

Christendom's greatest hour:

Easter observance starts today

Three-hour Good Friday services beginning at noon tomorrow in First Evangelical Lutheran church will herald the advent of Easter.

Business houses will close between 2 and 3 p.m. to enable officers and employees to attend.

Seven clergymen will preach brief Good Friday sermons at 15-minute intervals during the three-hour period.

The Rev. Robert F. Hall, pastor of the host church, will be liturgist.

TODAY—MAUNDY Thursday—Protestant churches will administer Holy Communion to members in special service as follows:

First Evangelical Lutheran: 7:30 p.m.

Plymouth Methodist: in the Shiloh church at 7:30 p.m.

First Presbyterian: at 7:30 p.m., not 8 p.m. as previously announced.

Roman Catholics will celebrate Maundy Thursday with mass at 5:15 p.m. in St. Joseph's Mission church. The Rev.

William Conces, celebrant.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES in that church will begin with mass of the Pre-Sanctified at 3 p.m.

Midnight mass will take place Saturday. Easter vigil begins at 11:15 p.m. Mass will begin promptly at midnight.

Easter Sunday masses will be sung at the regular hours, the pastor reports.

Directed by Mrs. Earl Huston and accompanied by Carol Hunter, Methodists at Shiloh will present a cantata, "Gospel Song of Easter," by Ellen J. Lorenz, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Soloists include Karen Huston, Anetta Dawson, Larry Humbert, the Rev. Thomas S. Taylor, LaDonna Smith, Helen Seaman, Craig Harnly, James Barnhart, June Cuppy, Mrs. Dean Hall, Glenn Brook, Kenneth Humbert and G. Deming Seymour.

New members of the congregation, received by the congregation Sunday, are Blanche Arnold, daughter of the Wood Arnolds; Joan Barnhart, daughter of the John Barnharts; Lois Seaman, daughter of the Harry Seamans; Carla Smith, daughter of the Carl Smiths, and Terrence and Richard Hamman, sons of the Robert Hammans.

New members received at Plymouth were Janis Coon, daughter of the Maynard J. Coons; Judith Hunter, daughter of the Robert Hunters; Raymond Hankammer and his parents, the Earl Hankammers, Craig McQuown, son of the Norman B. McQuowns and Mrs. L. B. Hook.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor will confer Easter Sunday the sacrament of baptism upon Thomas Arthur Hamman, son of the Arthur Hammans, and Douglas Allen Neer, son of the Jerry Neers, at Shiloh and Jacqueline Lynn and Rhonda Lee Dean, daughters of the Percy Deans, at Plymouth.

PRESBYTERIANS WILL take seven young members into the church during Communion services tonight. They are Diana Miller, Shari Vandasdale, Christine Cunningham, Natalie Faust, Carol Ray, Bonnie McPherson and David Armstrong.

A sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. Sunday will herald the Easter observance in that church.

James D. Cunningham will read the Easter story, a trio of Mrs. Charles H. Dick, Mrs. Donald Brooks and Miss Patricia Chronister will sing, the primary group will recite poems, Royann Cunningham and Lorna Lee Lake will sing a duet and the junior department will recite another poem.

Church men will serve breakfast after the service.

THE REV. ROBERT F. Hall baptised Jeanette Louise Fortney, daughter of Robert Fortney, and Crosby Lee Metcalfe, daughter of the Robert F. Metcalfe, on Palm Sunday.

Lutherans will hear his sermon, "But Now Is Christ Risen," laid upon I Corinthians 15:20, at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Wed 65 years, Mrs. Alice Albright dies at New Haven.

Kreutzfeld given summer study grant

Eighty-nine-year-old Mrs. Alice I. Albright, wife of Frank to whom she was married 65 years ago, Feb. 28, died in her New Haven township home Friday.

She lived her entire life in Huron county. Mrs. Albright was a member of Willard's Evangelical United Brethren church, whose pastor, the Rev. C. D. Wright, conducted last rites Monday at 2 p.m., with burial in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven.

