Five Water Users May Be Charged Higher Rate—Board

Water bills for five heavy users are likely to go up, the Board of Public Affairs indicated Monday night.

"Water supplied to users who consume more than 100,000 gallons a quarter comes too cheaply," one member of the Board said. Present rates are 15 cents per thousand gallons for consumption over 100,000 gallons a quarter.

"The figure of $1 a thousand for the first 6,000 and 40 cents a thousand for the next 14,000 gallons seems right enough," he said, "and I don't think there is any need to increase the rates for users of up to 35,000 and over 50,000 gallons."

A market, the public schools, Fate-Roth-Heath Co. and a restaurant are among the five heavy users.

Positive action affecting any increase was put off to the next meeting as the Board turned to more mundane matters.

Testing of the well in the Henry Chapman property at New Haven is not getting along very well, the Board learned. Part of the water which was being pumped has been leaking back into the well, causing the compilation of inaccurate data.

Alert Shoe Repairer Helps Nab Forgers

Alertness of a Sandusky shoe repair man broke up a ring of bad check passers over the weekend. Thursday police circled the business community Friday after receiving notice from Willard that a youth who said he was Clyde Vanderpool, 19, was passing bad checks.

After a hot pursuit, he was captured in a statement witnessed by Police Chief R. L. Meiser and Sheriff Harry Broome of Huron county. Vanderpool implicated Claude Gose, 23, Willard, who was alleged to have executed the checks in the names of James Pickett and James Paul.

Plymouth police arrested Gose Monday morning at the Westinghouse Corp., Mansfield, where he was at work.

High School Diploma Awarded Shiloh —

Late, but Welcome

It comes nine years late, but it's welcome all the same, says Charles L. Landers, operator of a Shiloh school, who received his high school diploma from Supt. Homer Beard this week.

Married and the father of two small children, Landers didn't complete his high school course at San Diego, Cal. He enlisted in the Air Force, served at various stations, most lately at Mansfield.

Lacking the necessary credits to obtain a high school diploma, he attended Shiloh High school half a day during January-May, 1955, did private tutoring with Superintendent Beard for half a credit, and was given credit by the Richland county school board for 1 1/2 units of work through United States Armed Forces Institute work. Thus he has a certificate with the class of 1956, should have had a certificate with the class of 1947 at San Diego.

Landers lives in West Main street, Shiloh, and has assumed management of the Shell service station there.

WESTINGHOUSE licks old Center-Post Agitator Problem!

Old center-post agitator problem

THE LAUNDROMAT NEW WAY TO WASH

The old-fashioned Center-Post agitator washes with a jerk-jerk motion. Clothes in the center (harsh action zone) get rough treatment; clothes in the lazy outside zone hardly move.

Westinghouse removed the Center-Post entirely... put smooth agitator vanes at the outside of the wash basket. As the basket revolves, these vanes agitate the clothes by lifting, turning, flushing through sudsy water 50 times a minute. Every piece is washed all the time, thoroughly, equally well.

Volunteers Needed

Much as we all would be appalled by the news, it would have been better to drop the hydrogen bomb over some part of the continental United States.

Not that its terrible effect cannot be adequately measured by the results over Bikini atoll. But we are too complacent about the possibilities and probabilities of an enemy attack on any or all of the 48 states.

The civil defense establishment is more or less a joke. Except in the larger cities, where some experiments and flash alarms of a practice character have been staged, almost nobody pays any mind to any organization for civil defense. It is next to impossible to get folks to render volunteer service to air watch posts. A handful of men have joined the civil defense organization here. We wonder if there will be as many after the novelty of the spanking new equipment and tidy blue uniforms has worn off.

What happened a couple of weeks ago in the Cleveland area, when winds of high velocity struck the region and caused very heavy damage, is only one example of the services a trained civil defense organization is called upon to perform.

Few know what Plymouth would be required to do if, as some military experts insist, Detroit and Cleveland are made first targets by Soviet attacks.

♦ By Phineas Whittleseed

Every year about this time Phin gets to pondering about his favorite columnist, somebody Phin's readers (both of them) probably never heard of, but a woman's name. A guy who was a sheet that goes 44 or 50 eight-column pages each week, a real pro from away back.

We've been reading his stuff since he had his own sheet, before it joined up with a couple of others and became a big newspaper. Matter of fact, there are those in Phin's town who remember when this scrivener as a wee toddler took Gwc's (yeah, that's his name, Gwc) paper and spread it right out on the floor of the post office, smack dab before the door, to read a comic they ran the days, called "Slim Jim". (Wonder if Gwc remembers that strip?)

Gwc is a combination of initials. They stand for George Wallace Conover. Only nobody but Phin and George Wallace Conover, Jr., and a couple of other folks know about the George. Most everybody knows him as Wally, except a few of the folks who refer to him as "that skinny bastard" or "that s. o. b. of the Messenger-Gazette". There are precious few of these latter, and if after as many years as Gwc has been editing a weekly Phin has no more enemies than Gwc does, Phin will be mighty happy indeed.

But Gwc's column is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. He calls it "Etain", which — as he has had to point out more times than we, he can remember, — is for want of a better name. The linotypist merely ran his finger down the first bank of keys, and it comes out "etain" every time.

