

Deisler Leased; To Be 'Sound' Equipped

NEW OWNER IS REDECORATING AND INSTALLING NEW EQUIPMENT WHICH INCLUDES WESTERN ELECTRIC SOUND DEVICE; WILL SHOW FIRST RUN PICTURES.

Negotiations between Joseph Hickman and R. H. Nimmons, president of the Peoples National Bank, and executor of the Deisler estate, which includes the Deisler theatre here, have been completed and whereby Mr. Hickman secures a lease on the theatre, and work on the improvement of the picture house has already begun. The deal for the local theatre was handled through A. E. DeVore and Mr. Nimmons.

Mr. Hickman, after much consideration, gave Plymouth his choice in the opening of the Deisler, and his faith in the community is so strong that he is sparing no time or expense in giving theatre-goers one of the best picture houses in northern Ohio. The plans include the installation of a Western Electric equipment, said to be the finest sound outfit made. Engineers have been busy the past two weeks making plans for the acoustics and installation of the machinery, while decorators, carpenters, plumbers and electricians have been working day and night to rush completion of the job.

The name of the picture house will probably be changed from that of the Deisler to the Plymouth Theatre.

The opinion of engineers is that the Deisler is a most suitable type of building for sound equipment, and in his desire to give the public the best in this line, Mr. Hickman chose the Western Electric as the best, for it is known among theater men that this sound equipment has received the highest praise from the largest theatres in America.

Soft mellow lights will adorn the walls, while the background for the entire decorations will be a light ivory. George Dennis of Mt. Gilead is the contractor for this work. Schneider Lumber Co. is furnishing lumber and building materials; Brown and Miller, hardware; Ott Kinsel, general contracting; E. W. Phillips, electrical work; curtains, draperies and carpets from the Holder and Lippus Dry Goods Stores.

The tentative opening date has been set for Saturday, July 4th. However, it is stated that the opening might be delayed due to installation of equipment.

Mr. Hickman assures all first-run pictures, the products of Paramount, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Fox, Pathe, R-K-O and others. And this alone insures patrons of the latest and best types of pictures to be secured.

The fact that Plymouth is to enjoy a theatre of this class brings genuine pleasure to the community, and much favorable comment and a warm welcome is being extended to the new owners, and with the class of pictures, plus the best of sound and a courteous service, it is safe to say that the patronage of the theatre will be unusually good, and that continued support from the community.

Mr. Hickman has a deal pending with the Third National Bank in New London for the purchase of the Karolyin theatre. Should the deal be completed this theatre will be completely remodeled and redecorated and the same equipment installed as that of the theatre here. The same film service would be used in New London as in Plymouth.

Relates Incident That Frank Tubbs Recalled of Indian Fighting Days

J. H. Galbraith, who for the past several years has written old Ohio history for the Associated Press, brings a story of the Indian fighting days of the far West, and says that incident reprinted below will be of special interest to the many friends of the late Frank Tubbs, who served his country as a soldier on the western frontier, and who was a member of the company referred to by Mr. Galbraith in the following article.

"The city of Casper, Wyoming, now the center of the vast oil and wool industry of Wyoming, usually appears spelled with a 'c' instead of an 's' in the last syllable but it should be spelled with an 's' for it was named after an Ohio boy who lost his life there, who so gallantly named.

"Casper Collins was the son of Col. William O. Collins, a lawyer of Hillsboro, Ohio, who recruited and commanded the 11th Ohio cavalry in the Civil war, and his son, Casper, who went into the service with his father as a non-commissioned officer, rose to the rank of first lieutenant before he met his death in the far west.

"The companies of the eleventh cavalry were scattered at once and were in fact never again together, but, moving among the hostile Indians of the far west. On July 15, 1868, the wagon train of a detachment moving to Platte Bridge was surrounded by Indians about twenty miles out from the bridge, and Casper Collins was ordered to go with twenty-four troops to its relief.

Whoever was responsible for the order did not comprehend the situation, for there were thousands of well-armed Indians concealed about the wagon train.

"Collins knew he was riding to his death, but certain of his personal efforts to brother officers before he started, with the remark that he probably would not get back alive. A brother officer advised him to disregard the order, but he replied that he had never failed to obey and rode out. Encountering the Indians, he wheeled his men in column of fours, left into line, and charged only to find they were surrounded by thousands of Indians.

