

MURKIN IN WHEAT MARKET

COLLECTION OF OLD ALUMINUM TO BE MADE FRIDAY BY SCOUTS

In connection with a nationwide drive, the Boy Scouts of Plymouth will collect all old aluminum Friday morning. Citizens are asked to give only those pieces which they are not using and will not have to replace.

Solicitation will be made at 8 a. m. on designated streets by the following scouts: West Broad way, Walnut and Park Ave. by Gordon Seasholtz and Quentin Ream; Railroad, Nichols Bell, W. High and Mills Ave. by James Fetters and Bill Derr; Plymouth st. and East High, Mulberry and Birchfield by James Kennedy and Paul Scott; Trux Mill and County Line by Eldon Burgett and Eldon Sourwine; Portner, North, Woodlawn, Maple and Public Square by J. Marvin and Sid Thomas; Sandusky and Dix by William Miller and James Crockett. At this time the scouts will ask for the aluminum and will place the donated articles at the curb edge.

At nine o'clock the village truck will start gathering the aluminum. The following scouts will aid: Bob Ross, Ray Martin, Pete Ruckman, Warren Wirth, Wayne Ross, Dick Ross and Jim Keller. As soon as the aluminum is collected it will be placed in the local Post Office to await delivery to Mansfield.

REPORT SHOWS LARGE INCREASE IN DEEDS FILED

Northwalk—The annual report of the Huron-co recorder's office issued by Recorder John Ellminger to John E. Sweeney, secretary of state, shows a great increase in deeds and mortgages.

The report covers the period from July 1st, 1940 to June 30, 1941. During that time, 1,518 deeds were recorded and 797 mortgages filed. The ten-year average for deeds is 983 per year and the one-year average for deeds is 963 per year and the one-year average for mortgages.

J. V. Ullman will head the school again for the second year.

WHEAT PENALTY LIFTED BY A. A. A.

BUT MUST SIGN PLEDGE TO REDUCE 1942 SEEDING

Trying to satisfy complaints against the 40c bushel on excess wheat, the Agricultural Department has announced that farmers will be allowed to market the over-production of wheat penalty-free this year if they understand next year's allotments when they plant this fall.

The department said an amendment to the AAA act, approved May 26, permits farmers who store excess wheat to take out of storage and market without penalty excess wheat equal to the amount they reduce next year's seedings below allotments.

County AAA committees, the department said, will release a corresponding amount of 1941 excess wheat when seedings are completed and a determination is made of reductions under allotments.

REV. WOLF WILL DELIVER LAST SERMON SUN.

Rev. R. C. Wolf, pastor of the local Lutheran church for the past four years, will deliver his last sermon here on Sunday, July 27. He has chosen for his subject: "A Matter of Cooperation."

Members of the church and friends are invited to attend this last service. It is interesting to note that during his four-year stay in Plymouth, Rev. Wolf has added a total of 163 new members to the church roll, while 53 have either moved away, died or transferred during the same period, leaving a net total of 130 new members. He has also officiated at twenty-seven weddings and fifty-seven funerals.

Rev. Wolf, whose resignation was recently accepted, will enter Yale University this fall, and has the best wishes of the entire community as he leaves for his new work.

CHANGES MADE IN LOCAL STAFF

Two changes have been made in the teaching staff at the Plymouth High school. At a recent meeting of the Board of Education the resignation of Mrs. Josephine Faulkner, McKelvey of Blacksburg, Va., and Miss Betty Wisecup, were tendered to the board and accepted.

Miss Faulkner, while employed here, taught Latin and English. No appointment has been made to fill her vacancy. Miss Wisecup, during her association with the school, taught Home Economics.

To fill the vacancy caused by Miss Wisecup's resignation, the board had the opportunity of placing Miss Jeanette Hamilton on staff to succeed Mrs. Wise. Miss Hamilton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hamilton, and has made an enviable record. She graduated from Plymouth High four years ago, and completed her studies at Ohio State University as one of the honor students there in Latin. Her many Plymouth friends are glad to know that she has accepted the position and will make her home with her parents.

With the opening of school just a few weeks away, plans are being made to efficiently take care of all classes at the high school. The grade school will not be ready for months to come, and due to the extra number of grade pupils being placed in the high school building, it has been a problem to satisfactorily carry on routine work in the classes. However, Supt. Bailey states that a definite plan is being worked out whereby school classes will function properly without much interference.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Manney of Lake Worth, Fla., enroute to Lorain and Cleveland, Ohio, were Saturday afternoon callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hodges, 17 Maple street.