Mrs. Albright, a member of New Haven Farm Women's club, is also survived by a son, Clayton, Peru township, 10 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Shaver's sister succumbs at 69

Sister of Mrs. H. B. Shaver, Mrs. Jesse W. Reeley, 69, died Mar. 16 in New London hospital of cancer. She had been in failing health more than two years.

Born Erna I. O'Hara in New London, she was a member of First Methodist church there. Two son, four daughters and seven grandchildren also survive.

A funeral service was conducted Thursday from New London with burial in Grove Street cemetery there.

Handful turns out for pro-levy group

Only seven persons and the chairman turned out Friday night to lay plans for a "Support the Bond Issue" committee.

Conflict of the junior class play and the Presbyterians' father-son dinner was said to have interfered with attendance.

But because attendance was so meager, further plans to organize a committee to help gain approval of the 4.16-mill school bond levy were suspended.

A Plymouth High school instructor has received a National Science Foundation grant of tuition plus maintenance for an intensive eight-week summer study course, in biology and chemistry.

He is Frederick J. Kreutzfeld, physical science teacher who will study at the University of Toledo.

One of 28 successful applicants in a field of over 330, he will begin his studies June 15, on a nine-hour-a-day, six-day-a-week basis.

Part of the program involves study at Theodore Stone laboratory on Gibraltar island in Lake Erie, at Ford Research institute in Dearborn, Mich., and on McGee Marsh land facilities.

A graduate of Port Clinton High school Kreutzfeld received a bachelor of science degree from Ohio State university in 1950. He taught and coached at Butler High school, producing an undefeated gridiron team, before coming here in 1951. After a three-year tour, he went to Ottawa Hills High school as biology instructor and assistant football coach and returned here at the beginning of the current school year.

Married, he is the father of two sons, three and one.

Estate of the late Addie B. Kinsel has been appraised by Huron county probate court at $21,967.61.

Brownie troop elects

Jerelyn Ebersole was elected president by Brownie Troop 377 Monday. Susan Root is vice-president, Montelle L. Faust secretary, Bonnie Kookin treasurer, Linda Hollenbaugh news reporter.

'Class ad sold,' says she

"I sold that freezer the minute the paper was out," says Mrs. Robert Swartz. "I wish I had a dozen more freezers to sell. It shows how well a 'for sale' ad in your paper sells."

Mrs. Swartz has just returned from Warner-Robins, Ga., whence her husband has been transferred.

Classified advertisements in The Advertiser produce results, her testimony shows. Call The Advertiser today at 7-5511 to move used items such as freezers.

Seniors set car wash

A car wash will be sponsored by the Class of 1959, Plymouth High school, at the Shiloh bus garage beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Eva Dick is general chairman. Price for a car, $1; with white sidewalls, $1.25.

Proceeds will be used for the senior trip.

May-hee-co is all reet, cats, no sweat on peso

Son of the Fred J. Ports, C. Otis Port has just completed a term of study at National University, Mexico City, D.F. The following account is his view of life there.

He intends to re-enter Baldwin-Wallace college, Berea, to major in psychology. Next month. Pending more complete arrangements, he would graduate with the Class of 1960.

by C. OTIS PORT

Take Frank Sinatra's lyric, "Come, fly with me" to Mexico and you can do so for as little as $85.

If you prefer to see the intervening countryside, take a bus for about $55.

If this seems even a bit expensive, it's but the high initial investment. For once in old Mexico, your financial worries will be practically non-existent.

Traveling by bus through Mexico costs less than a cent per mile on modern Greyhounds, less by second class.

A taxi in Mexico City runs $1.60 an hour. 50 cents from the center of town to the most distant suburb. Bus fare for the same trip costs 40 cents.

vos, in U.S. currency about three cents.

