

Plymouth's Operating Revenue Continues To Be Reduced By Both Richland-Huron Counties

In spite of drastic increases of the state sales tax revenue which showed considerable gain for 1945 and continues to plunge upward for 1946, Plymouth is getting a sharp reduction in competition to its apportionment of other counties.

Not so many years ago village officials were faced with a real shortage in operating revenue, and it was discovered that Richland county had failed to pay one dollar into the treasury here for three consecutive years. At that time, Richland county was sending up a mere $600.00 per year. The financial situation was brought to the attention of the budget commission of both counties, and Plymouth was scheduled to receive $1,700 per year from each county.

Now with sales tax revenue on the increase, and operating expenses in our own municipality having increased considerably, Huron county once more has cut the village down to a sum of $65.00 per month or a total of $1,940 for the year. This, mind you, is for 1946, which is destined to be one of the biggest sales tax years in many a moon.

In the meantime, Richland county, in its 1946 budget for Plymouth, has signified that it will send into the village treasurer, a total of $1,917.00 during 1946 out of the sales tax fund. This will make a total of $3,857 for 1946, whereas during the years just before the war, the village was receiving a total of $3,400.00.

1946 Budget Reduced

Undoubtedly the budget commission of both counties feel that Plymouth does not need any additional revenue, but local conditions tell a different story. In making up the estimated budget for 1946 the total cost of operation for the village was $18,000.00. The approved budget, when received from the budget commission, showed that we could expect only $15,366.39. Thus, our operating revenue will suffer an additional cut of $2,633.61 for the current year. With the loss of $400.00 in sales tax money, and the reduction of funds in the 1946 budget, Plymouth will have to cut its operating expenses more than $1,000.00 for this year.

Due to the fact that the town needs a fire house, a new fire truck; increased labor costs, village officials have been trying to build up a reserve fund of a couple of thousand dollars, anticipating these improvements. There is every reason to believe that the town's estimated budget for 1946 was sent in, showing a balance of approximately $3,000.00 in the general fund, but the budget commission felt that the town did not consist of all its revenue for 1945 and subsequently slashed the budget for 1946.

Why Be In Two Counties?

Every resident in Plymouth can readily see, after a study of tax incomes, why the village should be in one county or the other. It would simply not give the tax situation, but it would give Plymouth a better representation in either of the counties in which it may cast its lot. It is needless to say, as one of the county officials remarked some time ago, "He who hollers the loudest gets the most." And being that two counties have hollered to do a lot of "hollering" to hold its own.

Plymouth can boast proudly of its village officials, for they are needed in every respect. Every dollar that is spent within the village gets value received. Perhaps the mayor and council were wise, in declining an invitation to the budget commission of both counties to come into town and look over the situation.

Let them see the dire need of a firehouse; let them see the old 1919 model fire engine we are having to use; let them take a look at the village quarters. Let them see the payroll for the month... the day of 40c an hour labor is gone, but perhaps they do not realize this.

The solution, and the only one, is to start a real movement, even if by virtue of the Legislature to move the village into one county or the other. The population is tired of being boogied by politicians who have no interest locally, because WE ARE ON CUT COUNTY LINE. IT'S TIME TO ACT, and 1946 should be the right year.

A Fine Job Of Ditching Done On The Sponseller Farm By Use Of Explosives

A major ditching project was completed Monday of this week on the Moody Sponseller farm, which reclaimed more than ten acres of land at less than $15 per acre.

The use of dynamite was employed in the ditching work, the first of its kind in this section, and under the supervision of Brooke Elder of The A. W. C. C. Cleveland.

The field, which lies north of Mr. Sponseller's home, was gradually being abandoned, due to a stream, fed by a spring, the bed having gradually filled to where the water was running at large over a goodly portion of the field. For the past several years Mr. Sponseller had contemplated having an excavator come in and do the job, but one hindrance after the other came about until last year when a Mansfield firm came in and gave an estimate on opening up the ditch. It was Tuesday of last week when the quarter mile long ditch. A few days later the representative returned and told Mr. Sponseller that he was afraid to haul in his 18-ton machine, due to the softness of the dirt.

So Mr. Sponseller started to look around for another way of opening up the ditch. He read an article in Farm Journal about the use of dynamite for such projects, and he made it a point to write the Austin Company of Cleveland. A few days later, a representative of the firm called, made a survey of the work, and gave an estimate on the cost.

