

Tentative Budget For 1949 Shows $35,000 Required For Village Government

Routine business took up the greater portion of the time at Tuesday night's session of Village Council. Two members, Robert Peggleson and Whitney Briggs were absent, leaving only members West, Burkett, Trauger and Burns to take over, under Mayor Robinson.

The tentative budget for 1949 was discussed at length, and it was revealed that village government costs have amounted to more than $35,000 in the past year. A public hearing of the budget is set for July 19 at 9 p. m., in the clerk's office.

For a comparative record the financial condition of the general fund for the years of 1946-47 is made, and an estimated figure derived for the remainder of 1948. From these figures the budget commission makes its appropriation for the village.

In 1946 the general fund set-up called for $16,854.55, and the year 1947 called for $22,815.45, an increase of over $5,000. The current year, Clerk Cunningham points out that somewhere around $30,000 will be needed to operate all departments of the village.

Basing figures on current costs of operation and anticipated increases, the operating expenses for the village of Plymouth during the coming year, 1949, will be approximately $38,000, about a 20 per cent increase over the estimated costs of 1948.

Maintenance of fire, police and street departments have shown a steady increase over the past three years. The village has employed a police department manned in an efficient manner for many years, and the fire department has been sadly neglected for several years.

However, since the purchase of a new truck and other equipment, and the organizing of a volunteer fire department, the village is coming to the front in a very fine manner. Today, Plymouth's fire department is more efficiently manned and instructed than for many years.

The street department has experienced a serious amount of hardship due to the low prevailing wage rates of 70 cents an hour. Council has felt that this wage is exceptionally low for unskilled labor, but the lack of sufficient funds has kept back an increase. With winter only a few months away there is much work to be done to get the village streets, alleys and drainage system in shape.

One project, the narrowing of the sidewalk over the street, has been deferred due to the fact there is not sufficient labor to do the job, which requires the cutting back of trees, replacing with any of light lines, and a fire hydrant. Council decided to call in contractors and get estimates on the job, and then try to piece-meal it with local help.

Need New Building
One of the greatest worries of the village is the housing of its trucks in the old frame building. The town has had to keep its fire equipment in inadequate quarters — not even fire-proof — for many years. Just how to gather in money enough to erect a fire house has been the big problem. For years, it has taken every cent the village receives to operate the town, and there isn't any "left-over" with which to create a nest egg for this purpose. Being on the county line makes Plymouth somewhat insignificant in the county distribution of funds. Therefore, it is impossible even to attain money enough from guaranteed outside sources to contemplate construction of a new fire house. There is

Gardner Admits Slaying Former - Plymouth Woman

A 24-year-old Cleveland gardener confessed early Friday to the April 24th slaying of Mrs. Ida Morehead, 60-year-old former Plymouth woman.

Police Chief Horace S. Weaver of East Cleveland reported that James Buchanan admitted in a signed statement that he beat Mrs. Koogle to death while attempting to grab her purse.

The aged victim, a native of Perry, Ohio, who worked for several years before her marriage as a trimmer at the Hanick Millinery store in Plymouth, was found beaten to death near her home, Weaver said.

Chief Weaver said Buchanan, who had already been linked with several brutal hammer attacks on women in the Cleveland area, signed the statement after police escorted him into the Koogle home. The confessed slayer broke down after several hours of questioning, Weaver said.

Admits Other Crimes
Chief Weaver said Buchanan also confessed to a number of other robberies in East Cleveland. Several of the slayings after police various degrees of beatings in recent years, identified Buchanan as the slayer in a police lineup Friday.

Police reported the arrest followed by a tip given by a union business agent, Earl S. Bowen, 52, who had pursued Buchanan after being informed of the slaying.

The police chief said that he would file first degree murder charges against Buchanan in the death of Mrs. Koogle.

Father of Editor Dies In Georgia

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning in Atlanta, Ga., for Frank A. Thomas, father of P. W. Thomas, editor and publisher of The Plymouth Advertiser. The elder Thomas, who had been 69 years July 22, but he suffered a heart attack a week ago, death coming at 11:30 Monday morning.

