

THREE BOYS ESCAPE DEATH AS AUTO IS DEMOLISHED IN WRECK

Mishap Sends Trio to Hospital; Norman Ganzhorn Suffering From Double Skull Fracture.

Robert Hampton and Paul Reeder, two of the boys injured in an auto wreck Monday afternoon, were released from the Willard hospital, Wednesday, where they had been under observation.

Norman Ganzhorn, who suffered a skull fracture, is showing improvement, according to a report given out by his physician, Dr. D. B. Faust, late Wednesday afternoon.

Three Plymouth youths miraculously escaped death at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when the car in which they were riding plunged from the highway and plowed down an embankment along the road for a distance of over 150 feet.

As a result of the mishap, Norman Ganzhorn, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ganzhorn, was rushed to the Willard hospital, suffering from a double fracture of the skull, while Paul Reeder, another occupant of the machine, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Bob Hampton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hampton, who was driving his father's Chevrolet coach, suffered severe and painful cuts about his head and face.

The mishap occurred Monday afternoon on the Fenner road, west of Plymouth. The boys had been driving up and down the road, when the car went over a small hill in front of the old Henry Trauger home, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Predmore and family. It is stated that as the car mounted the top of the hill, a chicken flew up in front of the car and young Hampton raised his arm in front of his face.

At this instance the machine left the road, dropping into a two-foot ditch along the right-of-way, and travelled a distance of one hundred and fifty feet when it struck a culvert. The impact threw the machine clear out of the ditch, which at this point had four-foot depth, rolling the car over in the middle of the highway and finally landing on the opposite side of the road. The terrific impact pushed the engine back under the front seat, and made a total wreck out of the car.

Immediately following the wreck Dr. D. B. Faust was called and he rushed young Hampton and Reeder to the Willard hospital, and the McQuate ambulance removed young Ganzhorn, the most seriously injured of the trio to the Willard hospital.

This is the second auto wreck reported locally since gas rationing was lifted last week end.

Candidates For Village Offices

The final filing date of candidates for the coming November election shows a comparatively small selection among the village and township offices to be filled this fall.

The list of candidates from Plymouth, which is non-partisan, reveals only two in the race for the mayorship, Joe Lasch and Carroll Robinson. In the line-up for village councilman the following ticket has been filed: H. V. Ruckman, L. E. Byrnes, M. H. Burns, P. F. Mosier, H. S. Trauger, W. J. Briggs, Robert Fogleson and Jud A. Morrison. Fetters and Ruckman are the only two of the present council who are running for re-election.

For the village clerkship, H. H. Farrar and L. E. Byrnes are the candidates to fill the vacancy the first of the year in this position. James Rhine who has held the office for seven years, will go out at the termination of his office on December 31.

L. Z. Davis, present treasurer of the corporation, is again running for office, and he is being opposed on the ticket by Mrs. Audrey Lippus.

Neal Shepherd, who has served on the Board of Public Affairs for several years, is not running again for office. However, B. R. Scott has announced his candidacy for re-election, as well as Harold Cashman. Two other candidates are running for this office, P. W. Thomas and Ida Ciesio. This is a three-man board with one vacancy to be filled.

Plymouth village school board is composed of five members, W. W. Smith, John F. Root, Geo. Heisler, president of the board, Vaughn Smith and T. R. Ford. Those filing for Plymouth township trustees are: O. I. Dick, Virgil Baird and Floyd Steele.

As for the new officials to be elected in November, there is considerable work ahead of them. Plans are in progress for a sewage disposal plant in Plymouth, and plans for the new street and building restrictions, possibly removed within the next few months, there is much work to be done in presenting plans of the new school to the taxpayers and its completion.

The coming year will bring before the school board the new building program, which has been set up due to the existing war conditions. With these restrictions out of the way, the new board will have to devise ways and means for getting the program started, and the building restrictions, possibly removed within the next few months, there is much work to be done in presenting plans of the new school to the taxpayers and its completion.