Tuesday of last week nine men worked on the job seven hours, drilling holes 18-inches deep and 18-inches apart. The truth of the matter is, that the ground was so soft that it did not require drilling, but rather "punching" holes. A piece of pipe about of potatoes went to waste this past week in the vicinity of Grafton, N. D., according to a front page story in Monday's Chicago Herald-Examiner. The 4,000 carloads represents about 80,000 tons, which could have been used to help feed starving Europe, but rotted because government agencies failed to provide transportation facilities. Harley Kingsbury, prominent potato grower, charged that the AAA, the Commodity Credit Corporation and the ODT had ignored his pleas and scores of North Dakota potato growers for help. Kingsbury said that all potato growers had been exorted by federal agencies to produce maximum crops because of world food shortages. He pointed out 400 acres of potatoes after the AAA promised to take them at $2.00 per 100 pounds. But they never took them. All we have had to take our own losses. It is estimated that 40 per cent of the potato crop in North Dakota has gone to waste.

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK:

Say "Thank you" expressively, not just politely.

HEAVENLY STARS . . .

I had to make it a point to keep out of sight of Monica Bachrach, whom I saw last week, had kept her son Billy at home, due to a case of smallpox. I'm sorry, it was "chickenpox" and as far as I can learn, there hasn't been a case of smallpox in town.

EASTER WINDOWS

were rather scarce in Plymouth over the week-end, and the only one we observed which was devoted entirely to the holiday, was that one decorated in Harry's margin. Large goose and eggs were hand-painted, placed in baskets, surrounded by chicks. The color scheme of yellow and purple was used in the back. The window was a very attractive one and drew many favorable comments.

tells me that the village fathers slipped up on the proper name for a street sign. She points out that the name on the Woodland reads: "Portner and Woodlawn." Miss Portner states that the street is officially recorded as Woodland, and was so named because of its "odd" design from which a veritable forest expanded. In fact, Miss Portner suggested the name "Woodland," and the street's name was actually adopted as such. Correction, please, you street committee men.

GEORGE LIPPERT

does the unusual thing which retains him the high host at a dinner to a group of about twenty-five boys who were slated for the service in the Third Army. A majority of the same group came back home. Mr. Lippert is giving a dinner tonight at Bill & Anna's restaurant for almost the same group of men. There is no doubt but what the event tonight will be an enjoyable one, and a more congenial host cannot be found in this town. It is a good idea, George, and we hope it will become kind of an annual reunion for your boys.

EDDIE KLEKOTTA

is going to give Plymouth some real publicity this week-end in Buffalo. Eddie, who is quite a bowler, left Thursday with a group of Shelby bowlers for Quebec where they have entered the ABC bowling tournament, the biggest event of its kind in this area. Klekotta is going to wear one of the Silver King bowling shirts, and the name Silver King will be seen by thousands of fans. And, too, we hope to see a group of luck and brings home a pennant.

HONORS THIS WEEK

go to Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Dorian, who announce the birth of a new son last Thursday. The honor is mainly in the fact that they are their ninth child, although there are ten of the youngsters, one being adopted some seven years ago. Mr. Dorian was in the barbershop Monday afternoon getting a haircut and he was somewhat concerned about his gray hairs. Well, if I were Mr. Dorian, I would be a little more white. However, Dorian was all excited about the new youngster, almost a nine pounder. In the story, so to speak, the little fellow has all the other babies a big scared . . . looks just like a prize fighter, and consequently he is being christened Patrick Michael Dorian. MORE MONKEY BUSINESS

MR. PETRILLO, king-pin of the musicians' union, seems to be making a monkey out of congress—and maybe it is just as well.

For it's time congress learned that if it is going to pass any legislation to curb labor racketeering, it must aim at solving complete basic problems and not just chip off small, inconsequential chunks for legislative action.

The Lea bill, which is one of the few union-control measures ever passed by congress, does nothing but prevent Mr. Petrillo from forcing broadcasting studios to employ unneeded musicians. So naturally Mr. Petrillo, with an oversupply of musicians on his hands, simply turned to new pastures. He is now insisting that Hollywood studios employ three times the number of musicians they need.

Why congress didn't go to the bottom of the situation and provide that no union can force an employer to hire unnecessary workers, is hard to understand.

POOR LITTLE RICH BOYS

THE FBI has discovered a rather amazing bargain being offered by a time blast market operators—they are selling $1,000 bills for $750. Their purpose, however, is not altogether altruistic.