"So close on all sides were the Indians that they found they were shooting each other and desisting for the moment, Collins saw an opening through which he might ride to safety and thought wounded in the hip dashed away, but hearing the cry of a wounded soldier turned to lift him to his horse and was set upon and killed. His body horribly mutilated was recovered and claimed by his family and brought to Ohio for burial.

"Deeply impressed with the bravery of his action his companions substituted his name for that of Platte Bridge, and it stands today as a fitting monument to the bravery of the lieutenant and his little band that was annihilated as Casper's was on the Little Big Horn."

RETURN FROM KENTUCKY MEET

Postmaster W. M. Johns and Grover Bayler returned Friday evening from Ashland, Ky., where they were in attendance at the annual convention of the Tri-State Postmaster's association held several days last week.

One of the features of the convention was the address delivered by Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general, in which he declared that presidential postmasters have a right to engage in politics after office hours.

The Unity Bible Class of the Lutheran church will hold a bake sale in the church parlors, Saturday, June 27th, beginning at 2 o'clock. Plans, baked goods, cakes, cookies and other home-baked goods will be for sale. 12-25-31

W.C.T.U. Holds County Wide Meet

Mrs. Bess Kuntz of Leipsic, Ohio, Gives Interesting Report on World's W. C. T. U. Convention.

"When we get out of United States, we realize how we love it, and after listening to reports from other countries, we are thankful for Prohibition even if it is not enforced perfectly." Mrs. Bess Kuntz, of Leipsic, O., children's worker for Ohio W. C. T. U., told the women of Huron county W. C. T. U. at their institute held in Bellevue last Friday afternoon when listening to the report of the world's W. C. T. U. convention in Toronto which she recently attended.

A delegate from Germany told that she was in this country representing the restaurants and hotels, of her country and her job was to find out how the hotels and restaurants of the U. S. can be so successful without bars over which they dispense booze.

Another delegate from France told of the "Brever's Distiller's and Wine Growers' Convention" held in that country not long ago and that the main discussion was how they might help tear down the prohibition laws of the United States and Canada in order that they might have the patronage of those countries.

Mrs. Kuntz told of organizing an L. T. L. in one place where a Greek boy was put in as president by his schoolmates and when this boy told his father he was president, and said "where will we meet?" this Greek man said he would rent the Grange Hall and so for two years he said the rent on this Hall for a meeting place of this Loyal Temperance Legion. And Mrs. Kuntz told the audience "You can read our foreign born people through the children. Are we going to allow our boys to be Al Capones, or teach them to be law abiding citizens?"

"I would rather have a blind pig come at my boys than one with his eyes wide open," said Mrs. Kuntz. "Our boys, under civilization, are not being invited into the side door of a saloon to drink from the free barrel of booze, which the Brewer tells the saloon keeper is a good investment. Every foreign born woman on the world's W. C. T. U. Convention program said that no organization has done the work for Peace and world Friendship that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has. Thirty-eight flags were on the walls of Convention Hall."

The Friday evening program consisted of two declamatory Silver Medal contests and an instrumental Musical contest, the contestants coming from Monroeville and Bellevue.

Those attending from Plymouth were: Mrs. Ed Phillips Mrs. L. Z. Davis, Mrs. and Mrs. J. L. Price, Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Peoples, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. J. H. Baltzell, Mrs. Eva White, Mrs. Sam Kier, Mrs. Wm. Calverly, Robert Baltzell and Mrs. A. E. Stotts.

"CYCLONE SALLY" HOME TALENT PLAY, TO BE STAGED HERE TONIGHT

Tonight the Dramatic Club of Plymouth will present its initial play, "Cyclone Sally," under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. The players have been practicing almost every night, and when the curtain rises this evening it will reveal an array of home talent never before seen on the local stage.

"Cyclone Sally" is a comedy play, and is destined to amuse the entire audience as it runs along, laugh after laugh, and those who have reviewed the play say that it is an unusually clever, breezily written comedy written for the amateur play. However members of the dramatic club will show you real acting, and there is no doubt but what a large audience will be on hand to receive this initial performance.

Remember the time: 8:15, and the place—High school auditorium. The admission is 50c and 15c. No reserve seats.

