

DRIVER LICENSING LAW BRINGS MANY CHANGES IN PROCEDURE

Automobile driver licenses will be put on sale in Ohio on Monday, September 8. All drivers must have a new license not later than Sept. 30.

This announcement came today from Cylon W. Wallace, Columbus, registrar of motor vehicles in the Ohio Department of Highways.

Following a conference between Gov. John W. Bricker, Hal G. Sours, director, Ohio Department of Highways, and Registrar Wallace it was emphasized that changes in the driver licensing law effective now for the first time materially alter the procedure for getting licenses.

These changes include:

1. No person will be issued a 1942 driver license unless that person presents the 1941 license to the deputy registrar.
2. Minors from 16 years of age up will be required to take out a temporary driving permit, but not only after application has been approved by the minor's parents. This permit entitles the holder to drive, and if an examination is passed a driving license may be issued.
3. Newcomers in Ohio, or persons who have permitted their driving license to lapse six months will be issued only temporary permits which will entitle them to take a driving examination.
4. Drivers who have lost their license must obtain a duplicate. If they want a new license, failing to do this they will be issued a temporary permit and then must submit to an examination.
5. Persons under 16 years of age who are capable of driving may obtain a very restricted permit, but for general traffic purposes, but for limited activities. These permits must be obtained directly from the office of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Columbus. O. Deputy registrars cannot issue them.

Examinations of persons for driver license will be carried out by the Ohio Highway Patrol, traffic enforcement arm of the department of highways.

Registrar Wallace made it emphatic that no extension of time for obtaining driving licenses is to be expected.

"The law does not permit any extension of time," he said. "Drivers will have ample time to get their licenses if they do not wait until the last minute."

In Plymouth, Huron county residents will be served by Miss Mary Fleming, deputy, whose office will be in the Plymouth Advertiser Office.

On the Richland county side, C. M. Ervin was appointed registrar.

EXPLAIN NEW PATROL LAWS

Ohio's amended highway patrol law which becomes effective Sept. 6 authorizes the State Highway patrol to enforce laws relating to registration and licensing of both automobiles and trucks on all city streets as well as roads outside municipalities. Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert held this week in an opinion to Col. Lynn Black, patrol superintendent.

State patrolmen may also enforce laws relating to size, weight and speed of commercial vehicles on state highways within cities, but are limited in enforcement of speed laws of autos to highways outside of incorporated municipalities. Mr. Herbert said.

TERMS OF MARSHALS

Terms of village marshals that end Dec. 31, are not shortened by the new appointive marshal law which becomes effective Sept. 5, Attorney General Thomas Herbert said in an opinion to Lester W. Donaldson, Lake County prosecutor.

Marshals now holding office, who are appointed by the mayor and council to succeed themselves will hold a permanent appointment, but anyone else appointed marshal after expiration of the present marshal's term Dec. 31 receives only a six months' probationary appointment which does not become final until that period has been successfully concluded.

The floral department also is entirely new this year, and prizes are also being offered for garden club entries as well as varieties of flowers displayed by farm women's clubs.

SEEK FORGER

SHELBY POLICE HUNT MAN WHO CASHED FORGED CHECKS.

Shelby police are hunting for persons who passed bad checks to six Shelby merchants totalling $14,000.

The checks were cashed Friday by a man who gave his name as Roy L. Faulkner, a Plymouth township farmer who lives north of Shelby.

A check-up of the signatures by the bank when they were brought in by merchants Saturday showed that they had been forged, police said. The checks were all made payable to Harry Weyman.

Description given by the merchants lead police to believe that there was at least one man and a woman involved. One businessman said a woman cashed the checks while another said a heavy set man had asked for the money. Both purchased small articles from the places where they cashed the checks and received change in return.

