Sixth Grades, Miss Grace Trimmer.
Fourth and Fifth Grades, Miss Harriet Gilt.
Third and Fourth Grades, Miss Grace Robinson.
Second Grade, Miss Katherine Gebert.
First Grade, Miss Stella Nye.

Under the capable management of Mr. Miller and his staff the outlook for the schools this year is unusual bright, and it is hoped that Plymouth will retain the high standards she has won in the various district and county meets.

Local Politics Begin to "Bile"

RUMORS HERE AND THERE INDICATE GOODLY NUMBER OUT FOR MAYOR.

The political pot in Plymouth is beginning to simmer, and before another week passes, it will probably reach a boiling point. From rumors gathered around town there will be several aspirants for mayoralty, and reports indicate that the candidates for mayoralty are finding it hard to get a complete lineup for council.

Although personal interviews have not been made, it is safe to say that there will be several good men out for mayor, and "possible candidates" are as follows:

J. B. Herr, present incumbent of the mayor's chair.
Orson Hoffman.
Chas. A. Sellar.
George Seale, Sr.

It is understood that Mr. Hoffman has had several requests to run for mayor, and whether or not he will enter the race, is not known. But his friends state that he will likely be a candidate.

All of the above aspirants are good, strong influential citizens, and no doubt will receive good support if they decide to run.

Petitions have to be filed by Sept. 9th, so next week news along this line will be more definite.

START PARTITION SUIT

Several parcels of land are involved in a partition suit started here by Nellie Radcliffe. The property is located in the Northwestern part of the county in the Monroeville district. The defendants are Bess Potter, Edwin Vrooman, Claire Vrooman, Nellie Clayton, J. P. Easton, C. S. Bateman and Clarence Ziptel. E. G. Martin is counsel for the plaintiff.

James BeVier Is Dead

Aged Veteran Answers Call to Great Beyond Tuesday Afternoon; Funeral Services at Church Today

When the news spread over Plymouth early Tuesday afternoon that "Uncle Jimmy" BeVier had passed away, a gloom of sadness seemed to overshadow the clear blue sky, and the atmosphere seemed filled with the knowledge that a good and true citizen had passed from our midst.

"Uncle Jimmy" had only been ill a few days prior to his death, and in spite of his weakened condition he was able to give a smile to those who visited him at the home of Mrs. Geo. R. BeVier, where he died.

Had Mr. BeVier lived until Sept. 11, he would have been 95 years old. He was a life-long resident of Plymouth and vicinity, with the exception of a short residence at Petoskey.

A SUGGESTION
Within the next few days, our schoolteachers will be with us again. Among them, there will be a few new teachers, there will be hundreds of new faces and hundreds of new names. It will be easy for us to learn to know them, but quite a task for them to learn to know all of us. So let us meet them more than half way in the accustomed friendly Plymouth spirit and if they fail to remember who we are the second time we meet, remind them who we are and where we meet before.

TO HAVE MUSICAL EVENING
The Lutheran Sunday School Orchestra will have a Musical Evening at the Lutheran Church on Friday evening, September 2, at 8 o'clock. In addition to stirring songs by the entire orchestra there will be duets and solos presenting the musical talent of the entire Sunday school. A small admission fee of 25c will be charged. The proceeds will be added to the orchestra funds and used for the purchase of a piano for the Primary Room. Do not forget the date. This is an opportunity to hear some good music. Buy a ticket and help us get a piano.

PICTURES SAVE HIS LIFE
Holt, screen hero, saved the life of Obed Mansfield, seven years old. Obed shot himself while playing with a pistol. At the hospital it was found that a mach fold newspaper picture of Holt had kept the bullet from piercing the boy's heart.

PLANS SUBMITTED
Three plans, ranging in price from $70,000 to $120,000, were submitted Tuesday evening to the local school board by Walker & Norwalk, Dayton architects. Explanation of the plans was made by a representative, and the board received first hand information concerning the building of a modern school. No action was taken on the plans. Just another step toward presenting to the people what Plymouth needs—a new school.

Deck Gets on Sport Pages

HIS ABILITY AS MARKSMAN IS CAUSE OF COMMENT AMONG TRAPSHOOTERS

Friends here of Clayton Deck will be interested in the article published below, and taken from The Dayton Journal of August 25.

H. C. Deck, of Plymouth, Ohio, who won the Grand American in 1924, arrived yesterday and announced that he would participate in the preliminary and Grand American events. Deck did not enter in last year's tournament on account of the death of his brother. Deck shot 97 out of 100 birds from the 16-yard mark. He was tied with four other gunners, but won the shoot-off which was necessary to decide the winner. Deck, although he is approaching the 70-year mark, looks to be in the picture of health.

