"TIGERS" DROP GAME 33-22

GREENWICH GAME PROVES
A THRILLER IN FRIDAY NIGHT FRACAS.

In a thrilling game which kept spectators constantly on their feet, the P. H. S. "Tigers" were nosed out by Greenwich by a one-point margin. The game was nip and tuck throughout, with just one team being on the long end of the score and then the other. Plymouth took a lead of 11 to 9 at the initial stanza but were behind 18 to 15 at intermission. Again they forged ahead 23 to 20 only to see Greenwich pull ahead just before the final minute and freeze the ball until the gun ended the contest.

While it was a heart-breaking contest to lose, the local team as well as Greenwich, can be commended for their excellent play. It was one of the best contests of the season to date. Hoffman of Plymouth and Gifford of Greenwich each counted fourteen for scoring honors, followed by Hough with 9.

The reserves defeated Greenwich in the opener by a 15 to 9 score. Williamson with 6 was high point man.

The next P. H. S. games will be with the Alumni this Thursday night, February 1, and with Tiro Tuesday, February 6.

SHELBY POLICE CHIEF TO SPEAK HERE, TONIGHT

The Brotherhood program for Government Night, postponed last Friday because of the inability of Mr. John Kramer, the scheduled speaker, to be present, will be held this evening at 6:30 in the Annex of the Lutheran Church. Chief of Police LeRoy Coffey of Shelby will be the speaker in place of Mr. Kramer. Mr. Coffey has had wide experience in his chosen field and is credited with one of the best equipped and functioning forces for a town of its size in the state. In addition Mr. Coffey is a minister of the gospel, thus affording an unusual combination of abilities and services.

An added feature of the program will be Steve Crawford of Bucyrus, magician deluxe. Mr. Crawford comes here highly recommended by many organizations such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Chambers of Commerce, and other Brotherhoods. He offers varied and fascinating program of sleight of hand, bearing out the old claim that the hand is quicker than the eye.

Because of the confusing situation which resulted from the enforced postponement of last week the officials of the Brotherhood have determined that hereafter the Brotherhood meetings will be run on the night scheduled without regard for any existing conflict save when they may conflict with services being held in the Churches of town.

The February meeting is scheduled for Friday, February 23rd and will be held on that date.

Don't talk about how cold it is. Wear earmuffs so you can't hear your friends prattle "plenty cold, isn't it?"
Walk fast — keep your blood circulating.
Take a hot drink before you go out—but not too many.
Don't go out at all.

Voters in the 17th Ohio District now have the duty of filling a vacancy in the national House of Representatives. Ohio needs in Congress an outspoken, patriotic citizen like J. Harry McGregor. It is his nature to think straight. He is no rubber stamp. When his conscience says "No"—he will vote NO. He will serve in the nation as he has served in the state. SPELLBINDER

Di-di Wang, one of China's war orphans, is learning to be an orator.

THE old rule that children should be seen and not heard is reversed in the new homes for China's war orphans which are being built in "free" China under the guidance of Miss Chiang Kai-shek, wife of China's leader. Di-di Wang, shown in the picture, has taken up oratory to the fascination of his playmates who listen spellbound to his performance during their school recesses.

The children in these orphan homes are learning many new skills from American trained teachers. Miss Chiang, their war "mother," was a graduate of Wellesley College.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Occasion And Composition

Approach of the 131st anniversary of Lincoln's birthday, Monday, Feb. 12, is the story circulated in Gettysburg. The tradition had prevailed that the address consisting of 269 words, was delivered without preparation, or that it was written by Lincoln on a Baltimore and Ohio train between Washington and Gettysburg. The clarity and diction of the message is proof that it was carefully prepared.

Competent testimony now available, seems to prove that Lincoln wrote the address in its entirety or in part, before he left Washington. There is also convincing evidence that he gave it the finishing touches in the home of Judge David Wills in Gettysburg, the night before it was delivered.

After the Battle of Gettysburg it was decided that all the bodies of Union soldiers be gathered and buried in one place. Seventeen acres of land was purchased by the State of Pennsylvania, acting as trustee for the 18 states that had Union soldiers buried there. It was decided to dedicate the cemetery on October 2, 1863, and Edward Everett, an orator of highest repute in his day, was invited to make the principal address. He asked for more time to prepare his speech and proposed November 19th as the date. This was accepted.

On the day of the dedication, the exercises were scheduled to start before noon. When the President reached the cemetery, Mr. Everett had not arrived and the exercises were delayed one-half hour. They began at noon, an hour late. Mr. Everett spoke for one hour and 57 minutes. His oration was thoughtful and eloquent but it is now regarded as tedious reading.

Lincoln, as Chief Executive of the nation, was asked to make a few appropriate remarks formally setting apart the grounds for their sacred use.

"The few words," one of his biographers wrote, "were such as sank deep, but left his audience unaware that a classic had been spoken which would endure with the English language." Lincoln, himself, thought that the speech was a failure and made a remark to that effect to his companion, Ward Hill Lamon.

A young man, by the name of Wayne McVeigh said to the President, "You have made an immortal address," Lincoln replied, "You must not be extravagant about it." Few, however, realized at the time, that it was an "immortal address." The sentence which proved to be a poor prophecy was, "The world will little note nor long remember what we say here."

