

OPERAETTA PLEASES CROWD

A capacity crowd filled the P. H. S. auditorium Tuesday night when the annual grade operettas were presented under the direction of R. Byron Griest.

"Peter Rabbit," by Henry Cross was given by the primary grades. Little Bobby Derr cast in the title role, captured the hearts of the audience with his portrayal of the mischievous Peter. The other leading parts were taken by Betty Lou Moore, Constance Hannum, Neil Kennedy, Gloria Robinson, Billy Trauger, and Nancy Wintermute. The chorus, consisting of lettuce, corn, onions, beets and other vegetables, wore lovely costumes that were made to look like the real thing. Their splendid dances and tuneful singing were especially commendable.

"Hansel and Gretel," a miniature version of the opera by Humperdinck, arranged by Hayes for young people, was staged by the upper grades. The leading characters were enacted by Dick Ross as Hansel and Margaret Kemp as Gretel. Both pleased the audience with their lovely singing and fine acting. Wayne Ross and Mary Ellen Thomas as the father and mother, took their roles splendidly, as did Ruth Ford—the terrible witch who enslave little children. The chorus consisted of gingerbread children and angels.

Special praise should be given to the excellent stage settings, beautiful costumes, and fine lighting effects of this production. The third act with its gingerbread house, with a cookie roof and candy canes was outstanding. The gingerbread children each had a life-size "gingerbread" to hide them until the witch's spell was broken. There, too, was the cage into which Hansel was put to be fattened and the furnace into which the witch was pushed by the children.

Yes, and they pulled her out to bake a gingerbread!

The second scene of the operetta was perhaps the loveliest of all. After Hansel and Gretel had drifted off to sleep, the curtains parted to show the fourteen angels guarding their sleep. A love melody was effected which will remain long in the minds of those who saw it.

Again congratulations are in store for Mr. Griest for an artistic production. The splendid training that the children are now receiving in the Plymouth schools was well in evidence. Credit should go also to the other teachers, to the students, and to the parents, who so ably assisted in making costumes, programs, and the stage settings. The loud speaking outfit was made available through the generosity of Mr. Elton Robertson of the Factory Radio Service.

Mrs. Carroll Robinson Recipient of Beautiful Hand Painted Picture

A hand-painted picture in the window of the R. B. Shoe Store has been attracting considerable attention and comments the past week. The artist is Miss Lulu L. Seaton of Lubbock, Tex., a former resident of Plymouth, residing on the Plymouth-Shiloh road, who not only painted the picture but also made the attractive frame.

Inscribed on the back of the picture are the following comments: "The Blue Bonnets from the hills, this picture was painted, were gathered along the highway near Waco, Texas."

They are the official flowers for the state of Texas and form a blanket of blue over the hills and valleys of incomparable splendor never to be forgotten.

Plymouth Becoming Music Minded; Appreciates Cantata

Under the direction of R. Byron Griest, the three Protestant churches of Plymouth presented Theodore DuBois' world-famed cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," Sunday evening in the Lutheran church.

This cantata climaxed a series of Holy Week services in all the churches which turned out en masse for the combined service Sunday evening. The vested chorus of fifty voices excelled everything in past performances and brought to the audience the realization that Plymouth is coming to the front in musical circles.

Solo parts were sung by Mrs. Robert Brook, prominent Mansfield soprano; Nelson Grist of Springfield, brother of R. Byron Griest, director, who sang the tenor part and Rev. Richard Wolf, baritone. All gave creditable performances and those in charge of the cantata as well as the audience are greatly appreciative of the services given unostentatiously by the trio.

The entire group practiced untiringly for several weeks and special credit is due the accompanist, Mrs. D. W. Eisel, organist and Mrs. Willard Ross, pianist. The church was beautifully decorated with Easter flowers and illuminated with tapers.

Ray Dawson Now Located In Texas

Ray Dawson, son of Mrs. Genie Dawson of Sandusky street, who was inducted into the army at Camp Blanding, Fla., has been transferred to Fort Crockett, Tex. Four hundred new soldiers were transferred, the army running a special Pullman train of sixteen cars. Four meals were served on the train and the most interesting thing on the trip to Ray was the crossing of the Mississippi river on the Huey P. Long bridge, eight miles long and close to 150 feet high.