Among the local people who attended the Delphi ice cream festival Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ford Davis, Mrs. and Mrs. Clay Hulbert, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Mrs. Lena Der, Mrs. Iva Gleason and son Karl.

Global Destruction on Two Fronts

MOODY SPONSORER SERIOUSLY INJURED IN FALL FROM WAGON

Accident Almost Costs Life of Well Known Farmer When Buried Beneath Load of Wheat.

A late report Wednesday afternoon on the condition of Moody Sponseller, who is confined at the Shelby hospital, indicates that he remains about the same, showing a slight improvement. Mr. Sponseller is suffering from three fractured ribs, and also a fracture of the collarbone, as well as chest injuries.

His son, Carl, who has served for several years in the Southwest Pacific, was notified by the Red Cross of his father's accident, and he is expected to arrive home this Thursday afternoon.

When a wagon loaded with wheat shocks toppled over, Moody Sponseller, well-known farmer in this vicinity, almost lost his life as he was completely buried beneath the pile of wheat. The mishap occurred Friday afternoon at 5:45 while a group of thrashers were at work on the Emerson Dickson farm, located about five miles southwest of Plymouth, and operated by Walter Holmes.

The thrashing outfit of George Stroup had been at the Dickson farm for the day, and was just finishing up the day's work when the accident occurred. Mr. Sponseller was riding atop a load of wheat, and as the wagon passed over an incline, it is believed the rear wheel struck a "niggerhead" causing the front end of the wagon to tilt, throwing the load of wheat off the back. It is thought Mr. Sponseller sensed the danger that faced him, and jumped just as the wagon toppled. In some manner, the hay ladders which were loaded onto the wagon, fell to the ground first, and in the fall Mr. Sponseller struck them, followed by the tremendous weight of the wheat. This intense pressure, it is believed, caused the fracturing of several ribs, and other possible injuries.

Seconds after the accident, fellow-workers clamored to the pile of wheat to rescue Mr. Sponseller. Minutes seemed like hours to the frantic group before the injured man was found well at the bottom of the wheat pile.

The loaded wagon was within forty feet of the barn when it tipped. When Mr. Sponseller was removed from the wheat, he was unconscious and the extent of his injuries were not known. Dr. C. L. Hannum was summoned, and the injured man was removed to the Shelby hospital where he was given treatment.

There were approximately fifteen thrashers and neighbors at work Friday when the mishap occurred, among them being Carl Dininger, George Stroup, Beryl and Sam Matthews and others. The many friends in Plymouth and community regret to hear of Mr. Sponseller's misfortune and trust that he will have an early recovery.

BUYS HOME IN WILLARD

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Carnahan, Ripley-town farmer, has purchased the Elder home in Willard and hopes to move his family there soon.

Ground was broken for the home in 1933 and Mr. and Mrs. Elder moved into it on their first wedding anniversary. Mr. Elder, a B. & O. passenger conductor, died in 1929. He was in railroad service for nearly 50 years. Mrs. Elder is now making her home with her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Tracy at the Willard hotel.

The sale was made through the Dr. E. McKenney real estate agency. The consideration is understood to have been in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Shoes Without Points

Under a special OPA order No. 17, the Plymouth Shoe Store announces that they can dispose of more than 100 pairs of men's and women's oxfords, stomp free. Harold Cashman, proprietor, points out that he is offering more than one hundred pairs of these shoes at exceptionally low prices.

The sale does not include children's shoes, and ends on September 29th. In the women's shoes, Mr. Cashman states that they are available in white, brown and black, in medium and low heels; and for men, white shoes only are available. All point-free shoes are made of leather, and this is an opportunity to get that extra pair you've been wanting for some time.

Big Attendance Outlook At Fair

Norwalk, O.—With the world once more at peace and with many war-time restrictions lifted, including gasoline rationing, officials of the Huron county fair are looking forward to record breaking crowds at the twenty-third annual fair to be held here Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Aug. 28-29-30-31.

The fair will get underway Tuesday evening, Aug. 29, when the annual saddle horse show will be presented. A record number of saddle horses from northern Ohio are expected to compete for the many awards that will be given in the 12 classes to show.