NYA SUSPENDS MANY YOUTHS

MOVE TO STREAMLINE NEW DEFENSE PROGRAM

Columbus-National Youth Administration for Ohio is laying off 11,500 youth employees and staff members in its regular program by September 1 to concentrate on the new defense training program, which is needed for young mechanical workers in Ohio defense industries. Leo B. Jacobs, state NYA administrator, announced today.

Projects will be cut in every county where the program has operated, 84 of Ohio's 88. But at least 3,800 youth will be reemployed in NYA's metal shops and other units of the new defense training program, organized at the request of the Office of Production Management.

"NYA is reducing from 20,000 to 8,500 in the regular program," Jacobs said, "at considerable cost to the government. The new defense service to many Ohio communities whose youth have worked in projects of benefit to both. But the new Defense Training program is a mass public gathering, recognizing the inequalities of the present farm program, recognizing that our market is being replaced by foreign farm products."

"We're streamlining our service," Jacobs added, "Ohio industry needs young mechanical workers badly. While NYA had over 20,000 youth employed we could serve many communities and youth in many ways. Now we're concentrating more money and effort on defense training."

There will be about 12,300 youth in both Regular and Defense NYA programs by September 1.

In Shelby, the NYA project to improve sidewalks has been closed down and just what this will do to Plymouth's project for the new school building is not yet known.

It was also voted to give away cash certificates from Sept. 6th to Jan. 1st. A committee was appointed.

OUT OF THE ... CUPOLA

SOME GLEANINGS THAT ARE COLORFUL — SOME ODDITIES — BUT ALL FIT TO PRINT

F. B. Carter, chief engineer, is not a pessimist, but he says: "Every mechanical device that goes into the kitchen seems to take something away from the quality of what's cooked there."

Clint Moore and his crew in the locomotive division have really been taking it in "high" the past few months. This division has made an unusual record in delivery of government locomotives, and this week they are finishing up a 65-ton Flexomotive for a steel company at Canton. Tests will probably be made on Monday. The fellows in the loco dept. know HOW, WHEN and WHERE to work, and as a result, a dozen big jobs come through very easily.

The BAWLING team is worrying a little bit over having to wear discolored and shabby-looking shirts. The season's about ready to start and the fellows on a bill-day sucker to the person who submits the best scheme to get new shirts. Address your letters to Lester Shields or the editor of the Advertiser.

Jay Noble took Wed. aft. off to reap his wild oats. Honestly, it's a ten-acre field, and there's plenty of oats — but tractors can't eat them—so some farmers say.

Harry Curren is at the Richland county fair this week in Mansfield with the Silver King exhibit.

The Plymouth Locomotive nine are scheduled for a game Sunday afternoon at Liberty Park with the Liberty Park team. Tentative line-up is as follows: Neal Buzard, c; George Beach, 3rd base; Kirby Nesbitt, bf; Fred Buzard, 2nd base; Henry Tyler, ss; Don Dawson, c; J. R. Moore, rf; C. Owens, pitcher.

After the game in Mansfield the boys will journey to Norwalk for a night game which starts at 8 o'clock. If you can't make the afternoon game come out and give them a boost at the night game.

J. O. Schreck, Silver King sales manager, went to New York Monday night on business. Its about the order of Silver King of which so many rumors have been reported. If your fingers crossed—we might hear something definite in the next 24 hrs.

E. W. Heath, general sales mgr. is back from Columbus, where he went to look after a good order of locos. Looks favorable from this angle—more later. E. W. flew by plane from Washington to Cleveland, leaving Washington at 8 p. m. and home at 10:30 Tuesday night.

Jerry Ramsey, that affable and bonnie blonde in the tractor division is running loose somewhere in the mountains of Pennsylvania, calling it a vacation.

John Fackler and the Mrs. are taking up their abode next week in an apartment at the Plymouth Hotel. There's no furnace to fire, is the main attraction.

Robt. Root, of H. F. won second place at Put-in-Bay. Bob competed in the races at Lake.

