

LOCAL FRIENDS were greeting Uncle Billy Hatch up on the Square Tuesday. Uncle Billy has been laid up for some time but with the aid of a crutch he was able to make the trip to town. Despite his 88 years, he is mentally alert and active and was given quite an ovation in last Sunday's edition of the Mansfield News Journal.

Dies Suddenly

Death came suddenly Monday night at 7:45 to W. H. Fetters, 80, who died at his home on Bell street. Death was due to coronary thrombosis. Mr. Fetters had taken his evening meal with his daughter, Mrs. Francis Guthrie, who resides next door, and had returned to his home. Shortly after his arrival he passed away. Mr. Fetters had been up and around the home, and had not complained of feeling ill at any time during the past weeks, although he had suffered from a slight cold. His death was very unexpected, not only to his immediate family, but to his many friends in the community.

Born in Boliver, Ohio, Feb. 17, 1866, Mr. Fetters would have been 81 years, had he lived until his birthday next month. He was a member of the First Baptist and East Sparta, Mrs. Fetters came to Plymouth to make his home 43 years ago. He was married in Stark county, Ohio, to Mrs. Fetters, who preceded him in death six years ago, celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary, Oct. 13, 1930.

As a resident of Plymouth—'Bill'—as he was best known to his many friends, soon gained the respect and good will of his community. Some forty years ago he served for a 15-year period as superintendent of the light and water plant. And he had much to contend with back in those days when electricity was just finding its way into the smaller towns. For many years he was employed in various capacities at the P. J. D. Tate Co., until he was absorbed by the present Fetters-Root-Heath group.

During the latter years Mrs. Fetters operated a machine shop at his home and was well known for her specialty of repairing motor-vehicles which broke down. His skill and knowledge for repairing gas engines, motors and other equipment traveled far and wide, and his customer list bore many names of those who traveled long distances for his services. When washing machines, and their advent, and housewives became dissatisfied over a breakdown, it was "'Bill' who could make them smile again by fixing it up like new. He also repaired snowblowers, repaired combines, mowers, etc., that kept the farmers in the field when work was to be done.

Mr. Fetters was interested in civic affairs of his town. He labored long hours while in the light and water department; and as a member of the Board of Health and Affairs and Village Council, he always studied every problem seriously to see that the town received full value. For many years he attended the local Presbyterian church, but lately he became interested in the Seventh Day Adventist Church, which he attended regularly and took an active part.

As husband, father and citizen, Mr. Fetters lived as he believed—and he believed in doing good at all times, and being kind to everyone. His greatest pleasure in life was when he was helping someone.

Choose Queen

Plymouth's first basketball queen was crowned Tuesday evening at the homecoming game staged by the Plymouth Booster Club. For a full week it was anybody's guess as to who would be queen, for while the ballots have been counted, the results were kept a strict secret.

A week ago, members of the Junior and Senior classes chose two candidates, one of whom was to be queen, and the other three her attendants. These were then voted on by the six upper classes and the decision was kept a secret until Tuesday evening between the Reserve and Varsity games.

From the Junior class Doris Gullett and Mary Kathryn Fox were the candidates, and from the Senior Class, Phyllis Haines and Mary Ellen Thomas. The girls were dressed in formal and after they took their places before the audience, Robert Hampton, captain of the squad, and Ed J. D. Tate, president of the Student Council, made known the decision. Phyllis Haines was crowned as queen, the several flowers by Hampton and presented with his loving cup engraved "Homecoming Queen 46-47 P. H. S." Each girl wore a shoulder corsage as a gift from the club.

Supt. Van Brunt gave a welcome to the alumni and a short explanation of the choosing of the queen, which will be followed by the coronation ceremony on Saturday night at the Alumni-Varsity game.

Reserve Game
 A rousing crowd greeted members of the Alumni in the Reserve game and in the starting line were James Root, '34; Bob Bachman, '34; Peter Cappel, '34; Tony Fenner, '36; Clyde Laska, '37; Older Reid, '43; Gordon Sealters, '45; Jimmy Crockett Davis, '44; Paul Scott, '46.

Both the crowd and players were both in good humor, and while some "boners" were pulled, the game was good and as much enjoyed as any ever staged between bitter rivals. With such remarks as "We'll get a bigger basket for you boys," and "your basket is at this end," the game progressed with a good exhibition despite extra points, waistlines and shortages of air!

