

SENIORS PLEASE ATTENDANCE WITH ITS CLASS PLAY

The Senior Class of PHS successfully presented "Leave It to Mother," as their play at the High School auditorium Thursday, May 15.

The play, which concerned the difficulties of an old-fashioned mother with her children who had ultra-modern ideas proved a worthy vehicle for the actors, each of whom did well in their respective part. Betty Pickens in the leading role gave a fine interpretation of the mother. Barbara Pickens as the "brat," played her character with great zest, much to the delight of the audience. Well-cast as the troublesome English Lord was Harry Vandervort.

Norma Hatch and Bob Martin took the leads excellently; their fine speaking voices were noteworthy. Joe Hunter as an unwanted suitor and Audrey Stotts cast as the widowed aunt played their roles well. The other members of the cast, Helen McDougal, Ellsworth Ford, Leona Taylor, Martha Heath, and John McKown, all performed in a most commendable manner.

Congratulations should go to Miss Faulkner, Senior Class Sponsor, who directed the production.

Music between the acts of the play was presented by students of Mr. Crist. Mary Alice Waller and Helen Gowitzka, soprano soloists, sang and the girls' double quartet presented a number.

SISTER DIES

Mrs. John Strook, 85, died Saturday night at her home in Shelby after an illness of one year.

Mrs. Strook was born on a farm near Shelby on June 18, 1856, and had lived her entire life in this vicinity.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Nellie McGinnis of Jupiter, Fla., one brother, Henry Crall of Shelby; a sister, Mrs. W. J. Hershiser of Plymouth and a grandchild.

Funeral services were held at the Burkholder funeral home Tuesday afternoon with Rev. A. B. Allison, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was made in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

BIG SHIPMENT RECEIVED HERE

The biggest shipment of cured and fresh meats ever to come to Plymouth in one single shipment was made this week when Armour & Co. made a huge delivery of fresh and cured meats and canned goods to Jerry's Market. The merchandise was purchased in connection with Plymouth's Spring Festival, and patrons will have a big selection of all kinds of meats to choose from.

Jerry's Market is featuring the Armour line, and he invites you to call and see the many varieties being offered. It's easy to get quick meals, and its easy to serve a six-course dinner any time of the evening is going to top off OK. As an innovation Jerry has put in a big supply of peanuts in the shell and customers may eat all they choose, throw the shells on the floor—ah, ah—your own treat any out of the store, but believe me, you can stand for an hour and eat peanuts.

This is the first time a feature of this kind has been featured in the section in the line of merchandising, and its proving to be a real drawing card.

Jerry's Market also has an ad in this issue, as well as all the other leading merchants, and we invite you to read each one of them. The boys around the Square are really getting full of enthusiasm and their prices and merchandise can't be beat. Try 'em once!

THE BUCKEYE RANGERS

CHURCHES JOIN POPPY DAY SET IN MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR SATURDAY

The annual Union Memorial Sunday services for the churches of Plymouth will be held at 11 o'clock next Sunday morning at the Methodist church. A special service is planned of interest not only to regular worshippers in Plymouth churches, but to the public in general.

The special music will be furnished by the Methodist choir and the sermon will be preached by Rev. Howard Bethel, newly installed minister of the Presbyterian church.

All ex-service men, members of the Auxiliary, D. of V., Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, will attend in a body. The public is cordially invited to come to this service in honor of all those whose memory we hold sacred.

LOCAL PLANT HAS DISPLAY

A distinctive feature of the Spring Jubilee program will be the display of the Fate-Root-Heath Company, which will give visitors a chance to see some of the products manufactured at the factory in Plymouth. Featured will be a small locomotive which was brought on the Square.

The Business Men's Association, sponsors of the Jubilee, have felt that visitors to the town should be given an opportunity to know about the products of the Fate-Root-Heath Company, upon which the town depends so heavily. Due to the whole-hearted cooperation of the plant, the whole line of products manufactured at the plant in Plymouth, will be displayed, including a locomotive, Silver King tractors, Fate Clay Working Machines, and Ideal Lawnmower Sharpens.

James Root, office manager of the Fate-Root-Heath Co. will have charge of the display. Representatives of the plant will be present to answer questions in regard to any of the products on display.

Those in Plymouth and surrounding territory, who have not visited the plant, and who would like to see the products made in Plymouth, will have a chance to do so the remainder of the week. The exhibit is located on the Square in front of the post office.

Memory of America's war dead in the first World War will be honored on Saturday, May 24th, when the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute Poppies in Plymouth. Both Boy and Girl Scouts will be asked to help distribute the little flowers.

Replicas of the poppies which grew on the battle field in France have been made by disabled veterans in government hospitals. Many of these men have been employed or compensated.