For the racketeers who have made millions out of the black market have suddenly discovered that it is almost impossible for them to get rid of their stolen money without being detected.

Because of orders issued by the FBI, they can't take these bills anywhere to be broken down into smaller denominations without giving a full report about themselves.

SWAMP MADE TO PAY

SOME years ago a young man in southern Indiana inherited a farm that was no good. It was swamp land; to walk across it you had to put on hip-boots and, as you walked, water made wiggles off ahead of you.

The people laughed at him for having such a white elephant dropped down on him. The land would not pay its taxes. The young man accepted their laughter as a challenge. He would see if he couldn't change the elephant's color. He would see what could be done with the swamp. The young man's name was Eugene C. Shireman.

One day he was talking to the local manager of a soap company and the man told him that his company was giving away a bowl of goldfish as a premium, but that they couldn't get enough goldfish. The moment he pronounced "goldfish," Mr. Shireman had an idea. He would raise goldfish.

He began to study goldfish; everything about them. He traveled a hundred miles to spend an hour with a goldfish expert. Finally, Mr. Shireman cleared out a pond and put in 200 goldfish. Half of them died. He tried again. More lived this time. He found a ready market for them and now began to hire help and raise goldfish in a more ambitious way. He converted more and more of the swamp land into goldfish land. Then he began to buy adjoining swamp land—land which the farmers said was good for nothing. He now has 1,500 acres and of this one-third is under water.

The business has now grown to the extent that he ships goldfish all over the world. He has become the goldfish king. If you have goldfish, the chances are that it or its ancestor came from his old swamp-farm at Martinsville, Indiana.

Doings in Congress

By CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM LEMKE

The House voted to extend the OPA for nine months. It pulled some of its poisonous fangs. It provided that no ceiling could be fixed below cost of production or cost of operation. No honest person can object to that. It provided that whenever production equals consumption, ceilings are to be removed. This, however, will not happen as long as the OPA functions.

The House bill provides for the gradual abolishment of subsidies. It raises the producers' ceiling to the same extent that subsidies are discontinued. This will give the farmer the benefit. The farmer knows that subsidies are a fraud and a deception.

The OPA employs hundreds of super-snoopers chasing around the country spying on, and interfering with, the people who transport the nation's business and who do the nation's work. It insults the small businessman and challenges the farmer's and working man's integrity.

It has issued thousands of edicts—many man-made laws. It has fined and collected millions of dollars from innocent people, not because they violated any law, but because they became confused among a bewilderingment of edicts. It has filled prisons with innocent men and women who violated no law, but who fell among OPA extortionists.

The farmer was fined for buying or selling secondhand farm machinery. Business people have been fined or imprisoned for not obeying contradictory rules or regulations. They have been illegally and dishonestly coerced into confessing judgments and injunctions. These judgments and injunctions were not obtained by trial in a court room, but by threats of the power of the Federal Government. This, in the presence of counsel, judge or jury but in the individual's private place of business or home.

We know that the OPA bungled the lumber and building material production. It bungled the GI out of a home. We know that it bungled us out of butter, sugar, and wearing apparel. It left us the black market. It monkeyed with the dairy industry until it forced thousands of producers out of business. Thousands of dairy herds have been and are being disposed of.

Is it any wonder that the milk producers, the producers of livestock, the producers of agricultural products, and the producers of commodities and commodities appeared in Washington, and demanded the abolition of this un-American institution? It is any wonder that farm organizations in Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and other states threatened to go on a strike May 1st, unless this un-American institution of regimentation and abuse is abolished, or its poisonous fangs pulled.

VETERANS' QUESTION BOX

Ed. Note: This newspaper has arranged with the Washington Bureau of the National Weekly Newspaper Service, 1616 Eye St. N.W., Washington, D.C., to answer questions pertaining to veterans and veterans. These questions will be answered in this column as far as possible. No replies can be made by mail, but this paper will print answers to all questions received.

Q. I served with the WAC 18 months, receiving honorable discharge August 22, 1945. I am entitled to wear the American Defense and Victory Ribbons. How do I get about getting them?
—S. W., Adair, Iowa

A. Write to the office of the Adjutant General, War Department, Washington 25, D.C.

Q. Where can I subscribe to the Army Times and Ordnance Magazine?—R. S. H., Osceola, Iowa

A. For Army Times, write to Army Times, 1419 Irving Street, N. W., Washington 25, D.C. Subscription is $2 per year. For Ordnance Magazine, write to Ordnance Magazine, War Department, Washington 25, D.C., and ask about it.