VOTE CAST 4-1 AGAINST ISSUE IN WEDNESDAYS ELECTION

The special election Wednesday which was called to decide whether or not Plymouth was to go ahead with construction of a municipal light and power plant flatly turned down the proposal by a vote of 4 to 1 against the issue.

The election ended a heated controversy between the Board of Public Affairs and the Ohio Power Co., who came out publicly against the plant, and the mayor and council who supported the issue. For weeks the campaign has been discussed pro and con, not so much by the average citizen, but between officials. Thus, with returns showing an overwhelming majority against the plant, it is very evident that the public is not ready to consider such a proposition.

In Richland county only fifty voted "Yes"; while 215 cast their votes against the issue. Huron county showed a total of 48 for the plant and 176 against it. A total of 489 votes were cast at Wednesday's election, which is an unusually large number to be polled at any special election.

STORAGE SPACE CAUSES WHEAT TO TAKE DROP

The nation's wheat crop is facing a problem of storage, and as a result the price of wheat has dropped almost 20 cents a bushel within a week. Terminals are crowded, and elevators are taxed to capacity, and the crop in this section isn't half harvested.

More than 12,000 bushels so far have been received at the Plymouth Elevator, and Wednesday the Chicago quotation was 89c a bushel. Mr. Ratcliffe states that the elevator allows 60 days free storage, but with a shortage of freight cars and elevator storage throughout the country, it is impossible to guarantee this concession. More than 3,000 bushels of local wheat is now in storage here.

With restrictions lifted on the sale of surplus wheat, it is very likely that the congestion of storage space will be somewhat relieved. It is indicated that those farmers who had a surplus, and who would have to pay a 49c per bushel penalty, have been keeping their surplus wheat in their own cribs.

Mr. Ratcliffe states that 60 percent of the wheat received at the elevator here has tested as No. 1 grade, which proves that the crop this year is "bigger and better."

The number of farmers who have been selling their wheat to the local elevator prove that the price and treatment are right, and Mr. Ratcliffe takes this opportunity of thanking everyone for their splendid patronage and support.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

by PAULINE SCHOFIELD

Pocketbook Meals
Regardless of how large her food budget may be, every homemaker prides herself on the most economical and time-saving, yet most appetizing, meals she can prepare.

Meal-in-one dishes, as well as those which include food left from other meals, play an important part in "cutting the corners" of a food budget. Don't you enjoy taking inventory of your refrigerator on the last evening before you do your weekly marketing, and seeing what an attractive and tasty meal you can make from whatever is there?

Although you probably don't need a recipe to use left-over foods, we are including a few, just as suggestions:

Ham and Veal Pie
2 C. diced cooked veal
1 C. diced cooked ham
1/2 C. diced cooked potatoes
1 C. cooked peas
1/2 C. cooked sliced carrots
1/2 C. diced celery
1 1/2 C. leftover gravy
Salt to taste
Biscuit dough

Combine veal, ham, vegetable and gravy in a saucepan, and season to suit taste. Heat to boiling. Turn into casserole and cover with baking powder biscuit dough cut out in fancy shapes. Bake in hot oven, 450 degrees, until biscuits are thoroughly done and brown and filling is piping hot, about 20 minutes. Serves 4 or 5.

Lima Bean Casserole
1 lb. dried lima beans
1 salt pork
1/2 can condensed tomato soup
1 onion, chopped
1/2 green pepper, chopped
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1/2 C. grated cheese
Salt and pepper
Bacon strips

Soak beans overnight. Cook beans with salt pork in salted water until tender. Mix in tomato soup, onion, green pepper, hard-cooked eggs, and grated cheese. Season with salt and pepper. Mixture should be quite juicy. Pour into casserole. Cover with bacon strips. Sprinkle with additional cheese. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until bacon is crisp, about 30 minutes. Serves 8.

Jellied Fish Salad
Fill individual fish molds with gelatine salad mixture made with remnants of fish, flaked. Chill; unmold on lettuce; serve with mayonnaise. Pretty enough for a party luncheon.

Upside-Down, Cake
This recipe is excellent for using leftover fruit. One may be made with bits of canned pineapple and a cherry, arranged in the bottom of custard cups; cake batter is then poured over them and the little desserts are baked. Turn upside down when finished; serve warm with fruit sauce or cream.