Instead of being "rudely" awakened by the bugler, an electric bell gets the boys up at six o'clock and their day's training is over at 5 p. m. The day operates their own picture show and bus services take the boys to town for only 7c. The boys have received the greater portion of their equipment, even to summer khaki suits.

Ray's address is: Regimental Hdq., Battery 265th C. A. Fort Crockett, Texas.

HOTTEST EASTER

Plymouthites along with thousands of other northern Ohioans endured the hottest Easter on record for this area.

In Cleveland at 3:30 p. m., the official thermometer registered 85. In mid-afternoon the thermometer stood at 89 and few people were ready to dispute the reading.

A difference of nearly 80 degrees between Easter, 1940, and this year is almost unbelievable but the U. S. Weather Bureau at Cleveland reports such a difference. Last year Easter was on March 24 and the mercury stood at 9 above, or 76 degrees colder than Sunday.

Plymouth's churches were filled with the principal services, and all services attracted larger than usual gatherings. Children enjoyed the great out of doors, while grown-ups went for a walk, a drive or remained at home.

No "Misters" In The Army Now

Excerpts taken from a letter written to Plymouth relatives by Raymond Holmes, now in training at Camp Wolters, Texas, states "that everything is running along as in the army style. Early to bed and early to rise—Eats are about average for an army camp, but cannot come up to 'mother's'."

The Texas sun has surely made Indians out of us Ohio boys. Tell anyone who wants to write to be sure and address their letters "Private" as we were informed yesterday that there are no "Mirs" in the army.

DEAN JOHN G. HERVEY OF the Temple University Law School of Philadelphia says that 71,500 American husbands deserted their wives last year because:

Wives talked to much about their operations.
Came down to breakfast in curlers and negligee.

Told in detail of children's misdeeds.
Tried to keep up with the Joneses.

Were too critical.
Had no sense of humor.

He made these disclosures at a women's club luncheon—among whose members was his wife.

Now, wouldn't it be interesting to hear what the 71,500 American wives had to say?

TWO YOUNG WOMEN OF UP-per Sandusky, Mrs. Maurice Bins and Miss Virginia Shumaker, left on horseshack Saturday morning for Los Angeles.

They pushed their feet into the stirrups at 7 a. m. and set out on a journey which will cover 2,432 miles.

They expect to visit 276 towns and cities of which 45 are over 3,000 population. They hope to average 30 miles a day and will stop at farm homes each night. They expect to reach Los Angeles by August 1. Nothing was said of the return trip.

LOCAL BOYS IN TRAINING IN various parts of the country are now learning that army life is not "all joy, bliss and turpentine," and are beginning to appreciate things taken for granted in civilian life. For instance, Raymond Holmes of Camp Wolters, Texas, writes: "Bert Rule has a warm spot in my heart for his correct fit in clothes. His worst fits are better than our best." Evidently, there are many misfits (in clothes) in army life.

Bonnie Root Is Bride Of Robert Greenwood In Wedding Of Early April

Beautiful appointments combined to make memorable the wedding Saturday of Miss Bonnie Root, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Root to Mr. G. Robert Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Greenwood of Lorain.

The first Lutheran church when the Rev. Richard C. Wolf, conducted the ceremony at 2:30, the edifice was decorated with exceptionally beautiful effects. As the guests assembled, Organist Mrs. Marie Guthrie, gave a twenty minute program and played the processional. Miss Mary Eliza both Dickerson of St. Clairsville sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Young Is My Heart Alone." The altar was banked with masses of palms and ferns, offset by two large beauty baskets filled with pink gladioli. The setting was illuminated by two seven-branched candelabra within the sanctuary.

Miss Root chose the color scheme of turquoise blue, jonquil yellow and petal pink for four attendants. Bridesmaids were Misses Jean and Ruth Greenwood, sisters of the groom, Lorain; Mrs. William Root, Plymouth, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Gene Love, matron of honor, gownned in like styles, made with draped bodices forming sweetheart necklines, full and circular skirts attched to tight-banded waistline and with long blown sleeves. Numerous rows of lace trimmed the sleeves to the full length and also the skirts from waist to hemline. Matching taffeta bouquets in Puritan style with shoulder veils were worn by all the attendants who carried purple hat baskets filled with all the spring blossoms in pastel colors.

Mr. Greenwood had for his best man Mr. Robert Root, brother of the bride. Ushering were William Root, another brother, also Ray Cox and Clyde Null, both of Lorain.