Civil Service Exams For Liquor Store Position

Civil Service examinations for positions of manager, cashier and clerk in agencies operated by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control will be held in the American Legion Auditorium at Mansfield, Thursday, February 8 and Friday, February 9. C. W. Handley, manager of the Mansfield Employment Security Center of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, said he had been informed recently by the Ohio Civil Service Commission.

Examinations for the position of manager of a State Liquor Department agency, with a salary range of $1,800 to $2,400 per year, will be held Thursday, February 8, Manager Handley said.

Cashier and Clerk applicants will take their examinations on Friday, February 9. Cashier salaries range from $1,440 to $1,800 and clerks from $1,380 to $1,600.

More than 75 men obtained Civil Service bulletins and application blanks from the Mansfield Employment Security Center, Manager Handley said, in addition to a number of men registered for employment with the Center whose past experience record indicated they were qualified to hold the positions for which the examinations are to be conducted.

Local Boy Gets Write Up In Physical Magazine

"Strength and Health," a monthly magazine devoted to physical culture, carried three pictures in recent issues of local young men.

Ralph Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Scott of High Street, is shown in two poses and the third picture is titled "three powerful lifters from Sandusky, Ohio. Henry Jacoby, Wayne Gebert and Ralph Scott. Jacoby does a leg press with 1000 pounds. His ambition is to break Barbell's world record of 241 repetitions with 220 pounds. He has already accomplished one hundred repetitions with 250. Scott also leg presses over a thousand pounds."

Scott, some years ago, was troubled with heart ailment and credits the use of a series of exercises as outlined in the magazine with bar bells as eliminating the heart condition entirely.

Gebert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gebert of Plymouth Street and for years has been a faithful devotee to the art of bar bell lifting.

Juniors Entertain the Seniors At Annual Banquet-Dance Saturday

The Junior Class of P. H. S. feted the Seniors at a banquet held Saturday evening at the gym. The auditorium was attractively decorated with a green ceiling in the center from which were drawn streamers of white, pink, and blue crepe paper. Varied colored balloons were strung along the sides and great bunches of blue balloons hung from the center.

The group were seated at card tables which were placed around the auditorium, each lighted by a single candle. The faculty and their guests sat at a long table in front of the stage, which was attractively decorated with many candles in pastel shades. The table cloths and napkins were in pastel shades, while the programs were in green.

A delicious menu was served by the members of the Alpha Class of the Lutheran Church consisting of tomato cocktail, baked ham, scalloped potatoes, slaw salad, peas and carrots, ice cream and cake, hot rolls and coffee.

Joe Hunter served as the toastmaster of the program which followed. In the absence of Bob Martin, Junior Class President, Harry Vandervort, the Vice-president, welcomed the Seniors. The response was made by Bob Moore, Senior Class president. Roy Marshall gave the toast to the Seniors and Barbara Pickens read the class prophecy. Miss Josephine Faulkner thanked the Juniors on behalf of the faculty. Leona Taylor executed the Class Will; the humorous class poem was read by Martha Heath. The program was concluded by the singing of the alma mater. During the banquet Geraldine Steele entertained with several accordion selections.

Dancing was enjoyed by the entire group under the soft lights to the music of a nickelodeon.

VETERANS WANT U. S. TO STAY OUT OF WAR

W. E. WYANDT, STEP-SON OF MRS. NORA WYANDT OPENS MEETING.

The importance of keeping America out of European wars was stressed by speakers at the closing meeting of the two-day mid-winter conference of the Florida Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars at Bartow, Florida, last week.

O. B. Ketchum, of Kansas City, national chief of staff, told an audience of about 200 that veterans, because of their own experience in previous wars, would be the first to do all in their power to keep American troops on United States soil.

He said the VFW started such a program three years ago, and would be opposed to sending American soldiers to fight any European country's battles. Ketchum reviewed the organization's program to provide for widows and orphans of war veterans, and to build citizenship.

Mrs. Ida B. Cohen, of Boston, national president of the Ladies' auxiliary, spoke on the opportunities that America offers to every citizen. She declared that the national auxiliary was pledged to oppose any attempt to draw the United States into a foreign conflict.

Others on Program Circuit Judge W. J. Barker, who has been nominated for the federal district judgeship at Tampa, was introduced and spoke briefly.

W. B. Wyandt, commander of the Bartow post, and a step-son of Mrs. Nora Wyandt of Mills Avenue, Plymouth, opened the meeting, and turned it over to Milton Thomas, of Sarasota, senior vice commander of the Florida department. Thomas was named to carry on the duties of Commander J. C. Welton, of Jacksonville, who was relieved of his duties until April 1, due to the serious illness of his wife.

TODAY IS METHODIST LADIES AID

Today, Thursday, is the date for the Methodist Ladies Aid and the members are meeting at the Parsonage this morning for a pot-luck dinner, with Mrs. Wintermute a gracious hostess. The business meeting will be held in the afternoon, and those unable to attend the dinner are urged to come for the afternoon session. There will be sewing for all to do. Mrs. Cole will have the devotions.