The money which the Auxiliary receives for the poppies is placed in a fund to be used for child welfare and rehabilitation through the organization.

The bright red flowers will be sold throughout the day and an appeal to all patriotic citizens to wear them is being made. Symbolic of life sacrificed for America, and made by men who have sacrificed health and strength for their country, the memorial poppy is a true badge of patriotism. Every poppy that is worn means more help for the children who have been left without a father's support because of the last war. So, won't you please, buy a Poppy?

BAKE SALE!
Members of St. Joseph's Church are planning a bake sale for Saturday, May 31 at the Library room. A splendid supply of home-baked goods will be offered the public.

INJUNCTION IS GIVEN DININGER

An injunction to prevent the closing of State Route 61 through Plymouth was granted Ray Dininger Wednesday afternoon, and papers were served to the village officials and business men's association.

The hearing will be held at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon before Judge Martin in Common Pleas Court at Norwalk.

Dininger claims that he suffers considerable loss of business during the hours the street will be closed, and despite the fact the closing starts at the corner of the Tourist Inn heading off traffic into the Square, he feels the situation is an unjust one.

Pictured above are the well known Buckeye Rangers, who will ride into town on Friday night to give the Festival Jubilee crowd a program of western and old-time music. This musical outfit has been a longtime favorite in the State, having played over radio stations WLW, WHRC and other stations. They will be remembered by many as a popular part of the Fall Festival program held here last year.

HOUGH'S NOW IN NEW LOCATION

GROCERY FIRM VACATES ON SOUTH SIDE OF SQUARE: IS NOW IN HOTEL BUILDING.

With everyone giving a helping hand, Hough's Grocery and Meat Market, was moved late Saturday night from its old location on the southside of the Square in the Ruckman building, to its new location in the old Smith Hotel building on the northside of the Square.

Fellow grocers loaned all the trucks necessary and many gave a helping hand in moving the big stock of merchandise and show cases as well as refrigeration plants. It was a big job, but it was done quietly and easily. Monday morning, Mr. Hough opened his store for business as usual.

There's an ad in this week's edition of the Advertiser which quotes some real Specials. The items are priced so that they are worth clamoring for, but the real reason is to acquaint the trading public with Hough's new location. Read the ad, and then go to Hough's and inspect the new store.

On June the first the post office is expected to move into the building which Hough's Market vacated. Workmen will begin to repair and fixtures will be used now in the present post office, having been purchased by Mr. Ruckman from Mr. BeVier.

CLASS VISITS BIG AIRPORT

(By Bob Root)

The personnel of the Aeronautics Class, which has been meeting regularly for five months, completed their course by being taken to the Cleveland Municipal Airport last Saturday. Since government regulations have become so strict it was next to impossible to get in the place of interest. The class was conducted from the Administration building to the Control Building where the nerve center of the National Aeronautics Commission is located.

After being introduced to the supervisor of this division we were escorted to the control room. Here we saw a recording cabinet which recorded the position of all planes on the civil airways which were flying by instruments, and we also learned that the dispatchers estimated the plane's position within two minutes. There were seven dispatchers working, besides the head superintendent, in the dispatching room. Recording machines of the most intricate type were seen and we were told that this was for the purpose of protecting the planes and also air companies. We learned that not all of the positions have been taken, as the officer told us that they could not afford the time to study and learn dispatching.

They have dropped the requirements from two years' piloting to one year, plus a high school education. This course requires from twelve to eighteen months of training, but due to the fact that so many of the dispatchers have been called by the national government, a shortage of men is being experienced.

We were then escorted to the Airport Weather Bureau where Mr. Anderson, the head meteorologist, explained to us how weather was followed by maps. We learned that it was going to be cool on Sunday and that it would be warm on Wednesday, followed by thunder showers the latter part of the week.

He stated that occasionally the weather map changed but for the protection of the aviators the weather is broadcast to them every five minutes. We also saw a display of the most complicated technical machines in operation for the sending of messages pertaining to the weather.

We also visited different hangars and saw a government bomber, a sea plane besides other large transports and training planes. We learned also that there were four aviation schools located at the airport and that none of them were worked to capacity.

The government program for the training of youths in plane mechanics was in full swing as well as the construction of a Federal wind tunnel. We were sorry to learn that there would be no more air races held at the Cleveland airport for some time.

In all, we were very much pleased with our trip, and we felt that it was a splendid climax to the aeronautics course which has been taught by Mr. Bailey.

Wednesday night the big Public Square in Plymouth was transformed into a huge midway full of bright lights and a happy crowd. It was the opening night of Plymouth's Spring Festival which is scheduled to run for the remainder of the week, coming to a close on Saturday night.

