

Assistant to Clerk Asks $75 Raise Monthly, Gets $40

Steps toward streamlining the village administrative establishment and standardizing salaries were taken by the village council Tuesday night as a $40 a month raise was voted to the assistant to the clerk.

At the request of the Board of Public Affairs, to whom the incumbent assistant had applied for an increase of $75 a month, the council wrestled with the problem and came up with two conclusions:

1. Salary of the combined jobs of clerk of the village and of the Board is now $1,500 annually, and with the assistant to the clerk as his wife, combined income is $315 a month for the two jobs under the new raise. This amounts to $3,780 a year.

2. By combining the posts of village treasurer and clerk, an additional $200 revenue could be realized to the latter's job. This must be done not later than 90 days before election.

The raise was granted with some reluctance in view of the extra work envisaged by the entry into force of the new sewer usage tax. The ordinance which will be drawn up by Village Solicitor Joseph F. Dush will stipulate that the funds to cover the raise will derive from the sewer revenue fund. Since no moneys will be paid into the fund before July 1, the raise cannot be effective until some time in July.

The salary question teetered on a delicate legal question: are the jobs of clerk of the village and clerk of the Board of Public Affairs legally split? If so, the salary of Carl V. Ellis, who holds both jobs, could be raised. But, the state examiner is said to hold for him to do so is illegal under state law.

An informal search of the ordinance book failed to produce any ordinance legally separating the two jobs and old hands on the council could not recall whether such an ordinance was actually passed.

Property owners in West Broadway, headed by Clarence Barnes and Lacey Williamson, turned out in some number to protest the intention of the Board of Public Affairs to extend water service in the east end of Trust street before they are furnished with adequate water.

The council told them the two jobs would be lumped as one and offered for bids as one. Inadequacy of a small water line from the standpoint of fire protection was cited by the property owners as the reason for their complaint.

The council tabled for another two weeks an ordinance appointing Russell J. Mosher of Shiloh as superintendent of light and power when no medical record was adduced for its consideration. The principle of a medical examination for all new employees was laid down informally by the council, and the Board of Public Affairs emphatically told that an examination must be carried out before an ordinance will be passed.

Just what the council thinks is proper in respect to extension of water service was debated at some length as well. The consensus seemed to be that a surveyor furnished by the engineer already hired by the Board should prepare estimates of the amount of pipe and labor needed to complete the West Broadway, the Trust street and the Riggs avenue extensions, and thereafter the Board should consider the availability of funds and undertake the work as funds allow.

Recent action of village council in setting a two-hour limit on parking in the business district has motorists such as Martin Hampton alert to parking time.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ralph M. Felix on the steps of the parsonage at 32 East High street Sunday as the veteran pastor of First Presbyterian church left for California to represent Wooster Presbytery.

Frank A. Myers Dies After Lengthy Illness

A long-time Plymouth area farmer died at his home Thursday at 3:30 p.m. after a lengthy illness.

He was Frank A. Myers, 64, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., who lived in Silliman township, Plymouth, for nearly 20 years.

Funeral services were conducted at the McQuate Funeral home Sunday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. G. C. Heflinger of Willard and interment was in New Haven cemetery.

Mr. Myers was the son of William and Laura Stout Myers and is survived by his wife, Bertha, and three daughters, Opal, Elyria, Emma Jane, Shelby, and Mrs. Mabel Tiffan, Shelby, and a son, Lawrence, Plymouth route 1.

Mr. Myers was once the victim of a train accident near Savannah, which cost him an eye and an ear. He was an expert in the making of maple sugar and kept until his death two teams of horses, one of the last farmers in this region to do so.

Three brothers, Charles, Ashland, Floyd, and Louis, and William, Pittsburgh, also survive.

Train Theme To Be Summer Reading Program Guide

Annual summer reading program of Plymouth branch library will begin May 31, with the theme of the Reading Express.

