

RICHLAND COMMISSIONERS ARE SEEKING IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE COUNTY T.B. SANATORIUM

A program for the expansion of Richland county's tuberculosis sanatorium was outlined over the week-end in a statement issued by C. L. Shoup, chairman of the Richland county board of commissioners. It remains indefinite as to just what plan or plans may be used to finance the improvements at the institution.

At present the sanatorium at Mansfield is equipped with 23 beds, but three are very inadequate to take care of present demands. A year ago plans were drawn up for a 50 bed sanatorium at an estimated cost of $250,000 and these were submitted to federal authorities for approval, but so far they have not been returned. The resultant need for immediate facilities make the expansion program one for attention now rather than a program for postwar consideration.

According to Commissioner Shoup some consideration is being given in asking the voters of Richland county to approve a five mill levy this fall to finance the improvements. This plan has been considered for some time, but a final decision to take this action has not been reached by the commissioners.

Three weeks ago the Richland county tuberculosis association advisory board appointed O. R. Hartman of Mansfield, to head up a public subscription campaign to raise $400,000 for a new sanatorium to include more than fifty beds. The program was one that would require much time and work, and it is fearful if the amount would or could be subscribed for this purpose.

There is no question but what the commissioners have a problem to face in taking care of patients and meeting the demands for the continual growth in number of patients. However, it is pointed out that a definite program will be mapped out, and that in all probability the voters of Richland county will be asked to support the improvement through an additional tax levy at the coming election this fall.

CORNELL SELLS CLOVER FARM

One of the biggest business deals transacted in Plymouth for a number of years occurred Monday, when A. F. Cornell transferred his interests in the Clover Farm store to Charles R. Suttles. No figures were given out in the transaction, but several thousand dollars were involved.

The new owner of the Clover Farm comes from Wilmington, N. C., where he has been employed in a supervisory capacity in the shipyards there. In taking over the store Monday, Mr. Suttles stated there would be no change in personnel, and that he would continue the management of this well-known food market along the same lines as it has been conducted the past few years.

The sale of the local grocery store was begun last week when Mr. Suttles came to Plymouth and took an option on the business. After a thorough check-up and a "once over" of the town and surrounding community Mr. Suttles decided that "it was a wonderful place to do a home," and he completed the deal Monday.

The sale includes all fixtures and store stock, and goodwill of the firm. The building, owned by Mrs. O. A. White of Shelby, has been leased to Mr. Suttles.

Mr. and Mrs. Suttles and daughter Lois, are residing temporarily with Mrs. Agnes McEldowney, they will move into the apartment over the store as soon as it is vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Cornell.

Plymouth is not new to the Suttles. Suttles worked in Cleveland for several years, although he is a native of North Carolina. He married Miss Washburn, sister of Mrs. Edd Phillips, who resided in Plymouth, while in Cleveland and they moved to North Carolina in 1931.

For the past four years Mr. Suttles has been connected with the shipbuilding industry, in which he was greatly interested. He was the first to start organization of a safety program, which in thirty days reduced accidents 61 percent. He made an enviable record in this phase of work, and gained prominence throughout the organization. He was a member.

GANGES GRANGE WILL MAKE HAY

Members of the Ganges grange have decided to make a crop of hay on the Charles Light farm as a "grange project" following receiving of a report on their plantings of 30 acres of soy beans on the same farm given at their regular meeting Thursday. Proceeds of the soy beans and of the hay making will be used to reduce the tax on the recently reduced grange hall.

Rollo Ferrell was appointed to the executive committee to fill the unexpired term of the late Victor N. Light. Six women named as a committee for the annual ice cream social on July 18 were Mrs. Gail Kuhn, Mrs. Martin Frank, Mrs. R. L. Baker, Mrs. Charles Zaiser, Mrs. Wayne Mellick and Mrs. Adam Holworth.

REV. R. C. WOLF, FORMER PASTOR, VISITS HERE

Rev. R. C. Wolf, instructor at the seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., was in Plymouth Monday afternoon calling on former friends. Rev. Wolf is a former pastor of the Lutheran church.

Rev. Wolf's wife, who has been residing in Mansfield until the close of the school year, will accompany him back and they will go to housekeeping at Gettysburg.

WILLARD YOUTH BEING HELD FOR ROBBING WILLARD STORES

A solution to the series of robberies committed in Willard several weeks ago, was revealed last Saturday morning when John Vernon Sutton, 18-year-old, confessed to the series of robberies. Willard youth admitted to entering stores which netted him around $700 in cash. Much preliminary work on the robbery was done by Willard Police Chief Roy Biele, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Harry Broome and Jack Sykes of Sheriff J. W. Mellott's department. Officers started work on the solution of the robbery the day following the crime. Through days and nights of hard work, piecing together small bits of evidence that they hoped would give them a clue, following up leads and many other incidents that may have a bearing on pointing the finger of guilt at the person who committed the crime.