The fair begins its full day program of activity Wednesday morning, Aug. 29, with the class A horse pulling contest. In the afternoon there will be horse races, pony races and free acts. Wednesday evening there will be the cattle show parade and additional free acts.

Wednesday has also been designated as "Norwalk Day" at the fair and local merchants and business men are co-operating in making up a list of awards to be presented during the afternoon and evening.

Judging in the various departments will start Wednesday morning and continue through Thursday until completed.

On Thursday afternoon, regarded as "Huron County Day" at the fair each year, there will be a three-act program of horse races plus pony races and the free acts. Thursday evening there will be the draft horse parade and free acts, all staged in front of the grand stand.

Friday morning the horse pulling contest for class B teams will be held while in the afternoon there will be the final series of horse races.

The WLS Circus, featuring the famed White Horse Troupe, will close the fair program Friday evening with two performances. The White Horse Troupe recently featured in Life magazine, played before two record-breaking audiences last season, and because of their fine show and popularity, were brought back for a return engagement this year.

This year, as in the past, fair officials have obtained outstanding free acts and midway attractions to amuse the thousands of fair patrons.

Along the midway fair goes will find plenty of amusement. The Gooding company of Columbus will again provide the various rides, including a miniature train, kiddie auto ride, merry-go-round, ferris wheel, octopus and roller-plane. A number of side-shows will complete the midway lineup.

EDDIE RAMSEY is busier than the proverbial bee—making contacts with Community club members on the sale of theater tickets for the Boy Scout benefit show next Tuesday evening. If you haven't already purchased one, tickets can be bought at the Peoples National bank, Brown & Miller hardware store, Plymouth shoe store, the Advertiser, Glover Farm market, etc. Same price, 30c for adults and 10c for children, with the entire proceeds going to the Scouts.

MARRIED on Feb. 5, 1924 in Mansfield, Irene L. Benedict of Shiloh, is asking for a divorce from her husband, Merton A. Benedict. They have one child, Ellen C. Moore, of Shelby Rt. 2, is also asking a divorce from Chas. E. Moore of the same address. The suit is based on grounds of neglect and cruelty. They were married here Aug. 3, 1943.

FARMERS in this section of the state don't want to overlook the Farmers' Picnic which will be held in Plymouth on Sept. 9th. H. H. Fackler states that he has a line-up of good speakers and a program that will appeal to the farmers, as well as some "inside" dope. Plan to attend!

IT COULD BE the prelude to a home building boom! Anyhow, Donald Shaver has begun building a new home on Maple street, with the foundation dug and tile being already laid.

BILL MILLER was so elated over the lifting of gas rationing that he immediately took advantage to "fill her up", and he was disappointed! Only one gallon was required to fill his tank. Then there was the motorist who drove into a filling station and exultantly told an attendant to "fill 'er up." The attendant complied. As the motorist drove away, the gas tank, unused to the strain, dropped to the pavement.

OFFICIALS OF THE United Nations Clothing Drive announce that "It is definitely customary for the clothing drive to have two feet." The somewhat unprecedented statement was caused by the donation of 2,000 unmatched shoes to a clothing collection being conducted by the organization. All going to prove that "People are funny."

FRANKIE CARLE evidently has a lot to say about the lifting of gas rationing? Anyhow, the largest crowd ever assembled at Crystal Beach was Sunday evening when Carle and his orchestra played for the crowd. Plymouth was well represented there by the "young fry" who were really thrilled within an inch of their lives to sit at his feet, and a few Green County boys were just as thrilled to get home, away from the smoke-filled, mixed crowd, all bent on having a wonderful time. Oh, another case of being "born thirty years too soon."

THEY SAY a vacation is just a change. It could be! Beryl Miller, taking a week's vacation from his work at the hardware store, and enjoying himself fixing up the basement floor at his home and assisting in adding a sun room to the main house. Then there is E. Brown, Gas Company employee, who is also vacationing, and has trimmed up everything "trimmable" in his back yard, and also helping the manpower shortage at the Advertiser office.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: If you are looking for a helping hand you'll find two of them at the end of your arms.