Mr. Myers was invited by Mrs. Harold Shaffer, librarian, to enroll between tomorrow and May 28 for the program. First, second and third grade readers of the Train theme will be complete 20 books during the summer. The Travel club, for fourth through ninth grade pupils, will read 10 books.

Aug. 10 for those who complete their assignments.

First story hour will be conducted June 10 at 2 p.m. at the library, announces Mrs. Earl C. Cashman, chairman of the summer story hour. Mrs. Belle Bachman has presented a program for first through third grade readers.

Red Face, Black Ham

Wade McKown and John Kleer have red faces and some smoked ham.

They forgot some cooking ham left on the stove of their watering place Sunday, Fire Chief Dalton F. McDougall's nose detected fire, and the door was broken in to put it out. Only small damage resulted.

Shiloh Grangers Attend Rally

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barnes, Miss Rosemary Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Daup represented the Shiloh Grange at the Rural Life Sunday program at the Haysville school Sunday evening.

The program was put on by the Richmond County Pomona Grange and a representative from each grange in the county was scheduled on the program. Miss Barnes was Shiloh's representative.

Two Local Men Named to Office

David Sams and Richard Goldsmith were installed Sunday as vice presidents of the Richmond County Christian Endeavor union during the annual spring convention at the Ridgeway church of God in East Mansfield.

Miss Patricia Pugh of Shelby was installed new president of the group. Other officers are JoAnne Waiter of Lexington, corresponding secretary; Mrs. David Sams, recording secretary; Kenneth Brook of Ganges, treasurer; Harold Sams, assistant treasurer.

Among the new officers chosen for the High School Christian Endeavor board is Nelson Roberts, who will be the new treasurer.

Another Table Given to School By Mothers' Club

Purchase of a second collapsible table for the elementary school cafeteria was authorized at a special meeting of the Mother's club Tuesday.

Temporary tables are now in use for the children at lunch time. Just under $400 was reported by the treasurer, Mrs. Robert Kessler, to be available. The table costs approximately $369, which leaves a small balance to pay for another electric roaster for use in the kitchen. This had been previously agreed upon and will now be purchased.

The purchase of the two tables by the Mother's club has been realized from the turkey dinner given in November, the monthly dances, and the Spring Festival, the last two shared by the P.T.A.

Mr. McCuen is the director of the Mansfield school for mentally retarded children.

Grabach Gives Up Only Two Hills, Locals Trim Tiro, 4 to 1

Brilliant two-hit pitching by young Don Grabach, in his first outing for Plymouth, returned the Pilgrims to a 4-1 victory over Troy High school today Thursday.

Grabach fanned 13 batters as Plymouth steamed to its third win in four tries. Jim Jacobs, leading Pilgrim pitcher with 667, added to his batting average with one of five Plymouth hits.

In the home second, Grabach passed the leadoff hitter, Eckstein, and with the hit-and-run on, Howard smashed a hot one to home on short and third. Little Ted Fox snatched it up on the edge of the infield grass in a flashy move, and his left, fired to Caudill at second to erase Eckstein and saw Howard doubled at first.

Grabach was never in trouble after that.

Companies Like 'Do-It-Yourself'

The Harold Companies have lived on their 80-acre farm in Bowman Street road for a decade and by dint of hard work and careful planning have proved that do-it-yourself pays off.

For some time now the Companies have been remodeling the homestead. After they tore down a porch, they added to the south, east and west and now have a modern, comfortable dwelling suitable for their growing family.

The family isn't so large by number, "but these kids don't let any food spoil around here," laughs husky Harold Company.

Carol Ann, 12, answers (sometimes, at least) to "Goo Goo" to her two fullback brothers, Roger, who's 5, and Ronnie, who's 3.

Mr. Company manages the place, does most of the work, and finds time to do custom work with his ditching machine. His farm is now mostly in alfalfa - "too darned much of it, I'd guess," but that's how it is with a small farmer. He's so busy he doesn't know which way to turn and he plants whatever he can grow fast, easily, and at a profit.