Local Girls to Attend 4-H Camp

Life Work Subject to Be Discussed with Club Members.

Six local girls are planning on attending the 4-H Club encampment to take place July 20-25 at Gatz's rocks, near Mansfield.

The program will start Monday evening with singing, vespers and campfire. Mary Gramley will assist in planning the vespers. O. C. Croy, president of the club, assisted by Jennie Harlan and C. G. Frische will plan the campfire program.

Recreational activities will be in charge of Miss Helen Bundy of Cleveland. This will consist of games before breakfast one period in the morning for the younger campers, games and contests in the afternoon and twilight games.

Croy will remain at the camp throughout the week to hold conference with the club members and discuss life's problems, including choice of a life's work.

Several choices may be made in handwork classes. Leather work will be repeated in charge of Jean Hale and Mrs. Kwole. Miss Boyd and Mrs. Syler will conduct the classes. Wood work will also be offered, in charge of W. S. Barger.

Another choice will be music which will be directed with C. G. Frische. It is hoped that plans for a camp orchestra may reach fruition.

An effort will also be made to secure a man from the state division of conservation to teach nature study and photography.

There will be an appreciation hour every afternoon when the campers will be addressed by some prominent person of the community. A life guard will be on duty for the purpose of safeguarding those who participate in the aquatic sport. A camp nurse will be employed.

C. G. Patton, owner of the camp site, and a resident of the section for many years, will entertain the campers with stories and will lead them on several tours through the woods.

Bonnie and Jean Curpen, Betty Brown, Audrey Dinger, Maxine Myers, and Helen Hackett are the girls who have enrolled.

LOCAL MEN VISIT COAL FIELDS IN HOCKING VALLEY

Messrs Don Elmsel, J. B. Derr and R. R. Miller were down in the Hocking Valley last week where they visited several coal companies. The trip took them to Lancaster, Bremen, Lexington, New Straitsville, Baird's Park, Logan and other places. In some of the towns and smaller communities there was a distinct note of civic pride. One of the outstanding incidents of the trip reported was that of the 17-year local. It is stated that they were so thick that the peculiar sound these insects make could be heard above the purr of the auto motor traveling at a good rate of speed.

DROWNING TAKES ITS ANNUAL TOLL OF LIFE

Director H. G. Southard, M.D. of the State Department of Health, states that drowning is the outstanding seasonal tragedy of the year and that it is at ready making its record in Ohio. In the past ten years the minimum death rate in the state was 265 with 355 the maximum in 1921. The end of the decade showed 325 with a total of 3,060 for the period. Hundreds of lives in the annual toll bill of drowning could be saved by proper knowledge on what to do after taking the body from the water. This can be secured by applying to the State Health Department.

600 See Plymouth's First Flower Exhibit

GARDEN CLUB ARRANGES SHOW THAT ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION; 46 ENTRANTS ARE LISTED; AWARDS ARE GIVEN FOR BEST DISPLAY IN FIRST SHOW.

More than 600 people visited Plymouth's first flower show which was held Saturday afternoon and evening in the Clark Building. People registered at the show from Cleveland, Lakewood, Painesville, Elyria, Mansfield, Shelby, New London, Willard, Celeryville, and Shiloh.

The Plymouth Garden Club, sponsors of the flower exhibit, had listed 46 entrants to the show, and they more than proved that Plymouth is a lover of flowers, as well as art, music and literature. Against a background of cleverly arranged branches and evergreens, flowers of every hue vied with each other in their beauty. Here and there ferns rose majestically from their places giving a decidedly restful and cool effect. In every conceivable place, plants and flowers had been arranged to catch the eye of the passerby. Much interest was shown in the sweet plant exhibited by Mrs. Dave Srafield. It is grown entirely within a glass jar and reminds one of a miniature forest overrun with tiny ferns.

The window rock garden designed by Harriet Rogers and arranged by her with the aid of Mrs. Nina Clark and Mrs. B. Wadlington was greatly admired. Other contributions to the show were the miniature garden, Mrs. Dr. Walker; the bird collection, Mrs. J. W. McIntire; the sea shell, Mrs. Cora Miller; the picture entitled, "The Cradle of the Washingtons," a plaque made by Dominic Dorion. This is an authentic portrait of the ancestral home of George Washington at Stratford-on-Avon, England; garden picture in wools, Mrs. H. J. Lippus; a collection of garden ornaments by Leo Barnes; the garden seat placed conspicuously at the rear of the room amidst a tiny garden, birds and other wooden ornaments were the entries of Dorion's Shavings Shop in Plymouth and presented by D. Dorion. The garden seat was sold to a New London guest.