Porcupines
1 lb. ground round steak
1/2 C. uncooked rice
1/2 cup minced onion
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 to 2 C. tomato puree, soup, or solid-pack tomatoes

Mix uncooked rice and meat with the seasonings. Shape into small balls. Place in deep baking dish and cover with the tomato. (A bay leaf, a small amount of onion, salt, and pepper may be needed to season the tomato.) Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 90 to 100 minutes. Serves 6. By using the uncooked rice, a porcupine effect is assured, for the rice swells and sticks out of the beef balls.

Mrs. James Bergen of Marietta, Ohio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Einsel the latter part of the week. Mr. Bergen joined his wife over Saturday both returning home Sunday.

Mr. Dan Clark is a guest in Toledo this week of Mr. Charles Hurd.

Miss Betty Redden, clerk in the Kroger store, is substituting at the Willard Kroger store this week.

Miss Lily Snyder returned Monday evening to her home in Sandusky after a week's visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rhine.

George Scott of Akron visited his family over the week end.

REAL ESTATE TAX BOOKS OPEN IN HURON COUNTY 30th

The real estate tax bills for the last half of the 1940 tax will be placed in the mail on or about July 30th with the books open for payment at the same time, according to an announcement made this week by Huron County Treasurer, C. H. Terman.

The laws of Ohio provide that payment may be made without penalty until September 10th.

Attention of all delinquent taxpayers is called to the provision made for the payment of delinquent taxes in ten installments, provided the current year's tax is paid in full. Compliance with this method of payment stops further penalty and provides that no fore closure can be made.

Resolutions Passed By Granges On Wheat Quotas; War Question

With two-hundred thirty-two members from the various granges in Richland county present Friday evening at the Plymouth high school building, two major questions were brought before the group.

A resolution was passed urging each grange to immediately write to President Roosevelt voicing their protest against sending American soldiers to foreign land and also that the Granges should organize to protest against the penalty on the selling of wheat.

The program for the evening was arranged and presented by the Shenandoah Grange with the local group as hosts. Music, drills and readings were featured on the program.

Granges represented were Union, Worthington, Ganges, Hazel Grove, Shiloh, Olivesburg, Roseland, Shenandoah and Plymouth.

SHALL IT BE A COMMUNITY PICNIC?

For the past three or four years it has been the custom of The Fate-Root-Heath Company to fete its employees with a picnic. This event has been thoroughly enjoyed, not only by the employees, but by the entire community, for everyone in Plymouth made it a gala day.

We were approached with this question the other day: "What are we going to do about our annual picnic?" It is a problem, for under present conditions it is almost impossible to close down the manufacturing plant for the day, for important orders are on hand.

The person who asked the question also suggested that the picnic be held on a Saturday afternoon and evening at the Mary Fate Park. Pony rides and other attractions could be brought in for the one day, and baseball games, horseshoes, and other sports could be featured Saturday night.

It would be nice if the shop employees, officials of the company and the business men could get together on such an affair, and we are certain that our local residents will realize just as much fun and entertainment as found in other places many miles away.

The question has been brought before the business men and they are willing to cooperate in any way possible.

THE PARK IS A COMMUNITY ASSET

In this week's edition of The Advertiser we note that a Shiloh women's club will hold its meeting at the Mary Fate Memorial Park. It is indeed gratifying to local residents who have been so interested in our park, to know that other people in the surrounding territory are also interested. We're glad to offer park facilities to nearby organizations, and we're certain that with the fireplaces, drinking fountains, comfortable benches, chairs and tables, picnics and gatherings can be enjoyed to the fullest.

There are slides, swings, chutes and other attractions that appeal to the youngsters. And last, but not least, the shade trees, natural beauty and the restfulness of the place, will satisfy anyone who appreciates a few hours of leisure.

To those groups and organizations who wish to use the park we extend a welcome. If there is any information you desire, you may ask E. B. Miller at the Brown and Miller Hardware; Edw. B. Curpen, Curpen's Jewelry Store or James Root. Any day after one o'clock, you may see the caretaker, Wm. Harris, at the park, who will gladly give you information.

A TRIBUTE TO REV. WOLF

The community joins with us in expressing deep regret in seeing Rev. Richard C. Wolf leave his pulpit here. For the past four years he has ably filled the pastorate in the local Lutheran church, and under his care and guidance the organizations of the church have grown, and the church has prospered under his leadership.

Rev. Wolf deserves all the praise that can be given to anyone who has so faithfully kept his faith and pledge. He has not only done this to his church, but in an unlimited manner has spread his talent and good throughout the community. He has unstintingly given of his ability and time, not only in his church work, but for many events which have taken place in Plymouth.