Miss Root, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a pure white silk marquisette over taffeta in made in peasant style. The round high neckline was finished with a piping of taffeta and tied with a small bow. The full blown sleeves were finished at the wrist with a pleated frill and tied with taffeta piping. The very full skirt, falling into a long train, was attached to a lowered waistline. With this, Miss Root wore a double finger-tip veil attached to a Puritan bonnet of illusion and pearls, and carried a bridal bouquet of white freesias interspersed with a white orchid.

The bridal couple, parents and the bridesmaids were in the receiving line in the church vestibule immediately following the ceremony and later at the Root home on Maple street, where a reception was held for members of the immediate families. A beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake centered the table with spring flowers in pastel shades adding color. Miss Thelma Fox presided at the punch bowls.

Mr. Greenwood and his bride left for a motor trip to the Smoky Mountains and also visited Sergeant and Mrs. Coats Brown (nee Mary Munn) at Knoxville, Tenn. Upon their return they will reside at 1328 Seventh St., Lorain, Ohio.

The bride was graduated from Plymouth high school and also attended Ohio Wesleyan. She is also a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and up to the time of her marriage was employed at the Fate-Root-Heath Company.

Mr. Greenwood is an alumnus of Lorain High school and is connected with the Black River Lumber and Supply Co., Lorain.

CONDITIONS ABROAD SHOW VALUE OF THE AAA PROGRAM FOR WHEAT

As Huron county farmers consider the possibility of a wheat marketing quota for 1941, they should study the methods available to producers in meeting the emergency of large surpluses and lost export markets, says Robert E. Finlay, chairman of the county AAA committee.

Not only Canadian farmers but also those of Argentina and Australia are now taking measures to adjust their wheat production to demand and protect their income through national farm programs, a step in which American farmers were leaders seven years ago, he stated.

The Argentine and Canadian governments protect their farmers by offering to buy their wheat outright, but this has led to difficulties, Mr. Finlay said. Argentine farmers are assured of about 55 cents a bushel and Canadian farmers about 50 cents. Both governments say now that they cannot continue to buy unlimited amounts of wheat grown by their producers, unless foreign markets reopen so that the surplus can be shipped out.

BUILT BY MASSEY-HARRIS

of about 55 cents a bushel on an annual crop of not more than 140 million bushels. In return for this guarantee, farmers must agree to market their wheat thru the government and carry out certain practices designed to reduce wheat acreage.

Mr. Finlay points out that when the Argentine government, late in 1940, guaranteed growers a price of 55 cents a bushel for their new crop, the offer was made with the condition that the farmers agree not to increase the wheat acreage for the 1941 crop year.

It is estimated that Argentina will have nearly 200 million bushels of wheat available for export in 1941. Canada will have more than 700 million bushels available for export. Both amounts are considerably larger than supplies on hand a year ago, whereas the United States supply of surplus wheat has increased only slightly. Because of drought, Australia does not have large export supplies, and such supplies cannot move through military blockade.

AAA farmers can compare the one-point purchase programs of Argentina and Canada to the six-point farm program in the United States. The American program includes: Acreage allotments to adjust production and conserve the soil, crop loans to put a floor under price, parity payments to bolster income, crop insurance to guarantee a return even in years of crop failure, export subsidies to help move surplus wheat into foreign markets, and marketing quotas in cases of emergency.

RACCOON FARM BANS VISITORS UNTIL JULY 10

A number of persons have inquired about visiting the State Raccoon Farm, Milan, Ohio. For the convenience of those who desire to visit this very unique and successful raccoon farm they should be informed that visitors are not permitted at this time of the year. However, the hundreds of interested spectators will be most heartily welcomed after July 10.

The reason for not permitting visitors during this time of the year is that the cubs have been and are being born. Dr. E. D. Martin, superintendent of the farm, has found that strangers greatly disturb the mother coons that are nursing young and as a result often kill their cubs or feed them incorrectly.

It is interesting to know that this raccoon farm is the most successful and outstanding in the United States and very probably the world. Last year there were 1800 coon liberated all over the state from this farm. Every county in the state gets its share.

The farm is maintained entirely from revenues collected from hunting and fishing licenses and the plan is to give the coon hunters and other sportsmen as much for their dollar as is possible. Your cooperation will greatly help make this possible.

WOODS, FIELDS AND STREAMS

(Prepared by Dan R. Atzenhofer, Game Managing Agent.)

