

COUNCIL HAS BUSY SESSION, ORDINANCES TO BE PUBLISHED

ADDITIONAL LIGHTS MAY BE INSTALLED TO CURB SPEEDING THRU SQUARE.

Last Tuesday night week was supposed to have been the regular monthly meeting of the Village Council, but somehow or another the heat must have stricken the village fathers, for there weren't enough present to make a quorum. So, as a result, the meeting was postponed until last Thursday night.

Routine business was transacted, and bills were read and ordered paid. A communication from the Board of Public Affairs requesting the council's authorization for the advertising for the purchase of power, was read, and after discussion, it was tabled for the next meeting.

Revision of ordinances, rules and regulations, has been made and most of the time Thursday night was spent in checking over the new statutes and the revision of the old ones. Under the new laws passed by the state, the towns and villages are facing a problem of unifying their traffic rules and regulations, and this portion of the ordinances received much consideration.

The last edition of ordinances was printed in 1932, and since that time many changes have been made. Solicitor Kimball turned the material over to council Thursday night for consideration. The new laws and ordinances are now in the hands of the printer, and within a short time the book will be ready.

The Akron, Canton & Youngstown Railroad was given permission to erect a flasher system on the Plymouth street crossing. This has been a dangerous crossing for many years, due to the hill on the south side of the tracks. Motors traveling south are unable to see the crossing at a safe distance and through the erection of flashers of sufficient height, the danger will somewhat be eliminated.

Donald Ford was appointed by Mayor Johns as the fourth member of the park board. He will serve for a four year term.

This question of curbing speeders through the square has long been a problem to village officials. In order to regulate the speed, it is very likely that the council will authorize the installation of additional traffic lights, one to be placed at the intersection of Plymouth and High streets, the other to be located at the intersection of North and Sandusky streets. By properly timing the lights, traffic can be controlled through the square at any desired and safe speed. This method is about the only one that every thing else has been tried out. There's a little stretch of highway from Rule's corner down to the old Holtz building, on the north side of the square, that has become a real bottleneck to traffic. Several business houses are forced to have their deliveries made through the front door, there being no rear entrance to the store rooms.

In an attempt to avoid double parking and other dangerous practices, it is very likely that a "no parking" order will be issued at an early date. Those who have observed this particular section of the Square have agreed that the "No Parking" area will eliminate a dangerous situation.

H. SHUTT BUYS BEELMAN BLDG.

A business transaction involving one of Plymouth's finest store rooms was consummated August 1, when John I. Beelman sold his building on the south side of the square to Harry Shutt, local grocer.

Shutt, who has operated a grocery store in the building next to the Bank will be forced to vacate when the Peoples National Bank begins its expansion program the first of October.

The store room which was sold by Mr. Beelman is one of the oldest and best in town. Its location is ideal, and its history dates back to many years ago. Built by Wyandt Bros., in the year 1869, the room was used as a grocery store by them for a long period of time. In 1925 Max Oxman of Shelby purchased it and made present improvements, which included transforming the upstairs into apartments and the installation of the large plate glass window in 1927. Oxman sold the building to John I. Beelman. It has been used for various kinds of businesses including the sales and service of automobile appliances. In 1933 the Shelby Hardware Co. of Shelby located a branch store in Plymouth, and they occupied the room up to January 1st, 1940. Since that time a restaurant there has been operated by Mrs. With Davis. Her occupancy on the first of October by Shutt, Mrs. Davis states that she has not made a definite decision as to what she will do with her restaurant business. She states that, if at all possible, she will continue in business in Plymouth.

John I. Beelman, president of the Peoples National Bank, states Tuesday that remodeling of the bank building will begin Oct. 1. No definite plans were revealed, but from the tentative improvement program as outlined, the bank will have commodious quarters, not only for its patrons, but for the working staff.

Store rooms are at a premium in Plymouth, and after the bank purchased the Hamilton building, many forced changes have been made. Other recent changes were forced on business men when the post office was moved from the Bevier room to the Ruckman building on the south side of the square. It is reasonably safe to say that more changes have been made around the square this year than have been recorded in any previous five-year period.

CONVALESCING

Jack Kookon of Shelby is convalescing from an appendectomy performed last Tuesday in the Memorial hospital. He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Thor Woodworth of Plymouth and a frequent visitor here.

GREETINGS, MY FRIENDS, YES during the heat waves of the past three or four weeks I found a comfortable place over in the corner in the moulding room—a pile of sand into which I burrowed, to remain until the "hot days" were over, and I must say it's a real pleasure to back again.

All the boys in the Foundry will be glad to know that Ned Earnest is recuperating very nicely from his operation last Thursday morning. We hope he'll be back with us in a few days.