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS

Veteran of Many Invasions

S-Sgt. Clair Foraker, veteran of the 101st and 82nd Airborne Divisions, came to the Plymouth, Mrs. Clyde Foraker of East High street, a short synopsis of the invasions in which he took part. He speaks briefly of his part and leaves to the imagination just how terrible the whole affair was but the casualties were extremely high and both he and his mother count themselves lucky that he is one of the few surviving members.

The letter follows:

July 20, 1945

Dear Mother,

I received a letter from you today and was very glad to hear you stay well. This leaves me well and getting along fine. I just finished writing to a friend of mine. He married one of Rosalie's girl friends. He was taken prisoner in Normandy. There was one of the boys from our company in the same prison camp.

He was released on the 17th of April and arrived home on the 18th of May. Not bad time but he had to report back to the army the 18th of this month.

Mother, you ask me in one of your letters to tell you some of the places I have been. I can't tell you all of them now for it would take too long. We left the States the 5th of Sept. '43. We had quite a trip coming over. We spent the ship at 45 days. We spent two weeks in Newfoundland. We had trouble with our ship so we waited there for another. We landed at Liverpool, England, and from there we went to Reading, England. We were stationed in barracks there right in town. That was a very nice place and I had some good times there. We were in the 101st Airborne Division then. We stayed there for six months. Then our battalion was sent to Leister, England to join the 82nd Division.

That was where I met Kuhnle the first time in over a year. We stayed there a little over six months. We drilled hard all the time we were in England. Reading was 45 miles from London. Leister was 90 miles. We went in on the invasion of Normandy in gliders from England. We fought for 47 days there and then came back to Leister for replacements. We needed them very badly for we only had forty-two men left in our company. Then we left England again and went in on the invasion of Holland. We lost a lot of men there again.

Since then we have had our camp at Sisonne, France. We left there a few days before Christmas for the bulge breakthrough. We saw some rough days there and lost a lot more men. Since then we went through Germany till the war ended. We then returned to Sisonne when we left Germany. Now we are in a little town in France by the name of Epinal. We have nice barracks here and get along OK. I will wait till I get home and tell you the places I was in in Germany and what I saw. That is all for tonight so I will say good-bye.

Difficulties in the life of people or nations to which no one knows an answer are designated as being "questions." The present life meets with many unanswered questions regarding the outward and inward life. Most important of all is the question concerning eternal life. How may we obtain it? Pictures
On the Service page of the Mansfield News-Journal Sunday, the picture of Charles E. Hockenberry, husband of Mrs. Dorothy Fetters Hockenberry of Bell St., appeared. He recently finished four months of naval training at the Naval armory in Detroit, Mich., following initial boot training at Great Lakes, Ill. He is a graduate of Lexington high school and was employed at the Washington house prior to entering the service. He has two small sons and a new daughter.

The Advertiser is in receipt of a very nice picture showing Lt. Robert C. Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Lindsey of 32 Plymouth Street checking over a list of study subjects for enlisted personnel. R. C. is at the Washington, France, where the 529th Field Artillery Battalion is awaiting redeployment. BLACK VELVET — Evening glamour with the long skirt is coming back with a bang this year and there's nothing more flattering than black velvet. Joan Tompkins (NBC's "Young Wilder Brown") wears this off-the-shoulder, slim-waist version with white, Venice-type lace sleeves designed by Gail Chapman.

YOKE 'N BELT — Yokes and belts are the fashion trend in coats and Betty Rhodes (NBC's "Meet Me at Parky") shows this one in soft yellow wool. The round yoke and fullness above the belt are typical as are the full sleeves and deep, tight cuffs. Erma Beal, the designer, adds a high standing collar with a flair.

MUST BE DEDICATED TO GOOD OF MANKIND

"We must constitute ourselves trustees of this new force," spoke President Truman in referring to the atomic bomb, "to prevent its misuse, and to turn it into channels of service to mankind."

"It is an awful responsibility which has come to us."

