Here Are The Facts About Gas For Space Heating

To avoid any misunderstanding by our customers as to the regulations covering the installation and use of gas space heating equipment, we publish the following:

1 - In the planning of our financing, purchasing construction, and operating programs, we arricipated that 60,000 additional space heating installations would be completed in the year 1950. We felt that this estimate was the maximum reasonably to be expected.

2—Of the unprecedented number of notices of intent for space heating installations already filed, we have approved about 72,000 for completion in 1950. This will further tax our abilities and facilities to render adequate service during severely cold periods this coming heating season.

3-The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio 3—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio held a public hearing on September 11 to investigate the situation with respect to the probable demand for natural gas during the coming winter and the ability of the operating utilities to meet the demand. Upon the basis of evidence obtained at this 'hearing, the Commission has issued a Seventh Supplemental Emergency Order, which contains the following provisions: A — The Company has the obligation of approving written notices of intent for space heating installations in new homes.

B — The Company also has the responsibility of approving conversion installations equal in number to the new home installations, with priority to be given to proven hardship cases.

4— It is required that a notice of intent be filed with the Company, in writing, and that approval be granted by the Company before additional space heating equipment can be used. Also, it is made mandatory for the Company to discontinue all service to consumers who install and use space heating equipment without approval.

5 — The approval by the Company of a written notice of intent, filed by the consumer, is valid for six months after the date of approval.

6—The Public Utilities Commission's order emphasizes its Administrative Order No. 46, which makes it mandatory that service to industrial customers be curtailed if and when this becomes necessary to do se to protect the service to domestic customers.

The Company regrets its inability to serve all who desire gas for space neating at this time, and your understanding and cooperation will be appreciated during this period when The Gas Company is putting forth its best efforts to procure sufficient volume of gas and to expand its facilities to meet the continuing increase in demand for gas service.