The rush in the foundry the past few weeks has caused Boss Chatfield to lose a few hairs. But then an Englishman will always lose his temper before his patience. They have lots of that stuff.

Bruce McQuown and his shipping room gang have had their ears full of talk. No, not talk, just a lot of air. The platform scales are being relocated, and for a while it seemed as though a bomb shelter was in the course of construction and how the air-hammer makes your ears sing—but Bruce says he would as soon listen to it as to a lot of other stuff.

Bill Root, the purchasing agent, says this defense case is going to make him an old man in 25. Vance Snyder is beginning to look a little worn out, too.

We've been told that California is a great state.

Bill Ross says it's going to be some time in August.

Well, it's fair time again. Silver King tractors will be on display at the Ohio State Fair, and from what we hear, F-R-H is going to have a fine exhibit. Watch the Fair Edition of the Ohio Farmer and you'll see a Silver King doing a real job in a rye field. Messers. Harry Curran and Wm. Rowe will go down on the 22nd and set up the display. Sales Manager, Jim Schreck will be at the fair for its entire run. It may be of interest to know that local sales (counting the immediate vicinity) have greatly increased the past year, and you'll see the fair for Silver Kings at work around Richland and Huron counties next season.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Baker on their 20th wedding anniversary, which occurred August 9. "Charlie" has been working in the thunders of the Fate-Root-Heath Co. for thirty-six years as a miller. He takes great pride in his work, and stealing a little slogan from Buick, "when better moulds are made, Charlie will make 'em." Mrs. Baker, before Miss Kings was Miss Bertha Kimmel of Akron.

FAMOUS OHIO BATTLEFIELDS

Col. Crawford Is Burned at the Stake

THE BATTLE OF THE SANDUSKY PLAINS

"The object of your command is to destroy with fire and sword, if practicable, the Indian towns and settlements at Sandusky by which we hope to give ease and safety to the inhabitants of this country."

With these orders before him, Colonel William Crawford, companion of Washington during the campaigns of Braddock and Forbes, veteran of Dunmore's War and the Revolution, left Fort Pitt to subdue the Indians on the Sandusky.

Though the last battle of the Revolution had been fought in the East, the British, intent on holding the Ohio Country, armed the Indians for raids against the white settlers.

The Indians needed no encouragement from the British. A succession of acts of cruelty on the part of the Americans combined with the murder of 80 Christian Indians at Gnadenhutten, had aroused their bitter rage.

On May 25, 1782, Colonel Crawford and 480 frontiersmen left Mingo Junction for their surprise attack on the Sandusky villages. A week later they had left the eastern forests and were crossing the first of the plains. Villages they had meant to surprise were deserted. Crawford's advance was no secret.

In the meanwhile the Indians and British were gathering—Wyandots, Delawares, Shawnees, Butler's Mounted Rangers from Detroit. Trouble was ahead for Crawford's men.

June 4th saw the first action. Crawford sought to drive the Indians from a place of high ground. Night fell with no conclusion. It was the next night that Crawford, alarmed by the arrival of reinforcements, ordered a retreat. Four abreast, the head of the column, the column toiled eastward. Then the Indians struck with all their fury. The head of the column was annihilated. The men, panic-stricken, tried to flee in small groups. Colonel Crawford, searching frantically for his son, his son-in-law and nephew, was captured.

Crawford's torture and death was described by Dr. John Knight, who was captured with him.

He was tied to a post with 15 feet of rope. His ears were cut off; he was stripped of his clothes, and gunpowder fired into his bare skin. Flaming sticks were laid against his body and hot coals covered the ground over which he was forced to walk. While still alive, he was scalped and coals and ashes were piled on his bleeding head. As the sun was sinking, Crawford died.

About 300 of Crawford's men returned to Fort Pitt, ragged, starving.

With the Battle of Sandusky Plains, the Revolution was approaching an end in the West but the warfare for the control of Ohio was to continue for 11 long years.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

by PAULINE SCHOFIELD

"Sugar and Spice"

This is the time of year when nature challenges every housewife to complete her stock of canned goods with some unusual garnishes to add glamour to her family's meals next winter. The fun really begins when you go to your garden or to a vegetable market and gather a mixture of vegetables and with them create a relish which will give many a taste thrill to the members of your family.

For the best results in pickling, vegetables should be just ripe, and fruits slightly under-ripe. Too much salt or sugar or too strong vinegar may cause pickles to shrivel and become tough while if the vinegar is too weak, the pickles may become soft. Select fresh fruits and vegetables and try one of these. Your reward will be your family's cheers next winter.