At this time he was placed on probation. On Dec. 31, 1941, he again was found guilty of burglary and was sentenced to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster. On this charge he admitted entering Buckingham's elevator, the Willard dairy and the Smith electric shop in Willard. He escaped from Lancaster on Oct. 21, 1942, but was later returned there. In September, 1943 the youth was paroled to his parents, and was on probation when the recent burglaries were committed. The youth is being held in the Huron county jail, pending regular court procedure.

Requests of $1,000 go to the Trinity Lutheran parsonage building fund, the Vernie Child's home at Richmond, Ind., Charles Wyandt, Ross Wyandt and Edith Derch.

Gifts of $500 each go to Rev. G. C. Heffelfinger, Mrs. Heffelfinger, Robert Kipp, Mrs. Robert Kipp, the case, Eckstein, Velma Eckstein and Mrs. Cleo Boetcher. Other gifts are for $100, $50 and $25 and the residue is left to Edith Dresch of Cleveland.

THE WEATHER

June, 1945 started out with the coldest June week in sixteen years, with a low of 38 degrees on the 6th. After the first ten days it began to warm up, reaching a maximum of 93 on the 29th, with high humidity. The average for the month was 66.4 degrees or 3.5 degrees below normal.

Precipitation totaled 5.22 inches or 1.21 inch above normal. The greatest in 24 hours was 1.32 inch on the 13th. There were fourteen days with 0.1 or more of rainfall, 10 days were cloudy, 13 partly cloudy and 7 clear. Thunder storms occurred on eleven days. High winds on the 15th did slight damage.

Nevertheless, June turned out to be a good growing month. Corn although planted late, made good progress. Oats and soy beans look fine. Hay was in full swing at the end of the month and wheat, which looks like a "bumper" crop should be ready to cut within a few days.

Altogether, we might have had a much worse spring, which started so early and ended up "late."

BOY KILLED IN TRACTOR FALL

Robert Cherry, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Cherry of near North Fairfield, died in Willard Municipal hospital Friday afternoon of internal injuries received Friday morning when run over by a tractor in the barnyard of his parents' home on Walnut-road.

His father was backing the tractor and, unknown to him, Robert and a younger brother jumped on the rear of the machine. Robert slipped and fell beneath a wheel which passed over his chest.

The father rushed the lad to the hospital where he died a few hours later.

He is survived by his parents, a twin sister, his brother and grandparents. Services were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the North Fairfield Methodist church. Burial made in the North Fairfield cemetery.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whitelosed)

THE SECOND DAY of July, Monday, found federal men in this vicinity checking on autos that did not display the use tax stamp. As a result, a number of motorists in Willard and Mansfield were caught without the stamp, and the owners were brought into court. A number of Plymouth people were included in the swoop made by agents.

THE WORD USE doesn't quite do justice to the purpose of the law that collects five dollars out of every auto and truck owner in the country. The word USELESS is more appropriate inasmuch as the tax revenue is not needed, and is one of the most unfair taxes ever placed on the American public by Congress. Motorists already pay a federal tax, and on top of that, the state collects a sales tax on the purchase of an auto. Coupled with this, we pay a tax on gas, a tax on oil, buy a license plate, forced to carry insurance, and car owner must have his car registered, which costs a few dollars more, plus a driver's license. Figure up just what it amounts to in dollars and cents and you'll be surprised. But congress wasn't a few more shekels and slapped on another five dollars. Just how long the American people will stand for taxes of this sort is hard to say, but in the long run, it will cost our government more in the curtailment of purchases of cars, gasoline and oil than the revenue derived from the $5.00 use tax.

THE UNFAIRNESS of the tax was exemplified Monday when state patrolmen picked up Mrs. Pearl Lutz, a woman, arrested by her brother, Harry Artman, 65 years old or more, has worked steadily in the foundry at F. R. H. A cripple, almost unable to get a car, he felt it was his duty to aid in the war work, and to help out in a manpower shortage. Yet, for an infraction of a needless law, he was forced to pay a fine of $20 and costs, while thousands of other violators will be permitted to operate their car a year without a use tax stamp.

IF THE FEDERAL Government were to actually enforce the use tax stamp and confiscate cars that do not display them, practically all war work, and manufacturing of war implements would cease, for there would be no transportation in this country. If the government needs the money, then the use tax law should be handled so that the taxpayer would be required to purchase the stamp before driving his car. With so much needless waste of government money being exposed every day, the taxpayer soon becomes inclined to feel that "beating the government" out of $5.00 isn't a crime, but it's the smart thing to do. Congress should either repeal the law or devise means of collection from every car owner.

WE ARE TOLD that Bill Ross of the U. S. Navy, who has seen almost three years of service, is soon slated for a discharge. Ross' legs just wouldn't take on the "old" duty, due to varicose veins, from which he suffered before entering the navy. For the past year he has been stationed at Norfolk for treatment at the Naval hospital there.

EVIDENTLY "BUCK" COLVER can't tell alfalfa hay from clover, but was instructed to clean off a vacant lot near Bach-rack's seed house, and he did a good job. It so happened that he mowed a fine field of alfalfa planted by Hubert Martin for seed. Martin don't like the hay to a couple of citizens who have cows . . . not saying what he thought.