HOSTESS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Miss Helen Dick was hostess on Friday evening to a social group at her home on West Broadway. The guests met at various times of the year and do honor to the birthdays that fall nearest that date.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seims, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hampton, Miss Helen Akers, Mr. Don Akers, Miss Dorothy Sponseller, Mr. Oliver Fairchild, with Mr. Akers being the honored one and receiving a gift. A lovely luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

CLUB HEAR ARTICLE ON "PUERTO RICO"

Tourist Club met January 29th at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hoffman. The hostess, assisted by her daughters, served a delicious dinner to twelve members. Mrs. J. A. Knight was in charge of the menu and chose for her subject, "Puerto Rico: Watchdog of the Caribbean." After four centuries the land from which Ponce de Leon sailed to discover Florida is again an outpost—this time facing east. The naval air base at San Juan is a part of the President's neutrality patrol. Daily the flying boats patrol the Caribbean area.

The Club will meet again on February 12th with Mrs. H. A. Knight as hostess.

SOCIAL CIRCLE MEET THURSDAY AFTERNOON

On next Thursday afternoon Mrs. Maude Points will be hostess to members of Plymouth Chapter, O. E. S., all of whom are invited to the Social Circle meeting for February.

Mrs. Harriet Robinson will be the assistant hostess. Besides the business meeting there will be cards and games for those who want to play and anyone is welcome to bring their sewing and needlework.

MISS McLANE AND C. MALONE TO BE MARRIED

Announcement is being made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Eloise McLane, Milan, to Clarence Malone of Berlin Heights.

Miss McLane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. McLane and Mrs. Charles Malone. The wedding will be an event of Saturday afternoon, Feb. 3 at 3:30 o'clock. The Rev. C. L. Alspaugh of Sandusky will officiate in the Presbyterian Church of Milan.

A reception at the Lockwood Chapel for members of the immediate families and relatives will follow the ceremony.

The couple will reside in Milan. Miss McLane is a niece of Mrs. D. W. Eisel of Plymouth and a frequent visitor here.

MAIDS OF MIST CLUB ENTERTAINED

The Maids of the Mist met at the home of Mrs. Fred Ross on Thursday, January the 25th, for their usual all day meeting.

A small crowd was in attendance owing to the inclement weather. The time was spent in conversation until the pot luck dinner was served, to which all did ample justice.

Early in the afternoon our President Mrs. Nellie Smith called the meeting to order and the usual business of the club was transacted. This was followed by a program, consisting of a Recitation—Marilyn Cheesman Reading—Mrs. Kenrick Reading—Mrs. Kemp Reading—Mrs. Hutchinson

After singing a number of songs the club adjourned to meet the fourth Thursday of February with Mrs. Sam Sponseller.

Tigers Versus Alumni Scheduled for Tonight

The 1939-1940 edition of the "Tigers" will meet the stars of former years in a game to be played this evening at the high school auditorium at 7:30. This game which always attracts a great deal of attention promises to be a real battle. Last year the high school defeated the Alumni.

Tuesday Plymouth entertains Tiro in a two return contest beginning at 7:30 Tuesday night, February 6th. The "Tigers" defeated their Crawford County rivals 28 to 22 and 13 to 6 earlier in the season.

ALUMNI NOTICE

An important Alumni meeting will be held Monday, February 5th at the Grade School Building at 8 p. m. Plans will be made for the Alumni Valentine Dance to be held in the High School Auditorium. This is your Alumni—can we depend on you?

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

by PAULINE SCHOFIELD

"The Hamburger Family"

Immediately on reading the title your thoughts turned to meat patties or meat loaf and then stopped. This is actually merely an introduction to the history and progress of this famous family. Ground beef is, of course, the first in line of the generation, but let's investigate the descendants of this renowned ancestor. There's ground lamb, ground pork, ground veal, and even ground sausage. If you aren't familiar with these, strike up an acquaintance today. It's not necessary to use each of them individually, but try combining them and see what tempting surprises result.

It's not always the meat alone which is responsible for all the goodness, for spices, oils, and many other ingredients add to that tantalizing flavor.

These recipes should be the "beginning of a beautiful friendship" between your family and the family "Hamburger."

Sausage Pocketbooks

1 lb. beef, ground
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup sugar
Few grains pepper
Prepared mustard
2 Vienna sausages
2 Tbsp. fat or salad oil

Mix meat, salt, and pepper. Form into 8 flat patties spread with prepared mustard. Place 1 sausage on each patty; fold over; fasten with toothpicks. Broil on both sides until brown. Serves 4.

Michigan Meat Loaf

1 lb. beef, ground
1/2 lb. veal, ground
1/2 lb. pork, ground
1/2 C. crushed cornflakes
2 eggs
Few grains pepper
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup sugar

Bake one hour in moderate (350 degree) oven. Delicious served with plain spaghetti.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackford and children who have been living in the furnished apartment at the Sourvine Hotel, moved Saturday to Shiloh to make their home.

CONSTANT CROPPING DEPRIVES SOIL OF VITAL PLANT FOODS

CHICAGO.—"Grazing animals can sometimes jump a fence from the pasture to the corn or grain field to forage for better feed, but growing crops have to stay where they are and either thrive or starve, depending on the fertility level of the soil," says a report of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Hence it is necessary for the farmer to carry the plant food to the growing crops, the same as he rations his cows with silage or concentrates, if he expects high yield and good quality production."