On the Reserve team Lewery Lloyd, captain, Grabbach, '42—both are excellent material for the varsity. Young Donathan was good on the rebound and Metcalf proved himself "Johnny on the spot" more than once. Tursion played a good game, and his height aided them time after time. Final outcome wasn't too bad—30 to 21.

Varsity Used
 The Varsity game was more evenly matched with the players members of the team from 1940 to 1946. Wayne Hough of Massillon, was the star of the night.

For a while it looked as though the Varsity would out them but the Alumni put on more of a fight. The Alumni were thrilling and close game which saw-sawed back and forth, the Alumni came through with a 38-34 victory.

NEED HELP FOR WAGE REPORTS

Ohio employers subject to the Ohio unemployment compensation law are, for the first time during January, using a new, simplified "Quarterly Wage Report" form in submitting their report of employees' earnings for the fourth quarter of 1946 to the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

This new form, known as the BUC 475X, is designed to reduce the number of forms which each employer must prepare following the end of each quarter. It permits the listing of all covered employees on a single form, and it allows an arrangement similar to that appearing on Federal Social Security report forms. Previously, employers were required to submit individual wage reports slips for each worker.

Although detailed instruction sheets have been distributed to all covered employers in the state, in the event any employer desires any additional information or assistance in preparing his report, which must be sent to the Bureau by January 31, 1947, he should call the nearest local office of the Ohio Bureau in his community and arrange an appointment with a payroll auditor of the Ohio Bureau.

Employers in Richland County can call the Shelby Local Office at Postoffice, Phone 290, and arrange an appointment with the payroll auditor in that office. In the Shelby office from 8 a. m. to 12 noon on Saturday, January 18th.

Organize Farm Council

Seven farmers and their families met Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. J. M. Frakes to organize a Farm Advisory Council. The purpose of the council is to discuss Farm Problems that may come up from time to time.

The group voted C. E. Riggle as chairman, Haldon Cheesman, Vice Chairman and Glen Frakes as Secretary. Harry Amend will be the Discussion Leader. They will meet once a month and the next meeting was announced for the home of Frank Fenner.

A lunch was served at the conclusion of the evening. The following families are charter members: Frakes, Fenner, Amend, Riggle, Harry Amend, Ray Aumend, Haldon Cheesman, Frank Fenner and Glen Frakes.

OHIO OIL CO. TO GIVE FREE SHOW

The boys who operate Ohio Oil Station here, namely, Glenn Eckstein and Glenn Hines, are greatly delighted to become more associated in the business they like, and the new partnership will continue under the store's present policy. They have secured a new store, and the new owners of The Plymouth Cash Market assure their patrons of the best in everything in food.

BOYS INTEREST IN MARKET

Receiving his discharge from the Navy in March, Jerry Caywood returned to Plymouth where he has been associated with the grocery and meat business since that time. For the past six months he has been employed at the Plymouth Cash Market, operated by Dan Hohner.

Announcement is made this week that Mr. Caywood has purchased half interest in the market, and he and Mr. Hohner will continue to operate the well-known establishment under its present name.

Before entering the service in 1944, Mr. Caywood has successfully established himself at this location under the name of Jerry's Market. On entering the navy he sold his business, and during his absence it was managed by Dan Hohner.

As soon as equipment becomes available, several changes are being made in the store, and the new owners of The Plymouth Cash Market assure their patrons of the best in everything in food.

Death Claims Mrs. L. Gebert

After a lingering illness of a few months, Mrs. Carrie L. Gebert, well known Plymouth resident, passed away at the family home on Plymouth street Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Gebert's condition became critical a few weeks ago at which time little hope was held for her recovery.

She was born Dec. 18, 1884 at Adrien, Mich., the daughter of Franklin and Sarah Grubert. After her marriage to Mr. Gebert, she came to Plymouth to make her home. During her residence here she gained a cherished position in Plymouth for being a devoted wife, a wonderful mother, and a true civic-minded citizen. She was not only interested in the affairs of the Lutheran church of which she was a member, but she assisted in staging many public performances of home-talent plays in which she always won the plaudits of her audience.

As soon as equipment becomes available, several changes are being made in the store, and the new owners of The Plymouth Cash Market assure their patrons of the best in everything in food.