A guessing contest presented by Dorion Shavings Shop was another added attraction. Each visitor was asked to guess the number of peas in a small jar the winner to receive an ornamental crane that was on display at the registration table. Joe Cirlione guessed the nearest number, 617, while the correct number was 618.

In the rear of the building tables and chairs were arranged those who desired cake and ice cream. While music was furnished throughout the evening by Radio Shop through the courtesy of the Ford Repair Shop.

Much credit is due to the chairman of the affair, Miss Harriet Rogers and her committee and members of the Garden Club who sponsored the affair. A vote of thanks is extended the Judges, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Fleming, Mr. P. H. Root, Mrs. Wm. Clark for the use of the room, Mrs. Schreck for tables, Mr. Portle for chairs and other helps. Brown and Miller for various vases, etc. Mr. Thurman Ford for radio and all who in any way helped to make the flower show a success.

William Wechter had the distinction of exhibiting the most entries with thirteen on display while E. K. Trauger came second with seven entries. The best individual peony flower was a Solange, this variety won first prize in last year's national flower show. First premiums were distinguished by blue ribbons and second by red and awarded as follows:

Most artistic large bouquet with 23 varieties—First prize, B. Wadlington.

Most artistic large bouquet, with 28 varieties—Second prize, Mrs. Srafield.

Most artistic small bouquet—First prize, Wm. Wechter; second prize, Mrs. Pickens.

FRAGMENTS FROM AN ASTRONOMER'S WORKSHOP

By Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, Director of Perkins Observatory, Ohio Wesleyan. Author of "Man and the Stars."

Three years ago the biggest piece of optical glass ever made in this country was turned out of the research laboratories of the Bureau of Standards. It was a huge disk six feet in diameter and one foot thick and weighed over two tons. The great disk was cast specifically for the large reflecting telescope at the Perkins Observatory at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, and is still the last word in glass-making which the United States has been able to produce.

Out of this solid disk of glass is now emerging a gigantic mirror which will gather trickles of light from stars 120,000 times fainter than has ever been seen by the naked eye. Slowly, week by week and month by month, for nearly two years, grinding and polishing tools have been working over the glassy surface wearing away hundreds of pounds of glass and shaping the surface with incredible accuracy to bring to a perfect focus the light of the distant stars. All this has been progressing in the optical works of the J. W. Becker company, in Pittsburgh, under the hands of skilled opticians who have made some of the world's largest telescopes.

Tests just made by the most refined methods known to science have revealed that the coveted goal of the perfect reflector is now not far away. Barring unforeseen accidents, which are the bane of such skilled work, it is now but a matter of weeks before the mirror will be placed in the second largest telescope in the United States at the Perkins observatory.

So critical is the work now in progress that should a single grain of dust stray on to the polished surface the completion of the huge mirror might be postponed for months. It is little wonder therefore, that all his work goes on in a secluded room in the basement of the Pecker factory to which none but experts are admitted.

So delicate is the process in these final stages that the room in which the work is now being done must be maintained at constant temperature, for a change of but a few degrees in the temperature of the glass would result in disaster in bringing the carefully figured surface to the exact lines required by the demands of modern astronomical research. If the glass is touched by hand for only a few moments so sensitive is the huge disk to temperature that a microscopic bulge in the surface will result which, unwatched, would spoil the months of months of labor. Delicate tests have been devised whereby an irregularity of a millionth of an inch would at once be detected.

Under such skilled methods of surveillance the final finishing touches will be made to bring to perfection the great 59-inch reflector, soon to be placed at the disposal of the astronomers in Ohio. While every precaution is taken to keep the workshop at uniform temperature, the rhythmic movement of the polishing tool slowly raises the temperature of the glass so that after each few minutes of the most painstaking labor hours must elapse before the large disk again comes to equilibrium for a test of each step of progress.

