Water plan cost set at 2.3 mill tax levy

To undertake the first phase of the recommended water improvement program without raising water rates will cost the taxpayer a 2.37 mill levy for 25 years.

To do so by raising water trates would mean a new mini-mum of $6.60 for 6,000 gallons

Representatives of Floyd G. Browne and Associates, Mar-ion consulting engineers, turn-ed in their formal report to the village council Tuesday night.

THE CONDITIONS WHICH were reported seem to require, the report said, an improve-ment program in two phases. First phase, estimated to cost $173,700, would involve these

1. Installation of a six-inch 1. Installation of a six-inen water main in West Broadway, estimated to cost $14,000. This would not, however, bring the water pressure up to what the fire underwriters desire.

2. Installation of a six-inch 3. Installation of a six-inch main in Trux street, estimated to cost $7,000. 4. Re-installation of a six-inch main across the B & O tracks in West Broadway, es-timated to cost $1,000.

5. Installation of a complete water loop in Walnut street, estimated to cost $27,700.
6. Cleaning of water lines, estimated to cost $17,500.
7. Construction of a new water thanking above Grahallaum.

steps:

1. Installation of a six-inch water main through Birchfield street and east behind the W.

E. Root property to Trux street estimated to cost $23,000.

2. Installation of a completed water loop in Huffman street, estimated to cost $8,500.

3. Installation of a completed water loop from the armory to the head of Willow drive, estimated to cost $6,200. With these steps completed, the engineers said, Plymouth's water system should be able to

TO FINANCE THE scheme, the engineers, led by Steven Keener, suggested two

Since the revised law went into effect, it has been the practice to take milk samples at the dairy plants. Thus anyone who sells milk or cream, wether it is for fluid or manuwether it is for fluid or manufactured use, has had his cattle tested regularly every six montested regularly every six mon-ths. Only in cases where the milk test has a suspicious or positive reaction is a blood test positive reaction is a blood test necessary. It is naturally impossible to follow this procedure with beef animals or cattle kept for breeding purposes from which no milk is sold. Consequently, at least once every three years beef animals must be tested by means of either the blood plate means of either the blood plate agglutination test or blood tube agglutination test

THIS BLEEDING HAS been delayed to the winter months so that it will not cause beef herd owners any undue hardship. In order to take the blood the cattle must be well Local veternarians will be Local veternarians will be working on this state-wide test on a part-time basis and plan to be finished by Mar. 1.

Both Richland and Huron counties, may be declared as modified certified brucellosis-

Every so often, the valiant boys in blue ho comprise the state highway patrol pull

This one bears re-telling, It happened in one of the southern districts.

An elderly lady was driving alone down a deserted state highway. Two patrolmen is one of those unmarked patrol cars followed her.

A bit jittery, the lady driver really pressed A bit littery, the lady arriver really pressed own on the accelerator and shot over the seed limit. She saw in the rear-view mirror at the pursuing machine kept pace.

In fact, it eventually shot past her and forced her to the edge of the pavement.

The patrolmen got out and politely but firmly told the lady she had been guilty of a minor traffic infraction some miles back.

They suggested she take more care in the future.

Instead of showing a spirit of meekness, the lady blew her stack.

Stuff I would get for my birthday if it were in July I don't get in December because Mom and Pop hold to it until Dec. 24 or 25.

THERE ISN'T MUCH I THERE ISN'T MUCH I can do about it unless I do like Queen of England does. She has her own birthday and her official one. The official one comes in May, so the people of her kingdom can celebrate if in good weather.

She asked the patrolmen what in high heaven they meant by scaring the living be-jesus out of her when they could as well have stopped her at a less lonely spot.

"And," she added, waxing wroth, "I thought you two might be hold-up men so threw my bag out the window in that marshy place back by the bridge. There was $200 ir it and I expect you to get it back right away."

The patrolmen demurred for a bit but fin-lly the two cars turned back to the marshy pot. They swung their spotlight into the eld and began to search.

After considerable groping around in the mud, they retrieved the bag.

"Okay," said one of them, handing the mudsoaked bag with its $200 back to the owner, "we're sorry. Let's be friends now, huh?"

"I certainly will not," she snapped. "And if you don't get away from that window, you're liable to get a poke in the nose."

THE LADY AT THE LIBRARY TELLS US this one. The library page was trying to be of some help to an inquiring adult.

"Do you want something light or would you prefer the heavier book?" asked the page.

"Makes no difference," said the caller, "my ar's right outside."

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

Two Plymouth entries are competing in the Willard City league — Weber's Cafe and Jerry's Market.

Both started with victories, Weber's over Magill Trucking.

56 to 40, and Jerry's over Hol-land Market, 49 to 39.

TALK IS THAT FOOT-ball rules may be altered for next: season, to provide for: 1. Moving the goalposts to the goal line. 2. Substitutes to report at the sideline, rather than on

3. Sideline conferences with the coaching staff during free outs.

These changes are, we think long overdue. Putting the foot back in football is, The O. T. feels, a laudable objective for the rules committee.

Last season, in perhaps 15 Last season, in perhaps 15 schoolboy games, we saw less than 25 points-after-touch-down scored by any method, and probably no more than 20 per cent by the foot. We personally think the two-point-try-for-conversion is for the birds, but so long as it's in the fulles, left select it lav. rules, let's let it lay.

Moving the goal posts to the Moving the goal posts to the goal line will encourage devel-opment of kickers. We were a kicker once, and not having enough weight to bust our way out of a paper sack, that's all we could do.

Think of the Tad Weeds and Davie Kilgores who wouldn't stand a chance in football if it weren't for the kicking oppor-tunities!

BASKETBALL OPERATES successfully with the sideline reporting of substitutes and it's high time football did the

And coaching, even at the schoolboy level, is getting to be such a business that frequently the coach calls every play.

Paul Brown and Sid Gillman make a success of it. John Mc-Graw of the New York Ginnts used to call every pitch. Why not allow players to confer with their coach during free time-outs? And when was the last time you saw a penalty assessed for coaching from the sidelines?

These changes will make for the second of the second process will make for the second process. Paul Brown and Sid Gills

These changes will make for a better game. They should help, to some extent, in eliminating injury. To be against them, we think, is like being in favor of sin.

It's been a long time. Now Coach Harold Daup has well in hand what shapes up as a county champion.

The Big Red may get its first real test here tomorrow when Jack Gage and Ontario come here for another RCL contest.

But on form so far, the well-alanced Big Red may go all the way.

FRIDAY NIGHT, WITHOUT much trouble, the locals down-ed Butler. And Saturday night, in a re-scheduled contest, the Big Red walloped Johnsville in a non-conference battle.

Saturday's contest was all but a walkover, but it gave some definite signs for the hard going in January.

For one, the attack force showed signs of beginning to hit. Jiggs Hughes had 20 point highest total of the season for Daup's forecourt athletes. And Dick Bookwalter, range center, scored 16, the first time the Plymouth pivot has produced any double figure scoring to remark upon. remark upon.
