

Mrs. Walker interred in Greenlawn, last of Gunsaulus family

Graveside services were conducted Tuesday at 10 a.m. for Mrs. Mildred Gunsaulus Walker, a native of this place who died at St. Petersburg, Fla., Sept. 19, 1955. Mrs. Walker has two survivors, Mrs. Jean Johnson, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mrs. June Jammond, Indianapolis, Ind., both daughters.

Mrs. Walker was a granddaughter of one of the founders of the Fate-Gunsaulus Co., forerunner of Fate-Rook-Heath Co. Her father, F. D. Gunsaulus, was a prominent attorney in Plymouth for many years.

The widow of Charles E. Walker, she formerly owned and operated the Akron hotel, 301 Fourth street, St. Petersburg. She was 74 at death.

The Rev. T. M. Sheesley conducted last rites. Burial was in charge of McQuate Funeral home.

James E. Dunn, 62, dies in home at New Haven

A longtime New Haven resident, James E. Dunn, 62, died at his home there Sunday. He came to this area from Kentucky 30 years ago. He was retired as a carpenter from the Wilkins Air Force station.

He was a member of the Masonic Order in Sayersville, Ky. Mr. Dunn is survived by his wife, Julia; two daughters, Mrs. Arlene Adams of Bellevue and Mrs. Robert Simpson of New Haven; two sons, Omer, who is serving in the Coast Guard in Portland, Mo., and Richmond, in the Navy in Florida; two sisters, Mrs. Lily McCarty of Sayersville, Ky., and Mrs. Lula Keeton of Green River, Ky.; three brothers, Wilmore and Daniel who live in Michigan, and Walter Dunn of Goshen, Ind.; a half-sister, Mrs. Margaret Smith of Jackson, Mich.; and 14 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday at 2 p.m. at the McQuate Funeral home, and burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Gray, distant kin of Mrs. Ben Waddington

Funeral services were conducted Monday in Fomble, Pa., for Mrs. Cora, nee Gray, Mrs. Gray, 80, died Thursday at the Elwood City hospital.

The widow of the Charles Gray, she was a native of Pennsylvania and a member of the Presbyterian church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jean Smith of Erie, Pa.; a son, Francis of Fomble, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Louise Waddington of Shelby; two brothers-in-law, Floyd Gates and Ralph Gray of Shelby; and five grandchildren.

'Charley' ok, 'Edgar' ng

Plymouth's amateur ventriloquist is out of commission for the time being.

Young Richard Prater, 14, whose voice-throwing skill with his dummy, Jerry, has delighted local audiences, fell from a swing in Mary Faye park Friday and broke his wrist.

It has been mended, but is still a cast result. Jerry can't talk because his Edgar Bergen can't manipulate the handle.

Greenwich lad hurt in crash near here; two others injured

A 16-year-old Greenwich youth was hospitalized at Willard Thursday night after the station wagon he was driving wound up in a deep ditch near Plymouth East road dead-ends in Greenwich-Milan road.

He is James Hutchinson, who was treated for multiple lacerations and bruises.

His passenger, 15-year-old Stanton Gose, Willard, also received first aid treatment of cuts and bruises.

The station wagon, headed west in Plymouth, East road, was demolished.

Miss Fleming falls

Miss May Fleming was found in a semi-conscious state Friday on the lawn of his home in Sandusky street by James J. Ryan, who summoned police.

Before Paramedics, Sgt. J. Glorioso could respond to the call, Miss Fleming recovered composure and was able to find her door key. With the assistance of Mrs. Ryan, she returned to her home.

Miss Fleming was carrying a substantial sum of money, the reason why he summoned police to assist her home, Ryan said.

Harry Chronister hurt in crash at Brighton

Blacking out for a second, Harry Chronister hit a telephone pole in route 511, a mile south of Brighton, July 30. His jaw was broken in two places and he received a compound fracture of the right arm.

He was immediately taken to the New London hospital by a passing motorist, and later to the Oberlin hospital from which he was released Friday.

His car was badly damaged.

McGregor sets meeting dates

Rep. J. Harry McGregor, 17th Ohio District, will meet with constituents in Ashland county courthouse Aug. 27 and 28 and in Richland county courthouse Aug. 29 and 30, he announces in the Congressional Record for May 28.