Only the finest and purest rough obtainable is used in the final polishing of the optical surface. Such rough must be especially prepared by the optician. The contents of the most delicate vanity case will not suffice, for the demands from "Miss Telescope" for such cosmetics are most exacting.

When at last the flawless surface passes the rigid tests of the scientist, it will be coated with a shining coat of pure silver of microscopic thickness. Carefully guarded it will then be transported from Pittsburgh to Delaware, Ohio, to be placed in the tube of the telescope recently constructed of new design to receive it.

When the reflecting surface is completed and turned skyward it will be used for viewing and photographing faint wisps of nebulae so remote in the sky that light traveling six trillion miles a year consumes millions of years in making the journey from outer space to Delaware.

The completion of the Perkins telescope will mark a new era in astronomy, and will place in the heart of Ohio the largest telescope ever set up east of the Rocky Mountains.

Survey Shows Divorce Slump

Number of Marriages Also Smaller in State for 1930.

Marriages and divorces are both decreasing in Ohio it was revealed Saturday in statistics released by the Bureau of Census, national department of commerce.

There were 60,500 marriages performed in Ohio during 1930, as compared with 65,679 in 1929, representing a decrease of 5,549 or 8.1 per cent. In 1922 there were 55,204 marriages performed.

During 1930 there were 14,172 divorces granted in the state as compared with 15,213 in 1929, representing a decrease of 1,041 or 7.5 per cent. In 1922 there were 10,181 divorces allowed. There were 69 marriages annulled in 1930, as compared with 62 in 1929.

The estimated population of the state of Ohio on July 1, 1930, was 5,688,000, and July 1, 1929, 5,651,772. On the basis of these estimates the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population was 2.0 in 1930 as against 2.0 in 1929, and the number of divorces per 1,000 of the population was 2.13 in 1930 as against 2.32 in 1929.

Marriages in Richland county in 1930 totaled 478, in 1929, there were 491. Divorces were 167 in 1930, three more than in 1929. These statistics are preliminary. Divorce data was secured from the clerks of courts of the various counties, and marriage information from the probate court. All figures are subject to correction.

Sunday School Class Enjoy Picnic

Last Thursday evening the T. W. & M. C. class of the Lutheran Sunday School held a very enjoyable picnic at the farm of Mr. P. H. Root. The young people met at the church at 8 p. m. and drove from there to the farm. Games and swimming occupied their time until 8:30 when a picnic lunch was served. They again played games until 8 o'clock and then returned in a body to the church to be in time for choir practice. Expressions of appreciation were heard for Mr. and Mrs. Root who generously granted us the privilege of their grounds and for the committee consisting of Misses Miriam Downenworth and Lucille Pugh and Mr. Stanley Gribben, who arranged all the details of the outing.

Those present were, Rev. and Mrs. Stull and son Jimmie, Misses Lucille Fanner, Naomi Young, Geneva McClellan, Ruth McClellan, Ruth Root, Miriam Root, Helen Presken, Eloise Shaver, Lucille Pugh, Miriam Downenworth, Jane DeWitt, Eleanor Searle, Mary Mills, Doris Latta, Donna Russell, Mabel Preston, Edith Preston and Messrs. Floyd Dawson, Orva Dawson, Donald Shaver, Stanley Gribben, Frank Fanner, Jr., Correll Scott, Willard Caldwell, Robert Fellows, George Mills, Dick Majors.

Rome Ladies Aid Have Fine Meet

In order that the members of the Rome Presbyterian Ladies Aid might accept the invitation of the Belleville Aid to be their guests, they convened a week earlier than customary to make necessary plans.

History of Plymouth

BY MAY FLEMING

Plymouth was represented in Richland county by three county treasurers, John P. Drennan, 1832; Thomas Willett, 1833, 1836 and 1838, and Hugh W. Patterson, 1839.

Mr. Willett's parents were originally from Pennsylvania. His daughter, Rachel Bevier, and they were the parents of eight children, two of whom died in early youth. Hiram Willett married Jennie Wheeler, Frank married Mrs. Amanda Saviers Kirtland, J. F. Weidner married Anna James W. Hills married Kate, Edward married Miss Alice Keiser, daughter of Rev. Philip Keiser, a former Methodist minister. Mr. Willett has been a vocal teacher for the past forty years. Peter Willett died at the age of 21. They are all deceased except Mrs. W. J. Hills of Medford, Ore., and A. E. Willett of Plymouth.