DIES AT SHELBY
Mrs. Mary Wilford Kemp, 72, died in Shelby last Friday. Besides her husband, John Kemp, the deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Earl C. McClelland, Attica; Mrs. Sheridan Stutzman, Tiffin; Mrs. Owen East of Plymouth, and two sons, Frank of Shelby, and Walter of Venice township. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Attica.

Mrs. Emil Ludwig won first prize on her cake she baked and now she makes a point of herself telling every one the recipe.

Our Schools

(By Supt. R. R. Miller.)

Someone has said that the ideal democracy is not direct government by the people, but government by experts who are responsible to the people and in whom the people may impose implicit confidence. The same principle applies to all public service. We all grant the need of getting good leaders, but there is another need, that of getting the people to be good followers. In a despotic government, the citizens follow their leaders, because they must. In a more liberal government, leadership is just as much needed, but there is not the same compulsion to follow our leaders.

In our democracy, we scorn the idea of one becoming a leader because of the mere accident of birth, but we select our leaders from those whose special knowledge and training fit them for the service for which we have chosen them. This is well, but too often the difficulty arises, that instead of permitting our leaders to use their special knowledge and training to enable them to decide matters, we straightway tell them how we wish them to decide.

This is not a plea for irresponsible leadership—no one deplorable unfaithfulness to public trust more than I—but this is a plea for confidence in and loyalty to leadership, in state, in church, in school. Where principle is involved, it is never safe to ignore conscience, but where it is a question of policy, let us follow our leaders.

The policy of our schools is guided by a board whom we have elected because we have confidence in their judgment. We have left to them the task of selecting staff of teachers. These teachers are not infallible, but they are educational experts. Let us have confidence in their leadership as such.

We all desire progress. We may have educational progress in two ways: first, by doing old things better, second, by doing new things which have been tried elsewhere and found to be good. We purpose to do both. Let us have your support.

Churches and Schools In A Safety Campaign

Schools and churches in Huron county will be asked this Fall to join a campaign for the prevention of accidents on the highways. During the last five years, it was pointed out today, 2,447,270 persons were reported injured and 114,879 killed in traffic mishaps. Most of these accidents are declared to have been avoidable.

The annual casualty toll of highway accidents is more than twice as great as America's losses in the World War. Approximately 7,000 school children alone are killed on the highways each year.

Investigation has shown that carelessness and incompetency are the chief causes of highway accidents, and that less than 5 per cent are due to faulty mechanism of vehicles or defects in road construction.

Highway and motor organizations are taking a prominent part in the safety campaign. For several years bus companies have been instructing their operators in safety measures, and some of the lines are now installing warning signs along their routes for the benefit of the drivers of motor cars. Bus operators have found that their chief possibility of danger lies in the inefficiency or carelessness of the drivers of passing vehicles.

In the effort to reduce accidents, churches and schools will be asked to form safety clubs and pledge their members to exercise greater care in traveling on and crossing public highways.

Fairfield Township's Oldest Civil War Veteran Celebrates 90th Birthday

NORTH FAIRFIELD, O.—Perhaps the most highly esteemed person in the township is William Henry Trembley, Fairfield township's oldest Civil War veteran who is nearing his ninetieth anniversary.

Men, women and children of the countryside know the story of his life. He was in the Civil War on Memorial Day this year the school children paid tribute to him on their way to the cemetery when they presented him with flowers, sang patriotic songs, and gave the salute in his honor.

Both he and his brother, Oliver Trembley, enlisted in the great struggle but only William returned to his home to live and tell the future generations. William enlisted in the fall of 1861 at Delphi with Co. B, 101st Regiment O. V. I. The first battle in which he partook was in Kentucky, probably at Prentiss, in which his leader was Colonel James A. Garfield. He was also in the battle of Murfreesboro, Tenn., but weakened by malaria fever, he was unable to march and was sent to the hospital at Nashville, Tenn. He was discharged from active service on March 12, 1865, and returned to his father's home in Ripley township, Huron county.

Oliver is Flagbearer

The story of his brother, Oliver's, war service is one of the tragic incidents mounded by Fate. As a boy of 12 years, Oliver enlisted in the school in Oberlin, Ohio, as a flagbearer of his regiment. He did honorable service and rose to the rank of sergeant. His regiment saw hard fighting and only 13 of the rank were left to return by their homes. On the return trip, which was made by rail, Oliver was planning to stop at Cincinnati to take part in a military inspection and to receive his discharge. Twenty miles from Cincinnati, the boys marched off the boat and as Oliver was crossing from the ship to shore, something gave way and he fell backward into the river and was drowned. His body was not found until Sunday but every man of the 12 remaining members of his regiment stayed at the spot until the river gave up its victim and they accompanied the body to the home in Mansfield, Ohio.

That is one of the sad war stories that William tells with a tear in his eye. Now William is in poor health, although his mind is quite clear. Since the death of his wife, who was Miss Harriet W. Bell, Edwards Corners, Ripley township, he has been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Ewing of this village. He is a prominent member of the Baptist church, a staunch Republican and a true Christian gentleman. William and one sister, Mrs. Eva Bell, are the only surviving members of a family of ten children.—Savannah Register

Walter Cook, while cutting down buckwheat, found seven out of eight badly infested with the corn borers.

