Shiloh offers gas rate bargain

Compromise offer in proposed new natural gas contract for Shiloh subscribers was offered to Ohio Fuel Gas Co. May 27 by Shiloh village council.

Gist of the offer: only one increase, across-the-board, bringing average consumer who uses 50,000 cu. ft. of natural gas monthly to a bill of $37.28, an increase of $1.31 over rates currently in force under the expired contract but $1.25 under the tender made by Ohio Fuel Gas.

Village council also asked a fuel clause in the new contract, which would alter price of gas consumed locally when its price varies at the well-head.

Shiloh has 192 homes and 35 commercial buildings using natural gas for cooking or heating.

Offer by the council calls for an increase of about 10 per cent, as compared with Ohio Fuel Gas' tender of 17 per cent boost, with built-in boosts over three additional years.

Ohio Fuel Gas says it's studying the offer.

GIRL SCOUTS were among the marchers in Plymouth's annual Memorial day parade Saturday. Mrs. Kenneth Eichelberry, neighborhood chairman, led her fifth grade troop in this portion of the column.

Miss Owens quits

Miss Roberta Owens, who has taught in Shiloh schools the past two years, has accepted a contract to teach second grade in Monroeville. The Spectator of that community reports.

She replaces Marilyn Collier, who formerly taught in Huron Valley High school.

LARGEST PHOTOGRAPH ever published by The Advertiser, this one was chosen by the editor because (1) it's the last PHS class to visit Washington, (2) its proof the class got there, and (3) it's first-hand evidence that, despite opposition to Ike in Congress, Capitol is still there.

PM to be intermediary of council's hot potato

A nine-aspirin headache was thrown into the lap of Postmaster Raymond L. Brooks by the village council Tuesday night.

To solve what shapes up as an insoluble problem, Postmaster Brooks was asked to convene property owners in the neighborhood of Trux street, Mills avenue and the alley running between to arrive at a compromise pro rating of deed distances.

The problem was clearly set forth by Richland County Engineer Walter E. Rusk. Owing, he said, to the shortage of deed distances in properties commencing with the former Sourvine hotel and extending east to Mulberry street, he can't accurately position the alley, which he said was initially dedicated as a 30-foot alley.

Upshot of the situation: it is evident there is a shortage of deed distances along Trux street from Broadway to Mulberry, which shortage would have to be pro-rated accordingly between all properties before the alley could be properly located.

Not so, said the council, except in theory. In practice, it said, the sacrifice of deed territory usually falls upon the abutting property owner, in this instance David Bachrach.

But, so that deeds and easements can be properly recorded, Brooks was asked to convene the property owners to seek a common consent to the pro rating suggested by Rusk.

The council did not do so joyfully. "Whoever is promoting the idea of a post office here made a very serious mistake," said Elmer E. Markley, "by not going into the accessibility of the site. The village doesn't have the money to go into costly surveys and legal fees to correct a situation that's not of its own doing."

In addition to Bachrach, Arthur Heck, Percy H. Root and Mrs. Henry H. Fackler have buildings or parts thereof extending over the presumed alley line.

William B. Ross asked council to repair chuck holes in Maple street and in the alley running north from North street and to install a light in the alley.

Meanest thief got bikes - five of 'em, hit water plant, too

World's meanest thief operated here "probably after 2 a.m. Sunday". Patrolman Robert Baker says.

He and his accomplices, if any, stole five bicycles.

Youngsters whose wheels were taken are Gary and Beth Ross, children of the William B. Rosses, 157 Maple street and their neighbors, Dixie Fortney, 108 Sandusky street, and the daughters of the Walter Akerses, 158 Sandusky street.

Mrs. Akers has posted a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the culprits.

TEN GALLONS OF GASOLINE and two pairs of insulated gloves worth $70 were stolen from the water plant in Sandusky street, Supt. Russell Moser reported to police Sunday.

He went there at 6:30 a.m. and found the hasp pried off the door, he said.

Police suspect the same thief or thieves who got the bicycles.

Advertiser 'devil' to get BS degree

Another ex-Advertiser printer's devil will join the ranks of baccalaureate degree holders Sunday.

Daniel Earl Eby, a Plymouth High school graduate who in his youth was pressman and devil in The Advertiser, is a candidate for the degree of bachelor of science in business administration from Bowling Green State university.

Married and the father of a child, he is the son of Mrs. George Eby and the late Mr. Eby, 33 Park avenue.