G. C. Graham, Matthew McKelvey and Wilson Brothers were the first merchants. McKelvey's first store was located where Doc Caldwell's filling station now is. Later, he built the McKelvey garage in town. Matthew McKelvey's store was on the site of the People's National Bank. The McKelvey store was owned and operated by Dr. Roelliff Bevier and is now the property of Mrs. Anna James. McKelvey's store was a number of daughters, erected a two-room frame building in 1831, started an educational institution called a "seminary," with competent teachers, which was successfully conducted for several years.

Later merchants were Culp & Croninger, Robert McDonough, Strong & Burroughs, Webster & Mann, Powers & Kinney, Drennan & Hornbeck, Henry Saviers, R. Emery, C. J. Ponceller, J. Kilburn, Huron Parker, D. B. King, F. W. Kirtland and H. Hutchinson, all deceased.

Also L. Bevier, who now conducts a chain of stores at Shelby, New London, Wellington, Oberlin and Willard; Plymouth Mercantile Co.; Miss Elvora Taylor, W. McLure, and today the Holder Co. and H. J. Lippus dry goods store.

Four milliners were Misses Maria and Katharine Kinney, Miss Brisco, Mrs. Esther White, C. J. Ponceller, Jim McCrete, Miss Kate Miller, Mrs. J. Barr, Miss Mollie Briggs, Mrs. Elsie Smith, Miss Mary Hayes, Miss M. M. Smith, Mrs. George Stalinger, Miss Louise Willett, Mrs. Clara Link. In business today are Mrs. Roy Hatch and Mrs. D. Hanick, who millinery store is conducted by her daughters, Misses Daisy and Grace Hanick. This is the oldest business establishment in Plymouth. Mrs. Hanick having been in business fifty-three years. Mrs. Hanick celebrated her 85th birthday Aug. 18, 1930.

The first house on Plymouth street, now owned by Charles Taylor was built by the late Robert Gribben's father, where Mr. Gribben was born in 1833. Mr. Taylor, who passed his 93rd birthday anniversary February 13, 1931, is the oldest man in county.

The old cemetery, called "Pioneers' Rest," back of where the first Presbyterian church then stood, was donated by Michael Trux and the first person buried there was Mr. Gribben's brother, 98 years ago in March. The next house on the street was formerly owned by E. J. Heller. The brick part was built for a school house. Then came the late Mrs. Amanda Derr's house. There was an ashery on the site of the Will Reed and Mrs. Nora Wyandt homes. This was owned by William Drennan and operated by Jack Butler. At that time, 1840, no coal was used. The ash from the wood were hauled to the ashery and converted into potash. The price paid was about 10 cents a bushel.

Next was the Long house which was moved back and is used as a garage by E. J. Trauger. Mr. and Mrs. James Hull lived in a house next to the Trauger home. They were the parents of eleven children. Those living here were Wesley

TO MAKE HOME WITH BROTHER

Mrs. Lester Opdyke of the Plymouth-Shelby road left this week to make her home with her brother, J. E. Hollenbaugh of Shiloh. Mrs. Opdyke has not been in the best of health for some time. She hopes she will enjoy her new home.

AUNT OF H. KENDIG DIES AT ASHLAND

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday for Mrs. Sadie Rita Kendig, 53, life-long resident of Ashland county, who died at her home last Wednesday night. Her husband John W. Kendig, died some years ago. She is an aunt of Mr. H. Kendig of Plymouth.

Hull, who married Elizabeth John, Beaman, William, James and Clara. Mike Seller married Clara and Milton Guello married Jane. Wesley Hull was a tailor and was employed by W. B. Kahn, clothier. He later went to Cincinnati. His oldest daughter, Kate, was the first wife of Charles Beelman, who was associated with his brother in conducting the Plymouth advertiser.

Then the home of the late John Beelman, furniture dealer and undertaker, now owned by Mrs. Jean Seville.

The last dwelling house on the west side of the street was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Drennan, parents of the late George Drennan and Mrs. Edith Drennan Geer of Gallon. The property is now owned by Mrs. Jennie Musnasus. Going back to the south end of Plymouth street, on the east side, the Burr property was remodeled out of a building once as Plymouth's postoffice and located just east of the present postoffice site.