"It is my annual custom," McGregor said, "to meet with citizens in the seven counties of my district. I know I will be better able to truly represent them in the Congress of the United States with the knowledge thus obtained."

He is a candidate for reelection in the November balloting. McGregor is a Republican.

Council discusses police pay, leaves

Police matters occupied the village council for part of Tuesday night's meeting.

Patrolmen Fred Lewis and S. J. Glorioso told the council that Chief Robert L. Meiser had departed summarily a week ago for emergency reasons — his daughter-in-law expects to be confined shortly — without making arrangements for them to be paid.

They said they thought it unreasonable and unethical to be expected to take police calls at home, and further that no village should be without formal police protection.

Councilman Omer Burkett told Lewis he should have refrained from putting in time unless he had been ordered to do so, whereupon the question of whether Meiser is authorized leave was broached.

Clerk Carl V. Ellis emphatically told the council he considered he has no power to draw a salary check for the current two-week period and asked for the council's instructions. Burkett said "we'll discuss Meiser's salary later."

Arrangements were made for Glorioso and Lewis to turn in time slips to the committee — Burkett and Councilman John T. Dick — and with the distinct impression Meiser also would get his money, the council passed on to other matters.

Larry Chronister, 32 Mill street, and Richard Mitchell, Truist street, filed written applications for the post of chief of police should Meiser resign.

Lloyd Skinner, described as a veteran of police work in Norwalk and Wellington, asked to be considered for the job.

A letter from R. Earl McQuate,

To open the right-of-way to release flood waters on one side, the council said, would merely compound the crime on the other side, in at least 10 houses.

The sewer committee was directed to consult with Plymouth township trustees to ascertain if joint action cannot be taken.

Piney Woods choir to sing here Tuesday

The Cotton Blossom Singers, representing Piney Woods Country Life school at Piney Woods, Miss., will present a program of sacred songs and Negro spirituals in Plymouth Methodist church Tuesday at 8 p.m.

A free will offering will be received. The public is invited.

Piney Woods school is the creation of a singularly successful, yet humble Negro teacher, Laurence Clifton Jones, whose amazing career has been the subject of feature articles in national magazines — Reader's Digest, The Rotarian, and Saturday Evening Post — and television programs, including "This Is Your Life."

With three illiterate pupils and a pine stump plus $1.65 in cash and a dream, Laurence Clifton Jones founded Piney Woods school in 1909.

Today it has a plant worth a quarter of a million dollars, 1,700 acres of well-tended land, and an enrollment of 440 pupils ranging in age from six to 40, drawn from 15 states and one foreign country.

Dr. Jones' gospel is comprised of good farming, beautiful homemaking, sensible religion and stimulating social life.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, 1907, Jones endeared himself to students and faculty alike. While the university has for half a century been widely known for its warmth of feeling for Negro students, it went overboard for young Jones.

Fifty years later, it is plain it made no mistake.

Because Jones made his way in the world. And he chose a place where there were two strikes against him — in Rankin county, Mississippi.

How he struggled against odds over 47 years is a story in itself. On Dec. 15, 1954, Dr. Jones appeared on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" TV program.

The story of Jones' hardships was a moving one. At the sign-off of the show, Edwards asked listeners to send a dollar to Dr. Jones, Piney Woods, Miss.

In three days, he had received $400,000. In a month the figure was $774,000.

His personal proceeds from this bonanza: $17.50, to reimburse extra postal help at Piney Woods.

Field day to be held in Huron county next Wednesday

Annual Huron county conservation field day will be Wednesday. Bill Addison, soil conservationist, announced today.

This year's event, sponsored jointly by the agricultural extension service and the Huron soil conservation district, will be a tour showing conservation practices across the central part of the county.

The tour will begin at the Paul Haas farm, seven miles southwest of Monroeville, at 9:30 a.m. Revised field arrangement, pond construction details, and a remodeling project to handle bulk milk will be seen here.

Other stops planned and items of interest are Matt Claus, new pole barn and pasture renovation; Jack Stootz, field strip cropping; Norman H. Smith, stock water pond; Ralph Gahring, farm pond used for irrigating vegetables; Tony Meyers, contour strip cropping; Dale Immel, meadow seeding in corn, tile outlets, diversion terraces, and Russell Lawrence and Son, bulk tank, stanchion type milk set-up and hay dryer.