I WISH all of the people of Plymouth could have heard "Charlie" Suttles, the new owner of the Clover Farm store, tell of his opinion of Plymouth, and the things in general that helped him make up his mind to locate here.

THAT EXTRA GALLON

ITS marvelous what some people can do with a gallon of gasoline.

But it is apparent, to anyone who has looked over the highways, that traffic has at least doubled since the OPA came through with that extra gallon per week.

It is a little difficult to understand. We don't like to think that the public, stimulated to take to the road by that four-quart bonus, is increasing its patronage of gasoline black markets. And we don't like to think that those who are getting extra gasoline for essential use are somehow increasing their non-essential driving.

But when we see the traffic jams on a week-end, we can't help but feel that we are witnessing a demonstration of the public's ingenuity at getting around regulations.

'TRAVEL IS SO BROADENING'

PASSENGERS are already being signed up for a new type of postwar cruise—an 80-hour trip around the world. When this new advance in travel was announced by Pan-American Airways, 11 people immediately signed up for the first trip.

The passengers will get a quick glimpse of Lisbon, Marseille, Rome, Athens, Cairo, Calcutta, Canton, Tokyo, Seattle, San Francisco, and New York . . . all for $700.

It sounds like fun—but as for the educational advantages which have so long been associated with travel, we wonder if the passengers, after their three-day trip, will know much more about the world than they did before.

Personally, if we travel after the war, we would like to take things a little slower. The whole idea reminds us too much of Samuel Butler's plan to inject education into the human system in capsule form, where you would gulp down a "geography pill" swallow a glass of water and pass on to the next subject.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

HE STUCK UNTIL HE WON OUT

IN 1931 a young man who had just graduated from a Kansas college wanted to go on a honeymoon with his bride, but they didn't have any money.

He investigated five different possibilities, but turned them down; then he heard of a company which manufactured posters for banks.

But he didn't know a thing about selling posters to hard-headed bank presidents. The company furnished a small printed sheet of instructions on how to sell the posters, but the instructions were moronic.

So the young man about-to-go-on-a-honeymoon thought to himself, "If I were a banker, what would make me want to buy this set?" In other words he approached the sales from the buyer's point of view.

So with the posters in the back seat and his bride in the front seat, he started on his honeymoon.

When he arrived in the first town, he took his sample set and called on a banker. The banker listened carefully to what young Ed Whittlesey said and then remarked, "I would not put your posters in a barn, let alone in my bank."

Young Ed Whittlesey went to four bankers and made not a sale. It looked as if the honeymoon were over. Then he and his bride worked out together a sales talk, and new approaches on selling, and made another effort. For it was sales, or no honeymoon.

He swooped down on a banker with this new approach and made a sale for $50. Then he and his bride went as far as the money would take them, then tackled another banker. Finally he landed in Colorado Springs at 11 o'clock one Saturday morning with no money. The bank was to close at 12 noon, and the young honeymooner had to make a sale. But the banker didn't want the posters. The young man hung on like a bulldog to the seat of a tramp's pants and at five minutes before closing time he consummated the sale.

The average man can do far, far more than he thinks he can. Elbert Hubbard once said: "No one ever gets very far unless he accomplishes the impossible at least once a day."

Doings In Congress

By CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM LEMKE

Our nation is rumbling along on a strange highway in an international vehicle. Our people are sitting carefree in the rumble seat—in a "What do I care" attitude. A congressman, who just returned from San Francisco, told me that he had never experienced a time when our people did less thinking, or were less interested in the affairs of their nation.

He told me that his daily contact with the foreign delegates, convinced him that all these delegates were interested in, was in seeing how much they could get out of us. This constant playing up for suckers became nauseating to him. He finally suggested that some of these nations would be in a better position to ask help if they first helped us whip the Japs. He deplores the fact that the people did not get a true picture of this world history-making conference.

How could we get a picture when ninety-five per cent of all our avenues of publicity—the radio, the theatre and the metropolitan press—is in the hands of a few individuals. It is now said that one foreign country alone spent $100,000,000 for propaganda in our nation—$100,000,000 of foreign money to shape American opinion. This $100,000,000, together with millions more from other countries, was for the purpose of having a little international group—international bankers and manufacturers—get control of ninety-five per cent of all our avenues of publicity.

Because of this propaganda, we were led to believe that a world organization would prevent future wars. No sooner was the charter completed, than Lord Halifax said that it would not prevent war unless the "Big Five" behave themselves. He is right. We all know that Germany, Italy and Japan will be so thoroughly disarmed that they will no longer be a threat to world peace. The threat for future war lies within the "Big Five." There is nothing in the charter that prevents any one of them from starting World War III.

Later we were told that we must have Bretton Woods in order to assure permanent peace. What would William Jennings Bryan have said about this international financial monster? What would Jefferson, Lincoln, Cleveland or Harrison say if they were still alive? A little later we were told that the dove of peace demanded the Reciprocal Trade Agreements to buy "good neighbors" with.