Here's summary of firehouse parley

The following is a digest of the consultation May 26 between the village council and the Board of Public Affairs on the question of development of the Ramsey property:

"Seventy-two per cent of the people I contacted — people I have faith in and who I believe supported me at election time — told me they favor the plan as I've presented it. . . It's a 15 or 20-year plan and we want to do the whole thing according to a plan. . . But we don't want to jeopardize the school or the sewer issues right now." — Elmer E. Markley, councilman.

"If we run short of money, would the Board consider at all transferring of water department funds to the needs of the fire house?" — Whitney J. Briggs, councilman.

"We've only got $19,000 on hand, and our needs are much greater than that. We'd have to think this over." — George W. Cheesman, BPA.

"The water tank can't be filled as it is now, it needs a lot of work on it because the bottom isn't substantial, it'll take nearly $4,300." — Robert L. McIntire, BPA.

"Then we take it as settled that the Board hasn't any intention of doing any building now or in the immediate future." — Donald E. Akers, councilman.

"We are going to call the water mortgage in June, settle up the $12,000 we owe and that'll clear up all indebtedness against the water system." — Carl V. Ellis, Village clerk.

"Revenues in the water system average $4,500 each three months, which is down from what it was about 18 months ago." — Ellis, again.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

I was certainly sorry to hear of the death of Jessie I. Cole. As was stated in the paper, she taught school at New Haven for approximately 30 years. Not only did I and my sister go to her but also our aunt and uncle had gone to her. Jessie Cole was the type of a teacher that felt school was the place not only to teach the basic fundamentals (arithmetic, reading etc) but the place where characters are molded. Yes, we had discipline problems in those days but not Jessie Cole! When she stepped into the classroom there was order, no raising of her voice to obtain it, sometimes a word of admonition softly spoken, but we knew we were there to learn and we all had a great respect for her and tried to do our best.

She was one who was always interested in your problems and gave sound advice. Not only did she encourage her pupils to seek a higher education than high school but she actually loaned money to those students who could not get it otherwise and whom she felt was worthy. In those days New Haven paid $80. a month for a teacher so you can see a loan of $200 comprised several months' pay.

A few months back my sister Pauline in Los Angeles said to me, "We should try to collect all the material on Jessie Cole's life and submit it to Ralph Edwards for she surely would qualify in the 'This is Your Life' series. That opportunity is now gone. We need not feel too badly for the hundreds of students whose character she molded or helped to and who are today a living memorial to the greatness of Jessie I. Cole. The world is indeed a poorer place since she is gone.

I not only went to her as a student but I worked with her for approximately nine years in the Methodist church. To me she was a real inspiration. Always she was there with her services and pocketbook to aid mind it will require two or wherever she could. In my three people to replace her in the church, I need not tell you how she has been the backbone of her Sunday school class in making money by selling cards, rugs, candy, etc. to help the finances of the church. All I am hoping is that someone, inspired by her loyalty and leadership, will step in to do at least a part of what she did. You never heard her complain about the minister. She was there pitching in while sometimes others were wasting their time criticizing.

I extend to you as a representative of the Plymouth community my sincere sympathy in the passing of Jessie I. Cole.

Sincerely,
Thelma (Fox) McDaniel

CHURCH NEWS

Lutherans were reminded by their pastor, Robert F. Hall, of the advance of one hour in regular Sunday morning services.

Suzie sez

Lactuca Sativa, it says here, is just about the most popular salad plant in the whole world.

Pop planted some in our garden, and if he can keep the weeds away from it, we will have some of the kind he calls cos or Romaine lettuce. He puts sugar and vinegar on it and eats it faster than any rabbit would.

I read in a book that Columbus must have brought it to the New World. It was found in the Bahamas islands in 14-94. Then it went to Haiti, in 1564, and to Brazil in 1650.

By 1808 there were 16 different varieties.

And since then, I guess, it has been an important part of salads. Mostly because it is attractive, they say, and it doesn't have many calories.

A quarter of a medium head has only 17 calories, but it has lots of vitamin A.

AND THERE IS POISON in the heart of a head of lettuce. If you eat a bushel of hearts, the poison will kill you.

Pop says if I eat a bushel of lettuce hearts I won't have to worry about the poison in the hearts — my stomach would burst anyway.

I know of a girl who wasn't invited to join a club at her college because she ate the lettuce on her salad plate, instead of leaving it there.