Through the years in which we have come in contact with him through business and social activities, we and hundreds of other have come to admire him, not only for his willingness to do things, but for the friendly hand with which he always extended, and for the congenial personality he reflects. There are those who can always criticize and condemn, but we're thankful in this case, that a large majority of our people feel the community is suffering a real loss with the parting of Rev. Wolf from our midst.

Knowing what he has meant to us as individuals, it is but fitting at this time to wish for him the best of success in his new field, and that he may find as much pleasure in his new endeavor as he has experienced in Plymouth during his stay here. We regret to give him up, but then we can't be selfish about the matter, so we say: "So long, Rev. Wolf, and good luck."

Crop Rotation Boosts Profits of Ohio Farms

CHICAGO.—Crop rotation will pay Ohio farmers bigger dividends in increased crop profits and higher soil fertility if it is based on systematic planning and "follow-through," according to a statement issued here by the Midwest Soil Improvement Committee.

"Whether a rotation follows a three, four or six year cycle," says the statement, "it should have a definite starting point and a definite completion. By this means farmers will be able to take intelligent stock of the results and obtain profitable guidance for the future."

Corn Imperative.

"In most rotation programs starting this spring, corn will be the basic crop because of the remarkable production records of hybrid seed. In such a plan the matter of fertilizer will be extremely important. Hybrid corn makes such heavy demands on the soil that the large amounts of plant food it removes should be replaced by commercial fertilizer."

"Every well planned rotation will include a soil improving legume at regular intervals to replenish the nitrogen removed by other crops. The farmer should make certain that he not only gets a good stand of clover or alfalfa, but he should make sure to produce a good yield of high quality."

"Here, again, the matter of nourishment from the soil is important. In fulfilling this task of providing nitrogen, legumes remove a large quantity of phosphorus and potash from the land. The application of fertilizer is thus a necessary and profitable step.

Cooperation Available.

"The quantity and analysis of fertilizer to use will depend on the type of soil, the uses to which it has been put in previous years and the crop to be grown. County agents or experiment stations will gladly give the farmer advice on the selection of plant foods best suited for his purposes."

"In a number of states a list of 'Recommended Grades' is made available by the agricultural college. Tested by agronomists under practical growing conditions, these recommended grades are adequate to correct most soil and crop conditions."

JAMES CLINE TAKES BRIDE AT WILLARD SATURDAY MORNING

Miss Louise McLane, Mansfield, became the bride of James R. Cline of New Haven Saturday morning in a pretty ceremony in Willard, home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. McLane. Convict Ship Now in Cleveland
Open Daily to Visitors

That it is a far cry from the dungeons in the prisons of old to the modern penitentiaries of today, with their modern facilities, radios and libraries, is forcibly brought to mind by a visit to the Australian Convict Ship "Success," now open to public inspection every day, including Sunday, 10 A. M. to 11 P. M. at the East Ninth Street Pier in Cleveland, near the Stadium.

Built in Moulmein, British Burma, in 1790, the "Success" is the oldest ship afloat today, and because of its construction of Burmese teakwood, is in a wonderful state of preservation considering the service she has seen.

All of the old instruments of punishment (or torture), including handcuffs, leg irons, leg balls, crotch irons, cat-o-nine tails, branding irons, Iron Maiden and "Coffin Bath," may be seen today, just as they were when the "Success" was one of the "Ocean Hell" and they were in daily use.

The Coffin Bath is perhaps the most drastic of punishments. Here the prisoners were thoroughly flogged, and then dipped into a salt water bath. Needless to say, many of them preferred to drown themselves rather than to live through another such punishment, hence the name "Coffin Bath."

Modern prisons of today use solitary confinement as a punishment for infractions of rules. In those days, however, a new prisoner was first placed in the airless, dark dungeons below the decks, where he remained for two years before being moved to a cell on the next tier above.

That the "Success" has been recognized, not only as an entertaining, but educational experience is proved by the fact that the late Arthur Brisbane wrote a full page editorial concerning the wonders of this vessel, which was later reproduced in 10 of the leading metropolitan dailies of the United States.

FAMOUS OHIO BATTLEFIELDS

The French Burn Pickawillany

THE BATTLE OF PICKAWILLANY—1752

The shot that started a war that spread around the world and lost France her Canadian Empire was fired in the Indian village of Pickawillany, nestled in the dense forests of Ohio.