Ferris wheels, and rides of all kinds, and many other concessions added carnival spirit to the crowd which proved a lot of fun to those attending the first night.

Several local firms have display booths, and among those entertaining with some of the old-fashioned homespun humor for which they have been famous for years over the state. These people went to dinner at the music. The show was just completed a radio show over WMAN where they were featured with Uncle Bud. Their show will take place on the Square at 9 o'clock.

Tomorrow night at 9:00 o'clock the Buckeye Rangers return with a full program of western and old-time rhythm. The Square will be kept open for those who want to dance to the music. The Rangers appeared here last year at the Fall Festival when they were given a great ovation by the crowd.

The Jubilee program will be closed on Saturday night with a performance by the 65-piece marching band from Crestline high school. This band, directed by Maurice Davis, has become quite well-known around northern Ohio for its excellent renditions of band music and its skill in executing marching formations.

Saturday afternoon will see a style show featured on the Jubilee program with all the latest in fashion and new line of dresses shown by the Hatch Dress Shop. Also scheduled is a pet show under the direction of Bob Echeverria, which will be held on the Square at 4 p. m. for the pet parade.

All entries in the photography contest must be turned in at the Advertiser office by six o'clock Friday evening. Awards will be made Saturday at 4 p. m.

ANNUAL O. E. S. INSPECTION
DRAWS CROWD

Deputy Grand Matron, Thelma Hartman, Gives Grade of Excellent to Plymouth Chapter, 231.

A grand spring evening and interest in Eastern Star work brought an attendance of one hundred twenty to the annual inspection and initiation at Plymouth Chapter, 231, on Tuesday evening.

One of the most delicious inspection dinners ever served was served by the chapter at seven o'clock. It was three-course, and covers were laid for around 80 in the beautifully decorated church dining room. The color scheme used was white and purple, and at each place was a miniature white Bible as a favor. White candles in crystal holders and bouquets of spirea and purple iris were alternated at the tables and also around the ledge of the room.

When members of Plymouth Chapter and their guests entered the Chapter rooms for the evening meeting they were again greeted by beautiful baskets of spring and early summer flowers which were arranged around the hall and upon the dais steps. Candalaria were on either side of the dais.

Chapter was opened by a new and effective candlelight march. After the initial work was done by the officers of this year, the Deputy Grand Matron, Thelma Hartman from Mansfield, O., made her report, commended the officers and gave a short but gracious speech on the work of the order as a farewell to her work of inspection in District No. 10, this being her last official visit.

White Bibles were presented to the candidates and to the Worthy Matron, Julia Einsel, the latter receiving her gift from her sister and niece of Milan. All visiting Matrons and Patrons of other Chapters were given boutonnieres, as were all Past Matrons and Patrons of this Chapter. One visiting Deputy Grand Matron of District No. 5, was present, Mrs. Isabelle Ford Brown of Attica, whose name was formerly in Plymouth. Mrs. Noss of Upper Sandusky, represented the visiting Matrons in making a few appropriate remarks, and Worthy Patron Harry Dawson, whose work of the evening was highly commended, and visiting Patrons also spoke briefly. Soloists of the evening were Orva Dawson and Alice Murlin, both singing beautifully.

After the close of Chapter, light refreshments were served. Members and guests were present from Mansfield, Shelby, Attica, North Fairfield, Shiloh, Willard, Milan, Mt. Gilead, Upper Sandusky, Carey and Bellville.

Chairman of committees who deserved many thanks for their fine work in preparing for this inspection are: Carolyn Dunham, table decoration; Ingabe Scott, Chapter room decorations; Arlene Schreck, favors; Anona Root and Lou Miller, registration; Virginia Ruckman, Donna Dawson, welcome; Mrs. Scott, luncheon, each being assisted by other members.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor:

A few more words about the municipal light plant business, if you will allow me the privilege. I believe that to most people, electricity is a commodity, something that is bought, used and paid for, just like food, clothing, fuel, etc. I also believe that most people are interested in being able to buy it at the lowest possible cost to themselves, and do not especially care where it comes from, or who makes it, as long as the price is right. I would, therefore, judge the success or failure of a municipal light plant by this standard, and ask only this question, "Will we be able, here in Plymouth, to obtain lower electric rates in our own homes and business places, by building and operating a municipal light plant?" If we are to judge this success solely by their ability to "make money" then of course all such plants must be successful as Ohio laws would not allow a municipal plant to be operated on any other than a profitable basis. Considered on the basis of lowest rates to the consumer, a plant here in Plymouth would have to be considered a failure, on account of certain local conditions, and on account of the fixed cost of labor and equipment.

