

National, State And Local Issues
Expected To Attract Record Number
To Voting Booths Next Tuesday

Next Tuesday, Election Day, brings to a close one of the nation's most outstanding campaigns for the presidency of the United States. What the outcome will be is anyone's guess. A local survey of both Democrats and Republicans fails to give any indication who the winner might be. However, there are those Republicans who remain doubtful of Eisenhower; and some Democrats feel that there should be a change.

If re-election to President Truman's whistle stop campaign for Stevenson is a criterion, it is evident that the nation will go Republican. This is reflected in local reaction among voters who have criticized the President for various statements and the attitude he has taken during the past few weeks. Quite a number of local voters state that the campaign which ends next Tuesday has reached a new low for "muddling-along," and if the campaign were to continue for another two weeks that many voters would become disgusted and fail to cast their ballot.

ROAD ISSUE IN GOVERNOR'S RACE
Bringing Ohio roads into the limelight, Charles Taft of Cincinnati has given the voters of the state plenty to think about before election day. Taft favors a bond issue for new highways and road improvement, and is ready to see his program through in record time.

Governor Lausche, who has great favor among Ohioans, has also stressed a road improvement program, but from a different angle. He has said that if voters are ready for a change, and Ohio goes on the Republican side, Taft will come out on top. However, many agree that Lausche has made a good governor, and that he bows to no group under pressure, which makes him hard opposition. The race for the governor's chair stands a good chance to be a very, very close one.

HURON FIGHT IS HOT ONE
The most heated controversy in Huron county is the Children's Home. This is spotlighted by county commissioners' race, and from reports coming out of Norwalk the opposition to closing the home is very strong. The county commissioners have not definitely made any decision concerning the home.

Harry Jump, of Willard, present commissioner, who is seeking re-election to the office, has become the target of the opposition. Jump, some weeks ago, revealed that a considerable sum of money could be made by abandoning the home. However, he has at no time definitely made a decision regarding the closing of the institution. He has carefully studied facts and figures pertaining to the home, and has done much research on child welfare in some counties where child welfare has been stressed. It has been found that youngsters do better in private homes than in a group.

The main criticism about the Huron County Children's Home is the method in which the child is placed "farmed" out. However, this condition does not exist in other counties where proper supervision is applied in placing children in private homes.

Harry Jump's record as county commissioner is far beyond reproach, and why the opposition has stepped up for his defeat is beyond his understanding. Jump made it known that seldom does the opportunity present itself to present a tax money can be saved, and at the same time become a welfare benefit to homeless children.

In any event Harry Jump can be depended upon to come out wise and just decision when the issue comes before the commissioners.

PLYMOUTH TO VOTE ON SCHOOL BOND
A crowded condition at the grade school building has forced the local Board of Education to postpone a $150,000 bond issue before the voters. The money will be used in constructing additional class rooms and a multi-purpose room at the grade school. The money has the support of the Mothers' Club and P.T.A. High pressure tactics on the passage of the bond issue have not been used, but it is believed that most residents of the school district understand the situation, and will pass favorably on the bond issue next Tuesday.

If the bond issue is approved for the improvement of the grade school, it will give to Plymouth a grade school that will meet demands for the next several years. The increased attendance in the grade rooms for the next few years prompts the Board to go ahead and ask for the improvement. On the ballots Tuesday will be some sixty million dollars for schools within the state.

MUCKLAND IS BURNING AGAIN

WEST OF TOWN ALONG Co-LINE

Just a sample of what terror and destruction the big prairie fires must cause, has been given residents of Crawford, Huron and Richmond counties this year and last.

About 75 acres of muckland along the Huron-Crawford-co line continue to smolder today, reminding residents of the destructive fires which swept through the area last year. The Auburn-up and Tiro fire departments were called out over the weekend when the fire was at its worst.

For several weeks now underground fires have been smoldering in the peat-like soil on the Crawford-co side of the two-county line west of State Route 298 and in an area that was not hit by the blaze last year.

Last Sunday the smoldering fire burst into flames above the ground in a dense wooded area at the intersection of the county line road and State Route 298.

Beyond the woods in northern Auburn-up are several farms that have crops to be harvested such as corn and soybeans. On one such farm owned by Paul Berger and operated by Robert Karl, a feeding shed was destroyed when falling leaves caught fire, and spread the blaze. Farmers are on the alert and trenches have been plowed around some fields that have been harvested.

In one instance workers were racing with time and fire, and harvesting a field of standing corn, while all around them the flames were warning them that they moved in on the dry corn. That night, as the dry stalks caught fire from the burning ground, the flames ran up the stalk, and the field gave the appearance of burning candles in the darkness.

The most devastating fire in 25 years raged through almost 2,500 acres of rich muckland last year and drew thousands of visitors from all parts of the country to this area.

Last year's fire started early in October and burned for almost seven weeks before winter snows smothered it out. It started at the south end of the Huron-Crawford-co line road in a wooded section of state-owned land and rapidly spread north to the east almost to Clevelyville.

The new fire is located in the same area as last year's only across the road and is about five miles to the southwest of Willard.

The pungent smoke stings the eyes of persons in the area, and the soil has a red powdery condition after it is burned. The weird underground fires do not show on the surface except where they contact dry leaves, brush, trees, etc.

HOSPITALIZED AFTER ACCIDENT ON MONDAY

David Bachrach, 39, Plymouth, and his son, William, 13, were admitted to Willard Hospital, Monday, November 4th, with injuries sustained in a collision of a car driven by Bachrach and a tractor operated by Harry DuBois, 70, RD 1, Greenwich, the Bellevue state patrol reported today.

