School starts Sept. 2

Plymouth public schools will open Sept. 2, at 8:30 a.m. for an all-day session.

The cafeterias will also be open to serve lunches.

An all-day teachers' meeting will be held Aug. 28 beginning at 10 a.m. in Plymouth Elementary school. At 1 p.m. the teachers will meet with their principals in the buildings to which they are assigned.

Schools hire three, need to find two to complete faculty

Signed contracts from three teachers were received this week by Plymouth Board of Education, leaving only one vacancy a girls' physical education instructor — for the 1958-59 school year.

Miss Elizabeth Grimes of Olivet, a graduate of Mt. Union college, Alliance, will teach high school English.

She taught in John Simpson Junior High school, Mansfield, last year.

Melvin Miller, a graduate of Ohio State university, Columbus, will teach mathematics in Shiloh Junior High school.

Miss Suzanne Farrar, who taught in Huron Valley schools last year, will teach fifth and sixth grades at Shiloh.

Two bus drivers are still required. Supt. M. J. Coon reported Monday.

Plymouthites busy in several courts

It was a busy week for court cases involving Plymouth residents.

William Salyers paid $10 and court costs in Shelby Municipal court on a charge of using more than half of the roadway.

Leon Laser, Shiloh, paid $15 and costs for having no operator's license.

Arthur Wright, 50, paid $10 and costs to Willard mayor's court on counts of intoxication and allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

Judge Patton, 24, Plymouth route 1, paid $100 and costs on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and $25 and costs for having no driver's license, in the same court.

Elmer Dalton, 25, Plymouth route 1, paid $25 and costs on conviction of public drunkenness.

Israel Canales, 27, Plymouth route 1, was remanded to Huron county common pleas court for action by a grand jury on a charge of cutting with intent to wound. Bond was set at $1,000.

The Board said it would nullify the matter over.

Sewer prospect jolted as funds not in sight

Prospects of approval of a $150,000 sewer bond issue, at the November elections took a drastic blow yesterday when the Ohio Water Pollution Control board said no federal funds would be available to Plymouth unless the bond issue is passed.

When representatives of the Board, including its secretary, G. A. Hall, were here in February, they said the village would be informed prior to deadline date for filing the issue on the ballot, when federal funds would be available.

THE TWO REPRESENTATIVES, Hall and a Mr. Ransome, specifically told a committee of councilmen and the editor of The Advertiser that since Plymouth's priority for federal funds is relatively high, it would probably receive a grant; but in any case, the village would be informed prior to the filing deadline date whether the funds would be available.

It was on this premise that the committee recommended to the council as a whole that the issue be placed on the ballot.

The recommendation, with the promise attached, was accepted at face value, although there was an obvious deficiency of enthusiasm, and the council went forward with fiscal planning on that principle.

TUESDAY MORNING REP. A. D. Baumhart, Jr., Ohio's 13th district Congressman, told Monroeville by telegram it had been allocated $96,000 to construct a sewer.

On the notion that Ohio's allocations for the year had been made, The Advertiser queried Hall yesterday.

He denied he or his associate, Ransome, made any promise that funds would become available or that any commitment that notice of approval or disapproval of the bid for funds would be made before Aug. 5.

Editor's assailants plead guilty, get sentences of six months, probation

On pleas of guilty, the two assailants of The Advertiser's editor and publisher on Christmas eve, 1957, were sentenced to six months in the Toledo workhouse and a fine of $200 each and court costs by Huron County Common Pleas Judge Robert J. Vetter Saturday morning.

The assailants, Milford Sexton,

Shiloh, and David R. Williams, Plymouth route 1, were charged with assault and battery. They had entered pleas of not guilty at an indictment by the Huron county grand jury.

UPON PETITION TO THE plaintiff by their attorney, Clifford W. Brown, the editor agreed to acquiesce in a suspended sentence and probation for the defendants. Judge Vetter suspended the sentence and fine but not court costs, and placed the two men on probation for three years.