THE UNUSUAL

Dave Scarfield is so observant until it is probable that he will be offered a place on the Advertiser staff. Dave called our attention Saturday morning about 10 o'clock to nine teams that were hitched to the various railings on the Square. To be more exact four of the buggies were in front of Woole's Grocery, three were hitched to the railing at Clark's Grocery and two were seen in front of Weber's Cafe.

It is likely that very few saw the incident, but it was one which gave a feeling of days gone by when old Dobbin had the right of way.

GET COPY IN EARLY

While we sincerely appreciate the news letters on each week, we ask that you give cooperation in getting the items in early. The Advertiser is printed Wednesday evening, and it is very essential that copy be in by Wednesday morning. A few items the past week or so have had to be omitted on account of their lateness.

We thank you.

Flower Show At Shiloh to Be Held 10th.

Home Grown Flowers Will Prevail at Fourth Annual Exhibit; Sponsored By Get-to-gether Club.

SHILOH, O.—Plans are under way for the fourth annual flower show which will be held here September 10, and sponsored by the Get-to-gether Club of Shiloh.

The exhibits this year will be more elaborate than ever before and the indication points to a flower show that will hold the interest of the community for the entire day.

The object of the show, as explained by club members, is to arouse a desire in the growing of flowers around the home, and to cultivate the beauty and language of flowers in the home. It is plainly shown at the show what a little cultivation and care will do for various plants.

Those entering exhibits this year will be required to reside in a radius of six miles of Shiloh and no professional growers will be allowed to exhibit. Cash prizes to the amount of $20 will be distributed as prizes this year.

Trap Shoot Here Monday

MARKSMEN WILL "SHOW STUFF" ON ELLIS FIELD; PUBLIC INVITED TO ATTEND.

A grand event is being planned for Monday, Labor Day, when trap shooters of Plymouth, Greenwich and Willard will meet on Ellis Field at 1:30 to test their marksmanship. An automobile "warrior" has been installed, and much interest is being centered around the event. Several local sportsmen have been practicing for some time and are considered very good shots, and just what showing they will make with opposing sportsmen is anxiously awaited.

The public is invited to attend this shoot and from the talk heard around town there will be some good shooting. Messrs. Carl Lofland, Beryl Miller, James Rhine, Dr. Gaskill, Roscoe Shelly, Clayton Deck, and others will be on hand to operate the traps. Remember the time: 1:30 p. m.

Car Turns Over; Four Are Injured

WILLARD, O.—Four people are in Community Hospital here with injuries sustained in an automobile accident last Wednesday afternoon, when the driver of the car lost control following a blow-out of a tire.

The car was driven by Mrs. Wilbur F. Mahaffey, Willard, and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Umbenhower, Garrett, Ind., Miss Annabelle Carney, Willard, and John Metz, Willard. Umbenhower, the most seriously injured, sustained a broken arm, five fractured ribs and a crushed foot. Miss Carney received three broken fingers. Mrs. Mahaffey and Mrs. Umbenhower were bruised and Metc escaped injuries.

The accident happened when Mrs. Mahaffey, a beginning driver, drew to one side of the road to let another car go past. As she returned her car to the road the tire blew, causing her car to overturn.

SCHOOL NOTICES

Plymouth public schools will open Monday morning, September 5. The pupils will be kept for a short time only so they will be free to take part in any plans for celebrating Labor Day. However, it is important that all pupils be present at school Monday morning, because the seating may be arranged and new books ordered wherever there is a shortage.

According to a ruling of the School Board passed September 2, 1922, as authorized by the State School Law, beginning pupils may enter who are six years old, or who will have reached their sixth birthday before or on November 1.

For the benefit of pupils or parents who wish to confer in regard to school work, Supt. Miller and H. S. Principal Jenkins will be in the office of the school building, Friday afternoon from 2:00 until 4:00 and Friday evening from 7:00 until 9:00. It is especially desired that High School pupils with irregular programs, or those desiring to take extra work attend to these conferences.

There will be a meeting of all teachers at the school building Saturday morning, September 3, at 9 o'clock.