MANSFIELDER TALKS TO PTA

Boys' sidewalks and streets were responsible for keeping a good many P. T. A. members, and visitors, busy in the morning during the week ending Saturday, Jan. 12. The boys' talk to the P. T. A. was given by Mr. J. M. McMichael, who is educational director at the Mansfield Reformatory, and can see the results of first-hand training—or the lack of it—first hand, held in the presence of his audience by his personality and with his practical suggestion pertaining to keeping your son from being a criminal.

At the first of the very beginning of childhood, discipline and companionship are very necessary and too many parents disregard both.

Mr. McMichael addressed the local chapter during the course of the meeting, his subject being the "Fellowship Men." Mr. Brittain stressed the point that modern civilization tends toward placing selfish interests ahead of community and national welfare. He also discussed the communist infiltration in this country, and what the National Junior Chamber of Commerce is doing to expose it. After the business meeting an informal discussion, led by Mr. Brittain, was held during which many points of National plans for the State and National Jaycee conventions.

Mr. Herb Goiz, State Vice-President from Shelby and seven members of the local Jaycees also attended the banquet and meeting.

Plymouth Nips Union

The Plymouth Pilgrims rallied to take a close call from Union last Friday on the Plymouth court, by a score of 47-42. The boys were ably handled by improved footwork. Hampton, scoring 13 points, took the lead in the county league individual scoring.

Things to watch for—Mothers' Nite, and Fathers' Nite. Don't miss these, and above all, don't miss the game Friday night at Butler, and next Tuesday evening—Lexington at Plymouth.

F-R-H Shop Talk

Found the weather had its effect on most everybody as I made the rounds Tuesday afternoon. It was a "dismal" afternoon with a slight rainfall and gray skies overhead. Guess we can't have sunshine all the time, but most of us are thankful that snow has been at a minimum this winter.

Jim (Crocket) Davis is getting organized to take over the mailing and shipping department at Plant No. 4 (Grinder Division). Jim, it is rumored, served in a postal department while in the army, and the experience gained there will no doubt be of some benefit to him on his new job. At any rate the Grinder division has a large flow of mail during the early months of the year, and parcel post shipments run into hundreds of pieces during each week. Good luck, Jim, and don't lose the curls while trying to figure out some of the problems.

You've heard various stories about the "absent-minded" professor. And some one once said that when you get absent-minded it's a sign of old age. Of course there are exceptions, as was the case when P. H. Root got out of the chair at Joe Lash's barber shop last Saturday and put on a jacket and hat. Arriving home he immediately discovered what had happened, and he rushed back to the barber shop to find he had taken Red Burns' outfit by mistake. Of course P. H. could have been thinking about some new gadget for the lawnmower grinder, but I'm inclined to think he was day dreaming of those days he spent in Canada fishing. P.H.'s not so far away, is it P.H.?

The girls up in the billing department (old maid section) tell me that the only reason Jeannette Chapman selected a bright red for her desk blotter is that it will help "tone down" her blushing. If you know Jeannette you'll appreciate the situation, for she blushes sometimes for no reason at all.

Arline "Beanie" Ford says she likes all men, especially the single ones. And rumors have it that she has a long list from which she finds it difficult to make a selection.

Bob Hunter, one of our boys who'd hunted a job in World War II (five invasions), has been back with us a little more than a year. Bob has resigned his place in the pattern shop, and we are told that he is getting to a degree of perfection. Unknowingly I pecked in on him while he was putting the finishing touches on a pattern, and a steady hand or a more perfect technique I have never seen.

It was purely an oversight on our part when the name of Helen Kok, who is employed in the billing department, was omitted from last week's list of office workers. Helen is a resident of Celeryville, and a graduate of New Haven high school. She's been with F.R.H. since January, 1946. We are very sorry this occurred.

POOM meets tonight at 7:30 in the hall over the Hitching Post. Iden Jackson, corresponding secretary, wants every POOM to be there and on time. And say, fellows, your organization is just what you make it. Kinda like the town you live in — if you put something into it, you're going to get something out of it. All we can do is to remind you of tonight's meeting.