FARMERS CAN'T AFFORD LOSS IN 1942 SAYS AAA CROP ADVISOR

Loss of a wheat crop in 1942 will hit the farmer's pocketbook more severely than any similar loss for the past 10 years, it was predicted today by Marley E. Robson, Crop Insurance Supervisor for the Huron County Triple A Committee.

"Not only will wheat prices be around the same high level at which they stand today," Mr. Robson said, "but the farmer will have a smaller wheat acreage in most cases. Without wheat crop insurance, he will find himself deprived of a tidy amount of cash when he loses even a few bushels. The AAA committee pointed out that with the prices of things that farmers buy steadily rising, the farmer cannot afford to suffer any kind of loss.

"And, naturally, it's a lot harder to lose a crop of dollar wheat than to lose a crop of 50 cent wheat," he added.

Wheat crop insurance covers as much as 75 per cent of a farm's normal yield, and it protects the wheat against all natural hazards, such as winter-kill, hail or insects. "It seems to me that in years like this, when the wheat crop is large, it's a wise move when a farmer puts aside a few bushels from his good harvest, and assures himself of a wheat crop to sell the following year," Mrs. Robson commented.

FARMERS MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN AAA AND UNPROTECTED MARKET

"When the 1942 wheat crop is harvested next summer, there will be enough wheat on hand to supply the United States for a year," This was the warning issued today by Robert E. Finlay, Huron County AAA committee chairman, to farmers as they prepare the ground for another crop of wheat.

"Estimates for the 1942 wheat crop, based on the normal yield of a 55 million acre national wheat allotment, would amount to about 660 million bushels. With next year's estimated carryover of 640 million bushels, this would mean a 1942-43 supply of approximately 1,300 million bushels. With this advance information on the prospective supply of wheat," Mr. Finlay said, "farmers must know clearly the choice offered them . . . of protection in cooperative action represented by the AAA farm program, or the risks of unlimited production and an unprotected market."

Marketing quotas for the 1942 wheat crop, based on the surplus wheat prospect have already been proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture. Farmers know well in advance of seeding time that quotas, subject to approval of approval of farmers in a national referendum, may be in effect again next year.

"Most farmers," the Huron county AAA chairman said, "knew the wheat situation facing the United States last year, as evidenced by the 81 per cent approval of marketing quotas this spring. Some have pleaded ignorance, however, in seeking to avoid the 1941 excess wheat penalty; others have protested that they did not know about the possibility of quotas this year, despite warnings issued last fall."

Mr. Finlay declared that the present relatively favorable market price for wheat reflects the effectiveness of AAA allotments, loans and marketing quotas rather than a real demand for all the wheat now on hand. To protect the price of wheat next year, farmers should plant within acreage allotments established for their farms.

HOSPITAL UNIT BUILT IN 5 HOURS; EDW. BABCOCK WRITES OF DETAILS

In a letter to The Advertiser, C. Edward Babcock, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Babcock, located at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, writes an interesting account of the 400-Patient Hospital built there in five hours, and duties of the camp.

The men have been at the army post since June, but their tents arrived and were set up this week.

—Aug. 10, at Wilderfield. The hospital is designed to care for the seriously wounded and would be set up ten miles behind the front. There are 25 big tents, each called a ward. At far left, according to the picture and article enclosed, are quarters for the sixty nurses who would be attached to the unit in wartime. In the foreground are pup tents for the 110 enlisted men who, on Thursday night, encamped on the field.

Each ward can accommodate as many as twenty beds. Full strength would raise the skeleton units to 275 men and fifty-five officers. Present officers, all first lieutenants, are Anthony E. Elias, Michael P. Powers, and James H. Smith, commanding officer, who say the men are "a fine bunch." The other 105 are selectees who have been in the army less than a year and most of them are from Ohio.

