The State Highway patrol and Plymouth's police chief don's see eye to eye on the subject of drag races.

eye to eye on the subject of drag races.

The Norwalk sub-station of the patrol sent officers to the New State road site east of here Sunday and threatened to jud partic pants in scheduled drag races.

Patrolinan Chuck Robinson, sent to the scene after the patrol had received a hp-off that races would be held, reported he had to threat night before the alleged participants would disperse.

'We'll win,' promise of coach to fans

The chips are down tomorrow at Townsend-Wakeman High school.
Coach Lew Petits Pligrims, seeing the championship of the North Central conference in its first season of play, have to win this one to get it.
Trey've three victories in the loop, and one ite, and lay their undefaeted, mark on the line against a Rough Rider eleven which has all but come to pieces in the last four weeks.

in the fast four week.

AFIER A SENSATIONAL debut in the conference preview. Townsend-Wakeman has had an up and down season mostly down.

The Rough Riders lost to Lodi because they couldn't soive the "belly" series, They toppled LeRoy, were swamped by New Lo-idon with four of their key players out, and drooped a 31 to 7 contest with Seville's improving Barbers.

Coach Tony Aiello is a master at preparing his team for one game, however, and the Blue and White likes nothing better than to whip Pymouth.

Last season, overconfidence

Reluctantly, with reservations: Ike

It is not an easy task for us to winnow the chaff from the grain with respect to the presidential candidates. We believe each of the principal candidates is made of the right kind of stuff, but we have reservations as to his principles, in some cases, and his record of performance, Firstly, we think it is basely wrong to cast stones at one candidate because his marriage failed. Erasers are placed at the ends of pencils because we all make mistakes, although a marriage is hardly the same as an arithmetic problem. Solemn promises are meant to be solemnly kept. In Mr. Stevenson's case, he can at least say he never was a philanderer, which is more than you can say for his opponent.

Secondly, we distrust the doctrines of the Democratic party so far as we understand them: high support of farm prices in the face of high productivity and over-production, cheap money and a loose management of the federal fiscal policy. invasion of the federal government as a public entity in fields better left to private enterprise, such as power.

Thirdly, we are not satisfied with the record of the Republican party. The incumbents are loudly taking credit for such advancements as social security and unemployment insurance which are really the inventions of the Democrats. And when they were first advanced, the GOP and Robert Alfonso Taft booed them loudly, labelling them as socialistic in character.

Ike's first act was to give away to Texas the rights to off-shore oil. Until he had to work with a Democratic Congress, few of his ideas reached adoption in the form of law.

Mr. Dulles' feverish flight hither and you seems to us to have confused and weakened our policies abroad. Say what you will about the Democrats, the Soviets never reached the Suez when they occupied the White Charley Wilson's disease - hoofin-mouth-disease - has unnecessarily weakened the military establishment, already given a serious blow by the Dulles policy of threatening war and then withdrawing all moral support from our allies. We proved once before, painfully, that Fortress America is a myth without frontiers on the Elbe and the Dardanelles.

But Stevenson's latest pitch - abolishment of tests of fissionable materials in bomb form - tips the scales, ever so slightly, we think, in favor of Eisenhower. Vote for Ike. And pray that he lives four years.