Church Bell to Call

"Home" Members of Presbyterian Church

Next Sunday morning when the bells of the Presbyterian Church ring out, it will be an invitation to all old and new members and others interested in the church to design "home." For this will be the first worship service in the completely renovated church in months.

During the remodeling period of the church, services have been held in the local auditorium, and the Rev. Ralph Felix, pastor, trustees and members are grateful to the Board of Education for permission to use the auditorium for services during this time.

The outside of the church hasn't been changed much, but a coat of white paint, a completely new roof, copper flashing, new downspouts and eave troughs have added security and comfort to the building as a whole, while the church spire has been topped with a lightning rod. The belfry has been repaired so that it will be safely supported by the church bell which once again will send forth melodic tones each Sunday morning, calling the people to worship.

It is when you enter the church that the beauty strikes you. The whole focal point of attention is the new choir loft in the front of the old church loft has been transformed so that it is no longer a "loft" but built into a chancel with ornate, beautiful doors on either side from which the choir enters. The rear of the old choir loft will be used as a choir screen and will be ordered but will not be installed until after Easter.

The valance over the chancel was designed by David Sams so that the central point of valance points down to the cross that will be placed on the communion table.

The console organ will remain as formerly located but the platform has been enlarged so that the pulpit is located to the left and the lectern on the right. The choir sits antiphonally. Steps leading to the altar are central and between the pulpit and the lectern. Around the altar is a new altar cloth.

Along THE Square

By Phineas Whittleson

RIGHT IN KEEPING WITH THE season is that pumpkin Man up in Wharton's window. In fact, he's better looking gentleman than the one that was photographed and put on the front page of one of the Plain Dealer sections last Sunday. Most of the kids up at the grade school have made this pumpkin plumper's acquaintance, and all we can say is, it's too bad that there isn't a party offered for the decorated window around the Square. Wharton's Plumbing would sure take the cake! (Hope they've begun thinking one for Thanksgiving and Christmas. We like the deal!)

ALONG WITH THE hunking bees, the surrey with the fringe on top, long stockings, and the town watering trough, the well-known cuspidor is going into decline. In town, most of the kids up at the courthouse in Bucyrus, they have ousted the spittoons, and put in a new one. The Hamilton Thelers. Might be because of election time—they tell that in the other days the courthouse janitors went out campaigning and the town officials who didn't have good aim, when they used the cuspidors!

A GREENWICH MAN was senting for minnows in the Vermilion River last week, but what he found was in a different category. In the masonry of the steel and wooden bridge over the river at Frickville he noticed three sticks of dynamite. The sheriff is now conducting an investigation.

APPLES AT $15 a bushel! Well, not quite, but have you folks tried to buy any by the bushel lately?

THE LUCK OF THE Irish! Only in Plymouth we might begin to say that. The luck of the Irish is Jack, just home last week Tuesday from a Columbus Hospital and going back in next Tuesday for arm.

There's a Marty—they carried him off the football field last Friday and sent him to the Willard hospital, Dick answered with the news that his wife Gertrude was home sick with a gall bladder attack. Well, there's a new year coming up with a new year's wish, and wishing, this family a better deal.

THE WILD GOOSE may be flying and for sure they make mistakes on this week. There's a rumormongering about that a couple of newswriters, female, are thinking of thumbing their way to Florida.

YVONNE PORT, fifth grade student, made a "whistle stop" Wednesday morning at the Elementary school. In fact, she stopped it completely, because she swallowed it. She was rushed to a local physician where advice was given to dislodge the offending whistle. Moral:—"Whistle Stops" are best left to political aspirants.

A REAL THREE-LEGGED PIG

"Pigs are pigs," but this little pig is something of a rarity. Born last spring in a litter of 10 on the Gerald Hunter farm along of Plymouth road just south of Greenwich, she grew and she grew, until now at six months of age, she has topped 150 pounds and can hold her own, with the best of them, even if she only has three legs.

The pig is owned jointly by Murray Hunter and his two sons Gerald and Clark, and is a cross between a Chester White sow and pure bred Hampshire. Usually such handicapped animals die shortly after birth, but not this gal.

She is shown above with Clark Hunter who with his brother Gerald finally managed to corner her so that a picture could be taken showing the void where a leg should have grown. A copy of the picture which was taken by Tom Riondon of the Greenwich Enterprise and loaned to the Advertiser, has been sent to Life magazine.

ENTERS EXHIBIT IN LIVESTOCK SHOW

CHICAGO—Richland county's first entries for the coming 53rd International Live Stock Exposition were received here today. They came from Carl H. Stander, Belleville, who will bring a show string of seven head of Shorthorn for the breeding classes of the cattle department.

The Exposition, world's topmost event of its kind, gets underway in the International Amphitheatre on November 29 for an eight-day run through December 6. It is expected to draw 12,000 head of cattle, sheep, hogs and horses from 34 states and Canada.

Entries for individual classes for the show close November 1, while carloads of cattle, sheep and hogs close their books on November 22. Grain show and Horse show entries close November 10.

Jess C. Andrew, Exposition president from Lafayette, Indiana, states that prizes will again total well above $100,000 and more than half of that amount earmarked for breeding and fat cattle classes. Swine prizes total $10,000 and sheep premiums $8,300.