"The farmer's task of aiding both his soil and his crops is being made simpler by chemical science which is providing nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash at a cost level more in keeping with what he produces than practically any other item he buys today."

"After continued croppings most soils are unbalanced. They become deficient in one or all of the three important feeding elements—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash," the report declares. "In such a situation the important thing a farmer must know and do is to carry the right kind of plant food to the crop, apply it in adequate quantities and avoid waste. The soil as well as the crop must be considered, too, for the fertilizer must provide essential nutrients for the crop and help maintain the fertility of the soil as well."

"If a farmer needs help in deciding upon the proper fertilizer analysis, he can obtain the cooperation of the Soils or Agronomy Department of his State Agricultural College. Or he can consult his local County Agent, who is usually equipped to make specific recommendations concerning analyses, rate per acre and manner of application. Such a step will mean immediate as well as future profits from his crops."

WHAT IS ASTROLOGY?

By Gemini

PEOPLE sometimes regard astrology in a disparaging, skeptical light—due to a misconception of its real meaning. Astrology consists of more than simple "sun signs" and one-way "life-readings." A real Horoscope is set up according to the exact data of one's birth. Through this data it is possible to erect a scientific map of the (astrological) heavens as viewed at any specific time and place on earth.

A horoscope takes into consideration the known planets—of which there are eight; the sun and moon; twelve signs, and the relationships between these factors and the earth. These relationships give rise to twelve astrological "Houses," five major and a like number of minor planetary aspects (or angles); and out of these an almost innumerable variety of combinations can be had. Due to this complexity of a horoscope—the fact that so very few people are born at the same time and place—few horoscopes are alike... and few contain exactly similar testimonies. Most horoscopes are different—and unique to the individuals possessing them.

Erecting a horoscope is a scientific process. However, the reading of a "star map" is an art. Due to the human element in interpretation, astrologers sometimes vary and make mistakes. But it is to be remembered that

If you have a problem on your mind, write to "Gemini," in care of this newspaper, clearly outlining it. Include your birthday, present age, year, hour and place born. (Mention nearest known moment of birth: whether A. M. or P. M.; and, if born in small town, name nearest large city.) You will receive an answer, based on your individual horoscopic data, through this column. Include a pseudonym so that you may identify your answer—if you don't wish your name to appear.

J. K.—Your astrological set-up for 1950 favors the change of home you have in mind. If convenient, try to make the actual move around June.

"Henry"—As to vocation, your horoscope indicates latent literary ability. I suggest a course in journalism, short-story writing, or teaching—if in consonance with your desires and ambitions.

L. S.—Divorce is not advised, unless you can see no other way out. Your horoscope shows severe 7th House afflictions—always pointers to trials through marriage and partnership. Better make your choice philosophically and carefully next time—if there is a next time.

First Movies Shown At

High School Tuesday

A fair-sized crowd attended the "Scarlet Letter," sponsored by the Senior Class, given Tuesday evening at the F. H. S. auditorium. This is the first of a series of shows to be sponsored by the various high school classes on Tuesday nights every other week. There were a few hitches in the production due to faults in the film, but by next time it is hoped that such difficulties can be taken care of.

Tuesday, February 13, the high school will present the feature movie "Harmony Lane" featuring Adrienne Ames, together with a short subject "Pony Express."

FOOD INSTITUTE OPENS HERE TOMORROW

First Season For Popular Food Event

1940 Gasco Food Institute Appears In 52 Communities

THE 1940 edition of the Gasco Food Institute marks the first year that this popular food event has been presented here. Each year the Institute has attracted wide and favorable comment among housewives of the fifty some other Ohio cities and towns in which it has appeared.

Many unusual and novel features have established the Institute as one of the most interesting and informative events of its kind. It was one of the first cooking schools to introduce drama into its programs, to make them more entertaining. It is one of the few traveling food schools which carries its own model kitchen in which all programs are conducted.

Well Trained Personnel

A well trained personnel is in charge of the traveling unit. An experienced Food Lecturer is in charge of all cooking demonstrations. An Institute Manager is responsible for all details, arrangements and physical properties of the Food Institute. This staff is assisted by members of the local organization of The Gas Company in each community.

Local Products Featured

Products manufactured and sold by local business concerns in each community in which the Gasco Food Institute is presented, are featured throughout the program. These products, however, must measure up to high standards which have been established by the Institute.

Audience Praises Magic Mirrors

Outstanding features of the programs of the 1940 Gasco Food Institute are the sensational "Magic Mirrors" which make possible almost unbelievable clear visualization of all cooking demonstrations to the audience. Homemakers in attendance at the sessions of the Food Institute are high in their praise of this dramatic innovation.

Two "Magic Mirrors" are used, one which mirrors all cooking done on the top of the range and the other which depicts the activity of the Food Lecturer on the main-preparation table in the center of the stage. Above is pictured this "Magic Mirror" showing the Food Lecturer at work at the table.