Last of the Garden

- 1 gallon cabbage
- 1/2 gal green tomatoes
- 1/2 gal green cucumbers
- 1 qt. ligs. beans
- 1 gal. corn
- 1 doz. sliced onions
- 1 doz. carrots
- 1 doz. sweet pickles
- 1 doz. sweet peppers
- 1 lb. sugar
- 10 to mustard
- 1 lb. whole mustard seed
- 1/2 c black whole pepper seeds
- Salt to taste
- 1 gal. cider vinegar

Parboil the lima beans and corn. Cut cabbage, tomatoes, green cucumbers, onions, and carrots in small pieces. Combine all of the ingredients and bring to a boil. Can in sterilized jars. Makes 8 quarts.

Pepper Relish

- 12 sweet red peppers
- 12 sweet green peppers
- 2 large onions
- 1 qt. vinegar
- 2 c. sugar
- 1 Tbsp. mustard seed
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt

Split peppers and remove seeds. Grind peppers and onions. Cover with boiling water and let stand 10 minutes. Drain. Add vinegar, sugar, salt, and mustard seed. Mix well and cook mixture over medium flame for 15 minutes. Pack in hot jars and seal.

Pickled Peas

- 2 qt. vinegar
- 9 C. sugar
- 1 Tbsp. whole cloves
- 4 sticks cinnamon
- 8 lb. peas

Boil sugar and vinegar until sugar dissolves. Add spices and bring syrup to boiling point over full gas flame. Add peas which have been peeled, cored, and cut as desired or left whole. Cook until peas are tender and slightly transparent. Lift from syrup and pack into hot sterilized jars; fill jar to overflowing with hot syrup and seal at once.

Mint Jelly Makes Delightful Garnish

You will want to make mint jelly now while mint is so plentiful along streams or in the corner of your garden. Then you can use it as the perfect accompaniment for your winter lamb and mutton dishes.

Mint Jelly

Wash 4 C. mint and chop fine. Add 1 C. sugar and 1 C. water and let stand several hours or overnight. Bring to boil and pour over a flannel jelly bag to drain. Combine 4 C. sugar and 6 C. apple juice. Boil rapidly until the jelly point is reached. Add enough green vegetable coloring to give it a light green color and 10 to 12 Tbsp. of mint juice. Boil until it drops in sheets from a spoon. Skim and pour at once into hot sterilized glasses.

Too Flowery

It is all right to "Say It With Flowers," but the conversation is getting entirely "too flowery." Dr. R. H. Bishop, Jr., director of University hospital, Cleveland, said that institutions are handicapped by shortage of trained personnel "and the care of flowers is a real burden," and asks that relatives and friends send fewer flowers to patients.

THE PARKING SITUATION

For the past two or three years we have had called to our attention a problem in parking that could be remedied. The merchants in Plymouth spend hundreds of dollars annually to attract the rural trade. We tell 'em of our spacious Square and that there's plenty of parking space. All this is true, but what about the farmer that comes to town with a couple of cans of cream and a crate or two of eggs?

During this season of the year, it is natural that a farmer doesn't come into town every night, but on Wednesdays and Saturdays, he brings his produce in, and expects to purchase groceries. Perhaps, he can't get here at 6:30 or 7:00 p. m., but probably arrives around 8:00—his lateness due to the harvest season and the necessary chores.

He'll find parking space, it's true, but perhaps two or three blocks off the Square. If he has produce to sell, he has to lug it into the store, and if he buys groceries, he has another armful to carry quite a distance.

We believe this congestion could be somewhat remedied if 30-minute parking was inaugurated, especially in zones around the grocery stores and cream stations. The 30-minute parking should be enforced on Wednesday and Saturday nights, up to 10 o'clock. This parking courtesy would enable any farmer to drive up, unload his produce, and purchase his groceries; then he won't mind driving down a couple of blocks and walking back to the square.

Several citizens and merchants have called our attention to this and we gladly pass the idea on to our street and police committee, with the hope that they will take some action.

THE INDIFFERENT INDIVIDUAL

The Plymouth Men's association has a meeting scheduled for next Monday evening at a local restaurant. It is necessary that a certain number of tickets be sold, or we have to dig down in the treasury and plank down enough cash to pay for 20 plates.

Now, it's not the question of eating, but rather a matter of discussing things that vitally concern Plymouth. And if you live in Plymouth, then you should be interested to the extent of attending the meeting Monday night.

Plymouth is not any different from other towns. It has those individuals, who do nothing to help themselves and the town, and condemn those who do try. But the man who is in business should be broadminded enough to overlook petty jealousies and try to be tolerant; do those things which will not only benefit his business but will be a great help to the community.

There is room for improvement between the employees of our local plant and the business houses in Plymouth. It is taken for granted that the men at the shop are going to trade in Plymouth, just because they live and work here. Some of them do, but there are many who do not. Why? Well, suppose you try and find out.