"From what I understand," the judge said, "this was a deliberate attempt to do bodily harm to an honest citizen, since the defendants went to the editor's office and thereby showed intent."

"I take a dim view of settling these criminal cases by agreement among their attorneys and the prosecutor, but I will go along with the prosecutor and the defense attorney in this case, since I understand the editor's desire to exact justice without harsh punishment."

"If a citizen dislikes what's written in the newspaper, he can resort to the laws of libel."

IF THERE SHOULD BE breach of the peace, or other misdemeanor, during the period of probation, Judge Vetter promised the defendants he would enforce the workhouse sentence.

The editor agreed to approach the court to suspend the sentence upon execution of a formal apology to him and his family and payment of his dental expenses.

Board takes offer of Ohio Power Co. for $270 saving

A windfall of $269.81 annually, brought about by more efficient production of electricity by its supplier, was promptly accepted by the Board of Public Affairs Monday night.

C. D. Albright, Bucyrus manager for Ohio Power Co., appeared to recite the details of the new fuel clause in the contract entered into Feb. 28, 1953. By reason of more efficient production by Ohio Power, the village realizes a savings of nearly $270 this year.

ALBRIGHT TOLD THE Board that his principals would consider nullification of the present contract, which has five years to run, and signature of a new contract, but that impetus must come from the Board.

The Board said it would nullify the matter over.

Mrs. McQuate loses father to long illness

Father of Mrs. R. Earl McQuate, Earl Brumback, 76, died of a long illness in Doctors hospital, Cleveland, Tuesday night.

Formerly of Shiloh, he had been an electrician for Fisher Body in Cleveland before his retirement.

Two sons, Dudley, chief photographer of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Capt. D. Douglas, U. S. Air Force, Topeka, Kan.; two sisters, the Misses Ina and Celia, Shiloh; and a brother, Aldo, Shiloh, also survive.

Funeral services are incomplete.

July was wettest since local post was established

July, 1958 was the rainiest month on record at this station (24 years), totaling 8.83 inches. Incidentally, that beats Mansfield's record of 8.05 inches, the greatest in 50 years.

Rain fell on 13 days, the heaviest occurring during the night of the 30th and morning of the 31st, measuring 3.88 inches, or nearly one-half of the total. The normal rainfall for July is 3.41 inches.

As a result, rivers were over their banks, fields flooded, and wheat and oats still standing will be a partial, if not a total, loss.

Average temperature of the month was 72 degrees, or nineteenth degree below normal; the highest was 90 on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th, and the lowest 52 on the 20th.

August is usually a dry month (last August only 1.99 inches on six days) so here's hoping the worst is over.

Two Shelbians were killed and four severely injured in a head-on collision in Route 61, opposite the Letha Kuhn farm, four miles south of Plymouth, at 2:45 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Joan McBride, 28, 93 East Smiley avenue, Shelby, driver of the southbound car, and her husband, James, 29, a Shelby bank employee, were dead on arrival at Shelby Memorial hospital. Her death was attributed to a fractured skull, his to a broken neck.

Their daughter, Cynthia, 10, is in the hospital with a broken leg.

THREE PASSENGERS of the other machine, Howard Underhill, 50, 152 East Main street, Shelby, his wife, Ruth, 44, and their daughter, Louise, 12, are also hospitalized.

MR. UNDERHILL DRIVER has two broken legs, two broken arms. Mrs. Underhill has severe throat lacerations. The girl has a possible fractured jaw and skull and severe facial lacerations.

Giant hurler loses no-hitter with two out, two strikes in 6th

Dick Chapman came within a single pitch of a perfect game Friday night as POOM Giants defeated Bachrach-New Haven Supply Braves, 3 to 0, in PML stadium.

A bloop single to left field, that should have been caught by John Kennard, with two out in the final frame, spoiled Chapman's bid.