Novel Programs To Be Presented

The programs present a novel and varied series of lectures, demonstrations and dramatic skits which will both entertain and inform the Institute's audiences. The Gasco Food Institute has acquired a reputation for its unique presentation of the latest cooking trends. During the programs practically every phase of cooking and food preparation will be covered with special emphasis on time-saving methods and the preparation of unusual food servings.

The opening program, "Life Begins at Breakfast," is a different approach to the problem of getting variety and substance into breakfast menus. The program opens in a dramatic manner which holds many surprises for the audience. Every homemaker will find much of interest in this first day's program.

Many New Features

A score of brand new features will enliven the interest of the Food Institute. For example, the "magic mirrors" bringing an exciting new touch to all cooking demonstrations. These and other properties are designed to make each program more entertaining and more informative than ever.

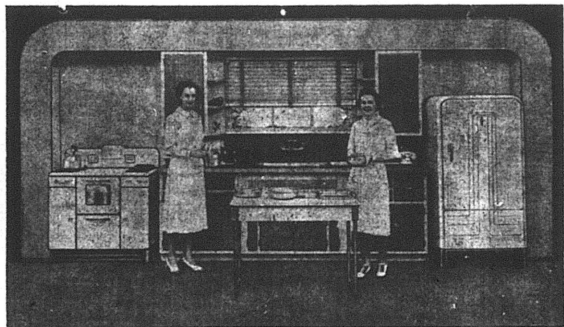

Both programs will be conducted in a model all-gas kitchen. The kitchen has been completely restyled and redecorated in lovely colors. It contains the latest up-to-the-minute equipment and is the last word in convenience and modernity.

Free Prizes At Each Session

A long list of merchandise and food prizes headed by a Tappan gas range as the grand prize, will be given away as door prizes during the Food Institute.

The opening session begins tomorrow promptly at 7:30 P. M. in the High School Auditorium. The final program is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:00 P. M. Admission is free to all.

Attractive Setting for Food Institute

Above is pictured the lovely model all-gas kitchen as it will appear on the stage of the High School Auditorium tomorrow when the curtain rises on the first session of the 1940 Gasco Food Institute. The kitchen is built in units which, when assembled together, make a complete modern kitchen of latest design and equipment. These smaller units are moved from town to town in a modern streamlined trailer.

make this year's Gasco Food Institute bigger and better than ever.

Admission is free to all.

School Luncheons

Lucky is your child if he can obtain a hot luncheon at his school. If your children's school does not have the equipment and facilities for serving a mid-day lunch, the box you pack at home should contain a sufficient quantity of food to satisfy the hunger.

One thing in particular puts box lunches in high favor with school children. It's the fun they have together during the noon hour.

In these days of vacuum bottle milk beverage stays piping hot in the vacuum.

A crisp salad in a tightly covered cardboard container is almost as fresh and crisp at noon as when it was packed. Sandwiches wrapped in wax paper or cellophane bags keep as moist as when first made. Fruit desserts in paper cups or whole fresh fruit should always be included to add interest as well as vitamins to the meal. For the surprises tucked in a cookie, dates, or prunes stuffed with peanut butter, hard-stick candy, or a popcorn ball.

To make the homemaker's job easier and the daily lunch more varied, a supply of different, but not too moist, sandwich fillings may be kept in a gas refrigerator in covered jars. If you butter both slices of the bread generously, the filling will not soak in.

When the children come home

ARRANGE BANQUET

HINTS ... to the Hostess

Have you ever passed a restaurant where food was so attractively displayed in the windows that you just couldn't resist the temptation to stop and have a bite?

To profit by the example set by restaurant managers, the hostess should apply this psychology to their own table setting. Food does taste better when it is served and displayed correctly amid fine table appointments. Dishes set before us in crowded fashion and upon a tablecloth which is some too clean loses much of the appetite appeal they could have gained if built up by proper setting.

You will be surprised how observant husbands and children are of the attention you give to things as table linen, silver and flowers.

When you have invited a group of friends for a buffet dinner, luncheon or formal dinner party, this is the time you will wish to be especially attentive to your service and table decorations. It is safe to say that original ideas which mirror our own personalities have the greatest appeal. And it is true that simple things are more impressive than extravagance.

Homemakers have many questions which trouble them regarding table etiquette. Here are some:

Should the guest of honor or the hostess be served first? I have always thought that it is the guest of honor who is served first, but at so many houses where I dine, the hostess is served first—and I wonder?

The woman guest of honor should be served first. This is true whether the dinner is a formal one or an informal one, whether the serving is done by a waitress or by the hostess or host at the table.

What covering is best to use on a buffet table?

Use whatever kind you wish. Most hostesses like having the table completely covered, and so they use their luncheon or dinner cloths. In the stores you will now find many attractive, inexpensive cloths of novelty weaves, especially designed for this popular kind of party. If you wish, you may use runners.

What are the correct accompaniments when using fine china or pottery?

Next to pleasing color schemes the most important thing to keep in mind is a sense of harmony. If fine china is used, then a damask or lace cloth, crystal goblets and silver or crystal candlesticks fit right into the picture. If your plates are pottery, then a simple cloth, colorful provincial glassware, and candlesticks of iron, brass or pewter are the most harmonious appointments to use.