Editorial And News Comment On National Happenings

The average farmer will probably take exception to the utterance of an editor of a well known farm paper when he says that the farmer works too much and thinks too little. In part he says: "If the farmers worked less and thought more of lowering their costs and of seeking better markets; took a day off each week to fish, and spent Saturday afternoons playing baseball, there would be less overproduction and more contentment on our farms. As a class farmers work harder and longer than any other group. Many work too hard for their own good." It is true that the average farmer works hard and has comparatively little at the end of a year to show for his efforts. But as far as hard work and care thinking is concerned it is hard to agree that anything he might do toward improving his market would be consequential with respect to prices and as to reduction of costs, he is constantly and conscientiously doing everything he can with that object in view. The individual farmer is in no position to dictate prices by even limiting his production, for the price of his produce is determined by world conditions of demand and supply. Taking a day off for fishing or baseball will not lower production and this particular phase of the statement is only natural from the average so-called farm editor who does his farming through the market column. These farm editors have been trying to dictate to the ruralist through their cheap advertising mediums for many years, but they have come far from hitting the mark. When government officials with agricultural experience co-operate with the farmers in the marketing problems and eliminate the middleman from the scene, the price situation will be nearer a goal for the producer.

A young Scotchman is perfecting a machine which enables folk to see twelve miles ahead. While you gaze with amazement at the thought, please remember that nature has created in every man a far more incredible device—human imagination. Columbus looked across the Atlantic with his field foreman continents linked with cables through the same magic lense and Macroni beheld the universe within ordinary air achievement. Each brain is an incubator with space in every cell for another world wonder.

There will be more aerial derbies by adventurers or adventures seeking fame and fortune if officials of the war, navy and commerce departments have their wishes fulfilled. Officials say such flights as the Hawaiian had no value to the development of aviation and that it cost the government more than $30,000 per day to seek the missing aviators. Destroyers, submarines, aircraft carriers, submarine tenders and airplanes with a value of more than $130,000,000 have been engaged in combing the Pacific along the line of flight for two planes valued at not more than $10,000 each. Perhaps the donor of the $30,000 price has no idea that it would turn into a sporting event in which nearly ten times the amount of the prize was spent in preparation. Pioneer work in anything always involves some loss of life but the Hawaiian flight had already been accomplished and the Dole Derby was not a pioneer attempt.

Col. James C. Waddell, federal chief, is to resign his prohibition enforcement post in September and he has a few words to say: "Hypocrisy and corruption stalks behind the scenes of prohibition enforcement. High officials admit privately that prohibition enforcement is impossible under present conditions, but will not say so publicly because they fear Anti-Saloon League reprisals. ... Versions of industrial alcohol and organized bootlegging backed by unlimited capital and motor trucks are met with every day. ... The extent of corruption, coercion and of threat of political influence brought to bear on enforcement officials who tread on the toes of political bosses is known to the public." Thus Waddell joins a dozen other officials who have left the prohibition service assailing enforcement methods and political interference.

We knew it would come—the No Tobacco League will introduce a no tobacco bill in the Indiana legislature next year. Might as well lay in a stock, so that you won't have to depend on bootleggers.

The French newspapers say that President Coolidge decided not to "choose to run for president again" because of the failure of the Geneva conference. That's about as close as the French ever come to understanding American politics.

Human nature is constituted in such a peculiar manner that it demands deeper music than the clink of gold. Money, in passage, the least important thing which to start a movement or support tyranny. As a matter of record, and outside the industrial field, it has killed about every regime in which it was conspicuous. ... Some of the "anti" leagues have suffered almost complete collapse due to the contributions of rich men falling off. ... There is no party or no reform in this country than can survive the public suspicion that it is controlled by money. ... The great danger of money lies in the development of a system whereby estates and fortunes could be preserved in spite of the weak spots in families, of the influence of inventions. If the trust company ever gets to the point where it can preserve the family chest, regardless of family character or efficiency, the government will have to step in.

All gallon cans do not contain decorations for pancakes or kitchen floors.

Evidently doctors have invented another name for catarrh as a syndicate of doctors announce that there is no such thing.

Crowded to the inside by aerial derbies we see the news of new outbreaks in China. Northern troops have seized Pukow and have bombarded Nanking, the late seat of Chiang's government. Foreigners are leaving Nanking and missionaries have AGAIN been advised to leave the interior. Usual preparations for defense of the Shanghai foreign quarters are made. ... And, the government of the United States again announces that it will take no political hand in the Chinese affair, and will limit its activities to "protection of lives and property."

"Thirty thousand citizens are learning to fight by mail" says a Chicago newspaper. Well, that seems to be the safest way.

OBITUARY

OBITUARY OF EUGENE MARION PATTERSON

Eugene M. Patterson was born Dec. 27, 1845, near Reedtown, Ohio, and departed this life on August 28, 1927, aged 81 years, 8 months and 3 days. He was first married to Nellie Burras, of Helena, O. In 1867. After her death two years later, he remained a widower for two years, when he married Elizabeth Reynolds, Mar. 30, 1871. To this union was born one child who is now Mrs. W. C. McFadden, who with the widow survive.

They lived in Seneca Co. until 1880, when they moved to near Plymouth where he passed away.

He enlisted in the service of his country in 1863, when but 15 years of age, and served for 5 months, when Physical Disablement made necessary his discharge.

He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, of Plymouth in 1882, where his membership has continued until the end.

