

Mary Fate Memorial Park To Be Improved Through Aid of NYA

The Mary Fate Park committee has been notified by the NYA officials at Toledo that approximately fifteen boys will be on hand Monday to commence work and beautification of Plymouth's park site.

These boys will be taken from the NYA list from Willard, New Haven and Plymouth, and will be under the direct supervision of L. Z. Davis. Considerable work will have to be done to make this tract of land the beauty spot that those interested in it hope it will be.

The most important project now is the erection of the covered shelter, so necessary and vital to summer picnics. Other work done will consist of more tables, park benches, trees planted, two more fire places built, two drinking fountains, completion of the horseshoe court, trimming trees, general cleaning up of the grounds, with the grading off of high places and filling in low spots and seeding of new grass. It is also hoped that the south of the grove can be built so that cars cannot drive into the play ground. An entrance to the park would greatly aid to the beauty of the place and a suitable marker "Mary Fate Memorial Park" is also on the program.

Funds Needed

All of the above plans can materialize ONLY if Plymouth is willing to cooperate and share the cost. The NYA representative states that funds will be provided by the federal government to pay the young men for their labor, but the cost of materials and supervision must be taken care of by the general community. Mr. Davis, who has been a park enthusiast since its creation, has offered to supervise the boys in their work, at a very nominal cost, turning back into the funds a portion of his wages. The committee has only a small balance on hand and funds must be raised by Plymouth to participate in the federal grant.

Just what course to pursue in order to obtain the necessary funds has not yet been completely worked out, but when the drive is started it is hoped the people of Plymouth will wholeheartedly cooperate and see that the amount is raised through free will contributions.

"Progress with Plymouth."

Seek Change In Holidays

BILL INTRODUCED TO HAVE HOLIDAYS FALL ON MONDAYS

Residents of Ohio can look forward to long holiday weekends but much calendar confusion if a bill introduced in the house by Representative Naylor of Franklin county should become a law. The bill proposes to have all holidays except New Year's day and Easter fall on Mondays.

New Year's day would continue to be the first day of the year and Easter would always be observed the second Sunday in April.

Instead of observing Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays separately, the Columbus solon wants to lump them together on the second Monday in February.

Here is the rest of his schedule of holidays:

Memorial Day, fourth Monday in May; Independence Day, first Monday in July; Columbus Day, second Monday in October; Armistice Day, second Monday in November; Thanksgiving Day, third Monday in November.

Naylor undertook to change Christmas, too. He wants it to be the third Monday in December, every year.

Fred S. Ozier, Ex-resident of Shiloh, Dies In West

Funeral services for Fred S. Ozier, 82, of Akron, will be held Saturday afternoon at the home Memorial home in Mansfield. Mr. Ozier passed away Sunday in Los Angeles, Calif., where he had been spending the winter.

Mr. Ozier was born in Shiloh and spent his entire boyhood in this vicinity, excepting five years during which the entire family lived in California.

He operated a chain of cigar stores connected with hotels and was an active worker in Republican political circles. His father, Nelson Ozier, was a former postmaster in Mansfield. He moved to Akron in 1910 where he operated the Howel hotel until 1903. He was also interested in the real estate business.

He is survived by his wife, Hattie in Los Angeles; two sons, Richard and Stanley of Akron, and a daughter, Mrs. Raymond Wheeler of Palo Alto, Calif.

ACCEPTS CALL

The Rev. Howard L. Bethel of Kingsville, Ohio, has accepted a call to become the pastor of the Presbyterian church of Plymouth and the Rome Community church.

He will preach at both churches on Sunday morning, Jan. 28th.

New, Modern, Up-to-date Books Received At Plymouth's Library

Two boxes containing approximately seventy books from the Mansfield library, of which Plymouth is a branch office, have been received here. Miss Jessie Trauger, local librarian, states these are the nicest assortment ever received and perhaps the widest range including juvenile, fiction, non-fiction, which includes "Annapolis," by George Fielding Elliott, noted columnist, who writes for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and "One Thousand and One Nights of Opera."

There are also two books of games, a complete book on knitting, poetry, new anthologies, the Pulitzer Plays, a complete list of other plays, and one on dogs. In fact, with the addition of these new books, makes it possible for your local library to be of service to you almost any subject you may inquire for. An invitation is extended the community to avail itself of the privileges and uses of the library.

Mun Light Plant Report Given Hearing

With all members of the council present as well as two members of the Board of Public Affairs, Carl J. Simons consulting engineer made a tentative report to the mayor and council Tuesday night on the municipal light plant. No definite schedule has been set up as to the cost of manufacture, but it was made plain that Plymouth can build a plant that generate its own current at less than the newly proposed rates recently offered by the Ohio Power Co.