If the time ever comes when the United Nations want to relocate the Pyramids, all they'll have to do is call on Guy Vansadale. Guy can take a block-&-tackle, a couple of rollers and four men and move anything in the world. Sure, it's a broad statement, but most of you don't know Guy. He moved into this vicinity with his parents when he was but two years old. He's about sixty now, but holds down the years very well. For many years he farmed on the Getz-Adams place near here, and during the winter months he made "loggin" a sideline. Tuesday afternoon the boys over in the clay machine assembly finished a big job, and being that it weighed 30 tons they couldn't move it. So they called in Guy and his crew. Well, sir, those 30 tons were moved so fast, that many of the fellows in the plant thought a "streamliner" was running wild to the loading platform. Seriously, though, the machine required only about 30 minutes to move it from the assembly room to the loading platform, and it was so easy, for this man Vansadale KNOWS how to handle heavy stuff.

Incidentally, Vansadale used to make it a business of moving houses and barns, and at one time he moved our newspaper press from the ground floor to the basement, and missed his landing marks by only one inch. Guy's crew is composed of Chas. Akers of Plymouth, who started work at FRH in March 1946; John Henry of Willard; Oliver Bingley of New Haven, and Herbert Swind of Plymouth Route 1, the last three beginning work in the moving squad last July. Everyone of these men are regular fellows, and not a "fat" one in the bunch. So it must be that it takes "brains and not brawn" for the heavy work after all.

Now it can be told—month's after it happened, and an incident that remains purely coincidental. Last Fall a group of researchers from the Wrigley Chewing Gum Co. was in Plymouth to run a test on a pug mill. The test was for the purpose of extruding the gum in sheet form. While the test was being conducted, which lasted several days, most every one in the main plant was enjoying a big hunk of chewing gum. One day a couple of detectives appeared and started questioning some of the employees as to how and where they got all the gum. It seemed that a shipment of bubble gum from the Shelby Gum Co., had been stolen from a box car, while the car was spotted in Plymouth on a sidetrack. The car had been entered, and a large number of bubble gum had been taken as part of the loot. The theft of the gum, and the presence of so much of the stuff at the local plant, immediately drew the very suspicious! Well, despite a little questioning by the detectives, the boys kept on chewing their gum.

The cost of bricks should take a tumble in the next few years, especially if many more orders for WX brick machines are received. The Roanoke-Webster Co., of Roanoke, Va., is receiving one of the big WX jobs. Shipment was made Wednesday. The WX stands about eight feet high and some 38 feet overall in length. It is powered by a 250-h.p. motor, and is driven with 13 V-belts. The V-belts are one and one-half inches wide, and the distance from the motor to the shaft is some eight feet. The capacity of the WX is set at between 25 to 30 thousand bricks an HOUR . . . not per DAY.

Charlie Lookabaugh, superintendent of the clayworking division Bob Rhine, Carl Anderson and Charles Garrett drew a sigh of relief when they made the last adjustment and tightened the last nut on this huge machine— for after all they had put together some sixty thousand pounds of parts, bolts and nuts, and we'd call that a good-sized job. Starkey designed the massive mud mill, and George Hershiser steered its construction as far as engineering is concerned. All in all, it's one of the biggest units ever turned out, and the size and weight will require the full capacity of a flat car for shipment.

The pattern room and carpenter shop have adopted a new employee, and we are told the newcomer is being treated royally. Ginsberg is the name given to the cat belonging to the Hoffman family which resides nearby. Ginsberg has gained much favor with employees of these two departments for his ability to keep rats and mice away. Ginsberg is a friendly kitten, and he does the most unusual antics. He likes to purr and rub Dorion's moustache, and while Harley Nesbitt is busy tacking felt on palettes, he walks over the pile of carpet tacks. Red Burns is spoiling the rat-hunter by bringing him bits of cheese and choice morsels of tuna fish. Red says Ginsberg has the ability to outsmart Superman. Oh, yeah! And what can you fellows do?

Here's the score for the FRH girls' bowling team. Some of them wanted it withheld until the scores showed up a little better, but we might as well start at the bottom. Of course, improvement is expected within the next couple of weeks, but if anyone has any suggestions as to how the girls may show improvement in tossing the ball, we'll appreciate the information.

Can you spot your state . . . and how many more?

This page is framed by all 48 states. They're accurate in outline but not in relative size.

So what? So the folks who own America's business-managed electric companies live in every one of these states. They include a lot of your friends and neighbors—and probably you, too.

How come? Well, several million Americans have invested their savings in electric companies directly. Some 71 million more have invested indirectly — through savings banks accounts and life insurance policies. Banks and insurance companies, entrusted with your funds, like to put 'em to work in sound utility securities.

