

LOCAL RELIGIOUS EDUCATIONAL LEADERS TO CONVENE FRIDAY

On Friday evening, April 24 at 7:30 P. M., the three Protestant churches of Plymouth will meet together in an effort to do their part in promoting the United Christian Education Advance. The meeting will be held at the Methodist church. All officers of the three churches and church schools and all the teachers of the church schools, Bible schools, and all Religious Education classes are urged to attend. In addition to the above all those interested in Religious Education, and in Christianity and the way to peace, are cordially invited to attend. All are most welcome.

Those of you who have given much thought to the matter in question will readily agree that there is a great need for religious emphasis. Did you know that out of approximately eighty-nine colored inhabitants of Plymouth and vicinity approximately two hundred and fifty attended Church School last Lord's Day? Where were the others? You can see that there is a need for another person.

Where the need is so evident, the opportunity so challenging, it should require little urging in bringing about widespread participation of the churches and the people of this community. The success of this crusade to carry the influence of the churches to the hundreds of people who fail to reach will be measured by the extent to which the local churches and their personnel (that includes you) join in with their energetic efforts.

At over the nation Christian men and women are gathering together their resources. They realize that the church is going to be responsible for the healing of the wounds of our war. It is going to be up to them and us to make sure that our children (in its broadest sense) will not inherit 'empty-handed' a sick, sorrowful, war-torn world. Let us arm them with the best which is ours to give. Let us give them the right to sing:

"Faith of our fathers, we will strive
To win all nations unto thee;
And through the truth that comes From God,
Mankind shall then indeed be free."

Faith of our fathers, we will love
Both friend and foe in all our strife,
And preach thee, too, as love knows how,
By kindly words and virtuous life.

Wouldn't you like to be sure that your children will be able to face life with a faith like that? Now is the time for you to insure that for yourself. The time to begin educating your children is at least two generations ago. Be sure that your great grandchildren will be ready for anything.

What now? An interesting program has been prepared for you. Following a devotional program a play, illustrating the practical side of the United Christian Education Advance, will be presented. Then you shall be further enlightened by those who attended the one-day convention which was held in Akron last Friday, April 17.

The following topics have been assigned as follows:

In general—"The Situation." In particular—"The Depth of Need," by the Rev. Howard Bethel.

"The Breadth of the Challenge," by the Rev. Henry George Springer.

"Tackling the Task Together," by Mrs. Flock.

"An Insight of Resources," by the Rev. H. T. Wintermute.

Again, may I urge you to attend this most vital program. It is expedient, both for you, yours and your church, that you be there. If you love your God and His Son, Jesus Christ, and your children—you'll be there.

"Come, drink ye of the water of life freely."

Yours in the service of God,
Henry George Springer.

BLACKOUT NEWS FROM A FRIEND

We are glad to hear from Josephine S. Rogers this week, and to receive her renewal to The Advertiser. She writes: "Still looking forward to getting the Advertiser—it's like an old friend back home—I am quite well, and so grateful all so far are safe. We had another blackout on the 8th which lasted for nearly two hours. The planes spotted proved friendly ones; there is something terrifying in that awful blackness of a Black out. So very sorry to learn of the death of Elmer Parsel. Long Beach has lost several of its worthwhile sons. Out here we all know 'we will win the war, so it's 'chins up'."

That's the way we feel here, too, Friend Rogers.

SCRAP SALVAGE DRIVE TO START

In line with the request by W. P. B. for a nation-wide Spring housecleaning for material that can be salvaged for war production, local officials have started plans. A tentative date has been set in May.

Well known to most of us is the dire necessity of salvaging many of the things we so carelessly discard or store in the attics, barns and cellars. This year the need for conservation of materials into new production should be plain to all of us. Old metal ornaments, broken tools, obsolete metal equipment—these can become part of guns, tanks and planes; old rags can be converted into wiping rags to be used in war plants and old tires, tubes, hot water bottles and bath mats can be made up as reclaimed rubber. There are but a few of the many things so much needed at the present time.

Plans have been made so that the greater portion of the money derived from this drive will be turned into the fund for local Civilian Defense. Scouts will assist in the picking up of the material in the city truck.

Every person in Plymouth should accumulate waste that they have been wasting as the disposal of this junk and paper will erase what might be a fire hazard in time of an emergency.

It is not the purpose of this drive to interfere with regular collections of waste materials now being conducted by various local organizations, but is mainly to see that all articles are collected and moved rapidly to the proper places where they can be used.

In the coming months more and more planes, guns and tanks will be rolling off assembly lines and junk collected now will tend to offset this additional drain on all sources of materials.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TONIGHT

"LUNATICS AT LARGE" PROMISES GOOD ENTERTAINMENT.