Known as the "final court of judgment" among agricultural fairs and shows, the International will bring the continent's best for final competitions to determine world grand champions. An international championship is the most coveted award among livestock raisers and crop growers the world over.

LOCAL DOCTOR ATTENDS COLUMBUS MEETING

Optometrists in Ohio are celebrating the Golden Anniversary of the Ohio State Optometric Association. 400 Optometrists attending were given the opportunity to look back over fifty years of progress and to meet three of the original founders of the present-day association who met at the Neil House in Columbus, May 13, 1902.

The past fifty years has seen the development of a school of Optometry with an independent status at Ohio State University in a new building of its own. A committee has been studying motorist vision in cooperation with the Ohio Highway Patrol during the past year to set a series of visual requirements and tests for motorists—the first visual tests for the Ohio motorist. An Optometric Development Program at Ohio State University has been studying motorist vision in cooperation with the Ohio Highway Patrol during the past year to set a series of visual requirements and tests for motorists—the first visual tests for the Ohio motorist.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Haver from Plymouth attended the meeting, which was held in Toledo over the weekend.

GEESSE FLY SOUTH, WARNING TO CAR OWNERS

Geese have flown south two weeks earlier this year and so far the weather has been 15 per cent cooler than for the corresponding 1951 period, according to a continuing survey at 26 key weather stations.

This weather information, coupled with Ohio's first snow of the season, has brought a big rush at Sohio stations as motorists make their cars ready for winter with the Sohio Guaranteed Starting and Guaranteed Radiator Protection programs, states Warren H. Thomas, Mansfield division manager of The Standard Oil Company (Ohio).

Greetings From N. Jersey Friends

This has been a fine week for hearing from members of the Plymouth family who have left the old square. A letter from the Murlins in Clifton, New Jersey, will be of interest to many of our readers, so here it begins:

Dear Friends: I've just been reading the Advertiser which came this morning, and noticed the reference to Miss Sibbett. Did you know that she was Helen Miller's aunt? My mother, Mrs. Sam Fate, started to school with Miss Sibbett. I started with her, and so did my brother John Fate. However, Miss Sibbett resigned the year John started, and taught only until another teacher could be found. My mother is 76, so Miss Sibbett was teaching in Plymouth at least 70 years ago. Jennie Wechter, Dora Barr and Ed Frome were all in Mom's class, but I'm not sure that they started to school with her. Miss Sibbett was a wonderful teacher, and we all loved her very much. Anyone who started to school in the years between 1882 and 1912 must have had her for a teacher.

Your item about the wild geese was interesting to us, too, as we saw two formations, of about 50 each, fly over our house last Saturday. We had our first frost on Monday night, October 20, following our first snow which fell that day (melted by noon). It is the earliest snow since 1933. It is very dry here, and we have had no rain at all for three weeks.

Sincerely, Mrs. Alice Murlin.

Heck CleanersTO THE VOTERS OF HURON COUNTY

On Nov. 4th, you will find the name of Ruth Friend on the ballot as Candidate for Clerk of Court of Common Pleas. Having had business training and experience, we feel she is equally qualified as her opponent for this office.

However, beside this, we feel her efforts in behalf of all the citizens of our County, should have an especial appeal to you for your support. She has been Chapter Chairman of the Huron County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for the past fourteen years; no one has ever sought her aid in time of need that she did not give of her time and efforts to assist. She had 6,000 hours service in the A.W.V.S. Soldiers Canteen in World War II. 500 hours in Civilian Defense and countless hours in War Bond sales.

Since the office of Clerk of Court is the only office in the Court House held by a woman, we as a committee, ask you to vote for Ruth Friend, and keep this One Office open for the women of this County. And you can be assured that if elected, Mrs. Friend will give to the citizens of this county, the same efficient, courteous service they are accustomed to receiving in this office. And they will enjoy the loyalty and fidelity she gives in all her efforts.

Help Elect Ruth Friend. Thank You. Women's Non-Partisan Committee for Ruth Friend,

Our country is BEAUTIFUL

Yes, there's plenty of ugliness, too—but only in man-made things that can be changed. And we will change them—to match the vast and varied beauty of the land, and the great vision of the pioneers who saw it first and started building on it the free nation that we know will always be free.

Why the Huron County Agricultural Society Needs the Approval OF THE

ONE HALF MILL LEVY FOR ONE YEAR

AT NEXT TUESDAY'S ELECTION

1952 FAIR THE BALANCE AFTER EXPENDITURES WAS APPROXIMATELY	$4,500.00
1951 FAIR THE BALANCE AFTER EXPENDITURES WAS APPROXIMATELY	800.00
1950 FAIR THE DEFICIT AFTER EXPENDITURES WAS APPROXIMATELY	2,500.00

The 1950 DEFICIT was due to the unfavorable weather and was covered by a special appropriation by the Huron County Commissioners.

During the lean years in the past there was not sufficient money to properly maintain the present buildings and grounds.

THE NEED FOR NEW TOILETS IS IMPERATIVE

If this levy carries new toilets would be the very first expenditure. The repairing and painting of existing buildings and structures would be the next item.

The Fair Board would also like to promote the Fairgrounds as a public picnic and recreation center so that they could be used by more people throughout the year.

Marcine Faye Kaple of New Washington Becomes Bride of Robert James Schreck

New Washington's St. Bernard Catholic church was the scene of the nuptial high mass Saturday for Miss Marcine Faye Kaple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Kaple of New Washington and Robert James Schreck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schreck, Sr. of Plymouth.