He is spoken of as a kind husband and father, good neighbor and faithful friend. For several years he has been a constant sufferer, and bore his pain with fortitude during the many days and nights of severe pain. The end came peacefully, and in the closing of the Sabbath Day his spirit took its flight to that Land that knows no setting sun.

Thus closes the record of another of the few veterans of the Civil War and few remain to tell of the hardships endured through those days of darkness, when many times the clouds hung heavy over our fair land.

Thus we are reminded to "Fight the good fight of Faith, and lay hold on Eternal Life," as this is the only hope left after the storms of this life are over.

Through the faithfulness in their ministry of love, the wife and daughter are commended to the care of

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S CLINIC

A free clinic for crippled children will be held at Gates Hospital on Friday, September second. Dr. Theodore A. Willis, Chief Orthopedist at St. Luke's Hospital of Cleveland will be in charge of the clinic, assisted by Dr. William H. Hull of Elvira.

There are in Ohio over 10,000 crippled children, according to the records of the State Department of Health. Of these, 1,800 have been cared for by the State Department of Welfare since 1921, when the State law for the care of crippled children became effective.

Service Clubs, such as Kiwanis, Lions, and Rotary, as well as Parent-Teacher Associations, are urged to take an interest in this work. The clinic to be held September second will be the last one before the opening of the school year and therefore parents and others who are interested in this work are invited to bring children to this Clinic for examination, so that their school work will not be interrupted with.

CONTINUES TO IMPROVE

Friends of Mrs. I. E. Haindel were pleased to hear that she is steadily improving from a fall which occurred some time ago as she was ascending the cellar steps at her home. As a result of the mishap Mrs. Haindel suffered a broken arm at the wrist and painful cuts and bruises.

TO SERVE ON JURIES

Plymouth will be well represented on the juries which convene in Norwalk the early part of this month. Moss Kappenberg and I. E. Haindel have been drawn for service on the Huron County Grand Jury, while Mrs. Clay Hulbert will serve on the petit jury which convenes September 12. The grand jury will meet September sixteenth.

Interesting Letters

We take pleasure in presenting the following excerpts from the letters written by Matthew Sloan, who is touring Scotland and England, to his father, Rev. Chas. Sloan of Morral, O. Many of the letters will be found very interesting.

Howard Hotel

Norfolk Street Strand London, England. August 4, 1927.

Dear Father and Mother:

I sent you a cablegram this morning. This afternoon I went for a walk in St. James Park finally arriving at Westminster Abbey about 2 p.m. I noticed that there would be a service at 3 p.m., so I walked around in the vicinity and came back for the service. The music was certainly fine and both transepts were packed with people and on a Wednesday afternoon, too. They have a wonderful organ there and an excellent organist.

The Howard Hotel where I am at present is a fine place. There is a man in livery in front outside all of the time. The elevator man wears a blue Prince Albert with about forty brass buttons. After I had finished writing some letters this evening I came out and sat in the lobby listening to the violin, cello and piano. The musicians were playing classical music. I feel like I ought to have on a dress suit every time one of those lackeys looks at me.

They certainly have queer names for streets and squares here. Near the Elephant and Castle in Newington Bath is Spurgeons Tabernacle. It was locked but I went around to the back door to the offices and a little old gentleman spoke to me. I asked him if I could see the interior of the church. He secured a key and we went in. I can describe it better when I see you.

Almost every one thinks I am dead because I have to ask them to repeat sometimes twice. They speak very differently and a bit quickly, too. A saleslady in one of the stores said: "I am a bad Englishman." I asked, "What is that?" She said that she couldn't speak English well. The average Englishman uses wonderful language which has no slang but all choice words. I mailed a letter to Holland today and they told me the postage was "supperhouse ha-penny."

I feel pretty well acquainted with London now, but of course I haven't seen anything to speak of, compared with what there is to see.

Cambridge, England August 5th.

I went around this city today. King's College Chapel is the most beautiful building I have ever seen. I almost held my breath when I first caught sight of it. All these colleges have courts and gardens beautiful beyond description. The river Cam is like a canal flowing back of each college and there are bridges across which one passed from one college to another. At 5 p.m. in King's College Chapel I heard a wonderful choir of 15 boys and 11 men. They sang several selections without the organ. The choir is up about 40 feet high and about 60 feet from the choir and neither can see the other. At dinner tonight I met a young fellow who has a brother attending Cambridge University. We took a walk after supper and heard two boys practicing in St. Mary's Great, which is the parish church at Cambridge. They rehearse in the church with their cello and on stand while rehearsing. I forgot to tell you that Woolworth has stores everywhere. I always go in because it seems like home. They sell similar articles to those in the states, have similar signs and the same arrangement. One day I took lunch in the third story of one of Woolworth's buildings.

Ely, England.

August 6.

