Dial service delay foreseen by NOTCO

Don't hold your breath until dial telephone service is installed

In substance, that's the word from Northern Ohio Telephone Co., which has revised its esti-mates of when dial service will be available to all telephone sub-scribers in Plymouth.

ON AUG. 20, REPRESENTatives of the firm told the village council it expected to make the switch-over at year's end. That's principally to equipment changes and shortages of replacements.

Meanwhile, conversion of household instruments goes forward. Most of the equipment needed to support dial service in the central exchange is on hand, authorities said.

change removed 1(om New Washington." Meanwhile, 3 C Farm Bureau council at New Haven took steps to obtain unlimited long distance service between Willard and Plymouth without payment of individual tolls.

A community meeting at New Haven junior high school Aug. 20 heard Northern Ohio representatives say additional cost of the service would be about 40 cents a month for the usual four-party private residence line. Private telephones would be charged $1 a month. Business phones would be several times

It is a distressing fact that Plymouth has failed to support the blood bank. Not since 1954 has been a recorded donation of blood by a Plym-

Time was when a patriotic organization locally arranged for the preparation and indexing by type of blood donors, but over the years the list was misplaced and no effort made to replace it.

The Bloodmobile will be at Willard Municipal hospital Aug. 30.

Unless the response is firm, Willard hospital stands to be eliminated from the regional blood supply bank at Cleveland. This is no cry of "wolf". The regional bank simply needs to have all of its depositors meet the regular quota of 125 pints at each visit.

Should the hospital not be permitted to obtain blood from the regional supply source, it would mean that patients who require blood would have to pay the going commercial rate, up to $50 a pint for less common types, certainly $25 a pint for the usual "O" positive types.

The Oberlin News-Tribune, only the best weekly newspaper in its size-of-community in Ohio, reports a remarkable demonstration of faith in The Advertiser by Mack Webber.

The Advertiser by Mack Webber.

Seems when the afternoon mail on Thursday doesn't produce The Advertiser (which it didn't, mysteriously, for two straight weeks, which we can't fathon), Mr. Webber hotfoots it to the News-Trib to ask Brad Williams, the capable boss man there; if his has arrived. Although an Oberliner for a long time, Mr. Webber maintains a lively interest in Plymouth happenings. Now that his beloved Indians have slid to sixth place (something to ponder: did Alfonso Lopez see the handwriting on the wall and get out before the sakid?) Brother W says he's transferred his allegiance to Kipton. For the uninitiated, that's equivalent to Harris Postema saying he's rooting for Guinea Corners.

DON'T BELIEVE A WORD YOU HEAR around Shiloh that one reason why Huron county school system is undesirable is that schools in it teach S.E.X. Pretty low punch, that, and competely false. And it's competely disconnected from decision of Iroquois district to prohibit overnight trips of mixed groups in the schools. Problem of chaperones is universal.

H. V. R. stood on the step of the USPO the other ayem and pointed out what litter bugs are doing to the Square. He has the right idea. Also, he points out there're some places where grass is growing through the sidewalks. On neat, say he, and not indicative of a Brely 1999.

FOR DISASTERS, OR THREATS THERE-FOR DISASTERS, OR THREATS THERE-of, Greenwich will take a lot of beating this year. First the gas line broke, sending poison fumiles to be over a wide area and causing some families to be exacusted. Then the 41-car railroad piletup, which could have been much worse if one of those che-mical-laded cars had blown up.

And for tragedy, consider the lot of Lodi. Twelve of the finest young people of the community, not one of them over 19., killed in the period of 18 months. Two of them by drowning, the others in automobile collisions.

It doesn't matter if you live in Richland county, kids, so long as you attend a Huron county school. That's the word of Frank Chap-man, chairman of the Huron county fair holy show. There're good prizes for the several classes, he reports, and pupils will be let out of classes to attend the fair, which this year is ob-servine its 50th annies record.

public places which are absorbed in the few cents extra in our power bills.

To sell the distribution system would leave only a half a job to operate the water system. The two systems make for economy, when operated jointly.

It would be interesting to know what our combine, "socialistic enterprise" is worth. It would certainly surprise us.

We have a good power contract, that has six more years to run, and a good distribution systemm almost free of debt. I think the figures show that it is profitable and wise to operate the combined electric and water systems. Lower rates are possible within the near future.

Veteran Ted Fox and Dick Akers will play offensive ends, Dennis McGinnis and Mickey Hampton are likely tackles, with Don Barathouse at one guard. Jim Root leads all competition at center, now that Mulvane has dropped out.

If Utiss comes up front, Hamp-ton will go back to guard and the rangy junior will be inserted at tackle.

Doug McQuate has been used at guard part-time, but his lack of size is regarded by the coaches as a handicap to permanent assignment there.

BILL STRINE, SON OF THE new principal, has shown up well at quarterback and affords Petit three-man depth there. Akers is experienced at the post and can spell Einsel. Strine will be used defensively at end.