In view of the fact that negotiations are under way over a proposed construction of a municipal light plant, members of the council were somewhat indignant over the new rate structure set up by the Board of Public Affairs. There is some opposition by a few of the prominent business men in Plymouth, but the mayor and council still feel that the proposition is worth every consideration before signing up a ten-year contract with the present source of power.

The engineer was given a definite plant capacity size, and was requested to furnish detail cost of construction as well as the manufacturing cost of electrical power. This report will be ready at an early date for inspection by those who care to do so.

Infantile Paralysis Campaign In Full Swing

Mrs. Mabel McFadden, who is in charge of the Infantile Paralysis drive in Plymouth, has completed the distribution of coin containers in all advantageous points, churches and schools.

It's a real privilege to participate in the "March of Dimes," the great national campaign, which is conducted each year at this time in celebration of the President's Birthday. This is the campaign in which friends and neighbors all over the land join hands to fight the cruel enemy of our boys and girls, and young men and young women—the dreadful, crippling disease that is infantile paralysis. The dimes and dollars go into homes darkened by tragedy and—if they don't always mean the difference between life and death—they at least always bring new hope and courage to parents of children stricken by this vicious disease.

So—drop a dime in the next coin collector you see, with a prayer of thankfulness that if you and your family are free of the disease you are privileged to help others afflicted.

The presidential ball in Huron county will be held next Thursday evening at the public high school in Norwalk. Admission is 50 cents and tables will be arranged for those who prefer to play cards. Brad Hunt's dance band will furnish music for the dancers.

Mrs. Pearl Ringler of Ashland has sold the building, known as the Plymouth hotel, to Lloyd Dalton of Ashland.

New Proposed Rates Given Out Finds Thrills And Adventure In Southern Air Cruise To Florida

At a meeting of the Board of Public Affairs held Jan. 18, it was decided to cut the electric rates for the village of Plymouth. Under the newly proposed schedule, the reduction totals about 15 percent, with the exception of the first thirty kilowatts, and includes up to 300 KWH.

The new rate structure is as follows: First 30 KWH $1.45; next 60 KWH, $2.28; next 210 at 2-1-2c KWH; all over 300 KWH at 2c.

The old rates were: First 30 KWH, $1.43; next 60; $2.85; next 210, 4c KWH.

Undoubtedly the Board felt it should either reduce the rate or do something with the $14,000 surplus which has been built up in the light fund.

The new rates will become effective with the January reading.

Paul Root And Chum From Gal- Join Gulf Oil Co's Florida Calvacade, Which Proves To Be An Interesting Tour.

Marco Polo in his travels to the Orient or Jules Verne with his tales of the sea, could not have possibly had more in common than the present day youth who takes a plane into the air and charts his own course—North, East, South or West. And Paul Root relates to us just as an exciting story of the air, as Paul of Venice, recounted in their particular experiences.

Just before we take off, let's take a look around and see the circumstances. Paul, who has had four years' around ships and his required number of flying hours, carries a pilot's license, and a member of the Ashland

Issues Health Seal Appeal

CHAIRMAN SAYS 6,000 STILL EITHER OWE MONEY OR CHRISTMAS SEALS

An appeal was issued today by Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, Shelby, general chairman of the Christmas Health seal sale, to persons who received seals and had neglected to pay for them or return them.

Although the fiscal year for the campaign, an annual affair, does not end until March 1, Mrs. Brokaw pointed out that the books had to be cleared before that time.

There are still 6,000 persons in Mansfield and the county who have not accounted for the health seals sent them early in December, she said, and these should be cleared within the next two weeks.

A total of 11,000 small accounts are on the books, representing that number of persons who received seals. Of this number, only about 5,000 have returned the money or the seals. The headquarters office in the Farmers Bank Bldg. has been closed and checks or stamps are to be mailed to 67 North Mulberry street, Mansfield.

Two Narrowly Escape Death At Crossing Near Leesville

Miss Helen Cashman and her brother, Earl Cashman, who were on the Plymouth township, narrowly escaped death Saturday night at 9 o'clock at a crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad near Leesville.

Earl was driving a Ford sedan, approaching the crossing, when the car skidded and turned over on the tracks directly in the path of an oncoming passenger train. The young couple realized their plight and crawled from the car to safety, escaping injury. The Ford was completely demolished as it was struck by a fast east-bound passenger, which was running behind schedule.

The impact threw the car onto the westbound track and a passing railroad car into Crestline to have a fast westbound passenger held up until the track could be cleared of the debris. The road is the reason given for the car turning over.