Our native cottontail rabbits, the most abundant species in Ohio, seems to be of little interest to most of us except for hunting and eating. It is true that they gnaw some of our most valuable trees at times, and we may be inclined to feel that they are nuisances. However, if we understood more about their life history, it is most likely that we would get a great deal of pleasure by watching their activities.

The rabbit is greatly hampered by the fact that it is lacking of a pleasant song or call, and that most of its activities are at night. Furthermore, it has little offer when it comes to coloration unless a close observation is made.

The reproductive season should appeal to the interests of most of us whether we be sportsmen or nature lovers.

Perhaps, some rabbits have had young already, but most of the reproduction, very likely, is during April, May and June. Some young are born as late as September, however, this number is small. The gestation period is 30 to 31 days. The average number of young per brood is four, though in some instances of eight per brood have been observed. The young are generally placed in a nest which is a small depression in the ground which is lined with vegetation and fur from the mother's body. The mother builds the nest. The young are born with their eyes closed and remain in the nest from 15 to 18 days. One mother may have more than one brood per year.

Thus, we see that rabbits are very prolific and we would naturally think there should be more than there are. It is interesting to know that about fifty per cent of all nests are destroyed by various causes.

The fact that if (10) or five pairs of rabbits were placed within the confines of one acre and none could get out, or would get lost, or die, and each pair would have two broods of young each, each year for six years, at the end of the sixth year there would be 156,250 rabbits or about three and a half rabbits per acre on the foot of an acre, indicates that there must be an enormous loss of life in our rabbit population due to natural causes thru the year.

Variation of these causes largely determine the number of rabbits available at the beginning of the hunting season.

TROOP NEWS

At the regular weekly meeting of the local Boy Scout troop at headquarters last Monday night the merit system was put back into effect. This gives the Scoutmasters and troop committee a positive check on the attitude of the boy toward Scouting. Demerits are given for not attending Sunday school, church, patrol meetings, troop meetings, tardiness at patrol and troop meetings—U's on grade card, improper use of Scout uniform, conduct of the Scout, not paying dues on schedule and uncleanness. Merits are given for Second and First Class tests passed, merit badges earned and special services rendered.

Each Scout is entitled to twenty-five demerits in a three-month period, this number being high enough that no GOOD BOY SCOUT has ever been lost from scouting through his use.

Finals plans were laid for the bake sale to be held Saturday morning, 10:00 A. M. at the library. The money derived from this sale will be used to buy equipment for the boys to use in camp and on hikes.

Troop Board of Review will be held April 21st in the Scout room during the regular meeting. Eldon Sourwine, Wilbert Ruckman and Richard Ross will be examined for Second Class requirements, and Sid Thomas, Quinten Ream, James Crockett, Ellsworth Ford for merit badges.

The 29th of April has been set for installation night. Parents of the Boy Scouts and all friends who are interested in the work are cordially invited to attend this ceremony. Formal installation of the Troop Charter will be made, Deryl Daugherty will be installed as assistant scoutmaster, reinstallation of R. C. Wolf and D. W. Einsel, Jr., installation of Troop Committee and presentation of membership cards to each and every Boy Scout.

Court of Honor will be held the same night.

At "Green Bar" patrol meeting—under the leadership of Scoutmaster Leslie Willard Ross, more plans were made for the "Sealed Order Hike," to be held Saturday, the 26th.

An Inter-Patrol contest was also started. This will last for a period of three months. Points are given for punctuality, wearing of uniform, miles hiked, attendance at troop meetings, patrol meetings, Sunday school, church, second and first class tests passed, merit badges earned, each 10c U. S. Savings Bond stamp purchased and grades at school. For the week-ending April 14th the Panther Patrol under the leadership of Quinten Ream holds the lead with a score of 835. The Pine Tree Patrol, under the leadership of Wayne Ross, 465, and the Wolf Patrol, under the leadership of Ellsworth Ford, 330.

James Rhine has re-entered the Scout work and is at present a member of the Panther Patrol.

Growers Advised To Redeem Their Wheat Before Maturity Date

Wheat growers who plan to redeem their wheat which is stored under warehouse loan should arrange to pay their notes before the maturity date, Robert E. Finley, chairman of the Huron County AAA committee, announces.

All government loans on warehouse wheat mature on or before April 30.

Borrowers may obtain information about the maturity date of their loans and receive assistance in locating their loan papers from their local lending agency or the county AAA committee.