Hotel rates are correspondingly low. Unless your tastes run with the very elite, you can rent a comfortable double room in a clean hotel just off the Alameda—the new center of the city—for as low as $4 a day, half that if you wish to "go native."

WHILE THERE HAS been much said about the living conditions in Mexico, one can live with as much comfort in Mexico City as in Cleveland. For the entire time I was there, I drank the tap water, bought food in the native markets (although it is wise to beware of fruits and vegetables which cannot be peeled; nevertheless, on several occasions I ate apples without even washing them) and never experienced the usual disease of "tourists" or diarrhea.

With two students, I rented an apartment at the corner of two main avenues, with living room, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms, bath, and two lavatories, for $90. a month.

For about $5 each, we ate the following weekly menu: breakfast of juice, two eggs, milk, rolls and coffee, lunch with a sandwich, milk and coffee; dinner of steak twice a week, liver, spaghetti, fish, or pork roast, baked potato, greens, beans (the Mexican tortilla), milk, and coffee or tea. A comparable meal in even the best restaurant would not be over $2.50.

Meanwhile, you can be seeing some of the most spectacular scenery in the world. Mexico, even the modern Mexico City, is a land of contrasts. On one side of the street you may see architecture so advanced that it is only on drafting boards in the U.S., while on the other side may be the shack of a peon built of a conglomeration of logs, boards, mud and leaves with a thatched roof. Running around are naked or possibly just half-naked children.

The city is built on a high, level richly fertile plateau completely surrounded by a ring of mountains as barren as the day they were first thrust from the earth. Driving through one of the fashionable residential districts, you will see grand ultra-modern homes with peones clothed in filthy rags working about the grounds. Hand labor is still employed to raise the contemporary glass-walled skyscrapers that are rapidly replacing the old colonial buildings.

Perhaps the best example is the National university, the oldest university in the Americas, presently housed in the most modern and impressive campus in the world. It covers 20 square miles with some 50 buildings, including the largest swimming pool yet constructed, and plans on an enrollment in excess of 100,000 in 1965.

The combining of the old with the new, the traditional with the up-to-date, through the efforts of the Indians who worked the land long before the imposition of the European — this is the spirit of Mexico, the land of the Aztec whose purpose in life was the sustaining of the sun to prevent the destruction of the world. Who knows but what Mexico, in the role of a rising power, may finally realize her ancient destiny?

The Rev. C. W. Cassel, pastor of Mt. Hope Lutheran church at Shiloh, will be one of seven ministers to preach here tomorrow during Good Friday services.

Defense, says Old Timer, returning to roundball

Defeat of West Virginia's Mountaineers, best of the east, by California's Golden Bears, best in the west tells the basketball student two things: the best game is played beyond the Rockies, and the Pacific coast states have influenced style of basketball disproportionately to the number of players or teams out there.

The collapsing defensive style employed by Pete Newell's Californians at Louisville Saturday, which held the fastest offense in the country to a moderate score of 70, is catching on. Where the game was once ratchets for the offense, it's now turning toward improved defense.

That the west should make innovations in collegiate basketball is not new. But it is a full generation, 21 whole years, since a western team has had such marked effect upon collegiate basketball style.

It was in 1937-38 that Leland Stanford's great quintet starring Hank Luisetti came to Madison Square garden to meet ex-Mansfielder Clair Bee's Long Island university Blackbirds, undefeated in nearly 50 games.

And Luisetti, Art Stoefer and the Calderwood brothers, Phil and Jack, just about pitched the Blackbirds out of that vast arena. They did it with floor play the like of which New York had never seen and the one-handed set shot. Bee had brought the two-handed set to its full fruition with LIU. A boy couldn't get to play on the team unless he could bucket five of seven from mid-court on the old Brooklyn College of Pharmacy floor, were LIU practiced.

Now 21, years later, another California team, with a new style of play, has stunned the collegiate basketball world. We predict it'll catch on, that basketball will once again become a game to watch, that defensive specialists will again have their hour. Which is as it should be!

