Not everybody came by car or on foot. These ox roast visitors rode in. BELOW: roasters were Louis Lillo and Ray (Der Boss) Bright.

Big crowds recorded at ox roast

Perfect July weather drew the largest crowd in the 11-year history of the annual Legion-Firemen ox roast in Jacob's grove Saturday and Sunday.

Although final figures are subject to payment of some bills, signs were Monday night the net profit will exceed last year's by as much as 60 per cent.

A substantial turnout Saturday night, when there was little entertainment save the watching of the firing of the pits and the placing of the beef was said by some firemen to be the reason for the record earnings.

Assistant Fire Chief Ray Bright and his assistants, Louis Lillo, William Van Wagner, Woodrow Utiss, Jerome and LaFene Moore and two last-minute Legion volunteers, put the meat down after 11 p.m. Saturday.

It was withdrawn at 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Octogenarian Christian Weber observed his 11th consecutive year of buying the first sandwiches — "the most expensive and yet the cheapest sandwiches I ever bought." He habitually pays $5 for the first two sandwiches served from the Firemen's tent.

From noon to long after dark Saturday, the grounds teemed with cars and ox roast devotees, many of them drawn by the music of Wayne Strine's orchestra.

Crowd estimates of 6,500 were, some firemen said, "a bit rash — something like half that would be about right."

Teen-agers ask to build in park

Attitude of two councilmen on changes in rates for rental of tables in Mary Fates park may be a harbinger of councilmanic attitude toward a proposal by Teen-Time Rendezvous.

Having collected over $5,800 and netted $3,100 since its inception about 18 months ago, the Rendezvous wants to erect its own building in the south portion of the park.

It insists upon absolute control over the building "So long as we live up to conditions" and would allow other "civic-minded agencies to use the building when it's not in use by teen-agers."

But Donald E. Akers and Lowell Keith voted "no" on a proposal to instruct the solicitor to draft an ordinance altering rates for table rental in the park, indicating they think park revenues should be subordinated to retention of the park for residents of the village.

Vanderpool boy, only hours old, dies in hospital

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon for the sixth child of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Vanderpool, Charles, who died Monday morning in Willard Municipal hospital a few hours after he was born.

He is also survived by two sisters, Judy Eileen and Linda, three brothers, David, Edward and Kenneth; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trauger, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Vanderpool.

Last rites were conducted by his grandfather at their home and burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Mystery deepens, clues prove blind

BULLETIN
Police reported Mrs. Sexton is in Ft. Loudon, Pa., where Bivins has a brother, Homer.

The mystery of the disappearance of 26-year-old Joan R. Sexton continues to deepen. Police at press time yesterday were without clue as to her whereabouts. She has not been communicated with her family, which believes foul play may have occurred.

A trip that Mrs. Sexton, was near East Harbor was investigated by local police. A report was obtained that led to the conclusion she may have been there (police of that jurisdiction said they seemed to recall a vehicle answering the description of the Sexton machine, a 1952 Chrysler sedan, with license tag XJ 1119, in the vicinity) but no trace was found.

A warrant for her arrest, executed by her husband, charges desertion of minor children. A warrant for the arrest of Raymond Bivins, 42, Mapple Ridge road, Greenfield township, Huron county, said to be the father of nine children, alleging he aided and abetted in the desertion was also executed by Sexton.

Guest pastors set at two churches

Regular Sunday worship services in the Plymouth and Shiloh Methodist churches will be conducted by guest ministers for three weeks next month.

The Rev. E. B. McBroom of Lakeside will fill the pulpit on Aug. 9. At one time he was pastor here and is now retired. On Aug. 16 a representative of the Gideon Society will preach. On Aug. 23 the Rev. Paul Brown of Amherst will conduct services.

The Rev. Thomas S. Taylor will return from his vacation in time for the last Sunday of August.

Eagle Scout goes on trip to Quebec

Plymouth's only active Eagle Scout Avery Hand near Ontario on a two-week canoeing, fishing and sight-seeing trip through Quebec.

Earl Hankammer, Jr. will accompany a party of Eagle Scouts in Johnny Appleseed district to Camp Shagdom, Que., via Ottawa, where they will visit the Parliament buildings. The party will return Aug. 16.

The Rev. D. Andrew Howey, associate director of development, the College of Wooster, a graduate of Wooster and of McCormick seminary, Chicago, Ill., ordained by Wooster presbytery in 1955, will preach in First Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

He came to his alma mater two years ago from a six year pastorate in Brighton, Mich., Detroit presbytery. While pastor at Montpelier, he was permanent clerk of Toledo presbytery. He has had pastorates in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin also.

In Detroit presbytery he set up a department of public relations and served as its director. For five years preceding World War II he was the Rev. H. L. Miller, Sandusky-Waukegan, Ill., daily paper. He was a special news correspondent at the organization of the National Council of Churches, Cleveland, 1950 and at the World Council of Churches assembly, Evanston, Ill., 1954.