ATTICA HUB EDITOR HAS ATTACK AT WORK

George Clifford Lake, 75, editor of the Attica Hub, suffered a heart attack Monday, while at work in his office. He has been with the paper more than 40 years.

He was at work on a stool at a case in the Hub office, when he suffered the attack. He fell to the floor where he was found. He was taken to his home where he is reported improving. He makes his home with his son, Gray Lake and the latter's family.

FATHER'S DIES

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Farrar and daughter Suzanne, with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Herber, attended the funeral of Mr. A. E. Gill on Monday, Jan. 20th, at Oberlin, Ohio. Mr. Gill, who was a frequent visitor in Plymouth, was the father of Mrs. Herber and Mrs. Farrar.

Flying club, was approached by a young man, Edward Tracht, of Gallon, who owned a plane, but very little experience. The two of them got their heads together and decided to be guests of "Gulf's Florida Calvacade." By that we mean that the Gulf Oil company furnishes gas and oil free of charge for any light ship over 80 horsepower, that enters this annual trek to Florida by air.

After "chartering their course," and making final arrangements for entry into the Calvacade, the two young men zoomed into the air from the Columbus airport, and their first stop was at 11:30 a. m. in Louisville, Ky. After refueling the plane was safely brought down at Nashville, Tenn. at 2:30. Chattanooga at 4:15 and into Atlanta at 5:30, where they spent the night. This was the end of their first day out, which was Friday, Jan. 3.

After a restful sleep the boys took off from Atlanta at 9 a. m. Saturday morning, arriving at Albany, Ga., at 11, and into Orlando, Fla., at 4:30. There they spent the evening sight-seeing and enjoying real life at a Southern resort. As they were they crossed the State of Florida from Orlando to St. Petersburg, during times playing over stretches of water 30 miles in width—little lakes, they call 'em. At St. Petersburg, the boys had their first real experience of summer in January. Stripped down to a pair of slacks and no shirt, they flew around the city and the shoreline of the Gulf.

Enjoying swimming, fishing and fishing for the day they left late that afternoon for St. Petersburg with Miami as their destination. Taking a southerly course along the shore, the plane afforded much scenic beauty with the Florida coast on one side and the Gulf stretching out into the distance on the other. On their trip to Miami the young men made a stop at Ft. Myers, and setting a straight course into Miami, they crossed the Florida Everglades. Paul stated that for one and a half hours they flew across this vast swamp without a sign of human life, no indication of civilization. Certainly, no one can realize the feeling Paul must have experienced when the ship

OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY

W. C. MEAD, District Manager

Serving Plymouth and Nearby Communities With Excellent, Reasonably Priced Gas Service.

The Tremendous Trend Toward Gas for Heating Purposes in the Home Heating Plant Demonstrates the Appreciation of this Commodity for Even Temperature, Low Heating Cost and With Its Use Elimination of Dust and Ashes — "If It's Heat You Require You Can Do It Better With Gas."

LARGE STOCKS OF GAS APPLIANCES

ATTEND THEIR HOME COOKING SCHOOL ON MARCH 27 and 28th AT PLYMOUTH

Plymouth and residents in nearby localities have the advantages of gas service through the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, which is not only serving local homes but industry, in many instances, as well. Headquarters for this district, maintained in Mansfield, is under the capable direction of W. C. Mead, who gives his personal attention to the communities in this district under his jurisdiction, to see that the service is the best at all times.

Gas is becoming a greatly appreciated commodity in every home. Its cleanliness and moderate cost makes it ideal for many household needs — one of the best and most popular being for heating purposes. Ever since the advent of gas for heating we have had it in the living room grate and the small heater, its use being mainly for temporary purposes, but today modern science introduces gas as the ideal fuel in the heating plant. Its approval is evidenced by the thousands of gas burners and complete gas units being sold today for use in the furnace. This sounds luxurious and truly is — but it is not an expensive luxury. In fact with the saving on cleaning curtains and draperies, the annoyance of shoveling coal two or three times a day and keeping the furnace clean of clinkers, hauling out the ashes, the cost is no more than any other fuel. The Ohio Fuel Gas Company will give you actual figures on gas heating costs.

This company has assisted materially in local development, because through its service they have brought to home and industry conveniences that otherwise would be impossible. Gas to a large extent is the foe of drudgery in the home, operating the range, the refrigerator, the water heater and other household equipment.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is steadily building for the future and as needs arise in the communities in which it serves, they will be ready with service that adequately meets any demand that will be made upon them. Their consistent effort is to keep rates low and provide service for the public which will be as efficient as humanly possible.