This is a quaint old town. The streets wind more than cow paths. I took a walk tonight. There used to be an abbey in connection with this cathedral and all those courtyards are walled in and connected by stone gateways. The walls are overgrown with vines and flowers. I am writing by candle light. There seems to be some electric lights in the town but there are none in this hotel. So I took a candle from the table in the hall. The maid asked me if I wished a cup of tea in the morning. It is an English custom to bring tea to you before you get up. There are not many automobiles here. If they had them in the proportion we do, there would not be room to stand. I have never seen such a dense population.

Self Hotel, Norwich August 7th.

This town has a population of over 120,000 and the streets are crowded with people. The streets are narrow and crooked, up hill and down dale, with small street cars the length of a foot with an extension on either end for the motorman. I wonder what he does in wet weather. Also there are seats on the roof, unprotected with a post light at either end.

Lincoln, England

In this place I visited the Castle tower and took some pictures from there. Also I went into the Keep where prisoners were confined. There is a jail inside of the castle yard and was used only recently. Afterwards I went into the prison chapel. They have a curious arrangement whereby every prisoner could see the preacher but nobody else. I went to another part of the castle wall and saw a dungeon but did not climb down. After lunch I went into the choir part of the cathedral. It is almost impossible to describe the marvelous wood carving and sculpture. Also the great age of everything—mostly during the 12th century. In this place are some very curious streets. One of them is the Greestone Stairs which is a street going up steps up a hill. I also saw a fragment of the Roman wall 45 A.D.

Darling's Regent Hotel Edinburgh, Scotland.

Well, I am in Scotland for two or three days. After arriving at this hotel, I went to my old friend Woolworth for lunch. Hat a hot meat pie, a large helping of French fried potatoes and a cup of tea for 8 pence, or 16 cents. On the way to the Cathedral I stopped and got a hair cut for 12 cents. When I came back I found that Edinburgh is on the Firth of Forth which is an arm of the North Sea. Did I tell you about the English cutlery? Three knives and a very large spoon on your right, three forks on your left, one of them of cat's paw, which is the second course of every meal, and in front of you, cross-wise, a knife, small spoon and large desert spoon. The English people always have a fork in the left hand and a knife in the right. You therefore put your foot in your mouth with your left hand. I have been trying it, but when I am very hungry I go back to my accustomed way. It is now 9:15 p.m. and quite light. I don't like to go to bed before dark. I see a notice in the hall that this hotel holds family worship at 10 a.m. Tomorrow I expect to visit Holyrood Palace. There is a marvelous statue to Sir Walter Scott on Princes Street. This street is reckoned, the finest street in the old world.

Your Loving Son, MATTHEW SLOAN

MILLER-SHAFFER REUNION

The thirty-first Miller-Shaffer reunion was held on Saturday, August 27, at the beautiful residence of Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Hots of Plymouth. The president, Armand Miller was on hand early in the morning to look after things and soon after the guests began to arrive and shake hands and renew new and old acquaintances.

When the noon hour arrived, the long tables were set on the spacious lawn under the shade of the large maple trees. The ladies loaded them with all the good things that go with a feast.

Rev. Dr. Monte gave the invocation and after all were filled with the eats many baskets were filled with the overflow.

The afternoon was spent in visiting until the president called us together and introduced Rev. Dr. Monte of Shiloh, who gave us one of his inimitable addresses.

Dr. Monte has traveled through all the states of the union as well as across the ocean in foreign lands and accumulated a knowledge of the customs and manners of other lands which with his fund of anecdotes, make an interesting speaker. Then followed the election of officers. Frank Miller of Mansfield was elected president and Abigail Swensford re-elected secretary.

Guests were here from Adario, Oliveburg, Greenwich, Shiloh, Shelby, Mansfield, Dayton, Columbus and two cousins from Harrisburg, Pa.

After singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," as the last rays of the sun were sinking in the west, goodbyes were said and all wended their way to their homes leaving only the pleasant memory of a day well spent.

NEWS ABOUT THE CHURCHES

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Sunday at New Haven at 9:30 and at Plymouth at 11 a.m. will mark the closing service of this conference year. Reports for conference are being made out this week, and we desire to thank all who have helped to make our reports possible, in their generous contributions to "the support of the church, and the various benevolences," according to their vows to do so taken when they united with the church. In almost every benevolence, we find there is an increase over last year, although in some, the increase is small. If our New Haven report, which has not yet been received, is as good as here, we will rejoice, not so much for the showing made, as that the Worlds Work may not suffer because of any failure upon our part.

We desire to thank all who have helped to make our two years of ministry among you, so pleasant. The Lord has been gracious to us all, in bringing us into the midst of such gracious people. When it is considered that the minister's family are dependent upon the good will, courtesies and generosity of the people, it is all the more thankful we are, that there always found those who do not disappoint us.