Lunch will be served at Camp Conger after the stop at the Gahring farm. The food is being provided by lime and fertilizer dealers, elevators and other cooperating business people.

John Wells, county agricultural agent, and Earl Jones and George Gist, extension agronomists from Ohio State university, will be present to make comments and answer questions at the various stops.

Some thirty-two years ago, the State of Ohio accepted the generous and civic-spirited offer of John Bryan, prominent farmer near Yellow Springs, to donate his 500-acre holdings to the people of Ohio for a State Park. Thus in 1923 this scenic area was set up as the first Forest Park in that section of the State.

Since that date, the John Bryan State Park, through other land gifts, has been increased in area to 751 acres and is today one of the most popular parks in Ohio. An attractive picnic shelter house, a main lodge, a swimming pool, tent camping area, picnic facilities, nature trails, and scenic drives are among the features that draw many thousands of visitors to the John Bryan State Park each year.

The gorge of the Little Miami River in this park area between Yellow Springs and Clifton can be easily reached by foot trails and there have been identified more than 500 different varieties of flowering plants in this protected preserve. The old Cincinnati-Pittsburgh dike road right-of-way in this park has traffic slower than the horse-drawn stagecoaches of an earlier day for it is now a foot trail of great natural beauty, with rugged cliffs towering above the heads of the hikers.

Steamboat Rock in the center of the Little Miami River below the falls and gorge for generations, long before this was a State Park, has been a popular attraction for families and groups out to enjoy a picnic in a place little changed in appearance since the Shawnee Indians provided this historic river valley.

The John Bryan State Park can be reached off U.S. Route 68 at Yellow Springs about midway between Xenia and Springfield.

IDENTIFICATION of these ladies was by Ethel Beard, 87 Broadway, Shelby, who correctly says they're Mary and Sarah Bevier, who used to live where Miss Pearl Elder now resides in Plymouth street.

Keinath heads group of Witnesses going to Columbus parley

Shelby congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, of which Foster I. Keinath is presiding minister, attended a four-day convention at Ohio State fairgrounds, Columbus, Thursday through Sunday. The event, which drew 7,000 delegates from 19 states, was one of 26 held in the United States.

Mr. Keinath said the challenge to Christian thinking and Christian works in the rising tide of materialism is paramount.

Purpose of the program, Mr. Keinath said, was "to equip every one of the preaching fellowship of Jehovah's Witnesses in the practical use of the Bible as a help in fortifying the spiritual morale of people in our community."

The announcement came as a climax to the weekly ministry-development held at the Kingdom hall in the National Bank building at Main and Gamble streets Shelby.

Mr. Keinath said that Jehovah's Witnesses are enrolled in ministerial training of at least five classes weekly. "We maintain," he emphasized, "that if a religion is worth believing it is worth putting into practice."

Hospital Notes

Carol Black, Shiloh route 1, was released from Shelby Memorial hospital July 31.

Mrs. George Hackett became a patient at the same hospital Aug. 1 and was dismissed the next day.

Mrs. Emmet Heuberger, Shelby route 1, also entered the hospital Aug. 1. She left on Friday.

Mrs. Sylvia Mitchell, Willard, the mother of Mrs. Thomas Moore, underwent surgery Thursday in Norwalk Memorial hospital.

The band festival is Thursday

The annual high school band festival will be staged at the school Thursday evening. Every citizen should turn out to support it, in some way or another.

It is regrettable, we have said often, that music in its finer forms is not a part of the curriculum of the public schools on a more permanent and substantial basis. It should be paid for from the public purse, lock, stock and barrel, because the public benefits from it.

Boys and girls who study music in the public schools become better citizens for it because they are more rounded, able to entertain themselves, less dependent upon evil and infernal device to be entertained, and thus a sound hope for tomorrow.

How many times do we witness the spectacle — and the word is used advisedly — of old biddies (and they do not all wear skirts) hurrying for a place to hear the band play? Do we see them hurry to help the fund by donating to it, in goods or services? Do they even donate at all?

The degree of excellence of any band varies as the quality of interest and aptitude of the musicians and the skill of the director.

Directors are hard to come by. Most of the schools in the county need band instructors. In many instances, no amount of salary will hold a skilled teacher. As was the case of the splendid young man who was here a couple of years ago, they choose to serve where the opportunities for professional advancement and variety of experience are greater. This is an argument for consolidation, but we won't go into that.