The equipment is kept up-to-the-minute to guard against the possibility of faulty service, and they constantly continue to make improvements that each and every branch of the service will function in an uninterrupted manner. The rates are exceptionally reasonable and the policies upon which the company is operated are public spirited in every way.

Probably no one concern in this section of the country has done more to make cooking and refrigeration easy and economical than this one. In their organization are men who are experts upon cooking and household economies who will give free of charge any and all information regarding the cleanest and most satisfactory and most modern method of economical cooking and appliance operation — viz, by means of gas.

Be sure to attend their annual home cooking school in Plymouth to be held this year on March 27 and 28.

Bell Tolling Real Necessity In By-Gone-Days; History Given

In a recent article we read about bell ringers in the Nineteenth Century in some Massachusetts towns. It referred to a custom of tolling the church bell at the time of a death.

It seemed to be something very much out of the ordinary to the writer.

Here are some facts about bell tolling:

It was not only in the east that this custom prevailed but in most of the states. A little over forty years ago that custom was used throughout Ohio, and the custom was for the same reason everywhere. Instead of being bell ringers, as the article erroneously stated, the church bell was tolled by the church custodian. Some of these men were real artists at the job and others had no knowledge of finding or making rhythm in a church bell.

It was the only method of announcing a death in the community, as there were no telephones and only weekly newspapers. The tolling of the bell consisted of one toll for each year of the deceased life, and at the close two quick tolls for a man, and three for a woman.

When a member of a family heard the bell ringing first, they stopped their work and when it began to toll counted the number of years. It brought shudders to many a resident who had learned that some friend was seriously ill.

Speaking for Shiloh, at that time there was only one telephone and that was located at Fenner & Primes Drug store. Often when some friend was ill in one of our neighboring towns, Mr. Fenner was asked to be at the store at a certain hour, so they could toll him the latest news in regard to the patient. And then Mr. Fenner would graciously carry the news to some waiting family. Just a few years previous there were only three dailies taken by Shiloh business men. One by Silas Ferrell, at the hardware store, one by J. E. Smith and one at the drug store. Those were The Cleveland News and Penny Press.

E. L. Benton, who later became editor of The Cleaner-Review, was the first boy to successfully establish a paper route, as it was then called in town.

The old Mansfield Shield and Banner, always waiting the death notice of residents of the county and the news was either sent by mail or taken to town by way of the horse and buggy. So you see the bell tolling was a necessity at one time in our history.

will burn all night. Watch for more improvements.

Miss Pearl Darling was hostess to the Get-to-Gether Club at her home Thursday. Sixteen members and one guest were present.

The president, Mrs. F. E. McBride, presided.
Mrs. Mary Brook and Mrs. Kathryn Allen were the afternoon speakers.

OFFICERS ELECTED

On account of so much illness in this vicinity the attendance at the Community Institute fell far short of the usual large crowds.

But it is the consensus of opinion of those who were fortunate enough to be able to attend that most of the program was above the average. Nearly all of the speakers were men who knew their subjects and were able to impart their knowledge and gave their best without an audience filling the house and the appreciative encores.

They understood the situation. Either the weather or an epidemic has interfered with the institute for several years.

A change of time has been wisely suggested. Officers elected to make plans for another year are: Roscoe Swartz, president; Paul Kranz, vice president; Mrs. Robert Forsythe, secretary-treasurer; Pearl Darling, hostess.

FARMERS INVITED TO HEAR EXPLANATION

The Extension Service of the Ohio State University has developed an accounting system for use on Ohio farms. The system is so simple that any farmer can keep an accurate record of his business by jotting down figures for five minutes or less each day.

The use of this system will be explained Friday, Jan. 24, at 9:30 a. m., in the court house, Norwalk. This meeting is especially for those who have not kept farm account records before.

During the afternoon and evening assistance will be given those who have been keeping farm account records during the past year. These records will be summarized and comparison tables established by the University.

lators, skylights, stacks, and other requirements for which sheet metal is demanded. The roofing work which they do, especially on farm structures, will eliminate many a worrisome fire hazard, which is also true of the sheet metal service rendered on general heating plants.

Farm owners and suburban residents may establish further confidence in this service due to the fact that it is used by many business and industrial establishments in this locality, where it is essential to know every detail of a job and the proper method of construction or installation. Much of the work which they handle is also for churches, schools, theatres, and all types of public buildings.

They carefully handle repair work and give careful attention. This firm is under the capable direction of Mr. Schmid, who has had 14 years' experience in the sheet metal and plumbing business.

Any farmer wishing assistance in summarizing last year's accounts or in starting records for the first time is invited to attend these meetings on January 24th.