Murder in a madhouse! That's what happens in the Senior class production of "Lunatics At Large," a three-act comedy-mystery which is to be presented at the Plymouth high auditorium this evening at 8:30. This is good news to all local playgoers who remember last year's Junior class play, "One Mad Night," which proved to be one of the most successful stage attractions given in Plymouth in recent years for the production of "Lunatics At Large" is a sequel to "One Mad Night."

Yes, they're all back again—as large as life and twice as funny. Dick Rule again plays the villainous Mr. Ryder; Lady McBeth, a victim of Shakespeare is taken by Dorothy Sourwine; John and Pris Allden are played by Joe Moore and Edna Hackett respectively.

In addition you'll meet the slightly bewildered playwright who runs a "nuthouse" on the side; his bride, the lovely Lucille (Jane Lipps); Amos Burke (Jim Cunningham) that arrogant fellow who is up to his old tricks again; and of course Wing (Edward Croy) the erudite Chinese who has a quotation from Confucius to fit any occasion. Dr. Janet (Lueella Vandervort) is in charge of the inmates.

A murder is committed in this emporium of the insane and what a puzzle it is to unravel. Among the suspects are Greg Stevens (Walter Hoffman) a young man in a hurry, and his sister, Claire (Helen Gowitzka); Mrs. Adair (Marilyn Earnest), a somewhat mysterious lady has arrived who is slightly cracked daughter (Jean Derr).

Inspector Britt of the police, (Willard Ross) attempts to untangle the mystery, but a guest turns up in the form of the Oriental Friend Wing. But in the meantime there are fireworks, thrills, howls of merriment—exact copy of everything before the final curtain and you won't be disappointed.

Musical for the production will be furnished by Louis Roth who will play two piano selections and by a popular band whose personnel includes Mary Alice Welker, Jim Crockett, Jim Rhine, Jr. Marvin and Clarence Mills.

The prices will be 30c for adults and 15c for students.

See you at "Lunatics At Large" tonight!

SALVAGE DRIVE IS NOW ON MOVE

Robert G. Weible, executive secretary of the state salvage committee of the Ohio Council of Defense, reported this week that the government's program to collect scrap metal, paper, old rags and rubber was "progressing satisfactorily."

Weible said that he had conferred with salvage officials in all sections of the state during the past several weeks to determine what the various counties were doing to spur the collection of needed materials.

Many counties, he revealed, are pushing a campaign for scrap metal. Weible said that the Dayton committee, headed by Judge Robert U. Martin, had collected more than 1,000,000 pounds of scrap metal.

LACK WHEAT STORAGE FACILITIES

Current crop prospects point to a critical development in the commodity storage situation by late summer, farmers were warned today by Robert E. Finlay, chairman of the county AAA committee.

Mr. Finlay quoted Ohio State University agricultural experts as saying that "about 222 million bushels of wheat, corn and soybeans will be stored out in the fields this summer, with nothing but the blue sky as a roof."

Principal cause of shortage in storage, he pointed out, is the unprecedented supply of wheat which the United States now has on hand.

"It is estimated that by July 1, 1942, we will have in stock 1520 million bushels of wheat. This amount represents an all-time record-breaking wheat supply—enough to last the U. S. for more than two years without growing any more."

Mr. Finlay suggested two steps which farmers should take now to relieve the situation.

1. Build storage on the farm NOW, while the lumber and nails are available. Storage space will not be available elsewhere, so be prepared.

2. Participate in the wheat marketing quota referendum to be held throughout the nation on May 2, and vote "Yes" for orderly marketing of the tremendous wheat crop.

"Let us keep control of production and marketing of wheat in the hands of the farmers," Mr. Finlay said. "If we throw away our marketing quota, we put ourselves at the mercy of a market that is overflowing with wheat."

Mr. Finlay pointed out that defeat of the marketing quota would have the following repercussions:

Loss of price-supporting wheat loans, which would be made illegal resulting in a deadly, downward spiral of wheat prices.

Few farmers would be able to afford storage of wheat on the farm, since there would be no loan available to tide them over into the period when the market price of wheat was more favorable.

Import quotas on foreign wheat would not be necessary, since the American market price would be low enough to discourage wheat importation.

Most wheat, in view of the absence of wheat loans, would have to be marketed at harvest time, jamming the railroad facilities of the nation at a time when they are so badly needed to transport war materials to strategic military centers and ocean ports. There is even conjecture as to whether the railroads would be able to extend their facilities to wheat growers for such a tremendous movement of grain.

The low price which would be prevalent on the wheat market, following defeat of the marketing quota, would be certain to affect adversely the prices of other feed grains, such as corn, oats, rye and barley.

"No man can say exactly how bad the wheat situation may become if the quota is defeated, but we all know that the farmers welfare is at stake when he votes on May 2."