"We thank God that it has come to us instead of our enemies, and we pray that He will guide us to use it in His ways and for His purpose."
President Truman thus expressed not only the hope of all America, but of the civilized world. Scientists report that it may take years before the principles of the atomic bomb can be successfully applied for peace industrial development. Once it's industrial use has been advanced, no power on earth can keep the knowledge from any nation. It will be a big job to see that no nation can utilize it in future wars.

POSTWAR BOOM IN AVIATION UNDER WAY

One of the latest announcements concerning peacetime aviation comes from Tennessee, where a contract was let for 125 four-place planes for civilian sale.

Other plans call for the construction of 3,000 to 5,000 new airports and the enlargement of many more. Surveys seem to indicate that rural dwellers will account for nearly sixty per cent of the light personal planes, while another ten per cent will be purchased by suburban residents.

Sale of planes is to be financed on terms similar to prewar auto purchase contracts, third down and balance in monthly payments. The American Bankers association has issued a manual, "Aircraft Financing," in which it is claimed that the fundamentals do not differ greatly from those in the automobile business.

"HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

IDEAS HELPED WIN THE WAR

HERE's something that may be of help to you. And that's what to do with your idea of something that may be used in winning the peace.

I visited the other day an organization that welcomed anything, or any idea, that had to do with winning the war. And you know where that is! It's the Victory Center, New York City.

It's a clearing house for war-winning ideas; doesn't make a penny on them. The idea came from Nathaniel Singer, who is in the optical business in New York; and he puts the money to run the office.

This is the way Victory Center works: when an idea comes in, three experts examine it. If it seems worth while, it is sent on to the proper agency. This may be some department in Washington, or it may be some civilian organization somewhere in the United States. It sorts the little potatoes from the big potatoes before passing the big ones on to where they'll do the most good.

The head examiner is Dr. Theodore Abel, professor of sociology at Columbia university, New York.

I asked Mr. Singer what kind of ideas Victory Center wanted and he said, "Tell your readers not to send in crackpot ideas."

One man sent in this idea: that the United States finance the war with a national lottery. He said that the Louisiana Purchase was paid for by public lottery, and that the idea is just as practicable now as it was then. He was slightly mistaken about the manner of paying for Louisiana.

One man sent in this, and it's a good one; that every life raft be equipped with a kite which could be sent up to attract attention of aviators to the men adrift.

Rochester, N. Y., held a Heroes' Day celebration and bought war bonds with the money taken in. Victory Center liked the idea and wrote letters to 9,000 chambers of commerce throughout the United States suggesting they get their own town or city to adopt the idea.

A woman suggested that neighborhood groups put on home talent shows and turn the profits into war bonds.

tions by brute force, it contains the nucleus through which these nations may be resurrected.

WE HOPE THAT our president will insist upon giving the people of the smaller nations that have been submerged, an opportunity to resurrect and form their own governments. We hope that he will resurrect and demand that the "Four Freedoms" be put into operation.

IF HE WILL DO THAT, then I am sure the charter will work for the betterment of the world. The president is in a position to do this because of the smaller nations who will join him. And when that happens, none of the "Big Five" or "Big Three" will be able to long resist that human and universal desire.

UNFORTUNATELY, just how the world is still full of hatred. Before there can be a perfect world, this hatred must be abolished. All religious and racial hatreds must be annihilated. Unfortunately, much of this hatred is fomented and spread by minorities, rather than majorities. These can least afford it.

AGAIN, THE SOONER we learn that this catastrophe, through which we have just passed, is not the making of any one or two nations, the sooner we realize that we are not entirely without blame and that our wings are not altogether white, the better for the future of our nation and the world.

LET US NOT FORGET that this was the most brutal, the most inhuman and the most terrible war ever waged on the part of all nations. Let us remember that no nation spared women or children. Let us not forget that some of those who talked the loudest were the ones who refused to establish neutral zones for women and children.

HISTORY WILL RECORD this war as the most fiendish, on the part of all nations, that the world has ever witnessed. Let us hope that the pendulum will now return and out of it will come the feeling of fellowship, and the realization that the human race had a common origin, and that the doctrine of decency and justice must prevail.