The double-ring ceremony took place at ten o'clock by the Rev. Father Nicholas J. Trautner following which the bride placed a bouquet of red roses at the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Her own bridal bouquet was of white roses centered with a white orchid and tied with a cascade of white satin streamers.

Wearing a gown of white Chantilly lace with high neckline, tight fitting bodice and tiny buttons down the back, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. The fully gathered skirt, over net, flowed into a full train and her Juliette cap with nylon rouching, heart shaped, was attached to a finger tip veil of illusion. Her only jewelry was white pearl earrings.

ATTENDANTS
The maid of honor, Miss Mary Kay Sengstock of New London, a close friend of the bride, wore a gown of fuchsia rose with matching bodice of velvet and a headband of velvet to which was attached a shoulder length veil and she carried a front style bouquet of yellow baby mums.

groom from Plymouth, Miss Kay White of New Washington and a cousin of the groom and Miss Geraldine Fink of Attica, cousin of the bride wore jade green dresses fashioned with a velvet bodice and double net skirts. tually found a prize back at the church. Mesdames Lucy Kennedy and Holly Pugh were on the program committee for the month. Halloween refreshments were served at the close of the evening, the committee being Mesdames Audrey Beaver, Arlene Curtis and Edna Smith.

For November, the group will have a pot-luck supper at the church, on the last Monday of the month.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Earnest, Mrs. Stacy C. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Snider of Akron have returned from a vacation trip through the Smoky Mountains and down to Charleston, S. C. Points of interest where they stopped were Cumberland Falls, Ky., Chattanooga, Tenn., and Rock City on Lookout Mountain where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Myers.

From there they traveled thru Georgia where they saw cotton growing, being picked and a cotton gin at work. The cotton was blown from the wagons into the gin where the seeds were removed and it then came out in 500 pound bales ready for market.

The next point of interest was Charleston, S. C., where Mr. and Mrs. Snider's son Tom, who is in the Navy, is in port at the present time. Ensign Snider was given leave while they were there and took them to many places of interest among which was a trip on the Captain's boat out to the ship on which he is stationed, the Sbea, and on which he is Damage Control Officer. The tour over this ship was very interesting but brought too near the grim realities of war. The return trip included a trip through the Joyce Kilmer Memorial forest and a stop at Fontana Village, N.C. The brilliant coloring of the foliage in the mountains at this time of year is indescribable and worth traveling many miles to see.

Cattle slaughter will increase in 1953.

Church Bell To Call

entire platform, excepting the steps, will be a plywood enclosure approximately 30 inches high and stained in walnut. The entire chancel floor including the main altar, the sanctuary from the entrance door is carpeted with a two-tone green carpet, while underneath all the pews has been laid asphalt tile of black with a tinge of coral.

Instead of the former three sections of pews, there are now just two rows, one on either side of the large middle aisle approaching the altar. Rose colored cushions have been ordered for the pews.

The entire church has been painted in a soft pastel green, with off-white ceiling and the former wainscoting replaced with walnut stained plywood. Cream colored "Modernform" doors have been installed separating the sanctuary from the primary department which has been finished similar both in color, flooring and wainscoting, as the sanctuary. The balcony which accommodates the three young classes, Intermediate, High School and Young Adults, is also finished in green. The Junior department will be located in the rear of the Primary department in their own individual room.

The new bigness is the gift of the skilled labor of the church. Over a year, the men have worked faithfully building supports, cementing, digging sewers, making ready for the plasterers and general repair, so that now 150 people can be seated at the twelve new tables with new chairs for social affairs of the church.

Omer Burkett has supervised the masonry work in the dining room and Dan Grabach is completing the plastering this week.

An entire new chimney was built to accommodate the furnace that has been installed. Two new rest rooms will soon be a reality. The Josephine Church Furniture Company of Columbus were the designers and Charles Vansadaie the contractor, while most of the decorating has been done by Mr. Arthur Dome of Tiro.

At the morning worship hour, the Rev. Felix has chosen for his sermon topic, "Power From On High" and states there will be special music by the choir under the leadership of Miss Maryalice Weiler.

The renovation of the church was made possible largely by the gift of the late Mrs. Harriet Rogers Robinson, while several memorials have been added such as the entrance lights by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Miller in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Dickerson. Mr. Oscar Gowitka, a trustee, and electrical contractor, donated labor for the rewiring of the church and the outside lights. Mr. Harold Sams was chairman of the committee for the remodeling and it was through his untiring efforts and his co-workers that the work will soon be completed.

THORNTON KISSELL RECOVERING FROM SUDDEN ILLNESS

Thornton Kissell, employee of Page's Shiloh Hatchery, was taken suddenly ill last Friday evening while sitting on a stool in the Chuck Wagon, and was rushed to the Willard Municipal hospital in McQuate's ambulance, believed to be suffering from a heart attack.

Examined at the hospital by Dr. Faust of Plymouth, his heart was found to be okay and his trouble was diagnosed as a toxic condition causing an upset stomach. Released on Saturday afternoon from the hospital, Mr. Kissell is now able to be up and around, though feeling rather weak. He believes the toxic condition was caused by breathing the fumes of aluminum paint used in the Hatchery on Friday.

ENJOY TRIP TO MARLBHEAD AND CATAWBA ISLAND

Last Friday we accompanied Cloyd McQuate up to Marlhead and around the point to Catwaba Island. The weather was ideal for motoring with the smoky haze of Indian Summer hanging every where over the landscape and sailing, like a filmy blue veil, about Perry's monument on Put-In-Bay.