IT WAS THE BEST PITCH of the year and the first in which the winning team committed no passed balls. Chip Paddock was a last-minute insertion behind the bat and won a bottle of pop from Acting Manager Doc Chapman for his performance.

Only one ball was hit out of the infield.

Rain forced postponement of the contest that would settle the second half banner.

It was to have been played last night, the final contest of the 1958 season.

Standings of the clubs as of Monday morning:

Reds	6	1	.855
Cubs	5	2	.714
Braves	2	6	.225
Giants	2	6	.225

shown in 2 controlled experiments* with Aureomycin in dairy feeds

*Conducted by Dr. A. B. Christian, Biltmore Farms, Biltmore, N. C.

Here's proof that AUREOMYCIN Chlortetracycline in dairy feeds pays off in more milk and bigger milk checks.

These 120-day experiments were conducted in a commercial dairy herd. During the final 75 days the cows were on pasture. Thirty cows were used in each experiment and divided into 2 paired groups of 15 cows each. All cows were selected at random from a group standardized with respect to number of previous lactations, stage of present lactation, age and breeding. One group of cows in each experiment received no AUREOMYCIN in the ration. The other group received AUREOMYCIN Chlortetracycline at the level of one-tenth of a milligram per pound of body weight daily. Cows receiving AUREOMYCIN in experiment 1 averaged 5.9% more milk than the controls. Cows in experiment 2 averaged 13.7% more milk than the controls.

Ask your feed manufacturer or feed dealer for dairy feeds containing the recommended amount of AUREOMYCIN. Maintain good herd health for increased milk production!

Publisher, Plymouth Advertiser
3 West Main Street

Dear Mr. Paddock:

We wish to apologize to you for the attack which we made upon you on December 24, 1957. We are sorry that our conduct caused you and your family injury and concern. It was wrong for us to conclude that you or your newspaper intended any slur on the people of Shiloh by your publishing the letter in your newspaper signed "Disgusted."

Sincerely yours,

Down to business---

After eight months, the criminal issues in the assault of the Advertiser's editor have been settled.

Had the accused been willing to apologize in satisfactory form earlier, the case could have been settled sooner.

There never was any effort nor intent by the editor to hold out for harsh punishment.

Settlement of the criminal case, however, does not settle the real issue — the education of our children.

After another hard look, we think that transfer across the county line is the best solution and we urge every right-thinking citizen to support it.

Our problems are only partly those of shortage of money, leading to shortage of schoolrooms. These can be alleviated by organizing a district to include the present Huron Valley district.

Nobody should think that mere crossing of the county line will solve ALL of our problems. What we need to do, as the editor of the Mansfield News-Journal so rightly pointed out on these pages last week, is to consider whether the brand of education we are fostering is sufficient unto tomorrow. We think not.

But first things first! Let's get the district reunited.

Unethical conduct---

Despite the fact we've been all over the world, and dealt with some sharp operators, we confess that we've been taken in.

Back in February, two representatives told a committee of the village council (and we were present) that while Plymouth's priority for federal funds for sewer system development is high, by reason of high cost of the project, per capita, and relative low ability to pay for it, no definite commitment could be made. This was because there was no assurance the Congress would appropriate funds for Ohio.

But, they said, in view of representations by the consulting councilmen that voter support of the bond issue could not be expected without assurance of federal funds, they would notify the village prior to Aug. 5 — deadline date for getting the issue on the ballot — whether in fact federal funds would be given to the village.

Now the same men who were here in February categorically deny they said anything of the sort. It develops that approval of a bond issue is condition precedent to eligibility for federal assistance, let alone approval for use thereof.

We've always prided ourselves for accurate reporting, and to make sure we checked again with those who attended the parley. They confirm that what we reported then, as now, was a substantially accurate account of what was said and done.

So it looks like we've been taken in. For this we apologize. And we promise this: that we'll never again buy a bill of goods from the Water Pollution Control board. They can threaten, cajole, do as they will — but it'll be a cold day in hell before they obtain our cooperation again.