There is no doubt about the senate ratifying the charter. We all hope and pray for permanent and lasting peace. That is the desire of the common man. If this is to be accomplished, the "Big Five" will have to show more decency and justice toward the smaller nations in the future than in the past. The road to permanent peace is not vengeance, hatred or injustice, but rather universal decency and respect for the rights of all people and of all nations, small or large.

This Week in WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C. (WNED)—A reorganization of the whole rationing set-up, so far as food is concerned, is expected shortly in view of President Truman's recent statement pledging that the meat situation would be improved and there would be a single control over food.

Many members of congress have argued that the food situation was largely a matter of "too many cooks spoiling the broth."

If the single control idea goes through, the man who will probably have that control will be Clinton Anderson, the new secretary of agriculture. This was suggested in a proposal made by former President Herbert Hoover, which will help get Republican backing for the plan. And if President Truman and Mr. Hoover agree on approximately the same plan it should not face much difficulty in getting congressional approval.

If food control is put entirely in the hands of the department of agriculture, the work of the Office of Price Administration would be considerably cut down. This would be all right with many members of congress, who, during the hearings on the bill to extend the OPA, favored limiting the work of OPA to the job of handling the mechanical details of rationing.

Lawyers in congress are enjoying informal discussions of the suggestion which President Truman threw into their laps that the rules be changed regarding the succession of officers of the government to the presidency. At the present time Secretary of State Stettinius would become President if anything happened to Mr. Truman. But the President pointed out that members of the cabinet are appointed by him and not elected by the people, and that it would be more democratic to have an elected member of the government take over. He suggested that the order of succession be changed so that, if he should die, the speaker of the house or the president of the senate be next in line.

The President's plan raises immediate objections, such as, "Is the speaker of the house might be a Republican when the people had voted for the Democratic candidate, the speaker was only elected by the people of one state and might not be the choice of the citizens of the other 47 states; no change could be made by congress but would have to be made by a constitutional amendment."

Although the subject is one which, it is agreed, deserves immediate consideration, since President Truman will be in office for almost four years with no vice president to succeed him, suggestions are so numerous that it may be some time before any action is taken. One suggestion which seems to have many adherents is this: If a President who has no vice president dies, the electoral college shall be reconvened to elect a new President.

A sweeping revision of the Wagner Labor Relations act, aimed at avoiding a major postwar fight between labor and management, is now being considered by the senate. The legislation calls for substituting compulsory arbitration of disputes for strikes and virtually makes strikes illegal. It also bans unfair labor practices by labor if self instead of just by management, eliminates the closed shop unless it is approved by 75 per cent of workers, and restricts government control over labor to businesses operating directly in interstate commerce.

Although the measure already has been attacked by labor leaders as being one that "turns back the clock" and goes against the considerable popularity in congress. There is no chance that it will be rushed through, but it will tend to bring labor legislation to the forefront for many months to come.

RAIN or SHINE the WEATHER'S FINE on the Nation's Station

With war restrictions removed, WLW is able once more to bring you complete, accurate, up-to-the-minute Weather information—so vital to successful farm operation. More than 11 times daily, the Nation's Station airs latest weather reports and forecasts on its regular news programs.

And throughout the day and evening, every day of the week, WLW is programmed to serve YOU . . . with entertainment, information and devotional programs for the millions who live in WLW-land.

... and on DOZENS OF PROGRAMS Designed for Midwest Farmers

Wherever you live, your nearest neighbor is a farmer named Earl Neel. Every day around lunch time (12:30 P.M. EWT), he drops in at your house, through the miracle of radio, and brings with him Roy Battles, Carroll McConaha, and some of your favorite entertainers . . . to help make that noon-day break in the day's work both relaxing and informative.

Yes—Earl is a real neighbor of yours . . . and a real farmer, too. We call his place "Everybody's Farm," and it is not an experimental or scientific farm. Earl operates it on a genuine tenacious basis, must make it go out of its own income, without additional funds from WLW or from the sponsorship of "Everybody's Farm Hour". Thus, Earl and Roy and Carroll are able to talk your language, discuss your problems with you, "talk shop" as one farmer to another.

And what is true of "Everybody's Farm Hour" is equally true of "From the Ground Up" (Sunday, 9 A.M. EWT) and many other regular programs of the Nation's Station, broadcast throughout the week, primarily for the rural folk of WLW-land.

DON ROBINSON

REBELLION . . . blanks

A presidential platform, opposing the necessity for the public to fill in any government forms whatsoever, could probably win an election hands down right now.

Not since the war began have I heard so much rebellion against the blanks we must fill in to get gas, tires, fuel oil, sugar, shoes, canned goods—and to pay our income tax.

I think the people of this country realize the need for pen-and-paper control over our lives during wartime, but a lot of us feel that the thing has been carried too far—that there isn't any necessity for answering the same questions dozens of different times, that a lot of the blanks don't apply to our individual situations and that there ought to be some simple way for controls to be exercised without our getting the cramp.

SUGAR . . . guilt

A few nights ago I spent an evening filling in forms. One was for gasoline, one for children's shoes, one for fuel oil and one for sugar. It was that sugar questionnaire that really got me down.