Q. My husband was in service 18 months. He is now discharged and we are separated because of his conduct since returning. He wants a divorce, but is not willing to support our child which is his duty as a father. If I decide on the divorce and the court grants the support for my child, will it come out of the money my husband is now drawing, $32 per month? Please tell me whether I can get money through the government if I agree to the divorce?—M. P. D., Woodlawn, Va.

A. The army has nothing to do with your domestic affairs. This is a legal question which must be decided by the courts under the laws governing such cases. Your husband is discharged and both you and your husband are subject to the same laws that govern all civilians.

Q. My husband went into the army in January, 1945, and overseas in May, 1945. We have two children and he has 40 points. How much longer does he have to stay until eligible for discharge?—Mrs. E. H., Independence, Va.

A. If he had the 40 points as of September 2, 1945, and I can figure only 38, unless he had battle stars, he should be on his way home by June 30.

Q. My son enlisted in the navy and took out National Life Insurance of $10,000. He was discharged a month ago and is not attending school under the G.I. bill and will be unable to keep up payments on the premiums. Is there any fund in the G.I. bill to take care of a veteran's insurance while he is unable to pay?—Deverville, Texas, Cole

A. No, I can find no provision for such a case. Of course if the insurance lapses, he is permitted to make application for reinstatement. Suggest you ask the Veterans' Administration office in Denver.

Q. If I should re-enlist in the service would I still receive the disability pension I am now receiving?—W. H. N., Nashville, Tenn.

A. No, upon re-enlistment your disability is discontinued.

Q. I have a son in the 4th Division of the Marine Corps at Camp Catlin, Oahu, Hawaii. Can you tell me when he will be sent stateside?—C. H. N., Chicago, Ill., August 21, 1945, and had 69 points when the war ended.—E. C. M., Wilkesboro, N. C.

A. If he enlisted as a regular in the marines, the usual tour of foreign duty is 24 months. If he is a volunteer and had 69 points when he was discharged, he is eligible for discharge if he desires it.

Q. I would like to locate a relative of an ex-serviceman. I have his name and the date of his discharge, but he was stationed here before his discharge. Is there any department from which I may obtain his next-of-kin's address?—Mrs. L. C. B., Bryan, Texas.

A. You might try Enlisted Personnel Office of Adjutant General, Washington 25, D.C.

Q. My husband went into service December 5, 1944 and overseas July 1, 1945. We have one child, aged 5. I have heard that all fathers will be out by July 1. Is this true? They let me know with three kids, why isn't a pre-Parlier father entitled to be with his family? I am a man with three kids? Isn't there any justice in this world any more?—Mrs. L. C. B., Thomasville, N. C.

A. If your husband has been in the army only since December 5, 1944, he must serve several months more before he has the required point score. All fathers will not be out by July 1.

Featured In Capper's Farmer

George T. Blumenschen, who lives near Mansfield in Richland county is among a group of mid-western farmers featured in an illustrated article in the April issue of Capper's Farmer, entitled "Replacing the Scoop Shovel."

"Feed grinding requires no scooping by George T. Blumenschen," the story in the nationally circulated farm magazine points out. "The mill is in the basement of a bank barn. Barley, wheat and oats spout from overhead bins into the hopper in any proportion he desires. The ground mix is elevated upstairs into a bin from which it is chuted back to the basement for grinding. The self-feeders as required. Grain bins are located on the main floor and are accessible by barn ramp to truck and wagons. One is filled by direct dumping at threshing time. A shelter on the main floor delivers into a bin, which is suspended part way into the basement from which corn can be drawn off to be self-fed."

Plan Horse Show

NORWALK—The Norwalk Riding and Driving Association announces that it will sponsor a horse show at the local fair grounds on June 23. A feature will be the entry of English and western types saddle horses and net proceeds will be given to the Boy Scouts.

The Association will also have a horse show at the Huron fair the last week in August. Officers are Charles Cline, president; R. L. Godfrey, vice president; and Millar Switzer, secretary-treasurer.

TO RESIDE IN MANSFIELD
Mr. and Mrs. Ray Parmore of Plymouth Street have sold and now property to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Henry, and will move to Mansfield this week where they have purchased a home at 553 N. Mulberry Street.

New Dodge Custom Six Passenger Club Coupe

Standing out in the most distinguished company is this new Dodge, smartly styled from the massive grille to its spacious trunk. Headlamps and parking lights are more widely spaced in new blended fenders to define width of car.