We have found your homes cordially opened to us. Your sympathies in sickness and sorrow fine indeed. Your hospitality unbounded and in all, so far as our stay with you has meant to us, friendships that will remain and increase through the years. We have faced some regrettable situations that in attempting to correct we may not have been taken as meant, in all kindness.

We have tried to be fair, both to the people and to God, whom we serve. We have sympathized with you in your afflictions and sorrows. The sinners we have tried to point to the better way. In all, we have done our best to help save this part of the world and bring all to a greater appreciation of privilege and service, which in the end will produce a satisfaction that will have no regrets either in Time or Eternity.

We soon leave for Conference, where each year the ministers receive their appointment. If it shall be ours to return for another year, we shall try to be and do as we have done, faithful in all the interests of church and people. If we pass to another field of labor, we are sure our successor will find a faithful, lowly people, who will help to advance the Redeemer's Kingdom, as we have found, for a people do not change suddenly, and it is by "the upward climb" that all progress is made and NOT by a sudden leap into the ideal.

If, in our absence at Conference, we are needed for any service, we shall return upon notice, and be glad to be of further service.

The Consers, who have been with us for the past two months, will leave Labor Day, for their work and home in Toledo.

We will leave for seat of Conference on Tuesday morning, September 6. We will be glad to see all the membership at the services next Sunday morning.

Kenestrick-Schwemley

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenestrick was the scene of a very pretty home wedding Monday afternoon at four o'clock.

At this hour, their daughter Ruth Josephine became the bride of Mr. George Schwemley. A beautiful background of ferns and flowers was arranged for the occasion. The bride in a gown of ivory tulle with Duchess Point lace and a wedding veil carrying opelia roses entered from the stairway with her father, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Edith Kenestrick of Cleveland, cousin of the bride, where she was met by the bridegroom and officiating clergyman, the Rev. Baumgardner of Columbus, who is a brother-in-law of Mr. Schwemley.

The marriage ceremony was solemnized in the presence of all members of the two immediate families, which were from New Washington, Marion, Columbus, and Plymouth, and Miss Janice Taylor of Tiro, college chum of the bride. The impressive double ring service was included followed by prayer.

After congratulations and earnest good wishes were offered, the wedding party was seated in the dining room. Flowers in pastel shades and lighted tapers formed the table decorations. A two course menu was served. At the close the bridal party left for a wedding journey by automobile.

The bride, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, has been a teacher in Central High School, Columbus, for the past three years. Mr. Schwemley, who is a merchant in New Washington, is well known as a successful and worthy young man.

The hearty good wishes of their many friends follow these young people. Early in September they will be at home in New Washington.

Guests at the wedding were: Mrs. A. H. Schwemley, Miss Mary Schwemley and Mr. Chas. Schwemley of New Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schwemley and son Paul of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Baumgardner and daughter Betty of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenestrick and son Homer, and Mrs. Walter Thrush of Plymouth and Miss Janice Taylor of Tiro.

Getting Down To Business---

MEANING your business. Take the buying of furniture as a straight business proposition--a matter of utility. If you buy good furniture first you will have to buy no other kind last! The difference is saved not when you buy, but many times over after you buy. And remember--quality furniture costs such a little more than makeshift furniture that no home need do without it.

CREDIT DEPENDS

UPON INSURANCE

"It is a common saying, 'It is a money talk', says T. Alfred Fleming, of The National Board of Fire Underwriters. 'Yet in the market places there is one voice which speaks in a more commanding tone. It is the voice of credit. Ninety-seven per cent of the commerce of the world today is carried on credit, and only three percent on cash."

"There are four elements to properly establish credit—Character, Capacity, Capital and Coverage. Individual and corporate characters are inherently good or bad and are not leg personal attainments. Capital or collateral is always subject to the changes of fortune."

"For its integrity capital is dependent upon protection against disaster in any of its familiar forms; therefore, is supplying the bulwark of our great credit and commercial system, and upon it depends the permanence of our modern material civilization."

GAS MOST EFFICIENT FUEL

From 80 to 95 per cent of the energy stored in coal is lost when it is burned in furnaces or stoves. It is only the gas in the coal that is burned, and much of the heat is lost as well as all of the valuable by-products, when coal is burned raw.

By modern gas-making methods each ton of coal will produce approximately 11,000 cubic feet of gas, 1,400 pounds of coke which contains as much heat as an equal amount of coal, five pounds of ammonia liquor, one and a half gallons of benzol, ten gallons of tar, and a considerable amount of sulphur and naphthalene.

The gas can be burned with an efficiency of 80 per cent; the coke can be used as fuel or turned into additional gas by the carburetted water-gas process; the sulphur, ammonia liquor and naphthalene can be converted into chemicals and fertilizer, and from the tar can be obtained dyes, perfumes and drugs.

She was attacked about two years ago with the dread cancer, which caused her death, August 17, 1927. Interment was in Plymouth.