In the first place, we weren't particularly anxious to have any extra sugar. But we had to have a number of fruit trees and, in spite of asking the neighbors to help ourselves, there is always a lot of fruit left over when they get through. Therefore, because of the food shortage, we felt that it was the patriotic thing to do to preserve all of that excess fruit.

That's how we happened to get into the four-page sugar questionnaire. After spending practically an hour trying to make heads or tails of the wording of some of the questions, trying to remember how much sugar we used last year, trying to estimate how much preserving we might do this year, etc., we finally reached the end. But, when we reached the blank to the ration board, my wife and I both had the unpleasant feeling which a burglar would have when he realizes he is in danger of being caught.

Although we had made a conscientious attempt to answer each question honestly and had no desire to get any more sugar than the ration board wanted to give us, I had the uncomfortable feeling that our final conclusion of needing 20 pounds of sugar would probably be the government's cue to send an FBI man hurrying to our door.

PATRIOTISM . . . penalties

In the last war most controls over scarce products were successfully handled by voluntary appeals to patriotism. In this war, however, the scarcities have been so much greater and the problems so complicated that it was, and still is, necessary for the government to use regulations and penalties.

But I wonder if the need for mandatory regulations hasn't done a good deal to cut down on our patriotism. During the last war the people took on the job of enforcement as a patriotic duty. Would-be violators of government requests were kept in line by their fear of stirring up the wrath of their patriotic neighbors—which was a much more potent reason for good behavior than is the fear of legal penalties.

As it is today, there are far too many people who feel no guilt over their black market purchases, who look openly on how they have circumvented war regulations and who, if they do comply with the law, do so because of compulsion rather than for the sake of patriotic co-operation.

The very foundation of our country being a worship of freedom, Americans naturally wriggle and quiver under the countless regulations which we now meet at every turn. The quicker we can replace government forms, government edicts and government enforcement by appeals to good, old-fashioned patriotism the better off our country will be.

Chick Chats

By Joe Page

The advantages of feeding a succulent green feed are numerous, but sometimes it is impossible to provide range for both the layers and the growing stock, so it's usually the youngsters that have advantage of the green feed every year. In order not to deprive the layers of a supply of green feed, give them lawn clippings as often as you can until such heavy crops as kale and swiss chard are available.

Long mowed grass is more easily handled by the birds if it is put through a chopping mill. Tender cereal grasses, such as oats, rye and wheat are excellent sources of greens for both adults and chicks.

The cause of egg-eating in the flock may be traced to inadequate nests, too much light on the nests, presence of eggs on the laying house floor or failure to gather eggs frequently. Correct these faults and you will have gone a long way toward eliminating trouble with egg-eating hens.

Hens usually gain the habit due to having access to eggs with soft shells.

Once hens form this habit they will even break hard shelled eggs to satisfy their appetites.

Summer Care of Layers
It is a good idea to bear in mind that the more comfortable you make your laying flock the more profits you will realize. Hot, dry weather is very hard on layers.

There are many little simple things you can do to make your flock comfortable. Keep windows and ventilators open. Always keep plenty of water and feed in the shade. If appetites sag, there are special medications which can be added to the drinking water or feed which will often completely correct this condition.

On the hottest days egg production will often hold up better if the layers are confined to their houses where they have access to full mash hoppers and water fountains. Turn them on pasture only during the very late afternoon. By following this practice more mash and water will be consumed by the birds, and egg production should be higher.

Often one can get the birds to consume more mash by feeding also at noon. It might be found advantageous to moisten the mash with milk. The extra protein supplied by the milk may be beneficial.

SLAUGHTERERS MUST MARK LIVESTOCK

All livestock carcasses and wholesale cuts of meat must, after July 15, 1945, be clearly marked with the slaughterer, OPA announced. The numbers may not be altered, mutilated or removed except when the meat is prepared for consumption or use, or when the wholesale cuts are broken into retail cuts.

Non-federally inspected commercial and farm slaughterers will mark their meat with one of the following: (A) Their OPA license or permit number, (B) Their present war food administration license or permit number, or (C) The establishment number assigned them by a federal, state, county or city meat inspection authority. Those who wish to continue using, after July 31, 1945, the establishment number to them by an official meat inspection authority, rather than the OPA license or permit number, must give notice to that effect, prior to using the number to the local war price and rationing board of OPA district office with which they are registered.

All accessible wholesale cuts of meat are to be marked, except in the case of calf carcasses with the skin on. These need only be marked on the hind shanks and brisket. Any person who removes the skin from a calf carcass, however, is required to mark each accessible wholesale cut before the carcass is broken, sold or transferred. All markings must be clear and conspicuous and the numerals and letters at least 1/4 inch in height and width. The marking may be done with a Koster marking pencil or with a stamp or stencil and an approved violet branding fluid. Farm slaughterers selling or transferring meat directly to a consumer may put the required identification number on a tag that is firmly attached to the meat.

WEDDINGS SURPASS

DIVORCES IN JUNE

Sixty-two marriage licenses were issued in Richland county's probate court during June, as against 42 divorce petitions filed in common pleas court. During May divorce petitions and marriage licenses were even at 45 each.

