Council Passes Curfew Law: Becomes Effective Monday

Last Tuesday evening the council of our village passed a curfew ordinance. Their action was not taken hurriedly, but had been under discussion for the past six or eight months. Most of our neighboring towns have had a curfew ordinance in force for some time and their experience in this regard has been very successful. The council has no idea of trying to turn the clock back three hundred years to the days of the Puritan fathers, or to interfere in the private management of any individual's home. However, they do feel that for the best interest

At 9:15 P. M., there will be a short blast of the fire siren which will serve as a warning that all persons below the age of stateen years should be off the streets, un less engaged in a useful occupation or accompanied by a porent, guardian, or a responsible adult. The ordinance further provides that youngsters attending activities sponsored by the schools or churches, they will be given freedom of returning home at the discretion of those organizations sponsoring the activities. The second blast of the fire siren will be given at 9:30, and should find all persons under the age of sixteen at the home or in company of some adult person who is responsible for their behavior.

It is hoped that the village officials will have the support and copperation of every clizen of control of the curfew.

NARROW ESCAPE

Heavy fog Friday morning was responsible for a heavily loaded stone truck from Bucyrus leaving the road on Route 198 and going into the ditch.

A New Haven school bus going east was followed by the truck traveling in the same direction. The truck attempted to pass when another car from the west appeared out of the fog, and rather than hit the car or bus, the truck driver steered his vehicle into the ditch. No one was reported injured. The near-accident occurred about 8:30 a. m.

A LOCAL FARMER employed A LOCAL FARMER employed two men the other day to cut corn. They worked two days, and for their work, they charged the farmer $45.00. This goes to prove that the farmer isn't in "milk and honey" even with the small increase in farm prices.

Already at $500 colock we have but that doesn't mean the youngsters aren't running around. A curfew properly enforced should have the approval and the cooperation of everyone. And to offset the curfew, Mayor Derr has announced a joint meeting of citizens and council members to plan some kind of a Hallowe'en celebra ton for the youngsters. Further details will be made known next week.

TICKET TO PEACE

A new ration book, known as Ration Book 4, which is now being distributed, is made up so that it will last for a period of two years.

There is every reason to hope, therefore, that this will be the last of ration books. By October, 1945, when this new ration book will expire, there is a good chance that we will still be shipping enormous quantities of food to the people of foreign lands who will still be struggling to get back on their feet.

But no matter how great the demands on our supplies may be by the end of 1945, by that time our domestic economy should be better organized and our farm and transportation problems smoothed out. We should, by then, be able to send quantities of supplies abroad and still have an ample supply of food and goods, to take care of the needs of the people in this country.

It may be a little ptimistic to expect rationing to terminate when Ration Book 4 expires; but it would at least be rule, to think of the new ration book as a sort of ticket to peace—to think that, as the coupons are gradually removed, we are approaching closer to the end of war and, when the last ticket expires, we will have reached our destination of a peaceful world.

NOW COAL'S THE PROBLEM

Last year at this time every family which had an oilburner heating system was being urged to convert it to coal. This winter, because of a severe coal shortage, those burning oil will probably have a better chance of keeping warm than the people who burn coal.

Those who did spend money to convert their furnaces and now find that by doing so they have merely invited difficulties and discomfort, are naturally going to be incensed about it. It is going to make them unwilling to cooperate with other government programs. It is going to make them think that "the people in Washington" are making a mess of their control of domestic problems.

We will probably never get to the bottom of it. Part of the blame will be put on the mine strikes which did retard our nation's output by thousands of tons. Part of the blame will be put on the people who did not buy coal shead of time, instead of waiting to order until winter was almost here. Part of the blame will be put on transportation difficulties. But no excuses will deflate the criticism of those who did what the government asked last year and are now having to suffer for it.

THE MOST IMPORTANT MOMENT

OF THE DAY

One day Albert Edward Wiggam, writer and lecturer, addressing a group of students, said, "What is the most important moment of the day?"

One little boy held up his hand. "Dinner time."

Of course there was a laugh, then Mr. Wiggam told them something that is profoundly true. "The most important moment of the day," he said, "is the moment right after the evening meal. We'll say your destiny very likely is settled right then."

moment of the day," he said, "is the moment right after the evening meal. We'll say your destiny very likely is settled right then."