Cloyd's eyesight has been completely restored in the eye that was operated on, and he apparently took keen enjoyment in being once more behind the wheel of the Packard as it rolled over the smooth roadways. He seemed to enjoy the trip as much as we did, and it was really a treat to us.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Seniors are working on their play "Meet Me in St. Louis." This is a comedy in three acts by Perry Clark and based upon the book "Meet Me in St. Louis" by Sally Benson. This story appeared in the movies as a musical in technicolor but the version being used by the Seniors is entirely without music and full of rollicking fun as the Smith family gets into one difficulty after another.

The play will be presented on November 14th and 15th with a different set-up of characters each night and a different series of inter-act performances each night.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT FOR GRASS FIRE

Monday afternoon about 2:00 o'clock the Shiloh Fire Dept. was called out on State Route 178 to extinguish a grass fire in a field on the farm of James L. Russell.

A cow had broken a wire on an electric fence, and the resulting ground apparently ignited the dry grass and rails along it. Fanned by a high wind, it was threatening to get into a straw field which led up to the buildings.

The fire truck narrowly escaped demolition on the Main St. railroad crossing while firemen were trying to get it started to answer the call. A low battery forced them to shove it out on the street, and they got it across the tracks barely ahead of an oncoming train. Time to get a new battery, "Benny."

Letter From West From Jacksons

Just as the folks away from home like to read the Advertiser for news, so those still living around here like to read good letters that come with the morning's mail. The Iden Jackson family, who moved from Plymouth to Burbank, California, write just dandy letters, and we think you will like to read this one too. The Mrs. Fenton mentioned in their letter is a former Plymouthite, and conducted a millinery shop here some years ago.

Burbank - Oct. 20, 1952
Hello Tommy and Helen:

Picking up the Advertiser on the way home from work tonight reminded me that the dough for renewal subscription to the Old Home Town paper had better be getting on its way back east.

Now after having read about every word, will scribble a little note to let you know we are still out California way, and still reading the Advertiser, and receive it every week, thanks to your efficiency.

We see that they are having a Republican Rally at Norwalk tonight. Both candidates have been in L.A. a couple of times with overflow crowds in attendance. In a couple of weeks the race will be over. Am not placing any bets.

Around the Studios

with Cherlie Brooks.

Three gold statues of Trigger, famous horse played on NBC's radio and television star Roy Rogers, were awarded to the winning schools in the Fourth Annual Roy Rogers School Safety Award contest, held on August 5th at the Beverly Hills Hotel, in Beverly Hills, California. The statues, mounted on walnut bases, and having gold, silver and bronze plaques to designate first, second and third place in the contest, were won respectively by schools in Tampa, Florida, Hamtramck, Michigan and Yakima, Washington. More than 5,000 public and parochial elementary grade schools participated in the contest.

Lovely soprano Dorothy Warenskjold, frequent guest artist on "The Railroad Hour," is as talented an equestrienne as she is a songstress. As a sub-deb, Dorothy rode and showed her own horses, and in her tack room at home she has many and varied trophies and ribbons to prove her riding excellence.

In addition to his radio and television activities, Alan Reed, who portrays Jai's talkative friend, "Pasequale" on CBS-TV's "Life With Luigi," is also a very busy radio actor. Two of his most recent motion picture roles have been as the symphony conductor in "Here Comes The Groom" and — for a complete change of pace from both that role and "Pasequale"—he played Panchito Villa in "Viva Zapata!"

Red Skelton, star of NBC-TV's "Red Skelton Show," hates to sit for formal portraits, but never minds clowning for candid, informal shots. As portrait sittings are sometimes necessary for different purposes, photographers assigned to this chore with Red, usually count on getting one straight shot among a whole batch of gag shots, but privately agree with Red that they like his antics more than all.

On the item of the Scout Mountains, I too, agree that Plymouth can be proud of the donors of both awards and the work and efforts of the men in whose memories they are given. Both Ray and Stacy were swell fellows.

We picked up Mrs. Fenton and took a 200 mile trip yesterday, out to San Bernardino, on up to Big Bear Lake, 7000 ft. up in the mountains. The trees were very pretty, almost like Bear East, and the pine trees are very large with huge cones on them. The lake, too, was very beautiful, a deep blue in color, it is about 10 mi. by 5 mi. in size, with resorts lining its shores. Quite a thing, a lake so high up in the mountains. Lake Arrowhead, with a town resembling a Swiss Colony, is also up there about 21 miles west of Big Bear. We were there last Autumn. Mary got a tummy ache on the curves, but outside of that she enjoyed it. We visit her about every other week. She has a very nice apartment over in Hollywood.

We hear on the news that Chicago had 2½ inches of snow. Sounds cold. We were up sliding and tobogganing in the snow last winter, at Chilco Flats, about 30 miles north-east of us, in the mountains. The snow really gets deep and is an icier type of snow. It wasn't cold either, and the food sure tasted good after all the climbing and fresh air.