But one way to hold a good instructor is to develop the reputation of a soundly financed, well-supported band program. We have had that, more or less, although as usual the greater part of the work falls on a few shoulders.

Everybody should in some way support the band festival. Goods and services will be welcomed by the committee. And so will the coin of the realm. We suggest you be there.

Finally, they're going to have a day for Bob Feller. It took lot of blasting, but the fact that the Indians' management heeded the pressure shows the power of the press.

Feller deserves a day. Although he has represented what passes for organized labor in big league baseball, he has always been a gentleman, a real big timer in the big leagues.

On the same day, it was announced a bushner from Boston was fined $5,000 for disgusting conduct on the field. We think it's fortunate baseball has a man like Bob Feller to look up to, even if he has lost his stuff. But, boy when he had it!

By Phineas Whittleseed

One of our British friends who has spent half a lifetime in the colonies is coming to the United States to live. He wrote us a long letter the other day, asking a million and one questions about life in these United (?) States.

Anybody who has lived with an underdeveloped people (and that's what Africans and Asians are, neither more nor less) turns at once to the nub of the matter: how do they administer justice. Do foreigners obtain before the courts the same guarantees as natives? Is influence in the courtroom peddled for the exchange of a few shekels? Do opponents of the government get a fair shake in the courts?

If you've lived in an independent African or Asian country, these things come like second nature to you. You ask them all the time. And the recent developments in Egypt, where Nasser has seized the Suez canal company and nationalized it, is the sort of thing that causes thoughtful people to ask these questions.

Anyway, our friend Stephen — and we suspect he was engaging in a little leg-pulling, but would like to know the real truth, because he is a social scientist — asked what the situation is in the United States.

We're a little afraid to tell him the truth:

That influence is peddled in small county court-houses. That judges, elected by the people, and therefore tools of the people, or at least one political party or other, are prone to discuss civil cases with courthouse officials and hangers on, and a young lawyer getting his start in Podunk had better cultivate the political hacks of the country who hold the mildly remunerative offices of auditor and commissioner and welfare director and sheriff and dog-catcher and such. Because they influence cases!

That foreigners don't get a fair shake in our courts; that an outsider — whether he be a Britisher, a Frenchman or a Kentuckian, and most especially a Kentuckian — has two and a half strikes against him when he enters our rural courts in certain matters, particularly if his opponent at law or equity is a well and favorably known person;

No better example of these facts was seen in a neighboring village a week or so ago. A was appointed executor of the estate of Mrs. B, who left in three heirs a parcel of land, with house on it, in a certain part of the town. A posted the bond required by the county probate judge and proceeded to advise the property for sale, intending to realize its highest sale price, divide the proceeds after removing his legal fee, and distribute them among the three heirs.

The Plymouth Advertiser

Thursday, August 10, 1956

A weekly newspaper published every Thursday morning at 3 East Main street, Plymouth, O. Subscription rates: $3 yearly in advance for addresses to Richland, Huron or Crawford counties; $3.50 otherwise. Second class mailing privileges authorized at Plymouth, O.

Now C — described by some as the "meanest Kentuckian in the county, a real no-good, a thorough rouser" and by other less salubrious phrases — entered a bid of so many dollars for the property, said bid being higher than anyone else's. News of this move leaked out, and A was bombarded by verbal abuse by the property owners abutting and adjacent to the parcel offered for sale. He was accused of deliberately and maliciously endeavoring to depress property values and run down the character of the neighborhood by selling to a Kentuckian!

He ignored a petition with the names of 37 persons on it, and then was called to a special session of the village council. The warrants issued by the clerk of the village to the councilmen to summon them to the meeting read: "to discuss zoning legislation in every respect. You can't none against race, creed, citizenship or previous condition of servitude, and the council knew it."

Anyway, A repaired to the council chambers and was asked to explain himself. This he did in no uncertain terms. He told the council emphatically that it was none of its d—d business and that unless it ceased at once to interfere in the lawful disposition of an estate in the probate court of X county, Ohio, he would report the members and the mayor to the probate judge as interferers and obstructions of justice.

That's where it stands right now. Some neighbors of A can't understand why Mrs. A acts cool toward them.

It is a particularly reprehensible thing for a council to do, and the duty of the citizenry is clear. Rascals such as these should be turned out.