The Companies are proud - and rightly so - of what they've done in the remodeling of their house. And, like any builder, they've learned what mistakes they made and what they'd do differently if they were doing it all over again.

"I chose some native timber - Ohio walnut - for the trim," says Mr. Company, "and it wasn't as good as I thought it would be."

Story on the Brooks farm will be next week.

Starkey Breaks Leg Doing Chores

D. D. Starkey was released Saturday from Willard Municipal hospital where he had been hospitalized for the past week as the result of a fractured leg. Mr. Starkey fell at his home while removing storm windows. McQuate's ambulance took him to his home at Sycamore.

Saturday evening John Vanderpool was brought to his home west of Plymouth from the Norwood Rest home at Norwalk by the McQuate, ambulance and Sunday morning Ralph Forbes of Adario was taken to Cleveland clinic for treatment of a back injury.

Maids o' Mist Meet With Mrs. Kiess

Mrs. J. E. Kiess will be hostess to the Maids of the Mist when they meet Thursday.

A pot-luck luncheon will be held at noon followed by the program. Mrs. Effie Gilger is in charge of the program for this meeting.

Head to Be Chosen For Band Mothers

Election of officers will be held by the Band Mothers at Monday's meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Mrs. R. Earl McQuate has headed the group for the past year. Mrs. Clarence Riggle is the present vice-president. Mrs. Vance Snyder, secretary, and Mrs. David Cook, treasurer.

Wooster Dean Will Nurse Exam Taken Preach Sunday By Miss Van Zoest

In the absence of the Rev. Ralph M. Felix, Sunday services in the First Presbyterian church will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ralph Young.

Dr. Young is dean of men at the College of Wooster.

Arlene Van Zoest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Van Zoest, has passed the Michigan State Board examinations for nursing.

Miss Van Zoest is a registered nurse on the staff of Blodgett hospital in Grand Rapids, Mich.

He points to some handsomely grained finish that requires only elbow grease to bring out its high finish and good grain. "And this floor, it ought to have been hardwood instead of the composition, the boys race so their heels mark it up."

The Companies used to do quite a bit in the way of poultry but right now all they've got is six goslings, little brown-and-yellow birds that are so attached to humans they squall terribly when there're none about.

And they've a handsome female collie, Lassie, who follows the youngsters about the place.

Before Mr. Company went into his grassland program, he was on a four-year rotation of his crops, work that kept him occupied on activities that produce cash return only twice a year, whereas his custom work with the ditcher furnishes cash income steadily. Except, of course, when the ground is too hard to ditch.

Story on the Brooks farm will be next week.

Thoughts of a Very Amateur Commencement Speaker

The editorial writer at this time of ear is supposed to wax oratorical, and to out high-flown ideas and expressions that will be guideposts to young people
as they go forth from their school days.

To us, this has always seemed foolish.
We cannot change their characters;
haracter is already built by the time
they reach school, so we are 12 years late. We cannot change their ways; only they can do that.

Just about all we can try to do is to make them want to change those ways that seem to us, in the light of experience, to need changing.

The distinguished speaker of tomorow's commencement exercises certainly knows as much about how to prepare ne's self for the cold, cruel world as nybody in the profession, and we make o effort to steal his thunder. We probably could not do so if we were to try.

But at the risk of doing so unintentionally, we would tell the young graduates this: learn to make decisions.

Industry is today at the crossroads because men cannot make decisions fast nough. So man has devised an automatic device that makes decisions for
im. The automobile industry has adapted it quickly. One man now does the work of several dozen two years ago; all e has to do is watch a lighted board and hange the tool or gadget that indicates vear or malfunction.

The machine does the thinking for him. Any darned fool can change the broken or worn part. And because man has failed to make decisions fast enough, other men have devised machines to do man's thinking for him.