NEAL'S BEAUTY SHOP

266 WEST THIRD ST. MANSFIELD—CANAL 4597 — ALL TYPES OF BEAUTY CULTURE — HAVE YOUR COIFFURE RESTYLED WITH THE SMARTEST WAVES — PERMANENTS $2.00 UP.

There are many kinds of beauty shops and the superiority of an establishment of this nature is largely to be judged from the standpoint of experience and equipment to carry on the various branches of beauty culture giving thorough and reliable service.

Neal's Beauty Shop, 266 West Third Street in Mansfield is one of the best shops in the city, where quality work is assured at very nominal prices.

Besides permanent waving this shop features other branches of beauty culture.

Every woman, regardless of how limited her budget may be, should patronize a good beauty shop like this one at regular intervals. The dry temperature of our homes, the dirt and grime everywhere about us, the demands made by one's family and also by social and business obligations exact a definite toll which can be ward off by good beauty shop service. Besides going to a shop like this one, where service is excellent, prices reasonable, together with cleanliness and cheerfulness is a tonic.

THE RINGSIDE

Mansfield's Newest and Livest Night Club — 18 East Third St., John Herget, Prop. — Dancing Every Evening From 9:00 Till 2:30 — Best Music in the City — Two Sparkling Shows Every Night—Finest of Legal Beverages and Food.

Open every evening, the Ringside, Mansfield's newest and liveliest night club, at 18 East Third St., is the favorite gathering place for friends and a large number of people who enjoy the atmosphere here as well as the entertainment.

Favorite beers are served and delicious sandwiches and other foods that are enjoyable for a "snack" or a meal are on the menu.

If you like substantial deliciously prepared foods and beers that are just right, this is the club where you are sure of being well fed and well pleased.

Good service excels and the business is operated on a very high class basis. Perhaps the best criterion that an establishment of this kind commands is the return of patrons again and again. How often you have gone to a club and were so displeased with the service that you never had the inclination to return. The service is so pleasing here and the charges made for it so moderate that patrons tell others with the result that the popularity of the Ringside continues to grow daily.

Dancing is arranged to the accompaniment of the best music in the city and two floor shows are offered each evening for your entertainment.

The class voted to adopt this song, "An Evening Prayer," used during 1940, when the class met Tuesday evening in the annex of the church. The new president, Mrs. Bartholomew, presided with the devotions in charge of Mrs. Donnerworth, using the First Psalm and Prayer.

The regular business was transacted.

Several projects were also discussed to be completed later. The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Ina Russell and consisted of a contest and reading: "What Goes With It," by Miss Virgie Fenner. Twenty-one were in attendance to enjoy the program and refreshments served by the hostesses, Mrs. Derringer, Mrs. Barr and Mrs. Gaskill.

The February 4th meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Scrafield, Mrs. Donnerworth, and Miss Jessie Trauger.

CAVALCADE OF AMERICA

—First Lady of the South—

By Dr. Frank Monaghan
Historical Consultant for
Cavalcade of America

HOW many Americans know about the Berry School and its magnificent achievements in bringing new life and new hope to the people of the South? It now has more than a thousand students and its waiting list is larger than that of any other American school; it has a campus of twenty-five thousand acres, larger than that of any other school in the world. Located at Mount Berry, Georgia, the Berry School stands as a monument to vision, courage and faith — the vision, courage and faith of one woman, Martha Berry, "First Lady of the South."

Martha Berry, daughter of the post-war South, was deeply moved by the tragedy of southern youth sinking into the abyssal depths of ignorance and brutality for lack of the chance to learn; to these youths she dedicated her entire fortune, and thirty-eight years of her life giving to the children of the South a chance, in order to give them back to the world strong of heart, of mind, of soul.

Against almost insurmountable odds — despair, heartache, mockery — Mrs. Berry struggled unceasingly. Her school has burned to the ground, has been threatened with extinction by the forward march of a railroad which threatened to destroy her school for its right of way; bankruptcy has more than once seemed imminent, but through all this she has carried on, never faltering in her determination that the youth of her beloved Southland shall have this chance.

Paying students to Berry School have been consistently refused admission. Even though the need for this source of revenue be great, Martha Berry has feared that her school might some day be closed to those for whom it was conceived if other than those who are willing to pay for their education by their own physical labors on the grounds of the school, be admitted.

The students of the Berry School come from little farms and lonely hillside cabins; they learn trades, agriculture, the useful arts; they study books. A new world is opened to them; Berry School trains their bodies, their minds and their hearts; they go forth with a new vision into a new world. That is the hope and that is the promise of the American way of life.