TAX DRONES

WE READ considerable about co-ops today; they are looming larger in the field of business. They have grown rapidly because, on the theory that they were non-profit organizations, they have been given many tax exemptions and relief from countless other legislative restrictions which are heaped upon highly taxed business endeavors.

THERE IS NO REASON why individuals should not buy and sell commodities at no profit if they so desire. There is no reason why they should not band together in cooperative organizations to improve marketing conditions of members and try to assure themselves better prices so long as they are subject to laws applying to other business.

BUT CO-OPS today are in the same category with the gigantic tax-exempt Federal power systems. Both do business running into millions and millions of dollars annually. Both are granted tax exemptions and public subsidies in many forms. Both tend to kill private tax-paying business which supports government.

NO BUSINESS in the United States can object to legitimate competition. But every business in the United States which pays taxes to maintain government, should protest against every form of tax-subsidized competition. Every government power plant and every co-op that is tax exempt enjoys all the privileges and advantages of good roads, schools, police protection, fire protection, the security afforded by our army and navy, and every other advantage of government which business and individuals are taxed to provide.

IT IS UNTHINKABLE that Congress and State legislatures will much longer tolerate the tax-exempt co-ops in our midst. If they do, other business should study ways and means to so change its methods of operation that it will come within the tax-exempt privileges. Then, who would support government? Only the individual whose income tax would be raised higher and higher as government lost its revenue from tax-exempt business.

Ford Announces Opening Of Stamp-Buying Campaign

STAMPS ON MAIL SAVE TIME: Assisting in a campaign urging rural patrons of post offices to put stamps on outgoing mail, Mrs. J. Paul Myers, St. Helena, Oregon, national president of the Women's Auxiliary of the National Association of Rural Letter Carriers, and Stewardess Emily Foster of United Air Lines examine a complimentary stamp holder being distributed by rural letter carriers.

A campaign urging rural patrons of post offices throughout the country to place stamps on all mail was announced today by D. J. Ford, secretary of the Rural Letter Carriers of Richland County.

Mr. Ford said one of the greatest problems of the rural carriers is failure of their patrons to place stamps on outgoing mail. "When farmers place unstamped letters or cards, along with money for postage, in their mail boxes the money often becomes lost and the letter is delayed," said Ford. "Many times the carrier, rather than delay the mail, pays the postage from his own pocket."

"In any event there is a delay because the carrier must buy the stamps and place them on the letters after his return to the post office."

Through the cooperative efforts of the United Air Lines and the Rural Letter Carriers Association, complimentary stamp holders are being distributed to rural patrons to encourage them to keep sufficient stamps on hand for all letters. The attractive holder includes space for envelopes and a pencil, and cites the advantages of air speed in the delivery of mail.

The rural carriers of the country are urging the cooperation of all their patrons with the reminder that "stamps on mail save time."

They're Hot On The Downbeat

Van Damme And His Lads Play Modern Music With The Accent On Sophistication

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—To choose a program at the listening end of radio by name alone sometimes can be misleading. Starting with the name, "The Art Van Damme Quartet," a listener might expect to hear seamy chamber music played by pianoforte, cello, violin and flute.

But in this instance, the instrumentation of the quartet gives away the players' motives at once. Art Van Damme, manager of the foursome, plays the accordion. Then there is Lew Skallinder, listed as bass fiddle. Max Mariah plays the drums and Chuck Calzaretta is vibraphonist.

The illusion of classical respectability is utterly blasted on the downbeat. Art's boys don't want to play. They're hot from the word "Go."

Their modern, sophisticated "hep" music is heard on NBC's "Silhouettes and Cameos" show, (Thursday, 8:00 p. m.)

NBC RADIO NOTES

It's not often that music from a current Broadway hit finds its way to the NBC Symphony schedule. Yet, in the fall, Dr. Frank Black is planning to play Richard Rodgers' "The Carousel Waltzes" on the "General Motors Symphony of the Air" program.