This is not to say that machines - robots, maybe - will ultimately supplant nan. Far from it. But they will tend to lo away with the need for unskilled and emi-skilled men. This is happening very day. Mr. Reuther and his union are looking for a guaranteed annual vage, largely because they are afraid of automation, as it's called, and rightly so.

But we can't just take these unskilled and semi-skilled people - of whom there are many millions - out and shoot them.
Now there isn't much need for them.
They are human beings just like the rest of us. What are we going to do with them? How are we going to overcome the likelihood that advances in industry will make for a smaller demand for manpower at a time when our nation is bursting at the seams with people?

If these young graduates to whom we award diplomas tomorrow haven't learned to think, where, then are they going to learn? And if they have failed to think, whose fault is it?

Five Years Ago
John A. Root was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital for X-rays and observation.
The village subscribed more than the goal of $500 to the fund for the furnishing of a room in Wilard Municipal hospital.
Leonard Smith, son of the Rev.
and Mrs. L. E. Smith, and Charles L. Hannum, Jr., participated in the organ recital of pupils of Mrs.
Mabel Zehner at Ashland.
Fourteen seniors were graduated with the Class of 1950, Shiloh
High school.
Archie F. Cornell broke his arm and his eyeglasses when he made a wrong turn coming from the bath of his home at West High and Plymouth streets and fell down a short flight of steps.
A golden parade horse owned by Mr. and Mrs. Don Willet won first ribbon in a show at Waterloo, Ia.
William Teal, Park avenue, became a great-grandfather twice in one week. The parents of his great-grandsons were Mr. and Mrs.
Richard Myers of Willard and
Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Myers of Springfield.
Police Chief Robert L. Meiser
visited the court of Judge Marriott at Mansfield on a business errand and recognized a prisoner at bar as wanted in another place. He was Lawrence Lykins, escapee
from the state hospital at Tiffin.
Lykins was promptly returned to the hospital.
Daniel Eby, James Brown, Robert
Fogelson and Royal E. Eckstein,
Jr., were the four local Boy Scouts selected to attend the Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa.
Mary Alice Weller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Weller of Hill street, was a soloist on Station
WOSU, Columbus.
The betrothal of Miss Marilyn Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thompson of Truxstreet, to John Garrett, Shelby, was announced.

Ten Years Ago
Mrs. Ralph Predieri was in critical condition at Wilard Municipal hospital with burns received when her home west of the village burst into flame.
Newt Vanderpool was hospitalized at Wilard with injuries sustained when his newly purchased automobile went out of control and struck an abutment
in Route 598.
An effigy of Hitler was burned in the Public Square to mark the official end of the war in Europe.
Mrs. Charles Lookabaugh, president of the Auxiliary, American Legion, was in charge of the annual poppy day.

tacted a conduit of lesser voltage and eliminated radio reception in the village during the announcement of the end of hostilities in Europe.
C. H. McQuate, Shiloh grocer, lost a fountain pen in front of his store.
Mrs. J. E. Weaver was returned to her home after hospitalization
in Shelby.

15 Years Ago
Mrs. Nora Reed Wyandt, 89, and Miss Eva White, 87, Elyria, who were members of the Class of 1870 of Plymouth High school, accepted invitations to be seated on the platform and to receive diplomas with the Class of 1940.
Supt. William Gumsaulius became ill in 1870, and diplomas could not be signed nor could a commencement program be held. The Board of Education rectified the error after 70 years.
Mrs. Addie Rex Dickinson, 84, died suddenly at her Shiloh home.
J. Harold Cashman was promoted to fill the vacancy of Miss Pearl Elder at Fate-Root-Heath Co., and J. Benjamin Smith was elevated to the post vacated by Mr. Cashman. The company reported 272 persons on the payroll,

Around the Square
— By Phineas Whittleseed —
Friend of ours was asked, upon reaching his 70th birthday, what he'd like in the way of a present. A witty, keen fellow he, with 40 years of experience in the law and on the bench, he replied, "A home-tat-towing outfit."
Whaddya figger he's up to at his age?