The Berry School of one of the most commendable educational experiments ever launched in America. It is no longer an experiment; it is vibrating testimony to the fact that where there is vision, coupled with courage and energy, no people can perish. Martha Berry, you have added to human happiness, and by this to the democracy of America — an added thing that these two things are much the same.

SENIOR NEWS

On Monday, January 20, the student council passed a resolution which states that the seniors may go in the library and get any book which they desire without the help of the librarians.

The seniors have an insatiable desire to read. Because of this unusual desire to read, the seniors possess many books. Their type of books vary with the individual. Some like fiction while others prefer non-fiction.

Extra-curricular reading is of great benefit to the students.

It is hoped that the seniors will have much respect for this library.

Dog heroes. How the first dog hero of the World War won his medal; how "Sinbad the Sailor" became a dog without a country. Read what made these and other dog stars shine as explained in the illustrated feature in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

We were glad to notice Monday morning that a great number of students had returned to school from a short vacation of illness. We are not sure as to whether they enjoyed their vacations or not but it is our guess that they did not. We hope that as this week continues that more students will be back!

BASKETBALL

Tuesday, January 21, Shiloh will meet Lexington on the home floor. This is the first game the Drummer Boys have played for two weeks and we hope that the rest did them good.

Friday, January 24, the Drummer Boys will journey to Ontario.

CHAPEL

We are having our Chapel programs on Tuesday this week. Due to all the illness this week, we will present a play for several weeks. Mr. Robinson, the County Superintendent, will talk to us about his trip to the National Educational convention. We planned to have Mr. Robinson speak to us several weeks ago and then were disappointed. We are looking forward to his talk.

Next week the Seventh grade will have charge of the Chapel. From all reports it will be a very good one. We extend a hearty welcome to anyone wishing to come to our program.

TEMPTING MENUS

by PAULINE SCHOFIELD

"Sing a Song of Stew"

"Ragout," "hot pie," and "sea pie" are all better known to the proletariat as "stew." Whatever the country, and whatever the currency, there's bound to be a favorite dish made by "cooking in a slow, simmering manner with a small amount of liquid." Usually we think of it as a top of the range proposition, but try oven stewing, with a casserole and cover, and you'll be equally pleased. This method of cookery is one of the least expensive as well as being a great favorite.

Brown stew is made with a gravy from meat that has been dipped in flour and fried. White stew differs in the white stock or milk and water are used, with perhaps a little thickening added. We can forget oyster stew, though it's more like a soup because of its consistency. South American stew is quite the reverse, being made thicker and resembling a casserole dish. Ragout, in spite of the fancy name, is simply French for "stew"—a combination of roasting and stewing in a tightly covered vessel.

Here are some extra-good recipes for perfect simmering of harmonious ingredients:

South American Stew

- 1 C. rice
- or 3 carrots
- 2 lb. ground beef
- Salt and pepper
- Small clove garlic
- 1 lb. beef
- 3 medium-sized potatoes
- 1/2 tsp. chopped parsley

Chop vegetables finely, wash rice thoroughly and combine all ingredients except potatoes. Cook slowly for 20 minutes, then add potatoes and continue cooking slowly about an hour. Serves 6.

Hungarian Lamb Stew

- 2 lb. lamb shoulder, diced
- 2 Tbsp. shortening
- 2 small onions, chopped
- 1 C. tomato puree
- 1 C. thick cream
- Salt and pepper
- Paprika

Heat the shortening. Add onion, and diced meat which has been rubbed with salt, pepper and paprika. Brown meat and add tomato puree. Let cook slowly for two hours, adding water when necessary. Just before serving, add sour cream and blend well with the sauce.

Veal Paprika

- Veal: 2 Tbsp. shortening
- 1 onion, sliced
- 3 lb. veal steak, sliced
- 1 C. boiling water
- 1/2 C. thick cream (sweet or sour)
- 1/2 tsp. paprika
- Noodles: 1/2 lb. fine noodles
- 1 Tbsp. shortening
- 1/2 C. almonds, blanched
- 2 tsp. poppy seed (optional)

Melt shortening in heavy frying pan. Gently brown onion (or use a clove of garlic if you prefer). Cut veal steak into individual serving pieces and coat with flour. Fry veal in 1/2 C. fat until brown. Season well with salt and pepper. Turn flame very low, add boiling water. Cover pan, simmer slowly until veal is tender, about 1 hour. Then stir in cream and paprika. Serve with noodles. Cook noodles tender in boiling salted water. Drain. Silver almonds. Fry until crisp in fat. Add noodles and poppy seed and, if needed, another tablespoon of fat. Brown noodles slightly if you like them crunchy.