Before retiring a few years ago Mr. Thomas was in the building and contracting field in Dublin, Ga. He was a member of the Georgia Farmers in this section, as well as being able to handle all the incoming grain from the present harvest season.

The elevator is fully staffed with capable men who know how to handle grain, and the testing device are of the latest type, insuring accuracy in all tests for weight and moisture.

Some predictions are being made that grain prices may drop slightly, due mainly to a shortage of stock over the country. There continues to be a definite shortage of cattle, and as a result, the demand for feed will be lower.

The local elevator has enjoyed a splendid reputation the past several years.

Opinions of The Attorney General

Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins, during the past week, ruled that local poor relief authorities may not pay the cost of care of permanently disabled indigent persons in rest homes.

In an opinion requested by Frank T. Cullinan, Prosecuting Attorney of Cuyahoga County, Jenkins explained that Ohio law places the duty of caring for such persons upon the county and not upon local relief authorities.

In the same opinion it was pointed out further that only HOMELESS indigents who are TEMPORARILY disabled may be cared for in rest homes at the expense of local relief authorities. Opinion of the Attorney General No. 3368.

In another opinion Attorney General Jenkins asked W. J. Rogers, Director of the Department of Industrial Relations that beauty shops, restaurants, dry cleaning and similar establishments may not be considered "mercantile establishments" within the meaning of those words as used in the laws regulating the employment of women.

Jenkins said that "mercantile establishments" are establishments where the buying and selling of goods is the principal activity. (Opinion of the Attorney General No. 3367.)

No Paper Next Week

Due to a shut down next week, there will no edition of The Advertiser. In past years we have suspended one issue between Christmas and New Year's. However, this year it was decided to take time off during the summer season. And, so next week we take our vacation — the entire staff!

Crop Outlook Good; First Wheat Due Next Week

With haymaking at a finish, and wheat and oats coming into a nice harvest, crops in this area are expected to be the biggest and best in quite a few years.

The weather the past few days has been ideal not only for completing the harvest of hay, but exceptionally good for ripening wheat and oats, and giving corn a real growing boost. Wheat is expected to start rolling into Plymouth next week.

John Ganzhorn, manager of the Plymouth Elevator, states that he expects one of the busiest seasons of all time, beginning next week. "We have made arrangements to take care of all farmers in this area, and can handle many carloads of grain this season," said Mr. Ganzhorn. The Plymouth Elevator is planning the installation of a new type blower for loading cars of wheat, and this equipment will eliminate much hand-work. The blower is expected to be installed within a short time.

George Rogers of Mansfield, owner of the Plymouth Elevator, was in Plymouth Saturday and inspected the facilities of the elevator. A large supply of wire fence, posts, fertilizer, and feed is on hand, and Mr. Rogers pointed out that the local elevator is well stocked to meet the needs of farmers in this section, as well as being able to handle all the incoming grain from the present harvest season.

The elevator is fully staffed with capable men who know how to handle grain, and the testing device are of the latest type, insuring accuracy in all tests for weight and moisture.

Some predictions are being made that grain prices may drop slightly, due mainly to a shortage of stock over the country. There continues to be a definite shortage of cattle, and as a result, the demand for feed will be lower.

The local elevator has enjoyed a splendid reputation the past several years.

AFTER ENJOYING a wonderful motor trip to Philadelphia, Pa. and Atlantic City, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ross of Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross and Miss Vera Rie Smith of Plymouth, were dealt a "dirty deal" early Tuesday morning after entering Ohio enroute home. A Greyhound Bus suddenly appeared around the corner and before any one could tell what happened, each looked at the other and laughed. The bus had hit a puddle of dirty water which sprayed the entire front of the car, and every occupant, including the inside top of the car and upholstery. Reaching Plymouth, they were still wiping mud from eyes, ears and nose, and longing for another dip in the ocean.