Applications for marriage licenses still are falling below the average of other years, while petitions for divorce are running comparatively high. During years past it was quite common for 75 or 80 couples to be licensed to wed in June.

Sunday school at 10:00.

Worship at 11:00.

Subject for Sunday's sermon—"The Righteousness that qualifies us for Heaven," Matt. 5, 20-26.

Religion is communal as well as individual. We seek God in company as well as in isolation. When we seek God together it is that He might become real to us individually. This individual realization of God must become intense and vital. There is an aloneness with God which is possible only when we are ourselves literally alone. Seek ye the Lord, while He may be found."

OUR READERS ENCOURAGE US

Mrs. Zora Perry, nee Shields, of Elyria, Ohio, in renewing her subscription, says: "I enjoy reading about the town where I went to school until 1910 when I left there."

Mrs. Catherine Redden, formerly of Plymouth, but now enjoying the Sunshine at Miami, Fla., has asked that her paper be forwarded to her new home.

Mrs. Fred Charbonneau of Highland Park, Mich., states she enjoys keeping up with the home town news, and renewed her subscription for another year.

Mrs. Josephine Rogers not only renewed her subscription but gives us a "yes" for travel to the many interesting points she has seen and continues to see. Recently, Mrs. Rogers spent a few days at Lake Wales and over to Kok tower, as they have discontinued the little buses running from St. Petersburg and back. Now one takes a taxi paying $1.50 for the round trip and gets a ticket which assures one the return back. She also spent a few days at Ocala and Silver Springs, going to both places on the bus through lovely country.

Bok Tower is located on the highest spot in Florida, 300 feet high. The tower contains one of the largest and finest carillons in the world, consisting of seventy-one bells, the smallest weighing 17 pounds, and the largest 12 tons. The tower is built of Florida coquina stone and Georgia pink marble, weighing over 3500 tons, and took two years to complete. Edward W. Bok built this tower and gave it to the public as a symbol of beauty and as an expression of his thanks to the American flag.

Mrs. Rogers is now planning another trip by bus over to the East Coast on up to Jacksonville, stopping enroute at various cities, including Daytona Beach and St. Augustine.

Mrs. Rogers concludes her note with regret to learn of the death of Mr. Wm. Johns, who had been her neighbor years ago.

She has kept in contact with her Plymouth friends for years via Advertiser, and we are always appreciative of her many kind notes of interest, and her many interesting travels.

HERE AND THERE IN THE SERVICE

MOTHER HEARS FROM HER SON IN JAP PRISON

A radio message relayed from Harold Shields, 27, a prisoner of the Japs, to his mother, Mrs. Verda Shields Robinson of Willard, was received from Washington Saturday.

The message read in part, "Dearest Mother: I am in fair health and hope you are too. I am glad to hear of Emerson's success. Please send pictures." Shield enlisted for navy service seven years ago. His mother saw him last at Norfolk, Va., July 4, 1939, just before he left for sea duty.

He was on the U. S. S. Tananar, when it was sunk at the battle of Corregidor and has since been at various prison camps according to messages received by his mother. Mrs. Robinson's last radio message from him was Nov. 14, 1944, and was from Formosa. Through the Red Cross she has been told that he is now at Hakodate, a camp at the extreme north part of the main island of Japan.

The brother, Emerson, 26, to whom he referred in the message has been in the navy three years and was promoted to chief metal-smith one year ago. He was at Okinawa when Mrs. Robinson last heard from him.

Mrs. Emerson Shields resides with her mother, Mrs. Sam Fenner on Birtfield ave., Plymouth.

Returns For Training

Fifteenth Air Force in Italy—After a tour of duty in Italy in the 15th Air Force, First Lieutenant Paul E. Fenner, 25, of Shelby, formerly of Plymouth, B-24 Liberator bomber navigator, is returning to the United States for training and re-equipment, according to an announcement by Brigadier General Fay R. Vignogro, of Olean, N. Y., his wing commander.

Since going overseas he has been assigned to the 45th Bombardment group, a Liberator bomber group which has partici-ated in numerous bombings of German-held targets throughout southern Europe and the Balkans, and one of the groups Nazi leaders were referring to when they credited the 15th AAF's strategic bombing for their downfall.

Former Plymouth Boy Forces S.S. Troops To Dig Up Bodies

Pfc. Leroy R. Briggs, member of the MP platoon with the 12th Corps, 3rd army, in Europe, was among the soldiers who forced German SS troops to dig up bodies of 800 Russians after the surrender. The bodies with bullet holes in the heads and battered and bruised were then put on exhibition and German civilians were forced to march past them. The civilians had refused to believe the storm troopers had been so cruel, Pfc. Briggs writes to his wife in Willard.

Pfc. Briggs, former manager of the Western Auto store, Willard, before he entered the service two years ago, has won four battle stars. His corps held the right flank of the entire AEF in the drive across France and cracked the Siegfried Line at Ebernach, one of its most heavily defended points. This corps made the first assault crossing of the Rhine in history on March 22 at Oppenheim; cut Germany in two by crossing into Czechoslovakia on April 18, and made the first crossing of the Austrian frontier by American troops on April 28.