And so Mr. Hall, in his (for all we know) air-conditioned office in Columbus, might get out the music for that old song, "Will You Love Me in August as You Did in February?"

Our answer is, no, Mr. Hall, we have no love for such morally unethical conduct. By such behavior, you merely defeat the purpose for which you were intended.

Suzie sez

WHERE, ASKS POP, CAN A man buy a cap for his knee? The same place he can buy a key for the lock of his hair, natch.

Can you call his eyes a school because there are pupils in them? What jewels are found in the crown of his head? How much traffic is there on the bridge of his nose? Would he use the nails in his toes to shingle the roof of his mouth?

Why doesn't he cool himself in the shade of the palm of his hand? Or beat the drum of his ear?

And why doesn't he eat the corn that grows on his toe? Or grow corn on his ear?

Where can he sharpen his shoulder blades? And why isn't the crook of his elbow sent to jail?

Mr. Walt Shockey asked him these questions this week. I should have known he was only pulling my leg.

POP KEEPS GROUCHING that Chip wears his socks. And Pop stomps up and down the upstairs hall yelling that he NEVER has any socks to wear.

Cheer up, Pop. He doesn't wear your pants, does he?

THE QUESTION OF A DOG is getting hot around our house. We have a special day coming up this month (I am not supposed to say what it is, but you can see it a little later in another place in the paper) and we might get one.

The English bulldog is out, I think. Mom hears that he slobbers. The talk among the big wheels now is about an airedale or an Irish terrier.

I think what we would like is to have our cake and eat it too. We would like a dog that could come in the house sometimes but is big enough to keep outside. Probably no dog will be as good as Pogo Beauregard D—who is Mom's secret passion, but I am sure that Dizzy (Pop has already chosen a name for this dog — it's Benjamin Disraeli, who was a British prime minister, and we will call him Dizzy for short) will take Pogo's place after a while. I haven't asked him, but think Pop chose the name of British prime minister for a dog because he doesn't think much of British policies right now. Who does?

A MILLERS' HARDWARE & APPLIANCES

Lawrence Noble in Hawaii camp

Specialist Third Class Lawrence Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Noble, Shiloh route 2, recently participated with the 25th Infantry division in annual combat efficiency Army training tests in Hawaii.

Specialist Noble, assigned to headquarters company of the division's 27th Infantry, entered the Army in November, 1955. He arrived overseas in April, 1956. Noble attended Garrett (Ky.) High school.

Charles Millers have it made --- city mixture on farm

The Charles Millers have got it made.
They live in a comfortable, well-built farmhouse on 38 acres in Route 224, adjoining the Richmond school, whose grounds were, indeed, taken from the Miller plot.

THEY'VE BEEN THERE 19 years, having come there shortly after the death of Mr. Miller's father, for whom they cared during his terminal illness.
Now 38 acres isn't enough to make a living on, the Millers allow, but it's enough to give you the advantage of farm life while enjoying the attractions of city living.

And the Millers have them by the score. They are subscribers to the Willard electric service. They cook with electricity. Willard has treated them well, although the folks across the road subscribe to REA service, which is slightly cheaper.

THE MILLERS HEAT THEIR water and run their wash through a dryer which burns artificial gas. This is a neat and handy service. The Millers do their own reading of the meter, forward the reading to the company, pay the bills each month. Two or three times a year without notice by the subscriber, the gas company refills the reservoir.

The telephone goes by the door. They get prompt mail delivery. A fine, improved highway runs past their front door. Television and radio reception is good. The school could hardly be closer, although their daughter is grown up now, having married Warren Snay.

Still, country living has its disadvantages, too.
"Now you take this darned fool weather," the Millers say. "The oats is down. A few days of good weather will bring it up. If we get a few days of decent weather. Then when it gets up, we'll have to wait on the combine. With only 38 acres, you can't afford a combine and you have to hire it custom done. When you do that, you realize there are a lot of others doing the same thing and you have to wait your turn."