Our friend W. L. reports that this year the internal revenue people are doing it a little different; they're keeping the money but turning the blood over to the Red Cross.
Some 28 youngsters have been in to sign their names on the dotted line to play softball this summer.
We have explained to them that 1) softball makes more sense because we apparently don't have enough lads to make up enough teams to start a baseball league; 2) baseball would cost us $500, which we don't have; 3) "pony" ball would cost $125 for national affiliation and would mean we have to submit to national in specation and could only play league play good softball, left left alone baseball. Then, too, there's the factor that eight-year-olds are generally prone to some injury, and mothers are always worried lest a baseball smacked an eye or two. To which we add an amen.
A mother stopped us in the street Saturday and asked what about the kids' ball this year. We replied we were planning to get something started. She asked if the uniforms would be expensive, and we said there'd be no charge, the suits - such as they are - are all burlap and paid for. Then she mentioned equipment. We explained that the boy need only bring a mitt. She asked how much mits cost, and we answered as best we could, adding that if any youngster couldn't afford a mitt we could use us and save so and we'd give him enough work to earn a mitt.
"What do you mean, work?" the mother asked.
"Why, mowing the lawn, pulling weeds, raking leaves, stuff like that, so he'll know he earned the glove."
"Humph," she humped, "why don't you give the boy the mitt?"
And we said, "Ma'am, you can raise your boy that way if you like, but we'd rather have boys who earn what they get. They appreciate it more."

So, fellows, here's the dope: we'll try to organize four teams to play on Thursday evenings, in five-inning games, two games each Thursday, under the lights. We need at least 25 more boys, better if we have 25. The list is still open. Get your friends in on the game, and have a good time. The teams will be called the Pirates, the Cubs, the Cardinals and the Braves. That way there'll be nobody whose feelings are hurt because he can't play for the Indians. We'll have uniformed umpires and well-managed games.
And the teams will be organized and players assigned to them so that no team has more power or skill than another.
Everybody who turns out will get to play, and regular appearance at practices and at games will mean regular play.
The game is for the kids, and each youngster will get all he can handle. So c'mon, fellows, we're waiting.
There comes shoving under the door an anonymous communication that bears notice. "The second grades and their teachers went to the Mansfield city airport to see a passenger plane come in. It was on time. There no passengers to get off but three got on and the plane took off for Columbus. Then we went to Page's Dairy. They showed us through the plant. The most interesting thing we saw was bottling the milk, which is done by a machine that glues the bottom of the box, waxes the fills in the milk, seals and washes the outside of the box. Before we left the dairy we were given chocolate milk and ice cream bars."
"We then drove out to Kingwood Center to see the 60,000 tulips in bloom. We ate dinner at the East Mansfield school cafeteria. After lunch we went to the National Guard airport where we saw the tower (103 steps up), a jet plane and a large passenger plane."
"We came home through Shelby to stop at a Dairy Queen as Chippy Paddock treated us to ice cream."
"George Chessman drove the bus to take us on this trip and hope he enjoyed the day as we did."

Dunno who wrote it, but he or she has a career ahead of him. It's clear to the point, discursive and informational. Wish we had some adults who could do as well.
Reminds us of the school-boy who started his composition thus: "Damn," said the Duchess, as she lighted her cigar.
If that youngster had continued in the same vein, he'd have become the greatest writer in history. He had something, he did.

Mrs. Harold Sloan apparently suspected we like cookies, 'cause she was in with a bag of 'em one day this week, hankie, ma'am. What we did wasn't anything special, but any time you have things like that laying around that would otherwise spoil, ring us up. The number is 59.
Any stamp friends? Robt' Haas reports the bylaws of the Shelby Stamp club have been rewritten so that meetings will be in homes of the members. P. H.
Root and Don Markley are other local members, and Mrs. Plin would like to except that stamps and newspapers don't mix on Tuesday nights.