A GROUP OF THE O. T.'S kaffee klatch went to St. John arena over the weekend to watch the state basketball finals.

One of the attractions was that Jack Gill, a Willard boy in his first year of coaching, had gotten his team — Lynnwood-Jacksontown, of Licking county — into the class A finals, Edgerton beat 'em, but not by much.

And another was Cleveland East Tech's squad of giants. One way said they were in the wrong tourney — they should have been at Louisville.

The implication was the East Tech squad wasn't entirely kosher, that some of its players were basketball bums rather than bona fide pupils of a vocational high school.

It is true that most of 'em were mustachioed. But we are told it is common for 17- and 18-year-olds of their race to grow whiskers.

Anyway, as the O.T. predicted, the class AA competition was a farce. East Tech all but doubled the score against Scott of Toledo and could have beaten Salem equally as well.

Another year of this kind of thing and they had better lock the place up.

AND FOR THOSE WHO

take delight in presenting back columns for the O.T.'s masthead, because he missed his guess, a little bit of "we-told-you-so" won't do much harm.

Exactly as predicted, the big schools are taking steps to "protect their prestige". They resent small towns that folks in Massillon and Cleveland and Toledo never heard of graduating to the class AA ranks and coming up with teams that knock off the big-city outfits. So they've organized a strong lobby in the OHSAA to raise the enrollment figure which pushes a class A school into AA.

It won't happen right away — perhaps next fall. But it's there, and Emswiler's successor, McConnell, admits it. So don't say we didn't tell you.

Why are they doing it? Let our Cleveland Benedictine friend tell it: "When we come to Podunk and Podunk loses to us, our fans and rooters say 'so what!' But when Podunk beats us, as in the law of averages they will occasionally, we're made to look like humpty-dumplings, (can't even beat Podunk.) And besides, the little town like Podunk always has lots of desire to knock off a Cleveland team, whereas the Cleveland team hasn't much desire to beat Podunk."

Gob's life the berries, Hunt plays ball all day

Oh, for the life of a sailor! Jimmy Hunt, son of the Ralph Hunts, Plymouth football, basketball and baseball monogram winner, is assigned to the cage squad of the USS Intrepid. He's travelling with the squad to Spain, Morocco and other points — "have no duty but basketball!"

PML to sign up players Apr. 4

Registration for new players and those who played last season will be conducted by Plymouth Midget League in Plymouth Elementary school Apr. 4 from 4 to 5:30 p.m. and Apr. 6 from 7 to 8 p.m.

To be eligible, players must: 1. Live within an area prescribed by Willet and Town Line roads east of Plymouth, Route 598 west of the village, Dinninger road south of Plymouth and Ft. Ball road north of New Haven.

2. Be at least seven years old and not more than 12 years old prior to Aug. 1, 1959.

3. Be accompanied by at least one parent, who will be required to execute the permission and waiver.

4. Submit $1 registration.

BOYS UNABLE TO COMPLY with the fourth requirement are invited to communicate with the sports editor of The Advertiser, who will afford them an opportunity to earn the money promptly.

These details were hammered out Mar. 16 when PML officers and directors met in Plymouth Elementary school under the direction of Duane (Bud) Young, president.

Ted Fox was elected to manage POOM Giants, replacing M. E. (Tug) Mellott, who was assigned as coach. Mellott quit because of press of other business.

DIRECTORS APPROVED leasing of Plymouth High school baseball field for the summer schedule. New socks and caps will be furnished each of the four teams.

George Lesko was elected minor league director. Seven- and eight-year-old players will be assigned to minor league teams to play Wednesdays and Fridays at 4 p.m.

Jets flame out in Class C tourney

Junior Jets bowed out of Mansfield class C tourney Monday night by falling for the second time this season to Shaw-Ott.

Score was 16 to 8. The Jets simply could not hit from the floor.