OUR PAYROLL INCREASED AGAIN BY $74,500 ON JULY 3, 1948

Since 1940, the size of our payroll has more than doubled. That's as it should be because it means our employees are being paid a proper level of wages to bring you the best in telephone service. Our expansion and service betterment program will raise our total payroll expense even higher, for we will need still more skilled workers.

High wages and more employees and increased cost of materials have been the main cause for our 123% increase in operating costs. However, income increased a little less than 82% during these same years and in spite of serving more people than ever before. We want to continue paying good wages and to improve your service just as quickly as material and equipment can be placed, but unless our rates are adjusted upward to keep our books in balance, the job becomes increasingly difficult.

Annual Ram Day Set For August 26

As a service to the farmers who raise sheep and lambs, the Ram Committee of the Greenwich Lamb Pool will again offer purebred rams for sale in the Annual Ram Day, August 26th. Selection of these rams has already begun. Members of the committee are visiting breeders in Ohio in order that producers in Huron and Richland Counties may have a wide selection. Southdown and Shorthorn rams will be the two breeds selected.

The value of purebred rams in improving the quality of market lambs was demonstrated at the Greenwich Pool last year. Lambs from these two breeds fit into the market demand for a well shaped lamb weighing less than 100 pounds. Farmers who improve the grade of their lambs through the use of purebred rams.

An additional service offered by the Greenwich Lamb Pool will be the custom spraying of sheep and lambs for ticks. DDT is used as the insecticide.

It not only kills the adult ticks that are on the sheep at the time of spraying but remains as a residue which will kill the ticks that hatch later in the season. Research indicates that wool from sheep sprayed with DDT is also protected from moth damage when in storage.

Results of the spraying done in 1947 were very encouraging. Most farmers indicated very near complete control of the parasites. The sprayer will begin operation in the middle of June and will continue until all farmers who want their sheep sprayed have been reached.

Farmers who desire to obtain a purebred ram or wish to have sheep sprayed with DDT should contact the County Agricultural Extension Office, Court House, Newark by Thursday, June 10th.

550,000 Horse Power Electric Plant on the Ohio River

Construction work going forward on the huge Philip Sporn steam generating electric plant (437,500 kilowatts) midway between Gallipolis, Ohio, and Parkersburg, West Virginia, owned jointly by the Appalachian Electric Power Company and The Ohio Power Company.

Indicative of the enormously rapid growth in demand for electric power in this area is the announcement made recently by Mr. C. D. Albright, District Manager of The Ohio Power Company, of the addition of a third high steam electric generator of 185,000 horsepower (137,500 kilowatts) to the two units already ordered for installation in the new Philip Sporn Plant.

Early in 1947 this company, jointly with the Appalachian Electric Power Company, an associated company in the Central System of the American Electric Company, began construction of the Philip Sporn plant on the Ohio River near Graham Station, W. Va. The first unit, which is also 185,000 horsepower, will be completed and ready to supply power to customers in about a year from this date. Later, a second unit of the same size will be added and will be completed in June, 1950. Now there is every indication that by the time these two units are completed, additional capacity will be needed to supply customers' demand, and hence the decision to install this third unit. It is scheduled for completion in July, 1951, and will bring the total capacity of the Philip Sporn plant up to 550,000 horsepower, or 412,500 kilowatts. The total cost of the three-unit plant will be in excess of $50,000,000.

This plant will become one of the largest steam-electric generating plants in the world and, on the basis of engineering estimates, it will be the most efficient plant of its kind that has ever been built or projected. Steam to operate all three turbines will leave the boilers at a throttle pressure of 2000 pounds per square inch and at a temperature of 105 degrees. This is a point of pressure on every square inch of surface in the steel pipes elading into the turbine at a temperature so great that it melts the special alloy steel in these pipes to a glowing pink.

It is difficult to visualize what a huge mass of power such a plant is capable of producing—550,000 horsepower. This is explained by the fact that the two companies jointly owning the plant have 680 residential customers. According to estimates, this special plant can produce enough power to operate a refrigerator, a washing machine, a vacuum cleaner, and a radio in the homes of every one of these customers, and there would be enough power left over to supply small appliances and plenty of electric light in each customer's home.