We have had two of the younger fry in looking for jobs this past week. Talked it over with 'em offered 'em a job, set the wage, and was "rooken up" on the deal. But we're not holding our breath until they report. Here for Bill Archer and Dan Hockenberry, they've all left us in the lurch.

Parade to Headline May 30 Activities

Memorial day in Shiloh will be observed with a parade up Main street and a memorial program at the school, according to Proctor, commander of Garrettsville Post 503, American Legion, which, with its auxiliary unit, is sponsoring the event.

Members of both units will assemble in front of the Legion hall on East Main street at 9:30 a.m., and the parade, led by the Shiloh high school band, will march up Main to Walnut, back to the Legion hall and down to the school. Memorial Sunday, May 29, members of both units will assemble in front of the Legion hall and march in a body to attend the services at the Methodist church. Last year the Lutheran church conducted the services.

The firing squad and color guard of the post will be attired out in brand new uniforms, obtained by John Reynolds and Neal Garrett in Columbus Saturday. A dress rehearsal was held in the Legion hall Tuesday night in preparation for participation in the Armed Forces day program in Mansfield next Sunday.

Wayne Jenkins of the State Fire Marshal's office will address the Shiloh Fire department in the near future on the subject of Rural Fire Protection.

Woodrow Shaffer is nursing a few minor cuts and bruises sustained when his 1946 Dodge coach skidded on the curve in Planktown Saturday night and crashed.

The car, Wood states, is almost a complete ruin.

Mrs. Roscoe Hamman of the Wells-Hamman road and Mrs. Cloyd Russell of Prospect street attended the spring convocation of the Shelby Senior and Junior bands held in the Shelby High School auditorium last Monday evening.

Gary Stroup, a grandson of Mrs. Russell, participated in the convocation.

The Loyal Daughters Class of the Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. Verda Noble in the Noble road Friday evening.

The Young Women's Missionary group of the Lutheran church will meet at the church this evening.

James (Mike) Garrett of Dogkirk is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Garrett, in Church street.

Arthur Dewey of West Main street was removed from his home to the Bertha Stout rest home in Greenwich May 11 in McQuate's ambulance.

No Milk Nor Paper!

There was no milk and no morning paper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Page in Railroad street last Monday morning.

Some thief took three quarts of the grade A fluid and the morning newspaper off the side porch. Eighteen cents in change the milkman left, however, George states, was overlooked.

Mrs. Charles Caldwell, 110 Stewart Lane, Mansfield, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Fannie Caldwell, was admitted to Woman's hospital in Chester avenue, Cleveland, May 10 and underwent surgery there May 16.

The operation is reported to have been successful, but no visitors other than her husband are allowed in to see her.

Seventeen members of the Shiloh Pals 4-H club met May 11 after school. Marlene White, presided at the meeting and roll call was answered by each member giving a safety hint.

Ceryll Owens gave a demonstration on what goes on in a sewing basket.

The girls plan to entertain their mothers on May 27 at the Methodist school. The girls taking projects under the direction of Mrs. Stanley Huston, "when 4-Hers Entertain" will have charge.

The next meeting will be May 25 after school.

Mrs. Harold Porter of Route 178 was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital May 9.

Shiloh Firemen Attend Civil Defense School at Camp Perry, Study Fires

Fire Chief Merton A. Benedict and volunteer firemen Joe Cilla and Vernon Moser spent the week-end at Camp Perry, where they were enrolled in the fire school conducted by the Northwestern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association.

The school was part of the Ohio Civil Defense Corps school held at Camp Perry Saturday and Sunday in which more than 3,000 persons took part. It was sponsored by the Fourth Area Ohio Civil Defense organization and brought representatives from all over Ohio and many states of the Union. The Michigan State police were in charge of the arduous proceedings, according to Benedict.

The Shiloh representatives registered Friday night, slept in open windowed tarpaper barracks, ate in the old mess hall and participated in the firemen classes, which covered the role of fire departments in Civil Defense.