Monday night the discussion of a picnic is to come up. It is very imperative that all business men and citizens (especially those who are civic-minded) be present. Employees from the shop are invited to come. Expressions and opinions will be needed to govern the action taken. This is one of the problems. And there are others, too, equally important.

The business man around the Square in Plymouth who continues to remain indifferent in keeping the local organization alive, should have a guilty conscience in the fact that he allows a few energetic persons continue to carry the burden. It's not a question of more money, but one of cooperation and your presence. Won't you plan now to attend the meeting next Monday night?

Current plans call for a 50 per cent cut in automobile production next year. That will result in a major economic dislocation in this country.

One authority estimates that cut will throw about 280,000 men out of work. Present defense plans would provide employment for only 36,000 of these workers by October 1. Both government and industrial officers are now seeking for some solution to this problem.

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS

August 8, 1941

2nd Co. A.F.S.D.

P. W. Thomas: I have read some letters in the Advertiser from some of the other boys, and thought they might be glad to hear from some down here at Fort Knox. I am going to radio school, having finished my tank driving course. We have all forenoon off and go to school from one until seven. The school work is easy, but the code will take the longest, after that it will be easy. We will get a diploma and a corporal or sergeant rating.

The boys that are in the class with me are mostly from New York. The full class contains 1800 men. The full course lasts for 12 weeks. Then I will have to go to Diesel Mechanics for seven weeks. I have passed regular mechanics aptitude test and will not have to go there. We can't get a pass or leave now until we finish school and I have 15 weeks to stay yet.

Saturday three boys came down to see me. They are the first ones I have seen from home since I have been in the Army. The weather is hotter here than it is at home. It is cool at night and we can sleep very comfortably. We're in the Armoured Forces and do not have any marching or drill. Driving tanks and trucks and going to school. To those three who came to see me, J. F. Blackford, Wayne Patterson and Wm. McKeel, my best wishes.

Goodbye.

P. S.—Anyone wanting to write, my address is 2nd Co. A.F.S.D., Armoured Force School Detachment, Fort Knox, Ky. I will answer any letter sent to me by Private Elden W. Lynch, 2nd Co. A. F. S. D., Fort Knox, Ky.

As Uncle Sam's big defense program is rapidly unfolding, the demands upon every form of transportation are increasing tremendously. Experts predict that we will soon have a shortage of all types of freight-carrying units—those which travel on rail, land, air and water. The big freight trailers which permit a moderate size truck-tractor unit to transport loads as big as three ordinary trucks could carry are rendering tremendous service to Uncle Sam in these days of highways. They are helping make America safer.

Miss Root is one of 125 girls employed for the first time this year as ticket sellers and takers at all gates. They will wear red, white and blue overseas caps, white blouses and navy blue skirts and will be given intensive training before the gates open Saturday, August 23. News that Ohio is employing girls on the gates this year has spread over the nation and applications from girls who want the jobs have poured in from many states. Only Ohio girls are employed. Many other state fairs are preparing to follow Ohio's example.

heavy penalty.

The law further requires that the Probate Judge shall not grant any marriage license when either of the applicants, is a habitual drunkard, epileptic, imbecile or insane person or when either of such parties is under the influence of an intoxicating liquor or narcotic drug, or is infected with syphilis in a form that is communicable or likely to become communicable.

In the matter of Church marriages—Notice shall be published in the presence of the congregation on two different days of public worship; the first publication to be at least 10 days before marriage within the county where the female resides; provided however, that before the first publication of the bans the clergyman or spiritual head of the church in which the bans are to be published shall secure from the persons desiring to be married evidence of the fact that there has been filed with the Clerk of the Probate Court of the county in which the female resides, the statement, signed by a duly licensed physician of the State of Ohio that in his opinion neither of the applicants is infected with syphilis in a communicable form.

The law has not changed the age requirements. All persons shall be 21 years of age, providing that when any such person is under age the parents of parent or legal guardian or the Judge of the Juvenile Court must give consent. Under the new marriage law the cost will be between $12 and $15.

Rockies, near Chimney, Colo. It is the only one of its kind in the Western hemisphere and its completion is the culmination of six years work.
The observatory is expected to give

People, Spots In The News

QUADS IN QUANTITY . . . As final group of tiny, fast Army reconnaissance cars built under initial order for 1500 awaited "drive-away" by soldier-chauffeurs at Willys-Overland's Toledo plant, president J. W. Frazer announced new order for 16,000 more. The four-wheel-drive quads tote three men and machine gun. Engines are counterparts of company's auto power plants.

NEW HAWK SOARS . . . Shown here in flight for first time is newly-developed Curtiss Hawk P-40D pursuit plane now being produced in quantity at Buffalo, N. Y. It's more streamlined than original Hawk P-40, but other details are not being given out.