The "Duke of Paducah," Whittier Ford, featured comedian on NBC's "Grand Old Opry," and Dave Murray, his top writer, now a GI stationed in Hollywood, have completed a book, "These Shoes Are Killin' Me," for fall publication.

The NBC Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Arturo Toscanini, launches its ninth season with the opening of the "General Motors Symphony of the Air" Winter Series, on Sunday, Oct. 28.

Roy Acuff, singing star of NBC's "Grand Old Opry," and his Smokey Mountain Boys and Girls will go to Hollywood early in October to appear in a new Republic picture, tentatively titled "Night Train to Memphis."

SWINGERS—Reading from top to bottom—Art Van Damme, accordionist-manager of the quartet; Lew Skallinder, bass; Max Mariah, drums; and Chuck Calzaretta, vibraphonist. They swing it on NBC's "Silhouettes and Cameos" musical show.

Music For Mopping

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Music to work by! That's Fred Waring's aim for his early morning listeners on his new NBC series (Mon.-Fri. 11:00 a. m.)

A short while ago, a woman wrote in asking Fred if he could help her with a matrimony problem concerning her wooden banister. The woman claimed that every morning she had a terrible time trying to dust it.

Fred rose to the challenge by composing a special piece for orchestra and dust mop. The result was broadcast from coast-to-coast on a recent program.

Third Week in WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—All phases of the problem of reconversion are being given prior consideration in the War Relocation Authority. Other work has been put aside in order that various departments can catch up with the speed of the war and peace developments.

The over-all picture, as gathered at Washington as the war comes to an end, shows: Some five million workers will be laid off at war plants. While some will retire from the labor field, post-war industry will be able to employ most of the balance.

Army and navy has halted work involving more than 26 billion dollars. The war has cost nearly three hundred billion dollars, in addition to the quarter million dead—a total casualty list of more than one million.

While the treasury department does not want a radical cut in taxes, it looks as if congress will make substantial reductions. Government spending will be reduced, but will continue far above the prewar era.

War Production board will expedite manufacture of civilian goods, aid of some sort will be provided by the government during reconversion.

Travel conditions will remain serious for some months. With more than five million men being discharged during next 12 months, the army transportation demands will remain great in addition to closing of war plants will see thousands of families moving back to their former homes. Long delayed travel holidays will be in order, placing additional tax on transportation.

The 1945 food crop will be one of the largest in history—but rationing of food will continue for some time. Food shipments to Europe will continue.

Time on big scale. Other rationing will be dropped as soon as possible. Manpower controls will be revoked immediately.

Congress to return in session September 4th, to tackle these problems. May pass law ending selective service at once.

Price control will be lifted in individual items, as soon as civilian production will prevent inflationary pressure.

Accelerated production of electrical supplies is to be one of the most outstanding early results noted.

Special supplies will be made available to those companies which can start production immediately, without delay caused by reconversion. Some will be able to start without manpower layoff.

Reconversion blueprints for the aircraft industry have already been drawn. Production has actually started on civilian planes—soon to be on the market at reasonable prices.

The adaptation of the atomic bomb to civilian industrial use is something to occur NOT in the near future. Months, or even years, will be required.

The long-looked-for television is an early possibility. These programs are being planned in advance, and television and FM broadcasting from stratosphere airplanes cruising six miles in the air. Permits and equipment are promised in the near future.

Radar, marvel of the war, will find many uses in peace. Airports will utilize radar to bring planes in safely.

Telephone development promises in the future include direct long distance dialing. Individuals in New York will be able to dial specific party in San Francisco or elsewhere.

Doings In Congress

By CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM LEMKE

THE LIGHTS HAVE gone on again all over the world. Nations are recovering their sanity. Their insane spree cost the lives of 100,000,000—many of them women and children. It caused 1,300,000 casualties of our own. We rejoice with those whose sons, brothers or husbands are not among that 1,300,000. We sympathize with those whose sons, brothers or husbands are among that 1,300,000. We feel for the children who never again or never will see their fathers.