If the loan papers are held by the Commodity Credit Corporation the borrower may have them sent, if he wishes, to his local bank for collection, by making a written request to the Corporation before the maturity date of his loan.

Mr. Finley explained that the borrower must allow enough time for his remittance to reach the Corporation within 10 days after the note matures.

Valuable Booklets Are Now Available

Stephen M. Young, Congressman-at-Large, informed the editor that he has in his Washington office many government pamphlets on various subjects. These pamphlets are written by experts and furnish accurate information.

For example, there are government cookbooks and agriculture yearbooks, booklets on growing fruit for home use, and in fact, hundreds of pamphlets helpful in solving problems of the home and farm.

Congressman Young said: "As an added service to my constituents in all parts of Ohio I shall be glad to furnish booklets and information on subjects of interest. My address is 308 House Building, Washington, D. C."

AAA Signup Deadline Near

With less than a month remaining for Huron county farmers to sign the farm plan for participation in the national farm program Robert E. Finley, Huron county AAA chairman, today declared that more farmers in Ohio will cooperate in the program in 1941 than in any one year since the beginning of the AAA.

Reports from community committeemen who have been contacting farmers personally, and from sign-up meetings held in different sections of Huron county, show that 800 farmers to date have signed the farm plan for 1941. The deadline is May 1.

Signing the farm plan indicates the farmer's intention to comply with allotments. He becomes eligible for conservation and parity payments on corn and wheat in addition to a soil building payment for carrying out approved practices.

Indications point to a marketing quota referendum on the 1941 wheat crop at which time farmers themselves will vote on market restrictions on the new wheat crop. Two-thirds of the eligible farmers voting in the referendum must approve the quotas before they become effective.

In Canada, the chairman points out the Canadian Wheat Board is urging farmers to reduce their wheat acreage from 25 million acres seeded in 1940 to about 19 million acres in 1941, or a reduction of 35 per cent. The marketing quota, therefore, to the Canadian farmer will be 65 per cent of the 1940 acreage in wheat.

In the United States, the marketing quota for a farm will be all the wheat produced within the wheat allotment.

Farmers may call at the Huron county office, 105 Telephone Bldg. Norwalk, Ohio, at any time for information concerning the farm plan for 1941, he said.

FARM CLEANUP IS AN AID TO PROFITS

Did you know that if the round worm eggs in the average 40 year old hog lot were as big as hen eggs they would cover the lot in a pile eight miles high?

In other words we must not discount the dollar-robbing abilities of parasites and bacteria simply because they are invisible.

There are a number of steps that every farmer can take to cut down the ravages of animal diseases and parasites. Rotation of animal pastures is just as important as rotating grain fields. Raise young livestock on upland pastures to avoid the worm eggs and bacteria more common to bottom lands that are poorly drained.

Proper disposal of all manure is one of the most important links in farm sanitation. It should be spread on fields not soon grazed by livestock, and plowed under.

Thorough cleaning, sweeping and disinfection of all quarters where young livestock are to be born always pays big dividends. So does filling in mud holes, fencing off spring spots and deep holes and nailing up openings under the doors of farm buildings. Old straw stacks are a common source of threadworms in swine, and should be burned.

The best of all known disinfectants is also the simplest. This is simply sunshine and lots of it. Millions of dollars are spent each year on non-approved disinfectants. Common lime and sulfated cresol are most effective and safe.

A clean hog lot like this pays real dividends in avoidance of eye diseases.

Among the best and cheapest of the chemical disinfectants. Whenever possible they should be used in hot water and followed by a coat of white wash.

Problems involving farm sanitation are best answered by local veterinarians, for different disease problems often require a different line of approach.

Don't Burn Off Fields

Editor:

No sensible farmer would burn down to his old barn just to get it out of the way quickly so a new one could be built. Yet, according to H. E. Hecker, superintendent of the Rocky Fork CCC camp, many Richland county farmers are following a practice almost as unreasonable.

Mr. Hecker is referring to the common practice of burning off old pastures to make way for new grass, a practice that has been especially frequent this spring. Enrollees from the camp have answered several fire calls recently as a result.

"Property damage has been caused in some cases," the superintendent said, "but the real damage is not yet apparent. From a standpoint of soil and water conservation, burning over pastures and woodlots is wasteful and destructive. Through burning, a considerable amount of the life-giving organic matter present in crop residues, is completely lost to the soil.