How silly can you get? That girl would have been safer if she were like me — lettuce is rabbit food and should be left for the rabbits.

But Pop says it was a good thing she found out — no nice girl would want to belong to a club that kicks you out because you eat the lettuce underneath your salad.

Move over, Mr. Haddix, says Cubs' Akers, loser of no-hitter to Braves in Memorial day opener, 6-0

Harvey Haddix is a lithe Ohio left-hander who doesn't particularly like girls and has tough luck losing no-hitters. Fate-Root-Heath Co. Cubs have a candidate for his shoes in young Eric Akers, another lithe left-hander who hasn't much use for girls and who also loses no-hitters.

He pitched a gem of a no-hit ball game in Midget league park Saturday but went down, 6 to 0, to Bachrach Co.-New Haven Supply Braves.

Akers allowed no hits and pitched creditably throughout. But a leaky defense cost him a single score in the first, a pair in the second and a trio in the third.

Meanwhile, Jim Broderick, veteran Cub first sacker, was getting the only two safe blows of the contest.

But, say Haddix and Akers, they pay off on runs, not hits.

THE AFTERPIECE WAS A travesty on the fair name of baseball.

With no pitching worthy of the name, green manager Ted Fox of POOM Gants threw in everything but the water bucket in an effort to stem the Firemen-Legion Reds, who won 31 to 2.

The Reds came from behind in the second with seven scores, added eight more in the next frame, and really exploded in the fifth for 15.

Fox pulled all the stops but had no pitching. The Reds got 11 hits.

Tim DeWitt pitched no-hit ball, but his achievement was less brilliant because he never was in trouble and after the third Fox had pulled most of his veteran players.

Unless the Giants settle down, and fast, they'll have no chance at all.

On first-day form, the Cubs figure to be tough, the Braves perhaps less so.

But with the injury to Dick Lahmon, pint-sized shortstop and pitcher who fell from his bike, slashed his forehead and got stitched up for his pains, the Giants will be in trouble for two or three games.

By that time, it may be too late.

Rain Monday washed out the regular contest, which was to have been played last night.

Reds and Braves meet in PML park tonight, Cubs and Giants tomorrow. The Fate-Root-Heath outfits should put up a lulu of a scrap if Fox can plug his infield hole and Freddy Buzard's control is good.

Akers is due to twirl for the Cubs.

This could be the week that tells the tale in the American league.

Should the beleaguered Yankees, deserted by their faithful sports writers and photographers (for which see Sporting News this week) and all save the O.T., perchance win five out of six, including four from the Injuns, they'll go west to Chicago come Sunday night in first place.

It could be a lot easier than you think. If the New Yorkers can get by Bomber-killer Frank Lary in the Detroit series, they'll have two advantages going for 'em in the big lakefront ballyard: psychology and the desire to make their detractors eat mud, and a pitching staff that seems to have snapped out of it.

By the time this reaches print, the O.T. may be all wet. But as of Monday night, when it's written, he claims nobody could point anywhere to any better pitching than Stengel got against the Nats: two runs in 27 innings, one of them of the Chinese variety.

his back. Bob Turley showed what he was made of.

WHAT'S MORE, GENTLEMEN and hard competitor that he is, he demanded and GOT a formal apology from Umpire Ed Hurley for unsportsmanlike words thrown at the Yank pitcher a week earlier. Turley has never won a game which Hurley called behind the plate. How come?

The Bombers may not make it. But we're not quitting on 'em yet. And if the back-biters and professional Yankee-haters will wise up a little, we'll let 'em in on a little secret: the more you ride 'em, and the more you demand radio, TV and newspaper columnist riding, the rougher they're gonna be.

Contributors to the O. T.'s stogie fund can form up at the door Friday at noon for one-a-game wagers on the coming series.

DEAN CHANCE, NORTH-western High school's phenom athlete, who as a pitcher won 51 of 52 starts in four years, thought Paul Richards' offer the best of many, signed for a $30,000 bonus, was assigned to Bluefield, class D, Appalachian league, as a Baltimore Oriole farmhand.

Mr. FARMER! do you know that additional telephones can save you money?

To a farmer time is money. And there's no better way to save time than with additional telephones.

For example, a telephone in the barn can save a trip up to the house to make or receive a call. And a telephone in an "out shed" can end those time consuming trips from the field when equipment breaks down or something needs to be ordered from town.

Give our business office a call today. Find out how little it costs to get additional telephones for your farm.