His wife is the former Grace Paul, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Paul, pastor of Presbyterian churches in Ohio. The Howeys have two married daughters and six grandchildren.

The pastor, the Rev. Moss Rutan, will be on vacation Aug. 1 to 29 inclusive.

Women filing petitions for policy-maker roles

First woman in Plymouth's history to file a nominating petition for a policy-making office, Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., is a candidate for councilman in the general election.

Born in St. Paul, Minn., she attended public schools there and was graduated from Central High school. She entered the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul, thereafter transferred to the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis. She received the bachelor of science degree in education in 1940.

For some years she was a service representative of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. in St. Paul and in 1944 she joined the women's reserve of the U. S. Marine Corps. She was mustered out in 1946 in the rank of corporal, having served in Corps headquarters at Arlington, Va., in the payroll department.

The mother of a son and a daughter, Mrs. Paddock is a member of Lodi Chapter, Business & Professional Women, and of the American Association of University Women.

Prior to coming here in 1954, she lived in Italy, Ethiopia and Switzerland. She described her candidacy as "an independent one — I am not associated with any other candidate, don't believe in machine or faction government, and pledge myself to the best interests of all of the citizens of Plymouth."

Her husband, editor and publisher of The Advertiser, said he is sure her candidacy is an independent one — "I tried to discourage her from running but she is determined. And she has a mind of her own."

Mrs. Christian runs for school board

An attractive blonde grandmother-novelist-civic worker, Mrs. Miles S. Christian, a native of Plymouth who's lived here or in Shiloh all her life, seeks to be the first woman elected to the Board of Education.

Her nominating petition is being circulated now.

Born Emeline Fate, the daughter of the late Harley H. Fates, she was graduated from Plymouth High school and attended Denison university, Granville.

She is the mother of two sons and a daughter and has one grandson. Mrs. Christian is a member of Chi Omega social sorority and of Plymouth Chapter, OES.

Ford, four councilmen to run again

Mayor Thurman R. Ford and four incumbent councilmen are associated in a common ticket seeking reelection.

Because he failed to file a statement of expense after the 1957 general election, Treasurer James H. Rhine is ineligible to run for five years. His daughter, Mrs. James Reynolds, has filed a petition.

Former councilman Charles Vanasale and Donald H. Levering have joined Mayor Ford and Councilman John T. Dick, Donald E. Akers, Omar G.

Burkett and Elmer E. Markley on the ticket.

An opposition group seeks to unseat the trustees of the Board of Public Affairs, all candidates for reelection. It

Pupils require five shots to enter schools at beginning of term

No pupil may be admitted for study in Plymouth fall term unless he presents proof he has been or is being immunized against polio, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

New state law, which went into force July 7, requires it. An inexpensive polio immunization was offered by Huron county society of The National Foundation, in cooperation with the Huron County Medical association.

Few local children availed themselves of the service.

RICHLAND COUNTY MEdical society, which has principal jurisdiction here, hasn't announced any plans for a duplicate effort.

Nearly 1,150 pupils are enrolled in the three schools of Plymouth district.

Some may have been immunized by their family physicians, but no certificate may have been issued.

The administrative burden on the two physicians practicing in the district may be all but insurmountable.

It will be no less so, school authorities say, upon teachers and administrative staffs in the schools.

NEITHER HURON NOR Richland county school systems have announced any plans to expedite the inoculations, despite the fact it's common knowledge few pupils have completed the entire schedule of four polio shots, a smallpox vaccination and a three-in-one.

Signs were there will be a relaxed attitude toward the requirement, at least until such time as an assembly-line technique of administering inoculations at a bargain price can be arranged.

Here's more on Rendezvous fair of the Rendezvous two weeks ago. Obviously, not all of them, or even a majority of them, are Plymouth residents.

One councilman, told The Advertiser "I think we should go easy on committing ourselves to any buildings in the park unless we've got some guarantee that it'll be kept up and maintained. We want no more buildings like the Girl Scout hut. The village can't afford them. I don't mean to be against these young people, who've done very well, but we must look into the legal aspects of this thing and make absolutely sure that he own isn't letting itself in for additional expense.

Park Board Member Donald B. Shaver, who is also preceptor of the teen-agers, was instructed to "look into a contract" between the village and the teen-agers to provide for construction of the building. He said there would be no public solicitation of funds.

Suzie sez

Because I live in Plymouth and am a newspaper writer, I got by mail a piece from the Plymouth Plantation, which is supposed to be the way the Pilgrims spelled it.

This piece asks me if I have got any furs. They re-built the Plymouth Plantation the way it was in 1627 and they need lynx, beaver, wildcat, otter, bear and rabbit furs.