Are candles used on a buffet table?

If the buffet party is in the late afternoon or evening, candles are used on the table.

How many candles should be used on a dinner table?

On the usual size dinner table we should not use fewer than four candlesticks, or two candelabra. If the table is unusually large, we may use more. In the stores we see a wide trend toward candelholders for three candles and a trio of candles glowing in a candelabrum do indeed "give a lovely light."

Is there any definite rule to follow when planning a centerpiece for the dinner table?

Centerpieces are of infinite variety, their beauty and distinction being limited only by one's imagination and budget. Flowers are still and always will be the most lovely decoration. Unusual effect may be obtained with central mirrors and with mirrored tables, with fruits, with formal combinations of flowers and fruits, with crystal trees and flowers, with delicate figurines. The one rule to keep in mind is to be careful that the designs built with unusual accessories are beautiful and appropriate and not simply bizarre.

At an informal luncheon, one at which it will not be necessary to use a knife, do I put the fork on the right of the plate with the spoon?

Even for a meal at which you may think there will be no use for a knife, correct service demands that a knife be placed there anyway. In the first place, this keeps the right balance for the individual plate setting. Also, although you may think that your guests will use only a fork for the course you plan to serve, perhaps they may prefer to use both the knife and fork.

It is hoped that these questions have helped you in solving some of your entertainment problems. Remember always that at a party you offer your guests a little more than you would if you were dining alone, the reason being that you do not know exactly what they like and therefore you provide them a wider choice than you would your family with whose tastes you are familiar. A gay and pretty house, a charming table, well-prepared and well-served foods, offer the formula for a successful party.

Gas Range of Today A Cooking Machine

When scientists gave a serious thought to the housewife and took a hand at re-designing the long dependable gas range, improvements came quickly and have been numerous in the last few years. Much has happened within 12 months — and in that comparatively short period of time the gas range in its modern form and dress has been advanced to the status of a veritable cooking machine.

Such a type of cooking appliance precisely meets the home-maker's needs and desires. For she has been accustomed to utilizing machines in other daily tasks—the sewing machine, the washing machine, cleaning machine, the ice-making and cooking machine.

It's another break for her that the gas range is now capable of taking full responsibility for cooking food perfectly under complete temperature control. New models offer the three most accurate, speedy and useable services known for the top stove, the baking and broiling methods. Skill and ingenuity of production have resulted in ranges of fine quality at reduced costs, thus bringing them within the budget of the average woman. Never before in the history of stoves has it been possible to obtain so great a degree of automatic service to reduce the effort formerly necessary to cooking.

Today, practically every model in the line of the numerous manufacturers producing Certified Performance ranges will meet these rigid new requirements — with the addition of automatic lighting of the oven and broiler burners. An important point in which the modern gas range is distinct in the field of cooking appliance is the lifetime guarantee of all burners, requiring neither repairs nor replacements.

While it is possible to choose a range in almost any type of top burner arrangement desired for personal convenience, the divided top and the centered top are the most popular because these models may be placed in any kitchen location and the burners are always as accessible for the right or left-handed individual.

The new standard of style is the streamline model with one-piece top and backguard, side panels extended to the floor, and a recessed base in front to provide toe space for the worker. The range designed for installation against the wall is favored for the kitchen where the cooking appliance is to line up with floor cabinets and other equipment.

Ovens have been given more width since American housewives have discovered the modern gas range makes baking an assured method of cookery; broilers likewise have more depth to permit additional positions for the broiler rack and pan since broiled foods of all types may be prepared easily, quickly and without smoke.

While there are numerous accessories available with modern gas ranges, it is practical to purchase a finer model and add but one or two necessities such as the time reminder which frees the homemaker for other tasks during cooking periods.

LOSES SUIT

Mrs. Ruby E. Knapp of Columbus, second wife and widow of the late Frank A. Knapp, Bellevue telephone magnate, has failed in her efforts to have the common pleas court grant her dower rites in the estate of her late husband, which was appraised at $67,534.44. Judge Charles Hayden of Mt. Vernon, who heard the case in common pleas court Norwalk, last month, has handed down a decision against Mrs. Knapp on the grounds that when she accepted $25,000 in a pre-nuptial agreement, and signed a release, she gave up her widow's rights in the estate. The decision was received last week by County Clerk Myles S. Burras. Mrs. Knapp lives at 60 E. Norwich-av., Columbus. The case was heard before Judge Hayden without a jury.

Misses Edith and Nell Brown of Willard were entertained on Sunday in the home of S. C. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunham.

It offers the "last word" in kitchen convenience and efficiency, sure to impress it carefully following the programs of the Food Institute.

FIRST STEP in planning your new kitchen or modernizing your old is the selection of the appliances which will serve you best. Modern gas appliances offer your kitchen the finest in design, the greatest efficiency and cleanliness in operation. The moment you install a modern gas range or gas refrigerator you begin to save in time — save on steps — and save money. Kitchen work takes wings. Kitchen hours become exciting and pleasure filled. So, first, select modern gas appliances for your new kitchen.