By local conditions I refer to the fact that natural gas is available here, and is the standard fuel for cooking and water heating, in addition to being used by some for refrigeration. The cost of equipment for doing these chores by electricity makes it seem unlikely that any large number of people here will make a change over for a long time to come. There is also the fact that we have no sizeable industry here using current from the town in the daytime; therefore the largest part of the plant load must be for lighting purposes, or a night-time load. The plant could operate on an efficient and profitable basis only about five hours per day, while it would have to be kept running, burning up fuel, and requiring an attendant throughout the 24-hour period each day. The increased use of fluorescent lighting, already under way, will eat this night load; since by its use it is possible to obtain more light with less current, it probably will be generally used within the next ten years. Any group of people planning to manufacture electricity for sale, surely must consider this question: "Will increased use of current in daytime be enough to offset the night-time loss?" This factor in itself will make the project a gamble, and a risky one, since in our engineer's survey we find an estimated increase in use of current amounting to 35 percent in the first seven years, by the same number of customers. Without this 35 percent increase of course revenue figures would have to be revised, and the picture would become darker. What if hard times should come upon us, and we should lose some customers before the fifteen years elapsed? The bonds and interest would still be there, and they must be paid, regardless.

In order to furnish our customer with electricity at the lowest possible cost to them, of course we must obtain it where we can get it most cheaply, and on this basis, in Plymouth, the municipal plant cannot begin to compare with purchased power. In order to make the comparison fair one, since the plant estimates are on a 15 year bond retirement plan, we are using the purchased power rates available under a ten-year contract.

First, over a fifteen year period, total plant costs including maintenance, are estimated at $280,672. Estimated cost of the same amount of purchased power, plus the same maintenance, is $216,548. This shows a clear saving in favor of purchased power of $64,123, or nearly $4,300 per year over the 15 year period. Should it become possible to purchase at a lower figure at the end of the 15 years, of course the savings would be greater. Which proposition looks as if it would make lower rates possible?

Just to keep the record straight, I checked on the engineer's estimate of total revenue, and find it to be, in the plant survey, not $330,000, but $360,980. That is, indeed, not hay. It is an average of $24,085 per year for the 15 year period, and a very sizeable increase over the total billings for 1940, which were $19,675, while a fair estimate for 1941, based on the first quarter billings, seems to be around $18,000. Where will the $8,000 per year increase come from? It seems as if some rate increases might be necessary. Is that what we want? Let's go and vote this power plant business clear down when we get a chance at it, at the referendum election.

Still in favor of lowest possible rates,

Walter C. Dawson.

Editor Adviser:

It is not the intention of the writer to enter the controversy now raging between the council and board of public affairs regarding the proposed municipal plant project. However, I believe our citizens are more interested in facts than "dog fights."

With that idea in mind I shall attempt to point out a few facts available at this stage. First of all, those of us who attended the business men's meeting at the Lutheran church some time ago, will recall that the power company representative stated that their return from the village under the proposed 10 year contract would be $132,000.00, or something near that figure, which is substantiated by the village records.

The village records show that we consumed approximately 600,000 KWH per year, based on our consumption during the preceding five year period, which is low in comparison with other villages of our size.

The question seems to be, "can we manufacture electricity more cheaply than we now purchase it from the power company?" The thing that seems to stump us is, how are we going to arrive at the cost of production? True, there are some figures available, but how many of us understand this choctaw language as spoken by representatives of interested parties. In order to determine the cost of production, would it not be a good idea to locate a plant producing about the same amount of energy we are now purchasing, and get the actual figures? It is my judgment that this procedure would eliminate acceptance as facts, all data submitted by either the power company or the engine company. Certainly, there must be a plant somewhere, comparable to our needs and it should not prove harmful to investigate. Interested Citizen

MRS. ROWE ENTERTAINS

FRIENDSHIP CLASS
The Friendship Class of the Methodist church was entertained at a delightful party at the home of Mrs. Rowe on Sandusky St., Tuesday evening, May 20. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Fleck and Mrs. Morrow. The devotional leader for the evening was Mrs. Brokaw, who chose the 91st Psalm as the lesson. After the business meeting, the guests were entertained by a contest testing their knowledge of the Bible. This contest was conducted by Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Fleck was judged the best informed.

Mrs. Fleck was the leader in an interesting quiz of the "true or false" kind, and this brought out many things in Bible History. A delicious lunch was served at tables beautifully decorated with colorful iris. The June meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Ross.

SIX O'CLOCK DINNER

Three tables of progressive pinocle were played during the evening with Mrs. Ralph VanAsdale winning high prize and the low prize being won by Mrs. Frank Dillon. Refreshments were served by the honoree's family. Mrs. VanAsdale received many pretty and useful gifts.