Now with the army of occupation stationed at Passau on the German-Austrian border, Pfc. Briggs, an ardent hunter and fisherman when at home, writes Mrs. Briggs who is in the store in his place, that he recently shot two deer and caught a 40-pound string of fish.

In the two years he has been in the service, Pfc. Briggs has been home only nine days. He has 70 points and hopes it will not be long before he can resume his work in the Willard store again.

Pfc. Briggs is a former Plymouth boy and has many relatives here.

Pfc. R. F. Holmes Discharged After Four Years Service

Pfc. Raymond F. Holmes, husband of Mrs. Elizabeth Work Holmes of Willard, was honorably discharged from the U. S. army at Memphis, Tenn., on June 8, and has returned home.

He spent more than four years in army service, 18 months of it in the European theatre of operations. Working in Shelby at the time he was drafted, he was in the third group of young men to leave for military service from Richland county. After basic training at Camp Wolters, Texas, he was made a member of Headquarters Co., Ninth Army, and remained with the outfit until he was seriously wounded in the chest last December. He was sent back to the United States last April after being hospitalized in Belgium, France and England.

Pfc. Holmes has the Purple Heart, Bronze Star, Good Conduct Medal, European theatre of operations ribbon with three major battle stars, and the American defense ribbon. Before he went overseas he was with the Ninth infantry which was sent to Detroit for guard duty during the negro uprising in June, 1943.

He has no plans for the immediate future excepting to rest and get readjusted to civilian life.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holmes of Shelby route 3 and has relatives in Plymouth with whom he frequently visited.

Liberated, Back Home
Lt. Reginald Smith and Lt. Howard Hartman arrived in Shelby at midnight last Wednesday, following their release from a German prison camp. Lt. Smith, pilot of a B-17 downed in May, 1944, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith, 14 Fourth street, and Lt. Hartman is the son of Mrs. Walter Owens, 11 Oak street, Shelby. Lt. Hartman had been co-pilot on a B-24, and was taken prisoner in April last year. Both men were interned at Stalag Luft 1, along the Atlantic coast near Stettin.

Lt. Smith is a cousin of Mrs. Phillip Moore of West High-st.

Believe It Or Not!

Brown as the proverbial "berry," weighing in at 170 pounds and baldheaded—that's the status quo of Pete Ruckman. A little hard to believe but true nevertheless. Pete has the height to carry that 170 pounds, and where Pete has been lately, we acknowledge the coat of tan, but that baldheaded stuff needed a little explanation. It's like this folks, Pete is now a member of the Shellback organization.

His last letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ruckman states he crossed the equator on Sunday, June 8th and in the process of graduating from the poly-wog class to the Shellbacks, his hair was neatly clipped right down the middle. To even things up a little, it was necessary to clip the rest of his head and there you are, baldheaded Pete. He figures that by the time he hits the states again, you'll never know the difference.

The dates on his letters were also confusing and his mother was thinking of sending him a calendar, until she discovered that they are two days ahead of us. The 21st of June, the longest day of the year for us northerners, was the first day of winter for the crew with Pete. He also thinks he was in the vicinity of Quentin Ream's ship, some few weeks back, but now is miles away.

Charles (Gus) Dick of the merchant marines is home on a sick leave from Marine hospital, Cleveland.

T-S Harold Biller of Fletcher hospital, Cambridge, O., will return tomorrow, Friday, after a 10-day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Biller.

ANNOUNCING- CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP

In the purchase of The Clover Farm Market from A. F. Cornell, I enter the business circles of Plymouth as a stranger. In the few days I have been in your midst I have found an atmosphere of friendliness and sincerity that gives me confidence in the future years. For the warm welcome which has already been extended, I am deeply grateful . . . It will take a few weeks to remember names and faces, but you can rest assured that I shall do everything possible to merit the continuance of the friendliness which I have found in your community.

The same personnel, namely: Mrs. H. J. Lippus, Lois Berberick, Mrs. Shaver, Patty Roe, "Chet" Baker, along with Mrs. Suttles and daughter Lois, will continue to serve you with courtesy and efficiency. Our shelves will carry the same well-known brands with which you have become familiar . . . Our Meat Department will, under present conditions, strive to offer the best meats possible, when available. You will find freshness and quality in our Fruits and Vegetables . . . all at lowest possible prices. We will continue to pay highest cash prices for Cream and Eggs, and will render prompt service in testing cream and handling eggs.

In the purchase of The Clover Farm Market and our decision to make Plymouth our permanent home, we will strive at all times to merit the continuance of the store's present patrons, and extend an invitation to new friends and customers. We pledge our support to the community's welfare and growth, and will give cooperation where it is deserved in all civic enterprise.

CORNELL SELLS

ber of the Progressive club at Wilmingon, which is composed of quartermen and assistant foremen. He served on the publicity committee of this club for a few months.

Although not familiar with the grocery business, Mr. Suttles possesses a personality that will, coupled with his business ability and integrity, bring him success in his new venture, and we are certain that Plymouth's community will welcome the new owner and his family into the business and civic circles of the city with a real degree of satisfaction.