The Sporn Plant supplies only a part of the total capacity required by homes and industries on the company's lines. The Ohio Power Company itself also operates the Tidd Plant near Steubenville, Ohio, the Windsor plant above Wheeling, W. Va., and the Philip Plant near Zanesville, Ohio as well as additional smaller standby plants. These plants have a combined capacity of over a million horsepower, which is in addition to the capacity of the Sporn Plant.

In explaining the need for huge additional capacity, Mr. Albright pointed out that every class of customer served is using greater amounts of electricity. Elements of this electric system date back to the late sixties years. In 1920, the year the war began, the company had rebuilt its business to the point where it sold 1680 million kilowatt hours of electricity. Today it is annually selling more than twice that amount, so that are more added sales in only nine years than the company had in the previous history of the company. The result of this unprecedented demand is that for the next three years there will be the greatest increase in demand, with the demand for power. It is hoped that with new units at the

NEW YORK, July 5.—Parcel post by air, authorized in the closing sessions of the last Congress, will effect a saving of from one to six days on the delivery of packages.

Moreover, the $40,000,000 in revenues anticipated by postal authorities during the first year of its use will do much toward improving the financial position of the airlines. Heavy parcel post shipments also could be reflected in orders for additional airplanes.

The new service is expected to go into effect on September 1st. Rates will range from 50 to 80 cents a pound, depending on the distance. This is against the regular parcel post rates of eight to 16 cents a pound.

The theory is that, as the volume of air parcel post is increased, prices can be revised downward. But postal officials have been instructed by Congress to keep the new air service on a pay-as-it-goes basis.

Post Office authorities hope that air parcel post also will help lift air mail payments out of the subsidy class.

ANNIVERSARY.—Speaking of air transport, July 14th is the tenth anniversary of Howard Hughes' famed round the world flight. The west coast flier-industrialist is observing it by preparing to resume flight tests this summer on the gigantic Hughes Flying Boat, world's largest airplane. The aviation industry will be watching these tests closely for portents of progress to come, for Hughes' major projects have a habit of pioneering important advances.

Will's Hospitality Isn't "Cracked"!

Ever since January, Will Dudley planned to give his living room that "new look"—planned to carefully refinish the woodwork and replaster the walls.

Every time Will got out the putty to start filling in the cracks, a neighbor stopped by to pass the time of day—and first thing you knew, there was a group of us helping Will do the job up right. After Will called a halt to the evening's work, we'd sit around the fire enjoying a friendly argument and a sparkling glass of mellow beer.

So Will's living room doesn't look like it did a year ago—but it's by far the most "livable" living room I know: A place you can always drop in for good talk, good beer, and a warm welcome.

From where I sit, so long as Will puts that atmosphere of hospitality and good fellowship ahead of everything else, we'll all be happy to help Will change the looks of his living room any time he wants.

The entire program was completed in a relatively short time, Larsen said, because all the airline's pilots had been flying regularly into LaGuardia Field and were thoroughly schooled in the traffic patterns of the New York area. PIA files almost directly down the 75th meridian from New York and Washington to Havana, Panama, Lima and Santiago, bringing North America's east coast within twenty-four hours of the principal cities of South America's west coast. Direct through-plane service along this "Aerial Avenue of the Americas" is provided with radar-equipped Douglas DC-4's. At Idlewild the airline will have more than double its previous space at LaGuardia. Thus passengers between North and South America will find their arrivals and departures considerably expedited and more comfortable.

"BITS O' BUSINESS"—Work has been started on the 2,000,000 postwar house, according to the construction industry. Conversely, the building of new plants has begun to taper off. The only serious weakness in the economy at present is consumer resistance to soft goods. In its race to adjust, Congress continued the wartime potato subsidy, even though potatoes remain a glut on the market. New Fords are selling for as much as $3,300 on used car lots.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS

BY CONGRESSMAN LEMKE

For better or worse, Congress has adjourned. The Republican Convention is over. The international situation is grave. Russia is threatening us with World War III. We are reaping the reward of the blunders made by FDR, Marshall and Truman at Yalta, Quebec, Potsdam.