GARDEN CLUB

ENTERTAINS
Mrs. Roy Scott was hostess to the Garden Club Friday evening, May 16.

Mrs. Bartholomew, the president, read "Timely Hints for May." Mrs. Scott was in charge of the program "Primroses" and told us many useful things about their care and culture. In view of the fact that she has so many primroses in her garden which are in the prime now, it was a most interesting subject.

Mrs. Wechter read a page from Pittsburgh paper featuring an advertisement of Spear's. It was the story of a tree which was growing on a stone city building with no visible means of sustenance. When they tore the building down to make room for a new building, they treasured the tree as a symbol of the success of Spear's. It was an interesting story and one in which all were much interested. The roll call was a seed exchange.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jud Keller, Friday evening, June 6.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frayne and daughter Jeanne of Alameda, Calif., were guests Friday of Mrs. Frayne's aunt, Mrs. Mabel Wirth. Mr. Phillip Willett of Gran-

Additional Shiloh School News

On Monday the 5th grade had tryouts for drum majors and assistants. There were five girls who tried out for three positions. They were Donna Hoffman, Jan Hoffman, Doris Reynolds, Mary Benedict, and Janice Moser. The girls were told to march down to the end of the field and back and twirl while the band stood still and played "Headway" and "Military Escort," two of our favorite marching numbers. All the girls did very well in spite of being so frightened they could hardly hold on to the baton.

The drummers turned out to be Janice Moser as head drum major and Donna and Joan Hoffman as assistants. We hope to have a larger and better marching band this summer and fall and we have received much support from the friends and backers of our school.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

VALEDICTORY—EDUCATION

Parents, Teachers and Friends: We, the class of '41 are here tonight symbolizing one phase of our Americanism, our democratic education. We have received 12 years of American education—that which leads us to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

It is education that enlightened the world, fired the imagination of man, feeds the flame of genius and gives wings to dreams and might to hands and feet.

From out of the deep shadows of the past it comes wearing the scars of struggle and the stripes of toil, bearing the wisdom of all ages. Man, because of it, holds dominion over earth, air and the sea; it is for him that it leashed the lightning, plumbs the deep, and shackles the ether.

Education is the parent of progress, creator of culture and molter of destiny. Philosophy, science, and art are the work of its hands. It banishes ignorance, discourages vice and disarms an enemy.

Thus has education become freedom's citadel, the arm of democracy, the hope of youth, and the pride of adolescence, and the joy of the age. Fortunate the nations and happy homes that welcome it.

In school ambitions are stirred, ideals stimulated and the keys are forged which open the doors of knowledge and life.

Education is the source of inspiration and the aid of aspiration.

A democratic education should endow us with a passion for the truth and with a dislike for shallow opinions and deceit. The only freedom is the freedom which truth can give us. We can so easily become burdened down with a load of beliefs that are not true. Newspapers bombard us, political candidates entreat us, magazines deceive us, and we must be able to see through all this selfish underbrush to the ground of truth.

Education can make us respectful also of what we do not know. An educated person is never arrogant. He never believes that the universe contains only that which he is able to comprehend. A little education makes one cocksure, while a deep and vivid education makes one very humble.

We the class of 1941 now at our commencement time resolve not to turn our backs on education, but to deepen our education, to make it far more inclusive than the narrow circle of what we have had. We resolve not to use our education for the selfish enjoyment of a degree, as if that mark lifted us to a superior class, but for the building of a better world through our enlarged understanding. And now dear teachers we wish to thank you for the high ideals you have instilled in us and for the careful guidance you have exerted over us and parents and friends, we wish to thank you for everything you have done in helping to further our education and trust that the years will make your reward. And now on behalf of the Senior Class, I bid you farewell.

SHILOH SCHOOL NEWS

SALUTATORIAN ADDRESS

Parents, Teachers and Friends:
Tonight I greet you from the bottom of my heart. It is only a few minutes before we shall be a part of you. A few more minutes with our diplomas in hand we shall leave this thing called "My Road" and face a world replete with human suffering and unnecessary slaughter of human lives.

We do not face a very cordial world. We face a cruel and repulsive world. This does not make us tremble. We will not retreat one iota. We know that there are obstacles which will hamper our progress, but we will continue to fight for success. It is with these thoughts in mind that we salute you.

Today there is hardly a person who is not striving for success. Everyone wants to attain success. The road to success is not the roses. Therein abideth work, fatigue and, many times, tears. There are certain prerequisites which are so necessary to success that we may well call them, "The Four Keys to Success." I wish to elaborate on each one separately.