There are two ski lifts on the way to Big Bear, one at Snow

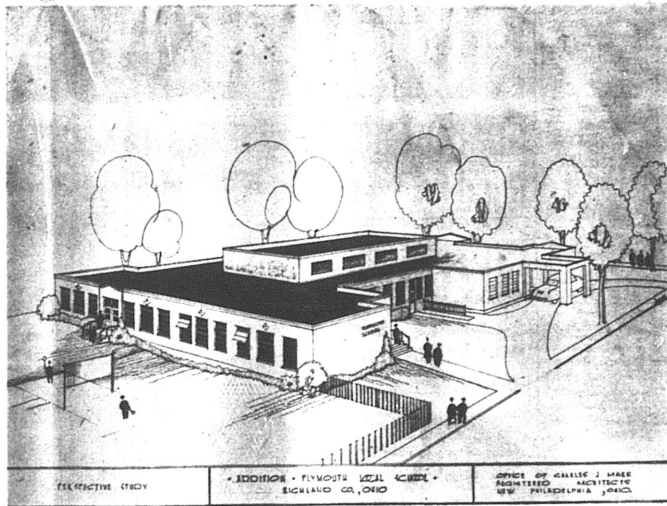

Valley, and one at Bear. They are single chair lifts. Chairs are about 28 ft. apart and never stop. You just step out at the top and also at the bottom of the lift—that is, if you don't come down on skis.

How is the family, and how are the folks and neighbors around the old place? Suppose everyone is digging in, getting ready for the cold weather ahead.

With best regards to you and all the folks back home—

I. R. Jackson

OHIO SESQUICENTENNIAL SYMBOL
TO BE TRADEMARK OF CELEBRATION

Ohio now has an official symbol for the big Sesquicentennial celebration that opens next March 1. The Ohio Sesquicentennial Commission in Columbus chose the design submitted by Charles L. Smith, an instructor in the Department of Art of Ohio University at Athens, as announced by Edwin C. Zepp, Executive Secretary.

The symbol consists of an outline map of Ohio, done in neutral gray, with a whorl of buckeye leaves at the upper right, encircled by 17 scarlet stars. In white lettering on the outline map are the words: "Ohio Sesquicentennial 1803-1953."

The artist interpreted his design as follows:

The 17 stars symbolize Ohio as the 17th state to enter the Union. The buckeye leaves refer to Ohio's nickname, and give a human touch to the design.

The line suggestion of the Ohio River represents the part it played in development of the state.

Use of scarlet symbolizes the state flower—the scarlet carnation. The symbol has been copyrighted by the Commission. Its use on souvenirs and in advertising will be at the discretion of the Commission. It will be the trademark of the Ohio Sesquicentennial.

The winning symbol was chosen from a field of fifteen selected by screening in nine regional contest centers. The artist will receive one hundred dollars. Second prize went to James J. Peters (1309 1/2 Clover Avenue), Marion. Third prize was won by Sigmund Shawkeye (1248 Woodward Avenue), Akron. Second and third place winners receive $50 and $25, respectively.

The following contestants received honorable mention:

James Kiopfenstein (428 West Seventh Avenue), Columbus; Tom Eaglin (2282 East Fifteenth St.), Dayton; Edward R. Burroughs—(2079 Rustic Road), Dayton; Chas. T. Eaton (Route 5), Coshocton; J. Arthur MacLean (2310 Glenwood), Toledo; Arthur L. Ireland, (2560 Cloybourne), Columbus; and Frank J. Lengel (674 Yale Street), Akron. All will receive a certificate of commendation signed by Governor Frank J. Lausche, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., chairman of the Ohio Sesquicentennial Commission, and members of the final judges panel.

The following contestants also will receive certificates of commendation as place winners in the regional contests.

Notice is hereby given, that Mary J. Herbert, 476 Marion Ave., Mansfield, Ohio, has been duly appointed and qualified as Adm. in the Estate of Anna L. Fate, deceased late of Plymouth, Richland County, Ohio.

the Boy Scouts of America feel challenged to do even more.

Surveys through the years have shown that three out of every four boys greatly desire to become Boy Scouts. But unfortunately, many do not, because no one has invited them to get into the "Game of Scouting". In some places new Units, with trained volunteer leaders, are needed.

Accordingly, the Boy Scouts of America, from now through December 31st are conducting a "National Round-up" to bring into their ranks thousands of new Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers.

Here is an activity every citizen can wholeheartedly join. Many additional institutions could help by sponsoring one or more Units. Men could help our boys by serving a few hours each week as leaders and enrich their own lives by so doing.

Parents with boys of Cub Scout age (8 through 10), Boy Scout age (11 through 13) or one who could become an Explorer (14 and older) should encourage their sons to get into the "Game of Scouting."

Boy Scouts Plan
'National Roundup'

In 1916 Congress granted a Federal Charter to the Boy Scouts of America to "promote through organization and co-operation with other agencies the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues, placing emphasis on the Scout Oath and Law for character development, citizenship training and physical fitness."

The Boy Scouts of America has woven itself into the very fabric of the nation since 1910, more than 19 million boys and men have had the opportunity to be enriched by its training. There are now 2,187,768 boys active in its ranks. Today 775,846 adults serve as volunteer leaders. In a very real sense they are helping to build the future of our country by their effective service to boyhood through Scouting.

1 CAR DRIVER OUT OF 3
CAN EXPECT STARTING
TROUBLE THIS WINTER!

Official records show that about 750,000 Ohio cars failed to start last winter. On this basis, one out of three drivers can expect trouble this winter. But the major causes of this trouble—as revealed by the records—can be anticipated and prevented with Sohio Guaranteed Starting Protection, at no extra cost!

Here's how Sohio Guaranteed Starting Protection helps you avoid these four major causes of car-starting failure!