Bible School to Begin

Daily Vacation Bible school will be conducted at Mt. Hope Lutheran church from June 6 until June 17.

Classes will be held for kindergartners, beginners, primary, junior, and intermediate age groups. All children of the community are urged and welcome to attend.

Mrs. Paul Kranz and Mrs. Leonard Wolfersberger will be in charge of the program.

"We're proud of our low-cost electric service"

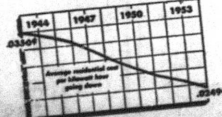

says
Reddy Kilowatt

Morning — noon — night ...

Electricity is ready to serve you at the flick of a switch ...

and at the same low rates!

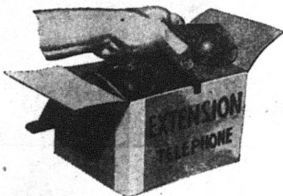

Yes, electric rates are still one of the cheapest items in the family budget — and the more you use, the lower your average cost per unit of electricity (kilowatt hour).

Actually, the cost of electricity continues to go down — while the cost of practically every other living expense goes up.

OHIO POWER COMPANY

This Package ... Makes Your Home Complete

Yes, modern living calls for a convenient extension telephone in the kitchen ... bedroom ... playroom ... or workshop. And the cost is only a few pennies a day.

No longer a luxury item, extension telephones make for gracious living. No more mad dashes to reach a telephone in a distant part of the house. You'll save time and steps at surprisingly low cost.

When you build, it's smart to include telephone conduit in your plans. For concealed wiring makes it easy to have telephone outlets wherever you wish.

We'll be glad to work with you in providing extension telephones today ... or planning the telephone needs for your home of tomorrow. Just call the telephone business office.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT
In Memory of Willard C. Ross, who died Apr. 26 1955

Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem, and hath received as his reward the white stone with the new name written thereon; and whereas, the all-wise and merciful Master of the Universe has called from labor to refreshment our beloved and respected brother, and he having been a true and faithful member of our beloved Order, therefore be it.

Resolved, that Richard Lodge No. 201, F. & A. M. of Plymouth, O. in testimony of its loss, draps its Charter in mourning for thirty days, that we tender to the family our sincere condolences in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

Heartiest Congratulations to . . .

Kent Knaus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burr Knaus of Plymouth route 1, wants to be a farmer and to succeed his father as manager of Hoffman farms. A musician, he has played in the band, and had roles in his class plays.

What's more, he's the biggest lad in the class.

We've been cutting hair of graduates for a grand total of 100 years — and we're always so glad to see graduates of today and their kids to be tonsured like a prince of the realm.

Mavis Pearl Lucas, salutatorian of the class, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas, 120 Beelman street.

She wants to be a teacher, and hopes to go to college this fall to realize that ambition. Active in extra-curricular activities, she is a veteran of service with the Future Teachers of America, Girls' Athletic association, girls' basketball and softball teams, the annual staff, the student council, the class play, and as a queen's attendant.

The home-town grocer is and has been for a long time the friend and confidant of the householders of his community — every one of them a graduate at one time or another. He gives them the best kind of advice — how to eat well on less.

The Road Is Not Easy but Worth It

Janet Alberta Smith is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Leonard E. Smith of Youngstown. When her father's charge was shifted a year ago, she chose to finish her schooling where she started, and has lived the past year with her classmate, Suzanne Helbig.

An intending pedagogue, she has participated in Future Teachers of America, Future Homemakers of America, Girls' Athletic association, her class plays, the mixed chorus, girls' ensemble, glee club girls' basketball team, the annual staff the band, and as a cheerleader.

Some graduates will be farmers — or the better halves of farmers. Whatever the farmer may need in the way of seeds, feeds or sympathy, he will find it in abundance — economically — at Nelson Ray Roberts, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Roberts, Route 98. Musically inclined, he was student conductor of the band and drum major as well. He has been in Future Teachers of America, the mixed chorus, his class plays, on the annual staff and school newspaper staff, in the mixed quartet, served as cheerleader, and plays trumpet in the band.