The Schreck property was a parsonage. Rev. Knott Conger occupied the house at that time. He was one of the pioneer ministers of the Presbyterian church. The property was owned by Hiram Myers and occupied by William Rose. On the corner of Plymouth street and Burt's avenue was the Farber home, which was built about the lot a number of years ago and a modern home was erected by Halsey F. Rose. The next property was built by Bradley Taylor and now owned and remodeled by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Watson. Mr. Taylor was the father of J. Taylor of New York city, who has always maintained an interest in his home town.

The Swalley home on the corner of Plymouth and East High streets is owned by Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Walker and has been remodeled. Mr. Swalley manufactured cradles, an implement for reaping grain and hoes, and his factory was located on the lot just north of his home, which was removed many years ago.

The Lyman Strong house stood out to the sidewalk at that time and to the south was a conservatory. Mr. and Mrs. Strong were the grandparents of Harry Benson Strong of Chicago. The house was moved back and remodeled and the next property was owned by John McLaughlin, but both are now the property of Mrs. Grace Kirkpatrick. The house now occupied by Mrs. Beelman was owned by Dr. Jay Kling and Dr. Horace Austin, both pioneer doctors of the town.

On the Percy H. Root lot, Andrew Beelman, father of the late J. Frank Beelman, had a dwelling, also a cabinet shop. Where Miss Cornelia Bevier's property is located was a frame house, occupied by Robert McDonough, a pioneer merchant. This house was later removed and a brick house was built by Adam Myers, who later became the property of Huron Parker.

On Sandusky street there were no homes north of the Light property, next to the John Beelman home, and known as the Brown property, on the west side. On the site of the J. Beelman and Mrs. E. Motley properties was a foundry owned by a Mr. Mason. The Judson home was the last on the east side of Sandusky street.

Coming to the square on West Main there were a number of dwellings west of the business part. To the east of the school building was the home of Broughton Vinton and family. He was a stone cutter and monument dealer. The home is now the property of Grover Bevier.

In front of the old red school house stood three small dwellings on West Broadway was Robert Morfoot's. It stood where the Slisiger house now stands. Mr. Morfoot conducted a pottery and brick yard. Where Mayor Derr's home is located was a brick house owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

"Our lives are rivers, gliding through to that unthought-of, boundless sea—The after tomb."

In memory of Brother Charles G. Miller, who died June 16, 1931:

"Leaves have their time to fall, and flames to wither, at the north wind's cold blast, but thou, oh Death! hath all seasons for this own."

Once again a brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's treble board has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem and hath received as his reward, the white stone with the new name written thereon:

And, Whereas, The all-wise and merciful Master of the universe has called from labor to refreshment, our beloved and respected brother: And, Whereas, He having been a true and faithful brother of our improved order, therefore, be it

Resolved, that Richland Lodge No. 201 P. & A. M. Plymouth, Ohio, in testimony of his loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days and that we tender to the widow of our deceased brother our sincere condolence in his deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the widow.

Dr. J. T. GASKILL, CLEMENT McDUGGAL, WILLARD ROSS, Com.

NORWALK DEBT IS ALMOST PAID

On or about Sept. 1, the city of Norwalk will have paid the last cent of indebtedness owing to the city of $53,750 in East Main street, having bonds here about ten years ago. In addition to the face value of the bonds, the city is about to finish the payment of $15,181 in interest charges. The total amount will be $68,931.

A Toledo bond purveyor, known as Henry Bennett submitted the lowest bid and was given the bonds. But he had little or no funds in a bank, contrary to representation, and has never paid for them. His whereabouts is still unknown.

The best individual peony flower was a Solange. This variety won first prize last year in the national flower show.

A collection of garden ornaments
by Leo Barnes was also an attraction that drew attention.
Much credit is due the chairman of the affair, Miss Harriet Rogers and those assisting in making Plymouth's first flower show a complete and delightful success.

W. C. T. U. HAVE FINE MEET AT PERRY HOME

Nineteen members and friends of the Plymouth W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Perry on North street last Thursday afternoon for the flower mission program, which is always held in June.