Most people dawdle around after that, accomplishing nothing. They listen to the radio and read a newspaper at the same time; they tinker at this and that; and when bedtime comes, have accomplished nothing whatsoever. The people who have found their way to leadership have not done this. They have made every moment count. At this daily crisis they do something worth while. They make use of minutes that other people squander.

A boy living on a ranch in Idaho knew what to do at seven o'clock. He had to work on the farm, and he was tired when he came to the house in the evening, but he got something more out of his time than sitting around idly gossiping. He studied electricity, with special interest in radio.

When he was 19 his father died, and he had to support the family. He went to Salt Lake City and got an office job. In the evenings, after dinner, he learned about other things than electricity. He learned about electro-chemistry and metallurgy, and he experimented in television. That boy was Philo T. Farnsworth, who eventually owned his own television company.

In Columbus, Ohio, there was a German-Swiss family with seven children, The puniest, most delicate child was named Edward. He had a job sweeping floors' in an automobile factory. When the day was over, the other boys lossed and frittered away their time, but Edward didn't. He wanted to get something out of every moment. He took a course in engineering at a correspondence school. Who was that boy? Eddie Rickenbacker! Tonight, instead of loafing around, why don't you do something useful? Try it, not just for a few nights, but for a year, and check up on yourself at the end of that time.

High spent a very enjoyable evening Friday night. How? Well, it was like this.
We set 6:00° as the time to leave for Crestline where we were to see Shelby play football. Because of a small mishap with the tractor tre, we were an hour late in starting. Excluding all the bumps and tumbles we arrived in Crestline safe and sound, but quite covered with straw. But what's a mere thing such as straw?
We arrived in time to see the

g such as straw?
We arrived in time to see the quarter, with Shelby carry-away the honors. By the way, have quite a team. No doubt at it—they are good!

Going through Crestline win. Should the fact be unknown fun. Should the fact be unknown, they have a military police station there and you can imagine the female reaction. Or can you? By the time we reached Shelby we decided it was high time we are. Believe it or not one does get hungry, with all the straw we consumed, you wouldn't have thought so, but we were, nevertible less.

thought so, but we were, neverthe less.

Olive Kennedy is "missing in action" from school because of a greatest majority enjoyed the farmary. We can dream, can't we?
Overlooking the fact that for some mysterious reason we lost a lot of straw, and the people in the room, we landed in Plymouth, still full of the old vim, vigor, vitamins and what have you!
I guess we were still hungry, because at any rate we dined on Miss Bowman. In the meeting we cokes at Tracy's Restaurant and in the course of the evening, all went our own destined ways.

It is my opinion that we all had a nice little straw pile all our own when we reached home.

We enjoyed eating straw, getting scratched by straw, and straw in general so much, we plan to do it again.

AGRICULTURE PREPARING

FOR 1944

Easing of the rationing restrictions on farm machinery increased production of new machinery, and a campaign among farmers to "keep your war equipment fit and fighting" are indication of plans now being laid by the War Food Administration to meet increased production goals for 1944. Suggestions for expanded wartime production have been sent for consideration to State Agricultural War Boards and other farm representatives. State cultural War Boards and other farm representatives. State boards have been asked to set 1944 goals. The national program calls for a record-breaking 380 million acres in crops. Problems relating to labor, machinery supplies, conservation practices and prices will be considered at 48 state meetings of state groups with representatives of WFA during October.

PRESSURE CANNERS
Pressure canners may be bought for individual home use under liberalized regulations now followed by the local Agricultural War Boards. A person who needs a pressure canner may apply to the local county farm rationing committee for a certificate of eligibility or ask that previously filed applications be eviewed under the new rulings.

GERMANY FAB
FROM "COLLAPSE"
The German Army has nearly three times as many combat divisions in the field today as there were when the attack on Poland began four years ago, Major Gen.
George V. Strong, Assistant Chief of Staff G-2 (military intelligence) declared recently. Discounting any liklihood of an early collapse of either Germany or Japan, Gen. Strong disclosed that the Germans had replaced the 20 divisions lost at Stalingrad last winter, and that the German Luftwaffer was larger now than in 1939. He said also that the weapons the Germans are making any which the United Nations have.

VISITING IN VIRGINIA

Mrs. Marquis Bistline who has Mrs. Marquis Bistime who has been spending the summer at Wells Beach, Me, writes she is now going to Newport News, Va. for several months' visit with her sister before going to Florida for the winter.

Mrs. Bistline also states it is still quite nice at the beach with no killing frosts to date. In fact she picked 8 quarts of string beans which had been planted August 1.