While Plymouth does not boast an auto agency of any kind, quite a number are visiting the show rooms in Mansfield, Shelby, Willard and Norwalk to look over the new cars which are gradually appearing in this section.

Failure of OPA to set prices is causing a hold-up in car sales.

However, within the next few months manufacturers hope to get cars rolling off production lines in increased numbers, and those who desire new cars will no doubt be able to get a chance to buy!

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D.C. (NWNs).—Although President Truman did not have much luck in getting legislation through congress during his first year in office, which ended April 12, the real measure of his success or failure will come during the next few months.

Here is the status of some of President Truman's favorite legislative proposals:

Minimum Wage Bill—The senate passed a measure to increase minimum wages to 69 cents (the President had asked for 65 to 75 cents), but added a rider to the measure to increase farm parities, which the President strongly opposes.

Health Insurance—This measure has finally reached the point of hearings before the senate labor committee, but it is unlikely that it will make much headway for some time to come.

The Chances are that it will never pass without drastic revision. Housing—Both the senate and house have passed a housing bill, but many differences in the two measures must be compromised. The senate passed the provision for a $600,000,000 federal subsidy to speed production of building materials, but the house opposed the subsidy. Both the senate and the house eliminated the provision, considered of the utmost importance by the President, calling for ceiling prices on existing houses and unimproved building lots.

OP Extension—The house banking committee has approved extension of the OPA for nine months.

Loan to Britain—This is being heard before the senate banking committee and will probably pass eventually although it is the subject of bitter debate.

proved extension of OPA for another year, but has included many restrictions which are opposed by the administration. It is likely the OPA will be continued, but will have its powers pruned.

Legislation—The President has recommended a measure calling for fact-finding boards and cooling off periods before strikes, but that seems to have been forgotten. The house passed the Case bill, a strong measure for curbing union activities, but this measure may never get to the floor of the senate. It is unlikely that any labor legislation which amounts to anything will be passed before the next election.

Merger of Armed Forces—This bill is before the senate military affairs committee but it is not likely that any action will be taken for months.

Unemployment—A measure, revised considerably from the proposal of the administration, did pass the senate but seems to have been permanently shelved in the house.

Continuation of Selective Service—This measure, with amendments, has been approved by the military affairs committee of the senate and is likely to be passed by both houses.

Loan to Britain—This is being heard before the senate banking committee and will probably pass eventually although it is the subject of bitter debate.

Ditching Project

for malaria control for army camps. He also stated that explosives can be safely used for "stream correction," and that there are many of these projects which no doubt will come up within the state in the next year or so.

On the Sponseller farm, the ditching required 850 pounds of dynamite, and the approximate cost of the completed project was $150. In view of the fact that more than ten acres of ground were practically under water a week ago, makes the cost of the improvement rather low when it is considered that two crops of soy beans on the reclaimed field will pay for the ditch.

Today, the land is dry enough to plow, and after viewing its condition two weeks ago, and seeing the result of the ditching, any farmer will agree that it was a worthwhile investment.

Handling of dynamite is dangerous to be sure, but it's safe to the person who is careful. And there are many uses for it around the farm. For instance Monday afternoon, I saw a clump of willow trees standing in a field near the bank of the newly ditched stream. Cooke Calder, in charge of operations, stated: "It will only cost two bits to remove them." Taking only a small charge of explosive and properly placing it beneath the trees, a contact of the battery, and you never saw willow trees disappear so fast. A close examination of the "hole" revealed the complete job the dynamite had done. The charge had not only toppled the trees, but had taken up the roots, leaving nothing to be done except to remove the fallen trunks. Calder related how stumps, stones, and other objects which are generally a nuisance in a field can easily be eliminated.

For a complete descriptive booklet on the many uses of dynamite and its place in agriculture, our readers may write The Austin Powder Co., 758 Rockefeller Bldg., Cleveland, A. C. Steger, who operates the Oliver-Bishop store supplied the cap and dynamite for the Sponseller job and will be glad to give anyone estimates on ditching or other work desired.

Those who are interested in soil conservation, land drainage, etc., will find the Sponseller ditch a most interesting example, and each year the article is worn by take a look. Mr. Sponseller resides on the Springdale road, three and a half miles southwest of Plymouth.

Youngsters Are Given Warning

The past week or so officials and citizens have observed some of the antics performed by young stunts with bicycles riding sidewalks, laying bikes down at store entrances, and other acts which are not only a nuisance, but dangerous.