PLYMOUTH SCHOOL NEWS

SCHOOL RESUMED

Recess is over. Once again the corridors and classrooms resound with voices of the children. The number of pupils present at the re-opening of school was considerably more than at the dismissal. But twelve were absent from the high school and thirty-one in the grades, as compared with a total of one hundred thirty. Although the recess necessitates a later ending of the school term, it proved to be a very profitable one.

New Teacher Hired

Miss Florence Passel of Kinsman has taken up her new duties as regular teacher of the fourth grade. Miss Passel is a graduate of the four-year course at Ohio University, Athens. The vacancy was created at the time Harold Markin went to Marion. Mrs. Harriett Farrar has been substituting for the time being.

SCHOOL PERSONALS

Pauline Coon and Vivian Robinson of Norwalk visited Plymouth High school Tuesday afternoon as guests of Betty Kendig. Miss Luella Vandervort was sick with the flu last week—were you?

Miss Beverly Hecht spent the week-end in Shelby.

Misses Thelma Hough and Helen Moon spent Sunday afternoon in Shelby.

Mr. Moist, Mr. Griest and Rev. Wolf attended the concert in Norwalk Monday night and Tuesday they were in Delaware and heard the Stradivarius String octet.

Miss Betty Kendig visited her grandparents in Ashland last Thursday afternoon.

Naval Recruit Returns

Farrell Williamson, a graduate of PHS in 1940, paid the school a short visit on Tuesday. He was happy once again to call upon some of the teachers and students. Farrell is the picture of health and attributes this to regular hours and the splendid food. Among some of the things he stated were:

"Nearly 10,000 recruits are at the Great Lakes Training Station and you learn to do what you are told and like it—Sir is in your vocabulary—if students in school know what is best for them, they will study hard. A recruit's success depends upon their obedience and willingness to learn—No such thing as luck, you earn what you get."

The school is always pleased to welcome any of its alumni. Come again Farrell, and if there be such things as luck may you be showered with it.

NEWS FROM THE GRADE SCHOOL

First Grade News

Marie Mumea and Melvin Pump are the only pupils not to return to school at the present time. They are missed very much.

The first grade has begun work on the airport and aviation project. It is expected that many different kinds of airplanes and hands will be shown. Maps will be made over which the imaginary route of travel will be made. A careful plan will be set up for study.

Second Grade News

The second grade is planning their store. This project will go in conjunction with the arithmetic and English lessons. Much work will be devoted to this as the children will experience a great deal of good from measuring the booth, counting the price of different articles and orderly arrangement of the articles to make them attractive to the purchaser.

Third Grade News

Old Dutch Cleanser emblem will not cause the children of the third grade much concern, as a "clean hands" campaign is being instituted by the children.

Wayne Matthews has returned after a prolonged illness, the students are welcoming him once more to school.

4th, 5th, 6th Grade News

These grades feel particularly proud that two of them have no one absent Tuesday afternoon. With such an excellent come-back they expect and hope to lead the complete school in per cent of attendance. These grades are positive they possess that ability.

Mrs. Anderson substituted for Miss Danner Monday forenoon.

Mrs. Caroline Dunham taught for Mrs. Farrar Monday.

How many people have noticed the small school house placed in the library window?

THANKS!

The Plymouth school officials desire to extend their sincere thanks to the pastors and official boards of the various churches for their splendid and wholehearted cooperation with the school in closing religious services to school youth. It is a considerable satisfaction to know that these two institutions, church and school, can stand hand in hand for the welfare of a community. It is the desire of the public school to protect in every way the health of the children and it is indeed gratifying to know the churches aided so wonderfully.

GOOD ADVICE FROM THE SIDELINES

TWO-ENTER PEN

On Saturday, Sheriff Jesse W. Mellott took to the Columbus prison, George Jones, 54, colored, of Willard and Charles D. Smith, 28, London. Jones pleaded guilty to the charge of wounding Ovelia Porch, colored, of Willard, with a shot gun, and Smith pleaded guilty to a charge involving a 14-year-old girl.

For That Girlish Figure, Skate

A youthful figure never goes out of date. Trim hips, slim ankles, youthful legs, and a narrow waistline are fashionable year in and year out. Roller skating has been advised by a great many physicians, not only to take off that extra poundage but also moderately used improves health.

The Coliseum, located at North Lake Park, Mansfield, is an ideal place to combine pleasure and the sport of skating to say nothing of improving your figure.

Beginners have decided advantages in their first roller skating experience at the Coliseum because of the adequacy of floor space and learn very quickly with the excellent facilities available. A series of exercises on skates has just recently been released, and if followed conscientiously, will work wonders.