As a result, almost every American family has a stake in the self-insuring, tax-paying electric companies that provide most of America's power.

Pep Sessions
 Tuesday afternoon at 3:05 and Friday at 12:30 the Cheerleaders in their Pep Session in the High School Auditorium. Several new cheers were tried out and worked out very well. The cheerleaders need your co-operation so come on out and boost your team.

At The Game
 At the Union game Friday night everybody really got excited. The Cheerleaders went out for the team and so did the cheering section. Some of the older people in the group didn't know they could yell so hard until the game was all tied up and then they left loose. Edna Myers, one of the cheerleaders, got so excited she was pounding the floor with her hands. The others, Pat, Lois and Betty were jumping all over the place and hoping for victory. The new cheers went over swell and everybody was in spirit of the game. Tom Root was there with his flash camera taking action shots and the Junior class were busy selling refreshments. The "coke" sold very fast because everybody was warm and excited. But everything came out all right in the end and everybody went home hoarse but satisfied with the final score.

The game, the team, and the coach were served a delicious lunch by the Girls in Home Ec. A sack lunch was also packed for each member of the visiting team to take home and use with them. This is made possible through the Booster Club and your part in the Booster Club activities.

Homecoming
 The big Homecoming plans are all completed. The four seniors—Seniors-Mary Ellen Thomas and Phyllis Haines, and the two Jrs.—Dorla Gullette and Mary Fox, have been nominated for the Queen and the Junior class will vote for the Queen and the other three will be her attendants.

INSIDE STORY OF YOUR TELEPHONE

• If you could look "inside" your telephone system, you would see that it takes a lot of things to make your telephone work. First, the highly skilled technicians and operators. Then the vast amount of incredibly complicated switchboards, wires, poles, etc. Much of this equipment is still scarce and will take time to produce. We cannot reach our goal of faster, better service—with enough for everybody—until we do receive sufficient equipment.

The Northern Ohio Telephone Company

New Luxury Train Due Jan. 18
 While construction of new passenger equipment was prohibited during long years of war, the train designers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad dreamed about the trains they would build for postwar passenger comfort.

First fruit of their imagination and ingenuity is "The Cincinnati," luxurious coach streamliner which will begin fast daylight service between Baltimore, Washington and Cincinnati on January 18, 1947. It is the first newly-built postwar train to serve the National Capital and the first new train to go into service in the East since the war began.

Record-Making Schedule
 In a fast daylight run between the Baltimore-Washington area and the midwestern metropolis, "The Cincinnati" will provide twelve-and-one-half hour service between the two terminal points from Washington to Cincinnati, the new train will take only eleven and one-half hours, tying these two cities closer together by rail than they have ever been before.

The Cincinnati is a Twin
 "The Cincinnati" actually is a twin train, two complete units having been built so that daily service can be maintained in both directions. Four mighty Pacific type steam engines have been built, with a complete streamlined exterior, to power the trains on their daily runs. Designed for added efficiency and easier riding, each of these powerful engines can haul the new train over the steep Allegheny Mountains without help of engines.

Each Twin a Five-Car Unit
 Fully streamlined so that it appears as a single locomotive, each unit from the bullet-shaped nose of its locomotive to the rounded end of its observation section, each of the twin trains is made up of five cars, each 50 feet in length. Three of these are coaches with newly-designed individual reclining chairs, the fourth is a combination baggage-buffet-lounge car, and the last a combination diner-observation lounge, embodying a distinctive new concept in train design.

Special Coach Features
 Fitted to provide the ultimate in comfort and convenience for daylight travel, all of the cars in the new train have non-fogging windows of great width, allowing a maximum view of the colorful mountain and river valley scenery along the route.

Breaking Away from Traditional Design
 Another prime feature of the new coaches is their scientifically designed "Sleepy Hollow" type individual reclining chairs, a style based on the recommendations of Harvard University scientists after an exhaustive survey.

Heating and air-conditioning equipment is designed to be easily adjusted to the desires of the passengers. Doors of the train, operating with a light touch on a pressure-control bar, facilitate movement from car to car.

Radio and Communications
 Loud speakers in all cars instantaneously will relay broadcasts of news and music for the passengers' enjoyment, and the same system can be utilized for announcements by the conductor, the stewardess or the dining car steward.