"A thick, productive pasture turf controls erosion almost as completely as does virgin prairie or forest, while burned over permanent pastures become thin and weak. Such a thin turf permits erosion to go on almost unchecked and gullies eventually follow. Hay from a burned-over meadow will be of inferior quality and usually will contain more weeds than that from an unburned area because the desirable plants will offer less competition, Hecker said. Fire that destroys the grass on meadow fields has the same effect that overgrazing has on pasture. It weakens the existing vegetation and often kills the most desirable species.

CHEMISTRY NEWS

Did you ever take chemistry or read anything about it? It is a most interesting subject. Through chemistry you learn concerning the wonders of the universe. You discover things for yourself. Chemistry teaches you to work for yourself and to depend on yourself.

The members of the chemistry class have been performing some interesting and fascinating experiments.

We just finished the flame tests for metals. This is how we performed this experiment. We took a platinum wire, washed it thoroughly in hydrochloric acid and then burned the acid from the fire by holding it in the flame of a Bunsen burner.

After doing this we dip the platinum wire in a water solution of the metal which we are going to test. Different metals will impart a different color to the flame. Many of them are very pretty. This is our first step in qualitative analysis.

We have been working our borax test for metals. By this method we can find what the unknown metals are. We take a platinum wire and bend it into a small loop. We then moisten it and dip into some borax. After heating the wire, a small transparent bed will appear on the loop of the wire. Then we dip it into a small amount of the metal being tested. We can tell what the metal is by the color it imparts to the bead.

We have also used the cobalt nitrate test for metal. We take a piece of charcoal block and make a small hole in it. Filling the small hole with the metal to be tested, we dampen it a bit. After heating for a while, we add a little cobalt nitrate and continue to heat it. We put the flame in the holes by using a blow pipe.

We have done many interesting things this year in chemistry. Our class discussions are equally interesting. Everyone should take chemistry, at least, in high school. DuPont is certainly right when he says: "Better things for better living through chemistry."

SENIOR NEWS

The seniors have been very busy these days. They are working on some coming events which are to occur sometime in the near future.

Don't forget about the senior play, "Drums of Fury," which is to be presented at the school auditorium on May 2, and we hope you will plan to attend.

We have been discussing our commencement program and have decided to have a speaker. Our commencement is on May 21.

HOME EC NEWS

Last Monday night at the P. T. A. the girls had a fashion show which everyone enjoyed very much. There was one thing a little different from what is usually shown. This was a skating outfit made by Ann Kopina. While showing this she wore her roller skates and glided smoothly across the stage.

After the program Mary Jean Homerick demonstrated our new button hole maker. We were so glad to see so many ladies interested because it is really worth seeing, with which they are very pleased. Tooled leather pocketbooks made, with which the are very pleased.

FRESHMAN NEWS

The Freshmen have a new girl in their class. Her name is Margaret Callahan. We welcome Margaret and hope she will like SHS. We have been writing compositions in English class. In order to help us to be more accurate in spelling, Miss Southwick is grading us very low.

VACATION OVER

Our school had a small Easter vacation. School was dismissed on Thursday afternoon and was not resumed until the following Monday morning. We hope everyone had a nice vacation and enjoyed it immensely.

WINS SECOND PLACE

On Thursday afternoon after school Shiloh played their second baseball game of the season. Thus far the boys have won all their games. On Tuesday of last week we played New Haven. Shiloh won this game.

On Thursday our boys came back with much vigor to take the second game. This one proved very exciting. At one time it was 7-5. At another time it was 7-7. Finally, at the end, our boys were ahead with the close score of 9-8.

SEVENTH GRADE NEWS

In geography class the seventh graders are learning the capitals and countries of the Northern Continent. If you want to know anything, just ask the seventh graders.

In the "Manner Contest," which we started in February we have finished and Betty Rose's side won. Boys, we are waiting for the entertainment.

At the morning service the pastor's theme was "The Power of the Resurrection," with special music by the choir and a solo by Miss Mary Alice Weller. The rite of infant baptism was administered. There were many beautiful flowers, some of which were given in memory of Mrs. J. C. Brewbaker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rowalt, Ruth Ann Collier, Mrs. D. W. Danner, Mrs. Catherine Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Monteth, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Trauger, Mrs. Monette Norris, Mrs. Wm. Fellers.