LET US HOPE that this is the last war. But for ten men, World War II would not have taken place. Let us hope that never again will the world witness a handful of would-be justifiers that will be able to plunge it into war.

LET US HOPE that the United Nations charter will be the instrument through which all people will eventually get justice. In spite of the fact that this charter sanctions the subjugation and liquidation of smaller na-

CANCER FIGHT GETS GO SIGN

PROJECTS APPROVED; SET UP PERMANENT TRI-CITY ORGANIZATION.

Approval of two projects to aid in the fight against cancer has been received from the national and state authorities for the Shelby-Plymouth-Shiloh unit of the American Cancer society. With that approval, plans were announced for the completion of the campaign for funds and for the purchase of equipment needed in cancer detection.

In addition, the granting of measures to help combat the dread disease gave the green light to the setting up of a permanent organization. At an organizational meeting recently held at the office of the Ohio Seamless Tube company in Shelby, M. E. Berkley was named president of the board of directors. Others approved were Mrs. Ross Sipes, secretary; Mrs. M. M. Moore, assistant secretary; C. L. Beal, treasurer; Mrs. David Kelley, first vice president; Robert T. Green, second vice president; and Mrs. E. R. Haines, of Plymouth, third vice president.

The advisory board shall consist of Richard Dalton, W. B. Kuhn, C. G. Keck, Noel Smith and David Kelley. Ray DuJenahaver was added to the campaign committee.

The organization authorized the purchase of a microtome and auxiliary equipment to be installed in the Memorial hospital for the detection of cancerous tissue. The equipment will enable a pathologist to make immediate diagnosis of suspected tissue during an operation. At present such tissue must be sent to a clinic and upwards of ten days are required before a diagnosis can be secured. The proposed microtome will allow immediate diagnosis and advisable surgery or other medical procedure without further delay or another operation.

Miss Josephine Hoover, superintendent of the Shelby hospital, was present at the meeting to explain the role the machine might have in cancer detection.

"VICTORY DAY" SON

One of those 'once in a life-time' announcements arrived in Plymouth the first of the week advising local relatives of a "Victory Day" son to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tallos of New York. Mrs. Tallos is a niece of the late Mrs. John Fleming of Plymouth and the new heir won't have much difficulty in remembering either the day or his name, Victor John, the John is in memory of his Uncle John Fleming of Plymouth.

The announcement is quite unique, the front page calling "Attention!" followed by the pledge of allegiance, while the second page says "Not bad for an American Citizen who just arrived V-J Day at 11:20 p. m., who weighs only 6 pounds and 14 ounces and whose name is Victor John Pallos."

BOOK REVIEW OF ROBINSON CRUSOE USED BY SLAVE CLARK

This is the true story of the adventures of George Tweed, R. M. 1/c, USN on Jap-held Guam. When Tweed landed on Guam in 1939, he was surprised to see many automobiles on the smooth macadam streets; the comfortable-looking concrete homes and the modern business places and theaters. The capital "Agaña" was like any city its size in America. Practically all the natives speak English as the American schools had been established there in 1898, when the island came under United States control. The story opens with the invasion of the Japs on Guam and how Tweed who was a radio man for the Navy escaped with one of his friends into the bush of Guam. Soon he was able to forging for himself by night and hiding by day. There was a price on his head and search parties beat the bush for him. Friendly natives helped him with shelter and food and clothes, and some of them suffered arrest and torture for it. In return he helped them too. They brought him a broken down radio which he repaired and got them news broadcasts from San Francisco. With their help he wrote a one page underground newspaper, "The Guam Eagle" by which he spread the truth and the hope that the Japs might be defeated.

Tweed differed from a Robinson Crusoe in that he built his equipment without the benefit of nails, using only a pocket knife and a hand saw and machete furnished by the natives. He fashioned a crude lamp, a lantern and an alarm system for his hide out.

So Tweed held out for month after month until he was rescued by American warships preparing to recapture the Island. The book is very interesting as it throws much light on the character of the Pacific enemy and also upon the Island of Guam as well as its natives, the Chamorros, to whom Tweed owes his life.

The book is available at the Plymouth Library.