BATTERY:

One of the biggest causes of starting failure is the battery! This year, Sohio Guaranteed Starting Protection includes a unique new battery-check plan.

A Sohio check-up ticket attached near your battery assures regular inspection and good condition. There is no charge for this service.

LUBRICANTS:

Gear oil that is too heavy or motor oil that doesn't flow drags your battery down. Guaranteed Starting includes the right weight lubricants in transmission and differential, and free-flowing, sludge-resistant winter grade Sohio motor oil in the crankcase.

FROZEN GAS LINES:

Water condenses out of the air in the gas tank, freezes in gas lines, stops the engine. Sohio Guaranteed Starting Protection includes Super Hi-Cyl, a tested gasoline anti-freeze that gives you positive protection against this major cause of trouble.

GASOLINE:

Gasoline with improper starting and warm-up characteristics can cause the engine to fail to start, or start but stop again. New, improved Sohio X-tane and Sohio Supreme gasolines have exactly the right starting and warm-up qualities for Ohio driving!

Ask for GUARANTEED STARTING PROTECTION, world's only products and services guaranteed to give you sure starts all winter long!

BETTY REPORTS BY LETTER FROM ITALY

Another interesting letter from Italy has been received from Betty Hutchinson, who is spending some time in Italian farms this summer and autumn, as one of a group of students from Ohio who are living in some country of Europe or Asia, or South America.

Before too long, Miss Hutchinson will be beginning her trip home and we are most anxious to hear her tell of her life in the sunny land.

September 29, 1952
Catania, Italy (Sicily)

Dear Friends:
Right now I'm in a city which has been several times destroyed by the eruptions of Etna and by earthquakes. This city of Catania is the second largest in Sicily and is located at the foot of Mt. Etna. The city seems very dark because there are many lava constructed streets, walls, and buildings. Also there are lava banks, and grottoes all along the water front of the city. The bay of blue Mediterranean sea is most always dotted with fishing boats. At night it looks like many porch lamps out to sea.

In the center of this town is a fenced off area, the size of a small square, which is the remains of an old Greek theatre. It seems to be the seats; the stage part is not there. Also there is an area which was used for rehearsals of the choruses. It was rebuilt of lava stone by the Romans, and practically all the marble facing is gone.

One of Catania's streets is named Via Etna for Mt. Etna and is very steep leading from the city to the mountain. From the city the Mountain appears to me to be very distant but I believe it is so high (10,742 feet).

I believe the warm climate is the only thing that convinces me I'm so far south but yet Sicily is located between the 35th and 40th latitudinal line, the same as southern Ohio and Kentucky.

This past week I have been swimming a couple of times in the Mediterranean sea. The water is warm but refreshing and the sun is most always shining brightly.

A good part of the 9935 square miles of the island of Sicily is mountainous; a continuation of the chain of both the Appennines of Italy and the Atlas Mountains of Africa. To get to Catania I took a train from Palermo and crossed mountains nearly all the way. They seem very barren, brown and are very deserted. I did see some sheep, a few oxen and some areas of wheat stubble or plowed land, but such steep slopes to cultivate!

Near Catania and along the coast, I have seen some very good looking crops. They are mainly citrus fruits: lemons, oranges, and tangerines, and other fruits, nuts and vegetables. Quite a bit of the area on the lower slopes of Mt. Etna is being cultivated. Terrace walks have been built of lava and many grapes, lemons, and tangerines are produced on these terraces (only a few yards from side to side). Also I saw rumpled lava areas where there were no plants or just a few cactus plants—the first plants to grow in lava. My host tells me that gradually over a long period of time the lava area is brought into cultivation; first cactus; then few olive trees and/or fruit and nut trees.

It seems to me bicycles play the part here that our pickup trucks play in the U.S. I am not surprised at the loads and attachments the bicycle carries. I saw one bicycle with 3 large baskets full of garden produce. Two oblong, deep baskets were on either side of the back wheel, like on sides of a burro, and another was on top of the fender. I would give Sicily the nickname "Egg-plant Island". I have never eaten egg plant so often or in so many different ways. It is for sale in most every market and on most every vendors stand. Also I have seen many large ones hanging in the sun in farmhouse dooryards for next year's seed.

—Victoria, Sicily

Later — Oct. 4, 1952
I am now located on a farm in southern Sicily which is farther south than the most northern part of Africa. This is a medium sized farm containing about 200 acres of flat land in a valley. The principal crops are tomatoes, citrus fruit, and cotton and other fruits which the farm borders vegetation.

About 15 miles from the farm in the same province of Ragusa there is a large level area 650 meters high. On this high flat area there are no trees. The ground is nearly all stone—very thin terra for cultivation. The whole area is divided up into small fields, each field surrounded by a 2½–3½ foot high white stone wall. These walls were made of stone gathered from the fields. Either grain is raised in the fields or else fields are pasture areas for cows or sheep. On the sloping sides of this high area some of the stone has been used to build walls to keep the land from falling or running away. At many places terraces for cultivation are starting to be made as is true on a sloping area of this farm.

Most sincerely,
(Signed) Betty Hutchinson

Ike Sweeps Election

The Senior Problems of Democracy Class sponsored a mock campaign election last week. The class sponsor, Mr. Sarpa, helped us plan the campaign and election, and make it a success.

Registration for the election was held from Monday till Wednesday and the registered voters were kept separate from the non-registered voters. The Seventh and Eighth graders were allowed to vote but their votes also were kept separate from the rest.