Last Wednesday morning we went out on a three day encampment and set up our complete surgical hospital unit. Since my stay here I have been working in the laboratory at the Fort hospital. When we go out and set up our field hospital, I go along and take charge of the laboratory tent. My work as a laboratory technician consists of vein analysis, blood counting as to the number of red and white cells to determine the individual's resistance in disease, also blood typing in case it is necessary for a blood transfusion. In the laboratory we also do a lot of work with bacteria, which consists of isolating a disease producing organism, and their staining. The work is very interesting and thorough, for its accuracy that counts.

Fort Oglethorpe is in the very northern part of Georgia, and eight miles from Chattanooga, Tenn. This part of the South is very beautiful and the people are very southern, but not hill-billy like. We have a view of Look-out Mountain from our camp. It has been very hot here but cools off at night and you sleep under a blanket.

The Sixth Cavalry (horses) is located here and also the Sixty-fifth Medical Regiment of the 4th

Army. They are all down in Louisiana on maneuvers, so the military police, the service unit and the 63rd Surgical is all that is left here on the post, yet there is something doing all the time. The main part of the post is almost like a college campus, and it reminds me of the Ohio State campus.

The fellows here are pretty much up in the air about a longer service in the army. They seem to be that way all over the country. Most of them are willing to spend one year and no more.

It was at war we would all stay, but otherwise when one year is up we are going to leave. It is our honest belief that you can train a soldier in one year. We know that not from what we read but from experience. As for a national peril or emergency we see none. But if I am to spend thirty months in the army I know of no better place to spend it than right here at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

This work is a lot different than working on horses and cows, or even dogs and cats. But I do like the laboratory work.

I might add that no medical soldiers carry guns. We wear a Red Cross on our left arm and that is our only protection. There is also a big Red Cross placed on the ground in front of our field hospital. The unit sits out in the open in war just as it is now.

I sure miss the people in Plymouth and will certainly appreciate that town when I get back. That is one thing the fellows have learned, that no matter how deep your home town is, it's a lot better than the army, although we have been treated fine and meet with the usual southern hospitality.

As ever,

Edward Babcock.

"By Dawn's Early Light", State Fair Grandstand Attraction Sets The Spirit Of America To Music

"By Dawn's Early Light", spectacular Grandstand show produced exclusively for the Ohio State Fair, August 23 to 29, is not a pageant. It is a musical cavalcade in which a cast of more than 100 professional artists of the opera, stage and screen, and 200 lesser actors relive and portray the stirring drama that is America. It is the story of this great country and its heroes, set to music and dancing. It is the spirit of America, from Plymouth Rock to Leased Land. It is of and for Americans.

In months of casting about for the 1941 feature attraction, Director of Agriculture John T. Brown and State Fair Manager Win H. Kinnan determined to have something that cannot be seen, either in whole or in part, at any other fair in America; something that vitalizes the spirit of these stirring and portentous times. "By Dawn's Early Light", a title made familiar by the Star Spangled Banner itself, is the result. No other state fair has ever attempted such a spectacular patriotic performance.

Anticipating the public demand to witness this spectacle, the State Fair management established another precedent by scheduling its performance each night throughout the Fair. Heretofore Grandstand performances have been restricted to six nights.

"By Dawn's Early Light" is the creation of, and is produced by Howard Tooley who directed the show for spectacles at the Chicago Century of Progress exposition and at the New York World's Fair.

The stage required to produce "By Dawn's Early Light" is as large as the Grandstand itself. It is in five elevations with a revolving stage in the center on which new settings are constructed while one act is being performed. No time is lost for shifting scenes and the production proceeds without interruption for nearly two hours. Miles of electrical wiring are required to produce the brilliant lighting effects. Stars of the production include Miss Maxine Casareto, Hollywood starlet, and John Charles Gilbert, who created the role of Francis Schuyler in "Blossom Time" in the heavy singing roles; Joe Jackson, master of comic pantomime; Charles N. Lum, famous for his portrayals of Shakespearean roles; John B. Ratto, famous impersonator cast in the roles of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Teddy Roosevelt and Uncle Sam; Flo and Ted Vallett; The Marching Men of Song whose music recaptures the Gay Nineties; the entire troupe of the world famous Hatfield Ballet, and many others.