Coming to Plymouth 26 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cornell have, in this period of time, enjoyed the confidence and good will of a buying public that will regret to see them ring down the curtain on one of the most pleasant business relationships anyone could hope for. The Cornells have raised their family in Plymouth. Mrs. Harriett Cornell, Harrington, Mansfield; Arthur, Shelby, owner of The Red Front Mkt.; Weldon Cornell, proprietor of the Black and Gold; Robert and Lawrence, who are in service and Gene, who made the supreme sacrifice for his country a few months ago.

Some few years ago, Mr. Cornell was engaged in handling the bulk station service for the John son Oil company. In 1929 he purchased the grocery and cream station operated by A. O. Waite.
From time to time he has made improvements in his grocery store and in 1942 installed the latest and most modern equipment which gave Plymouth its first and only self-serve store. The business throughout the years has shown a healthy growth under the management and ownership of Mr. Cornell, and hundreds of the store's patrons will regret to learn that he will no longer be connected with the Clover Farm store.

In announcing the sale of his store, Mr. Cornell states that he has made no definite plans for the future, but that he and Mrs.
Cornell expect to continue to make Plymouth their home.

For the past year, Mrs. H. J.
Lippus, who has had active management of the food market, will continue under the new ownership in the same capacity. Other members of the personnel are:
Lois Berberick, Mrs. Harold Shaver, Patty Roe, Chet Baker, along with Mrs. Suttles and daughter Lois.

Hospital, Cleveland, spent from Sunday until Tuesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ross and son.

Ross Kuhn, EM, 2-c, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Kuhn of Mansfield Rural, and also Plymouth relatives. Mr. & Mrs. Fred Ross are his maternal grandparents.

Cpl. R. B. Grist arrived early Tuesday morning in Plymouth from overseas duty. He will enjoy a 30-day furlough with his wife and daughter, and other relatives.

MOVES TO SHELBY

Mrs. Ruth Heistand, who has been making her home with Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Davis has moved to Shelby where she is employed in the Lasher & Hancock office.

HEADS MOTHERS

Mrs. May K. Brown, who, with her husband, E. A. Brown, made Plymouth their home for over a year with Mrs. Mabel McFadden, are now nicely located at Lakewood, Ohio.

Instrumental in organizing the Plymouth Chapter of Blue Star
Mothers, Mrs. Brown attended a Blue Star Mothers meeting at Public Hall, Cleveland, and came away finding herself the new president. The National President was present and as they were reorganizing the chapter she was nominated and elected before she hardly realized it. She states there is a vast difference in acting in that capacity in Cleveland than in Plymouth where everyone knows everyone else.

In speaking of her two sons in Service, she writes that Bud, at present, has a broken arm, the result of a fall over a stretched rope in front of a building. Bill is expecting to go to China soon.
He recently flew to New Delhi and visited Elmer Parale's grave.
She wishes to be remembered to all her loved friends and keeps in touch with them via the Advertiser. Best wishes are extended to Mrs. Brown in her new position as president of the Blue Star Mothers.

NURSES' AIDS

Misses Ruth Willet and Donna
Jean Curren were nurses' aides at the Willard Municipal hospital on Sunday.

REMOVED TO VET HOSPITAL

George Hackett was taken to the Breckville Veteran hospital
Friday in the McQuate ambulance.

Around the Square

Before definitely deciding to enter business here Mr. Ruggles visited around the square for a couple of weeks. . . . Wednesday and Saturday nights . . . he kept his ears open for any kind of conversation . . . and all that he heard was good. Mr. Suttles state:
"I listened in . . . not eavesdropping by any means . . . to all kinds of people . . . and I never heard anyone 'gripe about this or that,' but in every topic of conversation I had with people, they spoke highly of the community and the farming elements . . . industry . . . the weather . . .

and the town. I found no back-biting of any kind, and after two weeks
I was convinced that this was an ideal place for me to bring my family." And so you see, folks, it's just like I thought it was 20 years ago, when our good friend and neighbor Sol Spear, first walked up to me, a stranger in Plymouth then, and said: "My friend, if you live in Plymouth five years, you'll live here the rest of your life." I had a high opinion of Plymouth then, and I do now . . . so do the rest of us.

HARRY SHUTT and son Jimmy started off the Fourth of July in a very fine spirit, but I'd venture to say they didn't wind up in the same way . . . with lad-des and buckets they began washing the store front of Shutt's Grocery, and you know that that it-work!

"KNEE HIGH CORN" by July fourth was a reality with J. E.
Nimmons. Besides attending his duties at the bank, plus bond selling and other activities, "Chub" has found time to keep weeds out of his Victory garden, and as a result he has a garden that will pay off. Gee, sometimes I wish I were a banker.

JUST A NOTE to the folks on Shelby route 1 in the vicinity of Ganges. We're happy to announce that Mr. Fred Brunn will contribute her time in getting the news in and around Ganges.
You folks in that vicinity can help her out by sending your news to her, and the Advertiser will appreciate your cooperation.
Maybe one of these days The Advertiser will be on sale at Bly's general store in Ganges.