If wheat marketing quotas are voted favorably, loans will be possible and cooperating farmers will secure, in addition to the loan, an advance of 7 per bushel to build new storage or repair old storage bins so they can be used.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Because of a couple of events that have taken place lately I was inspired to write this letter for your publication in the dear old Advertiser of Plymouth, that I have known all my life. I can now in my mind's eye see Frank Beelman, the editor 50 years ago, running around in his shirt sleeves gathering up the material which the paper contained that week. If I remember right there was a Beed who helped him at the office. I have been in contact with the dear old town of Plymouth ever since. I left there 54 years ago. I was then 18 years of age. There were two Boardmen who lived there — Big George and Little George. My father was Big George. I suppose there are a few of your readers who will remember them. A few days ago I received a package from Carl Sponseller, with it came a copy of the Advertiser which I devoured and saw the names of several people I had known. Then, just yesterday, I received from Neil Gebert, a young man I do not remember ever seeing) a picture of his father, Lewis Gebert, he and I went to school together. The Geberts and Boardman's lived next door to each other on Trux street. The two events mentioned (copy of paper and Lou's picture) certainly turned my memory to Plymouth people.

After 54 years I might mention a few secrets about Lou, George Schreiner, Willie Myers, Dave Kochenderfer and some others who used to steal apples and pears out of old man Strong's orchard and vineyard (that was on the side hill back of his house). I also helped take an old buggy apart and put together again on the top of old man Parker's Wagon and Buggy shop. We tied a rope from tree to fence and saw Lou's father trip over it and fall on his face, getting up ready to raise a little h— with us boys who were over behind a hedge fence across the road and again there was once we were stealing hickory nuts in Bodine's woods, and a pair of long legs chased us until we were all out of breath and then we had to dump the nuts into the river to get away from him, so neither of us got the nuts. Lou was going to smash him with a big puff ball that he found, but he gave that up. I wonder if the big rock is still there yet in Light's field where we went swimming. Light could not see us, but he could hear us and then we had to grab our clothes and run. So you see we were all quite a normal bunch of kids that got a little out of life besides doing chores and going to school. There also comes to mind some dear old souls I used to think I would be glad if I could grow up and be a good man, as anyone of them. First comes Huron Parker, Sam and their dear old father, Dan and St Wyandt, old man Doc Tucker and his frotting mare Goldie, Sol Spear, who was on the school board and used to come to the school house and make a speech to us. I also used to think Tom Lewis, Dave King, and Jake Brubaker were pretty fine men.

Among the outstanding women of those days were ideal, was Mrs. Huron Parker, who taught our Sunday school class; Georgia Boardman, Eva White and her mother, Mrs. Trauger. I think she had a daughter Grace, who had red hair. One other personage I will always remember, and had lots of confidence in, and that was old doctor Johnson, who nearly scared me to death by demanding I stick my tongue out and then roaring the question at me: How's your bowels? Our school line used to march by his office every day and I was just as well as I might roar at me again. I think I was about 10 or 12 years old then. I remember when he died as my father dug his grave for me. I know of only two others (that are yet alive that were in my class—Lou Gebert and Daisy Hanick. If there are any others I would like to hear from them. I know of only two others (that are yet alive that were in my class—Lou Gebert and Daisy Hanick. If there are any others I would like to hear from them.

Greetings to all.

"Hank" Watts Writes

From Army Camp
George Henry Watts, former Plymouth postal clerk, who was recently inducted into the army, writes this week that he really likes life in the army and is hoping to be stationed permanently at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis, Ind.

Ft. Benjamin Harrison is a reception center and very little training, except on certain days, takes place. However, it is a mammoth-sized job to feed all the boys who are daily arriving there and having had previous experience as a cook "Hank" thinks perhaps he could be of service there. The past week he was one of four boys who had the job of cutting up 1900 pounds of pork chops.

Hank claims the food is the best of everything, good, clean and wholesome and of course that is where he "shines." Hearing everyone talk about $45 a week, he decided just what that term stood for but he soon learned that it was "time to get up."

Only nine miles from town, the boys are allowed to go there frequently but inasmuch as he has definitely marked all "blondes" off his list, he doesn't go as frequently as he could.

He is quite anxious to hear from Plymouth friends and sends his address as well as a "hello" to friends. Address your letters or cards to: Pvt. Geo. H. Watts, U. S. Army, Co. B-1 R.C., Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

OHIO STATE ANNOUNCES 2 SCHOOL DAYS

Plymouth high school students will soon receive invitation to attend the annual High School Day at the Ohio State University this fall.

In keeping with a practice established nine years ago by the university, October 3 and 17 have been designated as High School Days for 1942.

This announcement is made by Dr. Bland L. Stradley, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, who again will serve as general chairman of the committee. Professor James Hopkins, head of the fine art department, will be in charge of the educational exhibits.