1. Faith—Faith is an act or state of acknowledging unquestioningly the existence of a supreme being and the reality of a divine order. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Faith is an essential tool of success. Faith is the foundation of everything which is good. If we build things on faith, those things will stand. By faith we understand unusual events. By faith we overcome the crises which present themselves to us during our lives.

2. Charity—Charity is the virtue or act of loving God with a love which transcends that for creatures, and of loving others for the sake of God. We should strive to live harmoniously with our fellow men. If our neighbor asks us for a piece of bread, shall we give it to him? I say that we should give him a whole loaf instead of a stone. We should act toward our neighbor in such a way so that we will reflect the parable of the Good Samaritan.

3. Personality—Personality is the distinction or excellence of personal and social traits, and magnetic personal quality in the home or in public one should act as a gentleman. If you are impulsive in the home, you will be impulsive in public. If you are courteous and refined in the home you will be courteous and refined in public. In other words, what you do in the home will reflect itself in public. Do not be perturbed.

Try to be altruistic. Have respect for others. Face trouble with a grin. But your personality on Faith in God.

4. Choosing the Right Road—As we leave this school tonight we are confronted by two roads. "The Good Road" and "My Road." "My Road" is the route taken by so many people who are unsuccessful and have a tragic end. This road gets you nowhere. The profits are not the kind you want. Strange as it may seem, there is very little suffering on this road. There is no suffering because travelers on this road have yielded to temptation and indulged in evil. They have nothing to count on and nothing about which to worry.

The "Good Road" is a better road to travel. On it you will not have to suffer. You will find that traveling on this road isn't very easy. In spite of all these disappointments, there is a satisfaction in this road. The satisfaction is the fact that this road leads to a place of peace, happiness and contentment. These are not the only tools to attain success. We must be politicians—good politicians. A good politician is one who is willing and ready to fight for democracy. In a democracy everyone has a chance to succeed.

Today democracy is undergoing a tremendous test. We Americans are well aware of this fact. We say that we are thankful to live in the United States. Are we thankful to live here because we are protected from bullets? Are we thankful to live here because we do not have to make sacrifices which so many small nations have made? Are we thankful to live here because of the opportunities given to us and because the United States is a democracy?

Several years ago Abraham Lincoln said in a great speech, "Now we are engaged in a great civil war, and we shall win, this nation or any other nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure." That nation which stood that test, and shall withstand many more. In this great crisis we are not Democrats or Republicans. We are Americans. The torch of education is burning. It shall continue to burn. To the class of 1941, its predecessors and successors, that torch does not burn in vain.

During the Great War, the soldiers from this country called it God's Country. By all means let us keep it God's Country. Thank you. (Delivered by Joseph Mock at Commencement on Wednesday night, May 21.)

BIG PARTY

On Tuesday, May 13, the Seniors enjoyed a wonderful party at Roadside Park at Olvesburg. This was a very fitting day for a party for the seniors. Tuesday was a rather old-fashioned day for the seniors. The boys wore old overalls and the girls wore old dresses and slacks. They certainly cut an interesting figure around the school on Tuesday.

In the afternoon we went to our party. We enjoyed it immensely and never had so much to eat. On Wednesday we gave our chapel program in the afternoon. We were proud to learn that it was enjoyed by all who attended. Our baccalaureate was held on Sunday night, May 18. It was attended by a large crowd. Rev. Mumford from Bucyrus preached the sermon.

Our commencement is to be held Wednesday evening, May 21. We have planned an interesting program. Prudie . . . High School Orchestra . . . Rev. Wintermute Salutory . . . Joe Mock Vocal Solo . . . GIRL RESERVES NEWS

The Girls Reserves held a skating party at Mansfield on May 20 at the Coliseum Rink. Rink members brought a guest. We met at the school house at 7:30 and motored there. We had a very enjoyable time and we hope to go again sometime. We are going to have a party on Thursday afternoon to entertain the girls of the Sophomore Class so they will want to join next year.

JUNIOR NEWS

Last Thursday evening immediately after school, we Juniors went out to Morley's woods for our class party. We played ball until 8:30 and then we had a "senior roast." There was plenty of good eats, which was a blessing after we had worked up enormous appetites, and a very good time was enjoyed by all. We want to take this opportunity to thank Mr. and Mrs. Morley for being so kind in letting us use their woods.

SENIOR DANCE

Last Friday night the Seniors held a Spring dance at the High school auditorium. Although we were rather late in getting started, a good time was had by all. Gail Duffenbaugh and his Star Dancers furnished the music.