Mrs. Flora to head college's effort to raise funds here

A campaign to raise $1,150,000 for immediate expansion of Ashland college will be outlined to Plymouth alumni Apr. 10 at 6:30 p.m. at Cornell's restaurant.

Mrs. Guy Flora, 215 Sandusky street, has been named chairman, with Lewis Petit, 155 Trux street, as her vice-chairman, by Ashland college president Glenn L. Clayton to head up the area organization. Plans are now under way to enlist local alumni to participate in the drive.

Slides of the college and a short history of the building progress on the campus will be outlined to the group at the kick-off dinner meeting Apr. 10.

Ashland college is seeking money for a new science building, $500,000; new library for undergraduates, $300,000; seminary library, $50,000; faculty advancement program, $100,000, and debt retirement, $200,000.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Ellis were among charter members of the Greenwich grange honored Tuesday night when the grange observed its 25th anniversary. On Sunday the Ellises with Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ellis will be dinner guests of the Roy Koles in Attica.

The G. A. Carliers entertained the John A. Tursons, Sunday at dinner.

Mrs. Reilly breaks print with query about ivy

Current issue of Workbasket magazine, replying to a question from Mrs. Carrie Reilly of 121½ Sandusky street tells how to rid ivy plants of green lice or mites.

Red spider mites often attack ivy when the humidity is too low. Kelthane or Malathion sprayed on the ivy will destroy mites.

Green lice or aphids require a spray of nicotine sulphate, Black Leaf 40, to be eliminated.

Giving the ivy a weekly bath, using as strong a spray of water as possible will keep them fairly free from mites. A strong spray of clear water is preferable to insecticides if used regularly.

The question from Mrs. Reilly is one of 12 on gardening answered in the April issue of Workbasket.

Suzie sez

It must be awful to have to wear glasses.

Pop was told he had to wear them — he claims he became an optical cripple because he looked better in horn-rimmed specs — and he did, off and on, for a long time. Then he lost 'em and still can't find 'em. He can still see what he wants to see, Mom says, as she grabs him by the seat of the pants in the middle of the street.

Mom says she has saved his life a million times. Especially in the spring, when he gawks at pretty girls.

Mom has always worn glasses. She takes 'em off only when she goes to bed. And she puts them on when she gets up.

We used to have a heck of a time finding Mom's glasses in the morning, because she'd forget where she left them. But now we don't have any trouble finding Mom's glasses — they're always where she's emptied them.

CHIP WOKE ME UP THE other night. "There's somebody downstairs," he said.

I told him it was probably Mom and Pop and to let me alone.

He insisted it was somebody else. I asked him how he knew. "Because," he said, "I just heard Mom laugh at Pop's joke."

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a king in Siam who had a funny way of getting even with nobles that he didn't like. He would give them a white elephant.

In Siam a white elephant is sacred and a person who owns one has to keep it like a prince. This costs a lot of money. A noble who was given a white elephant by the king would soon go broke.

This is how the word "white elephant" grew up and is today used for something useless around the house.

I expect Mom to call Pop a white elephant any day.

Sir: It is gratifying to learn from The Advertiser that 85 Plymouth residents want the new high school built in Plymouth. I agree it does not make sense to build out in the country, and spend a lot of money for duplicate water and sewer systems.

A roughly million dollar addition to the tax duplicate for school and sewers, on top of a stiff increase in real estate taxes we have just paid, will cause many to think twice before voting yes on the issue.

With the village losing population, the outlook is gloomy. What suckers we were, for not voting for sewers, some 15 years ago.

We need a new fire station. Why not ask a good contractor to advise on the suitability and cost of converting the Ramsey theatre into a fire house? The location is ideal.

Daups to observe 40th wedding day

Open house will be observed Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Harnly of High street. Ellsworth and Harold Daup and Mrs. Harnly are planning the occasion to mark the 40th wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Daup. The Daups were married Mar. 26, 1919, at the parsonage of the United Brethren church in Mansfield.