In order to avoid possible accident and injury from carelessness, Mayor Lasch has instructed the village marshal to be on the lookout for those boys who persist in ignoring the ordinance pertaining to riding bicycles on the sidewalks, and other infractions of the law.

This is an official and friendly warning, and don't think that the mayor doesn't mean what he says about that bicycle riding and other acts of carelessness.

"While substantial progress has been made in reducing crossing accidents during the past twenty years, yet there are certain phases that have militated against the attainment of even greater results. For example 72 per cent of these accidents occur at crossings where the motor driver has a clear and unobstructed view of the approaching train.

All he has to do is look and the train is within his range of vision. Furthermore, a substantial majority occur at crossings which not only have the standard warning sign advising the user of the highway he is approaching a railroad crossing but they also have some type of special protection such as Watchman, gates, visual or audible signals, yet such warning measures are evidently ignored. Furthermore, of the entire number of crossing accidents, one-third result from the motorist driving his car into the side of the train all the way from the locomotive back to the rear end."

The speaker stated that unlike Europe accidents—which are largely within the control of the railroad—crossing accidents are in large measure beyond the control of the railroads. Therefore, there is a joint responsibility as between the railroads and the public.

The speaker continued: "The remedy lies in education and law enforcement. While it is true from a check we made some time ago—that only 5 per cent of the motor drivers are careless or reckless, yet this represents a large army of more than one and one-half million drivers whose actions we are seeking to curb."

Therefore, we earnestly urge that all organizations and agencies unite in a common cause—the saving of human life—thru the elimination of these unnecessary accidents which can be almost entirely accomplished if motor drivers will follow these simple rules:

1. Approach all rail-highway crossings with your vehicle under control, prepared to stop, if necessary.

2. Look and listen. If the view is obscured, use extra precautionary measures. Know the way is clear before attempting to pass over the crossing.

3. Obey the traffic rules and caution others to do so.

4. Support public enforcement agencies in their campaign for safe driving on the highway and at grade crossings.

We wish to extend our thanks to Mr. E. N. Maring, our local agent for arranging this splendid program for us.

New York Central Representative

Speaks on Safety

In speaking before the Shiloh schools recently, D. E. Mumford stressed the need for greater safety on the highways and particularly at grade crossings. He said that the railroads have made great progress in reducing deaths and injuries resulting from accident to their employees due largely to the execution of a well-planned program emphasizing education and rule enforcement with cooperation between employer and employee. He stated that the railroads are vitally concerned in the prevention of accidents at grade crossings but emphasized the fact that to succeed in this undertaking will require close cooperation between railroads and the public.

The speaker in referring to crossing accidents said: "Upon all railroads of the United States these accidents result in an average yearly toll of 1,875 deaths and 4,700 injuries. They cause an average of 200 derailments of trains per year. These derailments frequently cause death and injury not only to people in the automobiles but also to highly trained railway employees and occasionally to passengers on the trains. While the loss of life as a result of these accidents is of serious consequence and while the property loss is enormous, yet there is another loss that is somewhat intangible and I refer to delays to trains as a result of crossing accidents. Some time ago we made a study of this subject which developed that upon all the railroads of the United States as a result of crossing accidents 1,137 trains—passenger and freight—are delayed a total of 660 hours every month. Expressing this in another way it means that for each day of the year there is an average of 55 hours of delay. Each day of the year there is an average of 38 trains delayed a total of 22 hours.

"While substantial progress has

NO WRINKLES—Non-crushable jersey in white with gay print in bright colors makes this summer costume worn by Louise Erickson, of NBC's "A Date With Judy." There's a playtail underneath the draped overshirt. Dorothy Phillips, of Hollywood, designed it. White ballet shoes complete the costume.

"BOLL INTO THE BARREL" . . . "Roll out the barrel" because there are no suits to be had was the theme of a Pittsburgh stroller in decorating this window at which Marine Sgt. Robert Woodward looks with great gloom. Soon to be released from service Sergeant Woodward doesn't favor barrels for Easter wear.

LARGE ATTENDANCE
The Easter attendance at the Presbyterian church was larger than for many years. The cantata "From Darkness to Light" was well received.

Three new members were taken in Easter Sunday as follows: Mrs. Jas. Cunningham, Mrs. Wm. Fetters, Jr., and Eldon Burket. One infant baby, Gloria Yvonne Hockenberry, was baptised.