"It is our hope," says Director of Agriculture Brown, "that this effort on the part of the Ohio State Fair to rekindle in the hearts of our people an appreciation of the land that gives them hope, the right to achieve, freedom to worship, to speak and to assemble as they please, will thrill you as well as entertain you."

FAMOUS OHIO BATTLEFIELDS

800 Americans Defeat 5000 British and Indians

THE SIEGE OF FORT MEIGS—1813

"The British have Detroit. General Hull has surrendered," was the ominous message carried by frontiersmen mounted on plunging, foam-covered horses to the isolated Ohio settlements and log cabins during the summer of 1812. Quickly a second message, even more terrifying, passed from man to man—the story of the "Massacre of the Raisin River," near Monroe, Michigan.

The United States was again at war with England. The Indians had danced the war dance. From the fort at Detroit, invasion of Ohio might come at any moment, bringing with it savage, merciless warfare.

Again Ohio was to be a battleground. Again the whole Northwest was in danger. Action, quick and decisive, was the watchword. Fort Meigs, commanded by General William Henry Harrison, was built opposite Maumee, Ohio, to halt the British advance. For several weeks there was quiet, then the storm broke.

Out of an early spring night in April, 5000 English troops and Indians appeared. Fort Meigs was surrounded. Four batteries were quickly set up on the west side of the Maumee. A day and night of diversions of the garrison was to collect shot which had been heated red hot and fire them back at the British. Fully 1600 were returned to their sender.

But relief was on the way. General Green Clay with 1200 Kentuckians was coming swiftly up the Maumee. A scout, piercing the lines of the besieging Indians, reached General Harrison.

"Capture and spike those cannon with part of your men and have the rest fight their way into the fort," General Clay was told. The cannon were captured and spiked. The undisciplined troops began to pursue the fleeing Indians, who kept just out of range. Suddenly a war whoop sounded shrilly. The pursuing soldiers were in the very center of a carnage. The British and Indians were murdered. Others were forced to run the gantlet. The spiked cannon were re-captured and returned to action.

But the British were afraid of still further reinforcements. On May 9 they lifted the siege.

For ten weeks Fort Meigs was left in peace. Then, unable to baffle by siege, the British tried strategy. A fake battle was staged in the nearby forest. Perhaps, the British thought, the garrison will be fooled into believing a relief party is under attack and come to the rescue.

This too, failed. Discouraged, the siege was lifted—this time for good.

The valiant defense of Fort Meigs stopped this British attempt to invade Ohio and is another link in the chain of important military events on Ohio soil.

Today a fine, slender shaft marks the site of the fort and stands as a memorial to fearless American soldiers who fought and won against great odds.

Next Week—"Old Betsy" saves the day.

Baked Sliced Ham With Apples

- 4 tart cooking apples
- 2 lbs. ham cut in 1-inch slices
- 1 C pure molasses
- 1/4 C hot water

Core and cut the apples in 1/4-inch slices without paring them. Place ham in greased baking dish, cover with apples and pour mixture of molasses and hot water over it. Bake in moderate oven, 400 degrees, 40 to 50 minutes. Baste frequently during the baking.