Graduates have got to be dependable or they don't get ahead in life. Grocers have got to be dependable or they don't make a living. The job we're trying to do is to live up to our name of Patricia Ann Chronister, daughter of Harry Chronister, Mill street, is graduating at 17. She plans to enroll in business education at Toledo.

Active in extra-curricular activities, Miss Chronister has been a member of the mixed chorus, the glee club, the annual staff, and of the casts of her class plays.

Miss Chronister participates in church work as well, and is a member of the First Presbyterian young peoples' group.

Yeah, we sell ponies, but they cost us more than we make. We play around with 'em 'cause we've got kids, and we like ponies.

We can afford to "horse" around with ponies, and to the Devil with the cost, because that's our privilege. But we know we can't ignore costs in the grocery and meat business, and that's why you get the best the cheapest at William Floyd Ellis is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellis of 215 Riggs street. A quiet, easy-going fellow, he played roles in both class plays and was on the annual staff in his junior and senior years. An original class member, he earns his own spending money by part time work in a haberdashery.

For that cool drink, that pick-me-up in the afternoon, that extra dessert, drop in to see us.

Frankly, although we'll be there, you'll probably be interested in seeing the younger crowd, which congregates in our place every day.

We're glad to have 'em — and you, too.

Carol Ann Cobb lives in Shelby route 3 and was homecoming queen, last fall, a post to which she was elected by the football team. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Cobb, she has been active in Future Homemakers of America, the mixed chorus, her class plays, the annual staff, and the student council. Vivacious and energetic, she was a class officer in her freshman year.

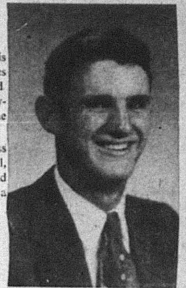

Our business is catering to the needs of food shoppers. We think we do pretty well at it. But we invite your suggestions. Matter of fact, you can suggest anything you like except what we all know to be true: Clover Farms products are good, and good for you.

Charles Otis Port, president and valedictorian of the class, is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Port of Plymouth route 1.

Greatly active in extra-curricular activities, he is a letter winner in football and basketball, both of which teams he was co-captain, took major roles in the class plays, sang in the glee club and the mixed chorus, and belonged to the Varsity club, the annual staff, the school paper staff, the student council, and the Radio club. He intends to enter Baldwin-Wallace college to study to be a minister.

For three generations we've been serving the students and graduates of our high school and we expect to do so for a good many more years to come. And, of course, with Rexall products.

Another year, another graduating class, another opportunity to wish our young people well. To be wished well is essential in this day and age. The likelihood of military service, the dangers of the highways, risks in industry and commerce are only three of the reasons why young graduates need good wishes. They also deserve congratulation, for a good job well done.

America will remain only as strong as the products of its school system, and it is the duty of the graduate of yesteryear — whether it be 1905, 1915, 1925, 1935 or 1955 — to see to it that the graduates of the school system are just as well prepared as honest effort and a reasonable school budget can make them.

We are proud of our young people. Wherever they go, whatever they do, the Class of 1955, Shiloh High School, has the congratulations and best wishes of its friends and neighbors, the business houses of its community.

... Banking is a business. We bank on collateral, on pledged chattels and assets which can be converted into cash in case the borrower defaults. But a banker also banks on character, a commodity which cannot be measured in volume or weight, but which is essential to the banking business.

Everybody starts out with a good character and the school system is where it is moulded and directed into the right channels.

We look to our schools to produce the kind of individual to whom we shall lend money in the future, the kind of person who is a good risk because he has good character. And we owe it to our schools to support its activities, to give praise where praise is due, to quietly criticize where criticism is due.

We are proud to say that we bank on the young people of 1955, graduates such as these, fine examples of American citizenship, the voters, the electors of tomorrow, whose friendship and trust treasure and reciprocate.