At the mock campaign Wednesday the following gave speeches: Jeanette Mumes, Nancy Barbour, Darlene Binion, Mary Alexander, Lanny Gooding, Mack Dick, Joe Bettac, Tom Meiser, Tom Rhine, Otis Port.

The M.C. was Ronald Norris, who introduced each speaker. So that the campaign would look more like a real campaign we had Television boys who focused their cameras on each speaker. These boys were David Koser, Butch Burrer, and Jack Bradford.

Results of Thursday's election were:—

KRAZY COLUMN KIDS
— Well, here we are again! To bring you more news about P.H.S. kids.

— What's this we hear about Mary Robertson expecting a box from a certain boy?

— Also we hear that Georgianna has a chauffeur— my, aren't we getting ritzy!

— What's this we hear that the majority of Juniors are for Ike and Nixon. Glad to hear it Juniors.

— We hear the Emanon gang has received a new member. Congratulations Fern!

— What was all the fuss about during school last Tuesday. Could it be because of F.H.A. initiation, could it?

— Also what was the fuss about last Tuesday after school between Mr. Coon and the Drum Major and majorettes?

— Why was there a certain bunch of boys present at F.H.A. initiation Tuesday evening? Couldn't be that they had nose trouble, could it?

— Isn't Betty Carter wearing a clever little pin? I bet Betty knows what the F.H.A. emblem looks like now.

— We wonder if Joe and Jan had fun last Tuesday night at the haunted house.

— Why are a certain group of girls in the Freshman class worried? Could it be because they have disobeyed the F.H.A. initiation rules.

— We wonder if a certain sophomore girl in Spanish class knows where Peru is? It's on this side of Norway isn't it Nancy. Oh, you mean the country of Peru, that's different!!

— The kids are going to leave this thought for the day: Be as pure as new fallen snow, but don't drift.

By for now,
K.K.K.

Extension Committee In Norwalk Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Huron County Agricultural Extension Advisory Committee was held Wednesday evening, October 15, at the Court House, Norwalk. O. H. Seifert, chairman, presided over the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Dalton, Wakarusa Township, reported on the state committee meeting held in August. Farm people from all over Ohio attended this meeting to make recommendations for improving the Agricultural Extension program. They also made several requests for additional specialists help in the field of Horticulture & Marketing. Mr. Dalton reported that farmers felt the Extension Service needed to keep a full staff due to the changes now taking place in the farming business. The Extension staff in the counties offers farmers the link between research at the Experiment Station and the College of Agriculture and their own individual farms.

Mr. O. C. Gray, Assistant Director of the Agricultural Extension Service in Ohio, spoke briefly on the State Extension Advisory Committee and its function in developing a state-wide program.

The Extension Agents, Miss Mabel Fernald, Fred Jase and John Wells, gave brief reports on activities the past year and plans for the coming year.

Wallace Gause, Fitchville township, was elected chairman for the local group. O. H. Seifert, Peru Township, vice chairman and Mrs. Byron Dalton, Wakarusa Township secretary. Mr. and Mrs. Dalton were re-elected delegates to the state committee.

4TH GRADE SOCIAL STUDIES

This year we are using "Our People and Mine," by Josephine Mackenzie. This book teaches History and Geography together.

We have covered Unit One. This unit discussed the people who found our country. In this unit we studied the Spaniards, English and the French along with the Dutch. We discovered that each had an important part in making our country what it is today.

Unit Two, which we are studying now, discusses the people who settled our country. We have read and talked about the many hardships that the colonists had. Heather Morrison brought in a candle mold.

There were candles in the mold which was quite interesting to the class.

James Stevens and Jerry Dalton brought in home made soap. This soap was made by their grandmothers. We will discuss the methods used in making soap.

SIXTH GRADE SOCIAL STUDIES

The class has made drawings to show how men changed their ways of life as they became civilized. This soap was made by their grandmothers. We will discuss the methods used in making soap.

Some of the activities carried out during the study of Greece include an outdoor dramatization of "Schoolboys of Old Athens," a clay model of the Acropolis, a picture collection of Greek architecture, and sketches, designs of Greek columns: Doric, Ionic and Corinthian.

A number of pupils have recently displayed and explained their hobbies to the class. Collections included shells, coins, post cards, round maps, toy china cups and saucers, arrowheads, model trains and scrapbooks.

Fire Prevention posters were made in Art class October 7.

BROILED SANDWICHES

By BETTY NEWTON

Sometimes when the weather is hot we like at least one hot food, but don't want to put forth much effort to fix it. Broiled sandwiches are ideal on such days. They are easy, hot and appetizing. They add just the right touch to a salad and on a cooler day they go well with a cup of hot soup.

Meal-in-one Sandwiches

- 9 bread slices
- 9 slices boiled or baked ham,
- 1 large or 15 small tomato slices
- 6 hard-cooked eggs
- 9 Tbsp. French dressing
- 9 slices process American cheese
- Paprika

Toast bread slices on one side in broiler of gas range. On untoasted side place slice of ham, one or two slices of tomato and slices of hard-cooked egg. Pour 1 Tbsp. French dressing on each sandwich. Top with slice of cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Return to broiler and broil until cheese melts and is lightly browned. Makes 9 sandwiches.

Toasted Salmon Sandwiches

- 1 1/2-lb. can (1 C.) flaked salmon
- 1/2 C. chopped onion
- 1/2 C. sliced green pepper