He's always got a joke in it, usually more than one, and on some occasions he has flattered us, unknowingly perhaps, by using some stuff we clipped somewhere and stuck in an envelope addressed simply to "Gwc, Somerville, N. J."

When he lacks a title for something, he uses the phrase "Olla podrida". Don't ask us what it means. And don't ask him, because you'll get the same answer we got, a string of those skinny shoulders and a kind of a foolish grin.

He used to play first base. Gwc did, and he wasn't much of a first baseman. But then, it wasn't much of a league. A jughanded rightlander named Weenie Schenck used to make him look like a real buster with that bender. But when we were young, after the schoolyard after the newspaper craft, he used to wish we'd grow up to play firstbase like he could, run the paper like he did, and be as good-looking when we got into our late thirties as he was.

Make no mistake about it, by knocking out Detroit and environs and the American Ruhr stretching south from Cleveland, the Soviets would bring us to our veritable knees.

The radar watchposts on the periphery in Canada and Alaska are designed to give us some warning. Even the bluest of the Air Force blues doesn't contend we'll knock them all out of the skies.

Atomic fallout will reach us. Thousands of persons who will be evacuated from the densely populated areas of Cuyahoga and Lorain counties will descend upon us.

Are we prepared? The state organization has gone part of the way. But an enterprise of this nature can go only so far as the people whose cooperation is necessary are willing to go with it.

We call for no alarm network like the boy who kept shouting there was a hole in the dike. That would be wrong. But there is a real need for a training program to get civil defense organized and working so that when an emergency arises, it'll be ready. Any volunteers?

Gwc's hair is snowy now, and he's an optical cripple. Those are enhancements to his beauty that he can keep, with Phin's good wishes. But he does have a sylph-like waistline, and we'd trade him and give him to boot for that.

What brings all this to mind during commencement week is that something Gwc said during our commencement week more years ago than we both care to remember sticks in the cobwebs of what passes for our brain: "The world is full of sons of bees," he allowed, "but I can't see there are any more today in proportion to the population than there were when I broke in."

Mind you, he was speaking then from nearly 20 years as a newspaperman, and another 20 have gone into the records since then. Only the other day, a man told us, Gwc said he still holds to the same view. He's covered some of the biggest news stories of our time, notably the infamous Hall-Mills murder trial, which was staged in our town. And since that time he's met a good many of all kinds of folks.

The fact that a man of Gwc's experience thinks thus just goes to show that what the old duffers have been saying all along isn't true, that the younger generation is no worse than its predecessor. Graduates, take heart. The world is yours. It's waiting for you to show it how to run. God knows somebody needs it.

Somebody, that is, besides Gwc, who knows how, and Phineas Whittleseed, who's still trying to learn.

This house has been in our picture file for a long time, and it's high time a hearty welcome is plus out for the Frank Runney, now comfortably settled in Plymouth street beyond the water tower. Or is the address officially Springfield road, Mr. R? Good luck to you, anyway.

NOW IS THE TIME TO CHANGE

TO FYR-ZON GASOLINE

Ask yourself: Are you getting all the advantages being offered by the Farm Bureau Tank Trucks?

CHANCES ARE YOU ARE NOT!

Are you getting:

1. Automatic 2 week delivery service
2. Adequate and convenient storage for a 2 week supply
3. Credit terms to fit your needs
4. Benefits of a farm organization working with and for farmers

Yes, FARM BUREAU has spent thousands of dollars to take care of these basic services, supplying farmers with Petroleum Products in Richland County.

And there are other reasons for you to change to Farm Bureau Petroleum Products NOW:

1. Treated gasoline, five different additives are added to make your farm tractor last longer through better cylinder lubrication, carbon prevention, cleaner burning, and increased valve life.
2. Motor oil in five gallon disposable cans at bulk oil prices.
3. Cartri-lube grease guns and cartri-lube greases.
4. Clean burning fuel oils and diesel fuel.

Why not take advantage of FARM BUREAU'S BETTER PETROLEUM SERVICE IN 1956?

Building a school, which is what we are doing now, doesn't stop when the last nail is driven home and the final dab of paint is spread.

The material, tangible part of the school is only a start on building it. The real building is done when school is in use. Boys and girls are built into honest, sensible citizens, who cherish the freedoms and rights of this, our native land.

We are proud of our part in building the New Haven school, and prouder still that with the results of our handiwork the builders of tomorrow are learning that character and intelligence are the prerequisites of success.

... Banking is a business. We bank on collateral, on pledged chattels and assets which can be converted into cash in case the borrower defaults. But a banker also banks on character, a commodity which cannot be measured in volume or weight, but which is essential to the banking business.

Everybody starts out with a good character, and the school system is where it is moulded and directed into the right channels.

We look to our schools to produce the kind of individual to whom we shall lend money in the future, the kind of person who is a good risk because he has good character. And we owe it to our schools to support its activities, to give praise where praise is due, to quietly criticize where criticism is due.

We are proud to say that we bank on the young people of 1956, graduates such as these, fine examples of American citizenship, the voters, the electors of tomorrow, whose feiendship and trust we treasure and reciprocate.