Amusements

COMING! "IS ZAT SO?" YES! Filmdom's two most virile male stars—

George O'Brien, of "The Iron Horse" and "3 Bad Men" Fame. And—Edmund Lowe, the great Sergeant Quirt of "What Price Glory" in—

A double barreled love story of a prizefighter and his manager in high society.

Based on the sensational Broadway comedy-drama hit, which made its author and star famous throughout the world.

Pathos, laughter and tingling suspense as well as some very fine love scenes feature this delightful picture which includes in its cast well known screen favorites as—

Kathryn Perry, Cyril Chadwick, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Phillippe De Lacy, Doris Lloyd and Richard Maitland.

A real treat is promised to patrons of the Temple Theatre when "Is Zat So?" has its presentation next Sunday night.

HOUSE OF BONDAGE AT MYSTIC THEATRE, WILLARD

Friday and Saturday, the Mystic Theatre will show the famous white slave picture, "The House of Bondage." This story is an amazing one of a schoolgirl's life that blurs the eyes and stirs the heart with the pity of it. "The House of Bondage" is a screen version of Reginald Wright Knapp's Book. It is shown in six parts.

Lois Pickford, the charming sister of Mary and Jack Pickford, is the star of the production.

"The picture is declared to be the greatest white slave production ever shown. It being a powerful, full-blooded sermon about the worst crimes of the white slave traffic. This picture is to be shown to adults only and no under 16 years of age will be admitted. It is endorsed by social uplift workers because it deals with the most vital subject in the universe to day, "The Traffic in Girls."

It deals with the white slave question in a manner which everyone who has read the daring book is thoroughly familiar with. It shows how the cadets of these monarchs of shame go into the small towns and with their wives and naive penitents lure girls out into the broad pathways from which there is no turning back.

In addition to the "House of Bondage," a lecture on Social Hygiene is given, picturing the terrible consequences of vice, and the physical ruin that follows abuse of the moral law. On account of the delicate scenes shown, men and women will not be admitted together. Women only will be admitted Friday night and Saturday matinee and men only Saturday night.

The next time you decide to "rit" someone, think before you act Betty Bronson does it in her latest Paramount Picture, "Elmer Glyn's "Ritzy" and has hard time righting things. You see, Betty plays the part of a rich man's spoiled daughter who is ready to sacrifice anything if only her husband can present a cornet as his wedding gift.

Along comes handsome James Hall who is really a duke. Betty feels a common bond but not knowing he's a nobleman, she repulses his adoration. However, Papa knows Hall's real identity and they decide to teach presumptuous daughter a lesson. Therefore, on the way to Europe, Betty is introduced to William Austin, masquerading as the Duke of Wexford, and she immediately throws herself at his head (figuratively of course). To further complicate matters grown to love Austin. What happens when all four are forced to remain on the same ocean liner for a week? You'll be surprised and then when they arrive in London—you'll be more surprised! Delighted's the word.

"Ritzy" reaches the Castamba Theatre Wednesday August 31st.

THE part played by the kidneys and their importance to bodily health should be clearly understood. Sluggish kidneys do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes. 5 TIMES the Fertilizer's Cost

Bartholomew, Ind.
July 1, 1926

The American Agricultural Chemical Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Sirs:

By the use of 125 lbs. per acre of "AA QUALITY" fertilizer, I feel sure that I have increased my yield 9 bu. per acre this year as the average yield all around me where no fertilizers were used was about 20 bushels per acre.

Yours very truly,
CHAS. BOYER

Figure it up for yourself. Increased yield, 9 bushels to the acre, paid for the fertilizer five times over. A good profit on foresight and care in selecting fertilizer on its crop-producing record.

Please remember that every batch of "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer has first to prove its value in our well-equipped laboratories. It has to meet tests which establish its crop-producing value. Every "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer is built up to a standard not down to a price.

Aids In Getting Street Improvement Across

We are glad to be able to report that in a short time the present hills and dunes on Trust street will be reduced and that Plymouth will have another paved entrance into town. The contract for paving has been let to A. J. Bates of Norwalk, and is to be finished before Jan. 1st 1928. The material to be used is reinforced concrete, like that on the New Haven road.

In this connection it will be interesting to learn that the paving has been speeded up through the intervention of C. A. Seiler, our local attorney. Although not a public official, Mr. Seiler, becoming disgusted with the procrastination in connection with the improvement, learned the status of the case through Mr. Forrest Smith, a former Plymouth boy, and now attorney for the state highway department, while Mr. Smith was here about three weeks ago, visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Esley Smith.

Mr. Seiler then took the matter up with the auditor and commissioners at Mansfield, and with Mr. Smith to watch the affair at Columbus, succeeded in having the bid advertised and the contract let immediately.

Plymouth people will certainly be glad to be able to visit Shiloh without danger to auto springs, and Mr. Seiler is to be commended for pushing through the improvement, for usually Mr. Private Citizen is ready to do it "when it comes to public affairs."