COUNTRY LIVING ALSO requires some economies. "But if you're careful," say the Millers, "you can keep costs down. Now take the electric stove. You can cook as much with the heat turned off as you can with it on. That 'after-heat' will cook fine — just leave the burners turned on until it gets good and hot, then snap it off and leave the pan on the burner. The oven works the same way."

For a place, to raise a family, you'd have to go a "fur piece" to find a better one than what belongs to the Charles Millers, Willard route 2.

Exams announced for USCG career

Rep. A. D. Baumhart, Jr., announced from Washington today 1959 entrance examinations for the U. S. Coast Guard academy at New London, Conn., will be held Feb. 24 and 25, 1959.

These examinations are open to all young men who have reached their 17th but not their 22nd birthday, are single, in good physical condition and have a high school diploma. High school subjects required are three units of English, two units of algebra, and one of plane geometry.

Deadline for submitting applications is Jan. 15, 1959.

The hospital beat

Mrs. Grant Burns, Shiloh, was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Saturday.

Teachers learn driving skills

Learning how to give instruction in operation of an automobile was a six-hour-a-day activity for a group of 35 enrolled in a driver education workshop at Bowling Green State university until August 1. Lewis J. Petit and Lawrence J. Root were enrolled in the course.

It was the seventh such workshop to be held here with the cooperation of the Allstate Foundation of the Allstate Insurance Co. Twenty-five of those enrolled were recipients of scholarships sponsored by the foundation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir: Please express to the many friends who wrote to us our deep appreciation for their loyalty and love.

Ralph and I are doing fine. I include Ralph because even though he didn't undergo the surgery, he says it was the longest day of his life. And now that I'm home, he's proving himself to be a good cook and nurse, as well as flower gardener and retired minister. He will preach here in the Friends Meeting house at Quaker Haven Aug. 17, at 10 a.

Again thanks, and God bless each one.
Sincerely, Mildred Felix
(Mrs. Ralph Felix)

STREET MANNERS FOR DOGS

By Bob Bartos
Prominent Dog Authority
Every dog that lives in the city or suburbs must be street manners. He must learn not to make passes at pedestrians. Strange as it seems, there are people who don't care for dogs and they have taxpayer's rights to walk the streets untouched by overly friendly or curious pooches. A city dog must learn not to cross in front of people, including you, and trip them up. He must learn not to get wound around lamp posts when on lead. In other words, he must learn to be a dog. According to the Emily Post of dogdom, this means walking on the owner's left side, with head in line with the owner's body.

Training for this should begin in the house or back yard, as the street offers too many distractions.

Walk with the dog on the leash several times a day. Hold him on a short leash close to your left side. When he's where he belongs, say "Heel" and slacken the leash. If he pulls ahead or falls behind, bring him back into position with a sharp jerk on the lead and say "Heel." It's a matter of repeating the command and action until it becomes automatic. Start this street training when a puppy is five to seven months old, the age being dependent on the disposition and development of the puppy.

Feeding Tip: A dog recovering from an illness needs extra food and nourishment. A good way to supply this is to include top-grade, commercially prepared dog food such as Friskies.

Always shop at home FIRST!

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

"Crossroad of History"

This monument stands on a hillside overlooking the Mad River valley west of Springfield in the 150-acre Clark Memorial Park.

It commemorates the military achievements of General George Rogers Clark against the Indians of the Central Ohio country back in 1778-1780.

Following the successful campaign waged by General Clark and a few hundred soldiers against the British in southern Indiana, he led an army against the home villages of the raiding Shawnee Indians. This monument to General Clark stands on the site of the Indian village, Old Piqua, where his force defeated the Shawnees in a fierce battle. Tecumseh, the famous Indian leader, then a boy, is said to have watched this battle over the town of his birth.

Clark Memorial Park is just north of Route 4, about five miles west of Springfield. It is but one mile south of U.S. Rt. 40 on State Route 369.