Mrs. Edna Gieseman returned Friday from an 11-week visit in the South and Cleveland. While in Florida she was the guest of her three daughters. She visited Mrs. Mary Backenstot, Miss Kay Elliott, and Mrs. Gladys McLarty. Mrs. McLarty is the former Miss Gladys Forsythe of this place. On her return home she stopped at Warner-Robin, Ga., to spend some time with her son, Joe. During her stay there she called on Mr. and Mrs. Harold Russell and Mr. and Mrs. James Peterson, former residents here.

E. J. Stevenson, who has been in poor health for some time was taken Saturday to Shelby Memorial hospital.

Services at the Lutheran church on Easter Sunday will be as follows: Dawn service: 6:30. Luther league breakfast: 8 a.m., Sunday school and program by the children: 9:30 a.m. Regular worship service: 10:30 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Garrett entertained Saturday evening with a pinocle party. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Traxel of Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Russell and Mr. and Mrs. George Harrington.

Ninety-four pupils of the seventh grade science classes were taken Monday by Mrs. Wayne Strine and Mrs. Wood Arnold to the Arnold sugar camp to see the evaporator. They were taken in two sections. They drank the tea, watched it boil and ate candy made from the syrup.

A son was born Monday night at Shelby to Mr. and Mrs. Clay Spencer of Route 603.

Mrs. Wood Arnold was informed last week that Plymouth-Shiloh freshman chapter of Future Homemakers of America will receive the awards of merit at the state F.H.A. convention in Columbus in April. The award is granted on the program set up for the year and the enthusiasm with which it is carried out.

Floyd Williams, surgery patient at Shelby, last week, was brought home Tuesday.

Sixteen members were present and roll call was answered by giving suggestions for the good of the club when the Mothers' club met Thursday evening with Mrs. Robert Hamman. Two new members were received into the club, Mrs. La Vaughn Oswald and Mrs. Paul Gordon. Mrs. Ray Kessler won the raffle prize. Officers elected were Mrs. Charles Ely, president; Mrs. Robert Sutter, vice-president; Mrs. John Gilger, secretary; Mrs. Robert Hamman, treasurer; Mrs. William Rook, news reporter.

Ray Kessler, Shiloh, was taken to Cleveland Clinic Sunday by McQuate's ambulance from Shelby Memorial hospital.

A trip to the sugar camp was the principal diversion of the afternoon when Blanche Arnold entertained her friend Sue Henry, 12 years old last week. It was a complete surprise to Sue. Present were Nancy Dawson, Linda Hamman and Carla Smith. Jeanie Reynolds was unable to accept her invitation on account of sickness.

Community Grange will meet at 8:30 p.m. during the summer months. Next regular meeting will be Wednesday evening. Shenandoah Grange will put on the program.

Mrs. Roy Dershiner of Shelby was hostess Thursday evening to members of her family at her home to honor the 55th wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Heifner. Those present, other than the honorees, were Mrs. Floyd Williams and three daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heifner and daughter.

Women of Mt. Hope Lutheran church will present a "Look at the Middle East" Thursday at 8 p.m. when they entertain women of the Clay-Oakland parish.

Mrs. Thomas Hunter will introduce the Middle East. Mrs. Earl Stevenson will give highlights of Islam and Miss Irmogene Dick will speak on "The Place of the Cross." The Rev. C. W. Cassel will show colored slides which he and Mrs. Cassel took on a Mediterranean cruise, on which they toured the Middle East. A fellowship hour will follow.

Mrs. Ross Stroup and son, Gary, and Mrs. Gloyd Russell are leaving Thursday, for Warner-Robin, Ga., where the Stroups will spend the weekend and Mrs. Russell an indefinite time with the Harold Russell family.

Mrs. A. C. Henry recently entertained at dinner these guests: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clark, family of Plymouth, Mrs. Hazel Lofland and Mrs. Linda Hamman. The occasion marked the 16th birthday anniversary of her son, Daniel.

Guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Washburn were Mrs. Cameron and son of Shelby, Mrs. Jacob Ernst and son, Mr. and Mrs. George Young and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Boverseck and family, all of Mansfield.

Get-together club met with Mrs. Mildred Lofland for an afternoon session, Thursday. Fourteen members were present. Topic for discussion was "Easter Origin and Customs". Club voted to help with the cake walk at the school's "Spring Festival."

Chicken barbecue set at church Apr. 4

New Haven Methodist church will sponsor a barbecued chicken supper Apr. 4. Mrs. Frank Smith, president of the WSCS is general chairman. Assisting in the kitchen with Mrs. Earl Hankamer as chairman, will be women of the WSCS and the Live Wire Sunday school class. The Kings and Queens and the teen-age girls under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Simpson will serve in the dining room.

Chicken will be prepared by John Hutchinson of Milan. After having been dipped in his own special sauce, the chickens will be barbecued on a large outdoor-rollable spit at the rear of the church. Several men from the church will serve as assistant chefs.

Full menu will be one-half chicken, scalloped potatoes, beans or corn, molded salad, home made pie, hot rolls and coffee. Serving will be cafeteria style in the church basement starting at 5 p.m.

High Roaders Sunday School class will have a check-room upstairs. Also, from experience with last year's supper, when more than 350 were served, numbers will be issued at the door to assist in proper serving.

Advance sale of tickets has started and may be purchased from Mollie's Beauty Shop, C. E. Davis Grocery, Shell Service Station and committee chairman in New Haven; Mrs. Cecil Smith and Mrs. A. H. Newmyer at the schools in Plymouth; Jesse Ruth at the Willard United Bank; Miss Dorthea Buckingham, LeRoy Briggs at the Western Auto store in Willard.

The Richard Groscofs, Sandusky, were Mar. 14th dinner and evening guests of her parents, the R. E. Van Wagners. The Dgn Van Wagners were Mar. 15 evening guests of his parents.

Mrs. Harley Kendig has been elected president of New Haven WSCS.

Mrs. Harold Slessman is vice-president, Mrs. A. W. Penrose secretary, Mrs. Earl Hankamer treasurer. Secretaries elected are Mrs. R. G. Driver, promotion; Mrs. Clifford Shreve, missionary education; Mrs. Neal Slessman, Christian social relations; Mrs. Edith Getz, student work; Mrs. John Getz, children's work.

Also, Mrs. Glen McKelvey, spiritual life; Mrs. Feri Buckingham, literature and publications; Mrs. J. A. Snow, supply work; Mrs. Frank Smith, local church activities; Mrs. Robert Cole, status of women.

"World Council of Churches" was the subject of the program presented by Mrs. McKelvey, Thursday, when Mrs. Ed Bang, Mrs. Boyd Mitchell and Mrs. Harold Slessman were hostesses.

District WSCS meeting at Sandusky will take place Apr. 21, officer training day at Plymouth Apr. 30.

A community shower in the township hall honored the Edward Heckmanns Mar. 18.

Thirty kin gathered at his grandparents', the Richard Chappmans, Saturday for a send-off for James Postema, who left Monday as an Army volunteer.

Weekend callers on the J. A. Snows were the Ray Foltzes of Arlington, Saturday, and the Robert Groves, Jr., Shelby, Monday. The Snows spent Sunday in Muskegon with the Jesse Vermlillions.

Mrs. Chester Vance, Willard, and the G. Lyle Grabach of Plymouth and their daughter, Patricia, Cleveland, and the Dan Solingers, Gallon, called on the R. E. Van Wagners Saturday afternoon.

The Van Wagners entertained at Sunday dinner the E. A. Halls, Willard, the Don Van Wagners and their children, who were baptized and received into membership of New Haven Methodist church, Sunday.