But to get back to our reply to Stephen: justice is a relative thing, old boy, and when you're an outsider, beware!

That's America — 1956.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SIR:

There is enclosed, as of interest to your readers, a copy of a letter received by me July 26, 1956, which is self-explanatory.

Very truly yours,
Carl V. Ellis
Clerk of the Village of Plymouth (enclosure)

Mr. Carl V. Ellis, clerk,
Village of Plymouth,
Plymouth, O.

Dear Sir:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of July 18, 1956, and the petition signed by citizens and electors of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio, requesting the Ohio Highway Department to divert or cause to be diverted truck traffic of a through character so as to eliminate travel over State Route 61 through said village by sending it over State Route 598, etc.

The Ohio Highway Department does not have authority to establish any truck routes. Cities and villages do have such authority. However, the beginning and end of a truck route would have to be within the city or village. The Village of Plymouth could establish another route for trucks instead of Route 61 in the village, but could not require the trucks to use another route like State Route 598, which is outside of the village.

I trust this information will explain why I am unable to comply with the request of the petitioners. Yours very truly,
S. O. Linzell
Director

You Save $20.60 On Each Lounge

We Have Them With and Without Pillows and

In Any Color You Can Think of

Since we started our business we probably have had a dozen different makes of sofa lounges — but we can honestly say —

None Compared With Simmons

The steel frame on the Simmons Lounge is so outstanding and so secure that there really isn't any comparison with any other sofa at any price.

Of course, you know the Simmons has a large storage compartment for bedding, etc., and it works — make no mistake about that. Just lift up in the front and you have a bed — again a lift in front and you have a sofa lounge. A small child or elderly person can easily work a Simmons Sofa Lounge. Simmons has a no-sag-spring and coil spring on top, for easy sitting with such beautiful colors and outstanding workmanship, you can place your Simmons Sofa Lounge in any room in the house.

Annex work starts, sewer line installed

Cork Keller Co. of Mansfield, contractors for installing the heating and plumbing work at the school annex, the former Shiloh garage at the corner of Main and Mechanic streets, started work on the new sewer line to serve the building Monday.

The line is being laid along the east side of Mechanic street and thence to the main school building. Ronald Howard, school board clerk, states that work on the building, which is under contract to Kenneth E. Portz of Mansfield, will start within a few days.

The teaching staff is complete with the exception of a mathematics teacher and a music teacher. A secretary, cook, and bus drivers will be hired at the next board meeting, Aug. 20.

Ernsts vacationing

Two fires reported with small losses

Shiloh fire department answered two calls within an 11-day period. Fire Chief Delmar Nesbitt reports.

On July 24 a wheat field ablaze on the Kelly Blankenship farm off Route 603 west of Rome resulted in some damage to a combine and tractor before the fire could be brought under control.

A call August 4 resulted in a run to the Warren Heifner farm in Updike road, but the fire, in rubbish, had been extinguished by the time fireman arrived. No damage resulted.

Mrs. Ernest Howard and Mrs. Phil Wutrich spent last week in Cleveland with their sister, Mrs. Dorothy Spino.

Boy scouts to have ice cream social

Mothers of Troop 1 Boy Scouts are sponsoring an ice cream festival at Mt. Hope Lutheran church Saturday, with serving starting at 5:30 p.m. Delmar Nesbitt, Scoutmaster, reports.

Home made ice cream will be a feature with chicken, sloppy Joe sandwiches, pie, cake and coffee also being offered.

Proceeds will be used to buy furniture for the Boy Scouts.

Swartzes end long trip

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Swartz and children recently returned from a 9,000-mile trip to the west coast. En route they visited with the Rev. Jack Mellick and Mrs. Mellick at St. Joseph, Ind., and with Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wolfe in Livingston, Mont.

Mosers move to Iowa

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moser and children have moved from Lucas to Pella, Ia., where he has accepted a position with the Pella Telephone Co.

Bell returns home, better but still bedfast

Robert Bell of West Main street, a patient at Cille Veteran's hospital in Cleveland as the result of a leg fracture, was threatened with pneumonia recently. He is reported to be showing improvement. However, he is still bedfast.

Rishes guests at Columbus

Mr. and Mrs. David Rish and family of the Kaster road were guests July 29 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nicholson in Columbus.