It was a mistake when we re-

SINGS FOR LUNCHEON—For Matt Guggen, who sails from Salt Lake City, Utah, is "at home" now in New York. She sings six days a week during NBC's musical "Luncheon with Lopez."

ected FDR—for a third and fourth term. But for that World War II might have been avoided. I heard an Admiral, who fought in both World Wars, make the statement that we had no business in either war. He challenged his friends to point out anything that the world gained by our nosing into these wars. He stated that as a result the world lost its liberty, and that we were on the way to losing ours.

He said that Stalin made a fool of our former President and his staff at Tehran and Yalta, and of Truman at Potsdam. He stated that Stalin never did, and never intended to keep any agreement, but took advantage of our Presidents' gullibility. He said that in place of going to bed with Joe Stalin, our Presidents should have bluntly told him that he would have to stay within his own boundaries. He was bitter over the fact that our army was halted for weeks, so that the Russian army could take the Balkan States and enter Berlin first.

It is claimed that our former President was ailing at Yalta, but where were Byrnes, Hopkins and his other advisors? Did they too fall America? What happened to Truman and his advisors at Potsdam? Why did they not tell Joe and his gang to get back into their own boundaries and stay there? They were in no position at that time to make trouble, but now we have given them three years to prepare. Each day they are getting bolder.

The time to call Russia's bluff is now. If the Republicans had nominated MacArthur, the threat of World War III would have been lessened. MacArthur has the confidence of the Japanese people. Stalin knows that as President, MacArthur could get two or three million Japanese volunteers to take care of Russia.

He knows that MacArthur could also get two or three million volunteers from European nations whose people are being liquidated. Stalin knows that these could be staffed with American and British officers. That is why the commies snatched MacArthur. You cannot appease a man-eating tiger. Neither can you appease a liquidator of other nations' people. In return for our Presidents' blunders, Russia is now giving us insult after insult. We have given her the timetable when to start the fireworks.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

Mother of Presidents

Third Ohioan Elected President

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES

Set in the trees, gardens and spacious lawns of beautiful 20-acre Spiegel Grove near Fremont, Ohio is the Hayes Memorial Library and Museum, visited annually by tens of thousands of people.

In memory of Rutherford B. Hayes, 19th President of the United States, it features the private, worn desk used by all presidents from Abraham Lincoln to Theodore Roosevelt.

On that desk were signed presidential documents which brought progress and prosperity to the lives of millions of people in this nation. An historic and interesting collection of books, paintings, furniture and clothing, all belonging to the former president and now in the very rooms in which he passed his life both before and after he served as president, is on display.

Fremont itself is in the center of a most interesting part of the state. "Old Betsey," a six-pound brass cannon, stands on the site of Fort Stephenson where 160 riflemen and "Old Betsey" successfully fought 1500 British and Indians in 1815.

Only a few miles away is Cedar Point, the Atlantic City of the

COURTESY THE STANDARD OIL CO. (OHIO)

West, with its beautiful bathing beach.

On Route 6 out of Fremont is the "bottomless" Blue Hole of Castalia. Never changing its temperature, never varying its flow in drought or rainy season, the Blue Hole is one of the world's wonders.

Rutherford B. Hayes was born in Delaware, Ohio, October 4, 1822 and died in Fremont, January 17, 1893. He was graduated from Kenyon College at Gambier, Ohio; served as City Solicitor of Cincinnati; and as a Major General in the Civil War.

In 1867 he was elected Governor of Ohio and served three terms.

In 1876 he was elected president of the nation and was given a special Electoral Commission who decided that the votes in Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida had been cast in his favor.

(Another story in this series on Ohio Presidents will appear in an early issue. Watch for it.)

The board, whose membership will be recommended by Judges Luther VanHorn and Robert J. Vetter, will undoubtedly be chosen from the list of the local board members who served prior to and during World War II. Although two boards existed previously, under the current set-up it is believed one board will suffice in the county.