THE PLAN of your kitchen is important. There are three main working centers—the range, the refrigerator and the sink. For maximum convenience the sink is usually placed between the range and refrigerator although this may be varied to suit different floor plans. The cabinets, counters, linoleum and other fixtures should be given careful consideration. To assist you in your kitchen planning The Gas Company maintains a kitchen planning service. A representative will gladly consult with you on your plans.

FINANCING, of course, is an all important consideration. Under modern plans of financing, you need not delay your kitchen modernization. The Gas Company, and other dealers in kitchen equipment and fixtures, all have convenient payment plans. Banks and other financial agencies stand ready to assist you in budgeting the cost of a modern kitchen and home. For more complete information on modern kitchen planning visit The Gas Company or phone for a representative to call at your home.

QUANTITY COOKERY

So you've been elected chairman! Perhaps it's for the community supper, church bazaar, or maybe you're the "committee-chairman" for a "larger than usual" party of your own. Any of these affairs denotes an affair where good fellowship and good foods join hands.

There is no cause for bewilderment at the thought of planning, preparing, and serving a meal for 50 or 100. Guess work has been eliminated from the task today since so much scientific information has been developed. You realize that it is, of course, fatal to success to increase a recipe which is planned for four to an amount large enough to serve 50. Special recipes developed in sufficient quantity measurements to serve large groups are necessary for success and economy. Directions, though they demand strict attention are simple as that most anyone can serve a large group. As in all meal preparations, there are certain basic and general rules to which you must adhere. We might call these "Hints to the Chairman," and list a few of them:

1. Fit your menus to the occasion and the season.
2. Mixed groups require different menus than those for women or men "only."
3. Combine something tart with foods that are bland.
4. The plates should be sparkling with colorful food.
5. Vary the textures of foods.
6. Serve both hot and cold foods.
7. Serve hot foods piping hot and cold foods, cold.
8. Avoid commonly disliked foods.
9. If possible, divide methods of cookery between top of range, oven, and broiler.
10. Avoid last minute confusion of serving time.
11. Use simple but effective garnishes.

To analyze very briefly the steps to be performed in preparing for a large group, the menu-planning would of course be first. Don't plan your foods which must all be prepared at the last minute. Next, appoint your committees to take care of the marketing, food preparation, serving, and cleaning up. It is advisable to plan to have some emergency supplies on hand to avoid that deadly panic in case 75 people attend the dinner rather than the expected 50. This can be taken care of with canned foods that can be returned if they aren't used.

The following are some suggestions you might find helpful as to amounts of food to purchase in order to obtain 50 servings:

- 1-1/4 lb. coffee
- 1-1/2 qts. cream
- 1-1/2 lb. sugar
- 1/2 lb. tea
- 7-1/2 lb. potatoes—mashed
- 18 lb. potatoes—boiled or baked
- 2 gallons soups
- 1-1/2 lb. butter
- 3 long loaves bread
- 13 heads lettuce
- 6 heads cabbage for cole slaw
- 4 C. lemon juice for lemonade
- (8 lemons equal 1 C. juice)
- 25 lb. beef tenderloin
- 8 lb. boiled boneless ham

10 lb. smoked ham
5 lb. cheese—brick, Swiss or American
7 qts. ice cream (brick, 6 cuts to 1 qt.)
25 lbs. bass (1/2 fish to each person)
18 lbs. salmon
4 average size cakes
9 average size pies
25 spring chickens (serving 1/2 fowl to each person)
1/2 gallon olives
1 gallon fruit beverage
In buying canned foods the following may aid you in deciding how many cans of various sizes will be needed.

SIZES	NO. CUPFULS
8 oz.	1
Picnic	1-1/4
No. 1-Tall	2
No. 2	2-1/2
No. 2-1/2	3-1/2
No. 3	4
No. 10	13

As a typical example of a recipe to serve 50, we have included one for Fruited Lime Salad. This is excellent as it provides color contrast, is simple to prepare, has a very good flavor, and does not require any last minute preparations.

FRUITED LIME SALAD
12-3-1/4 oz. pkgs. lime gelatine
20 C. (5 qts.) boiling or hot water
1/2 C. vinegar
9 bananas, peeled and diced
12 oranges, sectioned
6 heads lettuce
1 qt. salad dressing

Dissolve gelatine in boiling or hot water as directed by manufacturer. Add the vinegar and pour half the mixture into shallow pans. Chill until firm. Add fruit to remaining mixture and chill until slightly thickened, then pour over first layer in pans. Chill until firm. Cut in squares and serve on lettuce. Garnish with salad dressing.

As you launch your new career you will undoubtedly run across many little problems which can be solved as you go along. Only a few of the major suggestions and hints have been included here. Try following them when you are planning your suppers, banquets, and entertainments and the success of your career as food chairman will be assured.

COOKING MODES OF TODAY AND TOMORROW

Low Temperature Roasting Advised

PERHAPS you cling to high temperature roasting because you like the deep brown first cut, but you get it at the expense of considerable shrinkage, regardless of the fuel used. Many tests have proved the merits of low temperature roasting which reduces shrinkage to a minimum and produces juicier more evenly cooked meat.

Season a 4-6 lb. standing rib roast, place fat side up on a trivet in a shallow roasting pan; insert in the oven stone cold if you like, which is a great convenience if you are in a rush to get the meat "in" as the saying goes.