The story begins in 1749, nearly two centuries ago, when the French governor at Quebec commissioned Pierre-Joseph Celeron to renew France's claim to Ohio by burying lead plates at the mouth of the rivers and fastening tin plaques to the principal trails, both asserting the sovereignty of France over the Ohio territory.

Celeron penetrated the wilderness with a train of uniformed soldiers, with Canadians and Indians, holding councils with principal Indian chiefs. His last meeting before returning to Quebec was with "Old Brilain," a Miami chief, and an ally of the English.

At Pickawillany, north of Piqua and near the present village of Lockington, Celeron spent purposeless days trying to win "Old Brilain" to the French cause and so strengthen his country's hold on the rich and important Ohio country.

Celeron's peaceful efforts to win Ohio for the French having failed, war broke out in Ohio.

It was a quiet, beautiful June day in 1752. Most of the warriors at Pickawillany were away hunting. Squaws were working in the gardens and a few English traders loomed around the cabins.

Suddenly shots rang out as Charles Langlade, French Canadian, descended on the village with 240 French and Indians, sent by the French to destroy the village and kill the inhabitants, especially the English traders. Retreating was useless. Swiftly the killing came to an end, with "Old Brilain," friend of the English and enemy of the French, among the dead.

FOUR MAJOR CHANGES IN U. S. CROP INSURANCE PROGRAM

Four major changes made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation's 1942 program, including a commodity note plan for payment of premiums, were announced today by Mr. Robert E. Finlay, Chairman of the Huron County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

"Farmers who insure their next year's wheat crop will find that these changes and the note plan are more convenient," predicted Mr. Finlay. "They will make the insuring of farms and the paying of premiums less involved by reducing the number of forms the grower generally signs in making this payment."

Other changes provide that: Owners and operators who insure one farm in a county must insure all their farms in that county; an individual need make only one application regardless of how many farms he insures; and the insurance will be in force until noon of October 31, 1942, instead of October 1.

Mr. Finlay pointed out that in the past the farmer had to make a separate premium payment for each farm insured or sign a separate assignment for each insured farm by which the Corporation would deduct the amount of his premium from his AAA payment.

This year the grower will sign a commodity note when he applies for insurance. The note au-

FIND OHIOANS SHOULD BOAST A LITTLE MORE ABOUT OHIO

Ohio citizens have a right to a lot of boasting about their state but they seem to lack the initiative for advertising that natives of other commonwealths are endowed with at birth.

The Bureau of Business research, Ohio State university, provides ammunition for almost any sort of bragging barrage that a Buckeye citizen wishes to lay down. It can be truthfully stated that Ohio is a leader in agriculture, manufacturing, publishing, mining, transportation and lumbering.

Figures on lines of commercial activity show Ohio was sixth among the states in the production of food and kindred products, was third in the publishing field, sixth in the production of petroleum and coal, fifth in non-ferrous metals and their products.

The Census of Manufacturers in the United States lists 15 major lines of industry. In nine of the groups Ohio ranks among the five leading states. In only one of the 15 does Ohio fall below 10th place.

This state leads in rubber production, is second in the manufacture of stone, clay, and glass products, second in building transportation machinery for use on air, land and water, and also is second in manufacturing other machinery.

Ohio residents usually bow their heads in shame when forests are mentioned, but this state stands sixth in the value of forest products manufactured each year. The score is fourth on paper making, second for iron, steel and their products, and sixth for chemicals and allied products.

The annual value of the printing and publishing industry of the state is around $200,000,000. A large part of the value of the printing industry is invested in the 350 weekly and 110 daily papers in the state, which should give the home state a break occasionally with stories about its being a desirable place in which to live.

Potato Growers Meet At Wooster, Aug. 12

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, in cooperation with the Ohio Potato Growers Association, will hold a Potato day of state-wide interest at Wooster, Tuesday, August 12.

In cooperation with the Potato Growers Association, John Bushnell, potato specialist of the Experiment Station, will present an all-day program covering all phases of potato growing. In the morning, on conducted tours, visitors will see the variety tests, the effects of different fertilizers and spraying, and the benefits from specific crop rotations designed to keep the soil loose for potatoes. In the afternoon there will be discussions of potato insects and disease, storage and marketing.

Because early crops are of increasing importance in northern as well as southern Ohio, Potato Day has been set for August 12, a date when early potatoes are nearly ready to be dug at Wooster, the best time to see the effects of the experimental treatments. Although many growers will be harvesting at this date, it is hoped that they will be able to take a day to learn at first hand of the latest developments in the new, highly specialized business of growing quality potatoes.