Spinach and Egg Casserole

- 1 1/2 lbs. raw spinach
- 1 C salad dressing or mayonnaise
- 1/4 tsp salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1/2 C water
- 3 hot hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 4 slices cooked bacon, crumbled

Cook spinach only until tender. Drain, chop coarsely, and sprinkle lightly with salt. Place in shallow casserole and keep hot. Place salad dressing, salt, and pepper on top of spinach. Boil water, add water, stirring after each addition until smooth. Cook over boiling water about 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Arrange eggs on spinach, cover with sauce, and sprinkle with crumbled bacon. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

Frosted Lemon Pudding

- 1 lemon
- 1 C sugar
- 1 C boiling water

Peel lemon and slice very thin, removing seeds. Put in baking dish, add 1 C sugar and boiling water, and cook slowly while preparing better. Make batter like this:

- 2 tsp. shortening
- 1 C sugar
- 3 egg yolks
- 1/4 C milk
- 1/2 C flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder

Cream shortening, add sugar and beat with mixer. Add lemon egg yolks and beat well. Stir in milk and fold in sifted dry ingredients. Pour into baking dish, containing lemon and syrup, but do not stir. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 1/2 hour. When baked, cover with meringue and set in slow oven, 300 degrees, 30 minutes to brown. Make meringue like this:

- 3 egg whites
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 4 tsp. sugar

Beat egg whites until frothy, add baking powder, and beat until thick and creamy. Fold in sugar.

Do you know that all the juice may be squeezed out of lemons without the use of a lemon squeezer by placing them in scalding hot water until the skins are soft. The lemons may be stored in your refrigerator until ready to use them.

Out of the Cupola

Wawasee, Ind. the past week-end. Congratulations to Bob from all the boys.

We regret very much to report the loss of four of our best-liked and valued co-workers, taken from us by death. One has been with us for about 15 years. Webb Shields, who has seen 19 years of service and Garland Noble, formerly of Tiffin, have gone to Cleveland to work at the Cleveland Pneumatic Tool Co. Bob Schreck, who has been with F-R-H for 8 years, has accepted a job at Parker Appliance, Cleveland. We wish all the boys the best of luck on their new jobs.

It's been known that one man can catch 17 fish, but when it takes 17 men to catch ONE fish—well, that's news. And that's just what happened to a group of the boys Saturday when they spent all day on Lake Erie fishing. They tried every known scheme to get the fish to bite, but somehow they wouldn't. At the last hour, when everyone was in despair, one poor little fish was caught and it has been suggested that it be placed in the Smithsonian Institute and labeled: "To the 17 men who braved the waters of Lake Erie to catch this rare and precious specimen." Those going on the expedition—not a fishing trip—were: Eddie Bowen, Jake Berberick, Harvey Long, Glen Lance, Glen Deats, Frank Weck, "Slim" Vandebilt, Walter Wilcox, Leland Briggs, Leo Barnes, George Bettac, Paul Marvin, Marshall Clabaugh, Jim Jacobs, Howard Moulton, Clayton Williams, and a fisherman from Pittsburgh, who said that next time he'd try the Ohio river.

Thought for the week: If you like this column, won't you help keep it alive by offering suggestions and furnishing news tips? It will be appreciated. PWT.

REMOVED HOME

Mrs. Ella Gilmore was removed to her home on Plymouth street Sunday evening from the Mansfield General Hospital, where she submitted to an operation. Her condition is reported as satisfactory.

RECALL WAR DAYS

Byron A. Squires of West Palm Beach, Fla., stopped over in Plymouth Wednesday and looked up his "buddy" of World War days, Dr. Frank Holtz.

It was their first meeting since 1920 and they had plenty to talk over and recall. Mr. Squires was originally from Holyoke, Mass., and during the years 1919-20, he was chauffeur for Dr. Holtz, who was First Lieutenant in charge of a recruiting party of 121 men. Dr. Holtz was also physician at the Springfield, Mass., army and had sixty-six cities and villages to visit in that area. Mr. Squires has been recently released from a Veterans hospital in Boston and was enroute to St. Louis to join his wife before returning to Florida. In West Palm Beach, he is Officer No. 1 in the State Police and also recalled he was a state police when the famous Sacco-Vanzetti case was acted after a six year hunt.

IMPROVING

Miss Dorothy Schreck, who has been quite ill, is getting along nicely.