Professor Hopkins plans to have every college and department functioning during those two days for the entertainment of the young visitors. Guides will be furnished to show the students about the campus.

In the afternoon of October 3 the students will attend the Indiana-Ohio State football game and on the afternoon of October 17 Purdue and Ohio State will furnish the athletic program in the stadium.

LABORERS ASSURED FOR THE BEET AREA

Farmers in the sugar beet area need not hesitate because of fear of beet labor shortage, says Dale C. Williams, Member of the State AAA Committee in charge of sugar beets.

Sugar Beet companies have made arrangements for an ample supply of labor to care for the sugar beet acreage that can be contracted, and the labor will be available, when it is needed, Mr. Williams continued.

Despite that sugar is one of the Commodities most critically needed by the United States because of the war effort some beet companies have experienced difficulty in contracting their maximum acreage due to fears of an uncertain labor situation.

This latest move on the part of the beet companies should help greatly in securing the production of beets in desired quantities.

America needs all the sugar it can produce, and farmers are being urged to contract beets in as large amounts as can be properly cultivated. Because of the transportation problems involved beets should be contracted by farmers located nearest the best processing plants.

This places a heavy responsibility on farmers in sugar beet producing territories to assure that producing territories to assure that sugar factories may keep running at maximum capacity throughout the season.

Members of the Alpha Class of the Lutheran Church whose birthdays fell within the first four months of the year were the guests of honor at the semi-monthly meeting Tuesday. A special table with covers for twelve was arranged in a "V" and decorations carried out in patriotic colors. A small cake with red, white and blue candles was received by each guest and favors were carried out in the same color motif. Flowers on the Birthday table were bright yellow spring flowers.

Other members of the group were seated at similarly decorated tables with white flowers used as centerpieces. The song "Happy Birthday" was then sung.

On Monday evening members of the Non Parlell class were entertained by Miss Bertha Stoll and Mrs. George Cheesman at the home of Miss Stoll on West Broadway.

Tickets will be sold to the public soon. Devotions were taken from the 13th Chapter of Jeremiah, with comments read from Franz Werfel's book, "Heaven Into the Voice."

Willard Root then presented a very thought-provoking Victory Garden game when he passed around small bottles of 12 varieties of garden seeds for identification. Rev. H. T. Wintermuth proved the best gardener with all 12 named correctly, while the majority failed to distinguish between lettuce, radish and carrot seed. An alphabet game was also played and enjoyed.

A spring-time luncheon was then served, after social war, and world problems were discussed, argued, and then solved to the satisfaction of those present, although we were all quite sure that no one, especially the Government, would be influenced by our decisions.

The next meeting in May, will be at the church, with a supper at 6:30 o'clock. Mesdames Lowery, Thomas and Derr, were named to plan the meal and solicit, while the devotions will be conducted by Rev. Wintermuth, and the evening's program by Mrs. J. B. Derr and Miss Bertha Stoll.

WORKING IN TIRO

Mrs. Lucille Trauger and daughter Sandra went Saturday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McKew of Tiro, where Mrs. Trauger was caring for Mrs. McKew, who is ill.

starting Monday, April 27, in the "bundling" comedy, "The Pursuit of Happiness," by Armina Marshall and Lawrence Langner.

The comedy, which tells the tale of the way of a man with a maid in the bygone days of America, uses the old custom of courtship, "bundling," as an integral part of the plot. The play, which deals with a young Hesant soldier who wishes to change his allegiance to the newly found United States because he takes its creed of "life, liberty" and the pursuit of "Happiness," has many timely things to say in addition to its hilarious comedy moments.

Francis Lederer, who was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia, came to this country as an established star in the English stage last "Autumn Crocus." After appearing in the Broadway production of this play, Mr. Lederer journeyed to Hollywood where he scored in many successes. Recently he appeared opposite Katharine Cornell in "No Time for Comedy."

Playing opposite Francis Lederer in "Pursuit" is Lella Ernst, Boston's contribution to the Broadway stage in such George Abbott hits as "Too Many Girls" and "Pal Joey." The young special girl will be seen in the part of Prudence, a demure Puritan maid who forgoes her shyness in the presence of a handsome soldier.

In addition to the two leading players, the cast is filled with a group of excellent featured actors from the New York stage.

VALLEE Beyond the Purchase Price

If you are weighing the cost of TONJON in dollars and cents - stop right there and consider the value of being able to get up when the alarm clock rings, with an up and coming feeling ready for the day - no dull feeling because of temporary Constipation.

If temporary Constipation bothers you, perhaps TONJON No. 1, No. 3 can help you.

To become better acquainted with TONJON is to have an interview at Webber's Drug Store.

Caution: Always take TONJON according to the directions on the label.