If you want to slim your ankles — strengthen the muscles through your feet and at the same time mildly exercise your legs, first make that your skates are fastened securely; then raise the rear rollers until the weight of your body rests on the front rollers and your toes. Hold the position for a count of three, return back rollers to floor, count three and repeat. To improve contours of thighs and calves, sit on high stool and raise left leg over, repeat with right; to work on the waistline, sit far back on a high chair or stool and slowly raise your legs — this exercise will also aid thighs and upper body. Skating is a versatile exercise. If you want to round out thin contours, skate slowly, but for reducing, skate swiftly.

The Coliseum is a splendid place to get the "hang of skates" and a number of local parties are already being arranged.

Find Thrills

was landed at Miami beach, and the plane was brought up for refueling. With a gasoline tank capacity of 12 gallons, it required

11 1/2 gallons to fill the tank. That was when Paul drove a long breath, and which he admits was a "real thrill," after it was all over. Just imagine, what could have happened, had they run out of gas while over the swamps.

Arriving in Miami at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, Jan. 5, the two young men spent from the 6th through Friday, Jan. 10, at the All-American Air Maneuvers at Miami. There were between 1,100 and 1,300 at this air meet, all participants of the Gulf Florida Calvacade, and according to reports, every type of entertainment was afforded during this meeting. Free transportation from and to the airport to all parts of the city. There were garden clubs that sponsored various entertainments, and fashion shows. On Friday night the Miami Chamber of Commerce sponsored a Civilian Pilot's Ball at which a practically every state of the Mississippi was represented.

During their stay in Miami, the young men had the opportunity of seeing the Duke of Windsor, now governor of the Bahamas. Certainly, it was here, that it was revealed that American youth are becoming "air-minded." After a pleasant visit in Miami, the boys warmed up the "Queen of the Air," and made a take-off for Orlando, their first stop on the homeward stretch. It was the trip up the east coast from Miami to Orlando that the plane was kept a little off-shore. Back in your school days you'll remember studying about the travel or course of the "gulf stream." This stream, it is stated, runs about three miles east off the Florida coast as it travels northward, and is very discernible from the air, as is of a very different hue than that of the ocean proper. The southbound ships try to keep their course clear of the gulf stream as it affords resistance to travel. However, northbound ships generally ply in the gulf stream as it makes "easier-going" by following the current.

You no doubt recall reading about the large passenger steamer "Manhattan," which was grounded off-shore from West Palm Beach, and which was towed trip the two young men had the opportunity of flying over the grounded liner, and they had a birdseye view of the ship as it lay helplessly stranded on the sand. Lack of a more than the taking of several excellent views, and this incident made both of the boys vow that "they'll always take a camera."

Stopping at Orlando for the night, Monday, Jan. 13, Mr. and Mrs. Tracht visited points of interest there. On Tuesday morning they called on Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Watson, where they were entertained for dinner. Mr. Watson represents the Silver King tractor in Florida, and it was natural that both boys got a fine reception here. It was Paul's pleasure to take Mr. and Mrs. Watson for a short flight over the city and surrounding country, and both of them enjoyed the flight very much. After dinner and the usual farewell, the young men crawled into the cockpit of the plane, and were off toward home.

The time of departure from Orlando was 2 p. m., Tuesday, Jan. 14, and darkness found the plane safely landed at Albany, Ga., where the couple spent the night. After a good night's sleep the young men were off from Albany at 8 o'clock, but not for long, as shortage of gas forced them to land at an emergency field for refueling. After filling up, the plane once more started its northward flight, only to be grounded at Griffin, Ga., due to bad weather and poor visibility. It was here that more than fifteen other planes had to be landed, and the boys spent the rest of Wednesday and all day Thursday in Griffin. While there the Elks Club turned over their lodge rooms to the aviators, staged a dance Thursday night for all the young men.

With clear weather prevailing Friday the boys left Griffin and were in Cincinnati at 5:30 on Friday evening. This proved a long hop for them, but they had strong tail winds which literally carried the ship through the air. Inclement weather at Cincinnati held the ship down all day Saturday, and the last leg of the journey was not attempted until Sunday morning, when the two men arrived at Bucyrus at 11:30, completing one of the best and most thrilling air jaunts of all times for two air-minded young men.

Navigating a ship in the air by the use of a compass isn't as easy as it sounds, for you've got to know a little something more than watching the compass hand. Ships equipped with radio can follow the radio beam as far as Atlanta, but from then on, you have to make your own way. So, while Paul did an excellent job of flying by compass, he is hoping for the day when he'll be able to own his own plane equipped with radio. But I'm afraid for an old hand like myself, it will take more equipment than a plane and radio to get me off the ground. Although I do admit hearing their story was most entertaining.