CHEMISTRY

Chemistry is vital in industry and world progress. However, it finds many practical uses in modern home life. In our laboratory we experimented to find the old dresses and slacks. They certainly cut an interesting figure around the school on Tuesday. In the afternoon we went to our party. We enjoyed it immensely and never had so much to eat. On Wednesday we gave our chapel program in the afternoon. We were proud to learn that it was enjoyed by all who attended. Our baccalaureate was held on Sunday night, May 18. It was attended by a large crowd. Rev. Mumford from Bucyrus preached the sermon.

APPRECIATION TO THE PLYMOUTH ADVERTISER

We, the Student Council, do sincerely wish to show our appreciation to Mr. Thomas and his staff for the efficient way in which they have handled our school news and the low rate which he has given to our students so that we could sell the paper at a fee which most of the students were able to buy. We feel this year has been the most successful year since we have been putting out a school paper in that all news is up to date and coming events are advertised at the proper time. We hope that we can continue with the same policy next year. On behalf of the Student Council of the Case Village School, I want to thank the Plymouth Advertiser for their whole-hearted cooperation.

Mayor Johns Writes His Views On Long Term Power Contract

The people of Plymouth are asking for and are entitled to know all the facts leading up to the present controversy over the municipal light plant project. The answer is very simple. The present mayor and council inherited the matter, along with many other things when they took office in January 1940.

The old contract with the Ohio Power Company expired in October, 1940. This contract had been for a term of five years and even during the term of office of our immediate predecessors the Power Company were pressing for a renewal of the contract, not for five years, but for ten years, and as an inducement offered a rate which the company claimed would save the village approximately $100.00 per month. In addition thereto, the company, through its representatives, stated that if, during said term of ten years, conditions permitted, it would lower the rate on its own volition. No such clause, however, appeared in the written contract and once signed, no matter how much cheaper electric energy could be furnished us, either by the power company or some federal project, or our own, during the term of ten years, we would have no recourse, but continue to pay through the nose according to the letter of the contract.

Neither we nor our immediate predecessors in office feel that we would be doing our full duty towards you by binding the village on the excessive rate set out in the contract for ten years. If the company had been content to renew for a period of five years, which was the term of the old contract, we feel sure that the contract would have been renewed a long time ago.

For many years, you as customers of the village have, and rightly so, been looking forward to the time when you could purchase electric energy at a much cheaper rate. The Power Company will tell you that it can and does produce and distribute electric energy much cheaper now than it did during the term of our last contract. If the company realized this and was honest in its intention of dropping the rate in the future, if conditions permitted, why does it insist that you bind yourselves for a term of ten years. One thing you must confess, and that is the Power Company does not have your interest at heart. It is a corporation for profit and through you it is trying to make still more profit. It wants a steady flow of money coming from you over a long term, at a high rate, even though the cost of production is dropping. It's not beyond the realm of possibility to expect a Federal Power Project installed somewhere near here in the future from which you could reasonably expect a moderate rate for electric energy. It has happened in many parts of this country. The power company knows its coming and is preparing for it. That's why it wants a long term contract and when the time comes for you to take advantage of lower electric rates, how we your servants, will be condemned for putting it out of your reach by tying you up to a ten year contract.

Ask the power company how much it capitalized its five year contract at. These contracts are very valuable to it. Ask them what a ten-year contract will be worth to them. If they will give you the answer, you will readily see that the contract it asks for a period of ten years, and for which they offer you a mere pittance of a savings, for which you will pay and pay during the entire term, no matter how you plead and squirm, is so valuable to them.

Let's get the record straight. The power company runs its business for profit alone. It wants to pay its stockholders large dividends, out of your pocket. On the other hand your village electric system is run for you and you alone. When the operating expenses of your system are paid and a reasonable reserve created for emergencies, you have the right to expect a reduction in your rate. We, your servants, hold the system in trust for your benefit and if we sign a ten-year contract with the power company you can expect to pay the same high rate for your electric energy for the entire term, no matter what happens.

Since our purpose is to advise you just why the power company contract has not been signed, let us call your attention to some of the clauses in the proposed contract. Section One of the contract reads as follows:

"The company shall furnish the customer and the customer shall pay for the herein provided, for and during the term of this contract, all of the electric energy of the character hereinafter specified, which shall be required by the customer for its own use and for resale to its customers.

Section Two reads in part as follows:

"Subject to strikes, litigation or other causes beyond its control the company shall make delivery of electric energy hereunder * * *

In other words, the company agrees to deliver to the village all electric energy it needs, subject only to strikes, litigation or other causes beyond the reasonable control of both parties.

Some people would have you believe that the village and you, the consumers, can expect a more regular and uninterrupted supply of energy by signing up with the power company, than by manufacturing your own energy.