Then dial the oven heat control 250 or 300 degrees, as you prefer. The burner of a certified performance gas range maintains a steady temperature at the low you wish, provides even heat throughout the oven and produces a full-tender roast deliciously juicy and tender.

Start the oven burner—then forget it. The oven roasts the meat on all sides and evenly all through. Time the roasting (for 300 degrees) 25 minutes to the lb. for rare, 30 minutes for medium, and 34 minutes for well done. Larger roasts require less cooking time per lb. for the same temperature. And a 3 lb. roiled roast requires longer—54-60 minutes per lb.

Feeding Your Family

It's wonderful how it simplifies life—this plan of building children's "good-for-you" foods into the grown-ups meal and adding frills to take the menu out of the nursery-alias.

The same breakfast menu serves for everybody. And, even though the grown-ups' dinner and the children's supper are served as separate meals, extra cooking may be saved by preparing the same vegetables and dessert for both. Just take the children's vegetables from the saucepan before you add the seasonings for adult tastes.

Lunch takes a little more planning since that's the meal when children are given meat. But, you can plan the grown-ups' menu around the same meat, sometimes with a slight variation in preparation methods. For example, when liver is on the menu, the children's share is prepared this way: Wipe liver with a damp cloth. Place in boiling water 3 minutes; drain. Place on a greased broiler and broil on both sides. Season lightly with salt and butter.

For the grown-ups, wipe liver with a damp cloth. Roll in flour; sprinkle with salt and pepper.

ON W. HIGH ST. — Six rooms and bath, sun porch, Hot Air furnace, cement basement, 2 car garage, large lot. A real home, a real bargain.

174 ACRES EAST OF PLYMOUTH—40 acres in timber. Good buildings, electricity, plenty of water. Priced right.

160 ACRES, S. W. OF PLYMOUTH—9 room house, furnace, hard and soft water in house, barn and outbuildings, iron roofs, 10 acres timber, $7,000.

122 ACRES, 1 MILE NORTH OF BOUGHTONVILLE — 9 room house, basement, iron roof barn, sheep shed, other out buildings. 30 acres timber. $55 per acre, $2500 down, balance time.

113 ACRES BETWEEN NEW HAVEN AND DELPHI—9 room house, basement, electricity available, plenty water, Slate roof, barn, lots of outbuildings, about 20 acres wood and pasture $6500.00.

25 ACRES ABOUT 3 MILES south of Plymouth, $2200.00.

47 ACRES, 3 MI. EAST OF PLYMOUTH — Good house, new chicken house, electricity available $3,000.00.

40 ACRES, EDGE OF WILLARD — 8 room house, gas, water and electricity, slate roof barn and sheds, a dandy little home for $5,000.00.

38 ACRES, NEAR STEUBEN — 7 room house, all modern, furnace and electricity, barn, chicken house, $5000.00.

75 ACRES ABOUT 3 MILES S. W. OF PLYMOUTH — Good house and barn, good water, a small down payment with time on balance, see agt. for further information.

Fricasseed Chicken

A DEEP rich chicken flavor is not difficult to obtain when preparing Fricasseed Chicken. Add salt after the first hour. When chicken is tender, remove from stock and roll in one-half cup flour mixed with one teaspoon poultry seasoning. Fry in butter in a skillet until golden brown. Thicken stock and add one-third cup cream, bring to boiling point. Pour over chicken and serve with hot biscuits or fluffy dumplings.

per. Fry slowly in a little fat, turning to brown well on both sides. Serve with crisp bacon. With little thought and extra time on the part of the homemaker, the child can have a well-balanced meal.

Here are some meals for children (ages 3 to 6) and grown-ups: BREAKFAST

Soft-cooked eggs Toast
Milk Apple Sauce
Milk Coffee (for grown-ups)

9 a. m.—children's orange juice

A half-pint of milk at each of the three meals and another half-pint used in cooking the food. On egg cooked alone or mixed in desserts like custards and tapioca cream puddings.

Meat
At least two vegetables every day in addition to potatoes. Such starchy foods as rice and spaghetti may be substituted for potatoes.

Whole grain cereals, finely ground.
One serving of fruit, such as orange juice, cooked prunes, apricots, or apple sauce.

Toast Is Better • Made In Broiler

WHILE taste in toast differs with the individual, it is a safe bet that most persons like it crunchy, which means evenly cooked to the center and uniformly browned. Broiling is an ideal method of making toast—it's quicker, easier, and more convenient for a small or a quantity supply.

The broiler burner of a certified performance gas range does a very special toasting job, which is one of the supreme tests for uniformity. And, when a broiler toasts to perfection, you may be assured it will broil every other food as nicely. There is no need to preheat the broiler for toasting because heat is directed upon the broad the moment it is placed beneath the flame. The new broiler racks are large enough to accommodate 8 and 9 pieces, each browned evenly. Scientific burners light with the twist of a dial, are smokeless, and cannot become more than a fixed amount of gas.

Lecturer Looks On as Manager Cooks

This scene from the second day's program of the Gasco Food Institute reveals the Food Institute Manager busily engaged at the range while the Food Lecturer looks on. As part of this program, Mr. C.