I am not old enough, Pop says, to have any furs. When I am, he adds, there will probably be some young fool who will buy them for me. Mom says I had better not settle for any lynx, beaver, wildcat, otter, bear or rabbit. Only mink and sable, she says.

Anyway, this piece says the Pilgrims learned the fur trade from Squanto, a friendly Indian who was a sachem (that means chief) of the Pemaquid tribe.

The Pilgrims were too Christian (Pop says they were too dumb) to trade in furs except for their own backs. They traded with the Indians for furs to keep them warm. Then they weren't smart enough to put the fur side inside, which gives the most warmth because the hair traps air, which is warmed by the body.

I read that Squanto asked to go to the paleface Heaven when he died.

This means he was made a Christian by the Pilgrims. But Pop says it was probably that he had made such a lot of money by skinning the Christians down here that he figured that Up There it would be even better.

Anyway, I don't have any furs to send to Plymouth Plantation. Do you?

Sir: Dave Bachrach seems to be bearing the brunt of our alley dispute.

I, too, am involved and have some comments. Why is it so important to have the alley cleared to the full 30 feet? I understood the Post Office people insisted on a roadway wide enough for two trucks to pass. It's not a 20 foot payment sufficient? There was no need of a 30 foot alley when the town was laid out, but land was cheap 140 years ago. It was encroached upon, until it came to be known and considered a 20 foot alley.

My garage was built upon the old stone barn foundation built by Ransome Guthrie.

Now after all these years and an accurate survey, I am in the alley some seven feet.

To widen to 30 feet will require a lot of dirt fill on the east side of the alley, which shouldn't be paved without time to settle.

If the present hard surface road is widened on its west side to 20 feet, there would be no fill required and grading would be simple. There are no building encroachments on the west side of the alley except the brick store at Trux street owned by Mr. Heck.

Due to inaccurate surveying when the village was laid out, this building is on the alley some 2 1/2 feet at Trux Street.

Now would our council or any jury be stupid enough to order Mr. Heck to cut off 2 1/2 feet of this already narrow brick building? I can't believe that they would do such a thing, considering the value of the alley land.

To provide room for two trucks to pass in the alley is a simple matter. Nothing is being said about widening Mills avenue to 30 feet. The curbing has about 18 foot opening into Plymouth street. A three foot diameter elm restricts the Mills avenue to 20 feet in width. Several main line power poles on the alley will have to be set back.

The Plymouth, O., Advertiser, July 30, 1959 Page 5

Imagine a fine of $30 a day for Mr. Heck to tear off the whole side of his store building!

The black top surface on Bell street is a scant 18 feet. No complaint about passing is heard. Make the alley a 20 foot hard surface road. Any wider is a waste of money.

What we need is some horse sense discussion of this alley and no one should be hurt financially.

Sincerely,
F. H. Root

Braves upset Reds, rubber game set Monday eve

Backrach Co.-New Haven Supply Braves got to Nero Howard for four runs in the sixth inning Thursday night on three errors and a solid blow by Tommy Adams to upset the high-flying Reds, 9 to 5.

Mike Fox went all the way for the winners, allowing six hits. The Reds scored twice in the first and again in the third, but he was invincible after that.

Adams was the big man with the stick, getting three hits all told.

Tim DeWitt started for the Reds and left after three frames, having given up four hits and as many runs.

The Reds' defeat leaves the second half of the race in a tie. Reds and Braves cross bats again Monday night in the rubber game.

Cubs continued their winning ways by defeating the Giants, 19 to 8, Friday night.

Southpaw Jimmy Broderick gave up a dozen hits but kept the Giants away from the plate. Freddy Buzard's wildness at the outset — the Cubs got eight runs in the opening frame — was costly for the Giants, who've yet to win a game.

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

SMALLMOUTH BASS ARE beginning to hit in the Lake Erie island area, according to a report from Kelley's island.

One lucky fisherman caught 13 bass, two of which weighed close to three pounds each.

They were taken from Miller's Marine dock in the village. The angler took them on soft crabs, fished deep.

Other reports of less spectacular catches indicate that smallmouth bass are biting in this area once they are located.

OUR GRAY SQUIRREL population is up, according to early summer observations, which is usually indicative of what we may expect when the season officially opens Sept. 11.

This is the word from Jack Kamman, game management supervisor for the Division of Wildlife's central and southern district, comprising 15 counties.

When asked about the prospects for the rabbit season, which opens Nov. 16, Kamman said: "If we could open the season now there would be plenty of rabbits for everyone, but the mid-summer die-off usually takes a heavy toll of our cottontails. By the time the hunting season gets here it's a different story and hunters must really work for their bunnies."

"There are apparently a number of causes which contribute to this mid-summer loss of rabbits. Studies are being carried on to attempt to determine reasons for this heavy annual loss of this valuable resource."