Let's look at Section 5 of the contract which reads as follows:

"The company will use reasonable diligence in furnishing a regular and uninterrupted supply of energy, but in case such supply should be interrupted or fail by reason of the act of God, the public enemy, accidents, strikes, legal process, state interferences, breakdown or injury to the machinery, transmission lines or distribution lines of the company, or extraordinary repairs, the company will not be liable to damages; (thereafter safeguarding themselves against all possible claims for damages, it says) for interruptions occasioned from any other causes the liability of the company shall be limited to five times the amount which the customer would have paid for energy during the period of such interruptions."

What interruptions, we ask, could occur that might give the village the right to claim damages? The last clause of Section Five is meaningless since the company has expressly stated in the first clause, that it will not be held for damages for a list of reasons which cover the entire subject of interruptions and leaves nothing for us.

After contracting to furnish you with all the electric energy you need, and after protecting itself against all claims for damages you might sustain by reason of all interruptions, let us read Section Six of the contract.

"It is further understood and agreed that the company assumes no duty or obligation to furnish or guarantee any supply of electric energy for any purpose whatsoever and it does not guarantee any supply continuous or uninterrupted service. The customer (the Village and yourself) hereby undertakes and agrees to indemnify and save harmless the company from and against all loss or damage thereon on account of injury to persons or property which may be caused by interruptions of delivery in the quantity of energy supplied by the company."

And this is the contract that the company wants us to approve for your protection. This is the same contract some people have condemned us for not approving. Such an example of impudence and gall we have never seen. After contracting to supply all energy we need, the company says to us in as many words: "We don't agree to supply any electric energy."

It protects itself against all claims for damages or interruptions, and then says in as many words: "Well, if any claims are filed against us, the village must pay the bill."

There isn't one of you customers but what at some time or other has contemplated the purchase of something, be it a home, a stove, an automobile, a dress or what not. You always look for the guarantee, you expect it, you get it or you don't buy.

How about this contract? Do you want to buy? Do you want to tie yourself up for ten years, knowing full well that during the term you cannot expect a lower rate, nor have any claim against the company for any failure to furnish energy. We don't believe you do.

Let's see what other astute business men do in like circumstances. Take the Fate-Root-Heath Company for instance, and let them protect themselves. As you know this company does not procure its electric energy from the village, but contracts direct with the Power Company. Since the village procures its energy from the same source it's reasonably sure that the company pays less for its energy, than you do by buying from the village.

On the other hand, and we have been so informed by an officer of the company, that the Fate-Root-Heath Company contracts for its supply of energy from year to year only. This is as it should be. It's only good business, and we, as your servants, are only trying to do the same thing.

If you are still doubtful about what the contract provides, take time to ask the village clerk to let you look it over. He will be glad to let you read it.

W. M. JOHNS, Mayor.

ATTENDS SYNOD

Rev. R. C. Wolf, pastor of the Plymouth Lutheran church, left Monday morning for Cincinnati to attend the Ohio Synod of the United Lutheran church in America, held in that city from May 19-22. Sessions will be held in the First English Lutheran church (Rev. A. M. Lutton, pastor) opening with the holy communion service at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Joseph Stittler, president of the Synod will preside over the business sessions.

The election of a president and discussion on the proposed merger of Hanna Divinity Seminary in Springfield with Chicago Lutheran Seminary, will be among the items facing the convention.

One of the outstanding features of the meeting was the synodical fellowship banquet on Tuesday evening. Dr. Frederick H. Knable of New York, president of the United Lutheran church in America and Dr. Ralph Long, New York, executive secretary of the National Lutheran Council, which represents eight national Lutheran bodies, spoke on "The Crisis in World Lutheranism."

U-T RIFLEMAN BEST IN COUNTRY AMONG COLLEGES

The following clipping was taken from a paper in Knoxville, Tenn., which will be of interest in Plymouth. Sergeant Coates Brown, instructor of the ROTC at the University of Tennessee, is the husband of the former Mary Munn of Plymouth.

"Best college rifle team in the country is the U-T ROTC rifle team, information to the Military Department from the War Department disclosed today.

"Shooting in competition with 35 other school teams, the U-T unit, with a score of 7735 out of a possible 8,000, was declared the winner of the National Intercollegiate Rifle Matches. U-T was 23 points above the second place Indiana University team.

"High scoring honors for the team of 10 members went to Vic Klein, Jr., Knoxville Sophomore. He scored a total of 783 out of 800, the highest score for the entire Fourth Corps Area.

"Four positions were shot in the competition, standing, kneeling, sitting and prone, with 22 calibre rifles.

The U-T rifle team, under the instruction of Sergeant Coates Brown, who was for three years a member of the U. S. Army rifle team and winner of several medals in expert marksmanship, has won first in the Fourth Corps Area matches; first in the Fourth Corps Area Heart matches, and second in the National Heart matches for universities.