For the devotional period Miss Margaret Phillips gave the Ten Commandments, as found in the 30th chapter of Exodus, from memory, and Miss Eva White, a former beloved member of the Union, led in prayer.
During a short business session the committee, consisting of Mrs. J. L.
Price, Mrs. Nora Wyandt and Mrs.
Clarence Scott, which had been appointed to find someone to act as president in place of Mrs. Baltzell, who had resigned at the May meeting, reported that Mrs. M. M. Peoples had kindly consented to try the work, providing the members would take as much of the activities of the Union as possible.

Miss Eva White gave the "Story of the Flower Mission and the Bellieved Work," and Mrs. Bernice Morrow
"The Story of Jennie Cassady's Life."
These two readings gave a splendid history of this department of work of the national W. C. T. U.
Mrs. Wm. Caldwell told of "Frances E. Willard's Love of Flowers and Folk," and Mrs. Clarence Scott gave a leaflet entitled "The Retoucher," which likened Christ as the "Retoucher" who can take the marks and scars made by sin, from the lives of people and make them like new.

Master Jimmie Stull, small son of Rev. and Mrs. Stull, gave a short declamation which was a delight, to all.

"The Good American," was given by Lottie Doerflinger of Shiloh, and Mrs. Maynard Stull read an article from the Ohio Messenger, official publication of the Ohio W. C. T. U. which told of the prohibition course to be given at Ohio Wesleyan University.
This course is made possible through a gift of W. F. Fiegler, editor of Good Housekeeping and an alumnus of Ohio Wesleyan.

Another interesting item on the program was the Flower Mission and Believed Work report of the work done in this department of Ohio in 1930
and given by Mrs. A. E. Stotts.

Mrs. Wm. Caldwell and Mrs. Clarence Scott have invited the ladies to make use of their lawns for the annual picnic which will be held on the regular meeting day, July 17.

These meetings, picnic included, are always open to all who are interested enough in this work to attend. Watch our local paper for further information.

OBITUARY

A. J. Notheraker, son of John and Rebecca Notheraker, died in Brooklyn,
New York, June 20th, 1931, after a short illness.

Mr. Notheraker was born near Shelby, Ohio, February 19th, 1861 and was 70 years old at the time of his death.

His parents moved to Shiloh in 1867 where Mr. Notheraker attended the public schools and after branched out in the business world, spending the greater part of his life in New York City.

ity. He also made his influence felt through business circles in the community, operating an up-to-date furniture store with equal success.

After becoming settled in Plymouth
he became a member of the First Lutheran church, in the fellowship of which he has been active since that time.

He departed this life June 26, 1931,
aged 55 years, 9 months and 27 days.
Surviving are his wife and daughter, Mary Louise, five brothers: John and Will Miller of Columbus, O., Fred Miller of Sidney, Ohio, Henry H. in the West, George M. Miller of Sidney, two sisters, Mrs. Phillip McCann of Columbus, O., and Miss Nettie Miller of Sidney, Ohio. His mother preceded him in death two weeks.

Plymouth and vicinity mourn with relatives his departure as a distinct bereavement.

ROSE GARDENS REQUIRE MUCH CARE THIS SUMMER

During last summer weather roses in the home garden require considerable care, according to Alex. Lauria, professor of floriculture at the Ohio State University, who says that a 2 inch mulch on the beds will help to check weeds and to conserve soil moisture.

Roses should not be allowed to go to seed, he believes. As the flowers fade it is best to cut them off, but at least three leaves should be left at the bottom of each shoot which will provide a sufficient number of buds for future development and new flowers.

This is especially true with hybrid teas and tea roses. Budded and grafted roses tend to throw wild suckers from under the bottom or graft, especially if the roses are planted too shallowly.

It is best, Lauria states, to examine all rose plants frequently and if any of those suckers appear they should be clipped off. They may be recognized by their light green coloration and the appearance of 7 to 8 leaflets instead of the usual five of the hybrid kind.

If the season is fairly cold and wet, mildew and black spot are almost sure to make their appearance. A very satisfactory method of control, he believes is found in the use of sulfur dust or manure dust which should be applied at regular weekly intervals.
Such frequent applications will serve as a preventive if not as a cure.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always a reason. Restless children are on the wrapper, mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special child's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as it is needed. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbances, it is irreplaceable.
A coated lozenge calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath.
Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little puzzles—this pure, gentle preparation is usually all that's needed.
